

SUI Receives $18.8 Million For Operations

Hancher Says University Will 'Hold Its Own'

Funds Put SUI Salaries Third In Midwest

Although it will fall behind in some areas of badly needed improvement, SUI will progress in others and, in general, "hold its own" in the next two years with the funds appropriated by the Legislature last week for general University operations, SUI President Virgil M. Hancher said. The appropriation bill was signed Thursday by Governor Herschel C. Loveless.

The bill appropriated $11,818,570 yearly for general operating expenses—including repairs, replacements and alterations, and equipment—of the University during 1959-61; $5,275,312 for University Hospitals; $870,343 for Psychopathic Hospital; $321,377 for the State Bacteriological Laboratory; and $565,802 for the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children. Early in March the Legislature passed and Governor Loveless signed a capital improvement bill appropriating $6,190,900 for buildings at SUI and its hospital units during the next two years.

"When we consider the greatly increased demands made upon the 58th General Assembly this year for funds to meet a number of serious Iowa needs, and the sincere effort which Governor Loveless and the Legislature have put into equating those needs with Iowa's anticipated revenues, we are confident that they have all done their very best to provide support for the University, and we are grateful for their efforts," President Hancher said.

"For the most part," he continued, "we will be able to 'hold our own' for another two years, but we are still faced with many serious problems which must—somehow—be solved if the quality of public higher education is to be maintained for the increasing numbers of Iowa young people just a year or two away from our campus gates."

The new appropriations bill provides an additional $1,126,587 yearly beyond 1957-58 salary levels to be used for salary increases and staff benefits for SUI's teaching, research, professional and administrative staffs, and $181,096 yearly for salary increases and benefits for the non-academic staff, President Hancher said.

He noted that the Regents had sought sufficient funds to bring SUI's salary levels up to third place (based on 1957-58 salary schedules) among universities in an 11-state midwestern area, and to hold them at that level in the face of anticipated increases at the other universities. The new appropriation will bring salaries to third place among 1957-58 salary schedules, but the additional increment needed to hold third place for the next two years was not granted.

President Hancher emphasized that there will be no across-the-board salary increases at the University. Faculty salary increases, for instance, will vary by college and rank, depending upon merit and upon how a position compares to similar positions in similar colleges of the other 10 universities whose salaries were compared to SUI's in determining this year's appropriations requests. In some cases, this will mean no increase, or a relatively small increase, while in other cases

Gloria Frost Wins Showdown, 45-35, In Young Demo Club

Gloria Frost, A3, Waterloo, Thursday night won a 45-35 showdown vote for the support of the SUI Young Democrats in her campaign for the position of Iowa's Young Democratic National Committeewoman.

Miss Frost defeated Robin Winter, A3, Wapello, to gain the SUI delegation backing. The election of the committeewoman from Iowa will be held at the Young Democrats state convention in Cedar Rapids Saturday.

Delegates to the state convention will be bound by a unit-rule requiring all votes to be cast for Miss Frost. Eighty members paid $1 delegate fees to attend a special caucus held Thursday night to determine which candidate would be supported.

Miss Frost's winning campaign platform included a proposal to improve the communication between Iowa Young Democrats and the national organization by sending more and better informed representatives to national functions.

4,500 Invited To Burge Hall Opening Sunday

About 4,500 invitations have been issued for the Burge Hall Open House to be held Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. The governor, state legislators, Board of Regents, schools and other Iowa colleges, SUI personnel, and many others have been invited.

Members of the University's dormitory advisory committee, officers of the women's dormitories, and sorority presidents will assist Burge Hall residents as hostesses, hosts, and guides for the open house.

Relatives of the five former SUI women staff members after whom the building and its four houses are named will be special guests at the event, said Dorothy M. Leslie, head of women's dormitories at SUI.

Burge is named for Adelaide Laschek Burge, former SUI dean of women, and the four houses honor former professors Clara May Daley, Ruth Aimee Wardall, Maude Mary McBroom, and Beth Lucy Wellman.

Approximately 300 girls live in each of the houses with 75 girls on each floor. Pressing rooms, kitchenettes, bath and toilet facilities, and lounges are found on each floor.

The lounge area serves as the "living room" where the girls may play cards, study, or just visit. The contemporary sectional furniture and chairs are covered with fabric and leather upholstery and are complemented by print drapery.

"Poufs" (large covered hassocks), a bridge table and chair set, and lamps complete the floor lounge furnishings.

Each floor is distinguished by its own color scheme. Pink and green are the colors used to decorate the third floor, while fourth is predominately coral. The tile covering on the first floor is a combination of pink, blue, and gray.

The Burge dining service employs 34 full-time employees, 45 student waitresses and 12 male students. Four dietitians assist the dining service manager in the supervision of the planning and preparation of daily meals.

Approximately seven students can be served per minute cafeteria style. Plans next year include a "sit-down" family-style meal, once or twice a week.

"We're on wheels!" might be the dining service motto when referring to the many portable kitchen utensils which save time and steps in the food preparation.

The mobile equipment includes electric can openers, mixers, and carts. Another feature of the dining service is a utensil washer which sterilizes and washes pots and pans with no soap or detergent. The temperature and pressure of the water makes this possible.

The four dining rooms—2 main, an auxiliary, and a private one—have a total seating capacity of 1,016 people.

An informal recreation area, including a grill and the Carnival Room are found on the basement level. The grill, which will begin operation sometime this summer, is designed primarily for the convenience of Currier and Burge residents, their dates, and friends. Sandwiches, salads, desserts, and soda fountain type foods will be served.

The recreation area will include bridge and Ping-pong tables.

The student government and counseling programs are based on the division of Burge into small, intimate living areas. Each of the four houses have entirely separate governments composed of officers, committees, and representatives from each floor. An advisor, usually a graduate student, lives in each corridor. Burge has two resident registered nurses.

The work of the advisors and nurses are supervised by the counselors—one for each house. The head counselor and assistant head counselor coordinate the total activities and counseling programs in the building.

Burge is designed with two large general purpose rooms for group house meetings, house sponsored dances, and other activities. Each of these rooms will serve two houses. Three smaller rooms for committee meetings are also provided on the basement level.

The main lounge, library, and information and reception desk are located inside the main entrance. Contemporary furniture of the same type as that in the floor lounges is accented by draperies of synthetic material.

Other facilities on the main floor are powder room, coat check room, mail boxes, a "store", and office areas.

Laundry rooms, drying cages, a sewing machine, luggage rooms and sound-proof typing rooms are located in the basement.

Record 2-Mile Atom Smasher Sought By Ike

U.S. Will Pass Russia If Congress Approves

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Eisenhower Thursday night proposed that the Government build, finance and operate the world's longest atom smasher—a 100,000,000, 2-mile-long machine which may unveil new secrets of matter.

Eisenhower's plan, which will require Congressional approval, was announced to the symposium on basic research sponsored by three of the nation's leading scientific organizations.

The Atomic Energy Commission said in Washington that the new atomic accelerator would put the U.S. ahead of Russia in the development of atom smashers. It would be about 50 times the size of the present largest accelerator of its type and about 15 times as powerful. It would take five years to build.

The new atom smasher would be of the type known as a linear accelerator. The Russians are not known to be building big linear accelerators, according to American scientists, though the Soviets currently have the biggest cyclotron, a circular atom-smashing machine.

The chief executive, whose remarks were carried nationally by the major radio networks, said that the scientific progress of this country thus far was due largely to the American concept of freedom.

To keep this progress moving, he said he would recommend to Congress that the Federal Government finance the construction of the new electron linear accelerator, originally proposed by Stanford University.

The White House explained that the new linear accelerator, or atom smasher, would be a completely national facility available to qualified scientists for creative research, although it will be located at Stanford University.

The chief executive said the overall cost of about $100,000,000 for the new project was too great to be borne privately and therefore must become "a federal responsibility."

The linear high energy accelerators now in use are primary tools of the physicists who explore the vast realm of the high-energy particles as they study the make-up of the tiniest details of matter. The new accelerator will be about two miles long, the President said, and about 50 times the size of the present linear accelerator at Stanford, which is the largest project of its kind.

The White House said the project announced by the President in its initial operation would produce in the neighborhood of 10 to 15 billion electron volts. The President estimated that the project, to be operated, as well as constructed, by the Federal Government, would take six years to complete.

May Solicit Recreation Center Funds

Transient Falls Under Rocket After IC Stop

Members of 15 community organizations agreed Thursday night that the Iowa City recreation center should take a poll of all members of the organizations to determine interest in a drive supporting a bond issue for a new recreation center.

Approximately 30 people were present at a meeting in the assembly room of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company called by Robert Marsden, chairman of the recreation commission. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss future recreation facilities in Iowa City.

Present were members of the Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, and Optimists Clubs, both the Senior and Junior Chamber of Commerce, Women's Club, League of Women Voters, PTA, Planning and Zoning Commission, and Recreation Commission. City Manager Peter Roan, Mayor Philip Morgan, and Mrs. Thelma Lewis of the City Council also attended.

There was unanimous opinion that a new recreation building is needed, but various opinions were voiced as to how to finance such a building.

Mrs. Lewis said she believes fund raising could be started by public subscription of local citizens. She said such a drive could possibly raise the first $100,000 of approximately $350,000 needed for an adequate recreation center. This could lead to enough support from voters to pass a bond issue financing the remaining costs, she said.

Public subscription was also approved by Sam Whiting of the Planning and Zoning Commission and a few others present.

City Manager Roan said public subscription could not raise enough funds nor raise interest in citizens for supporting a new recreation building. He contended that a drive must be started to show voters the necessity of the building.

Roan said that about $75,000 is being saved yearly from city taxes to pay for construction of city buildings. He said the council now

Herter Presents U.S. Plan; Gromyko Remains Quiet

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter laid out the line Thursday the West's sweeping package plan for uniting Berlin, merging East and West Germany, and starting global disarmament. He urged the Soviet Union to accept it as the basis for a European settlement.

Born in Albany, Geor., in 1885, Riegger began his musical training with violin lessons, though he soon switched to cello. He graduated from the New York Institute of Musical Art in 1907.

He conducted the opera at Wurzburg and Konigsberg in Germany before World War I. He has taught at Drake University in Des Moines, Columbia University and the Metropolitan Music School in New York and Northwestern University.

For his musical setting of Keats' poem "La Belle Dame Sans Merci" Riegger was awarded the Elizabeth S. Coolidge chamber music prize, the first American to win the prize.

He was awarded the Paderewski prize and the publication award of the Society for the Publication of American Music for his "Piano Trio in B Minor."

In the 1930's Riegger wrote almost exclusively for the dance stage producing scores for Martha

"This proposal," said Potapov, "aims at making the work of the ministers more difficult and drowning in a plethora of outstanding international questions the main problem. That is the question of the peace treaty with Germany and the examination of the occupation statutes in West Berlin."

East Germany's Foreign Minister Lothar Bloz, who is seated in the conference as an advisor, said however the plan "is of such importance that it deserves to be studied carefully."

The 30-month blockbuster program would unify 72 million Germans in a nation free to choose neutrality or alignment with the West or East, clear the way for a final World War II peace settlement, and permit the ultimate withdrawal of Soviet and Western troops from central Europe.

In the first phase, Soviet-occupied Berlin—now occupied by all the Big Four powers—would be united by free elections in preparation for its future role as the capital of a unified Germany.

The Soviets have threatened to push the Western Allies out of West Berlin, a Western enclave within East Germany.

Father's Funeral 1 Hour Before

Virgil E. Paradise, 54, Rock Island, died under the wheels of the Corn Belt Rocket as it pulled out of the Rock Island lines station here at 3:50 p.m. Thursday.

According to a witness the remains were strung along the track for 40 yards.

Dr. George Callahan, Johnson County coroner, said Paradise apparently tried to board the passenger train between two of the cars and fell under the wheels.

Police stated that Paradise was a transient. They also said they received a request from Rock Island authorities Wednesday night for help in locating a man of the same name whose father, William E. Paradise, 82, at Barnes City, had died.

The elder Paradise's funeral was scheduled for 2 p.m. Thursday, just an hour and 50 minutes before his son died under the train wheels. The police stated that they had not located Paradise and that he probably knew nothing of his father's death.

Paradise's glasses and a broken bottle were found on the crosswalk where Dubuque Street crosses the tracks, according to a witness. This was evidently the point where Paradise tried to board the train.

Paradise's remains were taken to the Oathout Funeral Home here.

Early Gains Deceptive

Despite Louis Armstrong's quip that if the 'cats' in Geneva will but 'dig' some of his music, a more relaxed atmosphere might be forthcoming.

In the next few weeks, we will be reading of charges, counter-charges, small compromises and serious deadlocks.

To date, it appears that the three Western foreign ministers, Christian Herter, Selwyn Lloyd and Maurice Couve de Murville, are doing all that can be expected toward laying ground-work for summit talks on the German reunification question.

Through his compromise on the question of East German representation at Geneva, Soviet foreign minister Andrei Gromyko has made it clear that Russia does not want to jeopardize the possibility of such a conference.

Postulating the Red desire to travel the summit route, we can expect that the Russians will not allow the present talks to come to complete deadlock, thus negating future high-level meetings.

For this reason, the West may have reason to enjoy a degree of optimism as the talks progress. The traditional Red monkey wrench probably will not bring a complete halt to the gears of the present Geneva talks.

We can, however, expect little to be accomplished. There is no more reason today than in the past to believe that the Soviets will propose or accept any sincere efforts toward easing of the German situation.

The West is negotiating with a government that has evolved its own self-serving definition of the word "integrity." In the past, our attempts to ease East-West tension through compromise have failed.

Abominable Error

Someone has described the camel as an animal that "looks like it was put together by a committee." From grammar school on up to the federal government one can see the waste of time and effort in many committees which go a long way toward disproving the theory that often two heads are better than one.

It now appears that the Russians also are afflicted with these abortive institutions. Moscow radio reports that poor planning caused the failure of a Soviet hunt for the abominable snowman.

'Well - Ha Ha - None Of Us Is Perfect'

Gromyko Following Usual Red Tactics

The Method: 'Raise Snag After Snag, Then Show Willingness To Compromise Or Back Down, Then Raise More Snags.'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Max Harrelson, chief AP correspondent at the United Nations, has followed Soviet activities closely ever since the U.N. was formed. He currently heads the AP staff covering the Geneva conference.

By MAX HARRELSON

GENEVA (AP) — The slam-bang tactics of Andrei Gromyko have dominated the Big Four conference so far, even more than Wednesday's opening statements.

Andrei Gromyko

His tactics are following a familiar pattern. These tactics have been used with considerable success at the United Nations and in Big Power parleys like the present one.

The main idea: Raise snag after snag, then display a willingness to compromise or even back down occasionally, then raise more snags.

Improve Position

The object is to wear down the West and improve the Soviet bargaining position.

After each snarl it always appears that the West came out ahead, but on some issues the Soviets have accumulated enough small gains to add up over the years. That is certainly true of the Soviet campaign to give the Communist countries a bigger role in world affairs.

Procedural Questions

At this meeting the Soviets have raised a whole series of what appeared to be purely procedural questions.

These include the demand for a circular conference table and the issue of how many chairs the East and West German delegations should have.

On the surface these look like small potatoes. Add them to the Soviet efforts to bring in the two German delegations, the Poles and Czechs — as full participants — and you have a major political issue.

More Than Publicity

Everyone here agrees that the Soviets don't expect to get all they are asking for, but on the basis of their past gains in pushing for Communist representation it is fair to assume they seek more than publicity.

They won for the East Germans a limited right to speak. In their propaganda they claim much more, even insisting the Germans are full participants.

It is a good bet that the Western powers haven't heard the last of this problem.

Public Pressure

The element that makes the Soviet snag-and-compromise tactics successful is public pressure for East-West negotiations on cold war problems.

This makes it difficult for the West to stand firm when it appears a few concessions might yield East-West harmony and avoid a breakdown of negotiations.

The trouble is that concessions always bring more demands.

Taxpayers: Get Ready For Increase In Levies

The Budgetary Outlook

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of three articles on the budgetary outlook for the next ten years. Having previewed expenditures, we now ask the question "Should Taxes Be Raised?"

We are not sanguine about the possibilities of holding non-security expenditures to the total budgeted by the President. The lobbies for veterans, agriculture, housing and many other federal programs affecting particular groups, industries, and regions, have amply demonstrated their ability to protect, and even to enlarge, the gains they have made at the expense of the mass of taxpayers.

Recent experience shows how difficult it is for the Congress to reduce spending in the face of the unrelenting pressures of self-interest groups. And there is no indication that the Congress will be able to resist these pressures any better this year than it has in the past.

Under the circumstances, there is danger that the effort to moderate the pace of federal spending will take the path of least resistance. Instead of weeding out unnecessary and harmful expenditures, either the Administration or the Congress, or both, may economize on programs that are vitally needed for the nation's security and welfare.

It is always easier, for example, to cut out $1 and $2 billion from a defense budget of more than $40 billion than to make the same savings by elimination of some of the large subsidies in the budget. It is even easier to "economize" on foreign aid.

Taxes High

Taxes are already very high. We believe it would be to the advantage of the entire nation to spend enough on defense and to cut down on less essential services and benefits in order to avoid a tax increase.

But if, for political or other reasons, total expenditures are not held to a level that would be consistent with a balanced budget in 1960, then taxes must be raised.

In weighing these alternatives, the public must realize that new taxes cannot be raised from the top of the income pyramid. The personal income tax rates are steeply graduated up to a maximum of 91 per cent and the tax rate on corporate profits has been pushed up to 52 per cent.

We believe that the tax system should be revised to eliminate loopholes and unwarranted special provisions. But it is also necessary to enact some tax reforms that would reduce revenues — reductions in the unrealistic and punitive top bracket personal income tax rates being the most important.

Most tax experts agree that, on balance, revision of the tax system to eliminate inequalities and to promote growth incentives would net very little, if any, additional revenue at least in the short run.

Accordingly, if more federal revenues are needed during the next few years, they will probably have to be raised by increasing personal income taxes in the lower and middle brackets or by enacting a general tax on consumption.

Every taxpayer should understand, therefore, that a tax increase would affect his own pocketbook, not just somebody else's.

Political Obstacles

The obstacles to reduction of nonessential expenditures are obstacles imposed by the political process. So are the obstacles to paying for necessary expenditures by taxation.

Our elected public officials and legislative representatives should not underestimate the desire of the American people to eliminate the nonessentials from the federal budget or their willingness to pay for what is absolutely necessary. If some expenditures are too high, the people will support a reduction of these expenditures. If taxes are inadequate, they will pay more taxes. To assume otherwise is bad public policy — and dangerous besides in these critical days.

GERBERT GOOVER?

GENEVA (UPI) — Russian spokesmen said Thursday they were indeed talking about none other than the U.S. Secretary of State whenever they referred to "Mr. Gerter."

It turns out they can't say "Herter." There is no letter "H" in the Russian alphabet, and in translation, the "H" comes out "G."

Thus the Russian call Herter "Gerter." They referred to Nazi Germany's Adolf Hitler as Gilder and a former American President as Gerbert Goover.

And then, of course, at one time they had a lot to say about Garry Truman, now a Missouri farmer.

Arthur Edson - Planning A Cheap Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP) — For those of us who love roadmaps, this is the loveliest season of the year. Now is the time we plan and dream. Where to go? What to do. And as we chart our course, everything ahead seems perfect. The road has no dusty detours, devised by fiends who hate motorists.

No trucks are around to play the truck game — the painful creep uphill, the quick roll down so that no one who values his life has a chance to pass.

On the lovely maps, no billboards mar the wonderful view. The days remain delightfully cool. The little bus chortles along contentedly.

Travel Expert

And as if these weren't riches enough, here comes Michael Frome, a travel expert, with the good news that you don't have to spend big money to have fine times on vacation.

Frome has just written a book, "Better Vacation for Your Money," with the subtitle, "How to Get the Most Fun Out of Your Vacation Dollar."

"Do you realize," Frome said, "that the average man, on his income, can see things now that a few years ago only a millionaire could dream of doing? In the old days, where could a working man find the time to go see such things as Yellowstone Park or the Grand Canyon?"

Still Difficulty

And yet, Frome conceded, there is a difficulty.

Too many of us, he thinks, don't use much imagination when we're planning vacations. We routinely plan to go where everyone else goes. We spend more than we can afford, and vacations become a burden rather than a joy.

"If you follow your own dictates," Frome said, "you'll have a better time than if you live up to artificial standards.

In Our Back Yard

"Why not pick some spot that everyone else isn't going to? The Ozarks are a fine place. Oregon is unspoiled. Many of us never even think of wonderful recreational facilities right at home, our own state parks.

"Now I don't want to run down the better places. They're fine. But for many of us, the cheapest vacation can turn out to be the best."

And where did the vacation-minded Frome intend to spend his vacation?

Frome looked startled, like a doctor who has been asked when he had his last physical examination.

"I had hoped to go to New Mexico," he said apologetically. "But in this business you get so busy you never know."

research plans as a major step beyond anything ever disclosed by Soviet Russia, Eisenhower said the new research facility would be "by far the largest of its kind ever built."

The chief executive's speech at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel was sponsored by the National Academy of Sciences, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation.

At the outset, the President said that he had no professional competence in the highly complicated field of scientific research but that his forthcoming recommendation to Congress was based on the best available scientific advice.

Eisenhower's recommendation was based on reports from the General Advisory Committee to the Atomic Energy Commission and his own Science Advisory Committee, headed by Dr. James R. Killian.

Their detailed reports will be made public Sunday by the White House.

In another address to the meeting Killian said that in the last 18 months, the President's Science Advisory Committee had completed 37 major studies in reports conducted by 27 panels, utilizing the experience and knowledge of 160 outstanding scientists and engineers recruited from industry, education and government.

"Today we are technologically strong and growing stronger," he said. "I do not believe that we have lost our technological leadership or that we are predestined to lose it in the future. We possess enormous strength in capital, in productivity, in labor skills, and scientific resources."

Eisenhower's address followed a busy day for the President in New York. Earlier he dedicated a $75 million cultural center, looked over a world trade fair, and met with David J. McDonald, president of the United Steel Workers of America.

In high spirits and waving to crowds totalling about 70,000, Eisenhower drove first from Newark Airport to the rubble of what was recently a New York slum but now being converted into the Lincoln Center.

It will have six main buildings including new homes for the New York Philharmonic Orchestra and the Metropolitan Opera plus a repertory theater, a dance theater, a chamber music hall and an educational institution for the performing arts.

Eisenhower hailed the project as a "stimulating approach to the problem of urban blight" as well as a symbol of increased interest in American culture.

"The beneficial influence of this great culture adventure will not be limited to our own borders," he said. "Here will occur a true interchange of the fruits of national cultures. From this will develop a growth that will spread to the corners of the earth, bringing with it the kind of human message that only individuals — not governments — can transmit. Here will develop a mighty influence for peace and understanding throughout the world."

has money for a fire and police station soon to be constructed. At the rate of $75,000 a year it would take five years before $350,000 could be saved for construction of the recreation building.

However, he said that the City Council must decide whether the recreation building or an addition to the public library should be constructed first.

Henry Fisk, city architect, said the recreation building could be constructed on a piecemeal basis, if necessary. If such a plan was followed, he said a gymnasium would probably come first.

Fisk said preliminary plans show that a 100' by 200' one story recreation building could be built on a portion of the present Musser parking lot.

Mayor Morgan said the old community building site, which has also been considered as a site for the recreation building, is on sunken ground, and would entail higher costs.

Hancher—

larger increases will be indicated, he explained.

Similarly, President Hancher said, salary increases for non-academic employees will be made on a variable scale depending upon how particular positions compare to competitive positions in the Iowa City community, and taking into consideration the various "fringe benefits" now enjoyed by SUI employees.

Many non-academic staff members who receive periodic "step" increases have already had their salaries raised over 1957-58 salary levels, he noted, whereas few academic positions have been granted any sort of increase since July 1, 1957.

This fact will affect increases to be granted some non-academic employees, he said.

The sum of $458,073 annually was appropriated to help the University meet the costs of anticipated enrollment increases in the next two years, with the money to be spent in providing additional faculty members and teaching supplies and in meeting general expenses. In the last four years SUI enrollment increased from 8,414 in 1954 to 10,516 in the fall of 1958, and it is anticipated that the University will enroll at least 11,100 students in September of 1960.

The new appropriation also includes an annual increase of $16,475 in repair, replacement and alteration (RR&A) funds for the University and hospital areas, making a total of $516,975 available annually for this work.

Another $655,000 was appropriated for special RR&A projects in the University and hospital areas during the next biennium, these funds being included in the appropriation for capital improvements at the University.

SUI's request for an increase of $374,000 annually to strengthen and improve the instructional program was not granted, but an increase of five per cent over 1957-58 levels ($92,073 yearly) was appropriated for the University purchases of supplies and services, and an increase of $32,050 yearly was appropriated for equipment and book purchase.

which are used in traditional jazz music.

Riegger's Fourth Symphony was written during 1956 and was first performed at the Illinois Festival of Contemporary Arts in 1957. Though the work has not been as popular as his Third Symphony, it has been performed by the Boston Symphony directed by Robert Shaw in New York, Boston and other Eastern Cities.

The second movement of this symphony is from dance music which Riegger composed for Miss Graham. The theme of that dance music centers around the suffering of the Spanish people during the Civil War in 1936.

Mahler's First Symphony was written when the composer was in his early twenties and was performed first in Budapest in 1889.

One Minute Before 8—

'Curtain Up'

By ARDIS BIGSBY Staff Writer

It was one minute before 8 p.m. backstage in the University Theatre. Last minute checks were made of stage properties, lights, and make-up. "Places everybody" the stage manager yelled. "Music up, curtain up" and then as one actor in last night's production of "The World Is Round" said "the jig is up."

While the drama is going on on stage another play is also going on behind the scenes. The main characters of this drama are light men, prompters, the property manager, and the stage manager. In "The World Is Round" Margaret Hall who designed the costumes is one of the important backstage characters. Opening night found Miss Hall clad in a blue teeshirt which contained a few make up stains and a large white carnation corsage. Between acts she rearranged hats and tore threads that were hanging from the actors costumes.

Although opening night jitters did not seem to be in evidence, actors were careful not to say "good luck." They explained that it was considered unlucky to wish a person luck before he went on stage. "Break a leg" is more appropriate they explained.

Robert Bonnard, A3, New York, New York, was questioned about his nerves. He said, "I'm just pretending that I'm going through this by myself. Well if someone's peeking I can't help it."

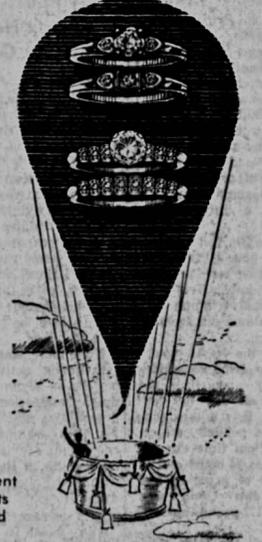

In the wings stood actors and stagemen and women. They had heard the play before but they listened for audience reaction. A young man in the carnival scene entered and there was no reaction to his unusual costume. This seemed to disappoint the backstage watchers as they considered his costume rather spectacular. At various places there were comments of "That's the first time he's had that scene just right" and

"clear out, here comes that fast costume change."
Matters that probably missed the audience's notice were of great importance to the backstage observers. At one point an actor's line read that he had destroyed 7 copies of a certain book. This created a little excitement backstage because the young man held up 8 fingers.

"The World Is Round" will be given Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week and Wednesday through Saturday of next week. Free reserved seats will be given to anyone presenting an ID card at the Memorial Union.

Younkin—On A Limb

Limb Sawed Off Today;
Just Plain Reminiscing

By LOU YOUNKIN
Sports Editor

Today is my last day on the limb. Looking back at the sports scene since last August I recall many of the things that have happened in the nine months I have been sports editor.

I remember the day Mitch Ogilgo sprained his ankle during football practice and how it was thought to be more serious at the time.

I remember the Texas Christian football game and the pleasant surprise when Iowa's interior line held the Horned Frogs scoreless.

I remember thinking when Bob Jeter scored the first touchdown against Air Force "this is just the beginning" and then sitting in amazement as the Falcons swooped in to a 13-13 tie.

I remember the Air Force dressing room after that game—you'd have thought they won. I remember there was more brass in the room than in the Pentagon and how it pleased me to tap a cologne on the shoulder and not say "sir."

I remember pacing the halls of University Hospitals Oct. 9, the day my wife and I increased our family by 50 per cent, and finding out how the seventh game of the World Series came out at 10 o'clock that night.

"We'll Get 'Em"
I remember telling Jim Breagy in the press box at Madison at the half that "we'll get 'em" although the score was 9-0 Wisconsin and I'm not sure I was as confident as I sounded. I remember the Iowa comeback and the bitterness of Wisconsin fans toward their quarterback and coach.

I remember the terrific offensive show when Iowa lost 38-23 to Ohio State and how the Hawks might have tied the game for the fifth time but for an intercepted pass that was deflected by an Iowa player.

I remember seeing Notre Dame play for the fifth time and the dejection shown by Terry Brennan when the game was over.

I remember the first home basketball loss to a non-conference team since 1942 when Washington beat the Hawks. The way the Huskies' Bruno Boin and Doug Smart were hooking them in from anywhere that night, though I doubt if any team in the country could have beaten them.

I remember driving to the Rose Bowl. It was the first time my wife had seen the southwest and I remember her remark that it was nothing but sand, rocks and tumbleweeds. We made the trip straight-through in 44 hours including a two-hour stop in Clinton, Okla. for a new generator.

I remember the hospitality shown by the Southern Californians. The Tournament of Roses hosts were wonderful as were our friends from Pasadena, Carl and Ann Wollen.

Iowa Picnic
I remember the Iowa picnic in Pasadena's Arroyo Seco within sight of the Rose Bowl and the "I love Iowa, but don't care to go back" attitude. Ninety-nine of the trees in the park had sign-rotters from each county and the search for game tickets was on in earnest.

I remember the fabulous parade and the joy I felt just being there. I remember the kickoff for the game and the sudden realization that I was watching a Rose Bowl game "live."

I remember jumping up as Bob Jeter ran 81 yards for a touchdown and KCRG sports director Bob Brooks sitting beside me trying to capture the run on film. I still wonder whether it was Jeter or me that showed up when it was developed.

I remember leaving Los Angeles in 80 degree sunshine and arriving at Iowa in a 20 below storm and how anxious my wife and I were to see our daughter. I remember how the grandparents hadn't spoiled her so much after all.

I remember the basketball team throwing a zone defense at Michigan State and whipping the eventual champs by 12 points. I remember Johnny Green couldn't get close to the basket and had to do his scoring from the corners.

I remember wrestler Gene Luttrell winning by a pin against Michigan to provide the margin of victory for the Hawkeyes and how Gordon Trapp won the final match in a real thriller.

I remember John Brown running wild in the indoor track meet against Michigan State as Iowa won. Brown did everything but hold the tape at the finish line that night.

I remember some of the tough ones the basketball team lost and a couple they won. I remember Dave Gunther's assault on the Iowa scoring record and how coincidental it is that he and Bill Logan both scored the same number of points—1,188—in a three-year career.

I remember the How Ten wrestling tournament and how it came down to the final match for the championship. I remember Trapp forsaking a personal triumph in a team effort as Minnesota squeaked in under the wire.

I remember the NCAA wrestling tournament (who could forget that one?) when they not only wrestled all day but half the night. Mrs. Eric Wilson, wife of Iowa's sports publicity director, said the actual time elapsed for the meet was 24 hours and 15 minutes. A lot of grunting and groaning and Jim Craig was crowned the 177-pound national champion.

I remember all the false starts we had at spring and how the baseball team beat Arizona twice at Tucson. I remember the temporary collapse I hope of the baseballers and how Bob Pearl can win on the road, but not at home where he really wants to.

I'll remember Iowa City as the hamlet that has a nicer dog pound than student housing area and as the home of the parking meters.

Thanks For Help
I remember all the help given me by Eric Wilson and his staff and Bud Suter and would like to give them my heartfelt thanks.

I remember all the help I've had this year from guys like Dick Stuart, George Kampling, Mick Holmes, Jim Breagy, Gary Cohn, Mel Pitzen, Don Forsythe and Chris Hemmingsen.

I remember my two favorite Irish innkeepers, Doc Connell and Harold Donnelly. Both are avid sports fans although Doc is going under the handicap of being a Yankee fan.

I remember the three letters to the editor about me and how I appreciated them. While I didn't wholeheartedly agree with them, I did take the criticism as constructively as possible.

I remember picking Pittsburgh to win the National League pennant and New York and Detroit to finish 1-2 in the American. All three teams are presently reclining in the second division.

It was a fine season and it was a lot of fun being sports editor this year. I missed a few hours sleep, but no meals.

That just about does it. So long readers. Both of you.

2 Golf Unknowns Lead Snead Meet

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Bruce Crampton of Sydney, Australia, and Doug Sanders of Cedar town, Ga., struck their comparatively young golfing faces out in front of a gang of old pros in the first round of the Sam Snead Festival Thursday. They each scored 3-under-par 67s.

The 23-year-old Crampton, posted his 67 as the fifth finisher. The score wasn't matched until 25-year-old Sanders, returning to competition after a layoff due to a heart murmur, holed out as last of the 56 pros shooting for $10,000 in prizes during the 72-hole tournament.

Six others, including host Snead, missed by only one stroke. The others with 68s were Frank Boynton of Winter Park, Fla., Johnny Revolta of Skokie, Ill., Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., Bob Toski of Miami and Dutch Harrison of St. Louis, Mo.

Jim Turnesa of Elmsford, N.Y., and Henry Williams of Fleetwood, Pa., were in the group with 69s. Six others were bunched at par 70.

The 6,497-yard course in the Appalachian Mountains played longer than usual after rains Wednesday and Thursday's high winds and chilling temperature.

Wynn Coasts Behind 19-Hit Sox Attack

ChiSox Half Game Out Of First

BOSTON (AP)—Chicago blended 19 hits and Early Wynn's 25th major league pitching triumph Thursday in a runaway 14-6 decision over Boston which nudged the White Sox to within half a game of the American League lead.

While Wynn coasted before Turk Lown relieved him in the eighth inning, his mates fell on four Red Sox pitchers in a barrage which included home runs by Earl Torgerson, Del Ennis and Jim Landis.

Burly, poker-faced Wynn had a three-hit shutout through five innings before he relaxed under a bountiful lead.

While increasing his total—highest among active major league hurlers—Wynn took over undisputed possession of 21st place among the all-time winners with his fifth triumph of the young campaign. Previously he had been tied at 253 in the lifetime figures with Red Faber, Carl Hubbell and Amos Rusie.

Tigers 4, Senators 2

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eddie Yost and Al Kaline backed up Jim Bunning's four-hit pitching with a home-run apiece as they led Detroit to a 4-2 win over the Washington Senators Thursday night.

One of the Washington hits was a solo homer by rookie Bob Allison in the fourth inning. The victory was the eighth for the last-place Tigers in their 10 games under new manager Jimmy Dykes.

In achieving his third victory against three defeats, Bunning yielded four walks and fanned four. Two of the walks were issued to Harmon Killebrew, the 22-year-old Senators slugger who leads the American League in homers. Killebrew fled left and popped to second in his other trips to the plate.

A's 2, Orioles 1

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pitchers Ned Garver and Bud Daley limited Baltimore to four hits Thursday night as the Kansas City Athletics edged out the Orioles 2-1.

Roger Maris slammed his eighth home run of the season over the right-center field fence for the A's first marker in the second inning. The Athletics scored their winning run in the seventh on three singles and Oriole catcher Joe Ginsberg's error on a dropped ball at the plate.

Baltimore's only moment of glory was rookie Willie Tasby's solo home run opening the bottom of the fourth. It was his third of the year.

With the exception of the two

Reds 2, Cubs 0

CHICAGO (AP)—Gus Bell's two-run single with one out in the ninth powered the Cincinnati Reds to a 2-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs Thursday.

Lefty Joe Nuxhall, who pitched a three-hitter, earned his second victory.

The scoreless battle between Nuxhall and loser Dave Hillman, now 2 and 2, ended in the ninth when Johnny Temple opened with a double. Vada Pinson followed with a single to right and Temple stopped at third.

Lefty Bill Henry replaced Hillman and fanned Jerry Lynch for the first out.

Henry was replaced by Don Elston, who walked Frank Robinson to fill the bases.

With a 1 and 2 count on Bell, Elston fed the veteran Reds' outfielder a high slow ball that Gus drove into left field for a tide-turning single. It scored Temple and Pinson.

Robinson was out trying for third, but the damage was done.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Hank Aaron raised his National League leading batting average to .497 with three hits, including a three-run double, as the Milwaukee Braves outlasted the St. Louis Cardinals 8-7 Thursday night.

The last-place Redbirds staged a three-run rally in the ninth to throw a scare into the pacesetter Braves, who swept the two-game series.

The Braves collected 16 hits all told, including Eddie Mathews' 14th home run. A solo blast, it came in the eighth and was the deciding hit.

Bob Rush was the winner in relief. It was his third victory without a defeat. He was the second of five Braves' pitchers. Starter Lew Burdette finally put down the Redbird's last-ditch rally by getting Stan Musial to hit into a game-ending double play with the bases loaded.

Preakness Field Reduced To 11

BALTIMORE (AP)—The field for the $150,000-added Preakness stakes was reduced to 11 Thursday when the King Ranch's Black Hills was withdrawn because of an apparent internal ailment.

The first official entry was the Elkcam Stable's Open View, who also worked out on the sloppy Pimlico racing strip in the early hours.

Max Hirsch, who trains Black Hills for the Texas ranch of Robert J. Kleberg, Jr., withdrew the black son of Princequillo after the colt worked a mile in 1:48.3/5.

With 11 starters in the race, to be televised nationally (CBS) from 3:30-4 p.m. (CST), the gross value would be $190,300—the richest race ever offered for 3-year-olds. Post time is approximately 4:45 p.m. EST.

Sword Dancer, owned by the Brookmeade Stable of Isable Dodge Sloane, and nosed out by Tony Lee in the derby, is the favorite at 2-1.

Christopher T. Chenery's First Landing, champion 2-year-old of 1958 and third in the derby, was rated second choice at 3-1 in early odds.

Meet Gophers in 3 Games—

Hawk Nine Opens Last Home Stand

By JIM BREAGY
Staff Writer

The Iowa baseball team will close out its home season this weekend playing host in a three game series with Minnesota. The Gophers are currently riding high on top of the Big Ten with a 7-1 record, 16-4 on the year. Roger Rudeen (2-6) goes against Fred Brickbauer (8-2) this afternoon in a single game at 3:30. Tomorrow's doubleheader goes off at 1:30.

In 21 games to date, the Minnesota club has belted the ball at a .302 clip, .290 in the conference. The Gophers have no less than nine players over the .300 mark. Wayne Knapp, the first baseman, is second in the Big Ten at .444 and is hitting at .379 on the season. Other Gopher batters are third baseman Cal Roloff .389, outfielder Skeeter Nelson .370 and shortstop Dave Pflipsen .303 who leads the team in RBIs with 21.

The Hawkeyes have snapped out of the long slump which carried them through a 10-game losing streak earlier in the spring. They have won three of their last four and now occupy eighth place with a 3-6 record.

The current surge, if you may call it that, can be attributed to a few individuals. Dick Clauson, heretofore unknown as a pitcher, has shown the stuff lately to become a front liner. After losing a respectable nine-hitter at Wisconsin the week before, he came back to beat Illinois and knock them out of the league-lead last week with a neat seven-hitter. All the Illinois raps were singles, Roger Rudeen also looked impressive with his seven hitter over Purdue last Friday.

They have outscored the British every time but once in Walker Cup foursomes.

On Saturday, the competition winds up with eight singles matches. Each match is over 36 holes and each victory counts a point. A tie counts a half point for each side.

Harvie Ward of San Francisco and Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor of Pomona, Calif., start play for the Americans against Reid Jack of Scotland and Doug Sewell of England.

At the plate catcher Dick Weatherly continues at the torrid pace he started with the opening of the Big Ten schedule. His .394 conference hitting has brought his season average up to .318.

It was Fred Long who stole the show last Saturday, however. He went after the Illinois pitchers as if he had a personal grudge. In eight trips he rapped out two doubles, a triple and a home run to boost his average 30 points to .258.

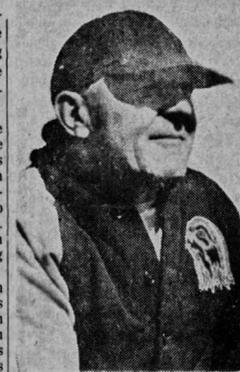

Allan Klinger, .316, has also been doing some consistent hitting in Big Ten games.

Big Ten pitching has not been kind to Paul Bonstead who was leading the team at the plate in non-conference games. His Big Ten average of .200 has brought his season mark down to .287 but is still hanging on to the team RBI leadership with 14.

Minnesota could all but clinch the conference title for the third straight year this weekend. A sweep would give the Gophers a 10-1 mark. Illinois and Indiana, tied for second at 6-3, are both two down in the all important loss column so that anything Iowa can do will be appreciated.

From the Hawkeye angle, both fourth and fifth place are two-way ties so that a few victories could put Otto Vogel's club in the thick of a battle for an upper half spot.

Saturday Vogel will have Bob Pearl (3-5), Allan Bachman (1-1), Clauson (1-1) and Klinger (1-1) ready to start. Minnesota Coach Dick Siebert is expected to go with his son Dick Jr. (5-1) in Saturday's first game and either Saxe Roberts (3-1) or Howard Nathe (no decisions) in the finale.

MSU Sophomore Signed By Indians

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians Thursday signed Al Luplow, a sophomore star in both baseball and football at Michigan State, to a bonus contract.

Walter (Hoot) Evers, Cleveland farm director, who came to Luplow's home here, declined to name the bonus paid, but the Saginaw News estimated it was well over $25,000.

Luplow, 20, hitting above the .400 mark for MSU, had been sought by several major league clubs, including the Detroit Tigers.

Evers said Luplow, a center-fielder, would be sent to North Platte, Neb., for a 10-day Indian rookie school and a decision then would be reached as to what classification of professional baseball he would be started.

"It just shows how inconsiderate those birds can be," fumed MSU baseball Coach John Kobs.

"Next week we finish our Big Ten season. You'd think they would at least let him finish out the season with us."

"Some people have recommended cutting out baseball entirely as a college sport because of what the pros do to us," Kobs said. "They keep raiding us all the time. This certainly doesn't help matters."

Iowa Tennis Team On Road For 3 Meets At Wisconsin

By JOHN HANRAHAN
Staff Writer

The Iowa tennis team is on the road this weekend as they journey to Madison, Wis., for a quadrangular meet with Minnesota, Michigan State and Wisconsin today and Saturday.

The Hawks, who are 5-4 in spring dual meets, will be shooting for a clean sweep of the meet against three teams which are not rated as strong threats for the Big Ten title. However, Iowa Coach Don Klotz called Michigan State a "darkhorse" in next week's Big Ten meet and also said that "they are a team which could really make things interesting" for the stronger teams.

Klotz said that this weekend he would experiment with his No. 2 and No. 3 doubles teams in an effort to find the most effective combinations in these slots. Klotz said that he has been "very impressed" with the play of his No. 1 duo of Art Andrews and John Nadig over the last few meets.

"Nadig has come along better in doubles than I had any right to expect," said the Hawkeyes' coach.

The Hawks will use their usual singles order of Art Andrews, John Stoy, Don Middlebrook, John Nadig, Bill Voxman, and Hank Utley, some action. The only doubles combination definitely set is the No. 1 team of Andrews and Nadig.

U.S. Team To Play Today In Defense Of Walker Cup

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Eight Americans who never have been paired together before in competition will open defense of the Walker Cup golf prize against a seasoned British team today.

The two-amateur teams will start off with four Scotch foursomes matches. These two-ball matches, in which each player on a team takes alternate swings at the ball, may be strange to the Americans but they play them well.

They have outscored the British every time but once in Walker Cup foursomes.

On Saturday, the competition winds up with eight singles matches. Each match is over 36 holes and each victory counts a point. A tie counts a half point for each side.

Harvie Ward of San Francisco and Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor of Pomona, Calif., start play for the Americans against Reid Jack of Scotland and Doug Sewell of England.

and Guy Wolstenholme of England.

Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., and Capt. Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City against Michael Bonalack and Arthur Perowne, both of England.

Ward Wettlaufer of Buffalo and Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, against Michael Lunt and Alec Shepperton, both of England.

The teams will go off at 15-minute intervals.

HURRY! ENTER NOW! CONTEST CLOSES MAY 29, 1959

ENTER OFTEN — HAVE FUN — AND WIN! But think carefully! This puzzle is not as easy as it looks. At first the DOWN and ACROSS clues may appear simple. There may appear to be more than one "right" answer. For example, the clue might read: "Many a coed will be given her best date's P.-N." Either "I" (PIN) or "E" (PEN) would seem to fit. But only one answer is apt and logical as decided by the judging staff, and therefore correct. Read the rules carefully. ENTER AS OFTEN AS YOU WISH. Good luck!

Derby Day Calls Coeds To Battle

Girls, if you have a suppressed desire to throw eggs at people, you'll get your chance this Saturday at Derby Day to be held in City Park at 2 p.m.

Derby Day is the annual field day for all SUI coeds sponsored by Sigma Chi social fraternity.

The sororities and dormitory sections compete in teams for the traveling trophy and other prizes. There are about a dozen games in all, including beanpozing, balloon shaving, egg throwing, cuddling and peanut racing. A queen also will be crowned.

In the "profile preview" contest the girls will attempt to fit into a cut-out silhouette of the fraternity's conception of the ideal feminine form. Points will be awarded also to the team with the most "EX's" painted on their jeans.

Part of the competition has begun already, as the housing units have submitted posters which are on display in downtown store windows. They will be judged, and points will be awarded to the top three winners.

Last year Gamma Phi Beta sorority won the traveling trophy.

A car caravan will drive around to all residences at 1:30 p.m. Saturday to take girls to the park. Following the activities, all coeds will attend an open house at the fraternity house.

Journalism Awards Banquet To Be Held Sunday Night

Fifty-one awards will be presented Sunday at the annual Fourth Estate Banquet, traditional journalism awards banquet. The banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the Mayflower Inn and is open to journalism students and alumni.

Tickets are still available at the office of the School of Journalism and from journalism students at a cost of $2.50 per ticket.

Among the awards to be presented are the Sigma Delta Chi outstanding senior man award, the Cedar Rapids Gazette photo cup, Board of Student Publications, Inc., keys to Daily Iowan and Hawkeye staff members, and the J. Hamilton Johnson newswriting awards.

Recognition will be given to new

Daily Iowan and Hawkeye editors and members of the SPI Board of Trustees. Announcement will also be made of next year's officers of journalism organizations and classes.

Fog Causes Blimp Crash; One Killed

LAKEHURST, N.J. (AP)—A Navy blimp returning from an Atlantic patrol in swirling fog early Thursday crashed into a hangar while trying to land.

One crewman was killed. Six other crew members were hospitalized, three of them in critical condition. Others in the crew of 18 officers and men escaped with scratches.

The huge ZPG-2 airship, 343 feet long, approached the Navy base here on instruments, using radar surveillance. The control tower knew what part of the field the blimp was over but not its altitude.

The blimp made one pass but was waved off. On the second try from the southwest, the corrugated steel hangar suddenly loomed out of the fog and the darkness. Gunning its motors, the airship tried to clear the roof.

It crunched against the hangar, where several helicopters were stored, at 35 to 40 miles an hour. The engines and the metal gondola, slung beneath the 150-ton craft, jabbed through the hangar and emerged on the inside.

The blimp's rubberized neoprene gas bag was torn open. Then the empty skin billowed down over the hangar's roof like a shroud. There was no fire.

Hillcrest Work Resumes After Labor Settlement

Work was resumed Thursday morning on the Hillcrest dormitory addition as a result of the settlement that was reached in the labor strike here and in Cedar Rapids.

Members of laborers' union local 43 at Cedar Rapids reached a settlement late Wednesday afternoon with home builders and contractors there.

The agreement will provide a wage increase of 15 cents an hour.

In addition to the Hillcrest addition, work had been stopped at the army-navy reserve training center near the airport. Both of these projects were being built by the Larsen Brothers Construction Co.

Also affected was work by the Viggo M. Jensen Construction Co. at the St. Andrew Presbyterian Church, the A and P supermarket and the Coralville school addition.

Labor difficulties in the past two weeks had caused brief suspensions of work on the administration building at Coralville dam site. The job there is being done by the Red Ball Engineering and Development Co.

BRITISH STRONTIUM 90 LONDON (AP)—Laborites pressed Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Thursday to state how long it would be before the concentration of strontium 90 resulting from nuclear explosions reached the danger point. Macmillan said he didn't know.

Under the Eisenhower doctrine, the United States pledged military and economic help to any middle eastern country which requested it.

12th Police Chief Chosen In Aurora Anyone For 13?

AURORA, ILL. (UPI)—Mayor Paul Egan struck a new blow for law and order in Aurora Thursday by appointing his 12th police chief.

Egan hasn't appointed any new chiefs lately because he has been in the hospital. But he made up for it Thursday by naming the Rev. Robert Wesby, Negro pastor of Aurora's Main Street Baptist Church, as the law in Aurora.

Wesby said gamely that he was willing. He thus became the latest in a succession of Egan-appointed chiefs who have included another minister, a red-haired publicity girl for a Chicago saloon, and a mysterious "Senior Carr" from New York who turned out to be a parrot.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur was offered the job, but didn't acknowledge the honor.

All this activity has had little or no effect on the operations of the Aurora Police Department.

Professor Pleads Guilty To OMVI

Ross Livingston, 65, history professor, pleaded guilty of driving while intoxicated and was fined $500 by District Judge H. D. Evans.

Livingston was arrested April 15 by a state patrolman 12 miles north of Iowa City. He was indicted April 22.

Hearing Waived Here On Morals Charge Arthur Pappas, 31, of East Lansing, Mich., waived preliminary hearing in police court here Thursday on a morals charge involving a 15-year-old Grand Ledge, Mich. girl.

Police said the two had hitchhiked here and the girl had been working as a waitress for about a week. They quoted Pappas as saying they were en route to Nevada to be married.

Housing, School Bills Approved; Obstacles Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A pair of multi-billion dollar housing and school aid bills cleared House committees Thursday. Both measures were reported headed for further obstacles.

At the same time, another committee approved a federal "fair trade" bill and a fourth group turned down organized labor's demands for federal regulation of unemployment compensation benefits.

Action of the big spending bills included: Removal of a month-long House Rules Committee blockade against a $2,100,000,000 Democratic housing bill that would far exceed President Eisenhower's proposals. A conservative coalition with White House support hoped to replace it with a more modest bill when it comes up for debate next week. Approval by the House Education Committee of a four-year, $4,400,000,000 program of increased school construction and teacher salary aids. The bill faced trouble in the rules group and on the House floor, where an attempt to bar aids to segregated schools was expected.

In other actions, the House Commerce Committee approved a bill that would permit manufacturers to set minimum resale prices on their products, and the House Ways & Means Committee rejected a labor-backed proposal for federal standards fixing minimum payments and duration of state jobless benefits.

Load Count Brings SUI 3 New Wires

Three new trunk lines will soon be added to the University switchboard to alleviate the frequent busy signals in the evenings, Leonard Brcka, secretary of the SUI Business Office, told The Daily Iowan Wednesday.

"This means," said Roy Williams, local Northwestern Bell Co. manager, "that three more paths will be opened into the University equipment from outside."

The decision to add three new rotary trunks came after a mechanical load-count device was applied to the switchboard for five days earlier in the month. The use of the load-count came about after a Daily Iowan reporter brought the busy off-campus to campus phone situation to the attention of Williams.

The load-count showed that the peak in number of calls is after 10 p.m. The trunk lines are busiest from 6 p.m. to this peak, Williams said.

Williams said that three trunk lines doesn't sound like many when compared to the total number (32) now entering the University switchboard, but in the rotary system in use the problem will be much alleviated.

Another load-count check will be made early in the fall of next semester, when University life is in full swing, Brcka said.

The Burge Hall addition probably caused the recent busy-phone situation, Williams said.

There has been a steady increase in number of University phones in recent years. In November, 1952, there were 1297 University extension phones. This number rose to 2214 phones in March, 1956; 2512 in August, 1958; and 2853 by this month.

Local Panhellenic To Honor Seniors

The Iowa City Panhellenic is sponsoring a tea for the senior high school girls of the area Sunday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the University Club rooms of the Iowa Memorial Union.

SUI Panhellenic representatives will inform the girls about rushing and sorority life. There will also be exhibits pertaining to the different sororities.

Central Will Award Degree To Hancher

An honorary Doctor of Philosophy degree will be awarded to SUI President Virgil Hancher as part of commencement ceremonies at Central College in Pella June 1. Hancher will be the commencement speaker.
