Gov. Long Plans To Resume Duties From Hospital Bed

Returns Home From Texas Mental Clinic

Freedom Order Signed At Wife's Request

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana flew back to his home state from a Texas mental clinic Wednesday with firm intention of assuming his duties as governor, apparently from his bed in Ochsner Foundation Hospital.

Just before he took off from Galveston, Tex., Long nodded when a reporter asked him if he intended taking over the powers of his office once he returned to Louisiana.

"Yes, I will that," he said. His statement heightened political tension around the state, where politicians have been treading lightly to avoid offending.

The 63-year-old governor stepped onto Louisiana soil just over two hours after Probate Court Judge Hugh Gibson freed him from confinement in the psychiatric clinic of John Sealy Hospital at Galveston.

Judge Gibson signed the freedom order at the request of Mrs. Long, who had signed the original commitment request.

A condition of Gov. Long's release was that "light arrangements" had been made for continued medical care for him in Louisiana.

After arriving from Galveston, he slipped into a rear door of Ochsner Foundation Hospital.

The governor, walking as rapidly as he could, ducked into an elevator that immediately shot to the fifth floor where he will be quarantined. He carried a cane but didn't use it.

The Air National Guard plane that carried Gov. Long from Galveston's John Sealy Hospital touched down at New Orleans' Moisant Airport at 7:11 p.m. The Long party quickly jumped into a black sedan and drove down busy U.S. 61 toward Ochsner.

On the plane were Mrs. Long, the governor's wife; his secretary, Wilma Lockhart, and Margaret Dixon, managing editor of the Baton Rouge, La., Morning Advocate.

Mrs. Dixon said the trip from Galveston was uneventful. She said the governor laid down part of the way. For a time he chatted with his wife. During another period he enjoyed Cajun jokes told him by Dr. Martin O. Miller.

Mrs. Long issued a brief statement in which she said Gov. Long had agreed to stay at Ochsner Foundation two weeks or longer.

"It took me all afternoon to arrange for his release," Mrs. Long's statement read. "He seemed anxious to enter Ochsner."

"He agreed to stay two weeks or longer, if necessary."

The doctors who came to New Orleans with Gov. Long gave this picture of his health:

"His heart muscle needs a rest. He stood the trip very well but had a shortness of breath due to the acute virus he has had. The mental exhaustion from which he was suffering is much improved."

"Principal need, they emphasized, is rest."

1 Gunman Killed; Brother To Face Murder Charge

MIDDLEBORO, Mass. (AP) — The brief career in crime of two young Philadelphia brothers ended in a fusillade of police bullets Wednesday on the edge of a bleak cranberry bog.

William Coyle, 22, was killed. His big brother, John, 24, unharmed, faces charges of murder and kidnaping.

Authorities said John Coyle admitted verbally after his capture that his brother shot patrolman James F. Kane in North Philadelphia as he walked his beat June 5. The brothers had been stealing milk from doorsteps in the neighborhood. They lived nearby.

Capt. Howard Gatter of the Philadelphia police talked with the older Coyle.

Gatter called him a "real clean-cut killer" and said he wanted him back in Philadelphia to stand trial.

Coyle was booked here on charges of kidnaping, assault with intent to murder a woman in a liquor store holdup Monday, and assault with intent to murder.

Bezanson, Engle Work In First Performance—Opera To Be Given At Festival

One of the highlights of SUI's 1959 Fine Arts Festival will be the premiere of an opera by Philip Bezanson, associate professor of music and head of composition, with libretto by Paul Engle, professor of English and director of the SUI Writers Workshop.

The work, entitled "Western Child," will be presented July 28, 29, 31 and Aug. 1 in Macbride Auditorium. It is an adaptation of the familiar nativity story and is set in the mining environment of the California Gold Rush. The opera is in three acts with a running-time of approximately an hour and a half.

The cast, to be comprised of students from the Departments of Music and Dramatic Art, requires 19 principal singers, plus chorus and small orchestra. Herald Stark, professor of music, and Harold Shiffner, assistant professor of Dramatic Art, will collaborate as musical and dramatic directors.

Set designs are by Arnold S. Gillette, professor of drama and director of the SUI Theatre; costumes by Margaret Hall, assistant professor of drama; lighting by Marcia Thayer, instructor of drama; and choreography by Marcia Thayer, G. Corallville.

Although Bezanson and Engle have combined their talents on previous occasions, "Western Child" represents their first opera. Bezanson, whose orchestral works have been given premiere performances by several major symphonies, including the New York Philharmonic, has provided musical settings for many Engle poems. Their most recent endeavor was "Song of the Cedar," a cantata commissioned for the Cedar Rapids Civic Chorus and Orchestra. They also wrote a requiem for chorus and orchestra, which was performed at the dedication of the Iowa Memorial Union addition in the spring of 1956.

"Western Child" will be presented on a double-bill program with a one-act opera by Donizetti, entitled "Rita." Both operas will be sung in English.

The plane landed safely on Japan's Honshu Island after a dramatic two-hour flight. This drew a "well-done" from Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, U.S. chief of naval operations; and a distinguished service cross for the pilot, Lt. Cmdr. Donald R. Mayer, 35, of Litchfield, Conn.

Berlin Progress Not Vital For Summit—Ike

Denies Policy Change On Occupation Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower seemingly shifted diplomatic stance a bit Wednesday and omitted progress toward solving the Berlin crisis as an essential prelude to a summit conference.

But the White House insisted there has been "no change of policy, no retreat," no appeasement. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said of the President: "He won't go to any summit conference under any threat regarding Berlin."

In any event, Eisenhower saw prospects for such a conference as no brighter than they were two weeks ago.

Of the foreign ministers conference in Geneva, he said there seems to be, "if not an impasse, an unreadiness to discuss things that could be classed as giving us possibilities for fruitful negotiations at the summit."

The President rejected any idea that he and other Western leaders should rush into conference with Khrushchev "every 30 days or so" to try to settle problems which their foreign ministers have been unable to resolve.

Eisenhower rejected another type of conference, too—a domestic affair that would bring management and union leaders in the steel industry to the White House in an attempt to settle differences and head off a strike.

Sen. Stuart Symington, (D-Mo.), has suggested such a parley. But Eisenhower said the results could be more hurtful than helpful if the government interceded directly and tried to apply political or other pressure.

In a conference that touched a broad assortment of subjects, these were some of the ones that stood out:

PLANE — He said he had no new information about the attack by Communist jet fighters on a U.S. Navy patrol plane over the Sea of Japan. He said the identity of the planes had not been established.

STRAUSS — The nomination of Lewis L. Strauss to be secretary of commerce has been in the Senate since January. Eisenhower was asked if he saw anything wrong with lobbying by the executive branch in support of Strauss. The President laughed along GROMYKO GETS DAY'S DELAY—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, left, shook hands with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd as he left the British residence in Geneva Wednesday. with everybody else. Then he replied that when his conscience tells him he is right about things he has recommended to Congress, he is going to use every influence he can to get Congress to see the light.

WHEAT — Without mentioning the word veto, Eisenhower jabbed at a compromise bill that would cut acreage and boost price supports for wheat.

SPEECHES — The President confirmed word from the GOP high command that "I shall do what I can to inform the country" on legislation he has recommended to Congress.

The session kept swinging back to the summit. It kept producing familiar sounding phrases. Eisenhower himself remarked at one point he had a feeling that "I'm just putting on an old record."

And he repeated what he has been saying right along — that if there is to be a summit session, the foreign ministers at Geneva must produce enough progress on cold war issues to give promise that negotiations at the top will be fruitful.

"If there is any kind of reasonable progress that justifies a summit meeting," he said, "why of course I would never decline the opportunity."

In discussing terms for a summit meeting on June 3, he told newsmen that until a way is found to reunite Germany, there should be a clear commitment that "we will not be impeded in exercising our rights and privileges with respect to West Berlin."

The Soviet Union is threatening those rights with a demand that the West pull its military forces out of Berlin within a year.

Eisenhower was asked whether Soviet failure to withdraw the threat means he would not go into negotiations at the summit on such other questions as disarmament and suspension of nuclear tests.

He replied that he didn't recall putting his views of two weeks ago "on the basis just of Berlin." He said if he did tie a summit conference directly to Berlin, "I did it only as an example."

Kindergartner Arranges Special June Wedding

CUMBERLAND, R.I. (AP) — Who says children today aren't intelligent? Why, one out of 84 may even be a genius as you can discover by taking a good look at the "graduating" class of the kindergartner of Lonsdale Grammar School.

For several days the youngsters were drilled in saying "Thank you, Mr. Nevins," to Vincent Nevins, superintendent of schools, who was to present them with diplomas.

Mr. Nevins was unable to attend the ceremony and the diplomas were handed out by Miss Lillian T. Hannan, principal of the school.

The first 83 kids in line filed by Miss Hannan and politely said, "Thank you, Mr. Nevins." The 84th youngster said:

"Thank you, Mrs. Nevins."

Miller Asks 'Why Is It So?'

TV Physics Lecturer Speaks At SUI

By JO MOORE Staff Writer

To an interested audience of all ages ranging from physics professor James Van Allen to nine year olds seeking answers to complex principles, Professor Julius Sumner Miller of El Camino College, Calif., presented a dramatic demonstration of physics principles Wednesday night in the lecture room of the Physics Building.

A master story teller of the physics world, Miller told his audience in the opening session of the four day 21st annual Colloquium of College Physicists that it is important to know what question to ask.

With this slogan in mind, Miller began his lecture by putting his "faith in physics."

He demonstrated this faith by swinging a metal ball on a string back and forth in front of him. The swing of the pendulum-like apparatus began beneath his chin. The ball did not hit his face, stopping short by a fraction of an inch at the end of the upward swing.

After each illustration, which revealed some important principle in physics, Miller would ask a question such as "Can I depend on the ball not coming back and hitting me in the face?"

Renowned for his television show "Why Is It So?" Miller showed other eye catching demonstrations in order to point out that nature is as he pointed out, "essentially simple."

An authority on demonstration experiments in physics and a student of the late Albert Einstein, Miller always asked his amused audience, "What do you predict?" Then he would prove or disprove these predictions.

The capacity crowd made predictions on such principles as the principles of resonance, surface tension, conservation of momentum, the effects of a magnet on direct and alternating currents, energy, and mass distribution.

In illustrating the beauty and drama of simple physics, Miller stressed that in presenting physics to the student, facts must not be simply viewed but it is important that inquiry be made. (See Additional Physics Story Page 2.)

Gromyko Cool To Last Ditch Compromise

West Allows 24 Hours For Final Reply

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko gave a cool reception Wednesday to the West's last-ditch compromise plan for ending the Berlin crisis. Then at his request, the West granted him 24 hours to make Moscow's final reply.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and his fellow Western ministers stood ready to arrange an early summit meeting if Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev agrees to what they regard as a reasonable compromise.

Their spokesmen disclosed the Western powers declared their readiness to have German personnel operate checkpoints on West Berlin's supply lines. This is a retreat. It is an offer to accept dealings with Communist East German authorities more or less as agents of the Soviet Union. Otherwise the plan would guarantee existing arrangements in West Berlin.

Reasonable Western powers said a flat negative reply from Khrushchev will break up the six-week foreign ministers conference and increase the danger of a Berlin explosion.

Gromyko took a critical attitude toward the Western plan at a secret Big Four session. He spoke stiffly in Russian for 15 minutes. Western informants said Gromyko complained that the Western plan would maintain the basic form of the U.S., British and French occupation.

But he made no reference to his earlier demand for a one-year time limit for the Western garrisons to get out.

Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, trying to stave off collapse of the conference, agreed to meet Thursday afternoon in Gromyko's villa to hear Khrushchev's decision.

It was Khrushchev's threat last November to turn over the Soviet manned controls on Berlin's supply routes to the East Germans which sparked the Berlin crisis and led to the present conference.

Radio-Television Equal Time Issue Up To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission left up to Congress Wednesday the question of exempting radio and television newscasts from the political equal time provision of the Communications Act. It said existing laws gives FCC no discretion.

One commissioner, Rosel H. Hyde, said flatly the question "is one of legislative policy. If the policy established in previous legislation is to be changed, obviously it should be done by congressional authority."

The commission Tuesday announced, without detailed explanation, its refusal to reconsider a February ruling on the subject. The finding was that the telecast of news programs by Chicago stations which included film clips of Mayor Richard J. Daley, up for re-election, entitled other candidates for the same office to demand matching time.

Indict 2 In Death Of Ex-Iowa Citian

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The County Grand Jury Wednesday indicted two sailors on first degree murder charges in the hotel room slaying of a vacationing Chicago businessman formerly from Iowa City.

William H. Long Jr., Cranston, R.I., and Philip Harlow, Columbus, Ind., both 19, were indicted in the death of Raymond Schroeder, 35. Schroeder's body was found in his room at a hotel here May 10.

He attended SUI before moving to Chicago several years ago. His body was buried in Iowa City.

The sailors, arrested by Mobile police after Schroeder's body was found, were stationed at the Pensacola, Fla. Naval Air Station,

House Passes Foreign Aid Bill By Close 2-Vote Margin

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-vote margin in the House Wednesday prevented foreign military aid from being slashed by 140 million dollars.

Close as it was, the 103-101 standing vote apparently assured passage, substantially intact, of the whole $3,642,600,000 authorization for military and economic foreign aid.

New York Underworld Leader Dies

JOHNSON CITY, N.Y. (AP) — Joseph Barbara Sr., 53, died Wednesday night, with the secret of the underworld convention at his home still intact.

Barbara suffered a heart attack May 27 at his present home in Endicott. He fell unconscious May 29 and was taken to Wilson Memorial Hospital here, where he died at 7:35 p.m.

He had suffered a heart attack prior to the notorious meeting of hoodlums at his palatial, hilltop home in Apalachin, near here, Nov. 14, 1957. Since then, he had evaded questioning by pleading illness. Many delegates to the meeting who have been questioned have maintained they visited Barbara only to see a "sick friend."

Joseph Barbara Sr.

Investigators have described the gathering as a meeting of the Mafia, an underworld society that originated in Sicily. The various investigators have surmised that topics discussed included traffic in narcotics and numerous other rackets.

Last month, it looked as though state investigators finally might question the silent gangland host. A State Supreme Court justice ordered Barbara, ill or not, to testify before the State Investigation Commission — an agency that has managed to jail some of the 60-odd delegates to the underworld meeting for refusal to disclose the reason for the meeting.

No date for Barbara's hearing was set, however. The only public appearance Barbara made after the gangland meeting was in Syracuse last month in U.S. District Court. There he pleaded innocent to a charge that he evaded payment of nearly $40,000 in federal taxes.

Looking drawn and haggard, he sat silently in a wheel chair during the brief court procedure. His attorney said then that his client was in pain. He said this might be the forerunner of another heart attack.

Iowa City Man Injured In Freak Traffic Mishap

Arthur J. Lee, 51, 814 Bowery St., was released Wednesday from Mercy Hospital following treatment for a jugular vein injury suffered in a freak accident on Highway 6 west of Wilton Junction.

Lee's jugular vein was cut when the outside rearview mirror on his gasoline truck was shattered by another truck. A piece of glass which flew into the cab of Lee's truck struck his neck.

Lee halted his truck and pressed his fingers over the wound to stop the flow of blood. Highway Patrolman Ralph Akers, West Liberty, came along minutes after the accident and took Lee to a Wilton Junction doctor.

The House put over until Thursday its decision on the whole foreign aid bill. Up for consideration first will be a proposal to cut the fund for economic loans back to 700 million dollars, the figure President Eisenhower recommended.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee had added 100 million in line with its announced redirection of foreign aid toward economic rather than military assistance.

Supporters and opponents of the program generally agreed that the $1,440,000,000 military component of the authorization bill, which sets maximums, was the most vulnerable to reduction. As it came to the House for action, it had already been reduced by the Foreign Affairs Committee from the $1,600,000,000 recommended by President Eisenhower.

The amendment for further reduction was offered by a Republican member of the committee, Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (Mich.). He said military aid paid for by U.S. taxpayers was going to countries which taxed their own citizens at a lower level and spent more proportionately on domestic welfare programs.

However, bipartisan supporters of the program rallied behind the committee version. Before acting on Bentley's proposal, they defeated one by Rep. George S. McGovern (D-S.D.) to cut the military figure by 200 million. The vote was 107-87.

A move to force the using up of committed but unspent balances from previous years before new money could be allocated also lost 109-96.

Decisively defeated, too, were two amendments to cut off all foreign aid spending that would increase the national debt or interfere with balancing the budget.

Personal Income Reaches Record $376 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income of Americans hit a record in May, reaching an annual rate of $376 billion as figured by the Commerce Department.

Another record announced Wednesday by the department: For the first five months of 1959, personal income was at an annual rate of $369.5 billion — $20 billion more than in the same period last year and $25 billion more than in the first five months of 1957.

May recorded a $3 billion climb in the annual rate over April. May 1959 was $25 billion better on a yearly basis than May 1958.

The Commerce Department said the gain from a year ago was real, for the most part. It said the public's buying power went up significantly as retail prices climbed only fractionally from a year ago.

Most of the May increase was in wages and salaries, up $2½ billion to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $255 billion. Payroll advances were particularly large in metals and machinery manufacturing.

Other types of income were relatively little changed from April. Business and professional income was up $400 million at an annual rate, but farm income was down $100 million.

Incomes from dividends and interest increased $400 million. Other categories were unchanged.

AIRLINERS OF THE FUTURE—Here are artists' conceptions of two supersonic passenger planes conceived by British and American engineers. The engineers claim these planes are possible with present knowledge. Both versions are said to be capable of speeds over 2,000 miles an hour.

Future Air Travel Viewed By Officials

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two aviation experts, looking into the not-distant future, predict hourly transcontinental service and a dining room dilemma for commercial passengers of 1965.

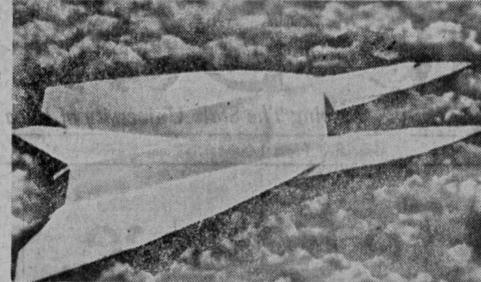

This is what they see: An airliner capable of flying 130 passengers from New York to Los Angeles in 70 minutes or to London to New York in 98 minutes.

A jetliner passenger, flying at 2,200 m.p.h. who leaves London at 11 a.m. after breakfast, arrives in New York at 8:20 a.m. in time for another breakfast, and touch down in Los Angeles at 7:45 a.m. for a third breakfast.

Then if he is in a hurry, he could turn around, leave Los Angeles at 9 a.m. and be back in London at 9:45 p.m. the same day. No, not for breakfast. Dinner.

Sound phenomenal? Not so, say Dr. Robin Jamison of England's Bristol-Siddeley Engines Ltd. and Hall L. Hibbard, senior vice president of Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

In separate talks—scheduled before the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences here Thursday, they say supersonic passenger planes are far removed from the area of fantasy.

2,000 miles an hour. The American model on the left, would have a trapezoidal or delta wing at the rear of the fuselage, with a tail arrangement in front. The English version on the right, would carry 130 persons from London to New York in 98 minutes, engineers say.—AP Wirephotos

Jamison, chief of his company's ramjet department, said his conception of a 130-passenger plane that would span the United States in 70 minutes could be built with today's engineering know-how.

The plane, he said, would be powered by turbojet engines used on today's jet transports and ramjet engines now found only in missiles.

A combination of eight or four engines of the two types, he said, would be built into a delta-wing air frame made of steel.

Hibbard, whose conception of the supersonic airliner differed only slightly from Jamison's also predicted the plane would be a delta-wing craft.

He said tests show, however, that a smaller plane carrying 90 passengers had these advantages over the larger ones: less time spent on the ground for servicing, more schedule frequency, less noise and maintenance.

Hibbard said the transport could be built and certificated by 1965. He said all of the major problems which previously prevented development of such a plane have been solved and for the first time are now within the realm of profitable commercial operation.

SUI Law Professor Testifies Before Labor Committee

Clarence M. Updegraff, professor in the SUI College of Law, appeared before the Senate Committee on Labor in Washington, D.C., Wednesday.

Updegraff testified in behalf of a proposed amendment to the National Labor Relations Act concerning interruptions of public utilities service due to labor disputes.

The amendment, filed by Sen. S. L. Holland (D-Fla.), provides that nothing in the act shall invalidate state laws prohibiting or regulating public utilities strikes. The Supreme Court has held that federal law supersedes state law in this respect.

Updegraff said there are two courses of action open to Congress in the present situation. The preferable alternative would be to reinvest the state with clear, full authority to legislate and regulate public utilities in relation to labor disputes, he said.

The second alternative would be federal legislation and procedural steps to regulate public utility labor disputes.

Updegraff said that public interest in continued utilities service is of greater importance than the interests of ownership or employees involved in collective bargaining.

A $200,000 Mystery—

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Teamsters Union President Dave Beck Sr. and two trucking executives were indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday for a mysterious $200,000-deal of five years ago. It was represented as a loan to Beck in repayment for past financial favors.

The indictment was linked with testimony two years ago before a Senate investigation committee in Washington, and a subsequent inquiry into Beck's income tax returns.

The indictment did not specify its accusations against Beck and the two executives, Roy Fruehauf, president of the Fruehauf Trailer Co. of Detroit, and Burge Seymour, 55, president of the Asso-

Steel Executive Speaks At Management Course

Unless he becomes a specialist in management, a man is going to find that his chances of moving to top positions are limited, a top steel executive told participants attending the Summer Management course at SUI this week.

Describing what he called a "shift in the character of management" which has occurred over the last several years was J. Keith Loudon, executive vice-president of Lebonan Steel Foundry, Lebanon, Penn. Loudon is one of four members who taught the first management course here in 1939 and who have returned to take part in the 20th anniversary of the two-week course.

Loudon told managers and supervisors that in recent years there has been a trend away from management by specialists "to management by specialists in management."

This means, he said, that while there is always going to be a need for technically trained people who are masters of a specialty, there are going to be restrictions in the top management field for those who are not specialists in managing.

"There has been a shift away from the concept that ownership and management are synonymous to the concept that the owner should employ the finest management that can be found," Loudon said.

"We know that the greatest benefits from ownership are to be derived from a competency in

Youths Ordered To Sell Cars Get Suspended Term

DAVENPORT (AP) — Two Davenport youths who last week were ordered to dispose of their cars when it was determined the family was receiving state welfare assistance, Wednesday were given 30-day suspended terms by Police Magistrate Edmund Carroll.

The youths, Larry W. Doss, 16, and Cecil E. Doss, 17, were charged with reckless driving after they were stopped by police for drag racing.

Judge Carroll requested their drivers licenses be suspended for one year.

Meanwhile, Scott County welfare officials revealed that the youth's mother, Mrs. Emma Doss had been removed from the welfare roll and that an investigation is pending.

Both boys sold their cars after being picked up for drag racing last week. The judge had ordered them to sell their cars before Wednesday or go to jail.

Plans For Large Telescope Described By Its Designer

One of the largest (5 million pounds) yet one of the most precise and sensitive instruments ever devised by man was described Wednesday by its designer at SUI.

Ned L. Ashton, Iowa City consulting engineer and former professor of civil engineering at SUI, outlined the growth of his "brain child"—a 140-foot radio telescope — at the opening session of the 21st annual Colloquium of College physicists.

The "listening post for messages from outer space" is now under construction on a 10,000-acre site chosen for the National Radio Observatory at Green Bank, W. Va., Ashton said. The telescope, which will tower 205 feet in the air, is expected to be in operation in the fall of 1960.

An almost incredible combination of massiveness and watch-like accuracy, the reflector or "dish" of the telescope and its supporting structure alone weigh about 350 tons. The dish, made of quarter-inch-thick aluminum plates, has an area of about three-eighths of an acre.

The mammoth instrument will be so sensitive that scientists expect it to pick up and record waves emanating from celestial bodies—waves whose intensity is no stronger than that of the light shed by a one-watt light bulb spread over the surface of the entire earth, Ashton told the 150 physicists attending the colloquium.

Weak radio waves which reach the earth from outer space are picked up by the dish antenna and focused on sensitive electronic receiving equipment mounted at a focal point 60 feet above the center of the "dish," Ashton said.

A radio telescope can gather radio waves emanating from objects in space many times further away than the largest optical telescope can see. Because radio waves can pierce great clouds of interstellar dust which block light waves, radio astronomy has opened a whole new field of research.

Ashton emphasized the designing and construction problems involved in the project by explaining that there is a direct relationship between the surface perfection of the huge dish, which will cost $5 million to build, and the efficiency of the antenna. The entire area of almost half an acre must not vary more than a quarter of an inch from a perfect paraboloid.

The driving gears of the huge telescope are among the largest ever to be built. Ashton said the one which will drive the polar axis shaft will be 85 feet in diameter and the one which moves the declination shaft will have a 71-foot diameter. Both gears have three and one-half inches between teeth centers and must be accurate within thousandths of an inch from one tooth to the next.

Following Ashton's talk, which was illustrated with colored slides of the construction project, W.G. Wing of the Sperry Gyroscope Company described recent developments in gyroscopic science.

"This science has giant strides in the years since 1911, when the Sperry Company began building the first marine shipboard gyro compasses, Wing said, adding that almost $100 million has been poured into research on gyroscopic guidance instruments.

Up to the 1940's, he said, gyroscopic instruments which would maintain a fixed direction in space to an accuracy of about 10 degrees of an arc in an hour were considered satisfactory.

Although the gap between the 1940's gyros and those needed by today's advanced navigational systems is being closed by constant research, Wing said, still more precise instruments will be needed in the future to keep missiles, aircraft, satellites, rockets and nuclear submarines going in the direction they are supposed to go.

He said the committee should hire a professional public relations firm to put on the campaign.

"Our trouble all along is that we have been trying to fit our reapportionment campaign to the Legislature," Gilmour said.

"Instead, I think we should tailor the Legislature to what is right. I believe that with a $100,000 educational campaign we could create a political climate in which our legislators could do nothing else than vote for fair representation."

The committee also discussed the possibility of making some changes in its reapportionment proposal, but tentatively decided against it on the grounds that changes in the plan would create confusion in the public mind.

The group finally agreed, however, not to make any final decisions at this meeting. It was pointed out that the governor had appointed the committee and it probably should be left up to him whether it will continue its efforts for reapportionment.

Good Listening—Today On WSUI

ARISTOPHANES, a name to reckon with, especially in the Greek Classical Theatre, is noted for a play called "The Birds." Less familiar but none the less entertaining is his comedy, "The Peace," which will be heard this evening at 8 p.m. "The Peace" was first performed in Athens in 421 B.C. during the Peloponnesian War (actually, something called The Peace of Nicias did break out that same year, but it appears to have been a false peace, as we say, for folks kept right on fighting until 404 B.C.). Tonight's performance is somewhat more recent having only just been recorded by the BBC World Theatre. "The Peace" has been described as "a racy spoof of armaments, war and the general futility of the whole thing," which, after all, may be the reason why they all started fighting again.

individual may hear Concerto Grosso for String Orchestra and Piano Obligato (the title is longer than the selection) by Bloch, a Beethoven quartet, Double Concerto for Two Violins and Orchestra No. 2 in A Major by Mozart and Haydn's Symphony No. 97 in C Major.

COUNT BASIE, Helen Merrill and Cy Touff are the principals in tonight's Trio, from 9 p.m. to 9:45. Basie (not really royalty) is the conductor of a musical organization devoted largely to the dance; Miss Merrill is a contralto; Mr. Touff was formerly concertmaster with the celebrated South Milwaukee Symphony under Woodrow Wilson Herman. All are members of the union.

EVENING CONCERT: music by Bach, Dittersdorf, Prokofiev, Viennese and Schubert (Fifth Symphony).

Loveless Attacks Criticism On TVA-REA Made By Iowan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Herschel Loveless of Iowa Wednesday criticized an Iowa congressman for his attack on the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) and federal transmission lines. Although he did not name the congressman, Loveless obviously was referring to Rep. Ben F. Jensen (R-Iowa). In a statement filed with the Senate Appropriations Committee, which called off a session at which Loveless was to appear Wednesday, the Democrat governor said: "My only reason for making this comment now is to let our friends in other sections of the country know that when the gentleman made his ranting attack

One House Legislature Is Proposed

DES MOINES (AP) — Formation of a committee interested in promoting a one house Legislature for Iowa was proposed Wednesday by state Sen. C. Edwin Gilmour, (D-Grinnell). Gilmour said he is exploring the possibility of setting up such a group in the expectation that Iowa voters will vote in 1960 to hold a constitutional convention to achieve legislative reapportionment.

Loveless: Need Teamwork For Mental Plan

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — The need for team work in mapping Iowa's future mental health program was called for Wednesday night by Gov. Herschel Loveless. Speaking at the dedication of a new hospital wing at the Mount Pleasant State Mental Health Institute, Loveless said in prepared remarks that team work is needed between the various agencies of state government, between levels of government, between governmental and volunteer agencies, between the various professions involved and between all components of the local community.

$22,400 Damages Awarded Liberate By British Court

LONDON (AP) — Liberate winked for the ladies, praised British justice and drew new cheers Wednesday night in his second public triumph of the day. The pianist donned midnight blue trousers and a gold lame (metal cloth) jacket for a performance at the Cheswick Empire Theater a few hours after winning his libel suit against a London newspaper.

He had accused the newspaper of branding him a homosexual. A high court jury decided he had been wronged and awarded him 8,000 pounds — $22,400 — damage. He walked jauntily out of court — and was immediately mobbed by a cheering crowd of women fans who shouted "Jolly good." It took him several minutes to reach his car.

Methodists Adopt Increased Budget

DES MOINES (AP) — The South Iowa Conference of the Methodist Church Wednesday adopted a 1960 budget of $834,233 at its annual meeting here. The new budget, an increase of about $43,000 over the present one, will finance salaries and operating expenses for the conference, colleges and churches. Money for the budget comes from donations by the conference's 459 churches. Of the total, $398,000 will go for salaries and operating expenses, and more than $436,000 for support to colleges, churches, hospitals and church boards and agencies.

Civil Rights Bills Face Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to give the attorney general broader power to bring civil rights suits lost ground Wednesday in the Senate but gained in the House. The actions came as Judiciary subcommittees of the two chambers began separately weaving together, accepting or rejecting the many civil rights proposals. Both actions face tough opposition when and if they reach the parent Judiciary committees and the House and Senate floors.

Iowa To Get Mental Aid At Institutions

DES MOINES (AP) — A mental health program for persons in Iowa penal and juvenile institutions will start in July, the State Board of Control told the Iowa Legislative Interim Committee Wednesday. The program of sending psychiatric "teams" to the various institutions to treat mental cases and help with rehabilitation problems, will cost about $200,000 a year, board members said.

Regents Meeting At SUI Today

Consideration of budgets and capital improvements is on the agenda for the State Board of Regents June meeting beginning here today. The Regents will also consider faculty appointments and perhaps award contracts for construction of a biology research building here and bleachers at the SUI running track. The board's 50th anniversary will be observed at a luncheon Friday. The board is the governing body of the three state colleges, SUI, Iowa State University, and Iowa State Teachers College; Oakdale Sanatorium; and three other institutions.

Piano Recital To Be Given Friday

A piano recital will be given Friday evening by Judy Croft, AS, Norwalk. The recital will begin at 7:30 p.m. in North Music Hall. Miss Croft will play Beethoven's "Six Variations, Op. 34," Debussy's "Images," and MacDowell's "Second Concerto in D Minor."

Pappas' 2-Hitter Puts Orioles Past Tigers 4-0

Homers Net 6th Victory For Youngster

Baltimore Gets Only 4 Hits Off Bunning

BALTIMORE (AP) — Young Milt Pappas threw a two-hitter at Detroit Wednesday night as he and his Baltimore Oriole mates cooled off the torrid Tigers 4-0.

Backed up by only four hits, including home runs off the bats of Gus Triandos and Chico Carrasquel, the 20-year-old right-hander struck out six and walked nobody as he registered his sixth victory in nine verdicts.

Jim Bunning, who didn't let a runner on base until Triandos' 15th homer of the season in the fifth inning, suffered his sixth defeat against six victories. Carrasquel's third homer of the year also came in the fifth. Bunning gave way to Bob Smith in the eighth.

Like Bunning, Pappas pitched perfect ball for four innings before Lou Berberet sloughed a fifth inning single through shortstop. The only other safety off him was Bunning's single to left-center in the sixth.

Giants 7, Reds 5

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An 11-hit San Francisco attack including homers by Jim Davenport and Daryl Spencer, brought the Giants a 7-5 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday.

Left-hander Johnny Antonelli notched his tenth victory against three losses but needed help from reliever Sam Jones in the eighth.

Pete Whisenant opened that frame with a 265-foot homer into the left field bleachers, spelling the end of Antonelli.

Johnny Temple hit a bases-empty homer off Jones in the ninth.

Oriando Pena, who blanked the second-place Giants in his previous start against them, found rough going and drew his fifth loss of the year. He has won three.

Three walks by Pena sat up a five-run sixth inning as the Giants broke a 2-2 deadlock.

Cubs 5, Pirates 2

CHICAGO (AP) — Catcher Cal Neeman hit an inside-the-park home run in the eighth inning Wednesday breaking a 2-2 tie and giving the Chicago Cubs a 5-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

With two out in the eighth, Ernie Banks lined his third single to left and took second when Bob Skinner fumbled the recovery. Bobby Thomson was intentionally passed before Neeman's liner rolled past Skinner and bounced to the left field fence. Neeman was nearing third as shortstop Dick Groat finally retrieved the ball, and easily beat the relay to the plate.

It marked the fourth time in as many attempts that the Cubs defeated Harvey Haddix, who suffered his fifth setback among nine decisions. Going the distance for the seventh time in 12 starts, Haddix yielded 10 hits and fanned 8. He walked only two, one intentionally.

Senators 7, A's 2

WASHINGTON (AP) — The homer-happy Washington Senators slugged two more tonight, backing up a strong pitching job by Camilo Pascual, for a 7-2 victory over Kansas City.

Rookie Bob Allison and Reno Bertoia got the homers, raising the Senators' league-leading total to 80. It was the 17th for Allison and the 8th for Bertoia.

Pascual gave up eight hits and struck out eight as he recorded his fifth victory against seven defeats.

Ned Garver, who left for a pinch hitter while trailing, 2-1, in the seventh, took the loss. Jim Lemon's single, Hal Naragon's triple and Bertoia's single gave the Senators their first two runs in the fourth.

Allison's homer off reliever Tom Gorman made it 4-1 in the seventh. The Senators added three in the eighth, two from Bertoia's homer.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle clouted his 14th home run of the season, with two mates aboard, to climax a five-run second inning and the New York Yankees went on to defeat Chicago 7-3 Wednesday.

Mantle's blow came on a 3-0 pitch. The Yankees had clipped Chicago's Ray Moore for a run in the first and had added two more in the second on a single by Hector Lopez, a triple by Bobby Richardson, and a double by Tony Kubek.

There were two out and two-runners on base when Moore threw three called balls to Mantle. The next pitch was a fast ball right down the middle. Mickey swung and drove a tremendous fly that landed in the third deck in right field. The home run gave the Yankees a 6-1 lead and finished Moore, who dropped his fifth decision against one victory.

Bob Turley received credit for the victory.

Dodgers 10, Braves 2

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers kept their old whammy on Warren Spahn Wednesday night, driving him out in a 5-run first inning as they defeated Milwaukee 10-2 in the opener of a doubleheader.

Spahn retired only one man when he was yanked after giving up a homer to Jim Gilliam, singles to Charles Neal and Carl Furillo and a 3-run triple to rookie Frank Howard. Gilliam's homer was his first of the season.

Spahn, who has a winning record against every team in the league except the Dodgers, now is 0-3 against them this year and 14-23 lifetime.

Cards 10, Phils 4

ST LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals got strong relief help from rookie Marshall Bridges Wednesday night for a 10-4 victory over the last-place Philadelphia Phillies.

It was St. Louis' 9th victory in its last 11 games.

Bridges, a 28-year-old lefthander held the Phillies to one run and four hits through the last 6½ innings. It was his first major league game.

The Phils hammered Cardinal starter Larry Jackson for 10 hits but Jackson escaped with only 3 runs against him.

Bill White slammed a triple and single for the Cards and Ray Jablonski had two run-scoring singles and a sacrifice fly.

The Phillies outlit the Cards 15-10 but left 13 men stranded and couldn't match them in extra-base power.

Richie Ashburn and Joe Koppe bagged three hits each for the Phils.

Jones To Compete In National AAU

Charles "Deacon" Jones, former Iowa distance star, will compete in the National AAU track meet this weekend at Boulder, Colo.

Jones is the defending champion in the 3,000 meter steeplechase event. He will be shooting for spots on the Pan American Games team and the team that will represent the United States in a dual meet with Russia later this year.

The first three finishers in each event will represent the U.S. in the Pan American Games and the first and second place finishers will become members of the U.S. team that will compete against Russia.

Quast Upset In Women's NCAA Golf

CHAPEL HILLS, N.C. (AP) — The daily surprise in the Women's National Collegiate Golf Tournament routine continued Wednesday with Judy Eller winning the last two holes to edge out Anne Quast, National Women's Amateur champion, 1 up in the quarter-finals.

The 19-year-old University of Miami sophomore from Old Hickory, Tenn., moved to a semifinal match against medalist Mary Mills of Millsaps College and GuJport, Miss. Miss Mills, also a 19-year-old sophomore, steadied after losing the first two holes for a 4 and 2 victory over Andrea Cohn of Northwestern.

Julie Hull of Purdue, still another 19-year-old sophomore, and Wanda Sowell, 20-year-old University of Texas senior, gained the other semifinals places.

Miss Hull was one over par in a 5 and 4 conquest of Judy Kimball of Kansas. Miss Sowell won the last two holes with pars for a 1 up victory over Mrs. Kitty McKensie of the University of North Carolina.

Miss Mills lost the first hole to a bogey and the second to a par, but caught Miss Cohn, former Iowa Women's Amateur champion from Waterloo, with winning pars on the fifth and seventh. They turned even, each with a three-over par 40.

State Jaycee Junior Tennis Tourny Opens Here Today

Play begins at 9 o'clock this morning in the annual Iowa Jaycee Junior boys' and girls' tennis tournament. The tournament, which will run today, Friday and Saturday, will be played on the courts north of the SUI Library.

Entries from about 45 boys and 15 girls are expected in the singles and doubles competition in the two tournament divisions — 18 and under, and 15 and under. The top two finishers in singles play in both age groups of the boys' competition will advance to the national tournament to be held in Phoenix, Ariz.

In the 18 and under boys' division, Bob Boyson of Cedar Rapids, state high school champion, ranks as the favorite. Steve Wilkinson of Sioux City, runnerup in the same meet is also a strong contender.

Iowa City will have a strong representation in Gary Lubin and Dave Strauss, who copped the state high school doubles title this spring. Other members of the City High team, John Conwell and Gordon Hamilton, have also entered.

John Wilmet and Chuck Darley are the chief Iowa City threats in the 15 and under bracket. The favorite here is Des Moines' Richie Friedman.
