Probers Hear Of Teamster Payoff

Newspaper Pays To Avoid Labor Troubles

Say Union Boss Given $100,000 In 9 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators were told Thursday a Pittsburgh newspaper paid a Teamsters Union official more than $100,000 over nine years to avoid labor troubles, and footed the bill for a telephone he allegedly used in a numbers racket.

William J. Poch, business manager of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, testified that Theodore Cozza did "little work for us," but that he was put on the payroll as a driver supervisor "for fear of disturbing the labor relations of the company." Cozza was fired about a month ago, he said.

Poch, under questioning before the Senate Labor-Management Committee, acknowledged that the newspaper paid $1,022 for 700-800 calls a month in connection with a numbers racket that committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Cozza conducted from his office in the paper. No period was mentioned. The business manager said the paper objected.

Cozza, president of Teamsters Local 211 in Pittsburgh, refused to give the committee any information. He invoked the Fifth Amendment, contending his answers to questions might tend to incriminate him.

The testimony about the Sun-Telegraph situation opened a new round of racket hearings on the Teamsters Union, a chief target of corruption charges since the Senate investigation began 2½ years ago.

The committee says conditions in the union have worsened, rather than improved.

Chairman John L. McClellan, (D-Ark.), challenged Teamsters President James R. Hoffa to say whether any effort at all has been made to drive out thugs who McClellan said hold important posts in the union. Hoffa is on call to testify today.

During the hearing, more than a dozen Teamsters officials paraded past the committee, each invoking the Fifth Amendment to avoid talking. Most were repeat offenders before the committee and most were labeled by it as known hoodlums.

Louisiana's Long Asks Separation From His Wife

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long, battling for freedom from a state mental hospital, filed a court suit Thursday asking separation from his wife.

The suit, filed by Attorney J. B. Nesom, charged cruelty, desertion, abandonment and slander.

Mrs. Long twice signed papers committing the governor to psychiatric wards at Galveston, Tex., and Mandeville, La.

Mrs. Long, who filed the application asking the governor's confinement to the Southeast Louisiana Mental Hospital last week, slipped out of the state Tuesday for parts unknown.

The 63-year-old governor goes into court at Covington, La., Friday asking release from the hospital on grounds he was illegally committed.

Long and his wife recently celebrated their 26th wedding anniversary.

Nesom said the suit, filed before Family Court Judge Joe Sanders was "the first step toward a divorce."

The suit asking the separation has the effect of temporarily suspending Mrs. Long's status as the governor's wife. It also suspended her right to ask further commitment to any hospital should the governor be released from the hospital Friday.

Mrs. Long was part of the family faction that asked commitment of the governor to the mental hospital in Galveston May 30. Long contended he was forcibly removed from his mansion at Baton Rouge for the plane trip to Galveston. She also petitioned a court last week to confine the governor to Mandeville.

Long contended earlier his wife was "the most jealous woman in Louisiana."

REFUSES TO ANSWER—Theodore Cozza, right, president of Pittsburgh teamsters local 211, has his attorney, J. Clifford Allder, at his side as he testifies Thursday before the Senate Rackets Committee. Cozza gave only his name and agreed he had looked at a photograph, left foreground—a picture of Cozza and James Hoffa—sent to the witness stand. In less than 10 minutes he read more than 30 times a statement refusing to answer questions on the grounds of possible self-incrimination.—AP Wirephoto.

Louis Armstrong Gravely Ill; In Good Spirits, Friend Says

SPOLETO, Italy (AP) — Louis Satchmo Armstrong, the king of jazz to millions around the world, lay gravely ill Thursday night in Spoleto Hospital. But people who saw him said he was in good spirits.

Doctors disagreed in their announcements on the exact nature of his illness.

"Louis chatted with me and seemed in good spirits," said his drummer, Danny Barcelona, after a hospital visit. "He wanted to know when he would get out of the hospital."

Armstrong's American doctor and Italian physicians examining him said his condition was grave and that he had pneumonia. They also were concerned about his heart.

His private physician, Dr. Alexander Schiff of New York, said Armstrong had not suffered a heart attack. But Schiff said the musician's heart is weak from years of blowing on a trumpet. As a result, the New York doctor said he was watching for heart complications.

In a statement just before midnight, Schiff said Armstrong was injured, but not so badly as to die.

These were estimates Thursday by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, which made its estimate for a Senate-House Atomic Energy subcommittee considering the effect of possible nuclear war.

The figures compare with the present U.S. population of around 177 million.

It was assumed that warheads having the power of almost 1½ billion tons of TNT were included in the 263 weapons estimated to have fallen on 70 cities and 154 military and atomic installations across the country.

Casualty estimates assumed the bombardment began at 7 a.m. New York time last Oct. 17. It was further assumed the people had no shelters other than homes or buildings, and that some would have been outdoors.

On this basis the civil defense people estimated that 28 per cent of the whole population died.

The committee received testimony that carefully designed and ventilated underground shelters could hold casualties to eight per cent of the population.

This testimony came from Walter E. Strobe of the U.S. Naval Radiological Laboratory at San Francisco, who said sturdier shelters could cut the loss to three per cent.

Wanted Underground Command Posts—

House Kills Shelter Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee Thursday vetoed administration plans to start building a chain of underground command posts from which to run the government in event of nuclear war.

Without formal explanation, it turned down President Eisenhower's request for $2,700,000 to build at Denton, Tex., in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, the first of eight subterranean control centers.

However, Committee Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), attributed the action of the 50-member group to concern that the program if started, would get out of hand and lead to demands for similar projects all over the country.

A seven-man subcommittee headed by Rep. Albert Thomas (D-Tex.), had rescinded an appropriation of four million dollars to build control centers at Denton, and at Harvard, Mass., near Bos-

No Orbit For Discoverer 4; Air Force Try 2nd Satellite Failure Of Week

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The fourth Discoverer satellite rocket roared aloft Thursday in a test of equipment expected to carry monkeys into orbit later, but it failed to go into orbit.

The Air Force said study of radio data will be required before it can determine why the rocket did not go into orbit around the earth.

The life capsule in the rocket's nose cone was empty. If orbit had been achieved, the Air Force had planned to try an aerial catch of the capsule near Hawaii.

Monkeys are expected to be carried skyward this autumn, provided earlier tests produce sufficient information.

The Air Force said tracking stations in Alaska could not contact the rocket on its first circuit around the earth. This tended to confirm findings of the preliminary studies made during the missile's launching that orbit was not achieved.

The 78-foot white rocket — Thor IRBM first stage and Bell-Hustler second stage — shot skyward from a pad on the edge of the ocean at this West Coast missile training base. The time was 3:49 p.m.

It rose vertically into a clear blue sky on a long trail of yellow fire, then curved slowly toward the south. Like all Discoverers, it was intended to orbit around the poles.

It was in sight more than two minutes, trailing a long, wispy vapor.

The first stage seemed to function perfectly. Preliminary telemetry reports indicated that the second stage of the satellite vehicle fired.

The second stage rocket, all of which was supposed to go into orbit, was to cut in two and one half minutes after the first stage burned out.

Montreal Greeted Queen Elizabeth; Near Mob Scene

MONTREAL (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II got a ticker tape welcome in a near mob scene Thursday. It was an enthusiastic prelude to formal opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway Friday by the Queen and President Eisenhower.

Close-pressing crowds, estimated by police to number hundreds of thousands, moved in on Elizabeth and her handsome husband, Prince Philip, as they rode through town in an open car.

An afternoon bulletin from the hospital said Armstrong had been unconscious, but a later announcement said he had not been in a coma at any time.

The Queen and Philip arrived here aboard the royal yacht Britannia late Wednesday, but this was their first appearance in the city.

Montreal is a hub for the Friday ceremonies officially opening the St. Lawrence Seaway, a joint U.S.-Canadian project that opens the heartland of America to the deep-sea ships. Actual operations began April 25. More than 1,500 vessels have since used the waterway.

In the high spot, Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower will make a 31-mile cruise aboard her six-million-dollar yacht.

That will take them through the first two in the series of locks that raise or lower shipping 224 feet. That is the difference between the water levels of the St. Lawrence and Lake Ontario.

Five thousand official guests have been invited. More than 50,000 spectators are expected.

Steel Strike Seems Certain; Union Rejects Latest Offer

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry Thursday night rejected a union offer to extend present steel contracts from July 1 to July 15 with a guarantee of retroactive benefit gains.

The decision seemed to rule out a delay of a Wednesday strike threat.

The steel makers at the same time proposed that the stalled contract negotiations resume at 10 today.

The union replied that the industry rejection of the retroactivity feature "makes no sense" but agreed to meet with company representatives again this morning.

Thus arrangements seemed to have been completed for a resumption of bargaining without any consent on a contract extension. This left the July 1 strike possibility still alive.

The union reply said, however, that its proposal for a 15-day extension with a retroactive proviso still stands. The industry had said it will have to start closing down Friday in anticipation of a Wednesday strike.

The Steelworkers offer came earlier in the day from David J. McDonald, union president. He coupled the offer with a demand that any new steel contract gains eventually negotiated would date back to July 1.

The offer countered a proposal made Wednesday by the steel industry that present contracts be extended indefinitely without any retroactive feature. McDonald made it clear that union would not consider an extension without retroactivity. He said the industry had often agreed to retroactivity in the past.

R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of U.S. Steel Corp. and chief industry negotiator, said the industry was considering the union counteroffer and would have a reply later.

McDonald submitted the union's alternate extension plan to the industry after day-long meetings with the Steelworkers' Executive Board and International Wage Policy Committee.

The wage policy group, in an angry statement, said the union had made fair, reasonable and noninflationary settlement offers but the industry enjoying its greatest profit rate in history, had balked completely at granting any concessions.

The policy group said substantial pay and benefit improvements have been negotiated this year for millions of workers in such major industries as construction, cement, petroleum refining, glass manufacturing and others. It said the steel industry itself negotiated a 25 cent hourly pay boost this year for thousands of coal miners employed by steel companies.

The union has insisted that rising industry efficiency and profits warrant higher wages and other benefits without any increase in steel prices.

The latest earnings figure for steelworkers was $3.10 an hour in April, including overtime, according to the U.S. Labor Department.

The industry maintains the steelworkers already are among the best paid in U.S. manufacturing and any further hike would spur a new round of inflation.

'John Brown,' By Stockton, To Be Given At Theatre

By JO MOORE Staff Writer

A highlight of the annual SUI Fine Arts Festival, the premiere of Richard Stockton's original drama, "The Trial of John Brown," will open the 1959 Summer Session at the SUI Theatre. The work will be presented July 9-11 in the University Theatre, with an 8 p.m. curtain for all performances.

Stockton's play, which calls for an all male cast, is based on the historical events surrounding the arrest and trial of fiery pre-Civil War abolitionist, John Brown, after his unauthorized raid on the government installation at Harper's Ferry, Va. The play's premiere coincides with the famous incident, which occurred in October, 1859.

"The Trial of Captain John Brown" is under the direction of William R. Reardon, associate professor of dramatic art, with costumes by Margaret Hall, and lighting by David Thayer.

Stockton, a graduate student from Akron, Ohio, may be remembered by SUI theatergoers for another play, a one-act suspense drama, "The Casket Maker," which was given at SUI earlier this year. This play was presented during the annual High School Play Festival by Iowa City's Regina High School; on the SUI Studio Theatre state under the direction of Ted Shine, G. Dallas, Texas; and for the SUI television studios by Donald Williams, visiting lecturer at the Television Workshop.

The cast of "The Trial of John Brown" includes: Dave Thompson, G. Bedford; Harry Langdon, G. Council Bluffs; Cameron Cummins, G. Cedar Rapids; Tom Koehler, G. Davenport; Marvin Sprague, A4, Keota; Tom Carson, A3, Iowa City; David Beuter, G. Solon; David Addington, G. Riverside, Calif.; Mel Davidson, G. Lincoln, Neb.; Victor Burnett, A4, St. Louis, Mo.; Ken Harris, G. Kinnelon, N.J.; Merle Lentz, G. Grove, Okla.

SUI summer session students may receive reserved seat tickets for the production upon presentation of their summer identification cards at the East Lobby Desk of the Iowa Memorial Union beginning July 1.

Individual admission for all others is $1.25. There will be no season tickets for the summer plays.

MARILYN MONROE IMPROVED

NEW YORK (AP) — Marilyn Monroe is walking around Lenox Hill Hospital now and has shown most satisfactory progress since a gynecological operation Tuesday, it was reported Thursday.

The nature of the operation has not been disclosed. Her husband, playwright Arthur Miller, said earlier she may be discharged from the hospital today.

Measure Also Lowers Phone Call Taxes

Tax Loopholes Plugged On Stock Holdings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted Thursday to end federal taxes on travel, telegrams and telephone calls.

Then, going in the other direction, it voted to repeal the tax credit now allowed stockholders on their income from dividends.

After hours of debate and some voting, there was still no decision on what to do to get the national highway program out of a financial fix.

All these various matters were tied to a corporation-excite tax bill the Senate leadership was pressing toward a vote.

It remained to be seen how the House would react to the Senate changes.

The stockholders' tax credit amendment was one of several proposed by a group of Northern Democrats to bring in more revenue.

It would remove from tax law a provision allowing a taxpayer to deduct from his income tax payment four per cent of all his dividend above $50.

The amendment, offered by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, (D-Minn.), won on a 47-31 vote. The majority was made up of 44 Democrats and 3 Republicans; the minority included 24 Republicans and 7 Democrats.

Next, Sen. Joseph S. Clark, (D-Pa.), lost with a companion proposal, which he said was "to declare the swindle sheet illegal for income tax purposes."

Clark's amendment would have denied tax deduction status to a wide range of items now treated as business expenses. He was voted down 44-34.

The provision to repeal the transportation tax, first written into the bill on a voice vote, later was nailed in on a 52-26 rollcall.

Defeated by voice vote was a proposal of Sen. William Proxmire, (D-Wis.), to set up a system of income tax withholding on dividend and interest payments, just as taxes now are withheld from wages and salaries.

After the defeat of Proxmire's amendment, Sen. Paul H. Douglas, (D-Ill.), called up his amendment to reduce the oil and gas depletion allowance.

It was defeated 54-21.

The struggle with the particular bill before the Senate is an annual event. The main purpose of the measure is to continue various excise and corporation income taxes at present levels for another year.

Unless Congress does that before July 1, the rates would fall back to pre-Korean War levels and the government would be out of pocket some three billion dollars a year.

Even with the deadline coming on, and with Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas threatening to force round-the-clock sessions in order to get action, the Senate showed little inclination to hurry.

Finally, Johnson got together with a band of Democrats who were pushing amendments aimed at closing what they consider loopholes through which $2.3 billion a year slips away from the Treasury.

The result was an agreement to restrict debate on the bill and all amendments.

The Senate accepted it unanimously. Johnson said, "We will attempt to complete action on the bill tonight."

'Be A Good Fellow, Now—Don't Be Difficult'

Soviet Purposes—Self Disclosed

The foreign ministers conference at Geneva provided six weeks of discussion, argument, and negotiation on the German question. What did it prove? We have seen no better description than that given by Secretary of State Herter: 'The Soviet Union clearly revealed that its true desire is to absorb West Berlin into East Germany and to keep Germany divided until it can be brought under Soviet influence.' A few months ago Premier Khrushchev and his colleagues sounded as if they wanted peace and a settlement of international differences. But whenever they get to a conference they make terms on which agreement would be impossible and under which men could live only in a prison state. That Mr. Herter's description of Communist aims was not overdrawn was corroborated over the weekend by an official communique issued in East Berlin after members of the Grotewohl-Ulbricht puppet government had visited Moscow. In it the Soviet and East German Governments declared themselves "determined to take all necessary measures for the most speedy removal of the abnormal situation in West Berlin." They described that situation under the occupation regime as "unbearable." It may be so to them but it need not be to West Berliners and their friends. The Communist statement reiterates the spurious claim that West Berlin is on "territory of the East German Republic." This shows clearly enough that the object of Communist-bloc maneuver and pressure is the absorption of West Berlin which Mr. Herter mentions.

The communique says it would not be difficult "to reach agreement on periods of time" (within which this absorption would be carried out). This guilefully assumes that the only question at issue is when the freedom of West Berliners shall disappear. The six months already is past in which Mr. Khrushchev originally said the West must negotiate or the Soviet Union would turn over its responsibility to the sham authorities of East Germany. This threat, involving control of access to Berlin, has been made a hollow one by Western unity and firmness. Then the one year of grace which Foreign Minister Gromyko offered with a show of magnanimity has been stretched out to a year and a half, with great pains to deny that it is an ultimatum. Moscow should be cautious about making any period of time on this score an attempted dictate, for what it proposes would no more be morally acceptable after a century and a half than it was six months ago. These extensions of time are something of a Western success. It would be fatuous not to recognize that the Communist bloc still has resources of military and diplomatic pressure. But the question possibly next presented is whether the West shall permit itself to be pushed by these pressures to follow the foreign ministers conference with a meeting of heads of state. Premier Khrushchev appears more and more to try to use bullying and intimidation rather than reasonableness or conciliation in order to obtain a summit conference. So long as this is true, the West might reasonably refuse to participate in such a meeting. The Christian Science Monitor

Virtually Universal Approval Of Secretary Herter's Actions

By J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst Christian A. Herter has achieved with one trip and one speech something that John Foster Dulles received only on his death bed and which never has really arrived for Dean Acheson. Whether Herter will be ranked in history with the greatest secretaries of state remains to be seen. But at the moment he has something approaching universal approval in the United States and among the Allies. General acclaim is not something to which secretaries of state have been accustomed, especially in such times of trouble. Working in a field where there is limitless room for disagreements over policy and the application of policy, Acheson and Dulles were constantly subject to the bitterest sort of criticism. The true stature of Dulles went unrecognized by many until it became known that his services would be lost. That was true in Europe as well as at home. Acheson, first as a policy adviser who had much to do with developing such things as the Marshall Plan, and then as secretary of state, served at a time when America was still feeling her way toward permanent positions in the cold war. Not one to grab for credit, his true stature will not be generally realized until the archives of those days are published. But at Geneva the homebound planes had not been warmed up when Herter began to receive the plaudits of his European associates. His quietly diplomatic but stern rebuffs of Andrei Gromyko attracted attention at home. Here was a man who might counter the Soviet rough and tumble even better than Dulles. Then he came back to report to Congress, the President and the nation.

Summer Fun On Iowa River Guarded By River Patrol

National Boat Week officially begins today as far as the nation is concerned, but for the SUI River Patrol, every "summery" week is Boat Week. As many as 50 boats on the Iowa River fall under the watchful eye of the River Patrol boat. And, by the same token, scores of boaters trust three SUI lifeguards to watch out for their safety. It's a two-way proposition, says Bruce M. Parker, security supervisor who heads the patrol program. Boaters are expected to know the rules and use good judgment, and the lifeguards are on hand to help in emergencies and keep the river safe for boaters, said Parker. Jim Coles, G. Phoenix, Ariz., and Joel Jones, A4, Iowa City, act as lifeguards while Verne McClurg, A2, Vinton operates the patrol boat. All three rotate positions, however. The men work from early spring to late fall. "The work is becoming more complicated with motorboats as well as canoes," said Parker. "Waterskiing is another popular sport which presents a safety problem." Parker said canoers have been urged to remain within the area bounded by the footbridge and the City Park bridge. The boating area for motorboats is north of the canoe area. A warning system is used to regulate the operation of boats and canoes on the river. Offenders are warned by the River Patrol and the numbers of their boats are included in a daily report to Parker. If the offenders are SUI students,

PATROLLING THE IOWA RIVER are Jim Coles, G. Phoenix, Ariz., (left), and Verne McClurg, A2, Vinton. The Jazz Scene

By GREG MORRIS Belated "greetings" to those of you who have joined us for a sweltering summer, all in the interest of education. The title of this column explains in a nut shell its purpose. It will try to keep you up-to-date on the jazz occurrences both here on campus, and "abroad." For those of you who may be interested, last year we organized a Modern Jazz Society here and we're in hopes of keeping it in existence thru the summer. Exactly what, and how much, we do this summer depends on the interest generated and the ideas offered. Our first meeting will be held this coming Sunday afternoon, June 28th, at 4:00 p.m., in the Recreation Area Conference Room in the Union. This room is located in the new Annex of the Union, in the basement, right across from the phone booths. I assure you that this initial meeting will be brief. The main purpose is to lay plans for the future. Hope to see quite a few of you there. During the past few weeks I have had the opportunity to hear some very fine recorded jazz. Two LP's remain uppermost in my mind, "Freedom Suite," with the Sonny Rollins Trio, and "Kansas City Revisited," with Bob Brookmeyer's Kansas City Seven. Sonny's "Freedom Suite" comprises one entire side of his LP. It is his first extended jazz composition and may well go on to become a lasting and massive work. At any rate, it is a wonderful listening experience for those who are lovers of jazz and are looking for something new. Sonny is ably accompanying by the master drummer, Max Roach, and by a great bass man, Oscar Pettiford. "Kansas City Revisited" is an attempt by some very competent modern men to recapture the swinging feeling of yesteryear—they have succeeded. The lineup is, Bob Brookmeyer, valve, trombone; Al Cohn, tenor; Paul Quinichette, tenor; Nat Pierce, piano; Jim Hall, guitar; Addison Farmer, bass; Osie Johnson, drums; and Big Miller, vocals. The sounds included are "Jumping at the Woodside," "A Blues," "Blue and Sentimental," "Doggin' Around," "Moten Swing," and "Travlin' Light." If you want to spend a few swingin' moments, this album will be hard to beat. For the last couple of weeks, many of us have read about Billie "Lady Day" Holiday's illness, and her latest brush with the law in regards to narcotics. Unfortunately, due to play-ups by the newspapers, most of what we have read about Billie in recent years has been pertaining to narcotics. This may have a tendency to make us momentarily forget her tremendous contributions to jazz, and the great influence she has had on upcoming vocalists. We need only to recall, however, her "Strange Fruit" and "Fine and Mellow" from 1939, and her "Lover Man" from 1944. The old, wonderful, Billie of yesterday possessed a voice that had an incomparable sound of jazz, and one which has remained unique. True, because of her age and other factors, she is not as dominant in the world of music as she once was, but no one can deny that "Lady Day" is, and always has been, truly a Giant of Jazz.

God Listening—Today On WSUI

"MEFISTOLFELE," the opera by Arrigo Boito, will be heard this evening at 7:30 p.m. Tonight's La Scala production is the last in the Spring series of grand opera presentations from WSUI. Next Friday evening the first of a group of operas selected especially for summer listening will be heard: "Porgy and Bess," the American folk opera, by George Gershwin. Boito's "Mefistofele," only one of several operas based on the Faust legend, resembles most closely the Goethe conception of the story. An Italian cast with the La Scala opera chorus and orchestra are under the direction of Lorenzo Molajoli. The early starting time, again: 7:30 p.m. YOU ARE REMINDED that every Friday at 12:45 p.m., following the noon news, there is a survey of editorial opinion during the current week in the nation's leading newspapers. Hear Plans For Highway Safety Study

DES MOINES (AP) — A non-profit foundation and a private firm told the Iowa Road Study Committee Thursday how they would go about making an engineering study of Iowa's highway and street program. They are the Automotive Safety Foundation of Washington, D.C., and Wolf Management Engineering Co. of Chicago. The committee discussed the matters that should be covered in its study, which is to be completed by November, 1960. William Reed of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads told the committee his organization would be happy to participate in the study and help out financially. "I am highly elated that the state is making such a searching inquiry into its road, highway and street problems," Reed said. "I feel that nothing but good can come of it for the people of Iowa." "We know there are some weak spots in the state's road program and this study would serve to turn a spotlight on them and point the way to remedial action." The engineering study is only one part of the thorough-going probe ordered by the 1959 Legislature. The committee also has been instructed to look into road financing, maintenance, administration and safety. Carl Fritz, vice president of the Automotive Safety Foundation, explained that it is a nonprofit organization which undertakes highway engineering surveys at the request of governmental agencies. He said the foundation had done such surveys in 24 states and two Canadian provinces. Fritz estimated the cost of the engineering survey at $50,000, but added that it should be accompanied by an analysis of taxation and financial problems. The foundation does not do that sort of analysis, he said. Ray Stinson of Wolf Management Engineering Co. said his firm is equipped to handle the entire proposed study. He said it has done numerous market research, transportation and organizational studies for a great many private firms and governmental agencies.

Fatalities Linked To Violations

DES MOINES (AP) — Half the drivers involved in Iowa traffic fatalities during the first five months of 1959 had records of previous violations or accidents, a State Safety Department study showed Thursday. Of 313 fatal accident drivers surveyed, 134 — or 43 per cent — had such records. The study showed that of 132 drivers killed, 61 of them had a previous violation or accident. Department Research Director Clifford Swanson said the study pointed up the fact that motorists with records are much more likely to be involved in fatal accidents than those without records. "It also adds weight to the conclusion that most accidents are caused, rather than 'just happen,'" he said.

Tampa Woman Claims She Shot Husband While Sleepwalking TAMPA, Fla. — William Barnett, 29, died today from a shotgun blast in the chest. Police quoted his wife, Lucille, 32, as saying she shot him while sleepwalking. Patrolman J. W. Harris said she told him she awoke while standing over the bed of her husband with a smoking shotgun in her hands, and remembered nothing prior to the shooting. Police held her for investigation of second-degree murder. Roland F. Kinsella, who lives next door, said something awoke him shortly after midnight and he heard Mrs. Barnett screaming on the telephone: "Come quick! Come quick! Oh, God, I shot him!" Kinsella said the Barnetts appeared to be a happy couple and had "big plans for the future." They had a 4-year-old daughter. 4-Month-Old New York Baby Chewed To Death By Rats NEW YORK (AP) — A 4-month-old baby was chewed to death by rats in a Brooklyn slum district early Thursday. The screams of little Richard Fox Jr. awakened his mother about 5:40 a.m. As she rushed to the carriage in which he was sleeping in their three-room shack in the Coney Island area, the rats scurried away. Mrs. Fox found the baby blood from head to foot, with gashes from rat bites over his face and body. The boy died an hour later in a hospital. Plan Outlined To Build, Develop Iowa Industry

DES MOINES (AP) — Gov. Herschel Loveless and members of the Iowa Development Commission Thursday heard a program outlined to bring more business to Iowa's existing industry. The program was presented at a luncheon attended by the governor, the commission and participating utilities. The speaker was Randall T. Klemme, director of marketing, research and area development for Northern Natural Gas Co., of Omaha. "It is a well known fact," Klemme said, "that the largest share of industrial expansion in cities such as Des Moines, Sioux City, Dubuque and Waterloo comes from the growth of industry already existing in their environs. A program to publicize and inventory Iowa industry is a positive and tangible step to stimulate that growth."

Conover Sells Modeling Agency; Purchasers Will Try To Settle Debts

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry Conover has sold his modeling agency, it was disclosed Thursday. An attorney for Candy Jones, former wife and associate of Conover in the agency, said it was purchased by a group of persons. Their names were not made public. New York Post Columnist Earl Wilson reported that the new management "will try to reach a complete settlement with the many models who claim Conover owes them from $75,000 to $100,000 in fees."

Heart Massage Saves Man's Life; He Later Dies Of Infection, Weakness

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A dentist, snatched from death by a heart massage from his surgeon brother 19 days ago, died Thursday. Dr. Raymond Smith, 45, was stricken with a heart attack after water skiing. His brother, Dr. Donald Smith, took him to a hospital and was on hand when the dentist's heart stopped beating. There was no time for an anaesthetic or for customary anti-septic precautions as the surgeon opened his brother's chest and began massaging the heart. The dentist rallied for a while after 2 1/2 hours of intermittent massage, but infection soon set in. "He was just exhausted from fighting the infection," the dentist's physician said. "His heart was damaged and weakened. This morning his heart stopped." Heart massage coupled with electric stimulation was tried again unsuccessfully.

3-Inning Stint Gives Face 12th Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Outfielder Roman Mejias hit a two-run homer in the 12th inning Thursday, giving the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-1 victory over San Francisco as Elroy Face notched his 12th triumph.

Mejias' homer — his fourth this season — came with Dick Schofield on first.

Victim of the 390-foot blast over the left field fence was righthander Eddie Fisher. He beat the Pirates in the opener of the four-game series but found rough going in relief Thursday.

The Giants remain two games behind the National League pace of the Milwaukee Braves, who lost to St. Louis.

Face, who has won 17 straight since he was beaten on May 30, 1958, pitched three innings. He put the Giants down in order in the 10th and issued a walk in the 11th.

Willie Kirkland and Jackie Brandt singled in the 12th as the Giants threatened. Pinch-hitter Felipe Alou walked to fill the bases with two out. But Eddie Bressoud popped back to Face to end it.

Cards 3, Braves 2

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals pushed across three unearned runs to edge Milwaukee 3-2 Thursday as the Braves' defense collapsed to ruin Lew Burdette's bid for his 12th victory.

The Cardinals scored two unearned runs in the sixth inning after some sloppy fielding by second baseman Felix Mantilla, then tallied the winning marker following an error by right-fielder Hank Aaron.

Aaron, who accounted for both Milwaukee runs with his 21st home run of the season in the third inning, turned from hero to goat when he kicked around a single to right by Joe Cunningham in the seventh.

ChiSox 4, Senators 1

CHICAGO (AP) — Barry Latman, 23-year-old rookie righthander, posted his first victory of the season Thursday when he hurled the White Sox to a 4-1 victory over Washington.

Latman, who earned his first start since May 9 by pitching 18 consecutive scoreless innings in relief, held the Senators to five hits. Only run off him came in the fourth when Bob Allison tripled and Roy Sievers singled.

The White Sox also collected only five hits off loser Pedro Ramos before Hal Woodchick came on to hurl two perfect closing innings. However, three of them were extra base blows that figured in all the scoring.

Latman had started four games early in the season and was charged with two defeats.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tito Francona slammed two home runs Thursday, including an eighth-inning blast that broke a 2-2 tie and gave the league-leading Cleveland Indians a 3-2 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles. Francona also had a pair of singles.

The 25-year-old outfielder hit his initial homer into the right field seats and his game-winner into the left field stands. It was his third roundtripper in the last two games and only his sixth of the season.

Francona's second homer came off Jack Fisher who relieved starter Hoyt Wilhelm.

Thereafter, the Cubs got three runs off Orlando Pena, who failed to get a man out in the eighth, and one off Willard Schmidt.

The Cubs got away early, scoring one in the second on three straight singles by Walt Moryn, Bob Thomson and Sam Taylor.

Ernie Banks' 20th homer of the season, a solo affair, gave the Cubs a 2-1 lead in the sixth.

Reed Defeats Andrews In Quarterfinals

EVANSON, Ill. (AP) — Top-seeded Whitney Reed of San Jose State, rallied Thursday to defeat Art Andrews of Iowa 2-6, 6-1, 6-1, in the singles quarterfinals of the NCAA Tennis Tournament.

Andrews Wednesday produced the tournament's first upset when he eliminated seventh-seeded Jon Erickson of Michigan in the fourth round.

Andrews won his first set from Reed on two service breaks. However, Reed, a former Davis Cup squad member, bounced back with consistently accurate corner shots to take the second and third sets with ease.

Andrews captured the first game of the second and third sets, but Reed came back to blank him the rest of the way in both.

Pott Shoots 63, Shatters Course Record At Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — John Pott, a bridegroom of 20 days, celebrated his best golf round Thursday — a 7-under par 63 that shattered the course record and gave him the first round lead in the $57,000 Chicago Open.

The husky former Louisiana State links star, who has failed to win a tourney since turning pro in 1957, rocketed 300-yard plus drives over the sun scorched 6,350-yard Glenlea course in fashioning a 34-29. It broke the competitive course record of 64 set last year by Bill Casper and matched earlier Thursday by defending champion Ken Venturi.

The 23-year-old Pott, who registers from Shreveport, La., had 9 one-putt greens and total of 27 putts.

Venturi with a 33-31-64 card, held the lead most of the day as a field of 151 players opened the 72-hole tourney in quest of the $9,000 top prize.

About one-fifth of the field bettered par. Veteran Ted Kroll posted 32-33-65.

At 65 were Walker Cupper Jack Nicklaus, the 19-year-old former Ohio State star; Marty Furgol, Joe Conrad, Tom Nieporte, Art Wall and Arnold Palmer.

Weather Stops Title Fight; Rescheduled For Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — The weatherman knocked out both Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Ingemar Johansson Thursday with a damp, foggy day. As a result, their world title boxing match at Yankee Stadium was postponed until Friday night.

The forecast for Friday is not promising. Another warm, humid day is predicted with a possibility of late afternoon and evening thundershowers.

Promoter Bill Rosenzohn, whose production has been plagued by law suits, feuds with the champion's manager and uninspired workouts by the Swedish challenger, tried his best to take the postponement in stride.

"Who knows?" he said. "It might even help. I certainly would have sold very few seats today in the rain. If tomorrow comes up nice we might do a tremendous business. If I had to go today I would have been lucky to do $500,000."

In case of bad weather again Friday, it is not definite whether the fight would be set back again to Saturday or to Monday. "Both dates are clear at Yankee Stadium," said Rosenzohn.

A Saturday bout would mean serious trouble for the closed circuit television people for Saturday is a big night for regular movies in the theaters they expect to use.

There will be no free home television but there will be a radio broadcast (ABC) of the 15-round match, scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Iowa time.

At Thursday's weigh-in, Johansson, smiling confidently, scaled 196 pounds and Patterson 182.

Patterson remained a strong 4-1 favorite with little betting reported.

Darlene Hard, from Montebello, Calif., and Sally Moore, the Bakersfield, Calif., 18-year-old, reached the last 16 of women's singles with third round victories.

Miss Hard defeated Mrs. Rosemary Deloford of Britain 6-0, 6-2. Miss Moore defeated Paula Courteix of France 6-4, 6-4.

In the second round, Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., beat Deirdre Catt of Britain 2-6, 6-3, 6-4. Karol Fageros, the Miami model, trounced Mrs. A. H. Thomas of Britain 6-2, 6-1.

Six of the eight seeded men still are in the tournament and four entered the fourth round Thursday. Second-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia trimmed Michael Hann of Britain 7-5, 6-4, 6-2 and his eighth-seeded countryman Roy Emerson beat Andres Gimeno of Spain 6-2, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Jane Claude Molineri, French Davis Cupper, defeated Malcolm Fox of Baltimore 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 and Manuel Santana of Spain defeated Jack Grigry of Alhambra, Calif., 6-2, 4-6, 4-6, 9-7, 6-1 in second round matches.

Olmedo and seven Americans were involved in singles matches Thursday as the schedule was juggled to clean up rained-out matches from Wednesday and to start the doubles competition.

Olmedo, MacKay Pace U.S. Advances In Wimbledon Meet

Alex Olmedo, the hawk-faced favorite from Peru, Thursday defeated highly rated Ramanathan Krishnan of India in the match of the week and moved into the last 16 of the men's singles of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

Top-seeded Olmedo knocked out 22-year-old Krishnan 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Krishnan had beaten Olmedo last week in the semifinals of the Queen's Club tournament.

Barry MacKay, Olmedo's 23-year-old American Davis Cup teammate from Dayton, Ohio, also advanced to the round of 16.

MacKay, seeded fifth, gained a 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 victory over John Leschly, an 18-year-old Dane.

Earl Buchholz, the 18-year-old high school sensation from St. Louis, did not play Thursday.

Buchholz, another Davis Cup player, is due to meet 45-year-old Gardner Mulloy of Miami in the third round Friday.

Olmedo and seven Americans were involved in singles matches Thursday as the schedule was juggled to clean up rained-out matches from Wednesday and to start the doubles competition.

More Positive Safety Needed, Says Loveless

DENISON (AP) — Gov. Herschel Loveless Thursday night called for a "broader, more positive concept of safety" to stem the tide of fatal accidents in Iowa.

In remarks prepared for an address before the Denison Kiwanis Club in connection with a safe driving contest, Loveless said that stern laws and strict law enforcement are necessary but can do only part of the job.

"As I see it," he said, "we must create a healthful atmosphere of accident prevention. . . based not so much on fear as on a decent respect for human life and a creative, affirmative philosophy of living."

During 1958, the governor said, 1,471 persons were killed in all types of accidents in Iowa.

"The major part of this accidental death toll is incredible, unnecessary, disgraceful and, by our own ethical standards, immoral," Loveless said.

"We have learned to conserve our natural resources — our soil, our timber, our waters. How can we be so careless with the most basic resource of all — our human resources," the governor asked.

Singling out the highway death rate, the governor said that despite tremendous efforts in the field, the traffic toll was running behind last year's record. As of Thursday morning, he said, the state total thus far this year based on national safety standards was 296, or 41 more than on this date a year ago.

"To halt this mounting toll," Loveless said, "we have thrown into the battle every resource of traffic safety we could lay our hands on. Government on all levels and in all departments has gone all out. The State Legislature has done its part. We have enacted stern laws. We have adopted a policy of tough enforcement."

But, the governor added, efforts will be doubled "and we will never cease working in enforcement and education."

SUI Included In Plan To Aid Teaching

A new national defense program will finance three years of advanced study for eight graduate students at SUI as part of a nationwide attempt at increasing the number of college teachers.

The eight students will receive National Defense Graduate Fellowships, which provided $2,000 to each student for his first year of study, $2,200 for the second, and $3,000 for the third year. They are among 1,000 students throughout the nation who will begin advanced study this fall under the program, authorized by the National Defense Education Act of 1958.

John Prehn, Manchester, and Kent Schwirian, Madison, Wis., were among the first 160 students in the nation to receive the fellowships. Both will enter a new program of urban community studies this fall at the SUI Urban Community Research Center.

Three recently named National Defense Fellowship students who will begin three years of study in the Dramatic Arts Department are Edward M. Bruce, Iowa City; Stephen R. Cole, Bloomington, Ind.; and Kenneth E. Wilkerson, Fayetteville, Ark.

In the SUI Department of Psychology, James Bruning, Crete, Neb.; Robert F. Stanners, Milwaukee, Wis.; and Irving F. Tucker, Amherst, Mass., will receive three-year fellowships to study in social psychology.

The fellowship program is intended to enable selected students having less than six months of previous graduate training to work toward doctoral degrees in their field. Preference is given to students who intend to teach in colleges and universities.

Fellows must maintain satisfactory academic work and devote essentially full time to study or research in their field.

vanced students for study in the United States and abroad during 1959-60, announced that it is accepting applications for fellowships that will finance studies during 1960-61 in subjects related to Asia, the Near East, the Soviet Union, Eastern Europe and Africa.

Applications are invited specifically from graduate students, scholars who have received doctorates, college seniors planning to enter business or non-academic careers, and persons of demonstrated ability in such fields as journalism and government.

The fellowships cover costs of tuition, travel and living expenses, and range from $3,000 to $10,000 on a yearly basis, depending upon individual need, number of dependents, and whether the work will be conducted in the U.S. or abroad.

During the past eight years, 866 advanced students have received Ford Foundation Fellowships for studies related to foreign areas. Some 300 of these graduates are now teaching in 100 colleges and universities in 33 states.

Applications for 1960-61 fellowships must be submitted on or before Nov. 1. Application forms and further information may be obtained from: The Secretary, The Ford Foundation, Foreign Area Training Fellowships, 477 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N.Y.

Plane Fires Shots Near U.S. Ship

PORT EVERGLADES, Fla. (AP) — The crew of an American freighter reported Thursday Dominican Republic airplanes fired shots near their vessel Monday night and a gunboat sent a shot over their bow.

The SS Florida State, a 411-foot cement carrier, docked here after a voyage from Ponce, Puerto Rico.

Capt. O. E. Williams of the freighter said the ship was cruising 10 miles off the east coast of the Dominican Republic when two planes circled three times and each fired five rounds which splashed into the water between 40 and 50 yards from the vessel.

Mason R. Scott of Tampa, the ship's quartermaster, said a gunboat stopped the Florida State half an hour after the planes appeared.

He reported it fired a shot over the vessel's bow. When the Florida State stopped, a gunboat officer questioned Capt. Williams about its registry, destination, cargo and crew.

Then he said proceed, Scott reported.

The quartermaster said the Florida State was not flying the U.S. flag at the time but "it stayed up after that."

Foreign Freighters Collide On Lake Huron; 1 Sinking

ALPENA, Mich. — Two foreign freighters collided in foggy Lake Huron off Thunder Bay Island Thursday. Two hours later Coast Guard officials said one of the freighters appeared doomed.

The former Liberty ship Monrovia was reported taking water in two holds and her engine room. Her captain and 29-man crew, who abandoned the vessel when it collided with the Canadian freighter Royalton, were picked up by a third ship.

The Royalton stood by to aid in rescue and possible salvage work.

The Monrovia's captain returned to his ship an hour after the crash to determine if she could be saved. Coast Guard officials said his inspection showed she was taking water at four different locations and that there was no chance of keeping her afloat.

The Monrovia, carrying a cargo of steel, is out of Monrovia, Liberia. The Royalton is owned by the F. Scott Misener, Ltd. of Port Colbourne, Ont.

The Coast Guard said the Monrovia had been abandoned by her captain and crew within a few minutes after the crash. They were taken off by the Norman W. Foy, a freighter owned by the Browning Steamship Lines of Detroit.

The last major ship disaster on the Great Lakes occurred last Nov. 18 when the freighter Carl D. Bradley broke up and sank in Lake Michigan. Thirty-three crewmen lost their lives.

FRESH MILK 68c gal.

Yes, when we say FRESH milk, that is exactly what we mean. Now that hot summer weather is here remember: the fresher the milk when you buy it, the fresher it is when you drink it. Our milk is produced every evening and morning, chilled in our bulk cooler, and then pasteurized and bottled that same morning. That means your milk is less than 24 hours old when you buy it. FRESH milk tastes better when you drink it. Only a small farm dairy can give you this kind of service and the best part is that it costs you less. Check these prices and compare:

GRADE A HOMOGENIZED MILK . . . 68c gal.

GRADE A PASTEURIZED Cream Top 68c gal.

GRADE A PASTEURIZED SKIM . . . 54c gal.

Ike Vetoes Wheat, Tobacco Bills; See Override Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower vetoed a wheat and a tobacco bill Thursday, and a top farm congressman said he sees no chance of overriding the President on either one.

Top Democrats in Congress called the vetoes unfortunate and regrettable. The wheat bill would have raised price supports that the government assures producers but would have required them to reduce their plantings. The administration wants to get away from both supports and controls.

The tobacco bill's stated aim was to help sell U.S. tobacco in world markets. Eisenhower said it wouldn't do the job and could mislead farmers.

Rep. W. O. Poage, (D-Tex.), vice chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said the vetoes mean there won't be any new wheat or tobacco programs this year.

Poage told a reporter it would be pointless to try to override the vetoes — that there just aren't enough votes.

Eisenhower has not been overrudden on a veto since he became President in 1953. It takes two thirds of those voting in both House and Senate to override a President.

The President's message on the wheat bill said it probably would increase the cost of "the excessively expensive wheat program now running at approximately $700 million a year."

The bill would have raised government price supports from the present 75 per cent of parity to 90 per cent. Parity is a standard deemed fair to the farmer on the basis of his costs. In this case the increase in supports would have been from $1.81 a bushel to $2.13.

Dominican Leader: Cuban Invaders About Cleaned Up

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo declared Thursday his forces "have the invaders from Cuba about cleaned up." He laughed at reports from Havana that his government is about to fall.

The 68-year-old Dominican strongman talked with newsmen at a reception for visiting U.S. Coast Guard cadets and officers.

He displayed a small American flag which he said his officers had recovered from a sunken invasion launch in Maimon Bay. The government claimed earlier this week it had wiped out a Cuban-supported invasion force on the Dominican Republic's north coast.

Sources outside the Government tended to confirm claims that residents of the coastal area, instead of rising up to aid the invaders, had joined with Trujillo's troops in tracking down and killing most of those who had landed from two speedboats five days ago.

One informed diplomat said "that developments appeared to settle the question of revolt in this country, at least for now."

While Trujillo showed the U.S. flag at the reception, other Dominican officials gave the government explanation for detention of an American freighter in international waters off this island and the forced landing of a U.S. Air Force transport plane flying over this area.

They said these actions had resulted from fears that enemies of the Dominican Republic were using American flags as a cover.

South's Church Prejudice Denounced By Lutherans

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Church leaders from the deep south joined Thursday in a strong denunciation of racial discrimination by the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Rev. Edgar W. Homrighausen of Cullman, Ala., president of the synod's Southern District — the heaviest Negro-populated — stood up and voiced support of a resolution which stated: "Genesis ascribes a common ancestry to all men."

"It is a violation of God's will for any man to treat his fellow-men with contempt or to despise any particular race or man . . . we possess no evidence to prove the alleged superiority or inferiority of any race of people."

Rev. William G. Kennell of Montgomery, Ala., from the Southern District, also spoke for passage of the resolution. It pledged efforts by the 2½ million member synod "to combat ignorance and prejudice" on racial questions by stressing "truths about race" in the church's congregations, schools, colleges and seminaries.

Later, in an interview, Rev. Homrighausen said his Southern District—Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and northwest Florida — is pushing efforts to work closer with the Negroes and make them advisory nonvoting members of the Missouri Synod.

The Southern District presently is the only one among the synod's 34 districts where Negroes are handled in the same manner as Negroes in Africa — as a missionary field kept out of the synod and supervised by a synodical conference. This conference embraces not only the Missouri but the 300,000-member Wisconsin Synod and other smaller groups.

$5 Million Cash To Be Borrowed By U.S. Treasury

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury announced Thursday it will borrow $5 billion in new cash early next month through auctions of two short-term securities.

The department said the big borrowing operation will raise enough money to take care of the major part of its cash needs through September. It said some additional cash borrowing will be necessary in early August, however.

The short-term securities to be auctioned next month will be: Three billion dollars of 258-day tax anticipation bills to be auctioned on July 1 and dated July 8 to mature March 22, 1960.

Two billion dollars of one-year bills to be auctioned on July 8, dated July 15 to mature July 15, 1960.

By auctioning the securities, the Treasury will permit the money market to determine the interest rates on the new issues. Investors will bid for the bills at less than face value, with the discount representing the effective yields.

The Treasury noted that it will conduct the auctions only on condition the debt limit is raised by June 30.

The Senate, told by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas that the Treasury was holding up a big refinancing operation, only a short time before had rushed to the White House legislation boosting the debt limit to $295 billion for the next year.

Prison Doctor Dies Before Execution

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The bloody story of Charles Starkweather, garbage hauler turned killer, ended Thursday.

Death in the electric chair at 12:05 a.m. closed out the career of the 20-year-old red-haired slayer of 11.

He was calm and self-controlled to the end. He had no last words other than a queried "What's your hurry?" to prison attendants who took him to the execution chamber.

The prison doctor, assigned the responsibility of pronouncing Starkweather dead, suffered a fatal heart attack.

Dr. B. A. Finkle, 75, was stricken outside the warden's office and died about half an hour before the execution. Alternate doctors carried on.

Tears which trickled down the cheeks of Deputy Warden John Greenholtz after the electrocution were not for Starkweather, but for Dr. Finkle, Greenholtz said.

When the hour of execution approached, prison officials dispersed a crowd of 50 teen-agers who gathered outside the prison, rock 'n' roll rhythms blaring from their car radios.

The execution followed a day of desperate legal efforts by Starkweather's parents and Washington attorneys to obtain a reprieve.

Four earlier execution dates had been stayed by appeals and legal maneuvers.

Starkweather's ex-sweetheart and traveling companion on a murder rampage 17 months ago, Caril Fugate, now 15, apparently was unaware of the killer's execution.

At the York Women's State Reformatory where Caril is serving a life sentence, Supt. Hattie Bowley said the girl had been told nothing. Caril's life sentence is for the same slaying for which Starkweather was executed.

BENNET, Neb. (AP) — While Charles Starkweather was being executed, Robert Jensen Sr. kept a lonely watch at the hilltop grave of his son Thursday.

Starkweather went to death in Nebraska's electric chair for the January 1958 slaying of Jensen's son, Robert Jr.

"It was just something that had to be done," said Jensen of the execution. "It doesn't help a bit to bring back our boy or Carol."

Carol King, young Jensen's girl friend, was slain with him.

On Second Juvenile Crime—

Officers Would Print Name

Most Iowa peace officers Thursday morning seemed to favor publication of the names of juvenile offenders — but only after the first offense.

Following a discussion on the handling of juvenile offenders, officers told The Daily Iowan they believe publication of names in juvenile cases to be "a great deterrent factor."

Said one officer, "Frequently parents cannot or will not control their teen-age children. When this is the case, we must administer discipline the parents should administer. Protection of these children from the punishment of public-ty is a disservice to the children as well as to society."

The officers generally opposed publication of names when the offenders are very young, on the theory that parents are more likely to administer discipline to young children than they are to teenagers, and that publicity in these cases serves no useful purpose. They were further agreed that first-offenders should be protected and "given a second chance."

The practice of publishing juvenile offenders' names is already established in some Iowa cities.
