Aid Vote Delayed

Senate Sets Tuesday For Final Decision

Agrees To Limit Debate On Amendments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Thursday night postponed a final vote on the foreign aid bill after handing President Eisenhower a victory in a dispute over the Development Loan Fund.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas won agreement to put off any further roll-call votes until next Tuesday and to limit debate then on amendments and the multibillion dollar bill itself.

Johnson abandoned earlier plans to bring the bill to a final vote Thursday night, saying a number of senators did not want to vote that soon. He also mentioned that many senators have engagements in their home states over the July 4th weekend.

A key action in the daylong session came when the Senate approved a two-year, $2 billion program for foreign development loans requiring financing by Congress. That amounted to a victory for Eisenhower.

It was a compromise brought out by Democratic and Republican leaders as a substitute for a Treasury-financed, five-year $5 billion program backed by Chairman J. William Fulbright, (D-Ark.), of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

But while it was written into the multibillion-dollar foreign aid bill by voice vote, the compromise did not satisfy Fulbright and Sen. Stuart Symington, (D-Mo.).

Fulbright said Eisenhower had forced an end to any effective loan program.

Symington accused the President of making a switch of 180 degrees since advocating financing the program through Treasury borrowings only two years ago.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois produced the compromise to avoid a fight over the whole issue of Treasury financing for various government programs.

The totals in the provision—$750 million for this year and $1 1/4 billion for next year—went beyond Eisenhower's request for a one-year $700 million outlay.

But Johnson yielded to Eisenhower's view that the funds should come out of congressional appropriations, subject to annual review.

The compromise cut the total in the foreign aid authorization bill from $4.2 billion to $3.9 billion. The cut represented the difference between the billion dollars Fulbright proposed for development loans this year and the $750 million in the Johnson-Dirksen amendment.

But the measure faced further efforts to cut it.

Pope Urges All Means To Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII Thursday urged the statesmen of the earth to "try every approach" in a search for peace in a troubled world.

In the first encyclical of his eight-month reign, the head of the Roman Catholic Church warned that the dread alternative is nuclear war with "appalling destruction and ruin" for "victor and vanquished" alike.

"Already too many cemeteries of those fallen in war cover the earth's surface and solemnly warn that all should be, at long last, brought back to harmony, unity and a just peace," the 77-year-old pontiff declared.

The encyclical — it means literally a letter to many — was addressed to the bishops of the Church. Its theme was "truth, unity and peace." It ranged widely over human relationships, from nations down to the family unit.

The Pope "lovingly invited" the various Christian faiths to reunite in the Roman Catholic Church. He said there is room for unity of ideas because "the Catholic Church leaves to the discussion of the theologians" those points in which there is uncertainty and which "do not tear asunder the unity of the Church."

He had advice for molders of public opinion — the press, movies and television. He urged them to avoid lies, error, and obscenity and to dedicate themselves to truth.

The letter was dated on the feast day of St. Peter, June 29. It was released for publication Thursday.

Causes Of Plane Crash Are Sought

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Civil Aeronautics Board Engineers begin searching a debris-strewn wheat field near here today for some clue to the crash of a twin-engine Continental Can Co. plane which killed 10 persons.

Eight of those aboard the plane, a passenger version of the World War II-type B26 Martin Mauderser bomber, were Continental Can executives. The other two were the pilot and copilot.

Officials late Thursday said they are now satisfied that there were no more than 10 persons aboard the plane when it hurtled over an overcast sky and virtually disintegrated in a field six miles east of this north central Ohio city.

They said they found wallets containing the identification of each of the 10.

The plane took off from Chicago's Midway Airport about midnight Wednesday and was headed for Baltimore and New York.

It was last heard from shortly before 6 p.m., when the pilot told Marion Municipal Airport that he was flying over Findlay, in northwest Ohio, an attempt to skirt a thunderstorm north of Marion. He was to report again near Mansfield, 74 miles southeast, but the crash occurred shortly after that.

Witnesses said the sleek ship roared in with its propellers giving the high-pitched whine usually associated with engines on full throttle. It crashed on the H. F. Smith farm, scattering wreckage over a 300-yard area.

The executives, returning east after a meeting of company officials in Chicago, were identified as:

Abbott W. Sherwood, Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., product sales manager.

Prince Albert Takes A Wife

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Pretti Princess Paola giggled and wept at her wedding Thursday — and melted the hearts of her new countrymen.

Marrying Prince Albert of Liege, heir-presumptive to the Belgian throne, in separate civil and religious rites, the 21-year-old Italian-born princess was irresistible to the Belgians.

Several hundred especially invited guests — including a handful of reporters and photographers — witnessed both ceremonies.

Belgium's state-controlled television brought every moment of the two colorful ceremonies into the homes of thousands here and the Eurovision network piped the wedding to many other countries.

At the first ceremony, the civil one performed by Burgomaster Lucien Cooremans at Brussels Palace, Paola began smiling. It was a nervous smile, the sort that seems to seize children at moments when grown-ups order them to be quiet.

The pilot was identified as John R. Dunham of Madison, N.J., and the copilot as Donald Martin of Dover, N.J.

Steelworker Talks Halted By Walkouts

NEW YORK (AP) — Efforts of the United Steelworkers of America to halt a rash of wildcat strikes Thursday slowed contract negotiations between the union and 12 major steel producers.

Morning and afternoon talks had been scheduled, but the latter was called off. A joint announcement said there would be a recess until today while the union high command sought to get the strikers back to work.

Up to 30,000 had quit work in various areas Wednesday despite a two-week extension of the present contract, requested by President Eisenhower, to permit time for more negotiations.

The walkouts took place at the time the old pact normally would have expired.

The union's high command quickly sent out word for the men to get back on the job, and officials said more than half had returned by Thursday morning.

Some 3,700 union members on Great Lakes ore-carrying ships later were called back to work.

Union President David J. McDonald said those still out included 9,000 employees of Republic Steel in Cleveland.

There has been little progress in negotiations being carried on here by four-man teams representing the union and the 12 steel companies. The companies employ 90 per cent of the nation's steel.

The union is seeking a package increase, estimated unofficially at 15 to 20 cents an hour. The present hourly wage averages $3.10.

A wage-freeze has been demanded by the industry on the contention that it would help curb inflation and fight foreign competition.

Will Meet Force With Force, Kozlov Warns

July 4th Offers Varied Activity In Iowa City

By MARLENE JORGENSEN City Editor

Many SUIowans have gone home or will be going home today for a short vacation, but the rest will be setting off their "firecrackers" Saturday in Iowa City.

Some will be going boating, swimming, or fishing, while others will welcome a day of rest in front of an air-conditioner with tall, cool glasses of refreshment in their hands.

Iowa City offers a wealth of Fourth of July activities including the celebration at City Park sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Jaycees' program will begin at 9 a.m. with Little League baseball. Two games will be played in the morning and two in the afternoon. Four outstanding players have been selected from each team of the three local leagues to comprise eight all-star teams.

In the afternoon, SUIowans can view the parade of boats which begins at 1 p.m. Eight boat races are scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. There are classifications for various motor sizes. There will also be two novelty races.

The fireworks display will begin at 8:30 p.m. and will feature the historic naval and marine Battle of Midway and various cartoon characters.

City Park won't be the only center of activity, however. Many Iowa City residents will migrate to MacBride Park or the Coralville Reservoir for a day of fishing, boating, or water skiing.

Other "river rats" will launch their boats in Coralville, load suits, and steaks, and prepare for a day on the Iowa River. Searches will begin for private beaches and picnic spots.

Enthusiasts for a different kind of recreation may head for the golf courses, for either regular golf, the miniature variety, or just some practice on the driving range.

A few students will spend the day studying, but probably many more of them do what at least one SUI student is planning to do — sleep.

We Have More Taxes, Laws, Signs But— Where Is The New Flag?

By KAY KRESS News Editor

There may not be a 49-star flag in all of Iowa City Saturday, even though this is the day the Alaskan star is officially added to those of the 48 states now represented in Old Glory.

Old Capitol will still be sporting last year's version of the flag. University officials reported Thursday.

Most people seem to prefer to wait until the 50th star, Hawaii, is added next July 4 and then get the newest version.

Several Iowa City merchants said they had not received any of the new flags, and had no immediate plans for ordering them.

The Chamber of Commerce has ordered flags with 49 stars, but they will not arrive by Saturday.

Both the Iowa City Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion will continue to use their 48-star flags until next year when they plan to buy a 50-star flag.

Even the Iowa City Post Office will continue to use the 48er. The postmaster said he has received a letter from the Post Office Department saying that the 48-star flag will be legal until a replacement is made.

The point system, which has been operative in Iowa only under an administrative ruling, will become a part of Iowa law on Saturday.

State Representative D. C. Nolan said the law was passed by the 1958 session of the Iowa Legislature because some of its members felt that an administrative department could not legislate as they felt Iowa Department of Public Safety had done in establishing the point system.

While a test of the legality of the point system has never reached the Iowa Supreme Court, Nolan said, several cases involving the system have been invalidated in district courts in the state.

Under the new law some administrative changes will also become effective, Nolan said. A driver must be notified by the Safety Department before his license can be suspended. This gives him an opportunity to appeal the loss of points in a hearing before the department before the suspension becomes effective.

If the case is taken into court, no suspension can go into effect before a decision has been reached, Nolan said.

The addition of "bonus points" will also become effective Saturday. This entitles a driver who has had no violations which resulted in the loss of points during a year to receive a bonus point for that year. Up to 5 extra points may be accumulated in this way.

A 1-cent increase in the tax on cigarettes will also become effective Saturday.

A slight increase in the sale of cartons of cigarettes has been noted by some Iowa City stores, and most of them expect a rather sharp increase in sales today, the day before the price rise.

The cigarettes which a store has on hand after Friday's sales must be counted and the number sent to the state along with the extra tax due on the unsold cigarettes.

Iowa cigarette smokers are not the only ones who will be paying a higher tax Saturday. One-cent increases will also become effective in Idaho, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Washington and Wyoming, while two-cents additional

Acceptance Of Soviet's Berlin Plan Ordered

If Not, Will Sign Separate Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov warned Thursday that the Soviet Union would meet force with force if the Western Allies resort to military action in the Berlin crisis.

Kozlov, switching from his role as Moscow's good-humored salesman, coupled these blunt words with renewed demands the West accept the Kremlin's formula for making West Berlin a Communist-ruled "free city."

If not, he said the U.S.S.R. would ignore Western protests and sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany—"with all the consequences."

The visiting Russian leader spoke out in a speech beamed coast-to-coast on television. It came on the second day of his fast-moving round of talks in the capital. He spoke in Russian, and his words were translated into English by one of his aides.

"If a war is reached, if force is resorted to, then force will be met with force," he said grimly before some 250 newsmen who gathered at a press luncheon in his honor. The scene was a downtown hotel a few blocks from the White House.

Dropping the smile he has worn since arriving here, Kozlov assailed United States foreign policy in a speech which was at times defiant and boastful.

His main theme was a plea for better Soviet-American understanding to end dangerous world tensions.

But he offered not even the faintest glimmer of a Soviet concession to make this possible, restating instead all of Moscow's standard proposals.

Administration officials who listened to him said his words amounted almost point-by-point to the same unyielding stance he adopted in talks Wednesday with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

The 50-year-old Kozlov, a fast-rising star in the Kremlin, welcomed a question about whether he would succeed Premier Nikita Khrushchev. But with a show of bashfulness he declined to answer on the ground the 64-year-old Khrushchev was in good health and would live a long time.

He showed no such hesitation in denouncing the Western Allies for allegedly perpetuating international tensions by their determination to stay in Berlin in the face of the Soviet demand they get out.

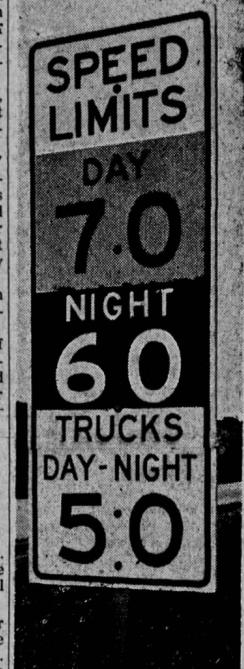

The Soviet Union didn't mean to imply an ultimatum, he said, by its latest proposal that Western troops pull out within 18 months.

But unless the West agrees to negotiate on the basis of this Soviet proposal, he said, his country would have no alternative but to make a deal with the East German Reds.

Kozlov indirectly accused American leaders — without naming names — of pushing a dangerous cold war policy and of reckless preparations for a new war at a time when the world is clamoring for peace.

Like Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, who visited the United States last January, Kozlov spoke glowingly of the advantages of a summit conference and a massive increase in Soviet-American trade.

A meeting between Eisenhower and Khrushchev would be useful, he said, regardless of the outcome of the currently deadlocked Geneva foreign ministers talks.

New Speed Signs

will be paid in Ohio, New York, South Carolina, and Vermont.

Californians will be paying a three-cent tax on cigarettes for the first time beginning Saturday.

This leaves only four states — Oregon, Virginia, North Carolina and Colorado — still without a tax on cigarettes.

Iowa Highway Commission maintenance crews were out posting new speed limit signs Thursday on 8,650 rural miles of primary highways as the result of a law passed by the Iowa General Assembly.

The new 70-mile-per-hour daytime speed limit on all primary roads will become effective Saturday.

By bolting an overlay board marked "Day 70" over the old law's regulation, "Day-Reasonable and Proper," the present sign posts and boards can still be used.

This method, in addition to being less expensive, will facilitate the one-day changeover.

Holes for the bolts and screws had been drilled in advance so that the panels could be installed easily and quickly.

Other speed restrictions in effect since 1957 — the 60 mile-per-hour nighttime maximum and the 50 mile-per-hour truck limit — will remain the same.

Legislative action in 1959 also set speed limits on the Interstate highway system at 75 miles-per-hour daytime maximum; 65 miles-per-hour nighttime; and 40 miles-per-hour minimum.

FARM RECEIPTS DOWN

DES MOINES (AP) — Declines in prices received for some Iowa farm products more than offset the increases in prices received for other items during the month ending June 15, the Iowa Cooperative Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Thursday.

The mid-June index, at 238 per cent of the 1910-14 base is eight points (three percent) lower than the May 15 index and is 37 points lower than the index for June 15, 1958.

Air Force Equipment, Data Destroyed In Pentagon Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of dollars of Air Force computing equipment and records — some possibly secret — were destroyed or damaged Thursday when fire burned out a small area of the vast Pentagon building.

Thick, acrid smoke billowing from burning magnetic tapes overcame more than a score of fire fighters and sent them to hospitals.

Most of the 30,000 Defense Department workers were sent home, giving them an early start on the July 4th weekend.

Thirty-four pieces of fire equipment and 300 firemen rallied from the District of Columbia and near-by Virginia and Maryland communities. The Pentagon, headquarters of America's farflung armed services, is in Arlington, Va., across the Potomac River from Washington.

Breaking out just before noon, the flames were brought under control about three hours later. The fire was believed to have started from defective electrical wiring.

The blaze centered in the Air Force statistical center on the first floor of the massive building. Here are located $30 million worth of computing machines and great stores of recording tape.

There were various reports, but officials said they would be unable to assess the dollar damage — or what was lost — until they could get into the burned area.

After a preliminary survey of the burned out area, the Air Force confirmed that about 7,000 magnetic tapes for the huge data processing machines were destroyed, most of them in a vault where the fire reached its greatest intensity.

The Air Force said most of the information on the tapes concerned military personnel matters but that there was some information on Air Force installations and operations.

The official statement said "no weapon systems or scientific data" was on the ruined tapes.

Other department officials reported none of the expensive data-processing machines in the burned area had been salvaged.

"Some classified papers were destroyed," they said without disclosing what type of secret material was involved.

The fire was confined to an area of a few thousand square feet out of more than three million square feet in the Pentagon.

The flames were kept in check by concrete walls, ceilings and floors, making them invisible to all but the firemen. The blaze was fed by false ceilings and floors built into the area.

Snark Completes 3rd Round Trip Over Atlantic

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Snark intercontinental guided missile successfully completed its third straight 2,000-mile round trip flight over the Atlantic Ocean Thursday.

The 60-foot rocket was guided from the ground as it sped 1,000 miles down the Atlantic missile range, then turned around and came back.

It skidded to a halt on the cape landing strip with the aid of a parachute that popped out of its tail. The flight took 4 1/2 hours.

The Air Force called Thursday's flight highly successful.

Just Watch The White Lines

THESE MOTORISTS DON'T KNOW IT but they are shown being clocked for daytime speeding by the Iowa Highway Patrol. That block of white paint on the highway in the lower right is the key. Sets of these marks, 660 feet apart, have been painted at 150 points in Iowa to enable airborne patrolmen to clock motorists. If a patrol pilot times a motorist across the lines in less than a given time he reports the violation to a teammate on the ground and the motorist gets a ticket for exceeding the upcoming 70 m.p.h. daytime limit on Iowa's primary highways. Letter To The Editor— Says Teacher Training Not Cause Of Student Deficiency

To the Editor: I believe that your editorial on the training of teachers contains several gross errors which must be corrected. First, you state that "students training for one profession spend a significant portion of their undergraduate years learning how to teach at the expense of subject matter courses."

These are: 1. A minimum of thirty semester hours in his major field. 2. Twenty-one hours of credit in education. 3. Further, it is strongly recommended that the person receive a minimum of twenty hours in a second academic field.

the present-day teachers have been spending about fifteen percent of their total undergraduate careers in education courses... Readers are invited to express opinions in letters to the Editor. All letters must be handwritten, signed, and addressed which will be printed— typewritten signatures are not acceptable.

Orioles Nip Yanks' Larsen, 3-1

Loss Dumps New York Into 5th Position

Had Beaten Orioles 12 Times In Row

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore beat Don Larsen for the first time in a dozen decisions since 1955 Thursday night, defeating the New York Yankees 3-1 on Bob Nieman's two-run, two-out homer in the first inning and winning pitcher Jerry Walker's two-out single in the second.

The victory, ending Baltimore's losing string at four, moved the Orioles back into the first division and spilled the Yankees to fifth.

Walker now 6-3, gave up six hits, losing a shutout on Hector Lopez' 13th home run in the fifth inning. The young right-hander walked but one and struck out 10, fanning Mickey Mantle three times in a row.

He struck out Mantle, Siebern and Skowron in the ninth after a lead off single by Bobby Richardson.

It was Walker's first complete game since May 24, when he beat the Yankees 2-1 with a five-hitter. He's 2-0 lifetime against the champs.

Senators 6, Red Sox 3

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jim Lemon belted the Washington Senators to a 6-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox Thursday with a 3-run homer in the bottom of the 10th inning.

Lemon's blast into the center field seats was his 19th home run of the year. He clobbered a Leo Kiely pitch with one out in the extra inning and with Harmon Killebrew and Roy Sievers on base.

Killebrew had doubled after Bob Allison grounded out and Sievers was purposely walked. Lemon was the next man up.

Reliever Dick Hyde was credited with his first triumph of the year. He got it after facing only four men in the top of the 10th.

Cubs 10, Giants 4

CHICAGO (AP)—Ernie Banks pounded a three-run homer and Al Dark and Dale Long each hit two-run blasts to propel the Chicago Cubs to a 10-4 victory over the San Francisco Giants Thursday.

Banks' shot over the left field stands scored Don Elston, the Cubs' second pitcher, and Irv Noren ahead of him in the sixth inning. The runners had singled.

It was Banks' 22nd homer of the season and ran his total as a Cub to 205.

Dark's first homer of the season came in the fourth inning after Sammy Taylor reached first on Orlando Cepeda's poor flip to pitcher Eddie Fisher covering first. It made both runs unearned.

After Fisher was removed in the fifth when Banks greeted him with a single, Long hit relief pitcher Bill Muffet's first throw into the left center stands. It was his 11th homer.

A's 6, Indians 4

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Paced by Joe Demaestri and Bill Tuttle, the Kansas City Athletics defeated Cleveland 6-4 Thursday night with an 11-hit attack and the help of four Indian errors.
The victory went to Ray Herbert, who gave up all Cleveland's runs and 10 hits before Johnny Kucks, rescued him from a jam in the eighth inning.

Although losing, Cleveland held onto first place in the American League by one game. Second-place Chicago lost to Detroit 9-7.

DeMaestri hit a bases-empty home run and a single. Tuttle collected three hits, including a triple.
Cleveland got off to a 1-0 lead in the second, but Kansas City tied the score in their half of the inning. The A's went ahead in the fourth and never again were eaded.

Cardinal Manager Solly Hemus and Coach Harry Walker were ejected minutes before the fan made his entrance—for vigorously protesting a foul tip strikeout of rookie Gene Oliver.

The Dodgers gave McDevitt the only run he needed on back-to-back triples by Junior Gilliam and Cardinal starter Dick Ricketts.

The injury-riddled Tigers moved into third place in the American League with their third straight victory.

After Maxwell's homer gave Tiger starter Don Mossi a 9-2 lead, the left-hander weakened. He gave up two walks, two infield singles

2-Stroke Lead For Bullock In British Open

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP)—Little-known Fred Bullock of England carved his second straight sub-par round — a 70 — through the wind and rain Thursday and took a 2-stroke lead at the halfway point of the British Open Golf Championship with a score of 138.

Weather conditions were so foul that all four of the U.S. contenders — Willie Goggin, Bob Watson, Bob Sweeney and John Garrett — shot themselves out of the tournament and the defending champion, Peter Thomson of Australia, barely survived the cutoff.

The field was reduced to 48 players who were able to put together 36-hole totals of 148 or better. Thomson, a four-time winner, sneaked in at 148 with his second straight 74.

Bullock, a 40-year-old professional playing his second tournament of the year, refused to let the weather bother him.

In second place at 140 came Florv Von Donck, the dapper world traveler from Belgium, with a second straight 70. Three British players were tied for third at 142.

Phillies 7-4, Reds 6-8

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gene Freese's grand slam home run Thursday night boosted Philadelphia to a 7-6 victory over Cincinnati in the opener of a two-night doubleheader but the Reds came back to take the nightcap 8-4 behind the six-hit pitching of Don Newcombe. It was Newcombe's eighth straight win.

The Phillies scored what proved to be the winning run in the first game in the fifth on Ed Bouchee's double and Valmy Thomas' single.

In all there were four home runs, two triples and seven doubles in the two contests.

Darlene Hard Volleys Way Into Finals At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Happy-go-lucky Darlene Hard smashed and volleyed her way Thursday into the women's final of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships where she will try to keep intact a 21-year-old unbroken string of American victories.

In the title round Saturday, the bouncy one-time waitress from Montbello, Calif., will play 19-year-old Maria Buenos of Brazil, who thwarted an all-American climax by beating Sally Moore of Bakersfield, Calif., 6-2, 6-4.

Miss Hard smothered Sandra Reynolds' backcourt steadiness with net-rushing pressure and conquered the South African girl, 6-4, 6-4.

Miss Bueno's presence in the finals raises the possibility of an all-South American sweep of the singles titles. Friday top-seeded Alex Olmedo, the lend-lease U.S. Davis Cup ace from Peru, meets Australia's 20-year-old giantkiller, Rod Laver, for the men's crown.

Never before in this grandpa-pappy of all tennis tournaments has a South American player gone as far as the finals.

An all-Australian final developed in men's doubles. Top-seeded Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson whipped Torben Ulrich of Denmark and stateless Lazlav Legenstein 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 to go against teammates Laver and Bob Mark. The latter upset second-seeded Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola of Italy 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Three-1 Season Split Approved After Deadlock

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—League President Hal Totten cast the deciding vote Thursday as the Three-1 League decided to split the season.

The team representatives were deadlocked 4-4 before Totten voted for the split.

The four teams in the second division — Cedar Rapids, Fox Cities, Sioux City and Burlington — voted for the split. The four teams in the first division — Lincoln, Green Bay, Topeka, Des Moines — voted against the proposal.

The first half will end with Sunday's games, second half beginning July 6.

The winner of the first half will meet the winner of the second half, in a five-game series for the title.

Games postponed during the first half will be made up during the second half and will count in second half standings.

Curator Of U.S. Art Exhibit In Moscow Answers Ike

NEW YORK (AP) — A squabble over American art selected for a Moscow exhibit brought President Eisenhower Thursday a tart retort from the woman who is to be curator of the exhibition.

The president may be a part-time painter himself, said Mrs. Edith G. Halpert, but he should let competent art critics judge what is art and what is not.

As a matter of fact, she snapped, "Some people think his paintings aren't so good either."

"The president touched off the ire of Mrs. Halpert, who is owner and director of the downtown gallery on Manhattan's East 51st Street, with remarks at a news conference Wednesday."

Eisenhower said he wouldn't undertake to censor the paintings already sent abroad. But he went on to describe one of the most celebrated of them as "lampoon more than art."

And the next time a committee is chosen to pick art works for display abroad, he said, he thinks he will see to it that it contains "one or two people who, like most of us here . . . are not too certain exactly what art is but . . . know what we like and what America likes."

The president added: "What America likes is after all some of the things that ought to be shown."

Retorted Mrs. Halpert: "That's his privilege. Some people think his paintings aren't so good either. It's like Truman saying modern art resembles ham and eggs."

"Our officials aren't art-minded. They have no right to make such statements when competent critics have accorded such tremendous acclaim."

"A museum would not buy a lampoon with the limited funds museums have today."

Eisenhower's lampoon tag was applied to a painting by artist Jack Levine entitled "Welcome Home." It depicts a rather hefty and pompous major general being welcomed home from the wars with food and wine.

Mrs. Halpert called Levine "the great white-haired boy in American art" and spoke of numerous prizes he has won. As for "Welcome Home," she said it has received high praise both in this country and abroad.

"The Levine painting is not anti-American," she continued. "It's just anti-pompous general, the way kids felt in the Army. Jack Levine painted it soon after he got out of the service after the war."

The paintings and sculptures selected for the Moscow display first drew the scorn of Rep. Francis E. Walter, (D-Pa.), chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, and Wheeler Williams, president of the American Artists Professional League.

Walter asserted that many of the artists had been identified with Communist fronts and causes. Williams has called for the entire collection to be shipped back from Moscow and other works substituted. He said the paintings and sculptures were "childish doodles," with most of them a discredit to this country.

Mrs. Halpert also took exception to the representation that many of the artists had been identified with Communist causes.

U.S. Unaware Of Alleged Red Alarm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Thursday that it was not aware of any alarm or apprehension over any threats Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may have voiced either publicly or privately.

It said the Soviet leader has recently made a number of public statements "distinctly menacing in tone" and "seems at times to enjoy making dramatic statements."

These assertions came in response to inquiries about a copyrighted story in the New York Herald Tribune by Joseph Alsop which said the inner circle of the U.S. government has been shaken and alarmed by a "Hitler-like" interview given former New York Gov. W. Averell Harriman by Khrushchev.

Alsop's story said Khrushchev made crude threats and used unprintable language in the interview with Harriman in Moscow recently.

Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov disagreed with these reports of Khrushchev's language when asked about the matter after a luncheon address Thursday to the National Press Club.

He said that on the contrary the Khrushchev-Harriman meeting in Moscow, which Kozlov attended, "was a good, a pleasant discussion."

The Soviet Embassy "required questions to be written and screened in advance. So the fact that Kozlov chose to answer this one indicated he felt he should make some expression on the matter."

Even at this time, though, the building had not been completed. In 1848—six years after construction had ground to a halt—the General Assembly allotted $5,000 for completion of the Capitol, but this only provided for the fulfillment of projects already started.

One historian, writing about the troubles of the state in completing the building, said, "The Territory bequeathed an unfinished building to the State in 1846, and the State did the same thing to the University in 1857."

84 Years In Construction—

Old Capitol 119 Years Old

BY WALTER HURT
Staff Writer

The most historic building in Iowa will be 119 years old Saturday.

The Old Stone Capitol, once the seat of the Iowa Territorial Government, once the seat of the Iowa State Government and now the administration building of the State University of Iowa, began rising above the hilltop now known as the Pentacrest on July 4, 1840.

On this day Territorial Governor Robert Lucas laid the cornerstone for the building, which was not to be completed until 1924—84 years later.

Credit for the construction of the building is due largely to one man — Iowa City Commissioner Chauncey Swan. In 1839 Swan was named chairman of a three-man committee with the power to select, within the limits of Johnson County, a suitable site for the territorial capitol.

Swan and his committee chose a high, forested bluff overlooking the Iowa River. Through five years of setbacks, the committee, under Swan's leadership, kept the project alive.

The Territorial Government advertised for bids on construction of the Capitol May 4, 1839, in newspapers at Dubuque and Burlington.

The contract was finally awarded to John F. Rague, a Springfield, Ill., architect who was also in charge of constructing the new Illinois State Capitol in Springfield at that time.

Rague's plans, submitted and approved in 1839, called for a rectangular building with columns on two sides. His plans were followed through most of the construction, but lack of funds finally forced curtailment of the project.

Rague wanted the exterior heavily ornamented, but this work was never done, and the Capitol was built as it stands today, simple and symmetrical.

The building was first occupied in 1842 by the Territorial Assembly, and when Iowa became a state a year later, the Capitol housed the State Legislature.

Almost before the new state government had time to settle itself, agitation to move the government to a more centrally located site began. The talk continued for 10 years, culminating in an 1855 resolution by the General Assembly to move the State Government to Polk County.

When this move was finally made in 1857, the Old Capitol was given to SUI for educational purposes.

Even at this time, though, the building had not been completed. In 1848—six years after construction had ground to a halt—the General Assembly allotted $5,000 for completion of the Capitol, but this only provided for the fulfillment of projects already started.

One historian, writing about the troubles of the state in completing the building, said, "The Territory bequeathed an unfinished building to the State in 1846, and the State did the same thing to the University in 1857."

One of the distinctive architectural features of the Old Capitol is the white spiral staircase which winds from the main floor to the second floor. The staircase was originally intended to start in the basement, but these plans were abandoned.

In the first year after its donation to SUI, the Old Capitol served as the main classroom area. But as the University grew, buildings were erected for classroom instruction and the Old Capitol was used for administrative offices.

The building sat atop its hill unfinished until 1921, when the State appropriated $50,000 to restore and complete the structure.

This was the first appropriation towards completion of the building since 1848.

Three years later, in 1924, construction of the Old Capitol was completed.

Its cornerstone, laid 119 years ago Saturday, contains a copy of the Declaration of Independence, a copy of the Constitution of the United States, a copy of the organic laws of the Territory of Iowa, the laws enacted by the first General Assembly and the journal of the House of Representatives, plus a copy of each newspaper being published in the territory at that time.

In 1844 the first constitution of the state was drafted in the chambers of the Old Capitol and, in 1846, the first constitution adopted by the people of the new state was born here.

In December, 1846, the first state government of Iowa was inaugurated in the Old Capitol. The first General Assembly established the State University of Iowa here in 1847.

In 1857 the Old Capitol saw Iowa's present State Constitution drafted within her walls and the Iowa Historical Society authorized before the seat of government was moved to Des Moines.

Four legislative assemblies and six general assemblies were held in the Old Capitol before it was turned over to SUI.

Beck, 2 Executives Plead Innocent To Loan Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — David Beck, former president of the Teamsters Union, and two trucking executives pleaded innocent Thursday to violating the Taft-Hartly law by a $200,000 loan deal five years ago.

The indictment did not go into details but the charge apparently is an outgrowth of 1957 testimony before the Senate Labor-Management Investigation Committee in Washington.

The two executives, Roy Fruehauf and Burge Seymour, said they loaned Beck $200,000 in 1954 when he needed cash, but that he repaid it with interest. Beck earlier had loaned Fruehauf $1.5 million in union funds to bail him out of a proxy fight for control of his company, the Fruehauf Trailer Co. of Detroit.

Beck and Fruehauf were released Thursday in $2,500 bail each after pleading to the indictment.

Seymour, president of the Associated Transport Co. of New York, was released without bail. Pleas of innocent also were entered on behalf of the two firms and a subsidiary of Associated Transport, the Brown Equipment and Manufacturing Co.

The Taft-Hartley law contains a provision forbidding a union officer from accepting payments from management officials and vice versa.

Bergman Still Wed To Rossellini

ROME (AP) — A Rome appeals court has revoked the year-old annulment of the Mexican proxy marriage of actress Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini. This leaves the couple married so far as Italy is concerned.

The actress, meanwhile, has been wed to her third husband, Lars Schmidt, a wealthy Swedish businessman.

Rossellini said he was enraged by the appeals court decision, which further tangles his legal affairs with the 42-year-old Swedish Oscar-winner. They have separate cases pending in both Rome and Paris courts, seeking custody of their three children. She has provisional custody and the children live with her outside Paris but Rossellini has visiting rights.

The often stormy, eight-year marriage was annulled by a lower Rome court last July 10 on a petition by the Italian film director.

Injunction Against Sunday Car Sale Ban Requested

DES MOINES (AP) — A petition asking that the State of Iowa be enjoined from enforcing the ban on Sunday sale of autos was filed in District Court here Thursday.

Several Des Moines car dealers filed the action against Iowa Attorney General Normal Erbe, Polk County Attorney Ray Hanrahan, State Public Safety Commissioner Russell Brown and Donovan H. Day, head of the state's dealers motor license division.

The petition contends that the law passed by the 1959 Legislature is vague and uncertain and says it violates both the United States and Iowa constitutions.

The petition asks the court to declare the act unconstitutional and requests a temporary injunction be issued to restrain enforcement of the act after a hearing is held on the matter.

Upon final hearing, the petition asks that a permanent injunction be issued.

Plaintiffs in the action were listed by the attorney general's office as Diamond Auto Sales, East Town Motors, Pioneer Motor Co., Murray Motor Sales, McGrevey Used Cars, D & L Motor Sales and Winick Auto Sales.

The defendants were ordered to appear in District Court here at 9:30 a.m. July 10 and show cause why a temporary injunction should not be issued.

Meanwhile, state officials said, the Sunday auto sale ban will go into effect this Sunday.

Educator - Stress Quality, Results In Fund Requests

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A college professor gave his fellow educators a stern lecture on public relations Thursday, and told them to face up to the economic facts of life.

It isn't enough just to ask the American public to spend more money on schools, said Dr. John Corbally Jr., of Ohio State University.

"We must be prepared to show why we need more money, what we would do with more money, and how it would result in improved quality of public education."

He told a study session at the annual convention of the National Education Assn.: "If, for example, we doubled teachers' salaries we really improve the quality of teaching or would we merely raise the teacher's standard of living."

"We must be able to talk about increasing the quality of education rather than about increasing salaries, reducing teacher load or buying more supplies."

"Parents are concerned with the quality of education, not with your salary or mine."

Corbally acknowledged that the public schools need more money, and that the American public can afford to spend more.

Yes, when we say FRESH milk, that is exactly what we mean. Now that hot summer weather is here remember: the fresher the milk when you buy it, the fresher it is when you drink it. Our milk is produced every evening and morning, chilled in our bulk cooler, and then pasteurized and bottled that same morning. That means your milk is less than 24 hours old when you buy it. FRESH milk tastes better when you drink it. Only a small farm dairy can give you this kind of service and the best part is that it costs you less. Check these prices and compare:

Martin Discloses Payroll; Wife, Son Worked For Him

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thomas E. Martin, (R-Iowa), Thursday made public his office payroll and disclosed his wife and son had worked for him at one time.

The annual salaries of his senatorial staff of eight full-time and six part-time members were released in the statement.

The disclosures came a week after the Senate voted to make public payroll data of all employees for work done after July 1, 1959. The secretary of the Senate will not publish pay data before that date. The House already makes this information public.

Martin's yearly payroll totals $92,025.

Martin said he put his wife on the staff temporarily for a brief period this year when one of his secretaries, Mrs. Claire Keefe, retired after 40 years of government work.

He said it was the first time Mrs. Martin had been on the staff. He listed her pay at the rate of $9,182 per year.

The senator said the average annual pay for his son, Richard C., was $9,144. He was employed three years, beginning July 1, 1955, while he attended Georgetown University Law school. He now is a Des Moines attorney.

Here is Martin's payroll list: Russell Turner, $16,300; Jane Bittner, $13,337; Fern Mann $9,134; Amy Bradley $9,134; Lelia Lively $8,794; Kathleen Hansen $8,794; Eileen Linahan $8,229; and Barbara Watson $8,229.

Former administrative assistant Robert Waggoner was paid an average annual wage of $11,605 from Jan. 3, 1955, to Aug. 20, 1957, Martin said.

He pointed out that Washington ranks third highest among the 20 largest cities in the country for cost of living. He added that the median rate of pay of white families in Washington last year was $7,825.

"Forty-four senators represent states of larger population than Iowa," the senator said. "The efficiency of my staff is reflected in the fact that during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958, when my incoming mail ranked fifth in volume among all the senators, 37 senators including seven from states smaller than Iowa, had office expenses for the year that were higher than mine; 19 additional senators, including 14 from states smaller than Iowa had office expenses higher than mine for one or more quarters; and only nine senators from states larger than Iowa had office expenses lower than mine for all quarters of the year."

NFPA Head Urges Safe, Sane Fourth

BOSTON (AP)—Modern, traffic-crowded America can never go back to the "Good Old Fourth" which Americans celebrated by setting off a variety of explosives and fire-hazardous devices, says the head of the National Fire Protection Association, (NFPA).

General Manager Percy Bugbee of the NFPA, while voicing hope that this might be the Fourth of July when the nation would escape even a single fireworks fatality, learned that death already had cast a shadow on the holiday.

In Everett, Wash., Kathleen Friend, 4, was dead of burns in a pre-holiday accident. The little girl's mother said Kathleen's clothes were set afire while she was playing with sparklers.

All but nine of the nation's 50 states now have laws and regulations controlling the sale and use of fireworks on a statewide basis, Bugbee said. And many such laws were patterned after a model prepared by the National Fire Protection Association.

This model calls for the prohibiting of sale or use of fireworks except for public display licensed by the state fire marshal or other appropriate authority. It calls for jail sentences and fines for violation, and empowers fire marshals to seize illicit fireworks.

The one exception under this model statute allows toy paper caps, along with the pistols, canes and toy cannon to fire the caps. Thus, children may still have noise makers for the holiday celebration.

Comments received by the fire safety organization from state fire marshals indicate there has been no substantial relaxation in the enforcement or observance of fireworks regulations.

Burns Folk Tunes To Be Presented By Highlanders

Recently discovered folksongs composed by the poet Robert Burns will be played by members of the SUI Scottish Highlanders at a Starlight Pops Concert with the Omaha Symphony Orchestra Tuesday.

According to William Adamson, director of the Scottish Highlanders, recent research findings published by the Edinburgh Scotsman, a daily Scottish newspaper, have revealed that the poet Burns also knew enough music to compose the folk melodies which were found on musical manuscripts in his handwriting.

A half-dozen members of the unique SUI music and dance ensemble will do a Highland fling and a sword dance as well as play the Burns folksongs on the bagpipes.

The concert is sponsored by the Omaha Civic Music Association as part of the 12th season of summer starlight concerts. It will also feature a Midwest premiere of a new cantata and settings of Burns' poems by the American composer Nilo Hovey.

21 Firms Enter Bidding On New SUI Law Annex

Twenty-one firms entered bids Thursday on five phases of construction of a new law annex at SUI, the first of several major building projects planned.

Awarding of contracts for the three-story building, which will join the west wing of the Commons Dormitory as part of a new SUI Law Center, will await a study of all construction alternatives and the final approval of the State Board of Regents. There are 10 alternates on general construction and one on electrical construction.

A low base bid of $638,000 was entered by the Viggo M. Jensen Co., Iowa City. Other base bids were: Henkel Construction Co., Mason City, $654,000; Morehead Construction Co., Cedar Rapids, $677,837; Jens Olesen Co., Waterloo, $680,000; and O. F. Paulson Co., Cedar Rapids, $698,768.

The Cedar Rapids Electric Co. entered a low base bid on $51,000 for electrical construction. Base bids entered by other firms were:

Full-Time Revenue Office Dropped In Iowa City

Iowa City will no longer have a full-time office for the Internal Revenue Service, V. Lee Phillips, district director, announced Thursday.

Discontinuing the Iowa City post of duty is part of a plan for more effective utilization of technical manpower in the State of Iowa.

The change will not eliminate essential services to this area, Phillips said. Iowa City residents will be served by technicians from nearby offices on the fourth Friday of every month. Phillips said it has been found that services rendered by the Iowa City office can be provided without retaining a permanent post of duty.

The effect of this plan will reduce the cost of administering Internal Revenue Service in the state, according to Phillips.

Better Newspapers Partly Up To Readers—Moeller

Newspapers of the future will be more informative and mindful of the reader's needs than contemporary newspapers, but much of the responsibility for improvement will be upon the shoulders of the reader, according to Leslie G. Moeller, director of the SUI School of Journalism.

Moeller addressed the members of the second workshop on "The Newspaper in the Classroom" at their final session Thursday at SUI.

In his appraisal of the role of the daily newspaper in tomorrow's society, Moeller pointed to the present readers' lack of understanding of public affairs and almost universal preoccupation with matters of entertainment. He said these were the main deterrents to an improved newspaper of the future.

"Enjoy yourself, it is later than you think, will continue to be a powerful motivating factor in a society very much concerned with self gratification," Moeller said.

In addition, it will be necessary for the newspaper to compete for time to be read. "American life will continue to be complicated and crowded," Moeller said, "with many demands up on the individual's time."

In the light of these situations and considering the nature and interests of the audience, "the daily newspaper will usually continue to do much better than we have a right to expect it to do," Moeller said.

Among other things, Moeller pointed out a broader newspaper will give a timelier and deeper presentation of the news with more "why." "The presentation of news will also probably become simpler and the trend toward increased fairness in the news will continue," he added.

The needs of people in the areas of health, education, religion and finance, which are important but now somewhat neglected, will be filled more completely in the newspaper of the future, Moeller said.

And progress will be made toward greater coverage of international news, although many smaller papers will put much emphasis on local news. "This will be especially true in many of the newer suburban papers which are competing with the metropolitan dailies," he added.

Off-Campus Meets On Economics End Thursday

A series of off-campus workshops on economic education for Iowa teachers ended Thursday at Cedar Rapids with lectures by SUI faculty members describing Iowa's past, present and future position with respect to economic, sociological and political development.

Sponsored by the Iowa Council on Economic Education (ICEE) the three-week workshops were held this summer at Ottumwa, Des Moines and Cedar Rapids. The course in Des Moines was offered by Drake University.

The workshops are designed to present a lively and practical discussion of modern economic thinking and to make suggestions for effective classroom presentation, according to Marjorie Copeland, secretary of the ICEE and a research associate in SUI's Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

Between 15 and 20 elementary, secondary and college teachers attended each of the workshops.

Long To Get Heart Check, Report Says

NEW ORLEANS — Gov. Earl K. Long abandoned his motel capital in Covington Thursday night and drove into New Orleans.

It was reported that Long was to undergo an electrocardiogram for his ailing heart. But the governor strode past reporters at the Roosevelt Hotel here, telling them: "I'm not answering any questions. I'm not telling you anything. Get away."

Long was accompanied here by a driver and an unidentified man and woman. The man went into the hotel with the governor, while the driver drove the woman away.

Covington is about 40 miles north of New Orleans.

The governor had planned to open a campaign for re-election Saturday.

Earlier, one of his doctors, Dr. Edgar Hull, asked by newsmen what the rigors of a campaign might do to Long's health, replied: "I prefer not to talk about that."

The governor was in good spirits as he was whisked away in a car. "I might be going back to the bushes," Long joshed. He added he would be back in the capital, Baton Rouge, tonight.

The 63-year-old governor, spinning about like a top despite doctors' efforts to slow him down, scheduled four Fourth of July speeches.

But Wednesday he choked up with what doctors first thought was a periodic attack of the asthma from which he suffers. Later, however, Dr. Victor Lief, described the illness as a slight heart failure.

Dr. Hull emphasized that the heart failure was not as grave as an actual heart attack. Long suffered a heart attack in 1950 while chasing a hog.

Technically, Long is ineligible under Louisiana law to a second consecutive term as governor. However, he hopes to get around the limitation by qualifying for election, then resigning for a brief interim.

Long continued to drive himself through a 20-hour day, running affairs of state from a motel room.

White Marine Sentenced To Die For Raping Negro

BEAUFORT, S.C. — A young Georgia-born Marine, convicted by a jury of Southern white men, was sentenced Thursday to die in the electric chair for raping a 47-year-old Negro woman.

If the electrocution set for Aug. 14 is carried out, Pvt. Fred G. Davis, 24, will be the first white man in U.S. court history to be executed for rape of a Negro.

About two hours after he passed sentence on Davis, Judge J. Henry Johnson sentenced a 19-year-old Negro, Israel Sharpe, to die Aug. 14.

for trying to rape a white housewife. His case was heard by a jury of six Negroes and six whites.

In both cases, the juries failed to recommend mercy, which made the death sentence mandatory. Rape, and attempted rape in the victim's home, both are capital offenses in South Carolina.

The 70-year-old judge had said earlier that the verdicts handed down this week "should establish beyond all doubt that any person, regardless of race, color or creed, can get justice in South Carolina."

Judge Johnson said, in his opinion, the attempted rape case was the more vicious of the two because greater violence was involved. The white victim testified she fought against the Negro for about 15 minutes and only the arrival of police foiled her attacker.

She received bruises and lacerations, especially about the neck.

Davis, an electrician at the Marine air station here, was quoted by Beaufort County Sheriff J. E. McTeer as saying he sometimes had "an overpowering sex urge and got pleasure out of using force with women."

The Negro woman said Davis dragged her into bushes near a cemetery and attacked her. Davis later claimed she had consented.

Two other rape trials in the South have attracted attention recently. Four white youths were given life sentences at Tallahassee, Fla., for rape of a Negro college girl. The jury recommended mercy and the life terms were the maximum possible.

At Marianna, Fla., a 16-year-old Negro, Jimmie Lee Clark, was convicted of raping a 68-year-old white woman. But he won a new trial, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life.

'Teach Limits To Rebellion,' Prof Says

"We teach our children that they must obey the law and accept authority but at the same time we present the rebel as hero," Lloyd Lovell, assistant professor of child welfare, pointed out in a talk to teachers and administrators attending the Workshop on Education in Human Relations and Mental Health which closed Thursday at SU1.

Lovell explained that rebellion is necessary to the child and can be of positive value. The child has to discover limits; he has to "try" restrictions to learn which rules are absolute. The young child can accept a law as valid "because father says it is," but later, when the child can readily identify the law, it is important that he see reasons for that law, Lovell said.

The young child may rebel against pressures which keep him dependent — parents or school — or against himself in his desire not to grow up. No ordinary child is completely eager to grow up, said Lovell. He sees the value of being sheltered.

Methods of rebellion may take several forms. Direct rebellion may mean breaking a toy which doesn't behave properly, striking an authority figure, or verbally refusing to obey, Lovell said.

'Counter-Revolt Implications'— 8 Arrested With Arms Cache In Havana Suburb

HAVANA — Secret police announced the detention of eight men Thursday in connection with the discovery of an arms cache in a Havana suburb. Police said the case had "the most important counter-revolutionary implications."

Six former military men were among those detained. Police said those held were acting under orders of ex-Sen. Roldo Masferrer, now in Miami, Fla., and Jose Pedraza, a former Batista general now in the Dominican Republic.

A small quantity of arms and ammunition and some olive green uniforms, the same type used by the rebel army, were seized in the Marianao suburb of Havana, police said. Authorities said the group detained denied any connection with a plot against the revolution.

The discovery of the arms and ammunition came while about 1,500 troops were reported searching the mountains in the Pinar Del Rio area for bands of guerrillas. The army disclosed the existence of what it called camps of armed bands but has not revealed details.

A report from Holguin in easternmost Oriente province said 41 persons were being held in military prisons there on charges of sabotage and arson.

Queen Visits Western Ontario

STRATFORD, Ont. — About 300,000 people saw Queen Elizabeth II Thursday on her fast-paced trip into the heart of western Ontario. The royal train stopped briefly in half a dozen cities.

The Queen spent 2½ hours in Hamilton after an overnight trip from Ottawa. Then she left the train for visits of less than 30 minutes each in Brantford, Galt, Guelph and Kitchener.

The spots along the Queen's route became the focal point for the people of nearby towns, many of them nearly deserted as thousands traveled by bus and car to line the paths taken by the royal party.

Social Notes

The Coast Guard Auxiliary is planning an outing on the Mississippi River Sunday. The public is invited.

The group will launch their boats at Moline, Ill., and travel upriver to LeClaire, Ia.

Those wishing to go may meet on the 1100 block of South Linn Street at 8:30 a.m. Each family is asked to bring its own lunch.

3 Arrested On $8.5 Million Theft

CHICAGO — The FBI announced Thursday night the arrest of three men in connection with the burglary of more than $8.5 million in Canadian bonds — a burglary it termed the world's largest.

The bonds were stolen May 3, 1958 from the Brockville Trust and Savings Co., Brockville, Ont.

The three men—named in a suppressed federal grand jury indictment last June 30—were involved in disposing of the loot, the FBI said.

Arrested were Sam Mannarino, 53, of New Kensington, Pa.; Norman Rothman, 44, of Surfside, Fla.; and William Rabin, 52, of Chicago.

Mannarino and Rothman were seized in their homes; Rabin, who was free on $5,000 bond on an earlier federal warrant charging him with receiving 98,000 in stolen Canadian bonds, was arrested in Miami.

ADDED EXCHANGES

MOSCOW — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan said Thursday that the number of students studying in the United States and the Soviet Union under exchange agreements could be increased gradually. He made the comment in response to a newsman's question at a Canadian reception.
