Nikita Pledges: 'No Rockets In Pockets'

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev said Wednesday he is going to Washington as a man of peace without any sabre rattling. He promised not to brag about the power of Soviet rockets.

Bouncy, wisecracking and in good humor, he jostled with newsmen for an hour and a half in the Kremlin's high-domed Sverdlov hall. It was his first meeting with the press since Monday's announcement of the forthcoming exchange of visits with President Eisenhower.

"I am going as a peaceful man," Khrushchev told about 300 Soviet and foreign correspondents. "I will turn out my pockets to show I have no weapons."

As the press corps laughed, Khrushchev made a gesture of turning out the insides of his coat and pants pockets.

The conference produced a number of Khrushchev comments on the visit. They showed no major changes in Soviet policy.

In addition to plugging again and again his theme that the forthcoming talks between the world's two most powerful nations should promote peace, Khrushchev took pains to allay possible fears among America's friends that the meeting might try to divide the world in a secret deal.

"It is not designed to discuss matters relating to other countries," he said.

Khrushchev also:

1. Welcomed Eisenhower's plans to consult the Western Allies beforehand and said the Soviet Union probably will do the same with its allies.

2. Said his talks with Eisenhower will be informal "conversations" and not diplomatic negotiations in the formal sense. Khrushchev said he does not regard the form of the meetings as important, but left no doubt that he does regard them as a step toward a formal summit conference.

3. Gave assurance that the Soviet Union will take no steps to change the present situation in Germany or Berlin during the meetings this fall. But he also made it clear that the Soviets still want the Western Allies out of Berlin, and want a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

4. Said he does not want to address the U.S. Congress unless it really wants to hear him, but that he might address the American people on a national television hookup offered by the National Broadcasting Co.

Khrushchev gave no precise date for the exchange visits but confirmed earlier Washington announcements that he would arrive in the United States in mid-September and Eisenhower would come here sometime later in the fall.

"If these two powers establish good relations, if they cooperate for peace, there will be lasting peace on earth," he said in an opening statement.

VP Optimistic On Khrushchev Visit To U.S.

Political Overtones Seen As Nixon Grooms Crowd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon flew back from his Iron Curtain mission Wednesday to a roaring welcome and official thanks for doing "a tremendous job."

He brought with him the message that "the people of the Soviet Union have suffered a great deal in war, and they desperately want peace, just as the American people want peace."

He told the enthusiastic crowd that swarmed around him and his wife, Pat, at Washington National Airport, much good may come from the visit. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will make to American next month.

What Khrushchev sees as he journeys about the United States will not make any less an advocate of communism, the vice president acknowledged.

But, he said, it would give the No. 1 man in the Kremlin an opportunity to see first hand the vigor of the American economy, the unity of its people and other important parts of the makeup of America.

Nixon went directly from the airport to the White House, there to report to President Eisenhower on what he saw and learned during his journey.

Nixon spent an hour and 15 minutes with Eisenhower making what was described as an informal report.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, who sat in on the conference, told newsmen there also was discussion of the impending visit from Khrushchev. Hagerty said both the President and vice president had some suggestions but that no definite arrangements for the visit can be made until Khrushchev tells his hosts what he would like to do while here.

Crowds on Pennsylvania Avenue, and about 150 members of the White House staff who lined the driveway there, cheered lustily as the limousine carrying Nixon drove up.

Eisenhower who will go to the Soviet Union for a visit of his own later this fall, was not at the airport.

The welcoming delegation of dignitaries there, was headed by Douglas Dillon, undersecretary of state. It was Dillon who praised Nixon for doing a "tremendous job of representing America and of getting across to the Russian and other peoples that the American people believe in friendship and peace."

Near Dillon was the Soviet ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, wreathed in smiles.

But the first greeter was little Julie Nixon, 10. She raced up the steps of the airplane's ramp and hugged her father and mother. They hugged back, and the crowd was delighted.

The other Nixon child, Patricia, 13, was at home, in bed with a sore back.

The crowd, estimated by airport police at 3,500, was enthusiastic. It yelled and cheered for Nixon much as though this was a political rally. Nixon's silver and orange plane landed at 4:07 p.m.

There were political overtones, all right. Eight "bushes" of "Bull Elephants" were there. These are administrative aides to Republican congressmen, all of them aware that Nixon is a strong contender for the Republican presidential nomination next year.

The Bull Elephants had a sign: "All America is proud of Pat and Dick."

Another sign was in Russian. Contributed by State Department officials, it could be translated as, "Congratulations on the success of your trip."

Nixon, showing little outward sign of fatigue, was in fine speaking style, mixing pleasant little remarks with sober pleas about world peace.

He said one impression he gained from his trip, an impression that he wanted to share with everybody, was that the Polish and the Russian peoples feel the deepest friendliness for Americans.

Ike To Ask Tight Union Control Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was given free rein Wednesday to shape a labor bill on the floor.

Meanwhile, President Eisenhower moved to carry to the nation his battle for stricter controls on unions.

"It's going to be a Donnybrook," predicted Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), of the House Rules Committee in announcing wide open conditions for house consideration of the labor issue starting next Tuesday.

The rules group, which decides how legislation is to be handled, agreed to allow unlimited amendments to a bill fashioned by the House Labor Committee, but shunned by most of its members.

This means a bloc of Republican — Southern Democratic congressmen will be able to offer what they consider a tougher bill — a measure backed by Eisenhower. It also means a faction of Northern and Western Democrats will be able to put forward a rival version supported by organized labor.

The stage was set several hours after the White House announced Eisenhower's decision to throw his prestige into the fight.

Eisenhower will speak 15 minutes tonight, starting at 7:30 p.m. over major television and radio networks. The President's subject: "The need of the Congress to enact this year effective labor reform legislation."

The President's move evoked angry outcries from some Democrats who disagree with him on the form an anticorruption legislation.

There were demands for equal air time to reply. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), author of a Senate-passed labor bill, was suggested as a possible spokesman. Rep. Stuart L. Udall (D-Ariz.), who favors the labor committee's bill, said the networks were reserving a decision on the equal time demand until after Eisenhower speaks.

In the Senate, Democratic reaction to Eisenhower's broadcast plan was swift.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas suggested that Eisenhower leave the problem "to the collective judgment of Congress," which is under Democratic control.

"I trust and pray that he will be able to shed light instead of heat," Johnson told the Senate. Rep. John F. Shelley (D-Calif.), sponsor of a bill backed by organized labor, accused Eisenhower of supporting anti-labor measures.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he hopes Eisenhower's broadcast will assure that the House "will stand up to it and do an infinitely better job than the Senate did" on labor control legislation.

Eisenhower has made no secret of his displeasure with an anti-racketeering bill passed by the Senate earlier this year, and with a measure approved by the House Labor Committee.

He has termed both too weak to deal with union abuses spotlighted by the Senate rackets probes. Among other things, he wants Congress to ban what is called blackmail picketing and to curb secondary boycotts.

Until now, the President has exerted indirect pressure for stronger legislation. In deciding to appeal to the nation at large, he is putting his undoubted prestige on the line. He also is challenging directly such powerful Democrats as Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.).

Thor Missile A Success In Test Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A blazing Thor missile shot over the Atlantic Wednesday night in a preview of an upcoming satellite shot.

The 65-foot intermediate-range missile blasted off at 9:48 p.m. on a 1,500-mile test of its accuracy and reliability. The launching appeared flawless.

Just a few hundred feet from this "launching" technicians are preparing a towering Thor-Able missile for a satellite attempt expected within a few days. A Thor forms the first stage of the big missile.

The satellite, called the "paddle-wheel satellite" because of solar vanes that stick out from the sides, will be aimed at a highly elliptical orbit to measure radiation in space.

Satellite boosting will be a new assignment for the Thor, which has registered several successes in war weapons tests. It also was used as the first-stage booster for three abortive lunar probes last year.

Laotians Say Reds Supplied Rebels With New Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States pointed an accusing finger at Moscow Wednesday in connection with armed Red attacks against the tiny Southeast Asian kingdom of Laos.

The U.S. statement, in advance of Khrushchev's visit to this country next month, underscored a point Washington hopes to impress on the Soviet Premier.

Vice President Nixon cautioned Khrushchev in Moscow last Saturday against pushing for "victory of communism over the United States and other countries."

The Laotian government has been fighting Communists in border areas adjoining Red China and North Viet Nam. It says new weapons from Red China and Communist North Viet Nam have been supplied to the rebels in violation of the 1954 truce agreement ending the Indochina war.

Meanwhile negotiations over details of Khrushchev's tour in the United States were proceeding slowly.

State Department press officer Joseph W. Reap said the Russians are expected to tell U.S. officials where Khrushchev would like to go and U.S. authorities will offer suggestions of their own "since this is an attempt to give a cross section of what America is like."

A final itinerary might not be fixed until a week before the Soviet chief's expected arrival date of September 15, he said.

State Gets Lower Temperatures; Not Much Relief

Although the state got some lower temperatures Wednesday, the promised relief has not materialized as expected.

A bank of clouds harnessed the mercury in the 80s, but the humidity stayed high as scattered showers and thunderstorms darted across southern Iowa.

That much-awaited cooler air has been hi-jacked in the north and the weatherman can only promise some relief for the northern part of the state starting Thursday night.

There's a possibility of showers and thunderstorms over the state Thursday and in the southeast again Thursday night.

Lows Thursday night will dip to the upper 60s and lower 70s except where the cooler air penetrates the northern fringe counties. It should drop to around 60 in that region.

Steel Strike Bargaining—No Progress

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Steelworkers of America bargained for the third day in a row Wednesday with the strikebound industry. Apparently, neither side gave ground.

Despite the continuing deadlock as the strike of 500,000 Steelworkers entered on its fourth week, chief federal mediator Joseph F. Finnegan, reported, "any time parties get together and quit laying down publicity barages and go at things in a workmanlike way, it's progress."

But Finnegan added that he saw "no indication of any change by either party on any economic issue."

The Steelworkers struck at midnight July 14 in a demand for a 15-cent-an-hour wage and fringe benefit increase. Wages averaged about $3.10 an hour prior to the strike.

The industry refused to consider a wage increase, contending it would require a rise in the price of steel and thus touch off a new spiral of inflation. The union argued that the increase would come out of industry profits without a price rise.

Marshalltown Tells Soviets Of Attractions

MARSHALLTOWN (AP) — A one-day tour of Iowa was proposed for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Wednesday in a telephone conversation with the Russian Embassy in Washington.

Embassy officials said Marshalltown was the first American city to invite the Soviet leader to visit on his mid-September trip to the United States.

Details of the suggested one-day tour of Iowa will be transmitted to Moscow from the embassy in Washington. Final decisions on the itinerary of Khrushchev will be made in Moscow, the Marshalltown officials were told.

The premier would pass through the finest agricultural lands of Iowa and would see a cross-section of Midwestern industry, the Marshalltown leaders said.

Marshalltown is the home of the nation's leading producer of automatic fluid control equipment and of the nation's leading manufacturer of warm air heating equipment for homes. Ames, in addition to being the seat of one of the nation's leading agriculture schools, also is the site of a nuclear research laboratory of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Other invitations from Iowa to Khrushchev have been sent by Boone, Iowa State Fair, and the Clay County Fair at Spencer.

Iowa Farmer May Get Visit From Khrushchev

COON RAPIDS (AP) — Roswell (Bob) Garst of Coon Rapids is itching to show Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev how they grow corn in Iowa.

And he might just have the chance.

The Russian premier told newsmen in Moscow Wednesday that he has been invited by an American farmer named Garst to spend some time with him and that he probably would.

Garst's contacts with Khrushchev go back to 1955 when he first visited the Soviet Union. He said he had been entertained by Khrushchev and reciprocated by inviting the premier to visit Iowa "if he ever got the chance to come to the U.S."

Since then, Garst had made several trips to the Soviet Union and his farm has become a showplace for Russian farm delegations visiting this country. He also has supplied quantities of seed corn to the Soviet Union.

Guns Guard Caracas After Bloody Riots

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Armed troops kept vigil Wednesday over Venezuela's jittery capital, shaken by nine hours of bloody rioting in which at least four persons were killed and more than 100 wounded.

Police had orders to seize anyone trying to resume the demonstrations that began Tuesday as an unemployment protest snowballed into the worst riots since President Romulo Bentancourt took office six months ago.

The president banned all demonstrations and public meetings for 30 days.

He denied that the riots had any political overtones, declaring they had been touched off by adventurers. There have been rumors of plots to overthrow Bentancourt, who was elected to succeed dictator Marco Perez Jimenez. The disturbance began with a rally of workers protesting cancellation of an emergency public works project to provide jobs for unemployed.

There's No Hurry Or Confusion—

"Tiger" Dress Rehearsal Begins

IN A SCENE from "Tiger At The Gates," Hector, played by Robert Bonnard, G. New York, N.Y. (left), tries to persuade Helen, played by Joan Durr, G. Arlington, Va., to return to Greece in order to avoid war. The play opens tonight at the University Theatre at 8.—Daily Iowan Photo by Jo Moore.

Frantic last minute scurrying for props and costume adjustments or shouted directions for light changes are not to be found in a dress rehearsal for an SUI production of a play.

Tuesday night's dress rehearsal for "Tiger at the Gates" proceeded in an orderly, matter-of-fact way.

With a final, unburied nailing of an addition to the set by the stage crew, the rehearsal began.

Ronald C. Gee, director and assistant professor of dramatic art, watching the lighting on the opening scene, signaled for a light alteration to the man on the switchboard in the booth in the back of the theater.

Watching, listening, and taking notes, the director moved from one spot to another in the theater or walked down to the stage to make a more effective arrangement of a large group, yet never interfering with the progress of the play.

With little more than a statement now and then, such as "Will you pull it down in the center a little bit," to bring two actors closer together in the center stage, Gee allowed the play to run its course without interruption.

After the final curtain the cast was asked to change to street clothes and return for a re-run of some scenes. These scenes involved some technical difficulty with background music that didn't come in on cue.

"Tiger at the Gates" by Jean Giraudoux, the last drama production of the summer, opens tonight at 8 p.m. in the University Theatre and will run through Saturday. Tickets are available in the lobby of Iowa Memorial Union for $1.25 or on presentation of an I.D. card.

The cast includes: Lyla Dye Bendsen, A3, Rockford, Ill.; Mary Lou Pazour, G, Marion; Sheridan Simons A3, Eldora; Robert Bonnard, G, New York City; David A. Beuter, G, Solon; Stephen Tudor, G, Tacoma, Wash.

The Daily Iowan is written and edited by students and is governed by a board of five student trustees elected by the student body and four faculty trustees appointed by the president of the University. A Step In The Right Direction parents have from time to time appealed to authorities for help, but many have agreed that the five mile per hour speed limit was virtually unenforceable. Old residents were depended upon to set examples for newcomers and to remind visitors of the speed limit. Despite all efforts, however, one child has been killed and several serious injuries have taken place. This may or may not be a good record. In a crowded area in which children play in the streets it is, perhaps, remarkable that more injuries have not occurred. It is unfortunate that children must be protected from their own parents through the installation of safety devices such as the speed humps. Since it seems impossible to keep children off the streets and to enforce speed limits in the married student areas, our only criticism of the speed breaker installation is that there should not be one, but many.

Secretary Herter Tosses Some Cold Water

BY J.M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter unwittingly threw cold water on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Wednesday just as Khrushchev was putting on the greatest of all the great Communist peace acts. That line of Khrushchev's about not going to America with a rocket in his pocket is a Madison Ave. dream. If the world didn't know the International Communist record so well, and that Khrushchev is a dyed-in-the-wool International Communist, it would have been thrilled by those high-sounding words about U.S.-Soviet relations. There are no territorial disputes between our two countries, nor any insoluble contradictions, nor any issues which could prevent the establishment of a climate of confidence and mutual understanding. Fundamental Western policy is based on the concept that the Soviet International Communist conspiracy must be restrained until it undergoes a change of heart from within. One of the problems has been to maintain an objective frame of mind which will, in the end, be quick to recognize and encourage such a change when it truly begins to appear. It is Khrushchev's objective now to create uncertainty and wonderment on that very point. For it is written into recommended Communist procedure that there shall be concessions and peace offensives until the capitalist world is sufficiently softened for the kill. The serpentine approach to Soviet foreign relations has never been more clearly displayed than by the background events during the arrangement of the Khrushchev visit. When Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrived in Moscow he received the sort of correct welcome which individuals extend to a lawyer representing clients who are about to sue them. When the American fair opened in Moscow the press was critical. But the fair is being praised now. Before Nixon left Moscow the Khrushchev visit was developing, and the temperature around the vice president actually warmed. Before he passed back through the Iron Curtain his welcome in Poland was tumultuous. Nobody got shot for a shout. The new peace offensive was rolling along wonderfully, and then Secretary Herter, talking about something entirely different, without reference to other events, said of the failure of the Geneva conference: "It (the Soviet Union) is interested in getting the Western Powers out of Berlin. Apparently continued competitive coexistence, one of Khrushchev's great lines of freedom and communism in Berlin is unrewarding to the Soviet Union."

Civilization Strides Ahead

By STEPHEN TUDOR Staff Writer

Fourteen years ago yesterday an atom bomb was dropped on a city for the first time. The city was Hiroshima and the bomb was so efficient that many residents are still suffering from it. Today we think nothing of that bomb. We have bombs now which make that one look like a firecracker. And, in addition, we have refined our bombs, so that there is a bomb for every possible occasion. What could be more convenient?

Candide was impressed with a battle in which, "The opening barrage destroyed about six thousand men on each side. Rifles which followed rid this best of worlds of about nine or ten thousand villains who infested its surface. Finally, the bayonet provided sufficient reason for the death of several thousand more. The total casualties amounted to about thirty thousand." Candide was also awed by the Lisbon earthquake, in which, "The sea boiled up in the harbour and broke the ships which lay at anchor. Whirlwinds of flame and ashes covered the streets and squares. Houses came crashing down. Roofs toppled on to their foundations, and the foundations crumbled. Thirty thousand men, women and children were crushed to death under the ruins."

Here then is a measure of our progress. Back in 1945 we had already surpassed in actuality the worst catastrophes Voltaire could imagine, and Voltaire was no dope. It's quite sublime, when you realize that 1945 was still in the primitive era of warfare. There was another note in yesterday's news related to the bomb anniversary. That was that due to Khrushchev's visit, that stocks in the war industries took a dive in value. Evidently the shareholders sensed that there was a danger that peace might break out, so they started selling. The nonsense won't last.

A WINTER JOURNEY, more welcome than ever in temperatures like these, is the BBC drama to be heard this afternoon at 2:30 p.m. on Thirty Minute Theatre. A Winter Journey may leave an unexpected chill in the air because of its employment of "radio-phonous sound", a technique developed and utilized by the BBC to bring to listeners the realities of life in the world of the blind. (Those who have heard another BBC effort, Private Dreams and Public Nightmares will have a better idea of the effectiveness of "radio-phonous sound".)

A SUMMER HIATUS, an annual occurrence at WSUI, will descend upon broadcasting activities at the State University of Iowa next Monday. The result will be complete closing down of KSUI-FM until early October and a shortening of WSUI's broadcast schedule to about six hours a day, 8 a.m. to 2:15 p.m., until late September. For the ensuing seven weeks, those whose listening has largely been confined to the morning hours may find their routines relatively undisturbed. But for the remainder of the audience... Bombsville.

Clouds Keep Capitol's Flag From Flying

Threatening rain kept the flag from flying its usual spot above Old Capitol Wednesday. Charles Campbell, custodian in the building reported that it was raining when it was time to raise it and that continued possibility for rain kept it from appearing. Ordinarily, the flag flies daily when school is in session. It is lowered to half staff in respect for deceased SU staff members. Three ladders hung in long shafts plus two steep stairways are used by the climber to reach the dome. In order to raise the flag, the custodian must climb to the top of the dome where a trap door opens at the base of the pole. Three ladders hung in long shafts plus two steep stairways are used by climbers to reach the dome. The climber begins on the second floor of the building. Howard Kline, head custodian, usually makes the trip. There are plenty of bats to distract the climber. The bats often find their way into the building at convenient times to disturb meetings. A tennis racket on a long stick is kept for the purpose of knocking them down. The flag now in use continues to display 48 stars. Usual weathering calls for a new flag about twice a year. The present flag, purchased last September has outlasted the average so a new flag with the correct number of stars may appear at any time. A three-quarter inch cotton rope, soaked in paraffin, to resist rain is used on the flag pole. Who climbs the pole to replace broken ropes? So far they've been lucky, they replace the rope before this happens.

To Present Rose Bowl Film Tonight

The half-hour color film "Expressly for the Rose Bowl" will be shown with two other films made at SUI tonight, at 7:30 in Macbride Auditorium. The public is invited to the free film showings. No tickets are needed. The showing is sponsored by the Student Union Board, according to George Stevens, associate director of the Iowa Memorial Union.

The Rose Bowl film includes highlights of the Hawkeye victory over the University of California. The SUI Band and Scottish Highlanders are featured in the film prepared by the SUI Motion Picture Production Laboratory and News and Information Service. Co-operating in the production was the Santa Fe Railway, which made the western trip possible for the student musicians. The other films are "Design and Man," which was produced jointly by the SUI Art Department, TV Center and Extension Division, and "Striking Collegians," a documentary of the 1959 intercollegiate bowling championships in St. Louis.

Counterfeiters Pass $10,000 In Bogus Bills

ST. LOUIS — The U.S. Secret Service Wednesday smashed a St. Louis counterfeiting ring it said had passed about $10,000 in bogus $10 bills throughout the Middle West during the last few weeks. Agent-in-charge Gary Stigall said the arrests of five St. Louis area men broke up the phony bill operation. He identified them as Dallas S. Barr, 28, Webster Groves; Melbern E. Rhodes, 33, Wellston; George G. Koines, 37, St. Louis; Norman S. Bennett, 36, Berkeley; and William J. Lindquist, 26, St. Louis.

Stigall described Barr as the ringleader. He said plates and negatives for counterfeited bills were seized in a raid on Barr's home. The men admitted printing $50,000 worth of bogus bills, Stigall said. Of this total, $840 have been recovered. FM IS ALL but ended for the summer, but the melodies linger on. Tonight, for example, the principle work to be audited is the infrequently heard Symphony No. 49 by Haydn.

LOS ANGELES — Robert Patrick got tired of waiting for the bus Wednesday, police reported, so he stole it. Patrick, 22, of Inglewood, was booked on suspicion of grand theft after crashing into a service station. Police found him at the wheel of the stolen bus. "I wanted to get home. I was tired of waiting," he quoted him as saying. He admitted drinking. The bus driver, Cecil Hearn, told police he parked the bus for a 20-minute layover and went to a restroom. When he returned, the bus was gone.

Iowa City Has Limited Emergency Service Now - A Look At Our Ambulances

A skid, a crash, a person lying injured along the roadside. Confusion. Call the police, the Fire Department, call somebody! A while later an ambulance arrives. Load the patient and get him to a hospital. And the ambulance driver roars into the distance. Where was the ambulance from? Who would come if you, your family or friends were injured in an automobile accident? One of three Iowa City Police Department patrol cars provided with emergency equipment may be called to the scene of an accident. In addition, the Carroll Ambulance Service has facilities to transport patients from home to hospital, but the firm's vehicles are not equipped with a siren or red light. The firm has made application to the Iowa Department of Public Safety for these emergency devices, but the request has not yet been granted. Also, University Hospitals operates a fleet of ambulances, but these are used only for non-emergency transportation of patients from outside Iowa City to University Hospitals. The police emergency equipment was set up in 1955. This service is limited to the city limits of Iowa City, including Coralville and University Heights. However, in cases of extreme emergency outside the city limits and when no other ambulance service is available, the police service will make calls. The police service is limited to emergency calls. Calls for transferring invalids from home to hospital will be answered only when made by a member of the Johnson County Medical Association, and then only upon certification of the member that an emergency exists and that no other service is available. The city ambulances are equipped with oxygen apparatus, a resuscitator, and emergency first aid kits. All members of the police force have emergency first aid certificates. The Iowa City Fire Department has an amphibious unit which contains a resuscitator, grappling hooks, a boat, and other equipment necessary for the recovery of individuals from the water. When a request comes into the police station for emergency service, the officer on duty must first make certain that the person calling is eligible for the service. Then he dispatches the emergency vehicle. The next step is to call the hospital.

to inform it of the patient's arrival. The patient is taken to the nearest hospital, or, if he is conscious, to the Iowa City hospital of his choice. As soon as he arrives, the police department loses all responsibility. Iowa City Chief of Police Oliver A. White said that from Jan. 1 to July 1 the police emergency service had made only 26 calls. He said in 1958 calls averaged about five per month. Chief White said, "In providing this service it is the intent of the city to provide ambulance service on an absolute emergency basis only. We do not wish to interfere with the private operation of any ambulance service or other business, and wish to answer calls only in the event that private service is not available."

Piped Music From Burge Entertains

The dinner music aiding the digestion of many SUIowans emanates from a cloak room in Burge Hall. A large reel of tape on a machine in the corner of a cloak room just off the main lounge of Burge Hall is the source of the music heard in the Quadrangle dining room and public cafeteria, and the grill, dining room, and dining room in Burge. Installed by the Communications Engineering Company, of Cedar Rapids, the machine plays a reel of tape that can play eight hours of music without repeating. It automatically turns on in the morning, shuts off at night, and automatically replays at the end of eight hours. Thus it never has to be touched after the reel is put on except to splice the tape in case of a break. These tapes, primarily instrumental numbers for background music, are rotated every two weeks with other places such as Killian's Department Store in Cedar Rapids. The Quadrangle did have its own facilities for playing recorded music in its dining rooms, but changed to this new system which is more economical, easily maintained and centrally located. The music piped into other buildings by telephone lines is expected to serve Carrier's dining facilities this fall as well as the Hillcrest addition when it is completed. The machine not only plays tapes but is equipped to be used in emergencies for paging of evacuating. This feature was put to use last fall when workmen cut into a cable and knocked off the telephone service to Burge and Carrier on a big date night. Paging by this system lessened the pandemonium as hundreds of dates tried to locate each other.

DeRyke Protests Eldora Training School Changes. DES MOINES — Jacob DeRyke, former assistant superintendent of the Eldora State Training School for Boys, explained his views on recent personnel changes at the school to the State Board of Control Wednesday. The board announced last Thursday that Gregory Webster, 36, secretary of the Eldora Chamber of Commerce, had been named assistant to Superintendent Hollis Miles. DeRyke, who had been assistant superintendent, was made head of the school's sociology department. He balked, saying that unless he could retain his administrative duties, he would resign. Several staff members have been beaten recently by boys at the school. The Board of Control said last week the personnel changes were made as part of a plan to strengthen the staff. Board members said after Wednesday's closed meeting that they had taken no action on DeRyke's protest against the new order at the school. They said they had granted DeRyke a hearing because "we always grant any employee who wants one, a hearing," but that the staff changes at the school were made by Miles and the board would not, countermand his wishes. DeRyke said he had presented to the board his views on the reasons for the recent disturbances at the school, and possible solutions for them. He added that the board had suggested he discuss with Miles the possibility of setting up an administrative post for him.

Old Gold Fund Reaches $131,890

The Old Gold Development Fund total of $131,890 over a three-year period becomes more meaningful in knowing the number of alumni contributors. In 1956, 1,320 alumni contributed to the fund; 1,383 contributed in 1957, and last year the number was 1,844. At the midway point this year, the fund committee has received $28,117 from approximately 1,000 persons, making a total of $131,890.

SOME OF THE more polished golfers speak enthusiastically about scores in the low 70's, but as one chubber put it, he'd be happy to reach the point of playing in the low damns and hell. NORFOLK, VA. - A Navy pilot walked away unscathed from the flaming crash of his plane on a naval air station today. Later he confessed that he'd forgotten to put down the plane's wheels. FOR THE statistically minded - the odds against getting a perfect hand - you dreamer - in bridge are a mere 635,013,599,599 to one. Of course, the odds against getting any hand are exactly the same.

THE PEDI tribe of South Africa rank as gourmets according to Dr. P. J. Quin who spent some time with them. The diet of the Pedi includes such delicacies as grilled whole caterpillars, fresh, whole weevils, dried field mice and wingless locusts. Dr. Quin, being a true researcher, sampled some of this food but he related that "almost every test was followed by violent physical doubts over which I had no control." Now, don't you feel hungry?

A WINTER JOURNEY, more welcome than ever in temperatures like these, is the BBC drama to be heard this afternoon at 2:30 p.m. on Thirty Minute Theatre. A Winter Journey may leave an unexpected chill in the air because of its employment of "radio-phonous sound", a technique developed and utilized by the BBC to bring to listeners the realities of life in the world of the blind. (Those who have heard another BBC effort, Private Dreams and Public Nightmares will have a better idea of the effectiveness of "radio-phonous sound".)

Senators Split With Indians To Halt Losing Streak At 18

WASHINGTON (AP) — Victory-starved Washington ended an 18-game losing streak Wednesday night, crushing Cleveland 9-0 in the second game of a double-header. The Indians won the opener 7-3.

Harmon Killebrew's three-run homer sparked a six-run rally in the fifth inning that marked the turning point in a winless streak that began July 19 when the Senators lost to Kansas City.

The 18-game string fell two short of the major league record but matched the team mark set in 1948.

Truman Clevenger, making his first start after 33 relief appearances for the Senators, gave up seven hits, as he won his fifth against two defeats.

Cleveland lost the services of second baseman Billy Martin for four to six weeks when a Clevenger pitch hit him in the left side of the face as he led off in the first inning of the second game, breaking the cheek bone and jaw.

ChiSox 2-1, Orioles 0-7

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles evaded to a 7-1 victory on Early Wynn's shaky pitching and sloppy Chicago fielding Wednesday night after Barry Latman had squelched them 2-0 on a three-hitter.

In contrast to the sharp pitching of Latman who faced only 31 Orioles, Wynn was wild as a little leaguer.

He issued seven walks, twice forcing in runs, before retiring in the fourth inning with his seventh defeat against 14 victories.

The White Sox committed five errors to provide the Orioles with four unearned runs.

It was a welcome experience for pitcher Arnold Portocarrero of the Orioles as it brought him his second victory after six losses. Portocarrero, slowly rounding into form, held the White Sox to five hits.

The Orioles nailed down the victory with three runs in the sixth on two White Sox miscues combined with a double by Bob Boyd and Al Pilarcik's third straight hit.

The Tigers threatened in the ninth, loading the bases after two out on Gus Zernial's bloop double to center, a single by Frank Boling, and a walk to pinch-hitter Harvey Kuenn, making his first appearance since July 27. Shantz settled down to retire pinch-hitter Ted Lepcio on an infield grounder, ending the game.

BoSox 17, A's 6

BOSTON (AP) — Boston battered Kansas City pitching for a 17-6 triumph Wednesday night as sprinter Gary Geiger drove home six runs and Frank Malzone five. Geiger, a throw-in on the deal which brought Vic Wertz from Cleveland, hammered a three-run homer, his seventh, a run-producing triple and a two-run double. In addition, he reached base on an error, sacrificed and scored three times.

Third baseman Malzone belted his 16th and 17th homers plus a double and single to hike his runs batted-in figure to 71.

The Red Sox tied their season's best run output 17-6 at Detroit May 6 while teeing off on four Athletics' hurlers for 48 hits.

Malzone put the Sox in command with a two-run homer off rookie loser Howard Reed in the third inning. Boston trailed 5-4 and Geiger was on base when Malzone powered a 2-0 pitch high into the left field screen.

center field scoreboard. Mays' hit drove in the deciding run that gave right-hander Jack Sanford the pitching victory.

Sanford outdueled the Braves' Bob Buhl, thanks to the eighth-inning outburst. Big Jack, with a heavy-hitter, notched his 10th triumph against nine losses while Buhl received his seventh defeat to go with eight victories.

A capacity crowd of 22,807 saw the Giants explode with two out in the eighth. Jimmy Davenport started things with a single to left. Then followed Mays' double and McCovey's 400-foot smash into the right field bleachers. McCovey also had homered in the opening inning.

Sanford struck out eight, issued only one walk as he went the distance.

British Team Set To Defend Wightman Cup

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The British Wightman Cup tennis team reached the scene of the 1959 matches Wednesday breathing defiance and claiming, "it took up 27 years to win the cup and America won't get it back this year."

The British girls — four players and a captain — arrived in suburban Sewickley after a long Atlantic hop and bouncing plane rides between New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

"Christine Truman and Angela Mortimer went to the very edge of airsickness," said Bea Walters, nonplaying captain. "We thought they had had it but they were saved. Ann Haydon and Shirley Bloomer thrived on the bounces."

"But no one in America should get the idea the spot of airsickness means Britain will lose. The matches aren't until Aug. 15 and 16 and we will be ready and we will win."

Cards 3, Pirates 0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Rookie Ernie Broglio of the St. Louis Cardinals pitched his third shutout of the season Wednesday night, scattering four Pittsburgh hits for a 3-0 victory.

Broglio, a right-hander, lifted his record to 6-7. Permitting just two Pirates to reach third base, Broglio struck out six and walked one.

The Cardinals scored their first run in the second inning off Boo Friend, now 4-14. The Redbirds added two unearned runs in the eighth against Fred Green, a rookie lefty.

Singles by Joe Cunningham and Wally Shannon and Hal Smith's infield out produced the second-inning run.

Bill Virdon dropped Don Blasingame's fly for a two-base error to start the eighth. Bill White drove in a run with a single, then scored following Ken Boyer's single and Cunningham's sacrifice fly.

Yanks 3, Tigers 0

NEW YORK (AP) — Little Bobby Shantz fired a five-hit shutout and Mickey Mantle hit a two-run homer Wednesday as the New York Yankees broke through Don Mossi's season-long spell for a 3-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Mantle's homer, his 22nd and second in two days, followed Gil McDougald's lead-off triple in the eighth inning and cushioned Shantz' victory in nine decisions. Before that, the Yanks had managed only an unearned run in the fourth off Mossi, who had stopped New York with five complete game victories this season.

Phils 6, Cubs 4

CHICAGO (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies scored twice in the ninth inning to break a 4-4 tie and handed the Chicago Cubs their seventh straight loss 6-4 Wednesday.

Bill Henry, fourth Chicago pitcher, was the victim of the Phillies' four hits in the last inning. Ed Bouchee singled for the first run and Harry Anderson the second.

Shortstop Joe Koppe singled on starter Glen Hobbie's first pitch to set the stage for the Phillies' three-run first. Richie Ashburn walked, and Koppe took third after Bouchee fled out.

Giants 4, Braves 1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rookie Willy McCovey smashed two home runs Wednesday as the San Francisco Giants grabbed back first place in the National League with a 4-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

McCovey's second homer, and his third since he came to the Giants a week ago, came in a three-run eighth inning after Willie Mays belted a 400-foot double off the

N.Y. Athletic Commission Joins Probe Of Rosensohn

NEW YORK (AP) — As the district attorney's probe of the mystifying mess surrounding the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight promotion went into high gear Wednesday, the New York State Athletic Commission ordered its own examination of the behind-the-scenes activities.

Maj. Gen. Melvin Krulewich, commission chairman, told commission attorney James P. Fuscas to investigate all aspects of the promotion, including the activities of Rosensohn Enterprises and Floyd Patterson Enterprises, two corporations involved.

Meanwhile, Johansson, who stopped Patterson in the third round of their June 26 fight to win the championship, said he will come here from Sweden next week with his advisor, Edwih Ahlquist, "to see what this mess is all about."

Two of the principals involved, Vincent Vellella and Bill Rosensohn, appeared separately Wednesday at the district attorney's office in answer to subpoenas.

Vellella, majority stockholder in Rosensohn Enterprises, told newsmen Rosensohn "quit because he can't take orders. He's just a boy trying to do a man's job. He's made some wild statements that can't be documented. Our books are being audited."

Rosensohn was asked if "the underworld boys are in the picture," and answered that he didn't know.

He said he signed away his rights in the promotion because he felt he had to, but gave a firm "no comment" when asked if he had been threatened.

Asked concerning the whereabouts of the proceeds of the June bout Rosensohn said: "Ask Vellella. He's got the books and if he's got the books he's got the money."

In Goteborg, Sweden, Ahlquist sighed with relief when he learned a New York court had ordered the release of Johansson's purse for the June fight. The purse was attached by heavyweight Eddie Machon after he and the Chicago Stadium Corp. filed a $1,229,375 damage suit against Johansson, Patterson and others.

It was the second Hawkeye sell-out in two days. The Minnesota game here Nov. 7 was sold out Tuesday.

Liston KO's Valdes In 3rd

CHICAGO (AP) — Sonny Liston, No. 3 ranked heavyweight, lost a vicious barrage to score a third-round knockout of Nino Valdes in the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

The victory gave Liston a solid lift in his bid for a crack at heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson's crown.

The knockout came in 47 seconds of the third round. Liston, a 5-1 favorite, started slowly.

Two officials, Referee Bernie Weissman and Judge Frank Clark, called the first round even. The other judge, Howard Walsh gave the first round to Valdes 5-4.

The second round appeared a toss-up, but Weissman and Clark gave it to Liston 5-4 while Walsh called it even, 5-5.

Both fighters came into the ring at 211 pounds.

Liston, one of the most vicious punchers in the ring today, seemed to explode all of a sudden in the third round.

His left hook which staggered Valdes didn't seem to travel more than a half-foot. Once Valdes was staggered, Liston closed in with sharp left-right combinations.

Valdes collapsed against the ropes after Liston's staggering attack. The big Cuban slumped to the canvas and vainly tried to climb back onto his feet after Referee Weissman had counted 10.

It was Liston's 25th victory in 26 fights, including 16 by the knockout route.

In the second round, there was a lot of infighting and Liston's right eye seemed almost closed.

Liston came peering, one-eyed, to start the third round. But once he got in close, he lashed with the left hook which started Valdes to his downfall.

Say Hoffa Paid Off Gangster Friends

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate racks probes accused James R. Hoffa Wednesday of using $3 million of Teamsters Union money to pay off gangster pals in Chicago.

Hoffa fired back that the committee was relying on rumor, hearsay, innuendo and false testimony.

"Flinging another brickbat at the Teamsters Union president, the special investigating committee declared in a formal report summing up a section of its hearings: "There does not exist in the record of the committee a more shocking or flagrant story of betrayal of union members and their families."

"The evidence is clear that James R. Hoffa used these two funds to pay off a long-standing debt to the Chicago underworld and to the corrupt labor leader who introduced him to Midwest mob society — Paul Dorfman."

The committee said the funds were those set aside for health and welfare benefits for members of the union.

The $3 million, it related, represented commissions and fees paid since 1950 to Allen and Rose Dorfman, son and wife of Paul. It said $1,650,000 of the total came from overcharges against the union.

The Dorfman was brokers for the health and welfare insurance programs of the Central Conference of Teamsters and the Michigan Conference of Teamsters.

The Dorfman had no experience in the insurance business, and not even an office space, the committee said, "until a few months before Hoffa successfully maneuvered the insurance business to them in early 1950 and 1951."

In saying Hoffa had betrayed his union members, the senators said the result of doing business with the Dorfman was two-fold: A drastic reduction in health-welfare benefits and inflated charges to the members.

In Chicago, members of the Dorfman family were not available for comment.

Japan Drama Discussed By Speaker

Through the presentation of outstanding films on Japanese Classical Drama, Seth P. Ulman caught and interpreted the meaning and spirit of both Noh and Kyogen theatrical forms for his audience Wednesday night in Macbride Auditorium.

Ulman, who spent two years in Japan on a Fulbright Grant gathering material on the Noh theatre, explained to his audience, prior to the film showing, the nature of Noh and Kyogen plays.

He described the Noh drama, (the movie "Izutsu" as an example) as Japan's most serious and artistic contribution to the art of drama. Ulman said that Noh has the greatest and deepest potential appeal to the West — combining the tragic spirit of ancient Greek drama with the spiritual romanticism of the medieval mystery play as well as having some of the flavor of the American opera on a less extravagant basis.

He presented Noh drama as a unique form of lyric theatre in which the arts of music, dance, and poetry are blended with a pure and distinctively Japanese sense of esthetic economy.

According to Ulman, Noh is performed on a single platform, with no scenery except for pine trees or bamboo trees and a minimum of properties. The central character wears a mask and is supported by a second actor and chorus. The actor, dressed in a lavish costume, is accompanied by a flute and drum.

Kyogen, which contains excerpts from five plays, is the Japanese classical comedy and was described by Ulman as the companion art to the serious and formal Noh. It serves as comic relief. Kyogen has been refined into an aristocratic form of entertainment, but it grew out of peasant spirit, and remains in essence a kind of folk farce.

The program was sponsored by the Department of Speech and Dramatic Art and the Department of Oriental Studies.

Library Work Begun

Faubus Frets; Integration Moves Begin

LITTLE ROCK Ark. (AP) — Segregationists and Negro leaders alike were quick Wednesday to use a move for the early reopening of Little Rock's public high schools to blast anew at limited integration.

The showdown in the long squabble was almost at hand. The school board, in a surprise move Tuesday night, advanced the starting date for the fall term from Sept. 8 to next Wednesday.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus looked out across his desk at a news conference, shook his head and said: "It looks like they're trying to get the Negroes in."

Six Negroes are assigned to attend two formerly all-white schools. Fifty-four others registered for all-white schools but were assigned to the all-Negro Horace Mann High School under a state pupil placement law.

Faubus said the board's action came as no surprise to him. He said he had no present plans to call a special legislative session. First, he said someone had to come up with a proposal of how to stop integration.

Last fall, Faubus stopped integration by a quickly enacted state law under which he closed the high schools. Recently he was stripped of his power in a federal court decision holding the law unconstitutional.

House To Consider Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A civil rights bill striking at school desegregation violence and concealment of election records, but stripped of other key provisions sought by President Eisenhower and Northern Democrats, headed Wednesday for House consideration.

The Judiciary Committee, which had argued bitterly for more than a week over measures to broaden the existing civil rights law, approved the cut-down measure behind closed doors by a reported 17-13 vote.

Earlier Wednesday, reportedly by the same vote, the committee reversed a decision made Tuesday and took out a section to provide limited financial and technical aid for school districts required by court order to admit Negro pupils to white schools.

On this, as on earlier votes chopping out portions of the original bill, some Republicans were said to have joined the solid bloc of Southerners trying to water down and eventually defeat any new civil rights legislation.

The bill as finally approved has five major provisions:

1. Interference through threats of violence with U.S. court orders requiring school desegregation is a federal crime.
2. Flight to escape arrest or prosecution for bombing is made a federal crime.
3. Voting officials are required to preserve and show to U.S. authorities record of election for federal offices.
4. The life of the present Civil Rights Commission is extended for two years from this fall.
5. Provision is made for special federal schools to continue the education of servicemen's children in areas where local officials may close public schools to avoid desegregation.

The committee knocked out of the bill broad powers for the attorney general to seek injunctions in support of civil rights in general, a declaration that school districts have an obligation to desegregate, provision for a commission to push enforcement of clauses in federal contracts against job discrimination, and the authorization for aid in desegregating school districts.

Senate Gives Fred Mueller Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frederick H. Mueller, a 65-year-old Michigan Republican who used to manufacture furniture, won unanimous approval from the Senate Commerce Committee to be Secretary of Commerce.

The Senate may act on confirmation Thursday or Friday.

Mueller has been serving as acting secretary since June 30, when Lewis L. Strauss resigned after the Senate refused to confirm him in the post.

Michigan's two Democratic senators, Pat McNamara and Philip A. Hart, went along with the choice of Republican Mueller. Hart provided for the committee record a letter praising Mueller for his community and public service.

Mueller was confirmed by the Senate only last June 4 as Undersecretary of Commerce. He first entered the department in November 1955 as assistant secretary for domestic affairs.

He formerly was a partner in the Mueller Furniture Co. of Grand Rapids.

Big Four Meet Suspended; Will 'Try Again Sometime'

GENEVA (AP) — The Big Four foreign ministers Wednesday suspended their 10-week search for a Berlin settlement. They adjourned after narrowing their differences and deciding to try again some time.

The talks of President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Washington next month could help the four-power negotiations to reach a standstill agreement.

It was recognized, without being stated, that the East-West dispute over Red-encircled West Berlin will stay frozen at least pending the outcome of the American-Soviet exchanges this fall.

Two communiqués issued by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko announced: "On Berlin and Germany" "A full discussion took place and the East-West positions 'on certain points became closer.' The date and place for a new Big Four parley will be fixed through diplomatic channels.

On disarmament — Arrangements have been discussed usefully for resuming negotiations on ways of ending the world arms race.

A French spokesman said agreement had been reached on a procedure for taking up the disarmament talks again, but that the details were still secret.

The windup of the long conference came shortly after the foreign ministers had conducted a special little argument over the way their disagreement should be presented in the communiqué.

Indeed the Big Four only agreed finally on the terms of their statement shortly before their 4-hour, 23-minute session ended. It was the longest session since the talks began May 11. The conference itself was one of the longest meetings of foreign ministers held since the 1815 Congress of Vienna.

Contest Scheduled For Model Planes

The second annual Iowa City Model Plane Contest sponsored by the Iowa City Model Plane Club will be held at the airport Sunday at 1 p.m.

Seven events are scheduled for both the senior and junior divisions. The events include: 1/2 A (motor class) for beginners and advanced fliers; stunt flying, balloon busting, combat, show plane, and jalopy race.

The event is being staged to help promote model airplane aviation. There will be no admission, and the public may attend.

U.S. To Borrow $1.7 Billion During Coming Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury announced Wednesday it will borrow about $1,700,000,000 in new cash in a series of steps during the next month.

The Treasury will raise 700 million dollars by increasing its weekly offering of regular treasury bills starting Aug. 13.

The additional one billion dollars will be borrowed through an auction on Aug. 13 of tax anticipation bills due next March 22.

In these operations, the money market will set the interest rate of the securities. Investors will bid for the various bills at less than value, with the discount representing the effective rate of interest.

Treasury officials noted that with the completion of these financing moves, the government will have borrowed about $6,700,000,000 since the start of the new fiscal year on July 1.

Two Stowaways, 1 Dead, 1 Missing, Baffle Dock Hands

NEW YORK (AP) — Dock workers opened a hatch on the freighter Cordoba when she arrived Tuesday, four days after leaving Havana.

From the hold came a gaunt and unshaven man, with bulging eyes. He clutched his throat. One man said, "He looked like a maniac."

The man was wearing a dirty undershirt, brown dungarees, and socks without shoes. He ran across the deck, down the gangplank, and disappeared into a bar and grill. He drank six glasses of water in rapid succession. Then he staggered into the street and was lost from view.

Seven hours later, while still unloading cargo, the dockers found the naked body of a second stowaway, wedged behind several bales of tobacco.

During the voyage, temperatures in the hold had gone over 115 degrees.

An ambulance surgeon said the man probably died of thirst. "He apparently stripped in an attempt to survive the heat."

Army Says Budget Is Not Adequate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army said Wednesday that military budgets are falling far short of providing the means for keeping the ground force modern.

In a panel discussion at the annual meeting of the Association of the U.S. Army, speakers said there is wide discrepancy between what the Army needs and what it gets.

The scheduled discussion came as Congress finally approved a $39 billion defense budget, of which $9.3 billion was for the Army.

Dr. Herbert E. Strimer of the operations research office run under contract for the Army by Johns Hopkins University, said "You cannot say you are modernizing when you ask for $13 billion and get $9 billion."

VA Manager To Arrive On Aug. 23

Dr. J. Gordon Spendlove, will assume duties as manager of the Iowa City Veterans Administration Hospital later this month.

Dr. Spendlove will arrive in Iowa City August 23 with his wife, son, and daughter. He is now completing his duties as manager of the VA Hospital in Portland, Oregon.

Dr. Spendlove's son, Gordon, 22, plans to attend SUI. He has completed three years of military service and two years of previous college work. Dr. Spendlove's daughter will be a senior at City High School.

"I am pleased with my new assignment," said Dr. Spendlove. "My family and I are looking forward to our new home in Iowa City with anticipation and interest."

Faubus Misses Possible Injury Crossing Street

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus narrowly missed possible injury Wednesday when a car struck one of his two companions as the three men were crossing a downtown street.

Faubus and his escort, State Police Sgt. Floyd Weaver, jumped out of the way.

State Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams was hit by the car and was thrown about six feet, police said. Adams suffered contusions and abrasions on the hand and leg but was released after emergency treatment at a hospital.

Police Lt. Joe Campbell said the car was driven by W. H. Parks, 55, of Batesville, Ark. He said Parks was charged with failure to yield the right of way to pedestrians.

After medical treatment, Adams left for Perryville, Ark. Faubus and Weaver returned to Little Rock.

SUI Telescope Is Worth A Visit

The rings of Saturn and moons of Jupiter have long been a part of our vocabulary and the subject of many science-fiction stories. But how many people have actually seen them?

SUI students and Iowa Citizens have an opportunity to see them any cloudless Monday night between 8 and 10 p.m. from the observatory on the roof of the Physics Building.

Rumor hath it that "heavenly bodies" other than those observable in the sky have been seen since Westlawn presents an unobstructed view of the big eye in the dome, if you don't mind seeing it upside down.

One of the greatest banes of the life of the astronomy student is the pride and glory of the rest of the University. To the astronomy major, Old Capitol's dome, gloriously illuminated by batteries of flood lights, brings no surge of joy — it just louses up a good sky. The glare of the lights so close to the observatory dims the light of the stars.

The telescope in the Physics Building is not the only one at SUI. In 1957, a new 12½-inch reflecting telescope with electronic recording equipment was placed in operation. This new telescope, which is not open to the public, is located 18 miles southwest of Iowa City.

Housed in a dome 18 feet in diameter at an elevation of 800 feet, it was placed away from the city to avoid the smoke and the glare of lights for the intensive study of galactic nebulae.

Although the summer sky is not as spectacular as the winter sky, there are still the moon, Jupiter, Saturn, Venus and meteor showers to be seen from the Physics building observatory. Venus now is getting closer to the earth and is seen as a crescent; when it is full, however, it is furthest from us.

If you're looking for an extra big show, though, be around in 1956 when Halley's comet will pay us another visit.

El Salvador Students Visit College Of Medicine

Foreign Medics Tour Here

Seventeen medical students from the Central American country of El Salvador arrived in Iowa City this week and are touring the SUI medical college and campus.

The students are all three, four, and five-year medical students. They are accompanied by two interpreters. The group arrived Tuesday night and will be here through Friday.

The program was planned by the International Educational Exchange.

SUI's College of Medicine will be the only medical school the group will visit. The group has been in the United States since July 27, and will return to El Salvador August 9.

The group was welcomed Wednesday morning by Norman B. Nelson, dean of the College of Medicine, and Woodrow W. Morris, assistant dean of student affairs of the College of Medicine. Tours of the medical laboratories, the research center, General Hospital, Psychopathic Hospital, Hospital School for Handicapped Children, and the SUI campus are planned.

Johnson At Drake Meet On Politics

Donald B. Johnson, assistant professor of political science at SUI, participated in a government seminar at Drake University Wednesday on why Democrats and Republicans belong to their respective parties.

Two Iowa politicians, Polk County Democratic Chairman Lex Hawkins and former Republican State Chairman L. L. Jurgemeyer of Clinton felt a re-alignment of beliefs in the parties might be good, making one completely liberal and the other conservative.

Some persons feel, Johnson said, that government might go to extremes in case of such alignment.

Both Hawkins and Jurgemeyer appeared to be trying to go to the Southern Democrats to each other as Hawkins said he hoped the next Democratic national convention would get the conservative Southern Democrats out of the party and adopt a liberal program.

Jurgemeyer said the Southern wing of the Democratic party might be with the GOP on economics but not civil rights.

"I don't think we want to inherit the albatross," Jurgemeyer said.

Both party leaders said the most important issue in the future would be foreign policy and the maintenance of the United States' position in the world.

Youth's Parents Arrested; Charged With Child Beating

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say a five-year-old boy has been beaten repeatedly with a belt buckle, burned with lighted cigarettes, bitten, kicked, punched and half-starved.

The boy's stepfather, Robert Losa, 28, a machinist, and his mother, Mary Losa, were arrested Tuesday on charges of child beating.

The youngster, Ronnie Arciaga, was taken to a hospital where X-rays showed, police said, evidence of deformities resulting from the alleged abuse.

Police said Losa admitted beating the child, saying he was drunk. Mrs. Losa was quoted as saying the youngster was beaten because he "was not housebroken."

The boy said of his stepfather: "He'd play a game with me—the lion game. He said, 'I'm a lion, you're a piece of meat.' He would bite me on the legs, the chest, the arms and sometimes the tummy. "He would beat me when I wet my pants. Once when I did he put my feet in hot water and the skin fell off and stuck to the bedclothes.

"Once when he came home from the night bar he woke me up and burned me with a cigarette in different places. Sometimes he would beat me with his belt buckle and other times he would whip me with the belt.

"A couple of weeks ago he threw me against the mail box when I wet my pants.

"I guess he just doesn't like me."

Edgar Guest, Famed Poet, Dead At 77

DETROIT (AP) — Edgar A. Guest, the newspaper poet who wrote verses that plain people liked, died in his sleep at his home here early Wednesday. He would have been 78 on Aug. 20. He apparently suffered a cerebral stroke.

Often called the poet of the plain people, Guest wrote rhymes for half a century for the Detroit Free Press. His verses were syndicated and at the peak of his popularity they appeared in 300 newspapers.

Guest wrote with a love of the little things of life. One of his most frequently quoted poems started with the line: "It takes a heap o' livin' in a house 'I make it home."

In dashing out verses for daily publication, Guest never pretended to be a great poet. He preferred to be called a newspaperman.

He had been in ill health in recent years. Nevertheless, his poems appeared regularly in the Free Press and other newspapers up to the time of his death.

Rockefeller Seeks State Budget Cut

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is seeking to cut state-purposes spending by $31½ million in an effort to attain "pay-as-you-go" financing next year.

The state-purposes section of the budget covers maintenance items, such as employees' salaries and equipment purchases. In the current fiscal year, this spending is estimated at about $631 million.

Rockefeller's aides made public a letter from the governor to all department and agency heads, instructing them to show how they could trim five per cent from their spending budgets.

U.S. Governors Will Invite Soviet Counterparts Here

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The nation's governors brought their 51st annual conference to a close Wednesday with wrangling, compromising and a bid to their Soviet counterparts to visit the United States.

On what they said was the gravest issue confronting the states, the governors dodged a fight and sent up a compromise call to President Eisenhower and Congress to settle their differences and keep the vast interstate highway program going.

Rockefeller, Fiance Seen At Funeral

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP) — Steven Rockefeller and his intended Norwegian bride went to a funeral Wednesday.

The heir to millions, and the honey-haired girl who once was a maid in the household of Steven's father, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, met a family duty which cast a shadow over their wait for matrimony.

The service was held for Theodor Lohne, uncle of Anne Marie Rasmussen who will wed young Rockefeller Aug. 22 in the nearby village of Soegne. The uncle died Sunday, the day the wedding plans were announced.

Rockefeller and his fiance sat in the front pew of the old Lunde church, along with other members of the family. The funeral may influence the decision on a choice of the old or the "new" church for the wedding. The young couple are having their first argument over just this.

Anne Marie said she wants the ceremony to take place in the larger and newer Lunde church where she was christened and confirmed in the Norwegian Lutheran state church.

Steven, however, with support from Anne Marie's father, wants the old Soegne church. He had fallen in love with this beautifully decorated, early 17th century wooden church. Since the wedding is going to be a small one, he thought all the guests could be accommodated. They will include his father, the governor.

Friends of the family said it looked as if Anne Marie will have her way. Kristian Rasmussen, Anne Marie's father, said he was pretty certain it would be the new church after all.

Will Study Northwest Iowa Towns

Problems of northwest Iowa communities will come under scrutiny at a conference of mayors, city council members and peace officers from that area in Arnolds Park Friday.

The conference will open with the law enforcement officers and the mayors and other officials meeting as two separate groups. The peace officers will consider technical law enforcement problems, with the discussion led by Richard L. Holcomb, chief of the Bureau of Police Science of the SUI Institute of Public Affairs.

The group of mayors, councilmen and municipal attorneys will participate in a mayor's round table. A number of current municipal problems will be discussed by a panel consisting of Max A. Conrad, executive director of the League of Iowa Municipalities; Mayor Kenneth Robinson, Bayard; Russell M. Ross, SUI associate professor of political science, and professors Dean Zenor and Robert L. Styles, Jr., SUI associate professors in the Institute of Public Affairs.

Businessmen Give Views On Car Ban

The position of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce concerning the proposed ban on student cars has been released by Keith Kafer, secretary for the Chamber.

"The only position the Chamber can take is that they would never recommend a ban because of the effect on the economy. It is a University problem and the Chamber will abide by the decision of the Board of Regents."

Businessmen in the Iowa City area continued to be against the ban regardless of the effect it would have on their business.

Three car dealers interviewed reported a good business with students. With good transportation selling for $150, most of the students can scrape up the money, especially when the world revolves around cars, said one dealer.

Another car dealer said it looks like they were just setting up another rule to be violated. He pointed out that most young people look forward to owning a car.

Other businesses that are bound to feel the results would be outlying places of amusement such as bowling alleys and dance halls. One tavern owner said he depended almost entirely on the student trade.

Bob Carvutty, owner of Carvutty's, holds the same opinion as many others interviewed. He felt some limitation should be imposed for the student's own good.

"Freshmen shouldn't be allowed to have cars until they settle down to university life. But they would get around a car ban. It won't affect my business much. We got along very well at one time without cars but then it's different today. The campaign should really be started back home while the student is still in high school," he said.

Many others remarked during the interviews that the practice of permitting high school students to drive cars should be investigated by their schools if the university is serious about banning cars to older, more mature students.

Ministers Will Hold Further Talks

GENEVA (AP) — The Big Four Foreign Ministers have agreed on how to resume the stalled East-West disarmament negotiations, a French spokesman said Wednesday night.

The spokesman Pierre Baraduc was commenting on a cautiously worded four-power communique which said the four ministers "have had a useful exchange of views with regard to the method by which further negotiations on the question of disarmament could be most effectively advanced." As soon as appropriate consultations are completed, the results will be announced.

Baraduc told a news conference U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville reached agreement in secret talks here on a provision for continuing the disarmament talks suspended nearly two years ago.

California Prof Visiting Here

A distinguished graduate of SUI and his family are visitors in Iowa City and Marion this week.

He is Donald B. Lindsley, professor of psychology at the University of California at Los Angeles, who received both the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in psychology from SUI, the latter degree in 1932. Lindsley and his wife, the former Ellen Ford, and two of their four children are visiting in the homes of Mrs. Lindsley's mother, Mrs. A. H. Ford, 304 S. Summit, and her brother, Edwin H. Ford, Marion. The visitors arrived Wednesday afternoon.

Laotian Army Recaptures Communist Fortifications

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The royal Laotian army has recaptured all fortifications occupied earlier by Communist insurgents in Phongsaly province along the North Vietnam border, the Laotian Defense Ministry said Wednesday. It said the army is inflicting severe losses on Pathet Lao rebels estimated to number 2,000.

No casualty figures were given, but a communique said the military situation opposite the famed Indochinese battle ground of Dien Bien Phu is "developing favorably and there is no cause for alarm at the moment."

However, the ministry said Communist lookouts were still in Sam Neua province, but that Laotian troops are still intact in that area.

The communique described the situation as calm in the rest of this Southeast Asian nation, the site of numerous U.S. military and economic commitments.

Tuesday, Prime Minister Phoui Sananikone declared a state of emergency in five of Laos' 10 provinces under Foreign Minister Khamp Han Panya reported the rebels had sent pincer movements up to 30 miles inside Laotian territory from Viet Nam.

Meanwhile, Laos charged at U.N. headquarters in New York that Communist China had teamed with Communist North Viet Nam to stir up fighting in the border area.

Democratic Race In Mississippi Shows Slim Lead

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin clung doggedly to a slim lead Wednesday night as returns passed the three-quarter mark in the first Democratic primary governor's race.

With 1,647 of the 1,829 precincts reporting, Gartin had 127,850 votes to 126,273 for Ross Barnett, a Jackson attorney making his third bid for the office which has eluded him in the last two elections.

Young Charles Sullivan of Clarksdale showed unexpected strength with 105,861 votes, while Robert Mason, a Magee welder who has conceded, had 2,198.

Sullivan's vote Tuesday assured a run-off between the leaders on Aug. 25 to name a governor for the four-year term beginning Jan. 19. Democratic nomination means election in Mississippi, where the Republicans have no gubernatorial candidate.

Surplus Crop Production Increase To Be Curtailed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed 307-90 Wednesday a bill designed to prevent an increase of production of crops already in surplus.

All crops subject to acreage allotments would be affected by the first section of this bill. It provides that:

Beginning with the 1960 crop, the entire current farm allotment shall be regarded as planted if, during the current year or either one of the two preceding years, the acreage actually planted or devoted to the commodity on the farm or regarded as planted because of participation in the soil bank was 75 per cent or more of the farm allotment.

The Agriculture Department recommended this provision so that acreage history — past allotments — credited to the farm also would be credited to the state and county. The automatic preservation of history for allotment purposes, which coincided with the authorization of the acreage reserve of the soil bank, expires with the 1959 crop.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.) said unless action like this was taken the result would be an increased production of surplus crops.

Other sections of the bill pertain to cotton only.

BUT NO DUCKS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — For two hours, Elmer Nevils, 30, sat in his front yard and quacked away on his duck call. No ducks came—but police did. They arrested Nevils on a charge of public drunkenness and disturbing the peace.
