Civilians, Soldiers Nabbed By Castro For Talking Revolt

HAVANA (AP) — Military camps in and around Havana were sealed Monday. They are reputed to hold hundreds of civilians and army men bagged in a Government dragnet.

Entry and exit were permitted only by authority of the commanders. Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Government now in its eighth month, was seeking to stem a purported plot to overthrow him.

The newspaper Revolution, organ of Castro's 26th of July Movement, said possibly more than 1,000 persons have been detained as a result of the discovery of "the counter-revolutionary conspiracy."

Revolution promised that Castro will go before the people on TV and radio at an opportune moment — no date was specified — to explain the wave of rumors and arrests sweeping this island nation. Some sources said the roundup of suspects was set off by the disappearance of arms from Camp Libertad, a big military base in a Havana suburb, apparently in preparation for an armed uprising against Castro.

These sources said a search for arms accompanied the arrest of each suspect. They claimed investigators seized more than 40 machine guns, 100 U.S.-made M1 rifles and huge sums of money.

One of the big rumors collapsed. This was a weekend story of invasion strikes by air and sea from the Dominican Republic against the Isle of Pines off Cuba's southwest coast.

Responsible Americans who spent the weekend on the Isle of Pines, said, on their return to Havana, there was no military activity there whatsoever and that they had heard nothing there of an invasion.

Politicians, large landowners and holdover officers from Fulgencio Batista's regular army are among the men rounded up for questioning about the alleged conspiracy to oust Castro's Government.

Military sources said Castro leaders decided to make a clean sweep by detaining everyone within the armed forces who might conceivably have had a part, then segregate and free those not implicated. Best estimates here were that only a few dozen will be formally accused.

While inquiries at military headquarters met with silence, talks with numerous official and private sources provided this assessment:

Castro intelligence officers received word recently a group of foes of the revolution were preparing an attempt to overthrow the Government, perhaps with support from outside Cuba.

Maj. Raul Castro, the Prime Minister's younger brother, who commands the armed forces, took the initiative in a roundup of known opponents of the Castro regime. The raids broadened later.

Rayburn—Ike's Labor Bill Unjust

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn, (D-Tex.), said Monday night labor control proposals backed by President Eisenhower would do "a genuine injustice to the rights of honest, law-abiding working men and women."

Rayburn appealed for passage of what he called middle of the road legislation that "will correct the worst abuses in labor-management relations without trampling on the just rights of anyone."

His remarks, prepared for a nationwide Mutual Broadcasting System radio network, came on the eve of a battle starting in the House over rival proposals to curb racketeering in the labor-management field.

Rayburn's speech was regarded by his aides as a reply to Eisenhower's radio-TV appeal to the nation last Thursday for legislation considerably more strict than many Democrats want.

"The disclosures of racketeering, shakedown, bribe-giving and bribe-taking, greed and corruption in labor-management relations make it imperative that this Congress pass a strong, effective bill to put an end to these criminal activities," Rayburn said.

"But every time that Congress takes up the subject of labor-management relations, powerful interests move in and try to twist the legislative to give them an undue and an unfair advantage in the age-old struggle between management and labor."

"This is not right, for the federal government should serve as an impartial umpire between these great economic forces, seeking to maintain fair and free competition."

Rayburn backed a bill drafted by the House Labor Committee, calling it fair to both management and labor. He said the choice was between it and the bill backed by Eisenhower and a coalition of Republicans and southern and mid-western Democrats.

"In my opinion, the Republican-sponsored bill would throw the weight of the federal government so heavily on the side of management that it would constitute a genuine injustice to the rights of the honest, law-abiding working men and women of this country," Rayburn asserted.

Governor Long Dejected

Gov. Earl K. Long sits back in his chair after speaking to the Louisiana Senate which had just voted adjournment minutes after convening a special session called by Long. With Long is Lt. Gov. Lether Frazier, presiding officer of the Senate. The move followed a like action by the House of Representatives.

Longtime SUI Professor Of Law—

Paul Sayre Dies

Paul Sayre, 65, SUI professor of law, died Monday in University Hospital. The cause of death has not been ascertained. Admitted to the hospital Saturday, his condition was listed as serious Sunday and death occurred Monday at 1:25 p.m.

One of the most distinguished members of the SUI faculty, Professor Sayre came to the SUI College of Law in 1930. He taught the er Education in Paris that same year.

Founder of the National Conference on Family Relations, he was its president from 1937 to 1939.

Professor Sayre was editor of "The International Law Journal" from 1925-1928; faculty editor of "Iowa Law Review" from 1930-1935; and editor of "Interpretations of Modern Legal Philosophies," 1947, and "Selected Essays on Family Law," 1950. He was the author of "Life of Roscoe Pound," 1947; "Introduction to a Philosophy of Law," 1951; and "Philosophy of Law," 1953. He has contributed to legal and philosophical journals.

He attended University High School, Chicago, and the Tacher School, Ojai, Calif., and received his A.B. in 1916; S.J.D. in 1925 from Harvard College, Cambridge, Mass.; and J.D. in 1929 from the University of Chicago.

Admitted to the Illinois bar in 1920, Professor Sayre practiced law in Chicago from 1920 until 1924. He was professor of law at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., from 1925 to 1928. A research fellow from 1928-1929, he became lecturer on civil procedure at Harvard Law School the next year.

Professor Sayre was the organizer of the Society for Cultural Democracy, on a committee of the American Bar Association, and a member of the Society of Mayflower Faculty club; American Academy of Political and Social Science; American Society for the United Nations; American Society for International Law; American Legion; Delta Sigma Rho; Phi Delta Phi; Kappa Delta Rho; Order of Coif; Iowa Bar Association and the Triangle club.

The son of Rockwell Sayre and Susan Lambard Sayre, he was freshman course in procedure, junior course in pleading, course in family relations, municipal corporations, and jurisprudence.

He was perhaps best known on campus for his annual Christmas readings since 1949 in the Law Building for law students, faculty members and families.

Interested in international law, Professor Sayre was reporter at the International Congress on Comparative Law, The Hague, in 1947. He was an SUI delegate to the International Conference on High-

Education Board To Talk Of Construction, Proposals

A change order for construction work to be done at Central Junior High School and the installation of a second fire hydrant at Southeast Junior high school will be discussed by the Board of Education of the Iowa City Community School District tonight at 7:30.

Also due for consideration are salary school teachers and the recommended appointment of six new teachers to the Iowa City school system.

The teachers who have submitted their resignations are Mrs. Emma Holmes, Mrs. Patricia Olson and Mrs. Olga LaRue.

The board will also continue its study of proposals to purchase the C.S.A. Hall which would then be used for administrative offices. One of the problems involved in the purchases is whether the building would be adequate to house the school administration in the next few years.

Tonight's meeting will be held in the present administrative offices at 104 South Linn.

Former State Legislator Dies

KEOKUK (AP) — John Rankin Irwin, former state representative and speaker of the Iowa House, died in his Keokuk home Monday. He was about 76.

Irwin was a member of a distinguished Iowa family and had been in public life since his appointment as Keokuk postmaster in 1929.

He was graduated from Princeton University in 1906 and attended National University law school in Washington, D.C.

Long's 12-Day Meet Lasts Only An Hour

650 To Receive Degrees At SUI

Some 650 students will receive degrees from SUI Wednesday evening during summer Commencement exercises, according to Ted McCarrell, director of SUI convocations.

Degrees will be conferred by SUI President Virgil M. Hancher during ceremonies to start at 7:30 p.m. in the University Fieldhouse. He will also deliver the traditional charge to the graduating students.

"This Is the Day" will be the subject of J. W. Ylvisaker, president of Luther College, Decorah, who will deliver the Commencement address. In his present post since 1958, Ylvisaker holds a master of theology degree from Princeton Theological Seminary and a doctor of divinity degree from Augustana College, Sioux Falls, S.D.

Serving as chaplain for the Commencement exercises will be James C. Spalding, SUI assistant professor of religion. William D. Coder, coordinator of conferences and institutes at the University, will be master of ceremonies.

The University Symphony will provide music under the direction of William Gower, associate professor of music.

Candidates for SUI degrees represent 86 Iowa counties, 31 states, the District of Columbia and eight other countries. The 21 students from other countries among the graduates are from Brazil, Canada, China, India, Japan, New Zealand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

The tentative number of degrees the University expects to award Wednesday evening includes: doctor of philosophy, 50; master's degrees, 244; liberal arts, 179; nursing, 89; business administration, 42; engineering, 17; law, 18; and pharmacy, 5.

WSUI will broadcast its traditional on-the-scene account of the Commencement program beginning at 7:25 p.m., with Orville Hitchcock, professor of speech, serving as narrator. WSUI is heard at 910 kilocycles.

Dr. Ylvisaker

ning at 7:25 p.m., with Orville Hitchcock, professor of speech, serving as narrator. WSUI is heard at 910 kilocycles.

Ike Ready; Wears Golf, Street Shoe

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower, wearing one golf shoe and one street shoe, went to the Hotel Gettysburg Monday and set up a temporary White House.

Going directly to the hotel after playing 18 holes of golf, Eisenhower didn't notice he still was wearing a golf shoe until he walked into the lobby.

A Secret Service agent hurried to the presidential car to fetch the other street shoe.

Eisenhower's arrival at the hotel caught Gettysburg by surprise. Only a handful of people saw him enter. The word he was there spread quickly and a large crowd, including many tourists, gathered outside. When he left 30 minutes later he got a big cheer.

And Kit Campbell, a 9-year-old blonde from Terre Haute, Ind., got the President's autograph.

As the President entered his car or the three-mile trip back to his farm, Kit thrust a small notebook into an open window. Eisenhower, who doesn't grant many requests for autographs, signed it for her.

Eisenhower's arrival at the hotel was the first indication he planned to set up an office outside his farm for his stay here.

The President, who has been at his farm since Friday, flew back to Washington Monday afternoon to keep some appointments. But he will return today for what may be a prolonged stay.

He hopes to get in as much golf and rest as official business permits before leaving Aug. 26 for a series of conferences in Europe with fellow leaders of the Western Allies. These conferences are a prelude to the Sept. 15 visit to Washington of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Eisenhower's temporary quarters are on the second floor where the hotel's choice three-room suite had been set aside for him.

Late in the day a truck arrived with a White House desk and other furniture for use in the President's office.

$100 Million Air Force Fuel Plan Halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force canceled Monday a $100 million program for the development of chemical fuel for use in 2,000 mile-per-hour plus bombers and fighter interceptors.

The action immediately raised speculation in the Pentagon over the future of the multi-billion-dollar program for the B70 chemical fueled bomber known as the Valkyrie and the F108 fighter interceptor designated the Rapier.

The cancellation will knock out operation of a new $45 million chemical plant built by the Olin Matheson Chemical Corporation at Model City, N.Y., near Buffalo.

The Air Force officially notified Congress the prime contract with the General Electric Company for the J93-5 engine had been canceled. The engine was to power both the B70 and F108.

This engine is a turbo-jet with an afterburner which would have used high energy chemical fuels.

The Air Force said the cancellation would not affect the development of the J93-5 engine by General Electric which currently is programmed for the B70 and the F108.

The canceled engine is in effect a modification of J93-3. The J-93-4 provided, however, an advanced design of afterburner which would use the boron based fuel to give the supersonic craft additional bursts of speed. The Air Force has never said just how much added efficiency would be provided by the afterburner modification.

Thus, the B70 bomber can still continue development and unless canceled or postponed by further economy moves would still be expected to achieve its speed of around 2,000 miles per hour without the special engine.

No reason was given by the Air Force for the cancellation. However, Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said recently that another good hard look would be taken at expensive, marginal value development programs.

On June 19, McElroy said a few squadrons of the F108 Rapiers would cost between $5 and $8 billion while the B70 production program would cost around $10 billion.

Development of the F108 was planned for completion in 1960 with the B70 due in production 18 months later. North American Aviation has a $100 million contract for production of the fighter interceptor and the chemical bomber.

Joseph Crowley, Freed In Murder Case, Found Dead

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP) — Joseph P. Crowley, who recently was cleared of killing his brother-in-law, was found dead Monday. The coroner said he may have been killed by barbiturate poisoning.

Coroner James Corrigan said an autopsy's finding indicated poisoning by barbituric acid, but he added that "it's too early to make a definite finding."

It was a startling climax to the tragedy that has revolved for more than a year about the 49-year-old businessman and ex-Yale football star.

His 45-year-old brother-in-law, T. A. D. Jones Jr., was killed in May, 1958, in a hotel room in Tokyo. Crowley was accused of killing Jones — his wife's brother — in a drunken brawl.

Long Vows He'll Consult 'The People'

Governor Restrained, Calm But Disappointed

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The Louisiana Legislature Monday night ended Gov. Earl K. Long's special session shortly after it convened.

The session, called to meet 12 days, ended when the House voted 70-25 to quit immediately. The Senate then voted 26-9 to quit.

Long went at once to the Senate where he promised to carry his fight "to the people."

It was the first time in Louisiana history that a special session of the Legislature has adjourned so quickly after convening. However, during Long's 1940 administration he called a session which failed for lack of a quorum.

After the Senate joined the House in the dramatic vote, Lt. Gov. Lether Frazier asked the senators to stay to hear Long speak.

The governor was calm and restrained but his voice showed his disappointment.

"Gentlemen, if that's the way you look at it, I don't know much I can do," he told the senators. "I don't think there was a bill introduced that was not worth more than $148,000, (the estimated cost of the session)."

"I'm going to carry my fight to the people. If I was ever crazy, then I'm still crazy."

The governor, shouting at the end of his address, talked about 10 minutes. Altogether, the session and his speech lasted less than one hour.

The House motion to adjourn was made by Rep. Ben Holt of Rapides Parish, an administration floor leader who parted with Long after the recent fiscal session. Long filled the session with profanity and was flown to a Texas mental clinic for treatment.

Holt said he believed the special session was called for personal and vindictive reasons.

"I am in no way angry with the governor... my friends feel he is not capable of carrying on the duties of his office," Holt said.

The House cheered when the adjournment vote was announced by Speaker Robert Angelle.

Legislators had met reluctantly to consider the 21 bills listed by Long. Most of them said they saw nothing so pressing that could not wait until the regular session next year.

Little Rock Race Group Calls Boycott

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Main Street was hit by an economic war Monday over school integration.

A boycott was declared by the Capital Citizens Council, pledged to fight racial mixing in public schools at all costs.

Its spokesman and attorney, Amis Guthridge, accused downtown merchants of backing a School Board decision to reopen public high schools Wednesday to token integration.

Guthridge, in a hastily called news conference in a parking lot, charged the merchants had formed a coalition with the Negroes.

"Little Rock is being run politically by Main Street merchants and the Negroes," he said, adding that it was time the Negroes shared in the "suffering."

What effect, if any, the boycott would have remained to be seen. Business seemed to be going on as usual. Shoppers were coming and going with no outward appearance they were aware of the segregationists' economic war.

Houston Buford, president of Downtown Little Rock Unlimited, Incorporated, ignored Guthridge's declaration. So did the president of the Chamber of Commerce, E. Grainger Williams.

On the student front, 50 confederate flag-waving teen-agers gathered in red. They were aimed at parents and other grown-ups. One read, "Should your children call you daddy or coward?" Another: "Have cowards, will integrate."

The Daily Iowan is written and edited by students and is governed by a board of five student trustees elected by the student body and four faculty trustees appointed by the president of the University.

Some Restriction—Unavoidable Price

President Eisenhower has addressed the nation over television vigorously and persuasively, in general on the need for legislation to curb misconduct in the area of labor-management relations, in particular in favor of the Landrum-Griffin bill.

The AFL-CIO purchased radio network time the same evening so that its president, George Meany, could give the country another point of view.

Just about everybody (except labor racketeers and management chiselers) shares the President's determination to get crooks and hoodlums out of unions and labor-management dealings.

The key to such honest differences can be found in several passages in Mr. Meany's speech, notably this one:

"The AFL-CIO... would not support or accept any legislation under the guise of reform legislation that would restrict and punish honest trade unions."

"Punish honest trade unions"—Americans do not want this. But "restrict" is a word with many shades of meaning depending on the point of view.

This raises the question whether laws can be written to help rid unions and labor-management relations of crooks and corruption without restricting somewhat the legitimate activities of honest unions.

The important thing is that they do not hamper them unduly, that they do not unnecessarily and unfairly weaken organized labor in collective bargaining.

Much depends on the precise wording of these bills and what they will mean in actual practice. Also upon the fairness of those who must administer any law and of the courts who must adjudicate conflicts of opinion.

Some restriction is a price honest labor may have to pay to get at the crooks and thus serve the nation's larger interest.

U.S. Finds Itself In Middle Of Santiago Conference

By J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst

The United States, which helped arrange the special session of the American foreign ministers which opens at Santiago, Chile, Wednesday, will find itself right in the middle from the start.

Small rebellions, invasions and other political disturbances have kept the Caribbean and other areas of Latin America in a uproar ever since the success of the Castro revolution in Cuba last January.

Panama, Venezuela, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Honduras have all been involved. The Castro government has had to deny that it is deliberately sponsoring some of the movements which have had Cuban bases.

The object of the United States in advocating the conference has been to quiet things in the Caribbean. But the whole issue of democracy versus dictatorship has come to the fore, directly involving Paraguay and the unstable situations of virtually every other Latin-American country except Mexico.

In the case of the Dominican Republic — which is probably less of a republic than any of the Western Hemisphere countries — the United States is caught between demands that she do something about a dictatorship which she has aided with considerable sums of money for some years and the old devil of being accused of intervention if she does.

There is also the complication that the Trujillo Dominican regime, however disregardful of civil rights and however cruel, has heavy internal support because of popular economic gains.

Cuba, where American business interests acutely complicate political relations at this time, is the scene of new disruptions on the very eve of the conference.

Some of the foreign ministers attending the conference will be there against their better judgment, believing that no good can come from stirring the troubled waters now. They are sorry if not resentful that the United States is involving them in what they consider primarily her own problem in Cuba.

The agenda of the conference is a broad one, opening the door to the whole field of Caribbean relationships, and therefore to the airing of every bitter disagreement. There is, indeed, little guarantee that discussion will not go far beyond the Caribbean.

An American Returns

By STEPHEN TUDOR Staff Writer

You, Nick Dixon, have come home. The plane circles the airport briefly, and then comes in for a beautiful landing on that 707 landing gear. Whew! You stand in the door and there are all your buddies taking pictures, but no dad.

No dad? Where is dad? Nothing could have happened to him, you hope; not another heart attack. But no, the old boy is all right, ticking along just like a 21 jewel, Swiss, precision-made, high-grade, metronome. He's waiting at home.

You jump into the car, which has been patched up, and head for home. Dad will surely be standing on the front steps, grinning like Mr. Clean, waiting to welcome you. But no, he's not there. You go to his office, knock, and walk in. There is dad, good old dad. Dad takes off his spectacles and says, "What, you back again already? Ho, ho, ho."

Dad asks you what you are going to do now that your wanderjahr is done, and you tell him that your ambition is to follow in his tracks in the family business. Can he fix it up with the stockholders?

No, says dad that would be immoral and I told you to stop pestering me about it. But dad, you say, I know Russia like the back of my hand. Why, I knocked them cold in Novo... Novo... Nov... What was the name of that place?

And dad, you say, Khrushchev had endorsed me. Think of it. The stockholders are sure to nominate me now. Come on, you too.

Look, says dad, I don't have to do what he does, and besides, there is one political reality you will have to face sooner or later. Did you know that in the last ten elections (since 1920) in your corporation the man who has won was the man with the longest name? You, my boy, are only a five letter man. Your friend from Albany has eleven letters. Think it over.

You, Nick Dixon, must face the facts. Can you beat a historical trend, or is your name... too short.

Trio Resumes 8,000 Mile Trip In Plastic Boat

OTTAWA (AP) — Todd Crawford, his wife and daughter, Sue, were off again Monday on their 8,000-mile tour in a plastic outboard motor boat.

The Camdenton, Mo., family launched their marathon voyage nine weeks ago at Yankton, S.D. Since then they have logged 6,000 miles down the Missouri and Mississippi rivers and up the Atlantic Coast in their boat, the Sue.

Out of sight of land only once during the trip, they ate and slept ashore at restaurants and motels. Strong winds blew them off course in the Gulf of Mexico but they made it safely ashore.

Crawford, a flooring and real estate man, said the trip is "too ambitious a project for inexperienced sailors."

SISTER CITIES

TOKYO (AP) — The mayor of Dresden, Communist East Germany, says his city will become a sister city with Hiroshima. Mayor Herbert Gute said the arrangements for the scene were made while he attended the recent fifth World Conference Against Atomic and Hydrogen Bombs in Hiroshima.

University Bulletin Board

University Bulletin Board notices must be received at The Daily Iowan office, Room 203 Communications Center, by noon the day before publication. They must be typed and signed by an advisor or officer of the organization being publicized. Faculty social functions are not eligible for this section.

GRADUATE AND LAW students planning to register for the Independent Study Unit should pick up registration materials in Room 1, University Hall. Registration and fee payments are to be completed by 4 p.m.

UNIVERSITY COOPERATIVE BABYSITTING LEAGUE Book will be in the charge of Mrs. Wainwright from Aug. 4 to Aug. 18. Telephone her at 8-2888 if a sitter or information about joining the group is desired.

CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES IN AUG.: Commencement announcements have arrived. Orders may be picked up at the Alumni House, across from the Union.

PH.D. FRENCH examination will be given today, 1-3 p.m. in 309 Schaeffer Hall. Those who are not registered in 8:51, Ph.D. French, should sign the list posted on the bulletin board outside 307 Schaeffer Hall if they wish to take the examination.

EDUCATIONAL PLACEMENT: Those registered in the Educational Placement Office who are still seeking positions, send change of address to the office before leaving the campus. This may be done by postcard or by leaving a memorandum at the Placement Office.

THERE WILL BE recreational swimming at the Women's Gym from 4:10 to 5:10 p.m. daily.

LIBRARY HOURS: Monday-Friday: 7:30-2 a.m.; Saturday 7:30-5 p.m.; Sunday 1-5 p.m. Reserve Desk: Monday-Thursday, 8 a.m.-6:30 p.m.; Friday-Saturday, 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m.; 7-9:30 p.m.; Sunday: 2-4:30 p.m.; 7-9:30 p.m.

Oil Drilling Set For West Iowa This Fall

OMAHA (AP) — An Omaha oil company announced Monday it will begin drilling in western Iowa early in the fall.

The H. and L. Oil Company has been acquiring oil rights in Harrison, Woodbury and Monona counties — but mostly in Harrison, Hans P. Jespersen, president of the firm, said.

He said the drilling will probably be concentrated between Missouri Valley and the Missouri River, an area of about 12 miles.

He also indicated that other oil companies are becoming interested in the area.

Jespersen said other oil companies may be brought into the H. and L. operation to acquire additional capital and more drilling rigs into the field.

The president of the firm said he thinks prospects are good for a real strike.

Another announcement was made by an Omaha company Monday regarding drilling in Iowa for natural gas.

The Northern Natural Gas Company, will drill a series of shallow wells in the Fort Dodge-Webster City area to determine possibilities of storing natural gas — and the company pointed out remote possibilities of hitting either natural gas or oil.

R. Dean Grimm, Northern's manager of gas supply, said the first well—300 to 500 feet deep — would be sunk today about a mile north of Vincent.

Reuther—Let Public Attend Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, (UAW), demanded that the Senate rackets committee open to the public the investigation of his union scheduled to start behind closed doors today.

He charged that the committee's Republican members want the public barred so they can leak out allegations which, he said, would never stand up in a public hearing.

In a telegram to the committee chairman, Sen. John L. McClellan, (D-Ark.), Reuther accused the Republicans of "unprincipled and irresponsible" tactics.

McClellan told a reporter the committee could open the doors of the hearing room by a majority vote decision. He said he would be reluctant to go on record as favoring such a step "until I know a little more about it."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, (R-S.D.), in a separate interview opposed Reuther's demand for a public hearing at this stage. Mundt said it is usual to have some form of preliminary inquiry as a prelude to public hearings, and that he believed the closed session should go on as scheduled.

The closed hearings had been billed as a preliminary inquiry to determine whether evidence turned up by the committee's Republican members is sufficient to justify public hearings.

The Republicans have announced only in general terms that the evidence deals with the affairs of Richard T. Gosser, UAW, senior international vice president; Peter Zvara, a former UAW international representative, and some other UAW officials. Gosser and Zvara are from Toledo, Ohio.

Oxford Youth Suffers Facial Injuries In Crash

James A. Volk, 17, Oxford, suffered severe facial injuries when his car left Highway 6 and smashed into a culvert near Tiffin Sunday.

The accident occurred about 3:15 a.m. as the youth was returning from a dance at Swisher.

Volk's car plunged down an embankment, followed a ditch and crashed into the culvert, shattering the heavy concrete. Volk suffered fractures of the jaw and cheekbone, a deep facial cut, and the loss of several teeth. He is reported in fair condition at Mercy Hospital in Iowa City.

Brush Fires Rage In California

UKIAH, Calif. (AP) — Ramping brush and forest fires, some of them believed set, broke out Monday along the heavily traveled Redwood Highway.

One large fire menaced this Mendocino County seat 100 miles north of San Francisco. Five outlying homes were reported burned and others were being evacuated. Two more fires burned on the east side of the valley.

At Willits, 20 miles north, several more fires were reported a few miles north of the town, burning out of control as all available men were mustered to save homes and farm buildings.

University Edition Termed 'Omnibus Of Information'

It's an omnibus of information. From the dustiest corners of the library stacks to the SU laundry and its 10 tons of washing per day, the University Edition of The Daily Iowan to be published Aug. 22 thoroughly covers the many facets of SU.

Trips through dorms and class buildings, stories and pictures of recreational facilities, and looks into all corners of the campus are offered.

Fashions and customs are the center of articles that tell the facts many upperclassmen have taken years of hard work to learn. Even love and its techniques are catalogued. One section contains tips on traditional courting procedure, advice on what you can or can't get away with under University regulations and even tips on how to pack for the trip to SU.

Detailed accounts of organizations are complemented by stories of their past activities and future plans. Roundups of campus governing bodies, social organizations, social groups and professional clubs and their doings are invaluable in helping the new student choose extra-curricular activities.

Though sports stories are considered of greatest interest to men, the coed will find them handy for keeping posted on athletes as well as athletics. Pictures and accounts of last year's contests and the potential greats at SU abound.

SUI's administrators and instructors are introduced with pictures and their words of advice. Their duties and services to the student are told in stories describing the intricacies of the University organization.

This listing barely scratches the surface of the information offered in the 104 pages of the University Edition. It is a once-a-year gold mine of details about the many sides of life at SU.

The edition will be mailed anywhere for 50 cents. Orders are being taken at the Communications Center. One student has ordered a copy for Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

On the date of publication, the edition will be for sale on news stands and in The Daily Iowan office for 10 cents. Students' subscriptions will end with the closing of the summer session, but arrangements may be made to subscribe for the interim period.

Studying And Coffee Equal Finals Time

SUI dormitories will be brightly lighted into the night this week, and the libraries can expect increased "business" as students prepare for final exams.

Coffee consumption also shows a marked increase as the fateful day approaches.

Because the summer session does not include a period designated for final exams, most classes are holding exams during the regular class period.

Many instructors are giving finals Wednesday, probably to keep students from the temptation of beginning vacation early.

As the day for leaving school approaches, most dormitory rooms, off-campus housing and student apartments take on a look of a department store warehouse, as boxes, garment bags, trunks, and suitcases are brought out.

At Burge Hall, the most populous area of the dorm is the loading ramp at the rear, where coeds may be seen directing their parents on how to back the family car down the ramp. A laundry cart, piled high with a year's accumulation of pennants, stuffed animals, records and books waits to be piled into a trunk which doesn't look any too large.

Not all SUOWans are vacation-bound, though, for some will remain from Thursday through Sept. 9 for the Independent Study Unit for graduate students.

Some local businessmen choose the interim period as an ideal time for a vacation. One theater is already closed, and several taverns close yearly for the six weeks while students are gone.

Split Fuel Line Causes Bus Fire

A $50,000 fire which destroyed a Greyhound scenicranger bus on Highway 6, eight miles east of Iowa City Sunday morning, was caused by a broken driveshaft which split a fuel line, spewing diesel oil onto the hot bus motor, authorities said.

The fire broke out at 2:10 a.m., shortly after the bus had left Iowa City. Driver James Monteith, 40, of Chicago, swung the vehicle onto a gravel road intersection and roused the 42 passengers.

The interior of the bus was gutted by the blaze. Dome windows on the top of the bus were burned out and aluminum panels on the side melted in the heat. Firemen from West Liberty and West Branch were called to the scene.

Much of the passengers' luggage was destroyed by the fire. Debris was brought to Iowa City to be investigated in connection with loss claims.

Passengers took refuge at a nearby farm home until a bus arrived from Davepost to complete the scheduled trip from Omaha to Chicago.

Air Force Plane Crashes In Rain; Crew Uninjured

CANDIA, N.H. (AP) — A huge B-52 Air Force Stratofortress, her navigation instruments out of commission, crashed in a heavy rainstorm Monday in southeastern New Hampshire.

All eight men aboard parachuted to safety on a farm near this town 30 miles west of Portsmouth. None was reported injured.

The craft was en route from Westover Air Force Base, Chicopee, Mass., to Goose Bay, Labrador, when the order to abandon ship was given. It had left Westover earlier heading for Albany, N.Y., when the commander, Capt. George E. Kusch, told Westover the radar unit was not functioning.

The big plane was ordered back to Westover, but bad weather prevented a landing and it was diverted to Labrador where weather was reported favorable.

Flood Toll In Formosa Reaches 773

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist China faced up Monday to Formosa's greatest disaster in living memory as the toll of death from floods reached 773.

Details gathered by provincial police showed that one of every 60 of the island's population of more than 10 million persons had been left homeless.

Wild thunderstorms last Friday touched off the floods in central and southern Formosa. Flood waters are receding, but many communities still are isolated.

No Americans or other foreigners were listed among the casualties, but U.S. military installations and equipment in the Formosa area suffered damage. Taipei, in northern Formosa, was not so hard hit, and most Americans live in the capital.

Provincial police added these grim details: 241 persons still missing; 1,093 persons injured; 169,713 persons homeless; 15,178 houses destroyed; 11,890 houses damaged; 157 rail and highway bridges destroyed; 76,339 acres of farmland flooded.

Loveless — Good For Khrushchev To Visit Iowa

DES MOINES (AP) — Gov. Heschel Loveless said Monday it would be a good idea for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to visit some of Iowa's capitalist farmers.

Loveless said he thinks the Russians have a dangerous lack of understanding about America. He said the Soviet Premier should see both farming and industrial operations on his visit in September.

"The Russians apparently are misled by the so-called lack of unity they see in America," the governor said. "By that I mean the constant disagreements and discussions we bring right out in the open."

"I think the Russians have started to believe their own propaganda about the United States, and that is dangerous."

The governor said he doubts he will issue a formal invitation to Khrushchev to visit Iowa, noting it is up to the U.S. State Department to arrange the tour.

Various Iowa groups have extended invitations to the number one Russian. Loveless said he has no preference about which of these Khrushchev accepts.

WORLD FAIR PLAN NEW YORK (AP) — The city administration has thrown its support behind a plan to hold another World Fair here in 1964, coinciding with the 300th anniversary of the founding of New York City.

A citizens committee of 25, mostly business leaders, put forward the plan. Mayor Robert F. Wagner pledged his support.

The sponsors would have to raise $500 million, more than three times the cost of the fair here in 1939-49.

Neither Castro Nor Trujillo To Attend Caribbean Talks

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro will not attend the American foreign ministers conference here on Caribbean tensions, the Cuban ambassador to Chile said Monday night. Conflicts between Castro's government in Cuba and the Dominican Republic regime of Rafael Trujillo were a prime factor in setting up the conference.

Castro's decision means that neither principal protagonist of the Caribbean arena will be on hand. Trujillo never attends such Latin American parleys.

The official head of the Cuban delegation is listed as Assistant Minister Raul Roa. In Havana it was announced Castro might show up.

The program for the inter-American foreign ministers conference, which opens Wednesday, is discussion of the plots, invasions and invasion threats, revolts and counter-revolutions that have made the Caribbean a sea of unrest since Castro's forces took over Cuba Jan. 1.

But Latin diplomats have a lot of other subjects to discuss with Christian A. Herter, who arrives Tuesday for his first meeting with them as U.S. secretary of state. Up to now Herter had been tied up with the Big Four conference at Geneva.

Topping the list for private talks is U.S. aid for the Latin republics. The talks will be held outside the conference. But they remain no less important to the Latins, who feel they are last in line for U.S. help—far behind Europe and Asia.

The United States had been one of the most vocal in supporting the idea of the meeting, called by the Organization of American States (OAS).

The OAS Council had found it was unable to deal with the May 31 invasion of Nicaragua and the June 19 invasion of the Dominican Republic. Both those nations accuse Cuba of backing the attacks and called for a foreign ministers' conference to take action.

Lowest ID Number This Summer—51

By JERRY SMITH
Staff Writer

Identification numbers have plagued the human race for untold years. There are social security numbers, drivers license numbers, employment card numbers, and unemployment card numbers, and for a few unfortunates, prison numbers.

To this ever increasing list of identification numbers has been added the student ID number. So often is the SUI student number used that memorization is almost a necessity. In this respect, perhaps the luckiest student on campus this summer is John Ekblad, G. Rock Island, Ill., who has number 51, the lowest number of any student attending this summer session.

Ekblad's low number is no indication of the work he has accomplished at SUI. Now working toward a Ph.D. in Zoology, this is his ninth term residence. Ekblad, who is 44, received his B.A. degree from Augustana College, Ill., in 1937 and his M.A. degree from George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn., in 1951. Ekblad received his student number in 1940.

The present student number system was started in the school year 1940-41. The student receiving ID number one was Fred A. Estrand. The latest student number issued as of Monday, is 95376, which will go to Nancy E. Werner, Cedar Rapids, who plans to enter SUI as a freshman this fall.

New Librarian For Journalism School Named

Mrs. Betty Lou Tucker, 310 Willis Drive, has been named reading room supervisor at the SUI School of Journalism, Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school, announced Monday.

A 1956 graduate of the School of Journalism, Mrs. Tucker worked for News and Information Service in 1947-48 and served as a reporter on the Davenport Times in 1945-46.

As reading room supervisor, Mrs. Tucker will be in general charge of activities in the reading room and will assist journalism students and faculty members in research. She succeeds Mrs. Charlotte Baker, who is moving to Fairfield.

13 Toll Collectors Suspended—

Police Take Tolls On Interstate Span

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—Blue uniformed city policemen, replacing 13 suspended toll takers, took tolls and wisecracks from motorists on Centennial Bridge Monday.

The policemen were pulled off their beats and made toll collectors on the big span over the Mississippi River between Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport.

Bernard J. Moran, Rock Island County state's attorney, estimated between $100,000 and $750,000 was diverted from toll collections since the bridge opened in 1940.

Moran assembled evidence which U.S. Attorney Harlington Wood arranged to present Tuesday to a federal grand jury in Springfield.

Members of the Centennial Bridge commission met to devise a theft-proof toll collection method for the bridge.

Meanwhile, other public officials charged with collecting tolls reflected upon the efficiency of their systems.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago, whose administration is responsible for collecting 25 cents for every vehicle driver who uses the Calumet Skyway in South Chicago, said, "it couldn't happen here."

Attendants handle money only to make change for motorists, he said. Quarters are dropped into sealed boxes which count them automatically.

Charles M. Burgess, Illinois Toll Highway Commission chairman, said his electronic vehicle and toll counting system is backed up by periodic cross auditing of traffic and collections at individual toll plazas.

Moran said cheating on bridge toll collections was made relatively simple by several factors.

Although toll rates were different for private and commercial vehicles, the only traffic check was done by means of electric treadles which counted axles. These could be shut off with a control key in the collector's booth. So, a collector could stop the traffic count while he pocketed a few dollars for his personal kitty.

Steel Union Head Touring Strike Area

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"This is a fight to save the union."

That's what David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, (USW), told striking steelworkers as he toured various locals of USW District 15 in the Pittsburgh area Monday.

McDonald is on an indefinite leave from the New York talks. Besides his routine work here, McDonald is planning to visit Youngstown, Ohio, on Wednesday; Detroit on Friday, and possibly Birmingham, Ala., next Monday.

"I got sick of that show in New York," McDonald told the workers. "I will talk to people with authority. I refuse to talk with liasons."

To newsmen he said: "I have no immediate plans for returning to New York. No, I am not boycotting the sessions. I do not know what I am going to do."

McDonald explained what he meant by wanting to talk with people in authority: "Take for example R. Conrad Cooper. He's only the vice president of U.S. Steel. He has to report to an executive committee, the president of the company and the chairman of the board. We've had four top executives at the meetings. Management has their third and fourth strings there. So now I gave them our second string."

In New York, Cooper, chief negotiator for the steel industry, said in a statement: "Mr. McDonald, as he puts it, may be 'sick of that show in New York' but he knows full well that the four-man negotiating team designated by 12 steel companies has full authority to deal with the United Steelworkers Union."

Farmers Need Sound Estate Plan—Bloom

As Iowa farms grow in size and complexity, the importance of estate planning grows also, Clark Bloom, assistant director of the SUI Bureau of Business and Economic Research, said Monday in a talk to participants in an Estate Planning Seminar at the Iowa Center for Continuation Study.

Bloom pointed out the sharp differences between the Iowa farm that was and the farm that is. The "old" Iowa farm was a small operation, little capital was required, management by rule of thumb was possible and the farmer had but infrequent market contacts.

Today the typical Iowa farm is a large operation, requiring substantial capital and specialized management with scientific training. The farmer has intimate contractual ties with businesses outside agriculture, said Bloom. Since the capital investment and requirements are greater, it is important that the line of succession be provided for.

To insure the permanence of the operation and the contacts outside agriculture, estate planning is essential to the Iowa farmer, Bloom concluded.

Farm Income Falls In First Quarter

A decline in Iowa farm income and a 10 per cent average weekly rise of earnings in manufacturing in the state were reported in the first four months of 1959 by SUI's Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

In an article for the Iowa Business Digest by Mrs. Ethel Vatter, economist for the SUI bureau, it was revealed that prices received by Iowa farmers from January to April fell 6 per cent in comparison with a similar period last year.

Des Moines Playhouse To Appeal Tax Assessment

DES MOINES (AP)—Community Playhouse in Des Moines began preparation of an appeal Monday to avoid paying more than $5,000 in sales tax on admissions to productions for the last five years. The sales tax division of the State Tax Commission announced the assessment Saturday. The Playhouse never has collected the two per cent sales tax because it considered its non-profit organization exempt. In Waterloo, a spokesman for the Waterloo Community Theater said it has paid its sales tax every year on admissions. The Cedar Rapids Community Theater, similar to the Des Moines group said it was notified that it would be exempt from the tax.

Durrelle Balks On Return Pact

MONTREAL (AP) — Challenger Yvon Durrelle, obviously on edge for his return title fight with light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, said Monday he would not sign a return bout contract unless he was assured of better terms.

But Durrelle's manager, Chris Shaban, said there wouldn't be any difficulty about the contract. Moore, the 42-year-old titleholder, and Durrelle, the 29-year-old Canadian and British Empire ruler, meet in a return bout in the Forum Wednesday night.

The old champion, decked four times, rallied to knock out the husky fighting fisherman in the 11th round of their thrilling first fight here last Dec. 10. Durrelle, who netted about $20,000 against Moore's $75,000 the first time, said he was very unhappy about the terms for Wednesday's scrap. Moore has been guaranteed $175,000 and Durrelle $15,000.

Major League Attendance Up 5 Per Cent Over Last Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball attendance, rocketing toward the 14,000,000 mark, has received a big lift from the Cleveland Indians, New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox and Monday showed a five per cent increase over the last season.

The American League, an Associated Press survey revealed, has pulled 6,599,333 customers through the turnstiles for a gain of 1,174,794 over 1958. This nullifies a National League decline of 533,372. The overall major league pickup is 641,422.

Three American League teams already have surpassed their entire totals of last year. They are the Indians, who drew 503,626 paid admissions in 1958 and have 1,009,562 in for this season; the White Sox, with 873,363 in '59 compared to 797,451 for their final 1958 figure and the Washington Senators, who had a home attendance of 475,288 last season and have reached 497,617 this year.

In addition, three other American League clubs are ahead of their 1958 paces. The New York Yankees, with the circuit's top attendance of 1,138,065 are up 276,833. Baltimore has an increase of 86,464 and Kansas City is on the credit side by 12,438.

The Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers are the only junior circuit clubs behind last season's gait—the Sox by 54,406 and the Tigers, 35,108.

The National League, which boomed its attendance over the 10,000,000 mark last year when the Giants and the Dodgers moved to the West Coast, has attracted 7,167,230 customers this season. In the same number of home dates a year ago, its total was 7,700,602. The Giants, with the smallest seating capacity in either major league, 1,063,904 fans in San Francisco, 23,000. Have played besciso this year. This represents a gain of 76,361.

The Dodgers, although trailing their 1958 aggregate by 82,153, may equal or surpass last season's figure of 1,845,566 in Los Angeles.

The Milwaukee Braves, who dropped almost 245,000 paid admissions returning to the big leagues missions last season and finished under 2,000,000 for the first time in 1953, are another 216,129 in arrears this year.

Pittsburgh, which gained 461,256 in 1958, is up another 102,997 this season. However, the St. Louis Cardinals, Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati Reds and Philadelphia Phillies all show decreases.

Banks Overtakes Mathews In N.L. Home Run Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs has wrested the National League home run lead from Milwaukee's Ed Mathews. And, off his previous performances, Banks' most productive slugging of 1959 is still to come.

Banks, a strong finisher, slammed three homers last week to boost his season's total to 32. Mathews hit only one and trails with 31. Banks also is the leader in runs batted in with 102.

The Cubs' shortstop had 18 of his 47 homers in the final two months of 1958 when he won the circuit's most valuable player award. In 1957, Banks walloped 21 in the last two months and wound up with 43.

Banks also is eighth in the batting competition with a .308 average. However, his chances of winning the championship are microscopic. Hank Aaron of Milwaukee, the No. 1 batter, shows no signs of slumping. The Braves' star kept his percentage at .366 last week, neither gaining nor losing any points with an 8-for-21 showing.

Joe Cunningham of St. Louis remained in the runner-up position despite a three-point drop to .340. Cunningham had five hits in 17 attempts. Johnny Temple of Cincinnati advanced to third place at .322. He is followed by Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco, .317 and Vada Pinson of Cincinnati, .314.

Bill White of St. Louis, who was in second place most of last month dropped to seventh. White collected only three hits in 32 times at bat and his average fell 19 points to .311.

In the American League, Harvey Kuenn of Detroit came off the injured list to open a 16-point lead over Baltimore's Gene Woodling. Kuenn, who was out with a leg injury, moved up three points to .346 while Woodling tailed off 11 points to .330. Kuenn had six safeties in 15 trips last week and Woodling had 3-for-19. The records include Sunday's games.

Al Kaline of Detroit climbed from fifth place to third as a result of a three-point pickup to .326. Nellie Fox of Chicago dropped to fourth at .323. Fox lost nine points with six hits in 30 at bats.

Harmon Killebrew of Washington continues to lead in home runs with 35 and RBI's with 86.

Mr. Howard's career began in 1907 when he won the amateur world light heavyweight wrestling championship for the first time. He won the European title the following year and again took the world crown in 1910 and '11. In 1908 and 1912, he was part of the Danish water polo team at the Olympics.

In 1915, Mr. Howard came to America and toured as a professional wrestler until coming to SUI. In May, 1954, Howard returned to Denmark to visit friends and relatives there for the first time since coming to this country.

Funeral services for Howard M. (Mike) Howard, 75, SUI wrestling coach for 30 years, were held Monday at the First English Lutheran Church.

Funeral services for Howard M. (Mike) Howard, 75, SUI wrestling coach for 30 years, were held Monday at the First English Lutheran Church.

Mr. Howard, whose home was at 419 N. Gilbert St., died unexpectedly Saturday morning at Mercy Hospital where he had been hospitalized for one week.

Mr. Howard's teams at Iowa won 60 per cent of their dual meets. His coaching helped 16 Hawkeyes win 25 Big Ten individual titles, and two of his pupils made the Olympic team. His teams finished as runnerups for the conference title five times, three of them just a single point short of the championship.

At the close of 1952, Mr. Howard went on part-time duty in the Physical Education Department and held that status until his death.

Mr. Howard's career began in 1907 when he won the amateur world light heavyweight wrestling championship for the first time. He won the European title the following year and again took the world crown in 1910 and '11. In 1908 and 1912, he was part of the Danish water polo team at the Olympics.

In 1915, Mr. Howard came to America and toured as a professional wrestler until coming to SUI. In May, 1954, Howard returned to Denmark to visit friends and relatives there for the first time since coming to this country.

Olmedo Smashes Green; Captures Eastern Title

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Alex Olmedo, the U.S. Davis Cup ace from Peru and Los Angeles, Monday won his first tournament since Wimbledon by ripping his big serve past Mike Green of Miami, Fla., 6-4, 3-6, 6-0, 6-2, in the Eastern Grass Court final.

The top-seeded Peruvian now takes a week's rest from the tournament grind to sharpen up for the Aug. 28-30 Davis Cup challenge round.

Olmedo breezed through the tournament with the loss of only two sets — one to Green Monday, the other to 18-year-old Davis Cup teammate Earl Buchholz Jr., of St. Louis in Sunday's semifinal at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club.

Giants Edge Cards On 3-Run 9th, 3-2

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, blanked by Larry Jackson for eight innings, Monday night staged one of their famous ninth inning rallies, a three-run explosion for a 3-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Successive singles by pinch batters Leon Wagner and Jim Davenport and Willie Mays' run-scoring single routed Jackson. Rookie Willie McCovey grounded to second but Davenport beat the throw for the tying run.

Willie Kirkland then clouted a two-out double off the right field screen, scoring Mays with the winning run. The victory stretched the Giants first place lead to two games over Los Angeles.

Little Stu Miller (5-6) was the winning pitcher in relief of starter Sad Sam Jones, the veteran right hander who pitched well enough to get his 16th victory. Mike McCormick pitched the ninth and was given a scare before escaping without a run.

Yanks 7, BoSox 4

BOSTON (AP) — Aroused New York battled to a tie in the ninth inning, then defeated Boston 7-4 in the 10th Monday night on successive singles by Yogi Berra, Elston Howard and Hector Lopez.

The triumph, fifth in a row for the Yankees and their third in two days via extra inning, thus provided vengeance for the five-game sweep by the Red Sox here in mid-July.

Southpaw Whitey Ford, fourth New York pitcher, nipped rallies in each of the last two frames with the aid of a pair of swift double plays. The Red Sox had two runners aboard when Ford retired Gary Geiger on a grounder
