Discoverer In Orbit; Plan Capsule Snatch

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — The Discoverer VI satellite zoomed into orbit Wednesday carrying a capsule the Air Force hopes to snatch from the air as it parachutes earthward near Hawaii Thursday.

The 1,700-pound satellite was caught by tracking stations in Alaska. It was completing its first circuit of the earth. It was launched at 12:20 p.m.

The Air Force said it was circling the earth's poles once every 95 minutes and is expected to stay in orbit at least 30 days.

Following an egg-shaped path through the skies, it comes within 138 miles of earth at its closest point and goes as far out as 537 miles.

Radio signals are loud and strong, the Air Force said, indicating that the satellite is stable in orbit.

In Sunnyvale, Calif., Maj. Gen. O. J. Ritland, commander of the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division and Herschel Brown, general manager of Lockheed Aircraft's Missiles and Space Division, said in a joint statement: "The successful orbiting of two Discoverer satellites in less than a week marks a tremendous forward step in the scientific study of space vehicles and their applications."

"It is indicative also of the accelerating pace of U.S. activity in the space field. Through the information and experience gained in the Discoverer series the Advanced Research Projects Agency, the Air Force and Lockheed rapidly are preparing the way for launching of the first man in space."

Lockheed makes the Discoverer second stage rockets. The entire second stage is supposed to orbit.

One of the aims of the Discoverer series is to study techniques of sending man into space and back. The Air Force faces staggering odds in its planned aerial capsule recovery try.

If all goes right the capsule would descend on a parachute, sending out radio signals to indicate its whereabouts. A squadron of Flying Boxcars would go after it, and try to snatch it with trap-like contraptions attached to each plane. Such a catch was planned last Friday, the day after the successful launching of Discoverer V. But the radio beacon in the capsule apparently went haywire. Planes waiting to try to catch never got any signals. Such a recovery never has been made.

Probe For Quake Victims Continues

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. — All known survivors of the Montana earthquake were brought out Wednesday as searchers prepared to tackle a 50-million-ton mountain slide to find out how many died beneath its rock and dirt.

A hunt for bodies will be made, too, in waters into which the quake-loosed mountain tumbled.

Eight bodies have been recovered since the quake rocked the southwestern part of the state late Monday night.

On the basis of eyewitness reports, the toll could go to at least 13. The search of the landslide and the waters of Hebgen Lake and Madison River could send it still higher.

Half a dozen persons say they saw an automobile occupied by a man, a woman and a crippled child buried by the avalanche. Their bodies have not been recovered.

Sheriff Donald Skeritt said the lakeside home of Mrs. Grace Miller, about 60, was washed away in the middle of the night by waters surging under the impact of the landslide. He said she was almost certain to have been in it.

Mrs. Thomas Stowe of Sandy, Utah, whose husband perished, is missing and presumed dead.

Other reports of survivors indicate bodies may yet be found under the avalanche and in the water.

A car and trailer slid into the lake behind Hebgen Dam. Skindivers are hunting for bodies.

Survivors at the Rock Creek campground reported seeing five cars and 10 trailers covered by the slide. They said they had no idea how many, if any, people were in them.

Among the bodies recovered were four members of the F. R. Bennett family of Coeur D'Alene, Idaho. The 43-year-old father, daughters Carole, 17, and Susan 5, and son, Tom, 11, died. The mother, Irene, and 16-year-old son Phillip were injured.

From her hospital bed Mrs. Bennett told of being swept clear across a 100-foot wide river.

"When I came to, I was jammed against a tree with a log on my back. I dug myself out of that."

"I thought I was the only one in the family still alive."

But Phillip also had been swept across the river and joined his mother.

Mrs. Bennett and her son were the only ones remaining in the hospital at Ennis of the 17 treated there for quake injuries.

Scores of persons were injured. At one time 34 were hospitalized.

It may be days or weeks before the landslide in the still quivering vacationland can be explored sufficiently to establish the death toll.

"It is presumed that some people may have been buried by the large land mass which slipped into Madison Canyon," said A. E. Zion of the Montana State Highway Department.

"The slide is approximately one-half mile long and a minimum of 150 feet deep at the lowest point and approximately 300 feet at a point over the road."

Skindivers were brought in to explore deep river holes where bodies might be submerged.

All known survivors—about 300 persons—have been brought out of Madison Canyon, where they were trapped between Hebgen Dam and the landslide.

BEFORE THE BRIEFING — Secretary of Labor James Mitchell looks over a booklet before briefing reporters Wednesday on his findings in the steel dispute. The government turned loose a mass of figures Wednesday to show that in the strike-closed steel industry, wages, prices and profits have been going up for years.

Figures Show Rising Prices, Wages, Profits

Greater Effort Toward Strike Settlement Hoped

WASHINGTON — The government turned loose a mass of figures Wednesday to show that in the strike-closed steel industry, wages, prices and profits have been going up for years.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell made the statistics public at the direction of President Eisenhower in the hope this would lead the striking Steelworkers Union and the steel companies to bargain harder for a settlement.

But Mitchell refused to say a word about what he thought either should do in the way of give and take.

"There are no conclusions drawn from the figures," he said. "The responsibility for a settlement of the strike rests upon management and labor."

He did point out the public has an interest in the strike, which has been going on for 36 days, costing each week 300 million dollars worth of production and 70 million dollars in wages.

Both management and labor hailed the report as supporting their arguments in the dispute.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for the steel industry, said Mitchell's report shows steel wages have put steelworkers "at the top of the list."

In a statement, Cooper also said increases in employment costs have exceeded increase in output per man hour, thereby forcing up steel prices.

In New York, United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald said of Mitchell's report:

"The report presents a positive contribution to acquaint the American people with the facts of the tremendous productivity record achieved in the steel industry and the overwhelming ability of the steel industry to share a portion of such gains with the public, industry workers and stockholders of the industry."

"It documents the soundness and equity of the position of the Steelworkers Union in the controversy with the steel industry."

Negotiations continued to drag along with no progress reported toward solving the deadlock. Mitchell presided over a news conference room of the Interdepartmental Auditorium. But he gave few concrete answers to the several hundred newsmen poring over the collections of figures, charts and textual matter.

He did say, in reply to a question as to when a national emergency might result from the strike that this could occur by the latter part of September or early October.

By then, Mitchell said, very serious shortages in steel would begin to appear. He said the effect so far has not been serious from a national standpoint.

Philip Arrow, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, discussed the charts with the aid of lantern slides and a flashlight indicator.

Some of the main things displayed, or explained:

Wages — "Gross hourly earnings in steel rose $1.43 or by 85 per cent, from January 1950 to May 1959. Real hourly earnings rose by 50 per cent."

"From January 1950 to the summer of 1959, steel wages as a whole rose by greater percentages and by greater absolute amounts than wages in most of the economy."

"In terms of average hourly earnings, steel wages are higher than those in most other industries. The May average of $3.10 in the steel industry compared with $2.23 in manufacturing as a whole, $2.68 in automobiles."

Prices — "Prices of basic steel products are at peak levels. Steel prices have risen higher and faster than wholesale prices in general and much more than retail prices."

Profits — "In the three years 1955, 1956 and 1957, combined, the 20 largest steel companies had a rate of return of net worth of 12.8 per cent, compared to 14.7 per cent for the 25 largest industrial firms in the nation."

"In the first half of 1959, the steel companies increased their rate of return, both in relation to their 1955-57 average and in relation to the rate of return for the group of the largest industrial firms."

Khrushchev Sends New Berlin Plan Via Dr. Milton Eisenhower

WASHINGTON — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has offered secretly to give the West German government control over West Berlin — with guaranteed access — in return for a pullout by the Western powers, it was reported Wednesday.

Informed sources said Khrushchev sent his proposal to President Eisenhower by way of Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother.

The Soviet leader, due to visit the United States for meetings with the President next month, reportedly outlined his plan to Dr. Eisenhower during a private talk. The sources said the talk was held while Dr. Eisenhower was in Moscow recently with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

There was no immediate indication how President Eisenhower reacted. He has let it be known in the past he will listen to any new idea Khrushchev may put forward when they meet in mid-September.

Dr. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University and at times an adviser to his brother, was pictured as favoring the Khrushchev proposal. Some State Department officials were strongly opposed.

For about nine months, the Soviet Union and the Western Allies have been at loggerheads over the future of West Berlin, a free world island 110 miles inside Communist-ruled East Germany.

Khrushchev has demanded that the United States, Britain, and France withdraw their forces from West Berlin. The West has refused to do so, contending the Soviet aim is to absorb the city into East Germany.

Foreign ministers of East and West haggled for 10 weeks at Geneva this summer, but finally broke up without any measurable progress toward ending the impasse.

According to accounts of the talks between Khrushchev and Dr. Eisenhower, the Soviet leader denied any intention to draw West Berlin into the Soviet orbit.

Khrushchev reportedly said he wanted a peaceful solution of the dispute and would agree to the West German government taking over West Berlin, provided the Western Allies withdraw their forces.

Madeira Islands New Exile Home For Ex-Dictator

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Exiled former President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba left here by special plane Wednesday, the Immigration Service reported, for a new exile home in the Portuguese Madeira Islands.

Batista, like other ousted dictators of Latin-American republics, who took refuge here, had been a some-time embarrassment to the Trujillo regime. He was a sore point especially in the conflicts with Fidel Castro revolutionary regime of Cuba.

His departure came one day after the conference of American foreign ministers at Santiago, Chile, subscribed to a formula to calm the trouble spots of Latin America, particularly the Caribbean area. The Cubans and Dominicans joined the 19 other countries of the Organization of American States to this point.

It also came one day after the State Department announced in Washington that the question of admitting Batista to the United States "is a dead issue."

A department spokesman declined to go beyond that comment on Batista's petition for admission to the United States as a political exile.

Eisenhower, Macmillan Will Appear Together On British TV

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will chat informally over radio and TV Aug. 31 from No. 10 Downing St., the British leader's London residence.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Wednesday the two are expected to speak for about 15 to 20 minutes before a dinner Macmillan is giving for Eisenhower that evening.

The broadcast will come just before Eisenhower winds up his Aug. 28 to Sept. 1 conference in Britain and flies to Paris for meetings with French President Charles de Gaulle. Eisenhower leaves Washington Aug. 26 for a day of conferences with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer at Bonn before he goes to Britain.

Newsmen at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters here also got word of plans for the President to make a radio-TV appeal before Congress meets next January for legislation to reduce the cost of the wheat price support program.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson met with Eisenhower and a news conference afterward pictured the President as deeply concerned over mounting costs and wheat surpluses under the present program.

Benson said that unless Congress enacts the necessary legislation, the wheat situation will grow into what he called a fiasco worse than that created by potato and egg price support programs in 1950.

Wartime price supports on potatoes and eggs were cut off by Congress in 1950. Heavy losses set off an uproar in Congress and elsewhere.

Although he met with Benson and got in some other government work, it was a relatively quiet day for Eisenhower. He scheduled no news conference as he did here a week ago.

The President was out early on the golf course with his 11-year-old grandson, David, and George S. Allen, his frequent golfing companion who is a business executive and owns a farm near Eisenhower's.

Little Rock Board Members Verify Student's Story

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Two school board members said Wednesday the only Negro student in Central High School refused segregationists charges of racial violence behind his doors.

Board member Ted Lamb and Russell Matson met after classes with the Negro, Jefferson Thomas, 16, and several teachers.

These charges had been made and we wanted to see for ourselves," Lamb said.

A segregationist leader, the Rev. Wesley Pruden, complained to city authorities about reported fights between Thomas and white students.

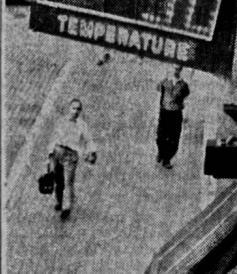

Let's All Go Cool Off—In Death Valley

Temperatures in the 90s and high relative humidity Wednesday made Iowa Citizens miserable for one more day. And from the looks of things, they will continue to spend sleepless nights and hot, humid days for the rest of the week.

Jerry Smith, Daily Iowan photographer, caught the thermometer on the Iowa State Bank Building Wednesday afternoon just under the 100 degree mark. It was the third straight day for temperatures around the 90-degree mark.

At this time, relief appears nonexistent, as a high pressure center continues to pump warm, moist air over the state. The weatherman said, however, there is a chance for a few scattered showers for the western third of the state Thursday. And Sunday, Iowa City can expect to feel the effects of a slight statewide temperature drop.

2 Die When 'Copter Burns On Carrier

QUONSET POINT, R. I. (AP) — The pilot of a helicopter — whose engine "ran away and exploded" — perished Tuesday aboard the aircraft carrier Wasp. And an aviation apprentice died fighting a resulting fire.

The Navy announced Wednesday when the 32,500-ton carrier reached the naval air station here that 26 crewmen were hurt but only one required hospitalization. He is Sydney A. Chaplin, 20, Philadelphia. He was taken to Newport Naval Hospital suffering a fractured left leg and burns of the face and arms. His condition was listed as good.

The Wasp was on antisubmarine maneuvers 250 miles off the Virginia coast when the mishap occurred.

Dead are: Lt. (jg) Jim Frank Hagan of Marianna, Fla., who was trapped in the blazing helicopter he was testing in hangar bay No. 1, and Donald H. Trask of Keene, N.H., whose body was found at the bottom of a plane elevator. He apparently was asphyxiated.

Rear Adm. Robert Stroh, commander of Carrier Division 14, who used the Wasp as his flagship, said confining the fire to one hangar bay was a tribute "to the fire-fighting methods and equipment installed on the ship."

Money Came, But Students Had Gone

At least four SUI students left Iowa City in too much of a hurry. The Federal Government is looking for them.

These four are among 25 other persons or couples who gave addresses in Iowa City when filing their 1958 income tax returns and have tax refunds coming, but their checks were returned to the district office in Des Moines.

About 1,300 checks were returned in the district ranging in value from $1 to $2,061. They have a total value of $94,865.67.

V. Lee Phillips, district director of internal revenue, asked any persons who have refunds coming and have not received them to write to him at P.O. Box 1337, Des Moines 8, or call Cherry 3-2171, extension 233, in Des Moines.

Former SUI students on the list were Carroll Krier, E3, Sigourney; Robert Roelf, C3, Clarence; James L. Whitehouse, G, Iowa City; and William Downing, A1, Des Moines. All were registered second semester last year except Downing. He was, however, registered last fall.

Other Iowa City residents on the list were: Karen Albaugh, Mary Bartine, Fay Bedford, W. G. and B. E. Bell, Louis Buetner, Daniel Burke, Raymond Daines, Russell Eggenburg, L. D. and E. Hills, L. and L. Kane, Frank Kennard, Cleo Knepp, W. and Mrs. Krall, Ellen Laferty, Everett Matthes, Falbert McMahan, J. F. and L. Moore, John Paines, Lillian Payton, Eugene Phillips, and Ada Schlotfeld.

Brownell: Hands Off Political Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. said Wednesday he'll take no part in any presidential nomination battle between Vice President Richard Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Brownell confirmed a story to that effect in the Des Moines Register, saying: "It's true in the sense that I retired from politics when I resigned down there in Washington."

Asked if his support was requested by either Nixon or Rockefeller, Brownell laughed and declined a reply.

The wedding is set for Sept. 5 in the St. John's Episcopal Church in Dubuque.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of the State University of Iowa College of Nursing and is presently an instructor in the college.

Hole In Ground Unexplained As Iowa Village Scratches Head

RIPPEY (AP) — There's a hole in the ground on a farm near here that is sparking a lot of discussion about such things as thunder, lightning and dynamite.

The only thing anybody knows for certain is that it apparently was caused by a blast of some sort.

Speculation centers on whether an unusual lightning flash could have made the hole. Residents recorded an unusually bright lightning flash and especially violent thunderclap about 2:10 a.m. on Aug. 4.

The ancient Greeks might have explained the hole by saying Jove, the king of the gods, hurled one of his thunderbolts at this Green County town of 400 — and missed.

Modern-day Iowans, of course, would scoff at that. But there is the hole, about 10 feet wide, 15 feet long and a foot deep, in a cornfield on the Berthal Devilbiss farm south of here.

Chunks of earth, some up to a foot across, litter the bottom of the hole. Clods up to fist-size were found as far as 50 feet away. Many small chunks stuck in the leaves of corn stalks.

Most of the clods have a whitish, ash-like appearance on one side, as if they had been subjected to great heat.

Devilbiss found the hole Aug. 7. He commented that it looks "just like a dynamite blast site, only there's no evidence of any dynamite having gone off."

Dr. John Lemish, Iowa State University geologist, examined the site and said the hole probably was caused by lightning — but if so, he added, it was a very unusual lightning bolt.

Another possibility, Lemish said, is that an explosive such as dynamite was thrown into the field from a nearby road.

Fluid Burns Congressman On Shoulder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank Thompson (D-N.J.), said Wednesday he was squirted from a truck with what he believed was acid. He blamed it on a crank, but some congressmen linked the incident with Thompson's work on labor control legislation.

The fluid burned a hole in Thompson's shirt and left a small burn on his shoulder when he threw up his arm to protect his face.

He said the panel truck darted into traffic before he was able to get a good look at the two white men he said were inside. The attack occurred Tuesday morning.

He told newsmen the truck stopped beside his car when he stopped for a light near Capitol Hill.

As Thompson related it, the man sitting next to the driver seemed to laugh at him before leaning over and squirting fluid from what looked like a syringe.

Police said Thompson told them it was possible he had angered the men in the truck by inadvertently cutting in front of them in traffic.

The FBI took a sample of fluid from the side of Thompson's car and planned tests to determine what it was. The car's paint was marred.

Thompson said "I think too much has been made of it." He said he felt the attack was the work of a crank. He said he had been threatened two or three times in the past, but never considered it serious.

Grant Wood Works To Be Restored By SUI's Burford

A member of the SUI Art Department faculty has been named to restore murals painted in 1927 by Grant Wood in the Hotel Chieftain at Council Bluffs.

Byron L. Burford, associate professor of art, has notified a Council Bluffs citizens' committee sponsoring the restoration that he will begin the work before Sept. 7.

The murals, located in the hotel's Corn Room, depict an Iowa farm and corn field. They have become faded, nicked and soiled in the years since they were painted.

Wood's sister, Mrs. Nan Wood Graham, Riverside, Calif., Edgar Britton, Colorado Springs, Colo., who assisted with the original work; and Marvin Cone, head of the Coe College Art Department, were consulted before Burford was engaged.

32 Killed As Airliner Crashes Into Spanish Mountain Peak

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — A chartered airliner crashed into a mountain peak Wednesday in a dense fog, killing all 32 persons aboard. Most victims were vacationing British students.

The plane burned after smashing head on into the 2,400-foot high Peak of Man 25 miles northeast of Barcelona. Flames drove off rescuers who rushed to the scene from a nearby weather station.

The plane, chartered by the British National Union of Students, crashed minutes after taking off from Prat de Llobregat Airport for London.

There were at first conflicting reports on the exact number of passengers aboard, but authorities said the passenger list showed there were 21 British students returning home from vacations in Spain.

The three crew members—pilot, copilot and stewardess — also were British.

The British victims were 12 men and 12 women, officials said.

Others were a German, two Spaniards and a Malayan.

The passengers were said to be between 18 and 23 years old. The British group arrived in Spain from London Aug. 5.

TERRORISTS KILL 3

YAOUNDE, French Camerons (AP) — Seven terrorist attacks on local government officials resulted in death to three persons and injuries to five last week, it was announced Wednesday. All the attacks took place in provinces bordering the British Camerons, and are attributed to members of the outlawed Camerons Peoples party which is agitating for new elections in the French mandate before it becomes independent on Jan. 1.

Hold Youths On Larceny Charge Here

Two Iowa City youths are being held in Johnson County jail in connection with the alleged theft of gasoline at a farm southeast of Hills.

Richard Marple and Robert D. Duffy, both 18, face preliminary arraignment Thursday on charges of larceny in the nighttime.

They were arrested at 1:30 a.m. Wednesday by Sheriff Albert J. Murphy after a mile-chase from the farm of William and Robert Eden in Pleasant Valley township.

The Eden brothers said they were awakened at 1 a.m. by the sound of a car moving up the farm driveway. William Eden said he saw a 1937-model car stop beside the farm gas barrels.

The brothers picked up a .22 caliber pistol and went to the yard to call to the two who had climbed into the car. The youths jumped into the car and drove away in spite of warnings from the Edens that they would shoot.

The Edens stopped the youths after traveling about a mile and after firing a warning shot into the air. Robert Eden held the two in the middle of the road at gunpoint while William Eden ran to a neighboring farm house to telephone the sheriff.

After the incident, the Eden brothers noted from tracks around the barrels in their yard that diesel fuel had been taken.

TROOP TRANSFER

ETAIN, France (AP) — Ground personnel from the U.S. Air Force Base at Etain have started moving to West Germany. Transfer of the 75 fighter bombers has been postponed until Tuesday. Three bases in France are being evacuated because of France's refusal to permit stockpiling of atomic weapons.

Mororists Urged To Be Vigilant As Schools Open

DES MOINES (AP) — State Safety Department officials warned Iowa motorists Thursday to drive with vigilance when thousands of youngsters over the state begin returning to school.

Motorists were urged to watch for school stop signs, observe school speed zones and watch crossings for children.

Safety Education Director Frank Ulish said the danger of traffic death or injury will come because thousands of children will be venturing out of familiar neighborhoods "and many will not understand the movement and danger of traffic."

Ulish said that at least one parent should accompany small children walking to schools and that older children riding bicycles should be put through a review of safety rules.

"But the heavy responsibility is on the driver," Ulish said. "He must never assume that a child is going to do the expected thing in or near traffic."

Ulish urged local police departments throughout the state to begin strict enforcement of all school stop signs on the first day of school and continue until drivers know what's required.

Daily Iowan To Grow With—

University Edition Saturday

Saturday's edition of The Daily Iowan will be a little larger than usual — 100 pages larger to be exact. That is the day the 104-page University Edition will be published.

About 8,000 copies of the paper will be sent to all sections of the United States and 14 foreign countries. Even Soviet Premier Khrushchev is on the edition's mailing list.

The 13 sections of the edition will completely cover life at SUI. "Four-handed" dentistry and the history of riverbanking will be discussed, as well as where an SUI student's money goes.

The edition, to be mailed to about 4,750 prospective students, high schools, and libraries, will tell you what not to bring to college and how to get along with your roommate. It will cover the study of brain reaction at the College of Medicine, and the study of the SUI customs of pinning and chaining. It will even tell you how to determine a student's major by the clothes he wears.

Mary Janss, A4, Des Moines, editor of the University Edition, and her staff began working in May to put out the largest edition of any college newspaper in the country.

Copies of the University Edition will be mailed anywhere for 50 cents by placing orders at The Daily Iowan office in the Communications Center. Copies will be on sale at the Communications Center and on the newsstands for 10 cents. Regular subscribers will automatically receive the paper.

Ike To Ask For Wheat Legislation

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower decided Wednesday to make a radio-TV appeal in advance of the next session of Congress for legislation to reduce the cost of the wheat price support program.

Word that the President will carry his campaign for wheat legislation to the people came after Eisenhower conferred here with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Benson pictured Eisenhower as deeply concerned over mounting costs and wheat surpluses under the present program.

Unless Congress enacts needed legislation, Benson told newsmen, the wheat situation will grow into what he called a fiasco exceeding that created by potato and egg price support programs in 1950.

Reds Threaten Laos In Effort To Restore Peiping Prestige

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China's loss of face over Quemoy adds to the world's danger from a Communist uprising in Laos.

Mao Tze-tung perhaps sees in that little landlocked nation a chance to regain prestige his armed forces cast away in wholesale barrages over Formosa Strait last year.

Peiping took a trimming propagandewise when its big guns failed in months-long bombardment — launched last Aug. 23 — to bring people and 89,000 square miles, largely mountain and jungle.

It is flanked on the north by Red China's Yunnan province and on the northeast by Communist North Viet Nam, which the Laotians accuse of training and equipping the battalions of Red guerrillas now challenging the government in Phong Saly and Sam Neua provinces.

The Chinese Communists cannot well afford another prestige defeat. Therein lies the danger. For North Viet Nam is their protégé and Radio Peiping is taking an increasing propaganda hand in the Laotian border war.

Mao Tze-tung

the Nationalist Chinese garrisons of offshore Quemoy to their knees.

The United States, which Peiping called a paper tiger, had a hand.

American-made artillery bolstered the defenses. The U.S. 7th Fleet convoyed Nationalist supply ships and patrolled the strait between the Red mainland and Formosa, the bastion of Chiang Kai-shek.

Peiping's early boast that it would wrest away the islands came to naught and the offshore war reverted to its old pattern of desultory exchanges that left the decision as far off as ever.

During recent trips to Southeast Asian nations I have been told by dozens of persons that the United States' firm stand over Quemoy dispelled doubts of American strength and willingness to stand by its partners in a showdown.

The United States, however, would find it harder to make a showing in Laos. It has no combat forces immediately available there, as there were in Formosa last year.

Two Cities Grant Gas Franchises In Special Votes

Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company was granted 25-year gas franchises in special elections held Tuesday in West Liberty and Wilton Junction.

The vote was 387 to 56 in West Liberty and 369 to 264 in Wilton Junction.

Plans call for construction by the company of about 26 miles of gas feeder lines from the cross-country pipeline at a point near Muscatine to the two communities and the necessary distribution system facilities in the two towns.

If the required authorization to construct these facilities is received from the Federal Power Commission and the Iowa Commerce Commission at an early date, company officials said they anticipate that natural gas will be available in the two communities by the fall of 1960.

Henninger Honored By Guard Units

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn. (AP) — Cannon boomed, bugles sounded their plaintive notes, 4,000 men trod the parade ground and the commander of the Fifth Army of the U.S. and top officers of the Nebraska-Iowa National Guard stood at attention Wednesday in honor of Brig. Gen. Guy N. Henninger of Nebraska.

The occasion was a special retreat for the old soldier, retired July 1, who served 40 years in the Guard. As the 4,000 soldiers of the guard marched past the reviewing stand, there were more than a few wet eyes as tall, gray-haired Gen. Henninger acknowledged the tribute.

The general said "one is always short of words to express his feelings on an occasion of this kind. "I served as adjutant general for 20 and a half years. During that time it was my responsibility to publish the orders mobilizing the Nebraska Guard for duty in World War II and later the Korean incident.

"On both occasions the men of Nebraska committed themselves with honor to themselves, the citizens of Nebraska and their country."

He charged the soldiers, who had come in from four days of field duty for this special parade, to march onward with continued honor and distinction.

Gen. Henninger received two special awards.

Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Harper, 5th Army Commander, praised Henninger for putting the Nebraska Guard in the forefront of guard units in the nation and presented him a letter of appreciation from Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, commander of the Continental Army, who wrote "throughout the years his service played a significant role in assuring the national guard had the just confidence of the Army of the U.S."

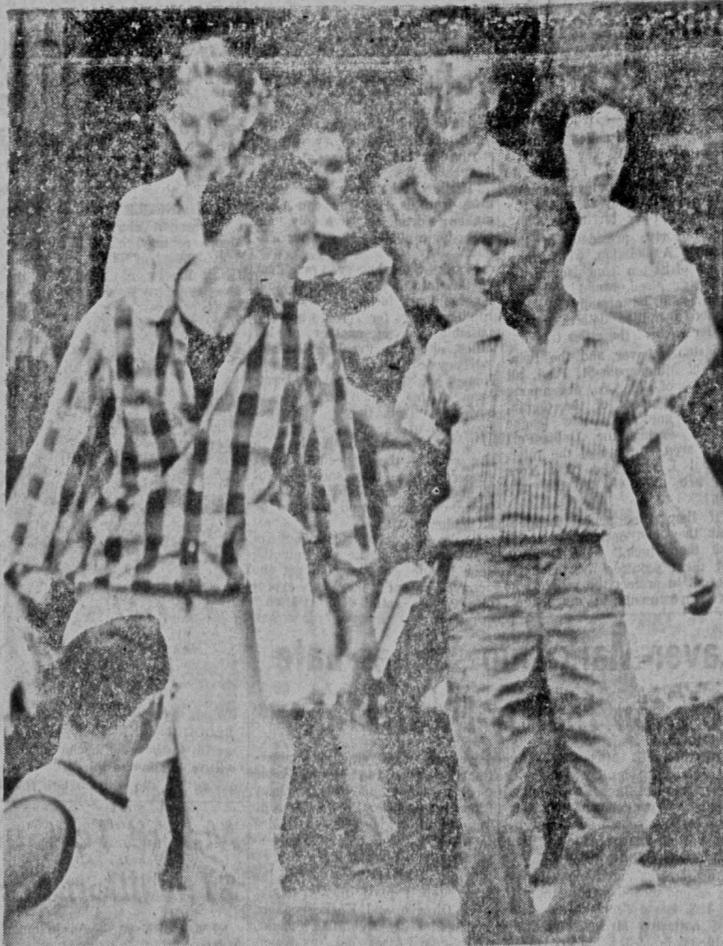

Then Maj. Gen. Lyle Welch, new adjutant general for Nebraska, presented Henninger with a commendation from Gov. Ralph Brooks.

Gen. Henninger stood ramrod straight, clutching the hand of his seven-year-old granddaughter, Anne Higgins of Lincoln, as the guard's aircraft units passed overhead in a final salute.

Wednesday night the general was alone with his daughter, Mrs. Vernelle Higgins, Lincoln, and old buddies.

During the night the guard held the last of its field maneuvers.

Thursday the troops will begin pulling back into camp, Friday they will get an estimated $600,000 in pay and Saturday they will start toward home. All units are expected home by Sunday afternoon or evening.

Des Moines' Solar Aircraft Factory To End Operations

DES MOINES (AP) — The Des Moines plant of Solar Aircraft Co. which was the city's largest industry several years ago, will be closed, it was announced Wednesday.

At its peak of operations the plant employed 3,500 persons and currently has 1,000 persons.

Herbert Kunzel, Solar president, said the company plans to sell its Des Moines property and shift operations to San Diego, Calif., where the main plant is located.

Kunzel said the move here was caused by "abrupt changes in Solar Aircraft Co.'s products and markets, such as the phasing out of jet parts orders."

Kunzel and Bruce A. Willsey, president and general manager here, said volume production programs for which the local plant was built, particularly in the jet engine components field, are being concluded faster than anticipated.

"It is most regrettable that the Des Moines plant, one of the finest units of its type, cannot be adapted to Solar's needs," Kunzel said.

The company head said the shift will occur over the next several months and various steps will be taken to lessen the impact on employees and the community.

A few key employees will be transferred to San Diego, payments will be made under provisions of the Solar employees profit sharing and retirement plan and other employees will be assisted in finding new jobs, Kunzel said.

Solar started its Des Moines operation in 1942 to meet World War II production demands for aircraft components.

Says Labor Control Talks Progressing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate House conferees reported more progress Wednesday in working out a compromise labor control bill. But they have yet to tackle the principal issues in dispute.

These issues, involving secondary boycotts, picketing, and federal-state jurisdiction over labor-management controversies, may be reached late Thursday, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), reported. Agreeing, Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), said that if the conferees find by Friday or Monday that they will be unable to agree on these points, he thought this would be reported to the Senate.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chief sponsor of the Senate bill, said more progress than he expected had been made toward reconciling the differences between the House and Senate bills. But he said he did not believe it would be possible to work out a compromise version before next week.

FTC Charges Standard Oil With Illegal Price Fixing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission Wednesday charged Standard Oil Co. of Indiana with illegal price fixing through coercion of some of the dealers who lease service stations from the company.

The FTC said the alleged practices are unfair methods of competition which "tend to create a monopoly and to restrain and eliminate competition unduly."

It gave the oil company, the nation's ninth largest industrial corporation, 30 days in which to answer to the complaint.

The agency said Standard of Indiana has more than 10,000 dealers to whom it leases or subleases service stations in its primary marketing area — 15 midwest and mountain states. Many of these operators are independent businessmen, or would be, the FTC said, "in the absence of the power and control exercised over them by the oil company."

The Government said the firm coerces its lessee-dealers by provisions in their leases and supply contracts and by constant inspection and surveillance of their business operations.

The FTC said that starting in December 1955, Standard of Indiana adopted with certain of its lessee dealers a "suggested competitive retail price" plan, covering gasoline sales to both the dealers and the public.

Under the plan, the FTC said, the company surveyed the local market and determined the price at which its gasoline would have to be sold to maintain sales volume in competition with unbranded and offbrand gasolines. After setting the price, the FTC said, the oil company allowed the dealers a percentage discount which, it said "in no event . . . equals the amount the dealer was receiving as his normal margin of profit."

A spokesman for the FTC said that in normal business practices the dealer would set a price that would meet the competition but would also allow him to determine his own margin of profit.

The FTC said the price fixing plan was put in operation in the following marketing areas: Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn.; Kansas City and St. Louis, Mo.; Evansville, Ind.; Eau Claire, La Crosse, Wausau, Racine, Fond Du Lac, Kenosha and Oshkosh, Wis.; Peoria, Decatur, Springfield, Danville, Champaign-Urbana, and Kankakee, Ill.; Sioux Falls and Huron, S.D.; Des Moines and Sioux City, Iowa; and Omaha, Neb.

Steven, Anne, and Zither: Harmony On A Honeymoon

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP) — Steven Rockefeller bought his Norwegian fiancée, Anne Marie Rasmussen, a wedding present Wednesday—a zither.

"She can play it," Rockefeller said proudly, "and we are going to take it with us on the honeymoon."

More wedding presents arrived late in the day, brought from the United States by four former college friends of Rockefeller, son of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. The four friends will act as ushers at the wedding next Saturday. They declined to say what the presents were.

Steven and Anne Marie drove into Kristiansand unannounced from her home at Sogne and went to a music store. The word quickly spread and a crowd gathered in front of the store. Some came into the shop. The street filled with spectators and police were called to clear the jam.

"Too much publicity," Anne Marie protested. The store was cleared and the doors locked while Rockefeller bought the zither, some sheet music, and a phonograph record for his bride-to-be.

Braves Dump Giants; Burdette Wins 17th

Milwaukee — Lew Burdette gained his 17th victory, tops in the majors, with a six-hitter Wednesday night that gave Milwaukee a 5-2 victory over San Francisco and moved the third place Braves within three games of the National League leading Giants.

Burdette, who has lost 12, now has a 15-2 record against the Giants over the past five years. The Giants, losing five of their last seven, retained their two-game hold on first place, however, since second place Los Angeles lost at Cincinnati.

Orlando Cepeda gave San Francisco both its runs by hitting his 24th home run in the second inning and his 25th homer in the ninth.

The Braves held hitless for the first three innings by Jack Sanford, tied the count in the fourth on a walk to Eddie Mathews, a 355-foot double by Hank Aaron and an infield out.

They went ahead in the fifth when Del Crandall lined his 15th homer into the left field bleachers. Milwaukee added two more runs in the seventh and Joe Adcock accounted for the final run in the eighth by blasting his 18th homer.

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Reds scored seven runs in the eighth inning Wednesday night, four of them before a man was retired, and whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers, 9-4 after a brilliant relief pitching stint by Orlando Pena.

Pena wasn't around when the Reds exploded — he had been lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh — but from the time he relieved starter Joe Nuxhall with one out in the second he pitched 5½ innings without allowing a hit. At one stretch he retired 15 men in a row and he struck out eight.

In the big eighth, pinch hitter Jerry Lynch singled the first two runs home after singles by Vada Pinson and Gus Bell and a walk to Frank Robinson had loaded the bases. Robinson beat Charley Neal's throw to the plate on Willie Jones' grounder and Ed Bailey singled Lynch home.

Clem Labine, the third Dodger pitcher of the inning, finally got two men out but yielded a single to Johnny Temple and a double by Pinson for three more runs.

Minors Demand Payments From Continental League

NEW YORK — Heads of the high minors served notice Wednesday on Branch Rickey and his embryonic Continental League to be ready to pay damages amounting to approximately $8,000,000 for invasion of their territories.

Ed Doherty, president of the American Association, which may lose six of its ten franchises to the newly organized would-be major circuit, said he already has demanded a million dollars indemnity for each of the cities taken.

Houston, Denver and the twin-cities of Minneapolis-St. Paul, all members of the A.A., are among the five founders of the Continental League. The new league also is eyeing the Dallas-Fort Worth area, Toronto of the International League and New York also are definitely in the new loop.

"If they (Continental League) think they can operate — and I wish them luck," said Doherty, "let them pay for the privilege. I've got to protect the people who have investments in my league."

Moore Stops Bassey In 11th To Keep Featherweight Title

LOS ANGELES — World featherweight champion Davey Moore retained his title Wednesday night when he stopped Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria in the 11th round of a scheduled 15-round fight.

Moore, 126, had the ex-champion in bad shape at the close of the 10th round and Bassey, 125, was unable to come out for the 11th.

It goes into the record as an 11th-round knockout because the bell had sounded before the fight was stopped.

Moore, of Springfield, Ohio, dethroned Bassey for the title when he stopped him in 13 rounds in this same Olympic Auditorium last March.

Bassey's right eye was badly swollen and bruised from the machine-gun-fire left hooks and jabs. The ex-champion also suffered a cut at the corner of the left eyebrow in the second round. It bled but did not hamper his efforts too much.

The 25-year-old Yankee went all out in the 10th to score a clean knockout.

Bassey opened the round with a swinging right, but in a movement Dave looped a right to the head that spun Bassey around. Bassey's glove touched the mat, but he did not appear in too much distress at this stage.

Moore rocked Hogan with stunning lefts and rights and had Bassey hanging on in a neutral corner.

Bassey retreated to his own corner, with Davey continuing his relentless head attack when the bell sounded.

There were some boos from the crowd of about 8,000 when Bassey apparently on the advice of his English manager, George Biddies, refused to resume the bout.

In the original fight five months ago, Bassey similarly was held back because of severe cuts over both eyes.

In each fight, Moore was comfortably ahead on points. But in contrast to the first fight, it was a confident Moore who took charge at the outset this time. Primarily a counter-puncher, Davey outboxed and out-punched his 27-year-old opponent in the opening rounds.

The victory was the 15th straight for Moore in this nationally televised bout.

Laver-Mark Duo Rallies Late To Stop Mulloy-Frost Effort

BROOKLINE, Mass. — Aggressive Gardner Mulloy and his young partner, Jack Frost, forced a pair of Australian Davis Cuppers to five sets Wednesday by droling a tie-breaking run and hurled a four-hitter Wednesday night that dethroned the Boston Red Sox 6-3.

The ace Athletic left-hander lined a single off relief pitcher Leo Kiley in the seventh inning, scoring Kent Hadley and breaking a 2-2 tie. The blow aided Daley to his 15th victory — more than any Kansas City pitcher has ever won in a season. He has lost seven games.

The hit also boosted Daley's runs batted in to 12 on only 20 hits and gave him a batting average of .313.

Starter Frank Sullivan, had held the Athletics hitless and was riding a 2-0 lead through the fifth inning.

Cards 8-2, Pirates 6-4
PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 4-2 Wednesday night behind the seven-hit pitching of Vernon Law after dropping the playoff of a suspended game to the Cards 8-6 before the regulation contest.

The Cards tapped him for one run in the first when Don Blasingame doubled, advanced to second on Curt Flood's infield hit and scored on a fielder's choice.

The other Card run came in the third when Ken Boyer hit his 23rd home run of the season over the left field wall.

In the playoff game, suspended from July 12 because of Pennsylvania's Sunday curfew law, the Pirates had a 5-4 lead with St. Louis batting in the ninth, a runner on first and one out.

Wally Shannon singled off Elroy Face and Flood followed with a two-run triple that gave the Cards a 6-5 lead. The Pirates knotted the score at 6-6 in the ninth on an error by Blasingame, a sacrifice and a single by Don Hoak.

But the Cards bounced back in the 10th and got two game-winning markers on four consecutive singles off pitcher Bob Porterfield, who was charged with the loss.

Moore To Guarantee Ingo $1 Million For Title Bout

NEW YORK — As Ingemar Johansson was expressing surprise at the news Jack Dempsey had joined Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc. and also reiterating his statement his title fight contract was with Bill Rosensohn "personally," two new figures popped into the heavyweight picture Wednesday.

Jack (Doc) Kearns said he and his light heavyweight champion, Archie Moore, would leave in about a week for Stockholm and personally present their million dollar offer to Johansson for a fight with Moore.

"We're going to London to see Jack Solomons (British fight promoter) and then to Stockholm to see Johansson and Eddie Ahlquist (the champion's advisor)," Kearns said.

"That million is Johansson's end for a fight with Archie. He can take it in dollars or kronors. We're prepared to put the dough right into a Swedish bank or anywhere he wants. I still say this fight can draw between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 with the gate, theatre and arena TV and movies thrown in."

Meanwhile, Johansson, who completed an exhibition tour in Copenhagen Tuesday, expressed surprise at Dempsey's appointment and said he could not "judge the merits of the case as far as a return bout is concerned until I have studied all details in this connection."

It was at a press conference Tuesday that the champion said his contract for a return bout with Floyd Patterson was with Rosensohn personally, and not with Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc. Rosensohn, who promoted the first fight, no longer is with the corporation. Johansson knocked out Patterson in the third round of their first meeting.

He also said the date of Sept. 22 was "out of the question" for the return match because he had not received his share of the gate and other earnings from the first fight.

Pro Coaches Worry About Chamberlain

MONTICELLO, N.Y. — The basketball pros are crying over Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain alreadly.

Red Auerbach, coach of the Boston Celtics, and Fuzzy Levane, New York Knicks' coach, saw a preview of Chamberlain Tuesday night. They didn't like what they saw.

Chamberlain, the $30,000 a year plus rookie of the Philadelphia Warriors, played at a mountain resort with some of the top players in the NBA in a benefit game for Maurice Stokes, disabled by a rare sickness. Wilt scored 20 points and blocked more than a dozen shots by the opposition.

"We're going to have to stop him from goal tending," said Levane after watching the 7 foot, 1 inch Chamberlain bat back field goal attempts as if he was playing table tennis.

"I think there'll be a lot of argument over him," the New York coach asserted. "He cannot stop the ball coming down into the basket. That's a rule."

Auerbach, who has a giant of his own in 6-10 Bill Russell, commented:

"That's the biggest character I've ever seen. He's going to drive coaches to the nutthouse."

"He'll revolutionize the game," added Levane.

PETTIT, HAGAN SIGN
ST. LOUIS — Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan, one of pro basketball's best players, signed their contracts Wednesday with the St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Assn. Last season they set a new two-man scoring mark of 3,812 points for the NBA. This broke by 420 points a 1957 record of Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston of the Philadelphia Warriors.
