What Heat Wave?

AS IOWAN CITIZENS sweltered through another day of heat and high humidity, 18-month-old Robert Kistler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kistler, 308 Stadium Park, expressed his disapproval of the weatherman's prediction of still another day of soaring temperatures. He did cool off a bit Thursday, however, by bathing in the kiddies' pool at City Park. His father, Karl, is a senior in physical education from Fort Madison.—Daily Iowan Photo by Jerry Smith.

Union Boss Threatens Political Reprisal For Recent House Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—AFL-CIO Vice President James B. Carey threatened punishment at the polls Thursday for House members he accused of joining in a vindictive assault on the labor movement.

Carey flung his threat in blistering letters sent to 229 representatives — both Republicans and Democrats — who on a key vote last week supported a strict labor control endorsed by President Eisenhower.

House Votes Surplus Food Disposal Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House voted Thursday to dispose of $2,800,000,000 worth of government-owned food surpluses through sales and donations abroad and a food-stamp plan for needy Americans.

It passed and sent to the senate a bill extending until Dec. 31, 1960, a 1954 law allowing the Department of Agriculture to sell surpluses to friendly nations for foreign currencies and to donate a smaller amount to famine-stricken or otherwise needy countries.

Both those provisions had been requested by the President.

But, over administration opposition, the House added another provision permitting distribution of surpluses to needy Americans under a food-stamp plan administered by the Department of Agriculture. The provision authorizes, but does not direct, the administration to start the stamp plan.

The House refused to write into the bill a provision which would have had the effect of restricting shipments of surplus grains abroad from Great Lakes ports. The measure, due for early Senate consideration, authorizes the sale of $1½ billion worth of surpluses for foreign money, the donation of another $300 million worth to impoverished foreign areas and the use of $1 billion worth for the domestic food stamp program.

In addition, the Agriculture Department would be authorized to swap an undesignated amount of food to foreign countries for materials needed by the United States for strategic stockpile purposes.

Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan (D-Mo.), sponsored the amendment adding the stamp plan to the bill. It was approved by a roll-call vote of 232-127, with Republicans furnishing most of the opposition.

2nd Attempt To Recover Discoverer Capsule Fails

Study Group Asks Greater Arms Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's special committee on arms aid called anew Thursday for a big stepup in appropriations to equip America's allies with modern weapons.

The final report by a 10-man group of prominent citizens headed by investment banker William H. Draper Jr., ran counter to congressional foreign aid cuts and administration desires to hold down spending.

But Eisenhower, sending the unanimous report on to Congress with praise for its invaluable guide lines, agreed that funds authorized for military assistance this year are at what he calls a "dangerously low level."

Congressional informants said the administration has indicated it will seek a supplemental aid appropriation in January. Eisenhower said a variety of other Draper recommendations for strengthening the program will be studied by the administration before it decides what to do about them.

Eisenhower asked Congress for $1,600,000,000 in military aid this year. The legislators are in the process of chopping this down by 200 or 300 million dollars.

The Senate Appropriations Committee, at a hearing Thursday on the foreign aid program, heard it attacked as unconstitutional and contrary to the wishes of the great majority of Americans.

The criticism came from Clarence Manion of South Bend, Ind., former dean of the Notre Dame law school, and Walter Harnischfeger of Milwaukee, chairman of the Citizens Foreign Aid Committee.

Manion, who is counsel for the citizens committee, contended that an antiforeign aid candidate for president next year would sweep the country.

He and Harnischfeger testified against Eisenhower's over-all foreign aid program of 3½ billion dollars, which includes economic as well as arms aid.

The Draper committee set two billion dollars as the least needed for arms aid alone to keep the free world strong.

WARREN IN GERMANY

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren called on West Germany's President Theodor Heuss Thursday.

Warren and his wife flew here from Berlin. Warren is touring West Germany as a guest of the government.

Economy Liners: $50 Transatlantic Passenger Fares

NEW YORK (AP)—An American hotel operator signed contracts Thursday with a West German shipyard for the construction of two 90,000-ton transatlantic ocean liners, each capable of carrying 6,000 passengers to Europe at $50 per ticket.

They are planned to be the biggest passenger ships afloat.

H. B. Cantor, millionaire hotel operator and president of Sea Coach Transatlantic Lines, Inc., said the first of the two ships is to be delivered 36 months from now. The second ship is to be delivered one year later.

Cantor said he is already being besieged by requests for tickets, but that bookings will not be accepted until the keels of the mammoth vessels are laid.

The $50 rate is for one-way passage, either east or west, between New York and Europe.

The Sea Coach liners will be larger even than Britain's mighty queens of the ocean, the Queen Elizabeth and the Queen Mary — and nearly twice the size of America's biggest ocean liner, the United States.

JETS TO YUGOSLAVIA

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Seventy-eight U.S. Sabre Jets are ready to be transported to Yugoslavia, partly by rail and partly by air, a spokesman for the Yugoslav Embassy said Thursday. Yugoslavia bought the planes.

Meany Nixes Nikita Address

FOREST PARK, Pa. (AP)—George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said Thursday he would reject out of hand any proposal, even from the State Department, that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev be invited to address the AFL-CIO's coming convention in San Francisco.

It has been reported the State Department would be happy to see Khrushchev appear at the AFL-CIO meeting in mid-September when the Soviet boss visits the United States, so he could witness freedom enjoyed by American labor.

Meany said this will not bar individual AFL-CIO leaders from meeting with Khrushchev if they so desire.

At least two AFL-CIO vice presidents, Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers and James B. Carey of the International Electrical Workers, made clear they intend to confer if possible with the Soviet leader.

Meany said there are two schools of thought among union leaders. He said the majority shares his view that Khrushchev is a dictator who imposes slave labor conditions in the Soviet orbit and whom free American labor should boycott.

104 Pages For Iowan Tomorrow

Russia, Norway, Formosa, India — these are only four of the 14 countries where The Daily Iowan's University Edition will be sent Saturday.

The 104-page paper, largest edition of a college newspaper in the country, will be sent to 4,750 prospective students, high schools, libraries, and daily newspapers in nearly every state in the union.

The edition is designed primarily for students who will be attending SUI this fall for the first time. Its 13 sections, weighing about a pound, will cover nearly every phase of life on the SUI campus.

Mary Janss, A4, Des Moines, editor of the edition, and her staff have attempted to answer new questions a new student might ask. Sections will cover such questions as: What about housing and finances? How do we operate? What clothes should I bring to college? And what is there to do during leisure hours? SUI sports will be covered in a section, and two sections will be devoted to various academic departments at SUI.

Such words as Blarney Stone, riverbanking, and comm skills, common to the SUI student, but perhaps strange to the outside world, will be defined in this edition. Departments from art to zoology will be described and discussed.

The edition will be mailed anywhere for 50 cents by placing orders at The Daily Iowan office, Communications Center. One SUI student has even ordered a copy for Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Copies of the edition will also be available Saturday on the newsstands or at the Communications Center.

Southern Laos Hit By Red Saboteurs

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Communist propaganda and sabotage teams were reported spreading through southern Laos Thursday and rebel units in the north appeared to be preparing for an all-out offensive.

Defense Secretary Col. Phoumi Nosavan said the rebels in the southern provinces were mostly political and sabotage teams sent to undermine the pro-Western government and spread propaganda.

Arrest Bishop For Criticizing Haitian Govt.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Authorities ordered the arrest Thursday of Msgr. Francois Poirer, the archbishop of Port au Prince. He is the highest Roman Catholic Church official in this predominantly Catholic country.

He was accused of criticizing public authorities.

Reports from Vatican City Wednesday night said Vatican circles were gravely disturbed over developments in Haiti.

The arrest order was the latest in a series of incidents involving government and church authorities of the Negro republic.

Earlier this week President Francois Duvalier decreed the expulsion of two priests. Tuesday night steel-helmeted police entered Port au Prince cathedral and scattered a group of persons believed to be silently protesting the expulsion order.

Dist. Atty. Max C. Duplessy issued the arrest order for Msgr. Poirer, a French national. A Justice Department spokesman said the action was taken because of a communique the archbishop published Wednesday in the Catholic daily La Phalange. It criticized the government for expelling two French priests, and said no reason was given and church authorities were not consulted.

Signals Not Received; No Visual Sighting

Chances Of Recovery Were 1 In 1,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—Another attempt to recover a capsule ejected from a satellite apparently failed Thursday.

The Defense Department announced that a capsule was ejected successfully from the orbiting Discoverer VI at 5:27 p.m. (EST) as planned but that no signals were received from the capsule after the ejection.

This was substantially what happened a week ago in a similar test.

The Pentagon issued a statement at about 6:45 p.m. on the attempt made Thursday as the satellite passed on its north-south course in the area of the Hawaiian Islands.

"The director of the Advanced Research Projects Agency announced that Discoverer VI satellite vehicle ejected its capsule at 5:27 p.m. as programmed," the statement said.

"Since ejection, no signals have been received from the capsule and the recovery team in the area has reported no visual sighting.

"Therefore it is unlikely that the capsule will be recovered, although the search will be continued for a number of hours."

The 300-pound capsule contained instruments but no living thing.

Earlier in the afternoon eight C119 Air Force transports took off from Hawaii and flew to a position at which it was hoped one of the planes could snag the parachute-equipped capsule as it descended toward the ocean.

The Flying Boxcars trailed special trapeze-like booms designed to catch the parachuting capsule.

Chances of a successful catch were rated at 1 in 1,000.

Surface ships also were deployed in the area, to be used in a recovery attempt if the airplanes missed.

The capsule was designed to float, and it contained a blinking light and radio transmitter to help the recovery team home in on it.

The Discoverer VI satellite was fired into orbit Wednesday from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. It is expected to continue circling the earth for at least a month.

On Aug. 13, the Air Force launched a Discoverer satellite and, like Thursday, reported that the capsule was ejected successfully. But again there was no radio signal from the capsule.

Hero's Burial Given Halsey At Arlington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fleet Adm. William F. Halsey was given a hero's burial in Arlington National Cemetery Thursday.

Old comrades from the Pacific campaigns of World War II, high government officials and hundreds of others attended the burial rites in Arlington after Episcopal funeral services at Washington Cathedral.

As the admiral's casket was carried up a winding drive in the cemetery by a horse-drawn gun caisson a flight of Navy jet fighters thundered above the funeral party in farewell salute to the man whose carrier planes beat the best Japanese sea and land-based aviation.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, former Navy secretary, was in the funeral party, together with Deputy Secretary of Defense Thomas Gates, also a former civilian head of the Navy.

At the graveside, too, was the last survivor of the group of four fleet admirals of five-star rank appointed during the war. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, the wartime Pacific commander in chief, white haired but trim and erect, was there to say goodbye to "Bull Halsey."

The 76-year-old Halsey was found dead Sunday morning at Fishers Island, N.Y., the victim of a heart attack.

Woman 'Sit-Downer' Blocks Pavement Project

Workers, a bit frustrated, went about their work in Cincinnati Thursday as Mrs. Hildred Borders, 45, sat nonchalantly right in the middle of a street paving project. She was protesting because she hadn't been paid for her land needed for the job. Paving equipment finally was moved around her, leaving a 15-foot stretch unpaved. But the contractor later obtained a restraining order to prevent Mrs. Borders from interfering. Mrs. Borders sat out in the street for several hours under a hot sun.—AP Wirephoto.

'Get Own House In Order,' Loveless Tells Employees

DES MOINES — State employees were urged by Gov. Herschel Loveless Thursday to "get our own house in order with respect to safety" and thus set an example for the rest of the state.

The governor's remarks opened a two-day conference of state employees called by Loveless to create a safety program and to give them training in safety methods.

"Hardly a week goes by that I don't get a letter from someone saying that a state car passed him on a hill, ran a stop light or was speeding," the governor commented.

He said 1,471 persons were killed in accidents of all kinds in Iowa last year, and damage losses amounted to millions of dollars.

He said every citizen of Iowa has a responsibility to cooperate in accident prevention, and he called upon state employees to "lead the way with a mighty, united effort in a dynamic program."

About 140 state employees and officials were at the opening session of the conference, but employees from departments headed by Republican officials were in the minority.

Deputy State Auditor E. J. Kallenyn attended, but the secretary of state's office, state Department of Agriculture, state treasurer's office and the attorney general's office were not represented.

Secretary of Agriculture Clyde Spry and Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst said they had designated employees to attend but the press of other business made it necessary for them to skip the opening session. Both said, however, they intended to cooperate with the program. Atty. Gen. Norman Erbe and State Treasurer M. L. Abrahamson were not available for comment.

State Safety Commissioner D. M. Statton told the conference the driver of a state car is a subject of special attention from the general public.

He warned the state employees they will not be exceptions from the new law permitting his department to cancel drivers' licenses for one serious violation.

Play Selections Announced By Theater Group

The Iowa City Community Theatre has announced the plays to be presented during the 1959-60 season.

The plays included are: "Come Back Little Sheba" by William Inge, Lenyth Brockett, director; "Janus" by Carolyn Green, a romantic comedy directed by Richard Merriott; and "The Diary of Anne Frank" by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett with Emma Sue Phelps as director.

Dates for the plays have not been definitely set.

Appointments to the production board were made Tuesday evening. Chairmen named will remain in charge of their respective committees for the entire season, but may appoint others to work under them according to the provisions of the new production committee organization adopted earlier this year.

Co-chairmen named for set construction were Mrs. Hood Gardner, 508 S. Summit St., and William Beasley, 506 Finkbine Park. Dr. Charles Thayer, 1305 Yewell St., was named chairman of the properties committee. Heading the lighting committee is Eugene Weiner, Coralville.

In charge of costumes is Doris Wood, Oakdale. Gilbert Barker, West Branch, was named makeup chairman. House chairman is Mrs. Junius Tate, 914 S. Dubuque St.

Leeta Berry, 627 Iowa Ave., is box office chairman, and Thomas Koehler Jr., 1505 Plum St., is head of the sound committee.

Foreign Students Stop Off On Way 'Home'

TWO GIRLS from Germany and a young man from Switzerland got together in the Iowa City bus depot Thursday to talk about their new home—the United States. The three came here with 36 other 16-year-olds from overseas on their way to various parts of the state. They are (from left) Sigrid Evers, Bremen, Germany, who is going to Charles City; Alain Golary, Lousanne, Switzerland, who is going to Decorah; and Karen Ohlsen, Freiburg, Germany, who is going to Cedar Rapids. These three are part of a program in which 1,500 high school students from foreign lands came to study in the United States. The students seemed unafraid of the camera as they continued talking and laughing while the photographer snapped their picture.—Daily Iowan Photo by Jerry Smith.

Dentistry Prof Will Represent SUI At Meeting

Dr. James E. McIver will represent the SUI College of Dentistry at the International Conference on Advanced Education for the Dentist to be held in Boston Sept. 3-10.

Sponsored by the School of Dental Medicine at Harvard and supported by a grant from Procter and Gamble, the conference will feature speakers from Sweden, Norway, Denmark, England, Germany and New Zealand.

Delegates from approximately 40 universities will meet to discuss education for specialization, education for research and alternate methods of education.

Panel discussions will provide an opportunity for an exchange of information on educational methods. Dr. McIver is an associate professor of orthodontics at SUI.

Antioch College Hires SUI Grad

An SUI graduate in dramatic arts has been named instructor in dramatics at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Whitney J. LeBlanc, who received his M.A. degree from SUI in August, 1958, will act as technical director and stage designer for the Antioch Area Theatre and will work with students interested in design.

LeBlanc is now technical director of summer theatre and instructor in stage craft at Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo. He has also worked as assistant technical director at Karamu House in Cleveland, Ohio, where he was a scholarship student.

Steve Says Dad Causes Publicity

KRISTIANSAND, Norway — Steven Rockefeller said Thursday the political prominence of his father, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, is the reason for the immense newspaper interest in his wedding Saturday to Anne Marie Rasmussen.

"It's obvious that if my father were not governor of New York and being considered as a possible presidential candidate, there wouldn't have been so much publicity," he told The Associated Press.

Gov. Rockefeller has been mentioned frequently as a possible rival to Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican nomination in 1960. He has not committed himself.

He is due in Norway Friday night with other members of the Rockefeller family to attend the wedding.

Some correspondents in Norway for the wedding, particularly non-American reporters, have been speculating on the political value to the governor of his son's marriage to a Norwegian girl who is the daughter of a retired fish exporter and grocer and who once worked as a maid in the Rockefeller home.

Iowa-Nebraska Guard Prepares To Break Camp

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn. — Men of the Iowa-Nebraska National Guard 134th infantry regiment were cleaning equipment Thursday, preparing for pay day and the break-up of the annual encampment.

The eventful period, first field trial under the pentomic organization plan, ended on soggy plains. Guardsmen in the field Wednesday night were drenched by a one-inch downpour, and straggled back to the headquarters area soaking wet after their night in the field.

One Iowa officer returned from the field to find that officers and men were preparing a citation for a possible soldiers' medal for him. He is Capt. Pierce D. Dusenberry, 33, commander of the Glenwood, Iowa, A. Company of the first battle group, 168th Infantry.

Capt. Dusenberry, a postal employee, was credited with saving the life of an unidentified Nebraska guardsman Sunday at "37 Acres," a lake used by the Iowa-Nebraska National Guard 134th Division for weekend recreation.

"I don't want a medal. I'd rather have some swimming lessons. I had a real tough time," he said. Witnesses said the near victim had jumped from a row boat into deep water, panicked and floundered. The captain jumped from a nearby boat after the guardsman went under once.

"He brushed aside a life preserver and grabbed me and we both went under," Dusenberry said. "I finally got him to the boat where he was OK after some rest. If I had been a better swimmer it would have been easier. There would have been nothing to it."

The closing hours of the camp were not without flashes of GI humor, as veterans preyed on the gullibility of rookies.

Maj. Gen. Warren Wood of Gering, Neb., division commander, was standing near the operations office of the division air field when

West Germans Plan Festivities For Ike's Visit

BONN, Germany — The word has gone out from Chancellor Konrad Adenauer: Lay it on for Ike.

And that means that President Eisenhower is going to get an especially warm welcome on his visit to West Germany next week.

They're letting the kids out of school. Factories and businesses are giving workers time off to join in the festivities.

Eisenhower is due here from Washington at 6:30 p.m. next Wednesday. He expects — if the proper kind of car can be found — to stand up in and wave and chat with the crowds.

He'll be traveling through some very narrow streets in and around this overgrown university town and that means the crowds frequently will be close enough for handshaking.

Chances are almost all of Bonn's 150,000 people will be out on the streets, along with thousands from nearby communities.

Eisenhower's visit here is bound to be a good deal different from his subsequent appearances in London and Paris. Those are big cities and can absorb easily the tumult.

And The Pilot Walked Away!

Wreckage of a crop-dusting plane lies scattered over a highway near Stockton, Calif., after pilot Allan Blewett flew through two trees, sheared off a power pole and crashed Thursday—and walked away unhurt. Blewett credits a crash helmet for his good fortune in escaping injury. He bought it Wednesday and wore it for the first time Thursday.—AP Wirephoto.

Midwest Wins House Fight On Surplus Food Shipping

WASHINGTON — Midwesterners won their fight in the House Thursday against a proposed restriction on use of Great Lakes ports for shipment abroad of surplus foods under the administration's "food for peace" program.

They defeated by a 142-134 standing vote an amendment by Rep. Eugene J. Keogh, (D-N.Y.), which would have required that surplus foods be delivered abroad in the ships into which they are originally loaded.

Members from the Great Lakes areas complained that the amendment would have blocked use of smaller ships which load grain for delivery to Montreal or other ports for transshipment aboard in oceangoing vessels.

Backers of the amendment contended it would have helped United States shipping because most of the grain carriers using the Great Lakes are foreign vessels.

It was offered to a bill to continue the 1954 program of selling, bartering and giving away to distressed areas surplus foods grown in the United States.

The Keogh amendment had been labeled as "a new war between the states" by Midwesterners headed by Rep. Sidney R. Yates (D-Ill.).

The House Wednesday turned down a proposal to add a stepped-up barter program to the administration's program for disposing of surplus farm commodities overseas.

The provision which would have boosted the barter program from the current rate of about 150 million dollars annually to 350 million, with barter transactions having first priority, was stricken on motion of Rep. Charles B. Haven, (R-Iowa). The Agriculture Department opposed the provision on the ground it would harm foreign relations and add to the burden of American taxpayers.

13 SUI Students Awarded I-Club Scholarships

Thirteen students at The State University of Iowa have been awarded I-Club Scholarships covering for the 1959-60 academic year, according to Helen Reich, chairman of the University Scholarship Committee.

Founded in 1937, the I-Club is an organization of alumni and friends of the University interested in promoting the welfare of SUI by providing funds for scholarships for worthy students who are outstanding in extracurricular activities.

These include athletes, since Big Ten athletic conference rules provide that funds may be received for grants to athletes. The principal source of such funds at SUI is the I-Club. Administered by the University Scholarship Committee, the awards are also available to students other than athletes.

Each scholarship applicant must be recommended by a high school superintendent or principal and by a business or professional man in his hometown. If the applicant is a first-year student, he must have graduated in the upper half of his class.

Students who will receive I-Club scholarships are: Scott Klepfer, Al Cedar Falls; Thomas Purcell, Al, Clarion; Charles Conway, A3, Elma; Paul Bonstead, A4, Esterville; Michael Carr, A2, Manchester; Gary Holstrom, A3, Stanhope; Allan Bachman, C4, Van Home; Kenneth Fearing, A2, Wapello; John Stoy, A4, Waterloo; Calvin Roulsen, E2, West Union; Robert Gregory, E2, Denver, Colo.; Harry Pilmore, A1, DeKalb, Ill.; Ronald Resch, A2, Independence, Mo.

Auto In Laundry Got No Service; It Was After Hours

Early Thursday morning the car of Claren F. Dale, 33, of 618 Court St., rather than backing into the street, paid a visit to the C. and D. Cleaners, 114 S. Capitol St. The only problem — it went through the front wall.

Dale was unhurt in the 12:14 a.m. accident and the car was only slightly damaged, but damage to the cleaning establishment was estimated at about $1,000.

The car struck squarely between two plate glass windows, taking out a brick pillar and the wall sections below the glass. When the car finally stopped, only the rear bumper was outside the shop.

From start to finish, the car traveled about 35 feet. Inside the building, it crashed through a counter and smashed a rack full of bundles of clean laundry, but it stopped short of another rack of cleaned and pressed garments.

Dale was charged with driving while intoxicated by the officers who investigated the incident. He waived preliminary hearing and was released under $500 bond.

LONDON — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arranged Thursday to take President Eisenhower to the movies on his visit here. An aide of Macmillan's sent out for a special copy of the new British picture called "I'm All Right, Jack"—a satire on union-management conflicts.

TV Courses To Be Offered For Credit

"Continental Classroom," inaugurated last year as the first nationwide television course for college credit, will again offer viewers throughout Iowa the chance to take a chemistry or physics course by television and receive college credit at SUI, Iowa State Teachers College or Iowa State University, Ames.

"Continental Classroom" during 1958-59 was carried by more than 150 TV stations and received many citations, including the Sylvania and Peabody Awards. Universities expressed their satisfaction that high school science teachers were being reached and that thereby the quality of physics instruction would be deepened and broadened for thousands of secondary school students, reported John L. Davies, director of the SUI extension class service.

"Atomic Age Physics" will be televised by NBC from 6 a.m. to 6:30 a.m. and "Modern Chemistry" will be broadcast from 6:30 a.m. to 7 a.m. Both classes begin Sept. 28 and programs are presented five days a week.

NBC stations telecasting the programs will be KMTV, Omaha; KTIV, Sioux City; KWLL, Waterloo; WHO, Des Moines; WOC, Davenport, and KQTV, Ft. Dodge.

Both courses will carry three semester hours of upper level and graduate credit. The courses offer opportunities for increasing professional knowledge and are designed for teachers, engineers and others who may profit by improving their background in physics or chemistry. Tuition fees will be $14 per semester-hour. Students may enroll in only one of the two courses offered.

The first-semester course in "Atomic Age Physics" will provide a basic review of college physics. The two semesters of chemistry to be offered will cover the content normally included in a full academic year. New methods, materials and techniques will be demonstrated.

For both courses, enrollees will follow lesson outlines and send in problem solutions once a week. Four seminar review sessions, followed by an examination, will be held each semester on selected Saturdays. Students may enroll at the institution of their choice but may attend seminars at the nearest school.

The physics text to be used is Semat, "Fundamentals of Physics," third edition, and the chemistry texts are Baxter and Steiner, "Modern Chemistry" and Baxter and Young, "A Study Guide for Modern Chemistry."

Physics professors working with the program in Iowa will be Edward R. Nelson, SUI; Harold Nigh, ISU, and R. A. Rogers, IASTC. Chemistry professors are Ronald T. Pfau, SUI, W. B. King, ISU, and J. W. Kercheval, IASTC.

A lesson synopsis is available to anyone who wishes to view the series and may be obtained for fifty cents by writing the Extension Class Service at SUI or writing to the registrars at either of the other Iowa participating institutions.

2 Local Youths Charged In Theft

Two Iowa City youths were charged with petty larceny after being arrested Thursday morning with a car full of safe drink cans and bottles.

Virgil Parker, 19, and Alfred Seering, 18, are charged with taking the cases from behind the Superior Oil Station at Highway 6 and First Avenue, Coralville.

Coralville police said the car contained 12 cases full of bottles, three empty cases and three bottles. Deposit-rate values on the items was set at $12.65.

The youths are being held in Johnson County Jail until their arraignment Friday night.

Steel Executive Tells Strikers Profits Desirable

NEW YORK — A top steel company executive Thursday appealed to the striking United Steelworkers Union to adopt a more cooperative attitude in support of the industry's gains.

J. L. Mauthe, board chairman of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., urged the union to recognize the desirability of the industry's financial strength, rather than attacking its record profits.

In a statement prepared for delivery on his company's weekly television program over station WKBN in Youngstown, Ohio, Mauthe agreed with the union that industry profits for the year's first half were the highest in history.

"We believe, however, that instead of continuing these attacks on the steel industry for earning these profits, the leaders of the union should join with management in recognizing the desirability and the absolute necessity for adequate profits," he added.

Mauthe, a member of Big Steel's coordinating committee, gave no indication that the 12 major steel firms affected by the five-week strike have modified their stand against any wage increase.

In Forrest Park, Pa., the AFL-CIO Executive Council adopted a resolution dedicating its 1959 Labor Day celebration Sept. 7 to sympathy and support for steel strikers.

The resolution said the strike "has been forced upon the steelworkers and the American people and its outcome will affect the lives of every American who works for wages or salary."

Grammer A Waist Of Time? Today's Students Think So!

"I hate English because I think it's a waist of time, I knew how to talk long before I went to school and if I wouldn't have the school wouldn't have taken me anyway."

The attitude is that of an Iowa high school senior writing on the topic "Why I Hate English." The occasion — an attempt by Virgil Dorweiler of Guttenberg, who received an M.A. degree at The State University of Iowa's August Commencement, to prove that writing skill is present in all students and that a prolonged writing program will do much to bring out this skill in students of all levels of intellectual capabilities.

Despite the fact that the attitude and writing problems reflected in the above comment were typical rather than unique, Dorweiler reached the conclusion that writing a theme a week for a single semester in high school results in definite writing progress for students of all ability groups — even though the students strongly resent the program.

The subjects studied were seniors at a small community school in northeast Iowa. Most of them evinced a strong dislike for English. Some felt it was of no value. "English is not for everybody. Just for the ones that want to teach and go on studying."

Others declared it "just natural" to hate English. "After all we aren't born with love for adjectives, adverbs, and the rest of the funny names they've decided to call every word we think of." One student declared, "English gets on my nerves and sometimes I pull every hair out of my head and probably the teachers too."

Another student explained, "I most likely have a disling for English is the simple fact that my mother is forever continuing to correct my grammer. Now this seems to come natural for her since she once was an English teacher. She say incorrect grammer is foul to her ear. But her correcting is disagreeable with my nerves. But I guess it is for my better living whether I like it or not."

The students were asked to write a 250 word theme each week and their first and last papers of the semester were rated by 10 English teachers from high schools throughout Iowa. The initial papers on "Why I Hate English" were much too short, contained too many simple sentences, were poorly paraphrased and many major grammatical rules were violated. The papers also contained many spelling and punctuation errors. Themes were generally without introductions or conclusions and organization and language were moderately poor, Dorweiler reported.

Each week Dorweiler graded the themes thoroughly and devoted a considerable amount of time writing constructive criticisms on each student's paper with the possible solution to the writing imperfection noted each time. When a student failed to respond to suggestions for improvement, private conferences were arranged.

The students resenting being compelled to write weekly themes — "The most I had ever wrote before was an average of two themes a semester and I thought this to be unethical." Nevertheless, the class made definite progress in terms of content, organizational ability, language and mechanics.

The final theme topic was "Why I Still Hate English." The students' attitude toward their subject had not changed much. One student declared that he had only THOUGHT he hated English at the beginning of the semester but now that he had written a theme a week he KNEW he really hated it.

Despite the complaints, the class as a whole did improve. The themes merited a low C at the start of the semester and at the end the grades rose to an average of C. The below-average students rose from an average grade of D minus to a rating of D. The average students rose from a C to a C plus, and the above-average students rose from a C to a B minus.

The greatest improvement was made by the above-average students, but the study does support Dorweiler's thesis; that writing skill is present in all students and that even the below-average student can benefit in a number of different areas through the repeated experience of writing.

Audio-Visual Talks Slated At Okoboji

Experts will travel thousands of miles to attend the fifth annual Audio-Visual Leadership Conference which will open at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Lakeside Laboratory on West Okoboji in northwest Iowa.

The specialists will come from 26 states, the District of Columbia, Canada and ten Western European countries to discuss "Research in the Audio-Visual, Television Field" in five days of workshop-type sessions.

Recommendations for action in problem areas will be adopted at the conference, according to Lee W. Cochran, executive assistant of the SUI Extension Division and chairman of the Iowa committee for the annual conferences.

Roy Hall, assistant commissioner of research for the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington, D.C., will speak to the group Saturday afternoon. He will discuss various phases of the new audio-visual research program, which was launched this year with funds appropriated by Congress under terms of the National Defense Education Act.

The Okoboji conference is sponsored by the SUI Extension Division and the Department of Audio-Visual Instruction of the National Education Association.

Haitian Troops Wipe Out Rebels

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti — Government troops have wiped out a rebel band that landed on the southwest tip of Haiti a week ago, reliable informants said Thursday.

The army would say only that the invaders were brought to battle and 12 of them were killed. The informants said 25 were killed and 16 either wounded or captured after army units flushed them from their hideouts in the mountains.

The nationality and identity of the invaders is uncertain. The army identified some of them as Cubans.

A Perennial September Query: Is Johnny Ready For School?

Hundreds of Iowa five-year-olds will be taking a big step during the next few weeks — that step being their first into kindergarten classrooms throughout the state.

Parents of many of these youngsters are asking themselves, "Is my child ready for school? What can we do in these last few weeks to get Johnny ready for kindergarten?"

A group of school teachers participating in a Drake University graduate class in child development this summer compiled a list of suggestions which may be of value to parents of about-to-be-kindergartners. This brief period of indoctrination before school begins often decides how well the child will adjust to school, whether he will be happy or unhappy, the teachers agreed.

The 27 school teachers working on master's degrees in education and their instructor, Hazel Weakly, professor of education, made the following suggestions:

1. Be sure your child knows his full name, address and telephone number. He should know the shortest route between home and school. Walk or drive with him over the route several days before school begins. This gives the five-year-old a feeling of security, the teachers said.
2. Be sure your child knows how to put on his coat, cap and shoes and is able to identify his articles. This "develops observation and self-reliance and overcomes frustrations."
3. Impress upon your child that teachers are his friends and are there to help him have a happy and worthwhile experience.
4. Impress upon him the need for being attentive and courteous. This means attentive and courteous "on their level and not on an adult standard."
5. Let your child know that the teacher leads the conversation and he is to follow as directed. Set a good language pattern at home and "this will facilitate the development of linguistic skills in the child."
6. See that your child plays with other children so that joining the class will not be a difficult experience.
7. See that he knows how to relax. It will help his "emotional adjustment" if he can find satisfying quiet moments.
8. Make sure he is healthy. Parents should take their child to a physician to be sure he is in

Portugal New Home For Batista

LISBON, Portugal — Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's ousted president, arrived Thursday en route to a new home in exile and put up at a swank hotel. He was guarded by swarms of police.

The chartered plane carrying the well-heeled ex-army sergeant and his party of 17 flew in from the Dominican Republic, where Batista has an uneasy exile since his fall last Jan. 1.

The dark, stocky little man who ruled Cuba with an iron hand is expected to spend a few days in Lisbon before proceeding to his new home in exile in the Madeira Islands of Portugal.

While Portugal welcomed Batista, it is understood he has been warned to stay out of politics.

The 57-year-old Batista, who dominated Cuban politics for nearly 25 years, left Ciudad Trujillo Wednesday night, shortly after Washington ended his hopes of going to the United States.

In Washington, diplomatic sources reported that the Portuguese exile was arranged at the request of the United States, via Brazil. However, the U.S. State Department disclaimed having anything to do with the arrangements. The Brazil Embassy in Washington said it had not been approached by the State Department.

Jones Bests Spahn As Giants Win, 5-3

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The San Francisco Giants jumped on an old nemesis, southpaw Warren Spahn, to defeat the Milwaukee Braves 5-3 Thursday night on the clutch pitching of right-hander Sam Jones.

The victory enabled the first-place Giants to retain their two-game lead over runner-up Los Angeles while dropping the Braves four games off the pace.

The Giants clubbed Spahn for 15 hits in defeating the veteran left-hander for the first time in five meetings this season.

Jones scattered 11 hits in earning his 16th triumph against 11 setbacks. He has a 5-2 record against the Braves.

The Braves picked up an unearned run in the first on an error, a stolen base, an infield hit by Hank Aaron and a double by Frank Torre. Then scored another run in the seventh and got their final run in the ninth on singles by Johnny Logan, Bobby Avila and Eddie Mathews.

San Francisco, held scoreless for four innings, managed to break through Spahn for a pair of runs in the fifth as Eddie Bressoud doubled and Jackie Brandt, Willie Mays and Willie McCovey hit successive singles.

The Giants scored their third run in the sixth and capped their scoring in the ninth when, with two out, Mays collected his third single and McCovey followed with his seventh homer.

Phils 8-4, Cubs 5-6

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia catcher Carl Sawatski's home run, double and two RBI's helped Reuben Gomez to an 8-5 victory over Chicago Thursday night for his first win since May 21.

But loose pitching by Taylor Phillips allowed the Cubs to mount a three-run rally that gave them a 6-4 victory in the second game of the two-night doubleheader.

Gomez, whose only other victory this year was a 3-0 shutout over the Cubs, allowed 11 hits, including three apiece by Tony Taylor and George Altman.

But Sawatski's two-run double in the fourth and two-run homer in the eighth, plus Wally Post's two-run homer in the seventh kept up the margin Gomez needed to win. Gomez has lost eight.

Post also had two hits in the second game, including a two-run single in the first. Chicago's Art Schult had three hits in the second; one a fifth-inning homer, another, a run-scoring single in the seventh.

Dodgers 8, Reds 5

CINCINNATI (AP) — Catcher Ed Bailey let a side-retiring third strike get away from him in the fifth inning Thursday night and the Los Angeles Dodgers went on from there to score seven unearned runs and defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 8-5.

Until that "four-out" inning, the Reds' starter, Bob Purkey, had allowed the Dodgers only two hits and had a slim 1-0 lead.

He got John Roseboro and Don Zimmer out easily in the fifth. Then he slipped a third strike past Dodger pitcher Danny McDevitt who reached first safely.

Then Jim Gilliam singled and Charley Neal doubled for two runs. Wally Moon walked and Norm Larker hit a three-run homer, Chuck Essegian doubled and Ron Fairly singled for another run. Willard Schmidt relieved the hapless Purkey and gave up a run-scoring double to John Roseboro before getting Zimmer out. ## Pirates 3, Cards 1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Right-hander Bob Friend struck out 11 batters and gave up 9 hits Thursday in leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Friend turned in a sparkling performance, giving up only one base on balls and running into serious trouble only in the sixth inning. It was Friend's 101st major league victory and the sixth this season. He has 15 defeats.

Friend's strikeout total was his highest of the season and came within one of the club record of 12 strikeouts in one game set by Babe Adams in 1909.

The Pirates exploded for what proved to be the winning runs in the fifth inning off Cardinal starter Ernie Broglio.

Bob Skinner started the barrage

Indians 6, Senators 1

CLEVELAND (AP)—Woodie Held's two-run homer was the deciding blow Thursday in Cleveland's 6-1 victory over the Washington Senators, as Jim Grant held the visitors to three hits.

Held's 22nd round trip blow of the season went over the right field fence to break a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning. He drove in George Strickland, whose bunt had forced Jim Baxes. Baxes was on base with a single.

Catcher Ed Fitzgerald's first homer of the season opened the lower half of the third inning, the ball sailing over the left field fence.

Washington pulled into a tie in the sixth, on Billy Consolo's walk, a sacrifice by Pedro Ramos and a double by Bob Allison.

Dick Hyde relieved Ramos in the eighth, and the Indians scored three runs on singles by Vic Power, Minnie Minozo, and Tito Francona, plus a foul by Rocky Colavito.

Orioles 7, ChiSox 6
CHICAGO (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles started fast with three runs in the first Thursday, then staved off a late White Sox rally to down the league-leaders 7-6.

Young Barry Latman was the victim of the Orioles' quick start and they continued their attack to roll up 13 hits off seven Sox pitchers. Bill Klaus showed the way with four hits. Hoyt Wilhelm pitched the first six innings for Baltimore and retired with a 5-4 lead. Billy Loes protected Wilhelm's victory in relief.

Klaus opened the Baltimore offense with a single to right. Al Pilarcik then singled. Bob Nieman fanned but Gene Woodling doubled off the right field wall to score Klaus. Pilarcik tallied on Bob Boyd's sacrifice fly and Woodling came home when Billy Goodman booted Chico Carrasquel's ground-er.

When Woodling doubled to start the third, Latman was excused and Rodolfo Arias took over the Sox pitching. A single by Carrasquel scored Woodling.

The Sox got to Wilhelm for a pair of runs in the fourth. Ray Moore's wildness gave the Orioles a run in the fifth which the Sox matched on Earl Torgeson's single and Goodman's double. The Sox picked up another in the sixth.

Jim Bunning benefited from the lusty support and pitched a five-hitter for his 12th victory and his first over the Yankees this season.

Bolling hit his 9th and 10th home runs and added a single in five trips. Harris, who has been in a season-long slump, connected for

Basilio, Fullmer Talking Nice Now—But Just Wait!

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer may and probably will wind up in a Pier Six brawl come their Aug. 28 NBA middleweight title fight, but right now they're throwing nothing but sweet words at each other.

"I like Basilio a lot personally," Fullmer said Thursday, "and I think he feels the same toward me."

While not quite as enthusiastic, Basilio concedes his worthy opponent really is a worthy opponent and undoubtedly will put up a good scrap.

The two have much in common. They're both family men, raised on farms. In fact, they're still farmers, in a sense. Basilio grows onions in Chittenango, N.Y. Fullmer has a mink farm in West Jordan, Utah.

They both raise dogs as a hobby.

"I was surprised when Carmen told me he owned a Wiemarner, a German short-haired breed," Fullmer said. "We've compared notes on what wonderful hunting dogs they make and how they are gentle as lambs with children."

They are both aggressive in the ring, toe-to-toe types who rarely clinch.

They both limit their bad mouthing to Sugar Ray Robinson, whom both accuse of lousing up the middleweight title picture. Each won and lost to Robinson.

The National Boxing Association sanctioned the Fullmer-Basilio fight after stripping Robinson of the world title because of lack of activity. He hasn't fought since beating Basilio March 25, 1958.

The NBA terms call for the winner of the nationally televised Basilio-Fullmer fight to take on the No. 1 challenger within 90 days.

Mexican Team Nearly Upsets MacKay Duo

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Barry MacKay and Ens. Myron Franks needed nearly four hours of desperate battle against the tenacious Palafox cousins from Mexico City Thursday to survive the men's quarter-finals at the U. S. National Doubles Tennis Tournament.

MacKay and Franks won 4-6, 9-7, 6-2, 10-12, 17-15.

Australian Davis Cupper Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson, Wimbledon titlists and pre-tourney favorites at Longwood, moved almost effortlessly into the semi-finals with a 6-3, 7-5, 7-5 verdict over Crawford Henry and Donald Dell.

MacKay, teamed with Franks as the No. 2 seeded domestic entry, looked like anything but a Davis Cup challenge match defender on this humid afternoon.

Antonio Palafox and his cousin Gustavo displayed superb teamwork and moments of agile retrieving with which the Americans could not cope.

MacKay and Franks simply wore down the Mexicans.

Under the staggered men's schedule, two men's quarter-finals will be played Friday.

Rosensohn Back In U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Rosensohn returned from Europe Thursday to face questioning from three sides on activities surrounding the promotion of the Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson heavyweight championship fight last June 26.

Rosensohn, who, as president of Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc., promoted the affair, cut short his vacation at Cannes, France, at the request of Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan.

The district attorney's office planned to question Rosensohn Thursday and have him appear before the grand jury Friday. A spokesman for the attorney general's office said the promoter was not required to appear there until after completion of the grand jury testimony.

Rosensohn, whose split with Vincent Velella, his partner in Rosensohn Enterprises, precipitated the probes, appeared unflustered.

"I'm hoping to clear my name and my reputation," he said.

Rule Qualifies In Memphis Meet

MEMPHIS (AP) — Jack Rule of Waterloo, Iowa shot a 1-under-par 139 to tie for third place in the qualifying round of the Colonial Invitational Golf tournament Thursday. The SUI golfer was 5 strokes behind medalist Dale Morey of Indianapolis, Ind.

Jimmy Wittenberg of Memphis pulled in second with a 138. Tied with Rule was Sam Carmichael of Martinsville, Ind.

Match play begins today with 32 in the championship fight.

It took the combined relief pitching talents of Mike Fornieles and Tom Brewer to starve off the A's in the eighth and ninth innings.

Fornieles gave up Cervy's third home run in the eighth but he managed to get out with Boston still ahead at 11-10. But when Frank House opened the last of the ninth with a double, Brewer came in to choke off the budding rally. He grabbed Wayne Terwilliger's bunt and threw House out at third and struck out Hal Smith. Then after giving up a single to Bill Tuttle, he struck out Russ Snyder to end the game.

Cervy drove in six runs with his three homers. There were two five-run innings, one for Boston and one for the A's. Eleven pitchers were put on parade, six for Boston. There were 28 hits, 12 bases on balls, three wild pitches, a passed ball and a balk.

The victory went to Earl Wilson, the third Boston pitcher, who also drove in three runs with a double and single.

The loser was Tom Sturdivant, who took the brunt of a five-hit, five-run Boston attack in the seventh inning.
