Housing Bill Passes As House Dares Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House sent President Eisenhower a $1.05 billion housing bill Thursday and virtually dared him to veto it.

In the face of clear evidence that Eisenhower finds much of the measure objectionable in principle, the House voted 283-105 to pass the bill.

If the same proportion prevailed on a vote to override a veto, there would be no trouble in passing the bill over Eisenhower's disapproval.

The Senate vote on passage, on Aug. 19, was likewise overwhelming — 71-24.

It takes two-thirds majority of those voting to override a veto—something Congress has never done to Eisenhower.

Some House Republicans contended in debate that a veto was probable, if not almost certain. They said the bill contained much of the same items, if on a small scale, that were in the $1.4 billion housing bill Eisenhower turned down last month as extravagant and inflationary.

But Democrats contended this was a sound bill, not unduly expensive, and one that Eisenhower could veto only to the detriment of fellow Americans who need better homes.

On final passage, 54 Republicans and 229 Democrats voted for the bill. Against it were 76 Republicans and 29 Democrats.

The coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats, effective on other legislation this session, failed to jell Thursday. Republicans pulled away from their leaders in a drive in unusual degree, while the Southerners mostly stuck fast with the Democratic leaders.

Urban renewal, or slum clearance—$650 million in grants, available at once. The Administration asked $300 million for each of the next two years.

Public housing — 37,000 new units. The Administration opposed any new ones.

College dormitories — $250 million in loans. The Administration asked $200 million.

College classrooms — $50 million in loans. The Administration opposed any.

Housing for the elderly — $50 million in direct loans. The Administration wanted none.

West Possesses Military Might, Will To Resist Reds Says Dillon

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon said Thursday the free world has both the military might and the will to meet the threat of Communist arms.

For this reason, Dillon said "frustrated" Reds are turning more and more to nonmilitary methods of penetration aimed especially at underdeveloped countries.

The second-ranking State Department official spoke in an address prepared for the American Bar Assn. convention.

Dillon endorsed the convention's emphasis on strengthening international law, and indicated the government would help pay the cost of a proposed world conference of lawyers.

"There is a pressing need to promote a better respect for the rule of law in international relations," he said. "I hope and trust that the proposed world conference will make real progress toward that goal."

As for the Communist threat, Dillon said: "We and our allies have both the military might and the determination to meet the threat posed by military power in the hands of communism's leaders."

"Frustrated by our strength and firmness of purpose, the Communists are turning more and more to economic, political and psychological penetration of the underdeveloped areas in order to achieve their goal of world domination."

Dillon, who specializes in international economic affairs, pictured U.S. economic policy — including government aid and fostering private investment — as a well-rounded program to help the backward nations which are targets of the Soviet drive.

Probe Begins In Woman's Wierd Death

COACHELLA, Calif. (AP) — Authorities seek three men for questioning about the mysterious death of a woman killed by a truck as she stood on a desert highway.

Jean Elizabeth Wood, 26, was seen leaving a hotel bar in nearby Indio at 2 a.m. Wednesday with the three.

Hours later she was killed on U.S. 99 near the Imperial County line, 20 miles south of Indio and Coachella.

James Frye, 25 of South Torrance, Calif., said he almost hit her with his car as she stood in the roadway, clad in a black party that the girl made no attempt to get out of the way of the approaching truck.

Authorities pieced together this account of the woman's past:

She came to a hotel in Riverside, 75 miles northwest of here, June 24, and found work as a cocktail waitress.

Tuesday night she got a ride from Riverside to Indio with a sergeant from March Air Force Base, Riverside, who left her in Indio at 9 a.m.

Early Wednesday, the hotel owner saw her leave the bar with three "athletic-looking young men" he believed were from this area. He remembered the girl's black dress and that she was "very pretty — a very attractive girl."

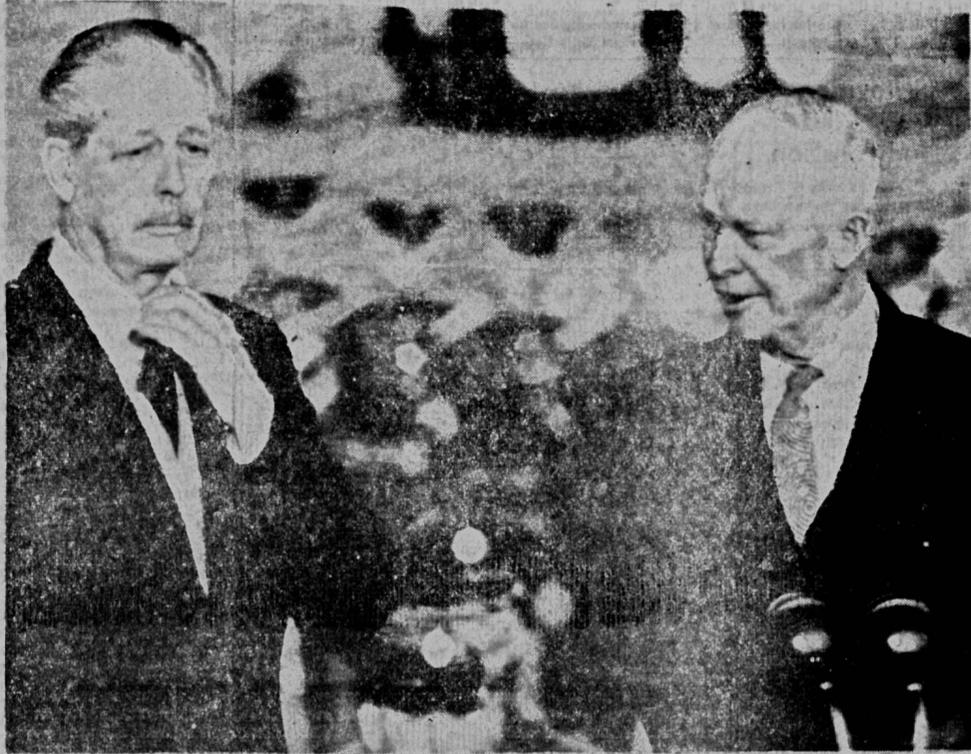

Frye said that when he saw her in the road later Wednesday morning there were no other cars around. There are no homes within miles.

In Spokane, Wash., the woman's mother, Vera Harty, said that her daughter had been married three times and was the mother of two children. Mrs. Harty said she was caring for the children.

GHANA'S ORDERS DOUBLE

Lanes, Byways Filled As London Greet's Ike

President Eisenhower Arrives In London

Lorries, Trams Delay Caravan

LONDON (AP) — Half a million Londoners gave President Eisenhower a stirring welcome Thursday night as he arrived from West Germany to fortify the British-American alliance before September's Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks.

The greeting was unexpectedly warm and expansive for the late evening hour the President arrived, and threw askew the advance schedule of his ride from London Airport to his night's lodging, the U.S. Embassy residence. He arrived here 31 minutes late with his car crawling at times through crowds packed 20 deep along the sidewalks.

It was the second day in a row that the President had tasted the warmth of European regard for him. Wednesday, 300,000 had greeted him in Bonn and vicinity.

He left Bonn Thursday after 5½ hours of talks with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in which he reiterated the U.S. pledge to "protect the freedom and welfare of the people of Berlin."

"I believe that we have achieved much," he told Adenauer in a message radioed from his plane.

Now Eisenhower is to have six days of talks with the leaders of Britain — "This land I have learned so much to love."

The World War II chief turned statesman got a rousing reception from a London airport crowd police estimated at 5,000.

"Good old Ike — great to see you," spectators yelled.

Eisenhower grinned broadly.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan welcomed Eisenhower in sunny, moderately warm weather when his orange-nosed jet landed after the 85-minute flight from Bonn.

Macmillan remarked that the problems which face the Allies are difficult. Eisenhower expressed hope that their talks will further the cause of world peace.

"You are a president whose name was a household word to all of us before your election to high office," Macmillan said.

"We have equal confidence that as leader of a great sister democracy you will carry through your task with the same courage and same success as when you were the general leading the Allied forces in World War II."

Eisenhower, speaking without any reference to notes, said he appreciated the kind words.

"I must say my deepest reaction and sentiment at this moment is that of extraordinary pleasure, true enjoyment to be back here again in this land I have learned so much to love. Here are some of my warmest and best friends," he said.

Amid cheers and shouts of "Good old Ike," he drove off with Macmillan in an open car to Winfield House, the London home of U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney, to spend the night. The President, laughing and smiling, stood and waved his hat. The route for the 16-mile drive had been published in advance and cheering thousands lined the way.

Others saw the airport ceremony on television. It was telecast by British networks and hooked into the Associated Continental Network known as Eurovision.

There was a deft touch to the car the British supplied for the journey to Whitney's home. The dove gray car bore the special license plate "U.S.A. 1."

Sixteen motorcycle policemen wearing black crash helmets formed a tight "V" in front of the car.

Dense crowds and heavy traffic delayed the trip. Hundreds gathered at vantage points such as Hammersmith and Grosvenor Square.

Eisenhower is spending six days in Britain. He leaves Wednesday to see President Charles de Gaulle in Paris. That will wind up this prelude to the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to Washington.

He is scheduled to meet Friday with both Macmillan and the Queen.

New Tremors In Mexico Add To Soaring Toll

year in this country, but estimates ranged from 10 to 48. Officials said 14 deaths had been confirmed in Veracruz state.

A statement from the president's office later said two more deaths had been confirmed in Chinameca for a total of 16.

The statement said the quake had caused serious damage "but it was not of such magnitude that it cannot be quickly repaired by the Federal Government without private help."

Many communications lines still were knocked out.

The port of Coatzacoalcos and its surrounding area, hit hard Wednesday, felt another light shock before dawn Thursday. A few already damaged houses collapsed.

Although the severe quake was felt in six states, most of the heavy damage was reported in the southern portion of the state of Veracruz.

Resto Rivas, secretary to the governor of Veracruz state, announced 14 deaths had been confirmed there, 12 of them in Jaltipan and 2 in Minatitlan. Earlier advice said 60 persons had been injured seriously in the state.

One unconfirmed report by telephone from the chief of police of the city of Veracruz quoted him as saying 48 persons had been killed in the city and 134 others hospitalized.

Officials in Jaltipan, 30 miles inland from Coatzacoalcos, had said earlier it was believed seven persons were killed there. They said 80 per cent of the buildings in the town were destroyed or damaged badly.

Bernstein Picks Ives Encore; Reds Object

MOSCOW (AP) — That idyllic affinity between Leonard Bernstein and Soviet music lovers got a rude jolt Thursday from the official organ of the Ministry of Culture. Bernstein cracked back that the organ was lying about his intentions.

The dispute was the first cloud in the sunny rapport between Bernstein and the Soviet public and critics in the Philharmonic's opening five-night stand in the Soviet Union.

The paper, Soviet Culture, accused the New York Philharmonic conductor of encoring a number of the audience didn't want encored.

It said there was only moderate applause for "The Unwritten Question," a work by the late Pulitzer Prize-winning Connecticut composer, Charles Ives, and that Bernstein repeated it anyway.

At a U.S. Embassy reception in his honor Bernstein told reporters he had been surprised when the audience demanded a repetition of the unfamiliar and difficult Ives work. When finally convinced, he said, he yielded to the audience wishes and played it again.

Of the Soviet Culture version he said: "I find it an unforgivable lie and in the worst possible taste."

"I am not so upset about its being a lie as being a breach of taste. I would rather die than repeat a piece the repetition of which had not been demanded by the audience."

Only Thursday he had glowing praise from Soviet composer Aram Khachaturian in a published critique.

Bernstein said he is complaining to Tikhon Krenikov, chairman of the Soviet composers' organization.

Bernstein's energetic conducting antics and the versatility shown in his role as concerto Pianist-conductor in such things as Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" had delighted audiences and critics.

Rout Little Rock Educators With Tear Gas Bombs

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Two powerful tear gas bombs were set off Thursday in the foyer of the school board headquarters while the board was holding a routine meeting upstairs.

Fumes filled the building and it was evacuated. There was no damage and no one was injured.

The school board has been under segregationist fire for opening high schools under a token plan of integration. Five Negroes attend two schools with about 2,300 white students.

A Negro janitor said he saw three white women running away from the front door shortly before he noticed the fumes. He said the women jumped into a waiting car which sped away. He did not get the license number.

Police found three women's sandals near the steps of the building.

Might Insist On Another Foreign Minister's Conference As Prelude To Summit, Ike Hints

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Eisenhower dropped a hint Thursday that the West may insist on another foreign ministers conference at Geneva before any summit meeting takes place.

Authoritative informants indicated Chancellor Konrad Adenauer suggested a further meeting of foreign ministers when he and Eisenhower met.

A news conference remark by Eisenhower later seemed to indicate Adenauer's suggestion had met a favorable reception.

Eisenhower said any summit meeting "would be a grave mistake unless there was confidence among all of us that real progress of some kind could be achieved."

Such progress, the President continued, must be promised "by either further meeting or further consultation or conclusions of the foreign ministers — or in some other way."

He didn't say what the other way might be, but in response to a question he indicated he would be satisfied if assurances would be given publicly by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Some officials said a meeting of the foreign ministers might be held in Geneva in November after the exchange of visits between Eisenhower and Khrushchev.

Adenauer, it was reported, was said to believe that a summit conference — if held at all — should follow only toward the end of the year.

The German leader has never been enthusiastic about summit meetings. For one thing they are held among the Big Four — the United States, Soviet Union, Britain and France.

The 63-year-old German leader also is suspicious of summit meetings because he does not trust the Russians. He was stung once himself when he went to Moscow in September, 1955, and he has a long memory, friends say.

Nor has Eisenhower been overly sympathetic to meetings of heads of government. He was disappointed following the 1955 summit conference when his proclaimed "Spirit of Geneva" did not last long.

The British, with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan leading the way, have been promoting the summit conference.

Crash-Landing Kills 2 In Wilds Of South America

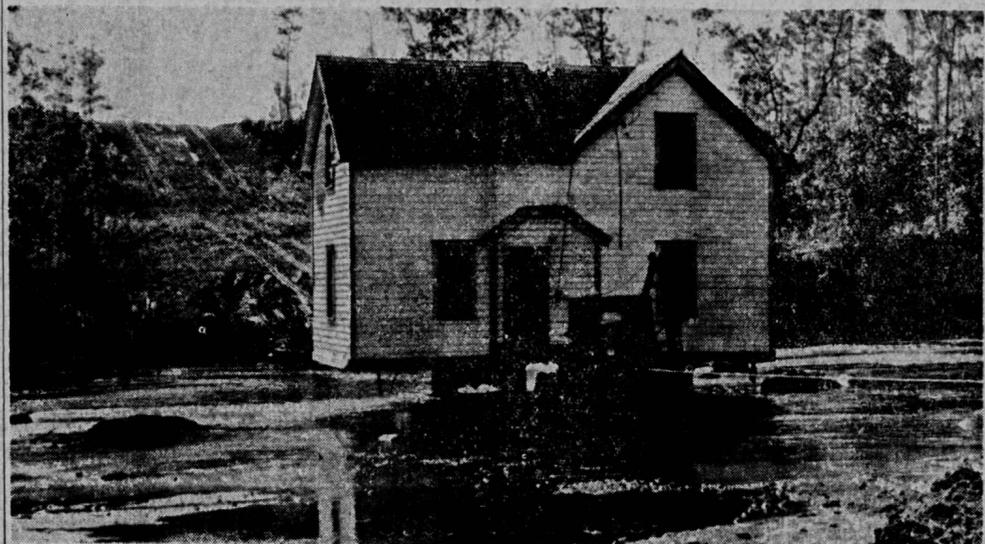

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) — An Argentine airliner bound for New York with 54 passengers aboard crash-landed late Wednesday night in a jungle near Asuncion.

Airlines officials said the pilot of the Comet IV was killed and one passenger died of a heart attack. The pilot was identified as Stanley James Liense, 38. The passenger was Antonia Alberto de Luis, a Spanish citizen.

U.S. Ambassador Walter Ploeser said after visiting the crash scene that no U.S. citizens were among the 20 passengers and crew injured.

An earlier report said two Americans suffered injuries in the crash. They were identified as Maureen Hunter Mitchehill, wife of a Braden Copper Co. executive living in Rancagua, Chile, and Rubin Kutun, whose address was not available.

The Comet jet airliner was on a regular flight from Buenos Aires to New York with stops scheduled at Asuncion and Trinidad.

Storm Takes Three Lives In Wisconsin

VIROQUA, Wis. (AP) — Storm clouds packing death and destruction battered southwestern Wisconsin before dawn Thursday taking three lives, including that of a little girl swept from the arms of her father by a torrent.

Two-year-old Barbara Larson was carried to her death in the raging waters of the Kickapoo River when her father, Harold attempting to wade to safety from their trailer home, was struck by a careening log and lost his grip on the child.

Her mother managed to reach high ground carrying a 6-month-old son, Phillip. Mrs. Larson was hospitalized at Viroqua for shock, but Larson himself stayed with civil defense workers and was with them when they found the tiny body of his daughter in the wake of receding waters. He was unable to discuss the tragedy.

Other victims of the storms were a farmer struck by lightning and the pilot of a plane that was unable to land and crashed into the Mississippi River.

The Larsons were among 100 residents of Little Avalanche, one of two communities inundated by the flash floods spawned in a series of cloudbursts that dumped as much as 4.5 inches of rain on the area.

Roads and bridges were washed away, livestock destroyed, trailer homes washed away and communications disrupted.

Hunt For Iowans Missing 3 Days Begun By CAP

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota Civil Air Patrol (CAP) planes late Thursday started a search for an Iowa plane reported missing with four men aboard.

Capt. Bob Kost of the CAP said all 40 Minnesota squadrons have been alerted in a search for a Cessna 170 which left Charles City, Iowa, Aug. 21 for a weekend fishing trip to the vicinity of Ignace, Ont., about 80 miles northeast of International Falls, Minn.

Aboard were Lloyd Boofor, Elma, Iowa, the pilot, and three Colwell, Iowa men, Leland Chestek, William Schneider and Fred Wegner. Their silver and red-trimmed rented plane bore license number N3994V.

The four had told their families they expected to return home Sunday or Monday. No word has been heard from them since their departure. No flight plan was filed.

The plane had been scheduled to refuel at International Falls, but no landing was reported there. The Aircraft Control Center at Duluth reported no contact with the plane.

Kost said the Minnesota search would extend from the Iowa border to Canada.

CENTO TO MEET

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The economic committee of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) will meet here next Tuesday.

130 SUIowans Now Enrolled In Study Session

The SUI campus looks relatively deserted these hot August days, but 130 students are working on these and sweating through other individual projects in the summer Independent Study Unit.

Women are outnumbered nearly 12 to one, with only 11 coeds registered and 110 men enrolled.

Open to graduate students and advanced law students only, the Independent Study Unit gives these students a chance to earn one semester-hour of credit for each week of individual study. Classes are not held during the period, but students work under the direction of faculty members.

The 1959 session, which opened Aug. 13, will close Sept. 9.

Council Approves 27 Acres For City Park Addition

The purchase of a 27-acre tract for an addition to City Park has been approved by the Iowa City Council.

City Manager Peter F. Roan and City Clerk Walker D. Shellady were instructed to draw warrants for the purchase. Price for the property is $13,550.

Of the total sum, $8,050 will be provided by the recreation fund, and the balance will come from state liquor profits assigned to the city.

The land is just west of the present park and is bounded on the north by the Iowa River and on the west by the new Park View Terrace Development. The south boundary is north of Oakridge Avenue.

Much of the area being purchased will be used for a playground.

The tract was bought from Louis Shulman, Sam C. Robinson, Leonard Kaplan and Mrs. Viggo Jensen.

Perry Councilmen Overpaid Says State Auditor's Office

DES MOINES (AP) — The State Auditor's Office said Thursday that several Perry councilmen have been overpaid during the first half of 1959 but otherwise the city's books generally were in proper order.

The state audit was made at the request of Atty. Gen. Norman Erbe and Perry officials, after a Perry citizens group complained of alleged mismanagement of city funds.

The citizens group had sought the ouster of Mayor Lucien Doran and the City Council.

The audit report, covering a period from last Jan. 1 through June 30, said council members were being paid on the basis of $62.50 per quarter whether or not they attended meetings.

Iowa law, the report said, provides that councilmen shall receive compensation not to exceed $4 each for every regular or special meeting, and not more than $250 in any one year.

Based on attendance records, the report said, councilman Herbert O. Taylor was overpaid $77; Jerome Hanson, $69; Loren Diddy, $31.29; Herbert Sweeney, $77; and Charles McCauley, $73.

The report said the overpayments should be refunded to the city.

The city also had trouble with its garbage operations during the period, the report said.

For one thing, the garbage hauler contracted by the city was supposed to furnish bond but no bond was filed.

The records also show I. M. Fitzsimmons, contracted by the city to haul garbage, obtained a judgement against Perry because the council failed to meet the requirements of the contract.

Judgement, court costs and legal fees "resulted in a loss of tax funds of more than $12,000," Moss, of the records of city divisions were found to have been maintained in good order, the report said.

It was noted that the library board president was signing warrants in blank for use by the secretary as cosigner. The report suggested that the practice be discontinued.

8 Sociology Professors Go To Meet

Eight faculty members and a number of graduate students from the SUI Department of Sociology and Anthropology will attend the 54th annual meeting of the American Sociological Society next week in Chicago.

Professor Albert J. Reiss Jr. will serve as chairman of the section devoted to community studies on Thursday, and the following day Professor Harold W. Saunders will be a discussant in the section on sociology of law.

Professor Manfred Kuhn will read a paper Sept. 4 on "Self-Attitude Change and Its Relation to Critical Experiences." On Sept. 5 Professor Clark E. Vincent will present a paper entitled "Implications of Social Changes in Male-Female Roles for Interpreting Masculinity-Femininity Tests" or "Scale Scores."

Other SUI staff members attending the meetings will include David Gold, Martin Martel, Richard Wilmet and Lewis Rhodes, all of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

Professor Kuhn will speak Wednesday at the Conference on Economic Education to be held at Northwestern University. His topic will be "Recent Contributions of Social Psychology to the Study of Economics."

Iowa City Group To Sponsor Clinic For Retail Sellers

A retail sales clinic will be sponsored by the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce Sept. 15.

Fred A. Palmer, a nationally-known sales consultant, will conduct the one-day clinic to be held in Macbride Auditorium.

Palmer is a veteran of 25 years of actual selling and sales management and 15 years of sales consulting. He has conducted sales training schools throughout the United States and Canada.

The Chamber invites staffs and sales personnel to attend the clinic. Tickets may be obtained at the Chamber office for $3 per session. The first 200 tickets sold will go for $2 each.

The first session will meet from 3 to 5 p.m. and is a sales clinic for big item salesmen. The second session, at 7:30 p.m., is a retail sales rally for everyone.

Pathology Prof To Lead Panel

Dr. J. R. Carter, professor of pathology, has been selected to moderate a panel discussion on coagulation techniques at the annual meetings of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists and the College of American Pathologists in Chicago Sept. 4 through 11.

At the Chicago meetings, scientific sessions and workshops will report and demonstrate latest developments and discoveries in the complex techniques, instruments, and chemicals modern medicine uses to diagnose and treat disease.

WARREN IN GERMANY

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren arrived Thursday for a two-day visit in the Bavarian capital of Munich. Warren is touring West Germany as guest of the Government. He will spend several days of rest in the upper Bavarian resort town of Berchtesgaden before he flies with his wife to Hamburg.

Booklet Tells How To Trim Absenteeism

Industrial absenteeism can be cut by keeping a careful record of absences and by reminding all supervisory personnel that there is no substitute for personal contact in dealing with individual absentees.

This information and other facts on absenteeism are contained in a booklet written by Jack F. Culley, associate professor and director of the SUI Bureau of Labor and Management.

The publication, "Prevention and Control of Industrial Absenteeism," is the second issue of the Bureau of Labor and Management's new "Information Series." Included in the issue are discussions of factors influencing absenteeism and of preventive and control measures that can be taken to reduce absences.

The publication lists sickness and injury, age, and alcoholism among the most important personal factors influencing absenteeism. "The common cold has been found to be the principal illness that results in missing work," reports the booklet. "Various studies have also shown that as age increases, the number of absences decreases, though the duration of absences is likely to increase."

Alcoholism is noted as a major factor in absenteeism, affecting productivity of more than 3 million workers and resulting in loss of 84 million man-days a year.

In preventing absenteeism, the booklet stresses the value of a good selection and placement program. Selection procedure should screen out absence-prone applicants and placement should fit each man in a job at which he will be happy and successful. Other preventive measures listed are industrial health programs, accident campaigns, and attendance bonus systems.

"The most important single step that a company can take in controlling absenteeism is to install a properly designed system for recording absences," according to the booklet. "This system should include a card for each employee on which absences can be recorded, day by day, for every working day in the year, and for a period of at least two years and preferably four years."

The booklet may be obtained by sending 50 cents with a request to: Bureau of Labor and Management, 303 N. Capitol.

Moon Shot Likely In Early October

WASHINGTON (AP) — Look for another shot at the moon sometime during the period Oct. 2-4.

Reliable sources report that an attempt is shaping up to send a 375-pound American space probe toward the vicinity of the moon, and, if all goes well, into an orbit around it.

In its monthly swing around the earth, the moon will be at its closest point on Oct. 4 when it will be about 220,000 miles away.

But even with the best sharpshooting by the rocketeers, the space probe would take about 33½ hours to reach a point 10,000 to 20,000 miles from the moon — conceivably the closest approach that might be made on this particular venture.

Diplomat, 6 Others Killed In Greenland 'Copter Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven persons — one a veteran U.S. diplomat — were killed Wednesday when a helicopter crashed near the big air base at Thule, Greenland.

The Air Force, announcing this Thursday, said the 'copter crashed about 11 miles north of the base after delivering an Eskimo woman to a village called Kanak. She had undergone hospital treatment at Thule.

One of the dead was identified as Livingston Lord Satterthwaite, a 50-year-old foreign service officer who has been serving as deputy chief of missions at the U.S. embassy in Copenhagen.

The State Department said Satterthwaite, was in Greenland on official business. He listed Ambler, Pa., as his home.

Killed with Satterthwaite were five U.S. officers and a Dane.

The Air Force identified the other Americans in the helicopter as:

Capt. James H. Ozier, the pilot, Albuquerque, N. M., Capt. Dale W. Roberston, Rhineland, Wis.; Col. Kenneth R. Kenerick, Chevy Chase, Md.; Col. James F. Hogan, Ashland, Wis.; Maj. Frank W. Chandler, Kingstree, S. C.

The Danish state radio identified the Dane a liaison officer K. A. Edwards.

Ship-Carried Missile Fired Successfully

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Navy's Polaris missile was fired for the first time Thursday from a ship at sea and took a big step in its development as a nuclear punch for roving submarines.

The successful shot followed by a week a Moscow radio claim that Soviet submarines could enter Hudson Bay from under arctic ice and bombard the industrial heart of America with ballistic missiles.

The launching of the 28-foot test version of the Polaris was one of the most spectacular ever seen here.

The U.S.S. Observation Island, a 583-foot converted transport ship, glided slowly through calm Atlantic waters about seven miles off the cape.

As the countdown reached zero, compressed air popped the Polaris out of a tube buried vertically in the deck of the ship. The missile leaped silently to a point 70 feet overhead and its first-stage engine ignited.

Spurring a tail of white smoke from its solid fuel, the Polaris curved high in the sky and sped down the Atlantic missile range to a watery target some 700 miles away. A bright flash of fire a minute after launch revealed ignition of the second stage.

Legionnaires: Will Accept Khurshchev 'With Dignity'

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The American Legion Thursday swept an Eastern lawyer into office as its national commander and gave token support to Vice President Nixon's stand on Soviet Premier Nikita Khurshchev's visit to the United States.

National convention delegates rallied behind Martin B. McKneally of Newburgh, N.Y., and elected him leader of the 2½-million-member veterans' organization without opposition.

The legionnaires disposed of one of their most controversial issues by approving without debate a resolution to accept "with dignity" Khurshchev's visit.

The resolution was formulated at the last minute, two days after Nixon told convention delegates the Soviet Premier's visit might help avoid a misunderstanding that could lead to war.

McKneally, 44, garnered the full support of the convention delegates in nearly a week of strenuous campaigning. He took command of the legion from Preston J. Moore, of Stillwater, Okla., then told the convention, "We live in gravely troubled times.

"We are engaged in a great struggle for the minds and souls of men, a struggle which will continue throughout our lifetime."

Municipal League To Move Offices To Des Moines

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa League of Municipalities will move its headquarters from Burlington to Des Moines by Jan. 1, the Board of Directors decided Thursday.

Kenneth Robinson of Bayard, league president, also said that Max Conrad of Burlington has been retained for another four years as executive secretary.

Placing the headquarters in Des Moines answers one objection raised by some of Iowa's larger cities.

Some have contended that smaller communities dominate the league and others have objected to a recent increase in dues.

Conrad Ted Lorenzen of Davenport has called a meeting Friday in Cedar Rapids for representatives of 16 Iowa cities, all with populations of at least 15,000.

They are to talk over grievances and a suggestion that a separate organization be started for areas of 10,000 or more.

The league has 472 members.

Do Children Know 'Whys' Of Behavior?

How well do children understand the causes behind behavior? Is their understanding related to social class or intelligence?

These were questions studied by Clark Alexander, North Platte, Neb., in completing a thesis for a master of arts degree this summer at SUI. He will teach during the coming year in the Fulton, Ill., Junior High School.

His findings indicated that the social class to which the child belonged had no influence on his understanding of the causes behind behavior. But there were some differences between children of different I.Q. levels at the sixth and fifth grade levels, though not at the fourth grade.

Children in the fifth and sixth grades with higher I.Q.'s had a better insight into the motives behind actions than did less intelligent children, with an increasing trend awareness being evident among those with higher intelligence from the fourth to the sixth grade.

Previous studies had indicated that there was little emphasis in existing textbooks on the motivations underlying behavior. Present textbooks in the area of social studies deal with problems of society, what people do — but not why they do what they do, said Alexander.

"If a program of teaching with a more causal orientation to the social environment is to be developed, it would be helpful to know the level of development reached by children and how this development varies with such factors as social class and I.Q. levels," explained Alexander.

Alexander classified the subjects of his study — 141 children in the fourth grade, 122 in the fifth grade and 142 in the sixth grade — according to social status and I.Q. He limited his investigation to the child's concept of the behavior of other children.

The test used to judge social causality consisted of 13 short problems or situations followed by from three to nine statements about each problem. The children indicated whether they thought each of the statements was true or false.

For example, the children were told about four-year-old Ruth, who was put to bed every night at 7:30 and who immediately began calling for a drink.

They were then asked to indicate whether statements, such as the following were true or false: "Ruth is just afraid to be alone and that's all there is to it." "There is no reason for Ruth acting this way and so I would tell her to keep still."

2 Profs Attend Reserve Camp

Two SUI speech pathology professors last week completed two weeks of active duty training in the army reserves.

Frederic Darley, associate professor of speech pathology and army reserve major, and Duane Spriestersbach, professor of speech pathology and army reserve lieutenant colonel, took their training at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Iowa City Man Injured In Accident

An Iowa City man was injured late Thursday afternoon when the station wagon he was driving went out of control on Highway 1 about three miles west of Iowa City. William Calkins, 33, was taken to Mercy Hospital for observation and was reported in fairly good condition Thursday evening. A patrolman at the scene said Calkins was heading east on Highway 1 when he apparently hit a culvert and lost control of the vehicle. He was towing a trailer filled with welding equipment. The trailer and car were thrown into the ditch. —Daily Iowan Photo by Jerry Smith.

New Goal Set By Community Givers Group

Oct. 19 the Community Givers Organization will begin their second combined fund raising campaign with an established goal of $74,407.76.

The same 15 agencies which took part in the campaign last year will be participating in this year's drive. This year's goal is about $6,000 above the goal set last year.

The campaign will be conducted in University Heights and Coralville, as well as Iowa City. A campaign chairman and other drive leaders will be appointed in the near future, according to Robert Osmundson, Community Givers' president.

None of the major voluntary health agencies, all invited to participate, will join the campaign again this year. The organization received no response from health agencies other than the Tuberculosis Association and Muscular Dystrophy Association, both of which declined.

Several other agencies not now conducting fund-raising campaigns in this area asked to join the drive, but the Community Givers' Board rejected their applications.

Of the 1958 goal of $68,234.15, a total of $66,525.69 has been collected. Some pledges still remain unpaid.

Allocations to participating agencies under this year's goal in comparison with last year's amounts are:

Red Cross, $20,046.15, the same as in 1958.

Boy Scouts, $12,536.59 compared to $11,000 last year.

Visiting Nurse Association, $12,200.53, up from $11,257 in 1958.

Girl Scouts, $12,012.50, compared with last year's $10,000.

United Fund of Iowa, $2,264, up from $1,764 a year ago.

Johnson County Association for Retarded Children, $2,250, compared with $1,550.

Iowa Children's Home Society, $1,750, the same as last year.

Salvation Army, $1,600, same as last year.

School Children's Aid Fund (for assistance in sight, hearing and purchase of milk), $1,000, the same.

American Home Finding Association, $500, same.

Iowa Association for Mental Health, $500.

Allocations to agencies total $66,525.69. Administrative expenses approved were $7,747.99.

IRAQ, SOVIETS AGREE

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Baghdad radio said Thursday Iraq and the Soviet Union have concluded an agreement for cooperation in the peaceful use of atomic energy.

The radio said the Soviet Union pledged to build an atomic reactor in Iraq and to supply isotopes for local medical purposes. An Iraqi delegation went to Moscow recently to conclude the agreement.

Results Of AEC Study Are Negative

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission says preliminary results of a radioactivity study in Nebraska "show clearly no cause for alarm."

A. R. Lueddecke, AEC general manager, reported on the fallout study, as it pertains to milk and corn, in a letter to Sen. Roman L. Hruska (R-Neb.).

He said monitoring showed 5.6 units of strontium-90 in a fresh milk sample collected at Lincoln last May 25 and 8.1 units in a dried milk sample which was processed in February.

In comparison, Lueddecke said results from the 12 milk sampling stations of the Public Health Service network show a range of 3.1 to 37.3 units with an average of 11.9 for April, the latest month reported.

He said analyses of corn in Nebraska showed 2.5 and 0.8 units. "The relatively low calcium content and the low total activity of the sample corn accounts for the substantial difference found in the two analyses of the same sample," Lueddecke said.

"There are not a large number of data on corn but the values (strontium-90 units) listed above are within the range expected for the United States."

Hruska had requested the survey last April. Lueddecke explained that strontium-90, a radioisotope, is the constituent of principal concern in fallout.

Reduce Number Of Counties, Study On State Revamp Asks

Reducing the number of Iowa counties was one of several major changes proposed for an administrative reorganization of the state urged in a study completed recently by a SUI graduate student.

The study also revealed a need for separation of legislative and administrative functions so county governments could give greater service called for by population gains and increased administrative duties.

Written as a master's thesis in political science by William L. Morrow, Springfield, Mo., the study suggested that the counties should average 100,000 in population, which research has found to be the most efficient county size.

Morrow compared the operative efficiency of Davis County in southeastern Iowa, with a population of approximately 10,000, and Linn County in east central Iowa, with a population of slightly over 100,000.

In the smaller county a per capita cost of $1.01 was paid to support the board of supervisors' operations, as compared with 14 cents per capita in Linn County.

In another proposed major change, Morrow suggested, "Instead of being an administrative arm of the Iowa State Legislature, the board of supervisors would assume the role of a legislative body."

Under what Morrow calls a "county executive plan," the board of supervisors would have the power to: 1) reorganize the county administration; 2) appoint a county executive similar to a city manager and fix his salary; 3) appoint heads of county departments on the recommendation of the county executive and fix their salaries; and 4) investigate the conduct of any officer it appoints.

The plan would simplify county government so it could be understood better by the citizens, save duplication of efforts and money, and define responsibility more clearly. The absence of a directing head of administrative functions is one of the biggest weaknesses of present county government, according to the study.

Several other current weaknesses pointed out included the problems of having too many elected officials, and duplication of the functions of the clerk of the court, recorder, treasurer and auditor.

"Since the Iowa statutes require that all money be paid to the county treasurer on a quarterly basis, it would seem that vesting the power of collection entirely in the treasurer's office would eliminate much needless handling of money on the part of the recorder, clerk of the court, auditor and attorney," Morrow wrote.

The thesis also suggested that duplication in purchasing be avoided by having the county auditor handle all purchasing. Uniting all welfare functions in one office was also cited as a money-saving measure.

Morrow's study pointed out that adoption of efficient administrative practices has been slowed because state law has made the reorganization of county government difficult.

"The beginning on any reorganization movement rests with the Iowa State Legislature, or possibly with a constitutional convention," Morrow wrote.

The thesis was the outgrowth of a larger study sponsored by the Iowa College Community Research Center.

Morrow completed the study under the direction of Russell M. Ross, SUI associate professor of political science.

Asks Iowans To Be Polite To Red Guest

COON RAPIDS (AP) — Iowans in particular and Americans in general were called upon Thursday to remember their manners when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev visits this country next month.

In calling for courtesy toward Khrushchev, the weekly Coon Rapids Enterprise also said editorially Thursday that "we should not forget that the Soviet leader is a confirmed and dedicated Communist with the good of world communism ever in mind."

"His objective right now is to give us a tranquilizer treatment, to make us believe that world communism is not so bad, to get us to let down our guard so the Russian bosses can nibble off a little more of the free world..."

"At the same time let's treat our Russian guest with due courtesy when he visits our town... Let's not mar his impression of our democracy, our 'capitalist' farmer."

Khrushchev is expected to visit Roswell Garst, Coon Rapids farmer and hybrid seed corn producer, during his trip to Iowa.

The Enterprise also said in a front page story "all the world, save Coon Rapids, seems to be excited over" Khrushchev's coming visit to the Garst home.

"Khrushchev is visiting Garst, not the Coon Rapids community,"

Set Hearing, Bid Opening For New Police-Fire Station

A public hearing on the new Iowa City Police-Fire Station and the opening of bids on construction of the station has been set for Sept. 30.

The hearing will begin at 4 p.m. and will be followed immediately by opening of the bids.

The building's plans and specifications were presented to the City Council Wednesday by Henry L. Fisk, architect for the project. The station is to be the first unit of a proposed new Civic Center.

The station will be located on the Musser parking lot at Washington and Gilbert Streets. Civic Center plans call for the use of most of the rest of that block, bounded also by Van Buren Street and Iowa Avenue. The Fire Station garage will open onto Gilbert Street.

The cost of the Police-Fire Station unit was estimated at $174,000. A special tax levy during the past two years has made about $160,000 now available for construction.

The 11,500-square-foot building will be divided into about 7,000 square feet for the Fire Department and 4,500 square feet for the Police Department.

The Fire Station will provide space for four pumper trucks, an aerial ladder truck, chief's car and boat, dormitory space for 24 men, all-purpose room, kitchen, chief's office, and watch desk.

Included in the Police Station will be a waiting room, reception counter, control office, booking room, detention cells, interrogation rooms, laboratory and photographic dark room.

There will be a basement space available for storage and other purposes.

In addition to the Police-Fire Station unit, the proposed Civic Center would house an administration office section and a recreation center.

Polio Stricken Tot Dies During Rush To Hospital Here

A one-year-old Kewanee, Ill., boy died of polio Wednesday, just minutes before the ambulance carrying him reached University Hospital.

Donald Chisholm, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Chisholm, was being taken from Moline Lutheran Hospital because there was no iron lung there small enough to hold him.

The disease had affected the boy's respiratory system, and attempts to revive him at the hospital failed. The parents were to have met the ambulance in Iowa City, but they did not arrive until after the ambulance reached here.

NBA Middleweight Title At Stake—

Basilio, Fullmer Go Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two brawling belters who have worn the world middleweight crown will battle tonight to regain a big share of the world title.

Carmen Basilio, the craggy-faced warrior from Chittenango, N.Y., and Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, tangle for 15 rounds or less at the Cow Palace.

The winner gets the National Boxing Association blessing as titlist of the 160-pound division, a spot declared vacant last May 4 when the ruling body withdrew the championship from Sugar Ray Robinson for not defending it.

Robinson hadn't fought since winning the title from Basilio in a bloody battle March 25, 1958. The year before, Fullmer had won and lost in a pair with Sugar Ray. Although the NBA stripped Robinson of his laurels, he's still recognized as champ in New York and Massachusetts.

A gate of $200,000 was expected with another $175,000 from television for the 8 p.m. (Iowa time) bout.

Basilio should get about $140,000 as his share with the Utah strongboy expected to grab more than $100,000.

Basilio declared he aims to become the second man ever to knock out Fullmer, who has won 49 fights and lost four. Fullmer stopped 21 foes and only Robinson ever stopped him.

Carmen Basilio

Basilio, who held the welterweight crown before stepping up a notch, has gone into the pro ring 74 times, won 54, lost 13 and fought 7 draws. He has knocked out 27 and never been stopped.

"I believe," said Fullmer, "that this fight will be decided in the last five rounds and I expect my weight edge to give me the advantage."

He'll probably weigh eight pounds more than Carmen. Manager Marv Jensen expects the Utah fighter to scale 159½ at the 10 a.m. weigh-in and put on three more pounds with a meal after that.

Carmen probably will enter the fight a slight favorite but the quoted odds have been fluctuating. They opened even, then swung as much as 2-1 in favor of Basilio and came back to about 7-5.

Phils Stop Giants, 7-2; 2-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A tired, bedraggled looking band of Giants were jolted twice Thursday by the cellar dwelling Philadelphia Phillies, slicing the San Francisco lead in the National League to two games over Los Angeles. The scores were 7-2 and 2-1.

Manager Bill Rigney of the Giants was an angry man in the loser's clubhouse after the doubleheader. He lashed at National League President Warren Giles for forcing the Giants to play a pair Thursday after a game Wednesday night in Pittsburgh.

The Giants arrived in Philadelphia at 2:30 a.m. and were at the ball park at 11 a.m. for pre-game practice. They played at times like a team in a trance, waving at balls the sharp defense usually eats up, and running bases like sleepwalkers.

The usually punchless Phillies broke out in a rash of extra base and timely hits in helping Jim Owens and Don Cardwell to pitching victories. Lefty Mike McCormick with five victories, including three shutouts over Philadelphia this year, let the locals out of his pocket for the first time in the opener. He was knocked out in a five-run sixth.

In the second game, young Cardwell limited the San Francisco big bats to five hits, striking out five before leaving for a pinchhitter in the seventh.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Boyer drove in four runs and Joe Cunningham celebrated his 28th birthday with four hits Thursday to spark the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-4 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Cunningham opened the eighth inning with a long triple off Don McMahon and slid home on Boyer's sacrifice fly to break a 4-4 tie. It was Boyer's first sacrifice fly of the season.

The Cardinals gathered 17 hits, five for extra bases.

Reds 5, Cubs 0

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim O'Toole, 22-year-old rookie southpaw, allowed only five hits and struck out 10 as he pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 5-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs Thursday night.

The game was played under protest from the first inning, however. Cub's Manager Bob Scheffing made the protest after Umpire Art Dascoli ruled pitcher Art Ceccarelli committed a balk which allowed a Cincinnati run to score. The ball got away from Ceccarelli as he pitched and Scheffing claimed it should have been ruled a wild pitch.

It came after Gus Bell singled and went to third on Frank Robinson's single.

O'Toole, showing his best form of the season, didn't allow the Cubs a hit until the fifth. He yielded the harmless single in each of the last five innings. In the third he struck out Tony Taylor. George Altman and Lee Walls after walking the first two men.

Davis Cup Pressure On MacKay

FOREST HILL, N.Y. (AP) — The spotlight is on Peruvian Alex Olmedo but the pressure lies with big, free-swinging Barry MacKay when the United States opens defense of the Davis Cup Friday against always formidable Australia.

With the series rated a tossup, it's figured at least one victory must come off MacKay's booming racket if the international trophy is to remain in this country.

The impressive Inca, Olmedo, plays Australia's No. 1 star, Neale Fraser, in the opening match. MacKay faces the 21-year-old Rod Laver in the followup at the West Side Tennis Club. Both Australians are left-handers.

The first day's program will not be televised. Saturday's doubles match will be televised locally in New York and video taped for repeat showing on the network, starting at 4 p.m.

The final singles Sunday — Olmedo vs. Laver and MacKay vs. Fraser — will be shown on home screens.

Olmedo is favored to win both his singles assignments. Australia is the choice in the doubles Saturday when Fraser and Roy Emerson will be arrayed against Olmedo and Earl Buchholz Jr., of St. Louis.

This means, if play follows form, Uncle Sam must depend on MacKay for his clinching point and Australia must beat him twice to recover the bowl.

3rd Pan-Am Games Opened; 9 Events Scheduled Today

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Milton Eisenhower, on behalf of his brother, the President, opened the third Pan American Games Thursday before a sun-baked crowd of 30,000.

"Our dedication, in this area of the free world, to the cardinal principles of equality, justice, and the dignity of man are well known, and as we apply these principles in our actions and personal association, the friendship of our peoples grows and deepens," said Dr. Eisenhower.

Originally, President Eisenhower was to have opened the games but his brother substituted when it became necessary for the President to make a tour of various European capitals.

The crowd gave a great ovation to the perspiring athletes who paraded into Soldier Field behind their national flags and then lined up on the green grass for the simple, dignified ceremonies.

Most of the 2,152 athletes from 24 nations marched, but some who will compete Friday were kept on the sidelines and older officials did not parade because of the heat.

Explorer Scout Ronald Rodriguez touched off the Pan American flame with an electronic torch that had been relayed 2,400 miles from Mexico City by more than 3,000 Boy Scouts. It was stolen in Oklahoma but recovered. The flame will burn until the games end Sept. 7. As it flared up atop the scoreboard, 5,000 doves were set free on the field and quickly circled skywards.

George V. Worth of Flushing, N.Y., a native of Budapest who competed for the United States in fencing in the 1951 games in Buenos Aires and the 1955 games in Mexico City, took the Pan American oath on behalf of all competitors.

Competition starts Friday in men's and women's track, men's and women's basketball, baseball, fencing, soccer, weightlifting, tennis, volleyball and yachting. By the weekend most of the 27 sports on the games' program will be in action.

Roberts To Undergo Physical Checkup

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pitcher Robin Roberts is going to undergo an immediate physical checkup and will not accompany the Philadelphia Phillies on a western trip starting in Pittsburgh Friday night.

John Quinn, Phillies General Manager, said a routine check disclosed an excess of sugar in his system.

Cyclones Begin Football Drills

AMES (AP) — Coach Clay Stapleton unveiled his small Iowa State football squad Thursday in pre-daily activities highlighted by the announcement that the Cyclones' top defensive back was not reporting.

Chuck Lamson, 183-pound junior tailback who lettered last fall, said he was leaving school for "personal reasons."

Although only 36 reported for drills Thursday, Stapleton expressed enthusiasm for the Cyclones' 1959 season.

He promised more variety in Iowa State's attack this fall, including the use of more floaters and flankers and some double wing plays.

Thursday's turnout included 12 lettermen. Missing was Esslinger, standout center who is in Marine ROTC summer camp. He will report Saturday.

Stapleton said that he would rely on veterans this fall, after juggling as many as eight sophomores into the starting lineup at times in 1958.
