India's Defense Command Still Intact; Tension Eases

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's defense command came through its political crisis intact Wednesday.

Tension over the northeast frontier also relaxed somewhat with reports that Red Chinese troops may be pulling out of border posts they grabbed last week.

Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament the nation's defense command will continue unchanged despite a dispute over army promotions between Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon and Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, army commander.

Nehru said Thimayya resigned Monday but was persuaded to stay in his post.

Nehru indicated his complete support for Krishna Menon, praising the controversial defense minister and diplomatic trouble-shooter.

Nehru's statement that "civil authority must remain supreme" apparently squashed reports that Krishna Menon would leave the cabinet.

Sources close to Menon and high in the ruling Congress party said Menon had offered his resignation. Menon and other high government officials refused to comment until Nehru could appear in Parliament.

Nehru termed Thimayya a gallant soldier but scolded him for resigning when India's borders were threatened.

Nehru did not refer to the commanders of the air force and navy who were reported to have resigned with Thimayya.

A Socialist demand for a secret session to discuss the issue and a Socialist request to see Thimayya's letter to Nehru was rejected.

The newspaper The Statesman reported the border troubles with the Communist Chinese on the northeast frontier apparently had eased, and that the Chinese may be pulling out.

The paper said there were increased Chinese troop concentrations along the frontier between Tibet and Sikkim, a semi-independent state west of India's northeast frontier which India is pledged to protect.

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Dalai Lama came here Wednesday and conferred with India's Prime Minister Nehru on the future of Communist-ruled Tibet.

Informants said the exiled Dalai Lama of Tibet felt an appeal to the United Nations would be helpful in bringing world attention to the situation but that Nehru felt otherwise.

The Dalai Lama has been living in Mussoorie, an Indian town in the foothills of the Himalayas, since he fled his homeland after the Red Chinese suppressed a Tibetan uprising last spring.

Nikita Warns Against NATO, West Germany

NATO An Instrument Of Aggression, Says K.

NEW YORK (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev accuses the North Atlantic Alliance of letting the East Germans convert it into an instrument for aggressive plans that could "plunge the whole world into the chasm of a devastating war."

The Soviet Premier says the West has no choice but to fall in with the Soviet policy of peaceful coexistence of communism and capitalism if it wants to avoid the most destructive war in history.

He expresses confidence the Communist system eventually will win out in what he calls peaceful competition, but says that does not mean Red interference in other nations' affairs.

In an article appearing less than two weeks in advance of his U.S. visit, Khrushchev reserves his harshest words for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany.

The article appears in the current Foreign Affairs quarterly review of the Council on Foreign Relations.

The article was arranged before the actual invitation to Khrushchev to visit America, but in it the Communist party boss refers to the forthcoming visit as providing hope for reaching an understanding.

The article is entitled "Peaceful Coexistence." In it the Soviet leader attempts to persuade his readers that there is neither Communist fraud nor trap but a real policy aimed at ensuring world peace. But the article deals harshly with NATO and West Germany.

Pushing his proposal for a demilitarized West Berlin and a peace treaty with both West and Communist East Germany.

"Some say: 'The Soviet people are unduly sensitive. Can one assume that West Germany is now in a position to precipitate another world war?' Those who put the question thus forget that Western Germany is at present acting in the world arena not alone, but within the military North Atlantic bloc," Khrushchev wrote.

"She plays a paramount role in this bloc. And more than that, it has shown that the North Atlantic Alliance is being gradually converted into an instrument of the German militarists which makes it easier for them to carry out aggressive plans."

"It is not at all impossible, therefore, that Western Germany taking advantage of her position in the North Atlantic Alliance, might provoke hostilities in order to draw her allies into it and plunge the whole world into the chasm of a devastating war."

The product of the conference represented a victory for President Eisenhower who had urged many of the provisions it contains, especially bans on secondary boycotts and blackmail picketing.

There was no immediate comment from the White House, or from Eisenhower, now in Paris. But Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell issued a statement in which he said: "I am extremely pleased that the Senate and House conferees have agreed to labor-management relations legislation of the type the President has long requested."

There was no immediate reaction from organized labor leaders who had bitterly fought the House bill, some of whose key provisions found their way into the compromise, although in modified form.

The AFL-CIO didn't like the Senate's original version either, but was inclined more to it than the House bill which it called a union-busting measure.

Reps. Phil Landrum (D-Ga.) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.), co-authors of the House bill, said in a joint statement the conferees had retained the essential elements of their measure.

The compromise immediately was taken to the Senate, where a vote was scheduled Thursday.

The conferees topped their final hurdle in late afternoon, working out an agreement on how to deal with picketing at construction sites.

In its final form, the compromise provides means that are intended to guarantee the rights of union members and to safeguard union treasuries.

It also would ban secondary boycotts and extortion picketing, limit organizational picketing, and spell out a procedure for the states to dispose of labor disputes the National Labor Relations Board refuses to handle.

Reds Sweep Past 1st Defense Line; Occupy Laotian Villages

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Communist forces sweeping into northern Laos have knocked out the government's first line of defense outposts and penetrated to within 12 to 18 miles of military headquarters in Sam Neua, officials said here Wednesday.

Defense Secretary Phoumi Nosavan said rebel units and North Viet Nam Red regulars swarmed into the Nam Ma River valley parallel to the twisting mountains of North Viet Nam, and drove towards the interior, capturing or occupying some 80 Laos villages.

The government forces, mostly irregulars, withdrew.

But Vientiane, the administrative capital some 200 miles from the front, remained calm. All government offices, including the Ministry of Defense and military headquarters, were closed for the Buddhist festival of the dead.

The attack was launched Sunday morning along the Nam Ma River about 10 miles inside the northeastern border of Sam Neua province, and was supported by 105mm. howitzers, said Col. Phoumi Nosavan, the defense secretary.

Phoumi said government soldiers captured by the Communists later escaped and confirmed that at least one of the attacking forces was a Vietnam-Red North Vietnamese battalion.

Phoumi estimated that some 2,000 to 2,500 Communist troops — Pathet Lao tribesmen and Vietnamese soldiers — were engaged in the offensives. Pathet Lao is the Communist-led movement that ruled Sam Neua until two years ago when it agreed to cooperate with the royal government.

All traffic to the town of Sam Neua was suspended Wednesday. But planes were reported delivering supplies by air.

"We intend to hold the town of Sam Neua at all costs," Phoumi said. "To let it all go would be a convincing argument to the world that the Pathet Lao were re-established in their old domain."

The howitzer fire came from across the Vietnamese border, he said.

Phoumi said government troops withdrew when the coordinated surprise attack came at dawn Sunday on posts at Muong Het, Xieng Kho, Sop Sai and Sop Bao.

"Bue several were killed including a captain and about 30 are missing," Phoumi said.

Commission Chairman Dr. Donald Boles of Ames, said he brought the matter to the group's attention because recent Supreme Court decisions raise the question of whether determination of what is obscene literature is a matter for "court discretion" rather than administrative action.

Of particular interest to the Commission on Human Relations, Boles said, is Erbe's statement that he is investigating other types of "questionable" literature including certain paperback books.

Malcolm Higgins and Larry Russell of Des Moines, executive council members, expressed concern about where an administrative magazine-banning order might lead.

"If he takes 42 today he might take 42 tomorrow, and then books," Russell said.

Executive council members emphasized that they did not want their interest to become involved in politics.

Erbe asked county attorneys to require magazine dealers to remove the 42 objectionable magazines from newsstands at once and to bring criminal actions against any subsequent violations.

Commission To Scrutinize Erbe Ruling

DES MOINES (AP) — Atty. Gen. Norman Erbe's order that 42 magazines be banned from Iowa newsstands came up for consideration Wednesday by the executive council of the Governor's Commission on Human Relations.

The group voted to meet with its attorney review present Iowa laws regarding obscene literature. The attorney was not named.

Commission Chairman Dr. Donald Boles of Ames, said he brought the matter to the group's attention because recent Supreme Court decisions raise the question of whether determination of what is obscene literature is a matter for "court discretion" rather than administrative action.

Ike Joins 'Em At City Hall

President Eisenhower enters into the spirit of his welcome to Paris Wednesday and raises his arms in a gesture of happiness from the podium of the Hotel de Ville (city hall). Says Meeting With DeGaulle Is Encouraging

NATO, Berlin, Algeria, Summit Are Discussed

PARIS (AP) — President Eisenhower toured Paris in triumph Wednesday and opened his talks with President Charles de Gaulle amid an outpouring of excitement and affection rivaling the city's day of liberation in World War II.

Swept with emotion and choking as he spoke, Eisenhower told a vast, silent French throng: "I can only say that over the years, this city, this country has become to me, like it is for almost every American, something very dear."

Then he said he would attempt one sentence in French: "Je vous aime, tous" — "I love you, all."

Thousands of people, packed tight in the great square in front of the Hotel de Ville (city hall), yelled, cheered, waved flags and handkerchiefs in a frenzy of almost hysterical enthusiasm.

Paris is the third major European capital — Bonn and London were the others — to explode with a thrilling, spine-tingling demonstration over Eisenhower, who is consulting with his allies as the prelude to an exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

In numbers, it equalled the gigantic London outpouring. A million or more Parisians lined the streets and jammed the squares where the President appeared. In fervor, it was like the roars, chanting scenes in Germany.

"We like Ike," said a red-white and blue placard blazing down two floors of a great department store.

"Vive Ike," the crowds roared. "Eek! Eek! Eek!" yelled a short bereted Frenchman, jumping up and down to see over the heads of the crowds lining the broad avenue Champs Elysees.

That's the French pronunciation of "Ike."

Between public appearances, Eisenhower and De Gaulle held their first two conferences. One was private except for the presence of two interpreters. At the second and longer meeting, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and French and American aides joined them.

"Everything has gone very well between us," De Gaulle told the throng at the Hotel de Ville in a statement introducing and warmly praising Eisenhower before Eisenhower rose to speak.

Eisenhower said the talks began in a "good and encouraging manner."

Diplomatic sources said they covered four points — a summit conference, NATO, Algeria, and Berlin.

From the French point of view, the Algerian rebellion is the thorniest topic and perhaps the one De Gaulle wants most to discuss with Eisenhower.

De Gaulle would like American support in the United Nations for whatever plan he proposes to advance for solving the Algerian nationalist rebellion that is costing France a billion dollars a year. The details are his own closely guarded secret — unless he disclosed them to Eisenhower.

The word in Paris is that he hasn't even divulged them to his own cabinet ministers.

But it was the excitement, the pageantry, the ritual, the massed bands, the forest of flags, the storms of applause, and the sight of loved old regimental colors that thrilled Paris Wednesday.

Eisenhower rode the crest of a great wave of affection all day. A high point came when he and De Gaulle relived the heady days of World War II victory in a parade up the Champs Elysees to the tomb of France's unknown soldier.

The welcome began when Eisenhower arrived by jet from London Wednesday morning. People lined the streets all along the 11-mile route from the airport to the center of the city.

In the early stages the response was light as Eisenhower and De Gaulle drove past in a closed car. Many persons had gone to work. Also the district is heavily peopled with Communists.

But when the two presidents stepped from the closed car to an open one closer to downtown Paris the reception began to pick up momentum.

Possible Lead In Quest For Cancer Cure

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Radioactive tritium, an ingredient of the fearsome H-bomb, has helped turn up a possible new lead for the research fight against cancer, a University of Pennsylvania scientist said Wednesday.

Made to act as a kind of tail-light on one of the key substances of all living cells, tritium apparently has demonstrated an entirely new concept of what takes place in one of the very earliest stages of the normal cellular growth process — and perhaps even in that of cancerous cells.

This was reported by Dr. Lester Goldstein to the annual meeting of the American Institute of Biological Sciences at Pennsylvania State University. He amplified his report in an interview.

Specifically, the aim of the research was to pin-point within the nucleus or heart of a living cell the site of origin of a substance known as ribonucleic acid — RNA for short.

RNA when formed within the cell is presumed to act as a kind of messenger boy for another key substance — called deoxyribonucleic acid or DNA — which is the main constituent of the hereditary genes that are carried by the chromosomes.

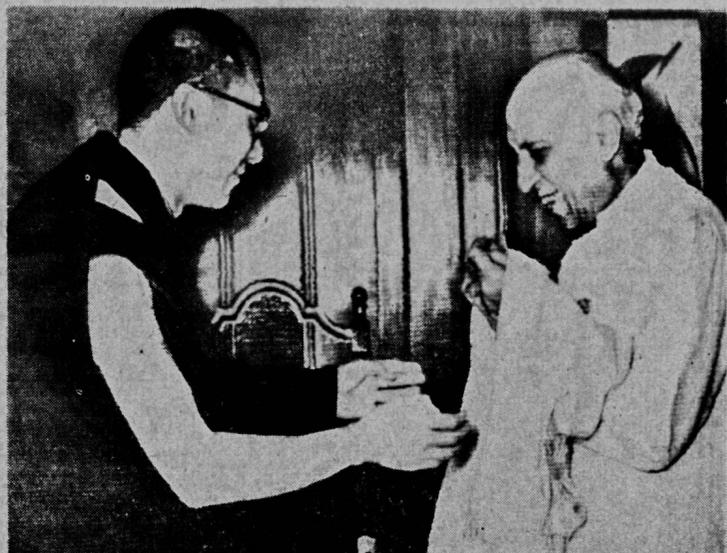

In effect DNA acts as a kind of storehouse for the hereditary traits that determine whether a baby will be blue-eyed or brown-eyed, tall or short and so on.

And RNA is presumed to be the carrier of such information to other parts of the developing cell.

For years scientists have sought to determine the exact point within the cell where the messenger boy himself is synthesized or born.

Up to now the usually accepted concept is that RNA is formed in cellular materials that are relatively distant from the chromosomes and the DNA storehouse — presumably entailing a pickup trip by the RNA messenger service.

But Dr. Goldstein's work appears to show that the messenger boy is born on the chromosomes — right handy to the storehouse.

Teen-Aged 'Dracula' Found Searching Garbage For Food

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharp-eyed officers Wednesday grabbed the object of one of the city's greatest searches — the teen-age "Dracula" sought in the senseless playground slaying of two boys of 16.

"I'm the guy you're looking for" snapped arrogant little Salvatore Agron, 17, a Puerto Rican youth who fancied himself a modern counterpart of the blood-sucking fiend in a novel of long ago.

He and two pitiful companions were grubbing for food in a garbage can as two radio car patrolmen, George Perette and Patrick O'Hare, spotted them at 2 a. m. on a Bronx street.

Says Profits Not Primary For Leaders

Making maximum profits is not the main motive of the business leader, contrary to popular opinion and to the assumptions of utilitarian psychology, Manfred Kuhn, SUI associate professor of sociology and anthropology, said Wednesday afternoon in a talk at Northwestern University.

Kuhn told the conference on Economic Education there that the business manager is motivated rather by the roles in which he finds himself in society, just as all the rest of us are. He may work to make as much money as possible if the society in which he finds himself rates maximum profits as the top evidence of success in his role. But doing so because society expects it of him is not the same as doing it because of an innate drive, Kuhn pointed out.

The important thing about this distinction is that if his belief holds true, then the prime motive of the business leader is subject to change, Kuhn explained.

Each of us organizes and directs his own actions, inhibits his impulses and manages and controls his life in terms of the self-image he develops, Kuhn said. This image is produced by the way we fit into the various groups — family, business associates, etc. — to which we belong.

Man behaves in terms of the way he believes the world to be, not in terms of the way it actually is, Kuhn said.

We cannot make the best prediction of another's behavior from an objective appraisal of his IQ, skills and potentialities, but from understanding his own conception of himself, the speaker noted. Actually there may be an enormous gap between a man's abilities and they are observed objectively by another person and the man's concept of what he can and cannot do.

This "role" theory for explaining actions starts with the general observation that every human society consists of a system of interconnected and interdependent positions, each of which lacks any intrinsic meaning by itself but derives its meaning from its place in the system.

Kuhn quoted one authority as putting it, "The job or position is described in terms of the actions expected from others such as foremen, subordinates, paymaster, etc." In other words, a job is an organization of expectations, a kind of shorthand term for an idea embracing actions expected of persons carrying out specific roles, he pointed out.

In discussing general qualities of leadership, Kuhn said social psychologists have not yet been able to pinpoint them. They have found that qualities of personality relationship role — that specific qualities of leadership as a general phenomenon cannot be named. Nor can specific traits found in leaders in general be named, with the possible exception of general intelligence, Kuhn stated.

AMBASSADOR TO EGYPT

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Mohamed Al Sheriki has arrived as Jordan's first ambassador to the United Arab Republic in more than a year. The two countries broke relations in mid-1958 and agreed to resume them last month.

"Well," said young Agron, "you're going to find out anyway."

In a final burst of bravado, he snarled at the policemen: "I don't care if I burn. My mother could watch me."

The reference was to death in the electric chair.

Agron's mother, who left the boy's father behind to come to this country when her son was a child of eight, rushed to the police station with a Bible in hand. She said her son used to read it but had quit.

She caught a glimpse of him and pushed through a crowd of officers and newsmen. But the 5-foot-7, 110-pound boy stonily brushed her past.

The mother asked a detective to take the Bible to him. The officer came back a moment later and said: "He doesn't want it."

Asked if she thought her son capable of murder, the mother, Frances Rodriguez, 37, now remarried to a minister, replied: "I don't know. I don't think so. But he is seldom home. I don't know what he does or who his friends are."

Youthful mayhem and murder is nothing new to the teeming tenement districts of the city, the time-honored melting pots of the world's races and creeds.

So far this year, 10 have been killed. The past week brought four deaths, with a number slashed and shot as in previous years.

Deaths of the last two, Robert Young and Tony Krzesinski aroused the city to fever pitch.

The two were sitting in a West Side Manhattan playground early Sunday, conversing idly with other boy and girl companions after attending a movie, when set upon by a gang of Puerto Rican juveniles.

The victims were unknown to their attackers — who were described by police as disgruntled over a run-in with another neighborhood youngster earlier.

Post Office Jobs Now Available

Opportunities to apply for employment in the Iowa City Post Office were announced in a bulletin issued this week.

Examinations are for substitute clerk and carrier positions, which have a starting pay rate of $2 an hour.

Applicants must pass a written test and reside in the delivery area or be a bona fide patron of the post office here. Age limits are given in the examination announcement; however, there is no age limit for persons entitled to veteran preference.

Interested persons may obtain further information and blanks from the Iowa City Post Office.

Crime Rate Up In U.S. For 1958

WASHINGTON (AP) — With rape leading the sordid parade, crime in the United States marched at an accelerated pace in 1958. The seven principal offenses showed an average increase of 9.3 per cent over 1957.

The Justice Department's uniform crime reports showed forcible rape cases up 13 per cent while the most grave of offenses, murder, registered the smallest increase of 1.9 per cent.

Robbery and burglary moved ahead at nearly identical rates with increases of 12.7 and 12.6 per cent, respectively. Larceny cases involving more than $50 were up 10.3 per cent while aggravated assault and auto thefts showed increases of 2.6 and 2.2 per cent.

In all, 1,553,022 crimes in the seven registered categories were reported, 131,637 more than in 1957.

Youth played an increasingly large part in law defiance, based on arrest figures—and it played a disproportionately large role in many of the more serious crimes. Although those under 18 represented only 12.1 per cent of all persons arrested, they were involved in 18.5 per cent of the arrests for rape, 64.1 per cent of those for auto thefts, 49.9 per cent of the burglaries, 48.5 per cent of the larceny cases and 22.3 per cent of the robberies.

Bill To Increase Gasoline Tax Sent To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed penny increase in the federal gasoline tax to keep the interstate highway construction program from stalling for lack of money went to the House Wednesday on a take-this-or-nothing basis.

Rules Committee clearance of the bill put it up for House debate Thursday with passage expected quickly.

The procedure under which the measure was sent to the floor prohibits amendments, blocking the efforts of House members who want extra money for the highways to come from sources other than a bigger gasoline tax. However, the way is still open in the Senate for changes after the House votes out a bill.

The proposal would boost the present three-cent federal gasoline tax by one penny only until July 1, 1961 — for the next 21 or 22 months depending on when it could go into effect.

During the three years after that, the extra money would be obtained by diverting one-half of the 10 per cent manufacturers' excise tax on new automobiles and two-thirds of the 8 per cent tax on auto parts and accessories. These now bring about 300 million dollars a year into the general fund of the Treasury.

Nikita To Speak At Dinner In Des Moines September 22

DES MOINES (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will speak at a dinner in his honor here Sept. 22, John Adams, Chamber of Commerce secretary, said Wednesday.

The dinner will be at the Hotel Fort Des Moines, with Des Moines Mayor Charles Iles and Frank De Puydt, Chamber of Commerce president, acting as hosts.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, will be the official in charge at the meeting, and also will speak.

Adams said there will be room for 550 to 600 persons at the dinner. He said the list of those attending will be headed by the 100 persons in the official party, including Russians and U.S. State Department officials.

Next will come state and city officials and their wives, headed by Gov. and Mrs. Herschel Loveless. Invitations will be extended to officers and board members of the Chamber of Commerce and their wives. Other guests will be invited by a committee headed by Mayor Iles and De Puydt.

Khrushchev's party is scheduled to arrive in Des Moines by air at 1:45 p.m. Sept. 22.

Adams said the reception committee is to be headed by Loveless, Iles, and mayors of nearby communities.

Johnson's Drive For Adjournment Gaining Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas was reported getting evermore favorable response Wednesday to a proposal that the Senate meet Saturday and Labor Day, next Monday, in a drive for Sept. 12 adjournment.

In polling senators on this question, Johnson was understood to have notified Southern opponents that he intends to bring up the civil rights issue in some form next week.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has predicted Senate passage, without lengthy debate, of what he called a skeletonized bill.

Johnson also was seeking assurances that the Senate will pass without amendment a bill to abolish the present 3 1/2 per cent interest rate ceiling on government "E" and "H" savings bonds.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said an effort will be made to pass such a bill in the House, where this type of legislation originates. He said the success of any such move depended on the Senate's action.

The House plans a session on Labor Day, but none this Saturday.

Fate Of Iowans Missing In Canada Still Undetermined

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The fate of four Iowans missing on a Canadian fishing trip remained a mystery Wednesday night.

The four have not been seen since their plane was refueled at the Lake Elmo airport Aug. 21.

For a brief time Wednesday it was believed the plane was sighted in the marshy muck of Lake Rice, located about 12 miles north of the Lake Elmo airport.

But Sheriff Reuben Grandquist said that after reaching the area it was determined the object spotted in the lake was a part of an old duck blind.

The Iowans are Fred W. Wegner, 67, Bassett farmer; William W. Schneider, 44, Colwell furnace salesman; Leland Chestek, 47, Colwell corn shelling operator; and Lloyd Boefler, Elmira, bulk oil station operator, who was piloting the Cessna 140 which belonged to the Charles City Flying Club.

'Stimulating and Rewarding,' SUI's Hancher Calls U.N. Post

Helping to represent the United States in the General Assembly of the United Nations should be both stimulating and rewarding, SUI President Virgil M. Hancher said Wednesday following confirmation by the Senate of his appointment as an alternate delegate to the U.N.

Along with five delegates and four other alternate delegates, President Hancher will serve in the U.S. delegation to the General Assembly for the next three months. He will be in New York most of that time, since the 10-member U.S. delegation serves as a single working group in the plenary sessions and on the seven main committees of the General Assembly.

Henry Cabot Lodge, permanent U.S. representative to the United Nations, will head the U.S. delegation with which President Hancher will serve. Other members include George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO; Walter S. Robertson, recent assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs; Representatives James G. Fulton (R-Pa.) and Clement J. Zablocki (D-Wisc.); and other alternate delegates include Mrs. Oswald B. Lord; New York; Harold Riegelman, New York attorney; Charles W. Anderson, Louisville, Ky., attorney; and Erle Coker, Jr. of Georgia, former national commander of the American Legion.

Tentative Pact Made With 3 Packers

CHICAGO (AP) — Two meatpacking unions Wednesday announced a tentative contract agreement with three more big companies—Cudahy Packing Co., John Morrell & Co. and Hygrade Food Products Corp.—covering 18,500 workers in the industry.

General terms of the agreement are similar to those negotiated Monday with the Armour & Co.

Morrell employs 7,500 workers in plants in Chicago, Ottumwa, and Estherville in Iowa, Fort Worth, Tex., Sioux Falls, S.D., Madison, S.D., Philadelphia and Memphis, Tenn.

The unions, United Packinghouse Workers of America and Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union, said present contracts, which expired at midnight Monday, will be extended to Sept. 12 when negotiating teams will begin working out actual language of the new contract.

Talks with two other members of the so-called big four of the packing industry—Swift & Co. and Wilson & Co.—still are underway. Armour and Cudahy are the other big two.

The unions said the companies agreed that all pay raises and other benefits still to be negotiated will be retroactive to Sept. 1. Terms on certain working conditions in the Armour contract are not applicable at Cudahy, Morrell and Hygrade, the unions said.

The agreement with Armour was reached Monday only two hours before the unions' three year contracts with the major packers expired. It averted a nationwide strike in the industry as the unions agreed to work as long as negotiations continue.

The Armour agreement will increase pay and benefits 22 cents an hour for 14,000 Armour workers. Present pay in the industry averages $2.56 an hour.

Commenting on his appointment following word of its confirmation by the Senate Wednesday, President Hancher said, "The prospect of participating in the work of the United States delegation to the 14th General Assembly of the United Nations is most stimulating, and I feel that it will be rewarding in terms of my future service to SUI. Under the terms of the Charter of the United Nations, each nation is entitled to five delegates and five alternates. The U.S. delegation of 10 members is treated as a single working group for attendance at the plenary sessions and the seven main committees of the General Assembly.

"This assignment will require my absence from the campus for the greater portion of the period of three months beginning about Sept. 10 and ending approximately Dec. 10. During my absence the day to day administration of the University will be the responsibility of Provost Harvey H. Davis. However, I do not expect to be farther away at any time than a long distance telephone call, and it is my hope and expectation to return to the campus from time to time.

"The United Nations provides a forum for study, discussions and debates. The problems of various segments of the world are considered and discussed, even though they may not always be resolved; and there is always the abiding hope that its processes may help to avoid the waste and horror of war, of revolution or of other forcible alterations in the structure of society.

"As a member of the United States delegation it is my hope that I may contribute to a greater understanding of international problems and the peaceful settlements of international disputes."

8 Killed When Airplane Crashes In Alaskan Storm

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — A twin-engine plane crashed Tuesday night in a storm, killing six girls on a magazine subscription tour, their crew chief, and the pilot.

Dead are C. W. (Bud) Priest of Anchorage, the pilot; C. A. Bailey, 35, of Seattle, formerly of Lynchburg, Va., who had charge of the group; Rose Johnson, Minneapolis; Diane Nelson, Fargo, N.D.; Shirley Salazar, Hawaii; Cathy Clark, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Virginia Lee Ostrander, Seattle; and Alberta McKellop, Oklahoma.

The plane was nearing McGrath, 300 miles southwest of here, on a flight from Tanana when the pilot reported at 10:12 p.m. that he was lost in a storm and running low on fuel. That was his last report.

Searchers sighted wreckage from the air early Wednesday five miles from the town of Ophir. A helicopter from the 71st Air Rescue Service investigated and identified the wreckage.

Because of the rugged terrain, the helicopter crew had to land some distance away and walk to the site.

Except for Miss Ostrander, the group had been selling magazines in Alaska for several weeks. She had joined them for a final week. They had finished the tour at the Eskimo village of Kotzebue on the west coast, above the Arctic Circle, leaving there Tuesday morning.

Once forced down by fog near Tanana, they had taken off again in the late evening for McGrath. Bailey's wife, waiting in Seattle with their three children, said her husband called her during the Tanana stop. She said the girls were in their early 20s or late teens, Miss Ostrander was 18.

Bailey worked on contract for the Local Reader Service of Chicago. The plane was chartered by Bailey in Anchorage.

ARGENTINE ARMY CHIEF OUT

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Gen. Elbio Anaya, Argentine secretary of war, has fired Gen. Carlos Severa Toranzo Montero, commander in chief of Argentina's army. The ouster Wednesday appeared certain to spark another round in the series of military crises which have plagued the government of President Arturo Frondizi since it assumed power 15 months ago.

Danish Rock 'N Roller Nabbed

A Danish policeman gets a neck hold on a teen-ager in Copenhagen during a violent demonstration that took place at the inter-Scandinavian rock 'n' roll concert at Ballaholm Music Hall Sunday. The youths knocked the props from under the stage, causing it to collapse on the spectators. They stoned police and broke windows. —AP Wirephoto.

Perry Mayor, 2 Councilmen Resign In Wake Of Controversy

PERRY — Two City Council members and Mayor Lucien Doran have resigned after a long controversy with a citizen's group over the handling of Perry's finances.

However, Doran and Councilman Herbert Taylor said they resigned Tuesday night because of poor health.

Doran has been hospitalized twice in recent months. Taylor, a retired railroad conductor, said he has not been in good health and his wife is in a hospital. Taylor said he and his wife planned to move to California.

Councilman Dr. Charles McCauley did not say why he was resigning. However, it was believed he resigned because of the controversy with the citizen's group.

The resignations came in the wake of a state auditor's report which criticized the city's financial dealings.

Dr. McCauley and Taylor first handed in their resignations at the regular meeting of the council. Mayor Doran appointed Donald Parker, a florist, and Robert Harrison, a railroader, to succeed them.

Then Doran resigned. The council appointed Loren Diddy, a councilman, as interim mayor.

The resignations were tendered while a citizen's group was meeting for a public discussion of the auditor's report.

The report was made after the group urged Atty. Gen. Norman Erbe to remove the mayor and council for overspending the city's budget.

The auditor's office said the city lost more than $12,000 because the council didn't live up to agreements in a contract for garbage hauling. The audit also said some of the council members were over paid.

6 Fort Dodge Bars Raided For Violations

FORT DODGE — Simultaneous raids on six Fort Dodge taverns were conducted by 30 law enforcement officers Tuesday night.

Six persons were charged with keeping liquor where beer is sold. They pleaded innocent Wednesday and were bound over to the grand jury. Bond was set at $300 each.

County Attorney John Murray, who headed the raids, said liquor was seized at all six taverns.

Charged were John Brehm, co-owner of the Flame; Ronald Dewey, bartender at the Liberty Beer Parlor; Glenn Walden, bartender at the Brass Rail; Manuel Lemparis, owner of the Gas Light; Lee Crippen, bartender at the Brown Derby; and Dale Deimel, bartender at the Chatterbox.

Walden also was booked on a charge of receiving stolen property in the alleged theft of a television set and clothing. Bond was set at $500 and the case continued in police court.

Authorities said as a result of the raids two men and a woman were charged with soliciting for the purpose of prostitution. Their cases were continued.

Murray said the raids were in the planning stage for some time and the seven state agents who participated have been in and out of Fort Dodge for several weeks in helping local authorities.

July Good Month For New Motor Vehicle Dealers

DES MOINES — Iowa dealers in new motor vehicles and trailers did about 34 per cent more business in July than they did in the same month last year, the Iowa Tax Commission reported Wednesday.

The dollar volume for July this year showed a gain of slightly more than $8 million. The total for the month was $32,423,574, based on collection of the 2 per cent use tax on such sales.

Commission officials have said that the great majority of such sales are of new cars.

Thirteen county treasurers each collected more than $10,000 for the state from the July sales. That is about twice the usual number.

Those counties and the amounts collected: Black Hawk, $33,115; Cerro Gordo, $10,43; Clinton, $13,611; Dubuque, $13,283; Lee, $10,080; Linn, $35,957; Polk, $79,309; Pottawattamie, $18,438; Scott, $32,359; Story, $10,967; Wapello, $11,655; Webster, $12,604; and Woodbury, $24,299.

Mrs. K. Called 'Gracious Hostess' By Iowa's Garst

COON RAPIDS — An Iowa farmer who has visited twice at the home of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev says the wife of the Russian leader is a gracious, delightful hostess.

Roswell Garst, who produces and sells hybrid seed corn, will get a return call from the Khrushchev family this month at his modern, central Iowa farm.

Garst told Wednesday of an evening at the Khrushchev villa on the occasion of his first visit in 1955 when he was selling seed corn.

"I had dinner at their home," he said. "One of the daughters — I think the older one because Mrs. Khrushchev didn't speak English then, and neither did this daughter, but the younger one Julia, 30, was studying it."

"Mrs. Khrushchev showed me her garden and the trees around their house. She loves to garden, but I wouldn't say she was the outdoor kind."

"She impressed me as a normal housewife," Garst said.

Does Mrs. K. keep her own garden like Mrs. Garst?

"Oh, no. She doesn't do her own. They are a way out of our class," said Garst.

Mrs. Khrushchev is a sparkling conversationalist and now speaks English, he said.

$1 Million Union Gift To Steel Strikers Announced

WASHINGTON — Walter Reuther announced Wednesday a $1 million union donation to steel strikers. He also charged that President Eisenhower is evading his public responsibility in dealing with the eight-week walkout.

Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers Union, said the $1 million comes as an initial down payment from unions comprising the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department (IUD) he also heads.

He said the IUD unions are mobilizing funds and picket line demonstrations around steel plants to bolster the strikers in a labor showdown that he said may last into the winter.

Reuther said Eisenhower is evading his leadership responsibilities by not appointing a public fact-finding board to sift steel dispute issues and recommend a solution. He said fact reports issued by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell are too little and too late.

"If Eisenhower publicly takes a hands-off position in this, as he has done, and then turns around and invokes the Taft-Hartley Law to stop the strike and bail out the industry when it begins to feel a pinch, the President will be using his office as an anti-labor weapon and strike-breaking agency," Reuther told a news conference.

Reuther was reminded that the Taft-Hartley emergency provisions are a matter of law, while there is no statute either authorizing or forbidding a fact board that would recommend a strike settlement plan.

"The essence of White House leadership is not what the law technically requires you to do, but what common sense and the public good requires. The President can't escape his moral obligation by hiding behind legal technicalities," Reuther replied.

Indict 3 Cops In Chicago Drug Ring

WASHINGTON — A federal grand jury at Chicago Wednesday indicted three police officers and a former Treasury agent in connection with the operation of a nationwide narcotics distribution ring.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, who made the announcement, said 21 defendants were named in two conspiracy indictments returned by the jury.

The indictments said the defendants made up a narcotics distribution ring headquartered in Chicago that supplied illicit drugs coast-to-coast. San Francisco, Los Angeles, Miami, Cleveland, Detroit, and Gary, Ind., were named among the receiving points.

The three Chicago policemen charged with giving protection to the ring by supplying information on the activities of law enforcement officials, were named as Sheldon R. Teller, Miles J. Cooperman and Richard E. Austin.

The indicted former Treasury agent is Edward Richardson Gayles, now a practicing attorney in Chicago.

Commerce Group Probing Reports Of Storage Fraud

DES MOINES — The Iowa Commerce Commission was said Wednesday to have been investigating reports that some warehousemen have offered inducements to farmers to deliver their government corn to certain elevators and warehouses.

Such special inducements by warehouses bonded under Iowa law are illegal, according to a ruling issued by Waldo F. Wheeler, counsel for the commission.

In some cases the inducements were said to have run as high as six cents a bushel, a commission source said. The warehouse fee for stored grain is 16.4 cents a bushel annually.

No charges have been filed and the commission does not have enough inspectors to check all warehouses, a commission official said.

Iowa Fair's State Day Attracts Crowds, Politicians, Officials

DES MOINES — Clear skies and cool weather attracted many of the state's politicians and office holders to the annual State Day at the Iowa State Fair Wednesday.

The governor, legislators and other elected officials were guests of the fair at lunch and at a grandstand program.

Fair attendance Wednesday was estimated at 45,000, compared to 45,275 at the same time a year ago.

Among the first of the politicians on the fairgrounds was Sen. Thomas Martin, Iowa City Republican.

Iowa Guardsman Places Fourth In Speed Contest

MIAMI, Fla. — Capt. John Cottingham of Sioux City, a member of the 175th Iowa Air National Guard Squadron, finished fourth in the speed phase of the Ricks Trophy competition Wednesday.

He flew the 850 mile course from Memphis, Tenn., to Miami in one hour, 33 minutes and 13 seconds at a speed of 550 miles an hour.

Like the nine other competing jet pilots, Cottingham photographed ground targets from his plane along the route.

Award of the coveted Ricks Trophy will depend on the pictures to be developed later.

First Lt. Robert G. Graham, 27, Nashville, Tenn., flew 580 miles an hour to win the speed contest. His elapsed time was one hour, 28 minutes, 39 seconds.

He declined to say whether he will run for office again in 1960, but said "very rarely does an incumbent announce this early."

Two of his competitors also were on hand — state Sen. Jack Miller (R-Sioux City) and state Rep. Kenneth Stringer (R-Davenport).

Miller told the Associated Press that while in Washington recently he received strong support for his candidacy for U.S. senator by several Republican leaders.

Several possible candidates for the Republican nomination for governor also attended State Day, including Atty. Gen. Norman Erbe of Boone, former House Speaker William Mooty of Grundy Center, state Sen. Jack Schroeder (R-Davenport) and former Lt. Gov. Leo Elthon of Fertile.

Schroeder said that any decision regarding his candidacy for governor depends upon how the "picture shapes up" in the coming months.

Governor Herschel Loveless presented a life-saving award at the grandstand show to Iowa National Guard Maj. Milford Juhl of Boone who made a helicopter rescue of two boys whose boat overturned in the Cedar River at Palisades State Park last June.

The boys are William Gamber of Cedar Rapids and Lester Carkhoff of Keosauqua.

Individual Counseling Found Best

Individual counseling of college students who were not using their academic potential brought a greater improvement in grades than counseling given to such students in groups, a study completed this summer at SUI found.

The two methods of counseling academic underachievers formed the subject of a study by George L. Marx, who received a Ph.D. degree at SUI's August Commencement. Marx was fraternity scholarship advisor at SUI from 1957-59.

The subjects for Marx's study were selected from a group of liberal arts freshmen who had completed one semester at SUI. The students had not performed as well as predicted on the basis of their composite score on the Iowa College Scholarship and Placement Battery, administered before the students began their college work.

The students in the study were channeled at random into individual or group counseling. A third group of underachievers who did not report for counseling though they were invited to do so became a control group.

Grade-point averages made by students in the three groups at the end of the second semester were compared with their averages of first semester.

Students who received individual counseling raised their grade-point averages more than did students in the control group, although these differences were not statistically significant. More of those in the control group dropped out of school than did students in either of the counseled groups.

Typical topics of discussion for both individual and group counseling sessions included possible causes for underachievement, study skills, vocational choice and motivation for college work.

As student populations grow, the aims and purposes of students will be expanded as will the diversity of the backgrounds from which the students are drawn, Marx pointed out. One of the student personnel services which will be most directly affected by increased enrollments and increased diversity of the student population will be the general area of counseling, he noted.

In recent years, the concept that counseling must be done in a one-to-one relationship has been challenged. The purpose of Marx's investigation was to ascertain whether counseling is effective in improving achievement and to contrast the effectiveness of group counseling with individual methods of counseling.

Group counseling would provide a more economical method of helping the greatly increased numbers of students expected in the next few decades, some college administrators have suggested.

Marx has accepted a position as assistant professor of education at the University of Maryland, College Park.

U.S. Extends Gold Medal Spree In Pan-Am Games

CHICAGO (AP) — The unlikely combination of a pretty 20-year-old miss from California and a wiry New England schoolteacher set the victory pace Wednesday for the United States in the Pan-American Games.

Competing in an equestrian event usually the domain of cavalry officers, Miss Trish Galvin of Santa Barbara won the dressage gold medal. The Californian beat three crack riders from the Chilean army.

John Kelley, 29, of Groton, Conn., who stands 5-6 and weighs 125, won the marathon in the games—record time of 2:27:54.2 for the 26 mile, 385 yard race. This compares favorably with the winning time at the last Olympics of 2:25:00. It was the first time an American has won the marathon in Pan-American or Olympic competition since 1908 when John L. Hayes took the prize at the London Olympics.

Jeter Hurt In Hawkeyes' 2nd Drill

Bob Jeter, star of last year's Rose Bowl game, became Iowa's first football casualty Wednesday as the Hawkeyes completed their second day of drills. The injury, a dislocated finger suffered while attempting to catch a pass, is not considered serious.

The fleet halfback was sidelined for most of the day's drills and will probably not be able to take part in full-scale workouts for two or three days. In Jeter's absence sophomore Keith Kunderman of Crystal Lake, Ill., ran with the first string backfield.

The remainder of the first unit was the same that opened drills Tuesday.

The morning session was devoted almost entirely to the passing game with Olen Treadway and Wilburn Hollis doing most of the throwing.

Halfback Fred Erhardt, Camden, N.J., sophomore, was shifted to quarterback Wednesday—at least temporarily. The coaches want to take a better look at his passing before making a final decision on the switch.

Working on both offense and defense in the afternoon, several units ran ground plays against blocking dummies and defended an offense engineered by the reserves.

ARMSTRONG LOSES

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Dick Tiger, the British Empire middleweight champion, handed Gene (Ace) Armstrong his first professional defeat Wednesday night by taking a 10-round decision at Convention Hall.

Army will have another fine football team this year, capable of representing the East respectably against the best of any section, and you can also keep an eye on Penn State. In fact, let me say that the top Eastern independent group of Army, Navy, Penn State, Syracuse and Pittsburgh will year in and year out stack up well against the best five from any area.

The Ivy League should have two very fine football teams in Dartmouth and Princeton—and the outcome of their game may well decide the championship in that group, as it did a year ago when Dartmouth won.

In the far west, Southern California has a strong enough line to test the best, even Ohio State, and UCLA now seems straightened away to climb toward the dominance it knew a few years back under the late Red Sanders. In the northwest, Washington State, a dangerous passing team and also sound otherwise, can move up near the top.

Don't overlook the Air Force Academy. The Falcons may not match their undefeated record of last year, but I think they will be an even stronger team. Ben Martin, their coach, has a more thorough concept of defense than most young coaches, and that is not the end of his attributes.

Speaking of individuals, I believe this season will produce a crop of runners worthy of the best of the past. I can quickly think of seven: LSU's Billy Cannon, Army's Bob Anderson, Oklahoma's Prentice Gaut, Northwestern's Ron Burton, Notre Dame's Red Mack and Dick Bass of College of the Pacific, and Jake Crouthame, of Dartmouth.

There will also be many fine passers such as Southern Methodist's Don Meredith, Northwestern's Dick Thornton, Army's Joe Caldwell, the Air Force's Richie Mayo, Notre Dame's George Izo, Navy's Joe Tranchini, North Carolina's Jack Cummings, Clemson's Harvey White, Penn State's Richie Lucas and Mississippi's Bobby Franklin.

All this portends a blazing football year. One I'm really looking forward to.

Diamond In The Rough

Here's what the baseball diamond at Candlestick Park looks like today from a point high in the grandstand. The San Francisco Giants will move into the park next year—but hope to have the park ready for a possible World Series in about a month. The Giants, now playing at Seals Stadium in San Francisco, had hoped to play some of their regular season games in the new park but apparently have given up this goal. —AP Wirephoto.

Red Blaik On Football

Predicting college football is a precarious pastime. Football is not a game that follows form. It is basically a game of movement, blocking and tackling. The degree of execution of these fundamentals depends greatly on desire or spirit, which can vary appreciably with individuals and teams from game to game. We often hear an unexpected result explained by one team being "up" and the other "down"—and this usually makes sense.

The "down" team will invariably lose, unless it is favored disproportionately by the breaks or unless it enjoys an advantage in personnel become increasingly rarer some too wide to be bridged by the "up" team's spirit. Such advantages in personnel become increasingly rarer with each season for two reasons. First, the deliberately scheduled "breather" or "rabbit hunt" game is fast becoming extinct. Second, there is an ever increasing spread of balanced strength, both within conferences and on a national basis.

In this respect, I can recall few seasons that have matched and none that have surpassed the way 1959 shapes up. I can't think of a single major team that can look forward with any certainty at all to an undefeated season. And I can think of several which are good enough, if personnel comes through as anticipated and is not too disaffected by injuries, to be at or near the top by season's end.

Every section has at least one team and most of them have two or more capable of the highest ranking. The Western Conference has at least four in Ohio State, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Purdue. It is never wise to underestimate a Notre Dame team, yet I feel that the Irish schedule, squared against the time needed for Coach Joe Kuharich to develop his line, will keep them from national championship contention this year.

By next year, they probably will be up near the top again.

Oklahoma, of course, must be considered seriously any year, and I feel Coach Bud Wilkinson will have his best quarterbacking and most dangerous attack since 1956. In the Southeastern Conference, Louisiana State, Auburn and Mississippi all have rich possibilities. There is also a second group, including Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Florida and Georgia, out of which one of two could move up higher than expected. The Atlantic Coast Conference offers two solid contenders in North Carolina and Clemson, with South Carolina not too far behind.

The Southwest Conference has a candidate capable of challenging the best from any other area in Southern Methodist, with Texas and Texas Christian only a furlong or two, if that much, behind the Mustangs. And it is axiomatic among football men that Rice, under Coach Jess Nealy, can be real tough on any given Saturday. I knew that before I brought the Army "Lonely Year" team down to Houston last year and I still know it after the

White Sox Trim Tigers Twice

CHICAGO (AP) — The league-leading Chicago White Sox dynamited Detroit with 11 runs in the fifth inning of the nightcap Wednesday night for an 11-4 victory after whipping the Tigers 7-2 in the first game of a two-night doubleheader.

A screaming crowd of 43,237 watched the Chicagoans boost their American League lead to 5½ games over the Cleveland Indians who won a single game from Kansas City.

In the second game, the usually light-hitting Sox were crawling along submissively trailing 3-0, under three-hit pitching by Detroit's Paul Foytack before outfielder Al Smith triggered the fifth inning explosion with a lead-off homer.

The next two batters grounded out.

Then the Sox broke loose with two singles, slowed down while Jim Landis walked, then smashing out six straight singles. They halted their attack again while reliever Tom Morgan nicked Luis Aparicio with an inside pitch and completed their scoring with a bases-loaded triple by Nelson Fox.

Chicago scoring that inning equalled the 11 runs they tallied April 22 in a big seventh inning against Kansas City.

Reliever Gerry Staley finished up both games without allowing a hit.

The United States men's 400-meter relay team, which won in :40.4, and the American girls' team in :49.6, which has a new record.

Buster Quist of Albuquerque, N.M., who led another sweep in the javelin and set a new games mark of 231 feet 3½ inches.

Adhemar da Silva of Brazil, two-time Olympic Champion, also won the hop, step and jump with 52 feet 2 inches.

Paced by American-trained George Kerr, the West Indies set a new games mark of 3:05.3 in the 1,600 meters relay, nosing out the United States.

Ray Norton of Oakland, Calif., was the individual star of track. He won both the 100 and 200 and anchored the winning 400 meter relay for a total of three gold medals.

A surprise occurred in tennis. Yolanda Ramirez and Rosa Reyes of Mexico captured the women's doubles title by defeating Althea Gibson of New York and Karol Fageros of Coconut Grove, Fla., 6-8, 7-5, 6-1.

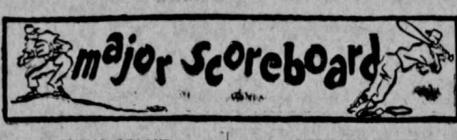

In baseball, the United States clobbered Costa Rica 23-0 and Venezuela was scarcely less merciful in beating Brazil 14-1.

The Senators broke up a shutout duel with two runs in the fifth on singles by Zorro Versalles, Billy Conzolo and Lennie Green. But the Yankees, blanked on one hit until then, got one in their fifth on singles by Hector Lopez and Gil McDougald and a doubleplay.

with none out, the bases loaded and two runs home for the Athletics. Bell shut off the rally, striking out two batters and getting the third to fly out.

With the exception of a third-inning homer by Dick Williams, the Indians right-hander kept Kansas City in check.

Bell's teammates hammered out five runs in the third inning and chased Ned Garver (9-11), the A's starting and losing pitcher. A bases-loaded single by Tito Francona scored two runs. Woodie Held doubled, driving in two more runs and George Strickland scored Held with a two-bagger.

Held tripled in the sixth inning and a sacrifice fly by Strickland counted the sixth Cleveland run.

Despite the victory, which stopped a four-game losing streak, the game held a big disappointment for the second-place Indians—the failure of Score to produce. It was the left-hander's first start in more than two weeks.

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra's two-run eighth-inning homer gave the New York Yankees the cushion they needed Wednesday night for a 4-3 victory over the Washington Senators.

Berra's homer followed a leadoff single by Tony Kubek off loser Pete Ramos and broke a 2-all tie.

The Nats then scored in the ninth, on Harmon Killebrew's double and a single by Clint Courtney, before Jim Coates, the winner in relief, fanned pinch-hitter Faye Throneberry and got pinch-hitter Hal Naragon on a game-ending grounder with the tying run on second.

Coates came on after starter Duke Maas was lifted for a pinch-hitter when the Yankees tied it in the seventh on Enos Slaughter's two-out pinch single.

The Senators broke up a shutout duel with two runs in the fifth on singles by Zorro Versalles, Billy Conzolo and Lennie Green. But the Yankees, blanked on one hit until then, got one in their fifth on singles by Hector Lopez and Gil McDougald and a doubleplay.

Orioles 4, BoSox 0
BALTIMORE (AP) — Lefty Bill O'Dell pitched a seven-hit 4-0 shutout Wednesday night as the Baltimore Orioles repulsed the Boston Red Sox threat to their fifth place perch in the American League.

The Red Sox had won six in a row from the Orioles and led the season series 12-6 before O'Dell stopped them and prevented Boston from moving up a notch in the standings.

Bob Boyd, in an unusual cleanup position for the Orioles, figured in both Baltimore rallies. He doubled to open the second inning after a walk to Gus Triandos, scored as Brooks Robinson beat out a bunt and losing pitcher Tom Brewer threw wildly past third.

Rookie Berry Shetrone then doubled Triandos home.

Singles by Al Pilarcik and Bob Nieman, and a safe bunt by Boyd loaded the bases in the third for Baltimore. A walk to Triandos forced in one run and another came across on a ground out.

The victory ended a four-game losing streak for Baltimore.

Reds 6-2, Pirates 3-1
CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, who had swept only one doubleheader all season, hung a one-two punch on the Pittsburgh pennant hopes Wednesday night as they won both ends of a two-night twin bill from the Pirates, 6-3, and 2-1.

Elroy Face, Pittsburgh's unbeaten relief pitcher, gave up the hit that provided the Reds' with their margin of victory in the opener but he wasn't charged with the defeat.

The blow was an eighth inning home run by Willie Jones after Vernon Law had yielded singles to Gus Bell and Frank Robinson.

Johnny Temple's triple and Vada Pinson's double produced the Reds' winning run in the nightcap.

The double setback ended Pittsburgh's five-game winning streak and dropped the Bucs five games behind front-running San Francisco.

Jim O'Toole allowed Pittsburgh only six hits in the opener and Don Newcombe yielded nine in the second game.

The Pirates ripped into O'Toole for three hits and three runs in the first inning of the opening game, but the youthful southpaw allowed only three hits the rest of the way and none after the fourth.

It was his second straight completely pitched victory.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jackie Brandt slammed a solo home run with one out in the last of the ninth, giving the San Francisco Giants a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday. A crowd of 16,422 watched the National League leaders open their final home stand.

Brandt's blast, his 12th homer, came off reliever Don Elston and climaxed an afternoon in which two other Giants hit the ball out of the playing field.

Big Sam Jones, who came on in the ninth as the Cubs rallied with two runs to tie the score, gained credit for his 18th victory while Elston took his seventh loss.
