China, India Talk Peace; But Nehru Denies Red Claims To Land Areas

Chou En-lai Asks Mutual Understanding

Sources Speculate Khrushchev Position

TOKYO (AP) — Talk of burying the hatchet swelled anew Friday in both Red China and India. Government leaders of each country professed readiness to submit at least some elements of their border quarrel to negotiation.

In New Delhi, Prime Minister Nehru disclaimed any desire for allies and said he does not believe the dispute will lead to war, not even a small one. He said India would accept mediation or arbitration to dispose of some small territorial squabbles, but not "the large areas being claimed on Chinese maps."

In Peiping, Premier Chou En-lai reiterated China's historical claim to thousands of square miles under the Indian flag, but said the two nations must try to settle their problems on the basis of "mutual sympathy, mutual understanding, fairness and reason." Reiterating a declaration he made in a letter to Nehru earlier this week, Chou said China is ready for peaceful talks to work out a partial or temporary agreement.

The display of sweetness and light, shifting emphasis from mutual charges of aggression, came just four days before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is due in Washington for a discussion of world affairs with President Eisenhower.

The Soviets made clear in a statement issued by the Soviet news agency Tass Wednesday that they do not want their Asian friends to rock the boat. Without taking sides, the statement urged Red China and India to settle their row and warned the West not to try to exploit it.

Nehru told a New Delhi news conference he appreciated the Tass statement very much.

"Presumably this represents the Soviet government view. Considering everything, it is a very fair statement. It is also a very unusual statement for the Soviet government to sponsor," Nehru said.

Speculation arose in the Indian capital that the Soviet Union may take an active hand in settling the dispute.

A rumor published by a pro-Communist weekly newspaper said Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may visit New Delhi after winding up talks with Chinese leaders in Peiping, where he is due Sept. 29.

Official sources said they knew of nothing to confirm it.

Another persistent, but unconfirmed report here is that the Indian Communist party sent an urgent message to Khrushchev recently asking his help toward a settlement, saying the dispute is undermining the position of the Communists in India.

Announce Frisco Journals To Go On Strike Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco's three daily newspapers will be struck at 8 a.m. Sunday in a contract dispute, the San Francisco-Oakland Newspaper Guild announced Friday.

The strike against the Chronicle and Examiner, morning newspapers, and the afternoon News-Call Bulletin was set at a special meeting by the Guild's executive committee.

The announcement said the strike was sanctioned by the San Francisco Labor Council, and all newspaper crafts affected by the strike "have pledged wholehearted support to the Guild."

Reporters receive a minimum of $138.50 after six years experience. They are asking maximum increases of $10 this year and $7.50 next year in a two-year contract. Management's top offer is reported as $5.50 this year and $4 next year.

CARMEN ESCAPES

HAVANA (AP) — Carmen Bonafonte, believed to be the only woman among major defendants in a current counterrevolutionary case, has escaped from jail, officials disclosed Friday.

Icelanders Protest U.S. Sentry's Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — Iceland protested to Washington Friday that an American sentry had forced two Icelandic officials at gunpoint to lie in a puddle, arms outstretched, for 10 minutes.

The State Department promptly expressed concern over this and another recent GI incident in Iceland. It promised fast action to prevent such incidents from happening again.

The affair seems on its way to friendly solution between the two governments.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Presidential talk dominated the 14-state Midwest Democratic Conference Friday but it was hard to find agreement on a favorite.

Former President Harry S. Truman and several governors declined to be pinned down on a personal choice in a series of news conferences.

An exception was Gov. James T. Blair of Missouri, who has said he is for Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri. Symington, apparently the only potential candidate planning to attend will speak at a luncheon Saturday.

Other senators and representatives stayed in Washington, caught in the adjournment whirl of Congress.

Gov. Ralph Brooks of Nebraska, the first Democratic governor there since 1940, is being boomed as the possible keynoter of the 1960 national convention. He said Kennedy is the only presidential prospect who has been in his state.

Gov. Herschel Lovelless of Iowa said he believes Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts is the strongest in Iowa but several others have support.

Lovelless said he believes the Midwest should be in the first or second spot on the 1960 ticket. He said he was flattered by the mention of his name among vice presidential possibilities but "you don't campaign for that office."

Lovelless said Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev will have a polite reception when he visits Iowa Sept. 22-23.

Wayne Morse Delays Senate Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), said Friday he will do his utmost to stem Congress' homeward rush well into next week.

Morse's stated determination to keep up his delaying tactics cast doubt on whether the Senate and House can quit work Monday, let alone Saturday as some members had hoped.

The House, with its calendar virtually wiped clean, passed a $4,100,000,000 farm surplus disposal bill Friday, then began marking time until the slower-paced Senate catches up.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said he would like to finish work on that bill Saturday night "but that may not be possible."

He spoke of another early-starting session Monday to clear away any remaining legislation.

There was the possibility of a full-blown fight over civil rights, although backstage efforts were under way to limit their speeches against a two-year extension of the Civil Rights Commission.

Another sticky issue to be resolved lies in a bill to allow the Treasury to raise interest rates on Series E and H savings bonds. Senate-House conferees again were unable to reach agreement. They planned another try Saturday.

As the Senate finally quit for the night at 8:35 p.m. EST after just short of a 12-hour session, Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), warned that "the Senate can anticipate a very late session tomorrow."

That will start at 8 a.m. EST. And Mansfield listed several bills that "could be called up anytime" including the foreign aid money bill with its civil rights rider.

None of the legislative problems appeared big enough to hold up for long adjournment of this first session of the 86th congress — a session that began last January.

For a week, Morse has been waging a single-handed fight to slow down the Senate. His reason, he says, is to prevent "a lot of bad legislation" from going through in the dash for adjournment.

His most effective tactic has been to block most efforts of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas to speed action by short-cut routes requiring unanimous consent of the Senate.

New Hampshire Group Launches Rockefeller Draft

Possible N.H. Primary Battle Against Nixon

No Immediate Comment From N.Y. Governor

CONCORD, N. H. (AP) — A potential Nixon-Rockefeller battle in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary moved a step closer to reality Friday with the launching of a campaign to draft the New York governor.

A group of 40 prominent Granite State residents urged Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to declare himself a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination and enter the early-bird primary next March 8.

In New York City, Rockefeller had no immediate comment but his New Hampshire supporters said he has promised to give serious consideration to their request.

Although neither Vice President Richard M. Nixon nor the governor have announced future political plans, their followers here are convinced the two will clash in the country's first 1960 test of voter sentiment.

Rockefeller's boosters hailed news of the draft and said it was a grass roots movement reminiscent of a 1952 New Hampshire campaign that started Dwight D. Eisenhower on the road to the White House.

But Nixon's backers scoffed at such an idea.

They said the vice president would trounce the New York governor in any primary contest. They pointed to the unprecedented 23,000 write-in votes which Nixon received here in the 1956 primary at a time when there was talk of dumping him from the GOP ticket.

Rockefeller's supporters opened their draft campaign with a long telegram addressed to him at his Albany, N. Y., office.

They said they have "concluded that you, above all others in the Republican party, possess the qualities demanded of the president of the United States in these difficult times."

Signers included Rep. Chester E. Mrow (R-NH), a leading Rockefeller backer and Concord Alderman Eugene C. Struckhoff, a lawyer who announced the news at a press conference in his office.

Governors Launch Try To Bring Ike Into Steel Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Governors' Conference, acting under a "national crisis" resolution, launched a move Friday aimed at bringing President Eisenhower into the worsening nationwide steel strike.

The step was taken in the face of reports that the strike's effects, slowly pyramiding during the past two months of the work stoppage, are approaching crippling proportions for the nation's economy.

Steel inventories are running out. Many small firms are quietly halting production. And an Associated Press survey showed that layoffs in allied industries have reached an estimated 175,000. This figure is in addition to the half million idle United Steelworkers of America.

The immediate goal of the Governors' Conference was a hoped-for meeting between the President and the governors of some of the states most seriously hit by the 59-day-old strike.

Negotiations between the steel industry and the Steelworkers continued meanwhile in New York but there was no evidence of progress toward a settlement of the dispute.

Earlier in the day, R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, flatly rejected a suggestion by two U.S. senators that President Eisenhower set up a fact-finding committee in an effort to bring the strike to an end.

Governor Trying To Force His Ouster, Accuses Butler

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul M. Butler Friday night accused Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania of joining with some Southern Democrats in trying to remove Butler as national Democratic chairman.

Butler said in a statement that Lawrence, veteran Pennsylvania Democrat national committeeman, has mailed to some other committee members the same material which Butler said is being used by Southerners urging his removal as chairman.

"Apparently Gov. Lawrence has joined the Southern segregationists in their effort to remove me as chairman," Butler said.

"I am sorry that Gov. Lawrence did not see fit to discuss this matter with me before circulating it to members of the national committee."

"As members of the Democratic Advisory Council, he and I have frequently concurred in statements calling for compliance with the Supreme Court decision on integration of the schools and all Americans enjoy equal rights and opportunities."

"I have always thought that our views on the issues involving human rights are closely similar. I also think that if Gov. Lawrence had troubled to learn of the circumstances under which I signed the notes, he would not have joined with segregationists in circulating them."

Butler referred to memos which he signed in 1954. In one of them Butler said: "I do not consider the question of segregation a political issue. I see no reason for any chairman of our party at any level to project segregation into our political discussions. As a lawyer, and if I were to be party chairman, I would consider it not to be a matter subject to political debate or political discussion."

Butler said Friday night he signed the statement shortly after the Supreme Court decision outlawing public school segregation, and at a time when integration was not a political issue.

Disclose Another Labor Day Bombing Attempt in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — An attempt to dynamite a city director's office during Little Rock's Labor Day bombings was revealed Friday.

Police Chief Gene Smith said an investigation showed the office of City Director Letcher Langford was an intended target.

Smith said the attempt was dropped because of heavy automobile traffic in front of the building.

Three bombs damaged the Little Rock School Board building, the business office of Mayor Werner Knoop and a station wagon at the home of Fire Chief Gann Nalley. Damage was heavy but no one was hurt.

Five men have been charged in connection with the bombings. Smith said one of the five led police to a cache of 65 dynamite sticks hidden about 14 miles west of Little Rock. The chief said 10 more sticks were found in the yard of another man charged in the bombings. He would not name either man.

Langford is an insurance executive. His office is in the modernized Prudential Life Insurance Building near the State Capitol.

Langford was elected in 1957 on a segregationist ticket. However, foes of racial mixing in Little Rock's public schools have criticized him for supporting police and firemen who broke up a segregationist march on integrated Central High last month.

Prosecutor J. Frank Holt said he would seek arraignment of the five men early next week and trial "as soon as possible."

Three of the men were charged on two counts of destroying property with explosives, a felony punishable by up to five years imprisonment and/or $500 fine. They were J. D. Sims, 35, a truck driver, E. A. Lauderdale Sr., 48, lumber dealer and segregationist leader, and Jesse Raymond Perry, 24, truck driver. They are accused in the bombing of the School Board office and Chief Nalley's station wagon.

The other two, John Taylor Goggin, 39, auto salesman, and Samuel Graydon Beavers, 42, a carpenter, were charged in the bombing of Mayor Knoop's office.

Home Study To Be Theme Of SUI Meet

"Pending Adjustments in Correspondence Study" will be the theme for a three-day Correspondence Study Division Conference which will open Monday at SUI.

Representatives from 15 universities throughout the country are expected to attend the conference, which will be held at the Iowa Center for Continuation Study.

Monday's discussion topics will include "Cohesion Through Communication," by Professors Arthur Krival, Kansas State University, and Donald McCoy, University of Kansas, and "Analysis of Enrollment Trends" by Professors Norine Tempest, University of Utah, and Alice Rowbottom, University of California.

John L. Davies, director of the SUI Bureau of Correspondence Study and chairman of the National Organization of Correspondence Study (NOCs) directors, will give the conference orientation. The NOCS is a division of the National University Extension Division, which has 72 member universities.

Other Monday speakers are Professors F. Lloyd Hansen, University of Minnesota; Elizabeth Powell, University of Georgia; Frank McClain, University of Oklahoma; Clarice Parker, University of Alabama; Louise Rogers, University of Indiana; Gayle B. Childs, University of Nebraska; and Charles Wedemeyer, University of Wisconsin.

Speakers who will talk at later sessions include Professors John D. Alford, University of Wyoming; Neil F. Garvey, University of Illinois; Leonard S. Stein, University of Chicago, and Oscar Spencer, Pennsylvania State University.

His Wife, Children Killed

James Zimmerman, 38, leaves a hospital in Waseca, Minn., just after his wife died Friday about three hours after the car-train collision which killed their six children. Mother, 6 Children Die In Car-Train Collision

WASECA, Minn. (AP) — A farm mother and her six young children were killed Friday when a freight train slammed into their station wagon within sight of their classmates and school.

The crash occurred shortly after 8 a.m. as Mrs. Zimmerman was driving the children to school. "It only sounded like a small thud," said Don Fleming, who heard the crash from his nearby store. "It sounded like somebody dropped something on the floor."

Sheriff Stan Bailey said the train's crew told him the freight was traveling 45 miles per hour, four miles under the train speed limit here. The right side of the car was torn off and the vehicle was hurled into a loading dock from where it careened another 50 feet before slamming into the rear of a sided boxcar.

Warning bells and flashing lights were operating when the crash came, Bailey said.

Kathryn, 13, died a short time later at a local hospital.

Homecoming Plans Being Formulated

With only a month remaining until the 1959 Homecoming at SUI, final plans for the Hawkeye-Michigan State football game are crystallizing.

The eleventh annual Homecoming parade will lead off the festivities on Friday evening, Oct. 9, to be following by a pep rally in front of Old Capitol.

After the pep rally, a variety of entertainment will be available, including the Dolphin Show, a water extravaganza; and Open House at the Iowa Memorial Union, where there will be refreshments, exhibits, bowling, billiards, table tennis, and informal dancing.

The second day of the celebration will start at 8:30 Saturday morning with the annual Alumni Breakfast in Hotel Jefferson for Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary society. A hockey game, a round of alumni coffee hours, a chamber music program by the SUI music department, and the annual meeting of the SUI Alumni Association will carry the participants through the morning to the highlight of the weekend, the Iowa-Michigan State football game at 1:30 p.m.

Immediately following the game an Alumni-Student Post-Game Open House in the Fieldhouse-Armory — a new Homecoming activity — will feature square dancing, band music, and reunions of campus organizations.

The Homecoming dance will be held Saturday night beginning at 8 p.m. in the Union.

For the first time in the history of the SUI celebration, Miss SUI will also be the Homecoming Queen and will reign over the Homecoming activities.

The Homecoming weekend is supported by the sale of Homecoming badges. This year's giant badge will be three inches in diameter and show Herky the Hawk standing on a ladder, nailing up Big Ten championship plaques.

Pasternak Appears in Public; Greets Bernstein Ecstatically

MOSCOW (AP) — Boris Pasternak, Russian poet and novelist, reappeared in public Friday. He turned up unannounced at a concert of the New York Philharmonic and cheered, applauded and kissed Conductor Leonard Bernstein.

Pasternak had lived in seclusion many months since he was awarded the 1958 Nobel Prize for literature after publication abroad of his novel "Doctor Zhivago." It was banned from publication in the Soviet Union and he rejected the prize after first accepting it.

Pasternak appeared in blooming health. He told reporters he is living well and working at capacity.

But he was too concerned immediately with Bernstein and the Philharmonic music to pause for discussion of the controversial "Doctor Zhivago," or to say what he is writing now.

Making his way to Bernstein's dressing room at intermission, Pasternak said: "I've never felt so close to the aesthetic truth."

"When I hear you I know why you were born," he told Bernstein. While the Soviet Union never took any open official action to oust Pasternak from the political shafts and implications of "Doctor Zhivago," he was made an outcast by the Soviet writers' union and branded a pig by former colleagues.

His surprise emergence in public came amid a surge of expeditions leading to Premier Nikita Khrushchev's departure Monday on his historic mission to America and talks with President Eisenhower. The Pasternak case has been a rallying cry for demonstrations against Soviet suppressions of freedom.

The Homecoming dance will be held Saturday night beginning at 8 p.m. in the Union.

For the first time in the history of the SUI celebration, Miss SUI will also be the Homecoming Queen and will reign over the Homecoming activities.

Pasternak Appears in Public; Greets Bernstein Ecstatically

MOSCOW (AP) — Boris Pasternak, Russian poet and novelist, reappeared in public Friday. He turned up unannounced at a concert of the New York Philharmonic and cheered, applauded and kissed Conductor Leonard Bernstein.

Pasternak had lived in seclusion many months since he was awarded the 1958 Nobel Prize for literature after publication abroad of his novel "Doctor Zhivago." It was banned from publication in the Soviet Union and he rejected the prize after first accepting it.

Pasternak appeared in blooming health. He told reporters he is living well and working at capacity.

But he was too concerned immediately with Bernstein and the Philharmonic music to pause for discussion of the controversial "Doctor Zhivago," or to say what he is writing now.

Making his way to Bernstein's dressing room at intermission, Pasternak said: "I've never felt so close to the aesthetic truth."

Paul Douglas, Actor, Dies Of Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD — Actor Paul Douglas, who once admitted that he ate, drank and talked too much, died Friday of a heart attack that hit without cue.

Douglas, 52, spent Thursday night at home, awakened at 8:30 a.m. to go to the bathroom. There he collapsed and died before a fire department rescue crew could reach him with oxygen.

His wife, actress Jan Sterling, was sitting on the floor cradling Douglas' head in her arms when a physician arrived and pronounced the actor dead.

Only last month Douglas was hospitalized, suffering from exhaustion. Two weeks of examination revealed no serious condition but doctors prescribed a long rest. Instead, Douglas returned to work.

The 6-foot, 200-pound actor, famed as much for his blunt comments as his acting, had been fighting paunchiness for some years.

"If I could cut out those morning martinis," he once told a reporter, "I think I could look like Tony Curtis."

Miss Sterling 36, currently co-starring in the stage play "The Gazebo," was overcome at her husband's sudden death. She will not appear on stage Friday night, a friend said. They were married in 1950 and have a son Adams, born in 1955.

Douglas, long considered an actor's actor and one of the most professional performers in the business, became a star overnight in his first stage play.

During the 1930's Douglas was one of the nation's top sports and radio announcers. Then he became Jack Benny's first announcer-straight man in radio, later doing the same chore for Fred Allen.

Douglas wanted to be an actor but none of his important pals would take him seriously. Garson Kanin, meanwhile, wrote "Born Yesterday" and had trouble casting the role of the rough-talking junk tycoon.

"It needs a Paul Douglas type who can act," Kanin moaned one day to his wife, Ruth Gordon.

"Why not get Douglas?" asked the wife. With Judy Holliday as costar, Douglas became an overnight acting sensation.

He came to Hollywood to play in "A Letter to Three Wives," and became one of the movies' and later television's busiest actors. Among his movie hits were "Beau James," "The Solid Gold Cadillac," "Executive Suite," "Panic in the Streets," "Clash by Night" and lately "The Mating Season."

Say This August Most Destructive Of Iowa's Summer

DES MOINES — Not only was last month the hottest this summer, but also the most destructive, the monthly Iowa Weather Bulletin said Friday.

During the night of Aug. 5-6, the report said, a five-county southern Iowa area of Union, Ringgold, Clarke, Decatur and Wayne bore the brunt of heavy rains. Nearly 11 1/2 inches fell at Linleville alone.

The U.S. Highway Commission estimated road losses in the five-county area at $144,000.

In Decatur County, officials said that between 32,000 and 34,000 acres of farm land were badly damaged.

Heaviest rainfalls for the month included 10.36 inches at Beaconsfield, 10.80 inches at Fort Madison and 10.92 inches at Forest City. Fort Madison suffered heavy flooding.

Elsewhere across the state during the month locally heavy rains, as it crashed back into the atmosphere some localized damage.

Despite the heat — which averaged 3 to 5 degrees above normal — and the rains, most crops fared well during the month and pastures were in good condition, the report said.

Soil moisture shortages were reported greatest in the west central district where little rain fell during August.

Say Cool Capsule Passed Friction Test Successfully

WASHINGTON — The test model of a space ship being developed for man's first flight into orbit could have carried this sign as it crashed back into the atmosphere: "several thousand degrees cooler inside."

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Friday the temperature never rose over 100 degrees Fahrenheit in the pressurized instrument compartment of the space capsule fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla., last Wednesday.

Outside temperatures of more than 3,000 degrees were recorded. The heat was generated by air friction as the 2,000-pound steel chamber, like the one in which a project Mercury astronaut is expected to be shot into space in 1961, plunged back from a height of nearly 100 miles.

Ex-Olympic weight-lifting champion Paul Anderson lifted his bride, former Miss Glenda Garlin, Tacoo, Ga., to his shoulder Friday on the roof of a Knoxville, Tenn., hotel. Anderson, now a professional wrestler, weighs 310 pounds, his bride 124. — AP Wirephoto.

Building Projects, Entrance Requirements OK'd By Regents

Construction projects and new admission requirements for two colleges at SUI were among major items considered at a regular meeting of the State Board of Regents held in Cedar Falls Friday.

Contracts were awarded for the construction of a one-story student infirmary to be built as a second floor to the present Student Health Services building in the northwest wing of Children's Hospital. The present infirmary is in temporary barracks.

Contracts awarded included $56,287 to the Paulson Construction Co., West Branch, for general construction; $12,750 to Mulford Plumbing and Heating Co., Iowa City, for plumbing, heating and ventilating; and $8,448 to Fandel Electric Co., Cedar Rapids, for electrical construction.

Also approved were plans for renovating and remodeling a former dormitory annex — Dey House on North Clinton Street — for use by SUI's Institute of Public Affairs, which is now housed in a temporary barracks.

The Regents approved a proposed renovation of an area in the second-floor tower section of University Hospitals. The rooms now used for research, dressing rooms, anesthesia rooms, and linen and instrument storage will be converted into five operating rooms for the department of otolaryngology and three operating rooms for the department of ophthalmology.

A revision in construction plans for a three-story addition to the University Library approved by the Board will allow for installation of air conditioning in the west half of the first and second floors of the present building as well as the new addition. Provisions for air conditioning the entire building were included in the original legislative appropriation for the new addition.

The Regents also authorized application for $576,207 in federal matching funds to supplement appropriated funds which will be used to construct a two-story research and training addition to Psychopathic Hospital and a four-story Pharmacy Building, which will be located south of University Hospital.

The University was authorized to purchase 300 permanent chairs for

Maria Callas, Millionaire Sail To Greece

VENICE, Italy — Maria Meneghini Callas and Aristote Onassis sailed for Greece Friday night on Onassis' big white yacht Christina, named for his wife.

Aboard the yacht in addition to the New York-born opera star and her multimillionaire host were Miss Callas' dwarf poodle, Toy; Onassis' sister, Artemis; his cousin, Cula; and a 43-man crew. Onassis' wife is in Paris.

The yacht's captain told port authorities they were sailing for Greece. They had flown here earlier in the day from Milan.

Their trip together aboard Onassis' airplane in the wake of an announcement that Miss Callas' 10-year-old marriage had gone on the rocks added fuel to reports of a new romance. The 35-year-old opera star and the Greek shipping operator, 55, have denied it. He has said "I love her like a sister."

Blonde Christina Onassis, 29, remained in Paris, reportedly talking things over with her parents. And Italian brick and building material manufacturer, Giovanni Battista Meneghini, 62, was conferring with his lawyers about the terms of a separation from Miss Callas.

Stock Market Recovering After Drop

NEW YORK — The stock market made a brisk recovery Friday, nearly erasing all of Thursday's losses.

Based on the rise in The Associated Press average, an estimated $2 billion of Thursday's $2.1 billion loss in quoted values was recouped.

Steels, motors and electronics were pacemakers in the rebound as buyers came in to grab stocks at marked-down prices after three straight sessions of sharp losses.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.98 to 637.36.

The advance still left the market at the lowest level since early June. Brokers regarded the rise as largely a technical rebound aided to some extent by favorable news and rumors.

While the steel labor negotiations left no record of concrete progress, there was considerable talk in Wall Street that the strike may be approaching a settlement in a week or so.

Volume increased to 2,640,000 shares from 2,520,000 Thursday. The AP 90-stock average advanced $1.50 to $222.70 with industrials up $2.20, rails up $1.90 and utilities up 10 cents.

Of 1,196 issues traded, 688 advanced and 300 declined.

American Stock Exchange prices were irregularly higher. Volume was 300,000 shares compared with 360,000 Thursday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds drifted lower for the fourth straight session. Several sank to historic lows.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled $6,350,000 compared with $6,650,000 Thursday.

Physicians Describe Cattle Disease As Danger To Man

Leptospirosis, a major disease among cattle in all sections of the country, was described at SUI Friday as a health problem of growing importance among the human population.

At a postgraduate program conducted by the University's College of Medicine, a group of speakers from three states reported on several aspects of the disease to Iowa physicians, veterinarians and public health officials.

Leptospirosis is a disease caused by organisms known as "leptospira" in the blood. Severity of the disease varies, with symptoms including intense generalized muscle pain, stiffness of the neck, headache and an abnormal intolerance of light.

Dr. Howard Steigmiller, chief of the leptospira section of the Ohio Department of Public Health, said there is "a need for an awareness of human as well as animal leptospiral infections, and for use of laboratory facilities to aid in diagnosis."

Dr. R. A. Tjalma, chief of the infectious disease section of SUI's Institute of Agricultural Medicine, said a study was launched two years ago in Iowa to identify and confirm definite human cases of the disease in the state.

"Such a study was considered to be particularly appropriate in Iowa because of the known high incidence of the disease among Iowa cattle and swine, and, further, because of the intensity and the extent of the swine and cattle breeding industries in the state," the speaker said.

To date, about 35 cases of the disease have been found and confirmed in Iowa. Dr. Tjalma told the group, and several hundred of the persons studied are believed to have been exposed to the disease some time in the past.

Approximately 40 per cent of the definite cases have occurred among packing plant workers, particularly those having contact with genito-urinary organs of swine, the speaker said.

Other speakers on the subject were Dr. D. H. Ferris, College of Veterinary Medicine, University of Illinois, and Drs. R. L. Morter and W. C. Morse of the Iowa State University of Science and Technology at Ames.

An earlier speaker Friday told the group that control of tuberculosis in animals must be considered in the total program for control of the disease in man.

Dr. A. G. Karlson of the section on bacteriology at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., spoke in particular about tuberculosis in dogs and cats, pointing out that TB in these pets may constitute a source of infection to human beings which is difficult to recognize.

Tuberculosis in dogs is a "slowly" developing, chronic disease which produces no sign of illness until the ailment is well established," the speaker said.

"The infected animal has been a public health menace long before symptoms have developed," Dr. Karlson warned the group.

Dogs may contract the human form of the disease from tuberculous persons living in the same household, and the bovine type from drinking raw milk and eating meat from tuberculous cattle, the speaker explained.

In cats, the disease is rare; however, when it does occur, it usually is the result of infection from raw milk and meat from infected cattle, he said.

No dog or cat suspected of having tuberculosis should be permitted to have contact with any person or any other animal, Dr. Karlson told the audience.

The postgraduate course was the first in the 1959-60 series of annual programs conducted at SUI for doctors throughout Iowa.

Princess Welcomed In Manhattan

NEW YORK — A young Dutch princess, with a smile and a toss of her blonde curls, Friday recaptured for the moment the isle of Manhattan, which long ago was a part of her realm.

"We still feel a most particular affection for what was once Nieuw Amsterdam," Princess Beatrix of the Netherlands told Mayor Robert F. Wagner at a City Hall ceremony.

The 21-year-old heiress presumptive to the Dutch throne received a typical, colorful Manhattan welcome as she arrived here for the 350th anniversary of the Dutch exploration of the Hudson Valley. She is the eldest child of Queen Juliana and is in line to succeed her mother on the throne some day.

There was a noisy harbor welcome as Beatrix arrived aboard the spanning new Dutch liner Rotterdam, on its maiden voyage. There was a red carpet greeting at the Battery, then a ticker tape parade up Broadway. Finally, there was an official city reception at City Hall.

The pink-cheeked princess took the fanfare with a fetching smile. She's spending 10 days in this country, retracing the steps of the first Dutch settlers in the new world. Also, she has a Washington visit scheduled with President Eisenhower.

Aboard ship during the Atlantic crossing, Beatrix appeared at times in blue jeans and bathing suit. But Friday she was every inch royalty in blue wool suit with white collar, close-fitting corolla blue hat and blue pumps. Diamonds twinkled on her collar and wrist.

Psychiatry Prof. To Address Welfare Meeting

Dr. Albert S. Norris, assistant professor of psychiatry at SUI, will speak at the fall meeting of the Southeast Chapter of the Iowa Welfare Association in Knoxville Tuesday.

The meeting will consider the problems and casework treatment of unmarried mothers in Iowa. Dr. Norris will speak on "Psychodynamics of the Unmarried Mother" at the meeting, to be held in the Pin Knolls Country Club.

Gretchen M. Estel, supervisor of social services for the States Services for Crippled Children, will preside as president of the chapter.

Counties in the Southeast Chapter of the association include Appanoose, Cedar, Clinton, Davis, Des Moines, Henry, Iowa, Jasper, Jefferson, Johnson, Keokuk, Lee, Louisa, Lucas, Mahaska, Marion, Monroe, Muscatine, Poweshiek, Scott, Van Buren, Wapello, Washington, and Wayne.

Walker Goes 16 Innings For Win In Nightcap—

Orioles Whitewash ChiSox Twice

BALTIMORE (AP)—A single by Brooks Robinson with two outs in the 16th inning scored the only run in the second game and the pitching of 20-year-old Jack Fisher in the first enabled Baltimore to splash the Chicago White Sox with a double whitewashing 1-0 and 3-0 Friday night.

It was the first time since Aug. 8, 1953 the White Sox had been shut out in a doubleheader.

Robinson's single scored Al Pillarick from third. Pillarick had singled and moved around on a sacrifice and infield out.

The second game victory went to another 20-year-old pitcher, Jerry Walker, who likewise hurled magnificently for 16 innings. He gave up only six hits and allowed only one White Sox to reach third. That was in the first inning.

Fisher gave up only three singles in the opener and one of them was on a technicality. He mowed down the first 19 White Sox batters in a row before Nellie Fox, second man up in the seventh inning, singled.

Braves 10, Reds 2

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves streaked to their sixth straight victory Friday night in a late bid for the National League pennant by defeating the Cincinnati Reds 10-2 on a five run first inning and Joey Jay's fourth hitting.

The husky right-hander settled down after early wildness and then coasted to his 5th victory in 15 decisions. He struck out six and walked five, three of them in the first inning when the Reds scored once and left the bases loaded.

The Braves bounced back in their half of the first against former Milwaukee sandlot pitcher Jay Hoak and his successor Orlando Pena. Milwaukee sent nine men to the plate before Pena managed to retire the side. The Braves routed Pena with a pair of runs in the second inning.

Phils 1, Giants 0

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Experienced Robin Roberts cut down San Francisco 1-0 Friday night with a three-hitter that chopped the Giants' National League lead to one game over Milwaukee and Los Angeles.

The last-place Phils scored their first run in three games in the seventh. Joe Koppe got the third hit off Mike McCormick, was sacrificed to second, and scored on Harry Anderson's single to right. The Giants had intentionally walked Gene Freese to get at the left-handed hitting Anderson.

Robin's superb performance included a bit of personal revenge when he stopped Willie McCovey's

Indians Let This Scalp Get Away

Cleveland Indian catcher Russ Nixon appears to have Washington's Roy Sievers out easily but dropped Woody Held's throw and Sievers scored. The second inning score proved costly as the Senators dropped the Indians 5-4. Sievers came from first base on a double by rookie second baseman Johnny Schaive. AP Wirephoto.

hitting streak at 22 consecutive games.
McCovey reached base only once, getting a walk in the ninth. McCovey broke into the National League July 30 with two triples and two singles in four trips against Roberts. The Giants won that day 7-2.

Yanks 9, Tigers 3

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees continued their assault on opposing pitchers Friday by pounding out 13 hits in registering a 9-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The victory put the New Yorkers a game and one-half ahead of the Tigers in the battle for third place in the American League.

Rookie Jim Coates went the distance on the mound for the Yankees, scattering 10 hits. Paul Foytack started for Detroit, and was taken out for a pinch hitter in the fifth after giving up six runs on seven hits. He was relieved by Pete Burnside, who in turn was

'Fabulous Five' To Play Again

Iowa's "fabulous five," Big Ten basketball champions in 1955 and 1956 will go on display again this winter. Members of the two championship squads will meet the Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., and the National Industrial League at the Iowa Fieldhouse Jan. 7, 1960.

Proceeds from the exhibition contest will go to the Bucky O'Connor Memorial Scholarship Fund, established after the death of the popular Iowa coach in April, 1958.

Among the members of the 1955-56 Hawkeyes who will play are Bill Schoof, Bill Logan, Carl Cain, Bill Seaberg and Sharm Scheuerman, O'Connor's successor.

The Oilers have been a standout amateur team for many years. Chuck Darling, former Iowa all-American was an Oiler star for several years but has now retired from competition. Sparkplug of the Oilers is Gary Thompson, Iowa State's all-American guard.

Scrimmage Set For Hawks Today

Bob Jeter returned to practice, but confined his activities to some light jogging on the sidelines as the Iowa Hawkeyes wrapped up their 10th day of practice Friday.

The day's double drill included work on all phases of the game as the Hawkeyes prepared for a game-type scrimmage today.

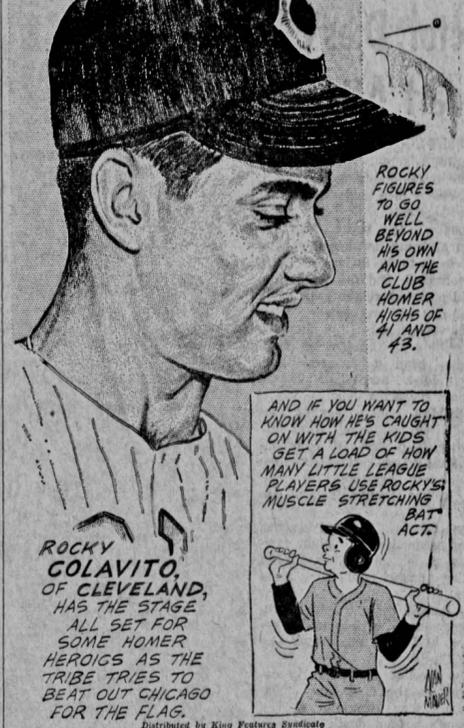

Coach Forest Evashevski worked several reserves in with the first two units on offense. Ends Dave Watkins and Dick Clauson and guards Sherwyn Thorson, Jerry Williams and Bill Ringer all had a shot with the top units.

Johnstone Vs. Wheeler In Trans-Miss Final

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Sherry Wheeler, a pretty 18-year-old from Glasgow, Ky., upset national champion Barbara McIntire Friday 4 and 3 to enter the finals of the women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament against veteran Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa.

Mrs. Johnstone defeated Judy Kimball of Sioux City, Iowa, 1-up on 19 holes in the other semifinal match.

Fernandez Stays Unbeaten

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Unbeaten Florentino Fernandez, a rising young Cuban with a rattling left hand, Friday scored his 21st victory, a unanimous decision over veteran welterweight Gasper (Indian) Ortega.

But the wily Ortega, knocked down in both the first and fourth rounds, managed to end Fernandez' consecutive knockout string at 16.

Fernandez, making only his second appearance in the United States, weighed 146½ for the nationally televised 10-rounder in
