Rep. Hays Opens Lectures Oct. 14

An international mixture of distinguished names will be featured in SUI's schedule of lectures and concerts for 1959-60.

Representative Brooks Hays will open the University Lecture Series Oct. 14 with a lecture titled "American Ideals."

Representative of the 5th Congressional District of Arkansas from 1942 through 1958, Hays is well known as a lecturer and is regarded as one of the best storytellers in the United States. His book "A Southern Moderate Speaks" has just been published by the University of North Carolina press.

HAYS

One of the world's outstanding women, Madame Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit will present a lecture Nov. 19.

Sister of India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, Madame Pandit is a member of the Indian parliament and has been serving as India's High Commissioner in London since December, 1954. She was elected president of the Eighth Session of the U.N. General Assembly in 1953.

Marquis Childs, noted newspaper columnist, will lecture at SUI March 9. Author of the nationally known column "Washington

U.N. Again Blocks Red China Entry

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — The United States succeeded again Tuesday in getting the United Nations to sidetrack for another year the question of admitting Communist China.

But despite recent turmoil in Asia for which the West blamed the Chinese Reds the victory margin was one vote less than last year.

By a vote of 44-29 with abstentions the General Assembly approved a U.S. resolution asking that it postpone any consideration of proposals either to admit the Chinese Reds or exclude the Chinese Nationalists.

It was the ninth straight year the U.N. had sidetracked the Red China membership issue.

By its action the Assembly rejected Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's personal plea here last week that it was high time to kick out the Chinese Nationalists and install the Chinese Reds as one of the major U.N. powers. The vote last year on an identical resolution was 44-28 with 9 abstentions. There were some switches this year. Guinea, a new member, joined the many Asian-African nations opposing the U.S. stand.

This year Laos changed its vote from abstaining to yes. The Southeast Asia kingdom has accused Peiping of encouraging North Viet Nam in acts of aggression along the northern border. A U.N. subcommittee is in Laos investigating the charges.

Cuba cracked the hitherto solid position of the 20-nation Latin-American bloc in supporting the U.S. position. Cuba abstained, the only Latin American nation to do so.

Greece, which abstained last year, joined the yes votes. Its vote last year reflected unhappiness with the Western delegations over their position on Cyprus. The vote was also a rebuff to India which again championed the right of Red China to U.N. membership.

India's defense minister, V. K. Krishna Menon, made a final plea for approval of a Nepalese resolution that would have reversed the U.S. proposal.

Childs taught English composition at SUI and received his master of arts degree here in 1925.

The University Lecture Series will close March 23 with a program presented by Joyce Grenfell, English comedienne.

Both an actress and writer, Miss Grenfell writes all her own sketches and lyrics. She appeared on Broadway in 1955 and again in 1958 in her own one-woman review, "Joyce Grenfell Requests the Pleasure."

Red Premier Pleased With Welcome

DES MOINES — Gov. Herschel Loveless, who rode into town with Nikita Khrushchev, said Tuesday the Soviet premier was extremely pleased with the reception he got here.

"The welcome indicated that the people of Iowa are friendly and warm, and while they do not agree with what Khrushchev stands for, they do not offend," Loveless said. The governor said that on the way into town from the airport, he pointed out several things of interest to Khrushchev, including the new Des Moines Technical High School and the new educational television station there.

But Khrushchev wanted to talk about farming, the governor said, and that he was glad that it looked like it was going to rain "because rain makes things grow."

Loveless said that Khrushchev commented, "All these wide open spaces smell like new hay."

The governor said Khrushchev expressed a number of times during the trip into town that he primarily is interested in food production. "I pointed out to him that Iowa has a lot of culture as well as agriculture," the governor said. "But I guess that during the short time he is here he won't get much chance to see a truly representative Iowa."

He said Khrushchev also expressed interest in exchanging many ideas in agriculture between the United States and the Soviet Union.

"I would presume that Khrushchev's visit," Loveless said, "gives the Soviet premier a demonstration of our strength. "As long as we're talking, we're not shooting," the governor said. "And Khrushchev wants to talk about farming while he's here."

Mrs. Loveless rode with Mrs. Khrushchev and said the premier's wife was very "relaxed and pleased with the crowd."

She said Mrs. Khrushchev seemed real interested about visiting a meat packing plant in Des Moines.

"I asked her how she liked the musical, 'The Music Man.' She said she liked it very much." The musical was written by Meredith Willson, a native of Mason City.

Man Leaves Estate Near Two Million

DES MOINES — The late Robert H. Finkbine of Des Moines, largest stockholder of the Green Bay Lumber Co., left an estate valued at $1,970,627 in an inventory filed in Probate Court Tuesday.

Finkbine died last Nov. 2 at the age of 74. His wife died in 1950. Two daughters and a son survive. The lumber company operates 30 yards in Iowa, and has offices in Des Moines.

Finkbine set up trusts for the three children, Mrs. Adelaide F. Hixon, Pasadena, Calif.; Mrs. Helen Murphy, Stamford, Conn.; and Robert H. Finkbine, Jr., La Canada, Calif. Each was given a valuable farm as part of each trust.

Two former employees are to receive monthly payments for the remainder of their lives. They are Katie O'Connor, 73, now of Chattanooga, Tenn., $100 per month, and Duncan Crawford Mac Kellar, 73, of San Clemente, Calif., $150 monthly. Another former employe, William Brooks, Des Moines, was given $5,000.

Mother, 10 Children Drown In Michigan Lake

MUNISING, Mich. — A mother, 10 of her children and their uncle drowned Tuesday when their 12-foot outboard motorboat swamped and pitched them into a lake in upper Michigan's Hiawatha National Forest. Only the children's father survived.

None of the 13 persons crowded aboard the little boat could swim. It carried no life jackets.

The family — a tenth population of Little Skandia, Mich. — was on a family outing, headed across the lake to pick cranberries in a bog. Skandia's elementary school was closed for alterations.

Except for himself and a 16-year-old daughter whose high school wasn't closed, the family of Leonard Larson, 43, a saw-miller, was wiped out.

State Police Sgt. Clarence Miller said Larson told him the little boat, with water lapping at the edges, suddenly lurched on its side when he started the five-horsepower motor.

The Larson had just pushed off from shore, Miller estimated they were no more than 250 feet out when tragedy struck.

Miller quoted the father as saying neither he nor any of the others could swim, but he managed to grab hold of the side of the boat as he tumbled out and got a hand "on one of the girls once."

The boat filled, its motor going. The father lost his hold on the child, then grabbed her between his knees. But in frantic struggles she broke loose.

Victims were Dora Larson, 41, the mother; Harry Larson, 64, her brother-in-law, and these Larson children: Arthur, 15; Shirley, 13; Harry, 10; Marlene, 9; Freddie, 8; Carol, 7; Robert, 6; Mary Ann, 5; Melody, 3, and Terry Lee, 5 months.

All the bodies were recovered from Lake McKeever, a beautiful landmark about a quarter-mile wide and a mile long, deep in the north woods of post Longfellow's Hiawatha. The scene is 14 miles southeast of Munising.

Stevenson Sees 'Hope' In Visit By Soviet Leader

DES MOINES — Adlai Stevenson, here for a dinner honoring Soviet Premier Khrushchev, said Tuesday night he thinks "there is hope" in the visit by the Russian leader.

Asked whether he thought Khrushchev's visit was the first major break in the cold war, Stevenson replied:

"You're asking a much too subtle question at this time." Stevenson, twice the Democratic nominee for president, was invited to Iowa by Roswell Garst, Coon Rapids farmer whom Khrushchev will visit Wednesday.

Arbitration Agreed Upon By AFL-CIO

SAN FRANCISCO — The AFL-CIO leadership agreed Tuesday on a seemingly ironclad system for ending inter-union strife by submitting disputes to arbitration.

Neutrals on an arbitration board would hand down binding decisions.

The plan, endorsed by top federation leaders, is designed to solidify the merged labor movement by creating a sure way for settling such family squabbles as led to the 1955 split of organized labor into the rival AFL-CIO.

The plan, a simple one often suggested, was due for approval at AFL-CIO convention sessions here. Details remained to be worked out at a special federation convention planned for next year.

It was indicated the union chiefs finally decided they had to wipe out bickering in the face of what many consider a drive by business and industry to curb wage increases and weaken the union movement.

The plan was quickly adopted by a five-man committee headed by Al Hayes, and ratified unanimously by the federation's 29-man executive council.

The system would send to arbitration, if other efforts at settlement failed, any dispute between unions dealing with jurisdiction, membership raids, boycotts, or unethical tactics in organizing.

A resolution adopted said the AFL-CIO will operate in the political field independent of any political party and will concentrate on support of worthy candidates in both parties.

Ike Confers With Aides

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower conferred Tuesday with six key advisers in preparation for talks this weekend with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. The White House refused any information about what was discussed.

The makeup of the list of visitors suggested strongly there was discussion of diplomatic, military, atomic energy and espionage affairs.

Those conferring with the president were C. Douglas Dillon, under-secretary of state; Thomas S. Gates Jr., deputy secretary of defense; Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations; John A. McCone, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission; Allen Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency; and Dr. George B. Kistakowski, Eisenhower's science adviser.

Nikita Eats First Hot Dog; 'Excellent'

DES MOINES — Russia's Premier Khrushchev ate his first American hot dog Tuesday and asked for a second.

"It's excellent. Don't change the formula," he said with a satisfied grin.

The Soviet leader, clad in a blue smock for sanitary purposes, sampled his frankfurter with mustard as he toured the Des Moines Packing Co. plant.

Khrushchev willingly accepted the hot dog after carefully inspecting every room from slaughter area to a big department where frankfurters were stuffed mechanically by women employees.

Khrushchev gulped his down in about three minutes, beating Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge by a full minute. The Soviet leader noticed he had finished first, and turning to Lodge, said: "Capitalist, have you finished your sausage?" Lodge smilingly admitted he hadn't yet.

Even before Khrushchev arrived at the plant where he sampled it, they had made sure the frankfurters and roll plus mustard, were all right.

This information came from one of the packinghouse employees who served the Soviet premier.

One of the owners of the plant, Lester Bookley, thanked Khrushchev afterward for taking time out to visit his plant. "You made a wonderful guest and we enjoyed having you," he said.

Bookley told Khrushchev that "good meat" is needed to make good sausages.

Talking through his interpreter, Khrushchev replied with a trace of annoyance, "Of course, if you don't have meat, you can't do anything. Any fool knows that."

Bookley replied that some people tried to make sausages without meat. "That was Hitler's idea," Khrushchev said as he ended his visit.

"We make sausages in the Soviet Union too — very good ones, but apparently you are making more."

IKE-MITCHELL TO CONFER

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower will confer Wednesday morning with Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell. The White House indicated the steel strike will be among the matters discussed.

Khrushchev Again Challenges U. S. To Production Contest

Nikita Plugs For More State Visits

DES MOINES, Iowa — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, warmly welcomed in the heart of America's farmlands, plugged Tuesday for regular visits between the heads of governments.

The one-time Ukrainian sheep-herder, now a foremost advocate of personal diplomacy, told a welcoming crowd: "It is always better to meet and talk than to exchange messages which are not always very friendly. A couple of meetings a year would be fine."

That was in reply to a reporter who asked whether one-a-year visits between heads of government would advance the cause of peace.

Khrushchev's welcome in this center of the nation's greatest food-producing area was warm — not as warm, perhaps, as the one which delighted him in San Francisco, his last previous stop.

However, the greeting he got here could help further to clear away the bad feeling Khrushchev had after his Los Angeles visit last weekend when he got angry with Mayor Norris Poulson and the movie industry.

The big U.S. military transport jet which brought the Red Premier here from San Francisco bounced a bit as it landed. A strong cross-wind was blowing.

But there was nothing but serenity in the official exchange of greetings.

Governor Herschel C. Loveless told Khrushchev: "We know your great interest in agriculture and in modern methods of production. We stand ready to show you our farms, our factories, our laboratories and machines."

Loveless also bade the Communist chieftain welcome to Iowa's homes, schools, churches and historic shrines. And then the governor got in a plug of his own: "Culturally, as well as geographically, Iowa is the heart of America."

For the moment, however, Khrushchev showed more interest in corn than culture. He said:

"We know that so far as corn is concerned you are the first in the United States. We are competing with you there, and we hope it will be a useful competition."

The premier noted he was looking forward to his visit Wednesday to the farm of Roswell (Bob) Garst at Coon Rapids.

It was back in 1955 that the Russians became interested in the crop handling and livestock feeding operations at the Garst farm. The Soviet minister of agriculture visited there four years ago in an American-Russian farm exchange.

Garst plans to tell Khrushchev how it is that 12 per cent of the American people can produce enough feed to feed everybody, whereas it takes 50 per cent of the people of the Soviet Union to produce a less nourishing diet.

"I've come here to meet the people of Iowa and my old friend, Garst," Khrushchev told his well-wishers Tuesday. Garst has been a guest of the Khrushchevs in Moscow.

The crowd at the airport was unofficially estimated at 5,000. Police figured there were about 20,000 people along the route to the Hotel Fort Des Moines, and another 5,000 in the immediate vicinity of the hotel.

This time authorities had provided an open-top car for the temperamental Russian, who has complained about being cooped up in a closed limousine elsewhere.

The crowd had a cheer or two every now and then, but mostly people simply looked on in curiosity, if not wonder. Boos were missing, but there were half a dozen unfriendly signs that Mr. K. could read if he wished to see them.

One said: "We butcher hogs here, not people." Another: "Khrushchev's warning from God's words." And most direct of all: "The only good Communist is a dead one."

There were some on the friendly side, too: "The world needs friendly cooperation between us." And: "We

More Corn, Says Nikita, But No Bombs

Talks At Dinner In Des Moines

DES MOINES — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev challenged the United States Tuesday night to a contest in production — except in the production of H-bombs.

Let there be more corn, more meat, let there be no hydrogen bombs at all," the No. 1 world Communist leader urged in a speech climaxing his first day in this heart of America's farm country.

Khrushchev said he wanted to see more meat, more butter, more consumer goods, coal and oil "so that people can live better."

Since he flew in Tuesday afternoon from San Francisco, Khrushchev had an apparently happy day. Indeed, in his opening remarks Tuesday night at a huge civic banquet he thanked the people of Iowa for the "warm reception extended to my companions and myself."

In return he extended cordial greetings to the Soviet people. On the unusual side was the fact that for the first time in this

Nikita's Schedule

DES MOINES — Here is Premier Nikita Khrushchev's schedule for today.

9 a.m. — Leaves his headquarters at Hotel Fort Des Moines.

10 a.m. — May visit square-mile field of corn at Bayard, Iowa, northwest of Des Moines.

11:30 a.m.-3 p.m. — Luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Garst at Coon Rapids and tours their farm.

4:30 p.m. — Visits Iowa State University at Ames.

7:15 p.m. — Departs by air for Pittsburgh.

country, Khrushchev did not deliver his speech himself, line by line.

Instead he had an interpreter, Oleg Troyanovsky, read it for him in English, with the explanation that he did not want to tire his audience with his Russian.

To people who have been with the premier since he came to this country Sept. 15, it appeared that Khrushchev was tired, from his exhaustive traveling and speech-making.

Nevertheless, he managed several smiles and a laugh or two as his speech went over well.

In urging an exchange of agricultural experiences, Khrushchev said he realized there were individuals and newspapers in the United States who would resent this as posing some sort of Red threat. He asked, amid applause:

"What sort of menace can there be in the increase of the production of milk and meat?" "Hardly anyone," he added "could contend that our desire to produce more meat, butter and eggs would make our people more aggressive."

Applause broke out again when after saying he wanted no hydrogen bombs, the premier added:

"We want the field to be furrowed by peaceful plows and not by rockets and tank tracks."

All the while the interpreter was delivering his speech, Khrushchev remained standing, smiling from time to time and looking reflective at other moments.

Khrushchev explained Soviet attempts to achieve higher labor productivity in agriculture. He said the U.S.S.R. is now making great progress in the development of agriculture.

He spoke proudly of the development of virgin soil in the U.S.S.R.,

Hurricane Off Florida Coast; Warn Ships

MIAMI, Fla. — Tropical storm Gracie became a hurricane Tuesday 100 miles east-southeast of San Salvador in the Bahamas, and its 100-mile peak winds whistled northward over the Atlantic. That course, if maintained, would keep the hurricane traveling about parallel to Florida about 400 miles off the coast.

The Weather Bureau, describing Gracie as "now a severe hurricane," warned ships to exercise extreme caution and recommended that interests in Florida keep in close touch with advisories during today for possible warnings.

Gracie, the season's seventh tropical storm, fledged into hurricane strength with its center near latitude 23.7 north, longitude 73.0 west or 100 miles east of the island of San Salvador.

Its north to north-northwest movement was estimated at seven miles an hour. The Weather Bureau said hurricane force winds extended 75 miles around the center.

Forecasters said indications were that the hurricane would turn more northwesterly at about the same speed during the night and early Wednesday and increase both in size and intensity.

Waterloo Man To Head Rural Electric Assn.

DES MOINES — Lawrence C. Cole of Waterloo, Wis., was elected to the executive committee of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Assn. Tuesday at the Region V convention.

Herman G. Dokken of Linn Grove was re-elected to the board of directors, representing Iowa. Harold S. Huey, whom Cole replaced, of Plymouth, Ill., was re-elected to the board.

Mrs. Jack Hicks of Marion was named chairman of the women's division. Mrs. Dokken was elected vice chairman, and Mrs. Allert Olson, Osage, secretary.

Mrs. Charles E. Smith of Easton, Ill., was named committee woman for Region V of the national group. Twenty-one resolutions, including one opposing additional cooperative taxation, were passed at the convention.

"Mrs. Xoptl, I'm Afraid I Have Some Bad News For You"

Eastward, Ho!

We were privileged yesterday to have a conversation with Mr. K. N. Sen, who is principal of Asutosh College, one of the six colleges of the University of Calcutta.

Having begun his career in the midst of India's passive-revolution, and having been engaged in the thick of that revolution, Mr. Sen has become a man of lively experience and perspective.

For eighteen years Mr. Sen pursued his newspaper career, eventually to become editor. And as a veteran newsman speaking from the vantage of a society apart from ours, Mr. Sen was able to make now some perspicacious comments on American Journalism.

He suggested that most of our newspapers are provincial, because they neither stress international news nor provide adequate background for international news.

For instance, American papers do not explain about the political parties within Laos, or the political emancipation in India.

Consequently a great avenue of education is neglected, and many who otherwise would know, remain ignorant about other countries.

Mr. Sen suggested that this situation might be easily remedied by assigning staff members of newspapers to the task of becoming knowledgeable in specific areas.

so that when the news concerned these countries, pertinent information could be added to the article to help the reader to a greater understanding.

We believe that Mr. Sen is correct in his observations about American journalism, and we believe that the same shallowness may be found in radio.

Mr. Sen said he would like to start a student newspaper at the University of Calcutta, and is interested in American student papers.

It seems that the Indian students are so highly active in politics that it interferes with their studies. And in addition to that unfortunate aspect, it seems that the professional politicians take advantage of students by using student organizations for unethical purposes.

Mr. Sen is worried for fear that his projected student publication might fall into the hands of some politician.

When we heard Mr. Sen tell us about this, we suddenly felt a surge of nostalgia for a period in American history 160 years ago, when, we imagined, American students were excited enough about a cause to get up on their hind legs and holler.

SUI Journalist Covering Khrushchev In Des Moines

The reaction of the crowds to the light of the counsel on courtesy given our citizenry by President Eisenhower and various other American leaders.

To date, despite having followed in detail the daily news accounts of the Moscow dictator's American travels, the Maltese writer has tried to avoid any conclusions about those "human reactions."

He says: "You see, I am anxious to see for myself the two sides of this situation. I am referring not only to the crowds in Des Moines, but also to the entourage that includes Mr. Khrushchev."

To keep himself informed on "Mr. K's" status, Mercieca checked earlier yesterday with the SUI School of Journalism and kept a good eye also on the morning's wire service accounts in various dailies.

What is the most impressive thing he has seen so far? He replied: "That your people want peace as much as our people do."

Khrushchev added that this desire for peace was the main thing that prompted his visit to America.

Mrs. Khrushchev, still looking for all the world like a friendly and tireless grandmother, was close by the premier as he shook hands and smiled at greeters.

Khrushchev was in a beige suit, with his cherished Soviet medals adorning the lapel.

There was a swords-into-plowshares aspect to Khrushchev's afternoon tour. One stop on this schedule was the John Deere Works, which he had especially asked to see.

This plant, which now produces farm implements, was built early in World War II for the manufacture of machine gun ammunition.

But before getting to the John Deere works, Khrushchev saw an American "first" for him: pickets on strike. They were demonstrating before the Iowa Packing Co., an affiliate of Swift and Co., and they carried this sign for Khrushchev and all the world to see:

"Free Americans are free to strike."

Khrushchev's great interest in farming — he needs to improve his people's diet — was a keynote in Gov. Loveless' speech Tuesday night at a civic dinner in Khrushchev's honor.

Loveless said: "Mr. Khrushchev, you have frequently spoken admiringly of our excellence in corn and livestock production. We appreciate the compliment, and are delighted to share our knowledge with the farmers of other lands."

Loveless also told the Russian leader that Iowans stand ready to sell the Soviet Union as much corn as it wants.

don't always agree with you but we welcome you."

That last sign, 12 feet long and carried by a dozen girls, indirectly led to Khrushchev's remarks about how it would be fine for heads of states to exchange regular visits.

Talking to newsmen at the hotel, Mr. K called this banner's philosophy a wise approach.

It accurately describes, he said, "exactly our attitude in our approach to you. We don't always agree but we must learn to live with one another in peace and friendship."

Khrushchev, while amiable and smiling often, looked a bit weary after all his whirlwind travels since he left Russia early last week.

"I have no right to get tired," he told a questioner, however.

The 65-year-old premier added that if a person sleeps eight hours a day, he'll thus use up 20 of his 60 years.

What is the most impressive thing he has seen so far? He replied: "That your people want peace as much as our people do."

Sees Khrushchev Visit To Camp David Threatened

By JOHN SCALI

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev's free-wheeling, sometimes angry, American tour appears to have reduced prospects of successful talks with President Eisenhower at Camp David.

Top American officials accompanying him now believe Khrushchev will make no significant cold war concessions until he resumes talks with Eisenhower in Moscow — if then.

Khrushchev Salesman For Russia

By J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst

Nikita Khrushchev is trying to revive the suave supersalesman who appeared before the National Press Club in Washington a week ago.

But water, and temper, has flowed over the dam since then. The Soviet Premier is now going out of his way to reassure President Eisenhower that the flurries of conflict stirred by people critical of the Soviet regime will not affect their consultations this weekend.

He also is moving to repair his relations with the American business world, first damaged at his Economic Club dinner in New York. He finds a manufacturing plant and its wages something to admire, and says he gets along better with businessmen — who to him represent the capitalistic system — than with politicians.

Business with the United States is one of the things uppermost in Soviet policy now, as witness the appeals for trade.

Khrushchev also must have realized that his rejection by AFL-CIO leaders was internationally damaging to the Communist claim to leadership of the world's workers. So he suddenly arranged to be welcomed by Harry Bridges left-wingers in an attempt to prove that the AFL-CIO leadership did not speak for all.

The British press, which is expressing considerable alarm lest Khrushchev's reception on his tour interfere with Western efforts to reach an accommodation with him, reminds that there were similar flurries when he visited Britain.

Some British papers, however, share much of the feeling displayed in the United States — that Khrushchev has been hekkled in too many revelations regarding his policies and — the way his mind works, and this is good from a know-your-enemy standpoint.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, who refused to join his lieutenants in bread-breaking with Khrushchev in San Francisco, has seized the occasion to remind that Khrushchev and his policies may not be dissociated from Stalin and Lenin and their policies of world conquest.

There are important questions, however, which Khrushchev has raised, and which the free world must carefully answer if its own posture in the cold war is to be effective.

Is he sincere even for this moment in wishing to confine the conflict to a "may the best system win without war" basis?

If so, what will be his attitude, and that of his Communist successors, when the Soviet Union has attained economic parity?

Saturday Classes To Be Offered By Extension Division

Persons who wish to study at SUI but cannot attend regular sessions may register Oct. 3 for Saturday classes on the campus during the 1959-60 school year.

Thirty-three subjects will be taught in classes which have been scheduled on twelve Saturdays from Oct. 3 to Mar. 12, according to Bruce E. Mahan, dean of the SUI Extension Division.

Each student may enroll for one or two courses for two or four semester-hours of credit. The fee is $8 per semester-hour.

Last year 472 persons from many parts of Iowa and bordering towns in Illinois and Missouri drove to the campus two Saturdays each month to continue their education.

A bulletin giving detailed information on the courses and registration instructions may be obtained at the Extension Division in East Hall.

Take Ten by Carol Collins

I found this article in a paper this summer and thought it might be appreciated at this time. Next week "Take Ten" will resume its usual format.

March 1, 1956 Dear Mr. Anderson:

Since you have told your freshman counselor that you intend to major in satellite watching, we must inform you that you are required to take Butterfly Observation in Antarctica 101, 3 hrs credit, for background in your field.

March 30, 1956 Dear Registrar's Office:

Since I received your letter of March 1, I have consulted with the U.S. Air Force, my major professor, the dean of the college and the President of the University, to say nothing of my congressman and six members of the state board of higher education.

April 29, 1956 Dear Mr. Anderson:

Oh they did, did they The Registrar's Office

October 2, 1957 Dear Mr. Anderson:

Upon receiving your schedule for this semester, we notice that you have still neglected to sign up for Butterfly Observation in Antarctica 101.

October 19, 1957 Dear Registrar's Office:

I did not sign up for Butterfly Observation because I don't need it. I don't want it and it isn't even offered until 1970.

April 23, 1958 Dear Mr. Anderson:

The flimsy excuses which you have put forward are not sufficient to remove the fact that under the code of 1745 you are required to take this course.

October 30, 1958 Dear Mr. Anderson:

Since you have obstinately refused to comply with your degree requirements and enter Butterfly Watching, it gives us a great deal of pleasure to inform you that you will not graduate in the spring.

quirement. Since it was enacted while this state was still a territory, it falls into the category of acts of Congress, and must be changed by the U.S. Congress. See you in 1970. Aside from that, how have you like the University?

The Registrar's Office May 26, 1959 Dear Registrar's Office:

You know what you can do with your regulations book! Since your last venomous epistle, I have wired my Congressman, gone to Washington, spent $10,000 lobbying and suffered a nervous collapse.

THE U.S. CONGRESS PASSED A SPECIAL BILL REVOKING THE CODE OF 1745 SO BUTTERFLY WATCHING IN ANTARCTICA 101 IS NO LONGER REQUIRED IN MY MAJOR! I AM GRADUATING, AS PLANNED, IN TWO WEEKS.

John B. Anderson May 29, 1959 Dear Mr. Anderson:

We are sorry to tell you that all notices of satisfaction of special graduation requirements must be in our office by May 25 to enable a student to graduate June 7; YOURS IS DATED MAY 26. Tough luck, Johnny, you won't graduate.

June 1, 1959 Dear Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Anderson:

We regret to inform you that your son John dropped out of school. In fact, he jumped from the third floor of the Chemistry Building and killed himself.

The Welcome Wasn't All Warm

Extraordinary Security Precautions For Nikita

DES MOINES (AP) — Extraordinary security precautions were taken Tuesday night as Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was honored at a civic banquet marking his welcome to the Midwest.

Two minutes before the Khrushchev party entered the grand ball room of the Fort Des Moines Hotel for the dinner, a team of Army men completed a check of the head table with an electronic device capable of detecting hidden metal objects.

Wisconsin Tickets Still Available

Tickets for the Wisconsin game at Madison Oct. 17 will be available to SUI students at the Field House next week.

Tickets may be purchased on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at the Field House ticket office. Students must show their I.D. cards to obtain tickets.

Upon presentation of two I.D. cards, a student will be permitted to purchase tickets for himself and one other student.

Military Police Guard Khrushchev At Deere

Military policemen guarded the entrance where Nikita Khrushchev entered the John Deere plant. And on the roof of the plant, soldiers carrying M-1 rifles watched the area.

On the drive to the John Deere Farm Machinery plant, Khrushchev passed such diverse sights as brown cornfields, two girls riding horseback down the street, a trailer camp, and the sprawling red brick Firestone Tire Co. plant with a small of rubber in the air.

Khrushchev's wife and daughters wearing starched butcher coats, were momentarily left behind when Khrushchev entered the Des Moines Packing Co. plant, but someone came out of the plant and ushered them in.

600 DUTCH ON WAY HERE ROTTERDAM, Holland (AP) — Six-hundred Dutchmen left Rotterdam Tuesday aboard the motor vessel Zuidkruis to emigrate to the United States. Most of them formerly lived in Indonesia. They were forced to leave in the anti-Dutch campaign of 1957.

'K' An Actor, Nixon Contends

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, commenting on temper displays by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, said Tuesday the nation should remember that "Mr. Khrushchev is quite an actor."

It seems that Mr. Khrushchev's testiness is completely controlled by Mr. Khrushchev, Nixon told newsmen at La Guardia Airport, Nixon made his comments before flying back to Washington after a brief visit here with his wife.

Casual Nikita Shakes Hands With Workers

DES MOINES (AP) — Des Moines gave Nikita Khrushchev a welcome Tuesday like the noontime meal on an Iowa farm, warm and substantial.

The crowds, proportionately, were the biggest of any city he has visited.

And they applauded more warmly than in any other place except San Francisco.

Khrushchev loved it. He stood on the sidewalk in front of his hotel, amiably answering reporters' questions, turning to smile at the people crowded around him, and waving at other spectators massed on the spiral ramp of a parking garage across the street.

He looked as casual and at ease as a farmer come to town to shop and trade thoughts on the crops.

Then he walked into the hotel lobby, still grinning broadly, and shook hands with employes and people standing there. The easy informality of the Middle West obviously sat well with him.

He commented on a placard he had passed coming in from the airport—"We don't always agree with you but we welcome you."

Through his interpreter, Khrushchev said, "That's the way we feel and that's a good sentiment. We don't always agree with you either but we welcome any effort to settle our differences."

Khrushchev did not comment on some other placards, expressing different sentiments.

"The only good Communist is a dead Communist," said one. "We butcher hogs here, not people," said another. "No Munich on the Potomac," met his eyes on the street in front of the hotel.

But the marquee above its entrance told him he was welcome. It has been reported Khrushchev was disappointed with the unenthusiastic reception he has had in other cities. Some observers believe his reaction has definitely chilled the possibility of starting his talks with President Eisenhower this week in a friendly mood.

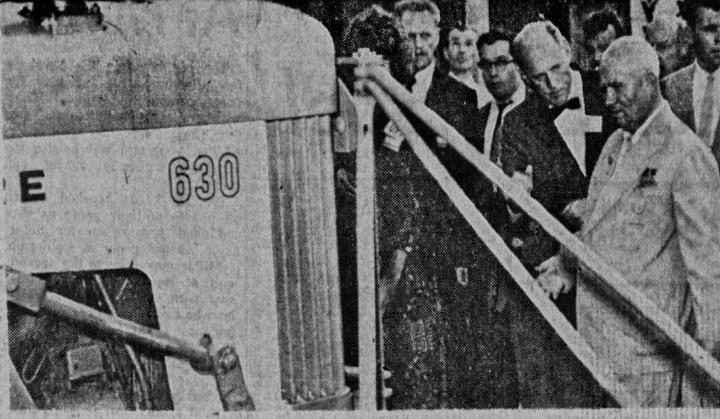

The Des Moines welcome, coming immediately after the cheerful scenes in San Francisco, could very well change his mind.

AFL-CIO Votes To Admit Exiled Longshoremen SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The AFL-CIO voted Tuesday to admit to membership the International Longshoremen's Assn., a union exiled by organized labor six years ago on charges it was corrupt.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, told delegates at the national convention the ILA had made "amazing progress" in cleaning out hoodlums and corrupt conditions, and had earned a place back again in the labor family of unions.

The ILA was kicked out of the old AFL in 1953, two years before the AFL-CIO merger. The 60,000 member union was the subject of a New York State Crime Commission probe that found it was controlled by racketeers and riddled with corrupt practices.

Thousands Greet Nikita; Welcome Quiet, Orderly

DES MOINES (AP) — Crowds lining the route of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev from the Des Moines Municipal Airport were quiet, orderly and a little solemn.

They started gathering about two hours before the premier's plane circled land, and numbered several thousand by the time his motor caravan left the airport for the hotel.

Several hundred claimed vantage points along the road leading past the Air National Guard section of the airport. Parking of cars along the road was banned, but side streets were jammed with vehicles.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Meharrie, farmers near Oskaloosa, were among those lining the airport fence. They had their two small sons with them.

"I wouldn't care so much to see him (Khrushchev) for myself," commented Meharrie, "but you know how it is. Mr. Khrushchev, after all, is one of the great world figures of his time and I thought the boys should see him. It's something they can tell their grandchildren about."

It wasn't the Soviet premier himself, but the giant jet planes in which the party arrived, which claimed the major interest of Jim Crandall, 12, of Des Moines.

"Those planes are what I want to see," young Crandall declared. "And boy, they're really something."

The crowds, sparsely scattered along Fleur Drive in the middle portion of Khrushchev's route, grew denser the closer they were to the hotel.

Police Patrolman Tony Mihalovich, a Yugoslavian who had asked that he not be assigned to security forces guarding Khrushchev, estimated there were between 2,000 and 3,000 persons in two blocks. Mihalovich was assigned to traffic duty.

A Des Moines insurance man, James Watson, stood in the front ranks of spectators holding a sign reading: "The World Needs Friendly Competition Between Us."

He said the sign wasn't sponsored by any organization but represented "my own ideas."

"There are some basic needs of all peoples, such as adequate food, housing and control of disease," Watson said. "If Russia and the United States were to wipe each other out, these problems still would remain."

"If there is to be competition between us, I believe it should be in the area of trying to wipe out such problems."

Blast Injures Five In Council Bluffs

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — Five persons were injured Monday night in a propane gas explosion at the John Tilley home about five miles south of Council Bluffs.

Tilley's wife, Mary Jean, 26, was reported in poor condition Tuesday at a hospital where she was being treated for burns over 75 per cent of her body.

Tilley suffered burns about the chest, arm and back, and was reported in fair condition.

Two of the children, Timothy, 4, and John, 6, were listed in satisfactory condition.

A neighbor boy, Randy Carmichael, 12, suffered minor burns.

Tilley told members of an emergency crew he returned home and crawled through an opening in the foundation to light the propane gas water heater, which had been out all day. The blast followed and flames came through the opening, burning the other four persons.

The explosion, which rocked the neighborhood, bulged the basement walls several inches.

More Taxes Would Hurt Cooperatives DES MOINES (AP) — A regional convention of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Assn. resolved Tuesday that additional taxes on farm cooperatives would be "punitive."

The taxes, the resolution said, would do nothing but increase the cost of farming operations.

More than 500 persons from Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin attended the convention, which ended after passage of 21 resolutions. One of them appeals to Congress to adopt a federal budget which distinguishes between operating expenditures and capital investments.

Another resolution commends Congress for passing an act authorizing the Atomic Energy Commission to construct two atomic reactors for demonstration in municipal or rural electric cooperative plants.

Herman G. Dokken of Linn Grove was re-elected Iowa delegate to the national organization's board of directors. Other directors chosen are Lawrence C. Cole, Waterloo, Wis., and Harold S. Huey, Plymouth, Ill.

'Impossible,' Says Lodge DES MOINES (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev wanted to shake hands with some of the people in the crowds outside the Hotel Fort Des Moines when he arrived Tuesday.

But U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who is accompanying him on his trip, held him back, saying vigorously, "no, no! It's impossible — really, it's impossible."

Burglars Punch Safe, Little Cash, Lots Of Gas DES MOINES (AP) — Burglars obtained more than $500 from one safe Monday night, but those who braved tear gas in another breakin got only $12 for their efforts, police reported Tuesday.

The $500 was from the M.E. Dory filling station. At Specifide, Inc., a feed supplement firm, the burglars punched the dial on a safe and set off an automatic tear gas protective device. The safe contained only the $12.

Iowa Prime Ribs, Peach Pie For Russian Leader's Dinner

DES MOINES (AP) — Eight bouquets of yellow and brown chrysanthemums decorated the head table Tuesday night for a dinner given to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

A large gold and blue banner hung over the dais behind the guest of honor, Khrushchev, with the lettering "Greater Des Moines Chamber of Commerce."

The dinner was sponsored by the Mayor of Des Moines and the Greater Des Moines Chamber of Commerce.

Roast prime ribs of Iowa corned beef were the main dish. Another American favorite, peach pie, was the dessert.

Six hundred persons were invited to the affair in the Hotel Fort Des Moines where Khrushchev and his party are staying during their two days in Iowa.

Sir Isaac Newton is struck by another great idea!

IT'S WHAT'S UP FRONT THAT COUNTS

As sure as little apples, Newton knew that what goes up must come down.

But when it comes down to a really pleasurable filter cigarette, it's what goes up—in front of the filter, that is—that makes the difference!

And there's where Winston had an inspired idea—Filter-Blend! Winston specially selects choice, mild tobaccos, then specially processes them for filter smoking. The result: Filter-Blend up front of a modern filter. That's what makes Winston a complete filter cigarette.

Filter-Blend also makes Winston America's best-selling, best-tasting filter cigarette. Take it from Sir Isaac:

"You don't have to be hit on the head to know that Winston tastes good like a cigarette should!"

Smith, Rivera Homers Clinch Win—

Sox End 40-Year Dry Spell

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Chicago White Sox Tuesday night won the American League pennant, their first in 40 years.

The clincher came on a 4-2 victory over Cleveland, the margin being consecutive, sixth-inning homers by Al Smith and Jim Rivera. That gave Chicago a 4½-game lead over the Indians, with three Chicago and four Cleveland games left.

This blue chip game before 54,293 in Cleveland's huge lakefront stadium ended with a dramatic game-ending double play after Cleveland had loaded the bases in the last of the ninth.

The winner was Chicago's grand old man of pitching, 39-year-old Early Wynn, although he failed to finish.

With the crowd in bedlam, relief ace Gerry Staley got Vic Power to smash the first pitch on the ground to Chicago shortstop Luis Aparicio, who raced to second for the force play and then threw to first to nip Power by an eyelash.

Manager Al Lopez quickly replaced Wynn with his other ace, young Bob Shaw, when Cleveland shaved Chicago's lead to 4-2 in the sixth. It was the 21st victory against 10 defeats for Wynn. In the top of the sixth, a former Indian, Al Smith, and Jungle Jim Rivera spanked back-to-back homers off Jim (Mudcat) Grant, who relieved starter Jim Perry at the start of that inning. Those blows wrapped up the game and pennant for the White Sox.

Both Lopez and Cleveland's deposed manager, Joe Gordon, directed this game with every trick they had in the book. Lopez used his two best pitchers and maneuvered players every inch of the way. He put his two "injured" men, catcher Sherm Lollar and center fielder Jim Landis, into the game for defensive measures.

Cards 11, Dodgers 10
ST. LOUIS (AP) — The often tame St. Louis Cardinals knocked Los Angeles out of first place in the hectic National League race Tuesday night, bombing six Dodger pitchers for 14 hits and an 11-10 victory.

Frank Howard, the Dodgers 6-foot-8 rookie, almost rescued the Dodgers with a two-out, three-run homer in the ninth which brought a small crowd of 12,732 to its feet.

But Lindy McDaniel retired Junior Gilliam to end it.

Left-hander Marshal Bridges, a 28-year-old rookie, was the Cardinal winner in relief of starter Larry Jackson. Bridges permitted four runs, three earned, in his 7½-inning stint.

The collapse of the Dodger pitching staff was sudden and complete. Los Angeles pitchers had permitted just 9 runs and 25 hits over the past four games, winning all four. The Dodgers had won 10 of their last 13 games.

Red Blaik On Football
Today's Game Tough But Sane

Not only the Parent-Teachers Association but The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Ends would stampe college football into oblivion, if it were played today as it used to be. To eliminate brutality, the forward pass was legalized in 1906. But for more than a decade later, tackles still wrapped inches of bicycle tape around their hands to belabor the heads of ends until they rang like Chinese gongs.

It was in such a climate that I practiced on the West Point Plain in 1919 as one of a brood of ends, under Assistant Coach Louis Merillat, a great star both on the football and the battle fields. Major Merillat tried to teach us to protect ourselves. But the director of the scene was the canny and then famous line coach, Col. Ernest (Pot) Graves.

Graves exhorted his tackles to maltreat the ends. "Let's see some blood," he demanded over and over again. He didn't bellow. He merely spoke in an ominously controlled monotone. And there was just enough blood in evidence to show the tackles were learning their lessons well.

The tackles took the high, dominant defensive stance in those days and the ends assumed a low position of self-preservation. When I threw a block, I ducked my head and rolled with the punch. I knew it was the only way to preserve my teeth and the bridge of my nose. If I was quick and lucky enough, I would escape with mere skin abrasions, which were acceptable as badges of merit.

Today, football by comparison is almost gentle and kind. It is just as tough, but the brutality has been expunged. Good rules have contributed. So has the concept of strategy tactics. Movement, maneuver and possession have replaced position and stagnation relieved only by a break.

Today's game is much more demanding in the overall. It requires the stubbornness of a bulldozer, the dexterity of a ballet dancer, the mental ability of a chess player and, for a pass receiver, the supple hands of a Hawaiian maiden.

It is a game that demands cour-

Al Miller Clears Book Hurdle

The big news in the Hawkeye football camp Tuesday was the announcement that end Al Miller will be eligible for the coming season. The junior corner man lettered last year and will bolster the Hawkeye's already strong end corps.

The Hawkeyes brushed up on all phases of their game as they continued preparation for Saturday's season opener at California. Miller moved up to the second unit at right end, sharing this spot with sophomore Bill Whisler who has held the position during most of the fall drills.

The Mau-Maus, dressed in California's Blue, simulated the Golden Bear attack as the Hawkeyes polished defensive alignments to be used against last season's Rose Bowl foe.

Brief drills on punt and kickoff returns and punt return defense preceded an offensive session which saw Olen Treadway and Wilburn Hollis pilot the top units. Still recovering from a sprained ankle, Hollis may not see action against California. This leaves the offensive quarterback spot solely in the hands of Treadway as reserves Fred Erhardt and Tom Moore are almost totally lacking in experience.

California, seeking revenge for its 38-10 loss to the Hawkeyes in the Rose Bowl, appears to have a stronger team than last year.

The Bears whipped Washington State last week 20-6 as scabbacks Grover Garvin and Bob Willis proved too much for the Cougars.

Garvin raced 92 yards for a touchdown on a punt return and was named the Back of the Week for his performance.

Like Iowa, California is missing last year's top quarterback, Joe Kapp, runnerup to Randy Duncan in most all-American selections, has graduated leaving the post to Larry Parque and Wayne Crow.

Converted from halfback, Crow was to be the Bears' No. 1 signal caller but has been hampered by a leg injury. Parque, last year's No. 2 quarterback, was at the helm in the Washington State game.

Polio Victim In Hospital Here After Eventful Ride In Truck

A polio victim in University Hospital was listed in serious condition Tuesday after a four-hour trip here from Moline, Ill., during which his lung stopped working.

Francis Campbell, 25, Colona, Ill., was being brought here in a truck borrowed from a Moline grocery. A generator that provided power for operation of his iron lung failed 10 miles east of West Liberty and a doctor and attendant accompanying him on the trip had to pump the lung manually.

The truck continued to a service station in Wilton Junction while the lung was being pumped by hand. The lung mechanism was then plugged into normal current.

An accompanying highway patrolman radioed for another generator while the truck was speeding to the service station. Muscatine police rushed their portable emergency unit to the location.

Enough power was not provided by the police unit, so officers at Muscatine began contacting residents there who had generators that could be used.

A generator owned by Stormer Electric Service was rushed to the scene by its owner, but since the generator was mounted on a trailer, it could not be used.

While the officers had been searching for generators, the truck driver and the service station operator restored the original generator to operation.

As the caravan continued its way to Iowa City, the truck-mounted generator was kept in operation and pulled by car behind the patient's truck in event the original generator should fail again. The rest of Campbell's trip was uninterrupted. He arrived here at 3:26 a.m., more than four hours after leaving Moline.

Nikita's Wife Seems Tired During Tour

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Nina Khrushchev enjoyed an American favorite—a hot dog—as she accompanied her husband on a packinghouse and farm machinery tour Tuesday.

Dressed in a black suit, with tiny threads of gold shot through it, Mrs. Khrushchev appeared somewhat weary as she and the two Khrushchev daughters trudged along through the bloody, meat packing operation, wearing starched butcher coats.

While Khrushchev was being shown samples of farm machinery at the John Deere works outdoor display area after a tour of that factory, Mrs. Khrushchev got her own trip on which cornpickers, potato diggers and a tremendous billowing canvas-topped hay drier were shown her.

As she looked at the potato digger, Mrs. Khrushchev said through her interpreter that the Soviet Union also had some of those "but I don't know if they look like that."

General Bradley Too Busy To Think About War

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Many old soldiers spend their time refighting in memory their half-forgotten battles.

Not Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley, who at the close of World War II commanded 1,300,000 combat troops, the largest body of U.S. soldiers ever to serve under a field leader.

"I don't think back on the war period very much," he said. "For one thing, he's too busy. At 66, the tall, sturdy 'doughboy' general" — he weighs only a few pounds more than he did when he played baseball at West Point — is fighting a new enemy — space.

Bradley is board chairman of the Bulova Watch Co. The firm has turned out miniature safety and arming devices for 19 of the nation's defense missile programs.

"At the close of the last war I had to worry about a 600-mile front," remarked Bradley dryly. "Now we deal with problems involving millions of an inch."

"Size is of vital importance because for every added pound of weight in a missile you require several pounds of fuel to get it up," he said.

Although excited by the challenge of space conquest, Bradley observed: "We may have observers out in space, but I can't foresee space armies in our lifetime."

"I don't think we're going to have another war as long as we stay strong enough to act as a deterrent," he said. "The biggest danger is that a brush fire may get out of hand."

"If we don't retain our capability to fight a war such as the last one, we invite more Koreans and Indochinas. The doughboy and the tank aren't obsolete," he said.

It amuses him when he is asked if he found difficult his transition from military commander to civilian business leader. He points out that as the postwar veterans' administrator he supervised a six-billion-dollar annual budget.

"A military organization and an industrial firm are really quite similar," he said.

"There is, of course, one big difference. In one you worry about the lives of your men. In the other you worry about spending the stockholders' money."

Bradley, a friendly, kindly man who was never one to throw his stars around, at the start impressed on his associates: "There is no rank during a meeting." He recalled that he was brought up under that belief by his chief, Gen. George C. Marshall.

"He knew that no one man could always have the right answer," said Bradley. "He insisted that if all views weren't expressed, clearly and forthrightly, he might not know the right action to take. He worried if his staff were too often in full agreement. He knew all people couldn't agree."

ATOM SPY FUCHS MARRIES

BERLIN (AP) — Atom spy Klaus Fuchs, 47, who was released from a British prison last June, has married an East German Communist party woman, East Berlin circles reported Tuesday.

They said the nuclear scientist married Greta Keilson, 53, an official of the press department of East Germany's Foreign Ministry, on Sept. 9 in East Berlin.

Soviet Boss Sees Strike

DES MOINES (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev saw American workers on strike for the first time Tuesday.

Striking workers from the Iowa Packing Co. cheered when the Russian leader drove up to visit the nearby Des Moines Packing Co. Some shouted "come over and talk to us." A few carried placards. One read, "Free Americans are free to strike."

Khrushchev originally was to have visited the Swift plant, but the trip was cancelled when the workers went on strike.

Khrushchev donned a butcher's coat to tour the Des Moines Packing Co. plant which processes meat.

Military police of the Fifth Army armed with M-1 rifles, patrolled the roof and the roofs of neighboring buildings while Khrushchev was in the plant.

Order Increase On Rates For U.S. Savings Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Tuesday ordered one-half of one per cent increase in interest rates on U. S. savings bonds. It affects old bonds as well as new ones.

All series "E" and "H" bonds bought since last June 1 will pay 3 3/4 per cent if held until they mature. The old rate was 3 1/4 per cent.

One bond sold between Feb. 1, 1957, and May 31, 1959, rates will be boosted to 3 1/2 per cent as of June 1. This means they earned the old rate prior to June 1 but now will benefit from the increase for the remainder of their maturity period.

Bonds sold before Feb. 1, 1957, start earning 3 1/2 per cent, retroactive to June 1. Some of these bonds had been paying 2 9/8 per cent and some 3 per cent.

Acting on recommendation of Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, the President decided a jump to 3 3/4 per cent was sufficient.

Savings bonds sales have been in a slump for months because, with other rates rising, savers could earn more interest by putting their money to work in other ways.

Eisenhower said he hopes the new rates "will serve as a renewed invitation to every citizen to buy and hold these 'shares in America'."

The President declared there is "no better way of saving, no more effective way of strengthening our power for peace."

He said the bond program strengthens the finances of both the government and individual families.

As part of the new program, all bonds now outstanding can be extended for an additional 10 years after they next reach maturity. Some bonds already have been extended once.

Building Owners, Reds Compete For Rooms At Hotel

DES MOINES (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's party was competing for rooms in the Hotel Fort Des Moines with a seven-state regional convention of Midwest-Northern Building Owners and Managers Tuesday.

Convention officials were hoping they might get Khrushchev to stop in at their sessions. But his schedule, fixed long ago, did not indicate any room for it. Convention goers were among the large crowd that gathered for Khrushchev's arrival at the hotel this afternoon.

As one woman in the group put it "I just want to get a glimpse of him in the flesh."

his own pet project for agriculture. Much of the introduction of the speech was concerned with statistics on the progress of Soviet farming.

Khrushchev paid tribute to American farming as having "much that is valuable and instructive to us." He singled out corn cultivation and meat production for praise.

"Your successes are worthy of high praise and your experiences merit our study," the Communist chief added.

He pleaded for the exchange of agricultural experiences between the two countries, though he said he realized there were individuals and newspapers in the United States which might resist this — newspapers which present the Soviet seven-year plan as some sort of "menace."

"What sort of menace can there be in the increase of the production of milk and meat?" the premier asked and he drew applause for this.

Khrushchev put it this way: "There are articles in newspapers in your country which try to present our seven-year-plan as a threat, a Soviet economic menace. But the question is what kind of menace, and to whom, could be our desire to increase our economic production? Hardly anyone would contend that our desire to produce more meat, butter and eggs would make our people more aggressive."

"This competition is more useful than the race to stockpile hydrogen bombs. Let there be more racing for meat and no hydrogen bombs at all. We want the fields to be furrowed by peaceful ploughs and not by rockets and tank traps."

Khrushchev said the purpose of his visit to the United States is to strengthen peace in general and improve Soviet-American relations.

"The people of the Soviet Union sincerely want to strengthen good relations between the United States and the Soviet Union," Khrushchev said.

He recalled that the United States and the Soviet Union marched soldier to soldier against a common enemy in World War II. To bring a peace enjoyed by all nations, the Soviet people want consolidated.

The premier said mankind pins great hopes on the U.S.S.R. and the United States making a "great contribution to the cardinal problem of our time which is the strengthening of world peace."

Khrushchev pleaded for increased Soviet-American trade as a step in this direction.

He recalled his many "interesting talks with representatives of the American people of all walks of life."

"We heard many kind words addressed to the Soviet people," he said, and he added he was grateful for that. He said the Soviet people are looking forward to President Eisenhower's visit to Russia and will treat him in a "most friendly manner."

Khrushchev concluded with another vow that the Soviet people intended to do all in their power to strengthen peace. He said this motive was behind the Soviet disarmament proposal last Friday in the U.N. and in the Soviet plea for a peace treaty with Communist East Germany and West Germany.

The Soviet U.N. proposal had called for a four-year disarmament program which would lead to liquidation of all armies and armaments.

Khrushchev said in conclusion: "May the two words, peace and friendship, emblazon the banners of nations. I wish you success in the further development of your wonderful state and thank you for your consideration."

Khrushchev was all smiles as he sat down again, and he even waved to an acquaintance in the audience.

As he left the dinner table, he shouted into the microphone "Do Svidaniya," meaning "Till we meet again."

There was none of the truculence in the Iowa speech which had marked appearances in other cities.

Khrushchev was on his way out of the hall when he suddenly decided to go back and say good bye to some other Iowans. He worked his way back through the big dinner throng to speak to farmer Roswell Garst, whom he visits today, and others.

Mrs. Khrushchev approached the microphone, and in English thanked Iowa heartily for its welcome.

16-Year-Old Shoots Youth On Steps Of High School

NEW YORK (AP)—A 16-year-old boy, whose mother said he had been taunted as a "mother's boy," told Tuesday how he shot down a rival gang youth on the steps of a Bronx high school. He said his companions urged him on screaming "Burn 'em, burn 'em."

Rivalry over girls and territories between two Puerto Rican street gangs apparently sparked Monday's ambush slaying of John Guzman, also 16. It was New York's 11th youth gang killing of the year. Accused of the slaying with six other teen-agers was Edward Peres. A police statement quoted him as detailing: "We couldn't take it from these guys. We waited a long time. When they came out the fight started. Everybody was belting everybody and our gang kept yelling, 'Burn 'em, burn 'em.' I kept hearing them yell — so I pulled the gun out and let it go. "They were still yelling 'burn em' when I fired. Then, I don't know, I got sick. I was scared. I ran and got the hell out of there."

Later, remorse apparently touched Peres and he changed his story to say: "I had the gun in my pocket and something went wrong with it because when I pulled it out it went off. It was all a mistake. I never wanted to shoot anyone."

Dorsey Band Opens Tonight At The Hawk

The orchestra of the late Jimmy Dorsey, directed by trumpet man Lee Castle, will kick off the fall season of entertainment at The Hawk Ballroom in Coralville tonight at 9 p.m.

The orchestra tonight will be appearing at The Hawk for the second time since the ballroom opened less than a year ago. In its first appearance, the orchestra established the ballroom's dance record of over 1,200 admissions.

The senior member of the now legendary Dorsey brothers, Jimmy was respected for his high musical standards, his incredible technique and improvisations on the saxophone, and for the distinguished musicians he had gathered around him.

Today, leader Lee Castle carries on the tradition. A veteran of years with Tommy Dorsey, Artie Shaw and Benny Goodman, Castle has gathered about him a band of experienced musicians and two talented vocalists. Together they have continued to play the style and many of the same arrangements which brought acclaim and distinction to Jimmy Dorsey.

SUI Poets May Enter Competition

SUI poets have a chance to see their works in print if they enter competition sponsored by the National Poetry Association.

Winning poems submitted by college students will appear in the College Student's Poetry Anthology. Manuscript may be submitted until Nov. 5.

SUI teachers and librarians are eligible to enter their poems until Jan. 1 for possible inclusion in the Annual National Teachers' Anthology.

The poems submitted are not limited as to form or theme, but shorter works are preferred by the Board of Judges because of space limitations.

Each poem submitted must be typed or printed on a separate sheet of paper and must bear the name and home address of the entrant and the college with which he is affiliated. There are no fees or charges for acceptance or submission.

Manuscripts may be sent to the offices of the Association of National Poetry Association, 3210 Shelby Ave., Los Angeles 34, Calif.

William Penn College Names Building For SUI Music Grad

A new Fine Arts Building at William Penn College, Oskaloosa, has been named in honor of an SUI graduate.

Charles Griffith, long time musical instructor and head of the Penn Fine Arts Department, recently saw his dream of having a former boy's dormitory remodeled into a fine arts building come true.

At a meeting of the College's board of trustees, it was decided to rename the building Griffith Hall, The Center of William Penn College Fine Arts.

Griffith received his Ph.D. in music from SUI. He has served 20 years at Penn and was head of the Fine Arts Department at Park College, Parkville, Mo.

Formal dedication of the building will be held when final repairs to the exterior of the structure are completed.

Hunt Soldiers Charged With Plot Against Castro

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban soldiers beat the brush Tuesday for associates of 40 men arrested near the eastern tip of this island nation on a charge of plotting against the government.

Ex-soldiers made up most of the group nabbed Monday night in Oriente province, the cradle of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's rebellion against the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship, reports said.

The action was reported centered at Baracoa, a port of 10,000 where Cuba's first white settlement was founded in 1511-12. It is 80 miles from Hispaniola, whose Dominican and Haitian governments are both viewed with suspicion by Havana officials.

Capt. Argeo Hernandez, chief of rural police at Baracoa, said the suspects planned to seize the town's airport and blow up a munitions depot. He identified the leader as Miguel Alba, a veteran of Batista's defeated army.

Other quarters reported a total of 50 arrests and said they were continuing. This could not be confirmed officially.

In Havana, there were rumors the army had ordered all troops of Havana province into their barracks. It was recalled that the government took such a measure last month when a conspiracy against Castro's regime was reported.

That conspiracy led to the arrest of about 4,000 persons. All but about 200 have since been released.

There were unconfirmed reports, however, of a resemblance in the

Reporting Group Says Iowa Crops To Be Favorable

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa crops continued last week to make favorable progress, and although there was light frost at a few points, damage to corn and soybeans was regarded as negligible.

That was the report Tuesday of the Iowa Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The service said virtually all of the corn has dented and about 80 per cent of the crop was well dented and hard.

Combining of soybeans started, with 3 to 5 per cent of the harvest completed. Crop prospects continued quite favorable.

The supply of soil moisture ranges from short to adequate in west central, northwestern and central Iowa, and generally adequate elsewhere.

Clark Begins High School Field Trips

Jeff Clark, SUI instructor in journalism, will begin the first two field trips to Iowa high schools today.

Providing service to the high schools is Clark's purpose on these field trips. This service usually includes meeting with yearbook and student newspaper staffs at each school and talking over their problems, while making suggestions which might prove helpful to them as student journalists.

This is the fourth year Clark will make these trips and the eighth year since SUI's School of Journalism initiated the field-trip program. On his first trip, which will close Friday, Clark will make half-day stops at the Mid-Prairie Community School in West Chester (Wednesday a.m.) and at the Mount Pleasant (Wednesday p.m.); Donnellson, (Thursday a.m.); Aquinas (Fort Madison), (Thursday p.m.); Denmark, (Friday a.m.), and St. Mary's (West Point), (Friday p.m.) high schools.

His second field trip (September 28-October 1) will include visits to high schools in Mount Vernon and Marion, Sept. 28, and Manchester and Strawberry Point high schools Sept. 29. Stops Sept. 30 will be at the Monona-Farmersburg and Postville high schools, and on Oct. 1 at Arlington and Delhi high schools.

Health Center Is Proposed For Iowa City

The establishment of a multi-county public health center in Iowa City has been proposed by the State Department of Public Health. Iowa City was among 27 Iowa communities proposed as sites for county or multi-county health centers. Construction of the centers has been given top priority for federal aid by the department.

The proposal for the 27 centers followed a department statement that Iowa has suitable nursing home facilities for only 678 patients, seven per cent of the nursing home beds needed in the state.

The health centers have been forbidden counties or cities to col-propose in the hope that a law lect taxes directly for certain health activities would be changed in the next legislative session.

The car which they were riding left Highway 218 on a curve, traveled 180 feet on the shoulders, struck a mailbox and address sign at a driveway entrance, collided with an embankment of an intersecting road after dropping over the shoulder and rolled end over end.

Local Jeweler Completes Course In Diamond Study

William G. Nusser, manager of Hands Jewelry Store, has been awarded the Diamond Certificate of the Gemological Institute of America for his successful completion of the organization's Diamond Training Program.

The jeweler's training program involves a study of all phases of diamond technology, including evaluation procedures and grading for color, clarity and cutting.

In addition to the study involved, Nusser was required to grade and appraise a number of diamonds which were checked by the staff of the institute.

Nusser has been with his firm for 11 years.

Predicts U.S. To Depend On Plains States For Food

MASON CITY (AP)—The president of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts predicts that within the next 50 years the United States will be dependent on the Central Plains states to feed the nation.

William E. Richards of Holdrege, Neb., made the prediction at a Monday night banquet of the conference of soil conservation district commissioners now underway.

Richards said he based his prophecy on what he said was the encroaching of urban and industrial areas on agricultural land in other regions of the country.

lowa Sheriffs Group Helps Guard Nikita

DES MOINES (AP)—In response to a blanket call for help issued by the Iowa Sheriff's Association, about 150 sheriffs, deputies and policemen from nearly every Iowa county were in the Des Moines area Tuesday to join the security force assigned to guard Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

81 Girls Tentatively Accepted For SUI Scottish Highlanders

Eighty-one SUI coeds have been accepted tentatively from the 351 who auditioned for the Scottish Highlanders, the world's largest all-girl bagpipe band, Director William L. Adamson announced Tuesday.

After a month's training period, some 75 per cent of the 81 will be accepted as Highlanders and continue to receive instruction, taking lessons on either the bagpipes or drums and learning the Scottish's dances and folk songs which the group presents.

Veteran members of the Highlanders began rehearsals Monday and will make their first appearance of the season at the Iowa-Northwestern football game in Iowa City Oct. 3.
