Ike Plans $4.2 Billion Surplus

Prosperity Predicted for '60; Pledges Lower National Debt

By ROBERT J. DONOVAN
Herald Tribune News Service

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower surprised Congress Thursday by disclosing in his State-of-the-Union message that the budget he will propose for his final year in office will carry a $4.2 billion surplus. This promise of the largest surplus since 1948 immediately set off some political rumblings about a tax cut. But the President insisted in his appearance before a televised joint session that the money be used to lower the $290 billion national debt — "reduction in our children's inherited mortgage," as he called it.

"Once we have established such payments as normal practice," he said, "we can profitably make improvements in our tax structure and thereby truly reduce the heavy burdens of taxation."

Along with his tidings of a large surplus in the next budget, which brought whoops of joy from the Republicans, he also forecast a $200 million surplus in the budget for the current fiscal year, which will end on June 30.

Eisenhower's eighth and last State-of-the-Union message, except his valedictory next January, was a moderate, hopeful, conciliatory address, placing great stress on the imperative need for peace and his own willingness to devote his "full energies" to this cause.

He said the world was in a state of "uneasy equilibrium," but that there were signs of lessening tension between the Soviet Union and the West.

Eisenhower had words of particular interest to many different groups. In his Presidential election year, the Republicans, including Vice President Nixon who was seated at the desk behind him, were gladdened by his observation that "1960 promises to be the most prosperous year in our history."

To the Democrats, who will have controlled Congress for six of his eight years in office, he expressed gratitude that "we have weathered the storms." He assured them that as he pursues peace on his further foreign travels this year and in his negotiations at the Summit in May, he would "dedicate myself to a close and constructive association with the Congress."

For the underdeveloped nations of the world, he appealed for greater co-operation and sacrifice among the nations of the West to raise living standards everywhere.

While he did not spell out a legislative program, leaving details to subsequent special messages, he outlined broad areas in which he indicated that Congress should act.

Among the problems he enumerated were:

1. Inflation.
2. Farm surpluses.
3. The "need to protect the public interest" in prolonged strikes.
4. Federal incentives to states and municipalities to build schools by guaranteeing payment on their bonds and interest — "but not through the swift administration of a Federal hypodermic or sustained financial transfusion."
5. The lifting of the 4 1/2 percent limit on the interest rate the Government can pay on long-term bonds. Congress refused to approve this last year, and the President said Thursday that "removal of this roadblock has a high priority in my legislative recommendations."
6. Civil Rights. The President touched this field in the most generalized terms. He said that he hoped that Congress would give consideration to some of the numerous recommendations of the Civil Rights Commission, but gave no indications which ones he favored.
7. Broadening the power of the International Court of Justice by repealing the reservation, insisted upon by the Senate years ago, that the United States must have the right to determine on its own say-so whether a matter before the Court lies within American domestic jurisdiction. If this reservation is repealed, he said, "I intend to urge similar acceptance of the Court's jurisdiction by every member of the United Nations."

The delivery of the State-of-the-Union message is one of the hallowed rituals of American Government, and the traditional scene Thursday was much the same as it has been in years past.

At 12:05 p.m. President and Mrs. Eisenhower, who was wearing a blue dress, matching blue hat, long white gloves and a pink fur piece, left the White House in a limousine and were escorted to the Capitol by motorcycle police. A wet snow fell, early, but had subsided. They drove through gloomy wet streets, and in the chill and dampness only a small crowd was waiting in the Capitol Plaza to see them arrive.

Mrs. Eisenhower was escorted to the members' gallery of the House of Representatives chamber, where she joined her sister, Mrs. George Gordon Moore, her son, Maj. John S. D. Eisenhower, who is on his father's staff at the White House, and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, who was wearing a dark brown suit. Mrs. Eisenhower was loudly cheered by the members when she appeared.

Members of the Cabinet sat in front of the House. The justices of the Supreme Court filed in wearing their judicial robes. The Diplomatic Corps entered in a body. Mikhail A. Menshikov, the Soviet ambassador, pausing to shake hands with Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.), took a seat in the rear and at the extreme right of the rostrum.

During the several critical remarks that the President was to make about Russia and Communism, he maintained a perfect poker face. And when the others arose and applauded Eisenhower at the conclusion of the State-of-the-Union message, Ambassador Menshikov stood, but he did not applaud.

Leaders of both parties escorted Eisenhower to the well of the House, where he shook hands with the Vice President and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, who were presiding jointly. Despite the normal signs of the toll of seven years, he turned to face the House as erect and square-shouldered as he stood on that same spot for his first State-of-the-Union message in 1953.

Hot Debate; 'No Injuries'

When the smoke cleared there was one thing certain. SUI Young Republicans and Young Democrats are willing to expound their views to all who will listen.

Under the auspices of the Wesley Foundation, a debate was held Thursday night in the East Lobby Conference Room of the Union featuring Dave Dutton, president of the Young Republicans, and Bob Fulton, president of the Young Democrats.

The subject was "Why are you a Republican or Democrat?" and the result was a heated discussion of party policy.

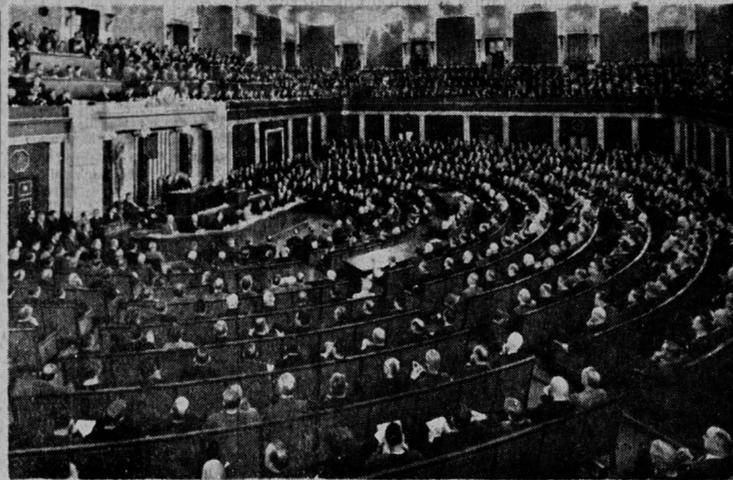

James Murray, assistant professor of Political Science, moderated the informal debate.

Nixon was lambasted by the Democrats and praised by the Republicans. Ike fared about as well.

The Republicans pointed to the Southern Democrats and Civil Rights. The Democrats said philosophically, the Southern Democrats belonged to the Republicans, and then no one would claim them.

No one appeared to leave in a state of disillusionment, and the principals were seen conversing after the discussion. There were no casualties.

State of Union Message: Much Ritual, Old Thoughts

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON — And so, in the final year under Dwight D. Eisenhower, we came to the dramatic moment of his now familiar ritual.

William N. Fishbait Miller, the House doorkeeper who greatly relishes this moment of glory, bawled out: "The President of the United States!"

The rear door swung open, and one could spot the bald head and the wide grin that have become international trademarks. President Eisenhower had arrived to tell Congress what he thinks of the State of the Union.

This democracy has few rituals to match these State of the Union appearances.

For one thing, they attract an all-star cast. Long before the President appears, the spectators begin to arrive. One of the earliest Thursday was Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, who, like the vice president, appears to believe in going places quickly. She was in her seat 41 minutes ahead of time, and 23 minutes ahead of Mrs. Eisenhower.

Then came the officials, segregated by their positions — the Senate, the ambassadors and other foreign officials, the Supreme Court, the Cabinet.

This was the eighth of Eisenhower's State of the Union messages. Seven of them he delivered in person. In 1956, while he was recuperating from a heart attack, he sent the message up to be read by a clerk.

And quick now — can you recall one thing he said in the other seven?

For all the commotion, these State of the Union things usually deal with lofty, general thoughts couched in highly forgettable words. Thursday's speech fitted nicely into this great tradition.

It's interesting to watch the congressmen as Eisenhower talks.

When he said something must be done about agriculture, for example, he got a lot of applause from the Republican side. But Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.), who heads the House Agriculture Committee and who will have a lot to say about what kind of legislation is passed, didn't lift a finger. Cooley stared thoughtfully at the ceiling.

The President got his biggest applause when he spoke of balancing the budget.

Presidents invariably promise to balance the budget, are invariably applauded, and, as you can tell by studying your own tax bills, invariably nothing much happens. And so it went.

This is like most rituals. We go through them not so much to be converted to new thoughts as to be reassured in what we believe already.

Pakistani Educator's Topic: Philosophy of Indian Poet

Itrah H. Zuberi, head of the Federal Ministry of Education in Pakistan and visiting lecturer in the English Department at SUI, called Indian poet Rabindranath Tagore "a philosophical poet in the true sense of the word" at the Bose Memorial Lecture Thursday night in Shambaugh Auditorium.

The poetry of Tagore can not be truly appreciated without reference to the philosophy of the "Upanisads" which present a comprehensive philosophy of life, Zuberi said.

The "Upanisads" aim at the religion of the spirit and recognize which is quite unique in Indian thought," Zuberi said.

Tagore was a true humanist, he said, and the variations and contradictions which today exist between the cultures of the world did not baffle him. He thought that through a religious humanism these could be resolved into a harmony of thought and action, Zuberi concluded.

The lecture was presented as part of the Bose Memorial Lecture Series which was started in 1950 by Mrs. Bose in memory of her husband who was professor of oriental politics at SUI from 1912 until his death in 1946.

Families See Plane Victims

SOUTHPORT, N.C. — By ones and twos, stricken relatives of the 34 people who died in an airline crash rode into this old port town Thursday for the awful ceremony of viewing their dead.

Some wept. Some were stony-faced. Others could not bear to enter the door of the little high school gymnasium where their loved ones lay on a polished floor, swathed in blankets.

Thirty-two bodies had been recovered in the search of wreckage of the National Airlines DC6B, spread over a 20-acre area outside Bolivia, a tiny town 17 miles west of here.

Searchers moved the biggest piece of fuselage in hopes the two missing bodies might be buried beneath. They were not there. The search was broadened.

The big plane, on a nonstop run from New York to Miami, apparently came apart in the air over this coastal area early Wednesday. Residents who heard the crash said they detected noises first like the ripping of metal. Bodies and pieces of the plane dropped onto the plowed fields and marshy piney woods.

There were no survivors.

The plane that crashed was one of two substitute flights, made necessary because the jet on which the passengers had been booked had a broken windshield. The other substitute flight reached Miami without incident.

Overnight, the 2 by 4-mile floe, about 400 miles northwest of Barrow, Alaska, and some 600 miles from the North Pole, sheared to one-fourth its original size.

However, there was 3,700 feet of runway on the landing strip bulldozed out last year and buildings at the camp remained firm, snug and warm.

Landings at the station during the winter when there is no light have become routine with the use of flares.

Maj. Phillip Peacock, public information officer for the 11th Air Division at Ladd, said evacuation of the camp would take about a week unless an unforeseen emergency arises. The men will be brought here or to Anchorage.

INDIAN TRIP FOR 'K'?
NEW DELHI, India — A government spokesman hinted Thursday Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has informally accepted an invitation to visit India next month.

Prime Minister Nehru has invited Khrushchev to stop in India during his visit to Indonesia. The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia indicated Thursday that Khrushchev will visit Burma as well as India.

The rockets will be launched without their final stage, the stage that could become either a satellite or a spaceship reaching another planet.

become stuck twice in his yard while parking there. He also said that he knew of two instances in which cars parked on Muscatine Avenue in front of the house have been struck by vehicles skidding on ice.

Miss Helen Graf, a defendant in the original restraining order who filed the motion to modify the temporary injunction, was also called upon to testify. She said that tenants in the Muscatine house have "always used the alley" the same as Woodlawn residents.

Miss Graf said the driveway has been used by tenants at 1030 Muscatine Ave. at least since the late John Sunier, Sr., bought the property in 1945. The property is owned at present by John Sunier, Jr., who inherited it from his father. Miss Graf is acting as agent for Sunier, SUI graduate who now lives in Boston.

The temporary restraining order gained Dec. 12 by the plaintiffs prevented the use of the drive by Miss Graf, Sunier, and Mr. and Mrs. Saunders. The plaintiffs are Prof. and Mrs. W. Ross Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Webster, Mrs. Klara Robbins, and Mrs. Ada B. Wylie. (Professor Livingston is on leave of absence from SUI, where he is an instructor in the history department.)

Attorney William H. Bartley represented the plaintiffs in contending that the modification was not necessary. He said a drive could be made from Muscatine Avenue to the garage by way of the Sunier property. The plaintiffs state that the drive is actually a lot in Woodlawn which they own jointly.

The fifth and only remaining owner of property adjoining the alley is the First Unitarian society.

Attorney Will J. Hayek argued for the motion. The defendants allege that the drive is the only access to the garage of the residence at 1030 Muscatine Ave.

Through the change in the restraining order Thursday, Saunders will be permitted to use the drive in getting to the garage or backyard of the house on Muscatine Avenue.

The modification will be in effect until the main issue in the case is settled or adjudicated through a hearing on an application for a permanent injunction in place of the restraining order, according to Judge Evans.

Negro tenants residing at 1030 Muscatine Ave. are now permitted to use the much disputed Woodlawn driveway which adjoins the property where they reside, pending the settlement of the court issue.

Judge H. D. Evans modified a court order temporarily restraining use of the alley after a hearing Thursday in Johnson County District Court.

Albert Saunders, tenant at the Muscatine address and a defendant in the case, testified at the hearing that since the injunction was issued Dec. 12, his car has

Van Allen Notes Obstacles To Rocketing Man into Space

The major obstacle delaying the United States in rocketing a man into space is to return him alive, James Van Allen, head of the SUI Physics Department, said Thursday night.

At present, the United States can not safely seal a man in a small compartment for a complete trip around the world. Van Allen said this problem will probably be solved by late 1961.

The SUI physicist also explained other aspects of space exploration at an informal discussion, the first of the "Spotlight Series," sponsored by the Union Board in the River Room of the Iowa Memorial Union.

The United States will be able to hit the moon with a rocket, as the Russians have done, when it develops a rocket capable of carrying more guide instruments, Van Allen explained. Present American rockets are not accurate enough to fulfill the job, he said. The speaker did not predict when the problem will be solved.

Van Allen said the Russians did not learn anything by actually hitting the moon — it served as demonstration for the world.

It is not clear, he continued, that Russia is ahead of the United States in actual knowledge resulting from their successful space launchings.

The Russians have made much information available concerning their space work, he said. The Soviet party which visited SUI in November gave out information freely, Van Allen added.

The practical outcomes of putting a man in space may be nominal, he said. Most British scientists even scoff at the idea, calling it a waste of time and money, he commented.

Another problem of sending man into space is to route him through areas of radiation belts around the earth where danger is the least, Van Allen continued.

Exactly how much radiation man can survive under is not known, the prominent SUIowan said. People in the high Andes Mountains of South America receive 10 to 15 times as much radiation as we in Iowa, he explained, but they do not seem to suffer from it.

Only a small percentage of the earth's radiation is coming from past atomic blasts, Van Allen said. In answer to a question, Van Allen commented that U.S. space work under competing armed services has been ultra-expensive and inefficient.

He also gave a brief summary of the space age, which he said dates from 1946 when V-2 rockets thrust into space — 30 miles above the earth — for the first time.

Writers on space work have done a dis-service by leading the public to believe that space exploration is easy, Van Allen stated. This has caused uneasiness and a clamor to catch up with Russia, he said. "We are still in an exploratory stage just like Lewis and Clark were," he commented.

Airlift Men From Cracking Arctic Ice Isle

FAIRBANKS, Alaska — The Air Force launched a dramatic airlift in the Arctic Ocean Thursday, removing four of 29 scientists from a crumbling ice floe used as a research camp.

Ladd Air Force Base here said the men remaining on the floe were in no danger. A spokesman said they would be taken off in a series of flights over the next five to seven days.

Removal of the 13 military and 16 civilian scientists was ordered after the arctic pack ice suddenly began to shift and break. A twin-engine C123J cargo plane was sent to take off the first group from the camp, known as Station Charlie.

Overnight, the 2 by 4-mile floe, about 400 miles northwest of Barrow, Alaska, and some 600 miles from the North Pole, sheared to one-fourth its original size.

However, there was 3,700 feet of runway on the landing strip bulldozed out last year and buildings at the camp remained firm, snug and warm.

More and more voices were being heard in West Germany for an end to the ugly incidents which have given the government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer a black eye.

David Lloyd Seger, 20, Cedar Rapids, 20, was charged with writing a bogus check Oct. 6 on another person's personal checking account and cashing it at an Iowa City drug store.

Seger was released on $2500 bond and is scheduled to appear in Iowa City police court Jan. 14. Seger was represented in police court by Roger Ivie, an Iowa City attorney.

How Much Freedom Do Members Have?

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles by a staff member dealing with the Central Party Committee. Earl E. Harper, Director of the Iowa Memorial Union, was not available for comment on the issues treated in this article. Dr. Harper's views will be carried in a subsequent article.)

By DENNY REHDER
Staff Writer

The role of the administration in the activities of Central Party Committee has been questioned by many former CPC members. The administration has been charged with interfering with the proper functioning of the committee.

John Schneider, A2, Chicago, who recently resigned as treasurer of CPC, claimed that as treasurer he never handled money or contracts. He was never in possession of exact data concerning costs, profits, or deficits, he said.

Schneider claimed that his attempts to bolster the CPC and to increase its efficiency always resulted in him being called on the carpet by George Stevens, assistant director of the Union and advisor to CPC.

Stevens, in an interview with The Daily Iowan, pointed out fallacies in Schneider's complaints.

"All the financial records and contracts are available in my office for the inspection of the treasurer or anyone else who might be interested," Stevens said, exhibiting the contents of several ledgers and files.

He went on to say that on several occasions he had suggested to Schneider that he examine the books and make reports to the CPC on the financial status of the group. Schneider never seemed interested in doing this, Stevens said.

Stevens and Bob Downer, A3, Newton, president of CPC, both agreed that Schneider's enthusiasm for his job carried him to the point that he was trying to be the entire Central Party Committee.

Incidents such as the time Schneider tried to sign Joe Abodey as one of the groups for the Homecoming Dance without the approval of CPC as a whole, were cited by Stevens.

Another such example came when Schneider started his own private publicity campaign for the Homecoming Dance, Stevens said.

Schneider contended that publicity for the dance was lacking. "On my own I talked to the disc-jockey for KKIC here in Iowa City, and I was told that our publicity chairman had made arrangements but nothing had been done as yet," he said.

There were three albums by Peter Palmer that were to be used for the publicity campaign for the dance, Stevens said. One album was to be given to each of the two local radio stations as well as one to be used for the intermission of the Miss SUI Pageant, he said.

"When we were getting ready for the evening's pageant, we found that the album to be used during intermission was missing," John Schneider had given it to KKIC in addition to the one they already had and he had never told the publicity chairman what he was up to at the time," Stevens said.

Rachel Crawford, A4, Iowa City, a present member of CPC, said that during the time Schneider claimed to be disturbed with the activities of CPC he never voiced his objections at regular CPC meetings.

Susan Shriver, A2, Glidden, another present member of CPC, said that while Schneider had told her of his objections to CPC, he had never made an attempt to bring it up in meetings.

The position of Stevens, as the advisor to CPC, has brought him under fire by the organization's opponents.

It has been said that Stevens exercised considerable control over CPC and that he influenced the CPC in their decisions.

Jim McNulty, A4, Park Forest, Ill., said that Stevens does not interfere directly or indirectly to his knowledge. If he is supposed to act on orders from Earl E. Harper, Director of the Iowa Memorial Union, it doesn't show, McNulty said.

"George is very straightforward, very honest, and he has a lot of good advice for the committee. I think CPC feels that it is Harper's man and they don't give him the credit he deserves," McNulty said.

According to Downer, Stevens has been completely fair to the committee in every approach.

Miss Crawford said that Stevens never speaks out at the meetings unless he is asked by one of the CPC members.

Stevens defined his role as one that provided continuity for CPC from year to year. The records of past entertainments and CPC activities are valuable to the present committee as references on future work, he said.

approval of the control Waldo Geiger, Auditor of Student Organizations, has over the financial activities of CPC.

McNulty claimed that Geiger's office was ridiculous because it was impossible for one man to handle all the material he does and still do a good job for all concerned.

Becky Carnes, A3, Clinton, a member of last year's CPC, said that the administration justified its interference on the grounds that the load would be more than the students could handle.

"Why doesn't the University admit students can't handle the job?" she asked.

"You don't feel you're being victimized when you're on CPC. You think everything is swell and that your differences are due to conflicts among the committee members rather than between the committee and the administration," McNulty said.

Stevens, in answer to these criticisms, said that the role of the Business Office in the work of CPC is the same as the role of the Business Office in the work of the University. CPC is not being singled out for this financial control, Stevens said.

"No one actually handles money in their dealings with the University. It's all done with requisition forms stating what is needed and requesting that the Business Office pay for the item," Stevens said.

The Business Office is able to extend to CPC unlimited credit in the engagement of a particular entertainment, he said.

If CPC had to rely on their own funds, it would be impossible for them to make the arrangements to hire many groups since usually half the cost is paid in advance of the appearance, Stevens said.

The appearance of the Kingston Trio on campus last year was the source of some bitter criticism from people who felt they should have been able to see a full-length concert rather than half a concert for their admission price.

McNulty, who worked closely with the appearance of the Trio on campus, said that CPC was never clear on the financial set-up.

"All we knew was that it was going to make money which was the thing then. It didn't make as much as we thought because of the odd way the thing was set-up," he said.

Stevens pointed out that the Kingston Trio last spring was "red-hot and everyone wanted to see it." Because of the great amount of student interest in the appearance, it was decided by CPC to have two concerts instead of one to accommodate all the students who wanted to attend, he said.

The Main Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union can only hold 2,000 people for a concert of this type, Stevens pointed out.

When it was found that two double-length concerts would cost double the single price of $1,500, or $3,000, inquiries were made about having two concerts of an hour and a half apiece, Stevens said.

This was to cost CPC $2,500 in addition to the Trio's percentage of the ticket sales, he said.

A total of 2,466 tickets were sold for the two concerts and the total income was $4,932, according to Stevens's records.

Expenses, including publicity, CPC—

&: RICHARD POWERS will read "THE REBELS" (which THE DIAL published recently)

&: JERRY BUMPUS will read "TRAVELIN BLUES" (which ESQUIRE's bought for $600; wow!!!)

while, from a stereo-cabinet in the back-room, PETE SEGER comes on with harmonica & banjo, or some-such from an album called NONESUCH: (( yuh. ))

&: (( JG )) will intone a dirge called "TIGER TIGER" which is a story about the Colorado mountains & terribly exciting and so forth: etc.

(( but which: alas: no one has bought. ))

& for special features: RENAISSANCE 2 will provide: THE MUSE OF POETRY, wearing a ten-gallon hat, and dispensing mugs of hot java from Austria and (( strictly from )) Hungary.

a beatnik beadle who will tap sleepers on the head, if they should deign to nod (( Sunday's dumplings settling & inducing slumber )): zzzzzz: (( zzz )):

&: a talking frog (( on special loan from THE DRAMA DEPARTMENT )) who can recite ARISTOPHANES in the original Greek: (( for them what cares )):

man, this is CULTURE with a vengeance: when interviewed concerning this prose reading, John Beardsley (( just back from SAO PAULO, his pockets stuffed with coffee beans )) was heard to say:

—this will be epoch-making, now, for instance: this is the first prose reading in the history of the world which will have Pete Seeger on harmonica & banjo: (( plink-plunk: wow. ))

& also: it will be the longest prose reading in the history of western civilization, longer than GONE WITH THE WIND, longer than O'NEILL'S STRANGE INTERLUDE, longer even than most LIFE-SCIENCE text-books. BUT: we've taken our cue from "chau-ron" d.j. says that they, the records, are excellent. To me this misleading on the part of the d.j. is almost a crime. Not only because I am a disc jockey, of sorts, but because they themselves cannot possibly believe that this noise is good music.

When I interviewed Ella Fitzgerald she intimated that there are many fine young artists who are not getting the breaks they deserve because they don't receive the promotion they should. Too many of those who are in the music business strictly for money are keeping them down.

The d.j. can do much to alleviate this problem. There are such artists as Frank D'Rone, Ernestine Anderson, Lurlean Hunter, and others, who have a great talent but because they don't lend themselves to "rock-a-billy", or whatever other name you wish to give it, are not played as they should be.

All of these shortcomings I place on the shoulders of the d.j. His listeners look up to him, expect from him a knowledge of music, and guidance of their tastes. Too many of these "idiots" are misusing their positions.

I don't think only of modern jazz when I speak of "good music." The above named artists aren't modern jazz artists. Perhaps this end to payola will also bring an end to this abominable duping! I hope that it at least makes some of the worst offenders begin to take stock of their respective shows, and alter them for the good of the public and the deserving performers.

THE COMPLETE "TANNHAUSER" will be heard this evening. One of Wagner's best-known operas, "Tannhauser" enjoys a running time of such dimension as to cause the start of tonight's Evening-at-the-Opera to be advanced to 6:30 p.m. First performed in 1845 when Wagner was 32, the opera contains many of the composer's most familiar melodies. The recorded version selected for this evening features soloists, chorus and orchestra of the Munich State Opera conducted by Robert Heger. The opera is in three acts; notes will be supplied by Avril O'Brien.

A BRIEF, ALL-MOZART Evening Concert will precede the opera at 6:00 p.m. Selections to be heard are String Quartet in B Flat Major and Symphony No. 20.

LISTENERS WHO SHUN OPERA may find a complete program of orchestral and chamber music at 9:17 megacycles, the residence of KSUI-FM. A feature of this evening's program will be Symphony No. 1 by Samuel Barber. Music from 7 p.m. to 10.

Kathy Kelly, A4, Newton, is one of these, and was rather surprised when she received a tuition bill for 1 cent in her mailbox. "It was worth the trip to University Hall to pay it," said Kathy, "because it must have cost the University about 15 cents just to send it out." Oh yes — she paid the bill in cash.

CAMPUS LANDMARK NO. 11: The Pressbox: — that gleaming silver edifice atop the west stands in the Stadium. Known for the excellent blending of its color scheme with the tin barracks behind it in Stadium Park, and for providing comfortable seating for the Governor and other dignitaries. Built at a cost of $450,000 in 1958, (only $50,000 less than the Stadium), this structure is sure to add as much fame to our campus as the new Guest House. And with addition of a few beds, wouldn't the Pressbox make a nice penthouse?

BACKSLAPS AND HAND-CLAPS: To the Physical Plant, for the fine new steps in Schaeffer Hall. They take all the fun out of the "When Am I Gonna Fall?" game.

Good Listening— Today On WSUI

THE COMPLETE "TANNHAUSER" will be heard this evening. One of Wagner's best-known operas, "Tannhauser" enjoys a running time of such dimension as to cause the start of tonight's Evening-at-the-Opera to be advanced to 6:30 p.m. First performed in 1845 when Wagner was 32, the opera contains many of the composer's most familiar melodies. The recorded version selected for this evening features soloists, chorus and orchestra of the Munich State Opera conducted by Robert Heger. The opera is in three acts; notes will be supplied by Avril O'Brien.

A BRIEF, ALL-MOZART Evening Concert will precede the opera at 6:00 p.m. Selections to be heard are String Quartet in B Flat Major and Symphony No. 20.

LISTENERS WHO SHUN OPERA may find a complete program of orchestral and chamber music at 9:17 megacycles, the residence of KSUI-FM. A feature of this evening's program will be Symphony No. 1 by Samuel Barber. Music from 7 p.m. to 10.

"JAIL DOORS OPEN" is the title of the final chapter, now in progress, of the current Bookshelf selection, Teapot Dome. This happy outcome to one of the most uttersay developments in American politics in the first half of the twentieth century will be depicted in full as Teapot Dome reaches its conclusion today at about 9:30 a.m.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE on the State of the Union should have engendered more than enough editorial reactions by 12:45 p.m. to provide a variety of selections to appear on WSUI's Editorial Page.

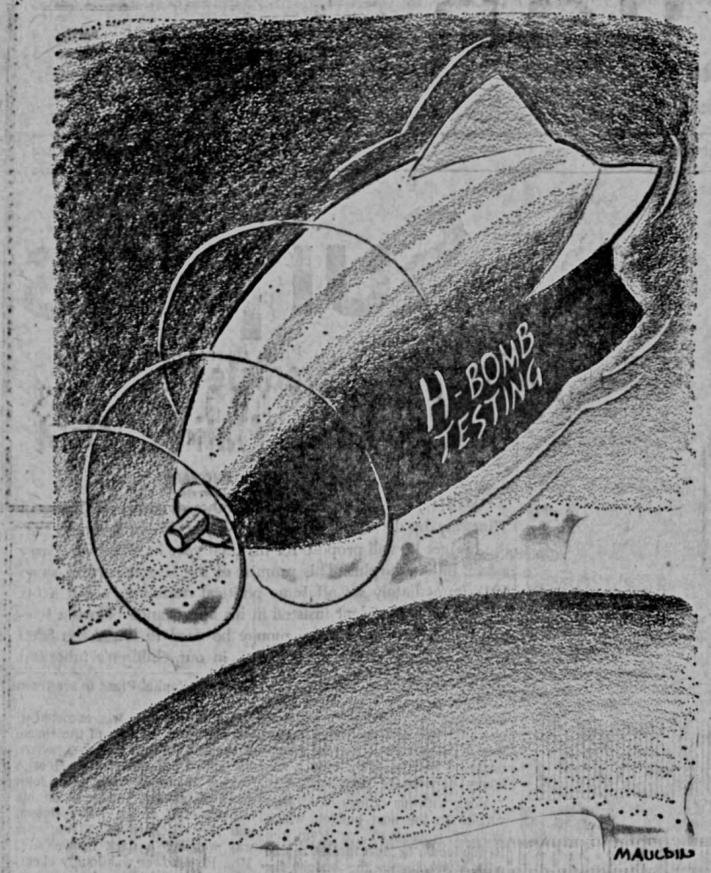

CLASS DISCUSSION, always encouraged in Professor Wendell Johnson's broadcast course, General Semantics, may be expected to form a larger than usual portion of today's meeting, at 8:30 a.m.

IF YOU CAN'T STAND ANOTHER DAY without hearing Ravel's Bolero, you won't have to. Because, at 10:05 a.m. it will precede the Symphony in D Minor by Cesar Franck. Still another familiar, Korsakov's "Scheherazade," will follow at 11:15.

ANOTHER VIENNA FESTIVAL PROGRAM will be broadcast this afternoon at 2:30 p.m.

A Guide to the Sixties

The coming college enrollment boom, which by 1970 is expected to swell the SUI student body to 16,000, is causing our institutions of higher learning to reflect long and hard on their aims and values.

President Hatcher of the University of Michigan recently stated some of his views on the enrollment boom in an article in the student newspaper. His comments on Michigan problems — 24,000 students now, 40,000 expected by 1970 — would form, we feel, a good guide for any state university in dealing with the explosive sixties.

Here are some of President Hatcher's views:

—We must grow in strength and not in dissipation of our resources.

—We must keep high admissions standards.

—There will be more institutes, such as in English language and engineering research. These will be cultivated as a means of stepping up training and research.

—We have to keep building our distinguished faculty. That's where our true strength lies.

—Fees must be kept as low as possible and scholarship funds have to be expanded.

—A four-semester year is coming, which will increase the capacity of students to learn, of faculty to teach, and make better use of our plant.

—We will continue as a cosmopolitan university, enrolling a large number of outstate and foreign students every year.

—We must dedicate ourselves to any investigation that advances the boundaries of knowledge.

—There must be controlled growth, growth but not without a quality faculty and plant. These two conditions are foremost.

More Jobs, Salaries Up

Good news for June college graduates.

According to a Northwestern University survey, business and industry will hire 19 per cent more college grads in 1960 than they hired last year. Beginning salaries to be offered also will average four per cent higher.

Engineering grads will continue to get the top starting salaries — $515 a month as against $489 in 1959. Beginning engineers are expected to receive about $90 a month more this year than general business grads.

Accountants follow the engineers in the predicted wage scale. They can expect to draw $450 a month from business or industry — or about four per cent more than last year's grads.

Those who plan to be salesmen can look forward to monthly pay of $434 at the start. General business grads will be paid about $424 by the average company.

Under a category of "other" grads, the survey lists such fields as advertising, market research and law. These jobs will average $457 a month in 1960 — up something less than two per cent from last year.

Added to the report were comments from companies on the "shortcomings" of graduates they had hired in the past. The four most often cited: They expect too much too soon, inadequate understanding of business, poor writing ability, inability to speak effectively.

Ban On Smoking

(From the Columbia Missourian)

It is barely possible that the smoking of tobacco will be prohibited by law in the United States in the future. This is a possibility because of mounting evidence assembled by the United States Public Health Service and the American Cancer Society of smoking's link with lung cancer and heart disease.

Joe Kennedy Given Steel Peace Credit

NEW YORK (HTNS) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald Thursday gave Vice President Nixon "some credit" for settling the steel strike, but said that former Ambassador Joseph Kennedy "did a great deal down in Wall Street to bring about this settlement."

The union leader said that Mr. Kennedy, father of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), "talked with the bankers down in Wall Street time and time again, and we were in constant touch with one another." Later he said, "There are more people involved in this thing than just the managers of the plants . . . the banking interests. Ambassador Kennedy had a great role in that respect."

In regard to the Vice President's role, McDonald said that Nixon "brought both the industry and the union face to face with the facts of life. I think he told us about the problems which could face us in the Congress if we didn't arrive at a settlement."

These comments were made during an interview conducted Wednesday in Washington. The conversation with Reporter Martin Agronsky was broadcast in New York Thursday morning on NBC-TV's "Today" show. The program also included a separate Agronsky interview with Sen. Kennedy, who said that continual discussion of religious issues in the Presidential campaign would deprive the American people of a debate on the important issues facing the nation. The Kennedy family is Roman Catholic.

FTC Splits Oil Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) Thursday announced the biggest anti-merger settlement in its history — a consent order requiring Gulf Oil Corp. to sell 35 million dollars worth of properties.

Under the agreement, the big Pittsburgh oil refiner must give up about 30 per cent of the assets it acquired through its purchase in 1956 of Warren Petroleum Corp., Tulsa, Okla.

The provisions of the order will force Gulf out of the business of acting as a wholesale and retail distributor of liquefied petroleum gas — the bottled gas used for home heating and cooking and as a motor fuel.

Warren was the largest independent marketer of such gas and natural gasoline when Gulf bought the firm for $118 million in stock. Since the FTC originally demanded that Gulf sell all of Warren's assets, the consent order represents a compromise settlement.

In agreeing to the order, Gulf did not admit that it violated the anti-merger law as charged by the commission.

The FTC, in its 1956 complaint, contended the purchase of Warren endangered competition and tended to create a monopoly in the production and sale of liquefied petroleum gas and natural gasoline.

2 State Officials Seek June Primary Nominations

DES MOINES (AP) — Two state officials — one a Democrat, the other a Republican — announced Thursday to seek nomination to state office in the Iowa primary election in June.

John Hansen, 58, of Manning, said he will seek the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. He is a member of the State Board of Control.

State Treasurer M. L. Abrahamson, 57, of Boone, announced he will be a candidate for a sixth term as treasurer. A Republican, he has held the office since 1951.

Hansen, making his first try for an elective state office, said he wants to be lieutenant governor to help carry on the policies of Gov. Herschel Loveless. But he said he will withdraw if Lt. Gov. Edward J. McManus of Keokuk decides to run for re-election.

He said Loveless has championed the "cause of the humble, the handicapped, the aged and the underprivileged" while at the same time promoting "efficiency, economy and fairness in administration."

Abrahamson noted that a special audit of the motor fuel tax division of his office last year had shown there was "no indication of fraud or dishonesty in the operation of the division."

He said his office had improved the administration of the division and that it now is "one of the most efficient and effective arms of the state government."

He said if he is elected he will continue to give Iowans "the efficient and honest service as treasurer of the state to which they are entitled."

Hansen is president and general manager of the Dultmeier Manufacturing Company of Manning, manufacturers of farm equipment accessories.

Before being named to the Board of Control in 1957 he served for six years as Carroll County Democratic chairman and was the 6th District member of the Democratic State Central Committee for about five years.

Abrahamson was Boone County treasurer for six years and director of accounts and finances of the State Tax Commission for 12 years before he was elected state treasurer in 1950.

Pharmacy Group Shifts Meeting

The meeting time for the Tuesday session of the SUI student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association has been changed to 4:15 p.m., according to the College of Pharmacy office. Originally the meeting had been planned for Tuesday evening.

A. P. Coontz, Waterloo, president of the Iowa Pharmaceutical Association, will be guest speaker at the meeting in Room 321 of the chemistry wing of the Chemistry-Pharmacy-Botany building. A short business meeting will be held.

Lasansky Judging Art Exhibition in Dallas

Prof. Mauricio Lasansky of the SUI art department is serving this week as a one-man jury for the tenth Annual Exhibition of South-west Drawings and Prints at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, Dallas, Tex.

The SUI professor will also participate in a round table discussion on contemporary problems in printmaking.

Chinese Language Will Be Topic for Visiting Linguist

"The Chinese Language and its Script" will be the lecture presented by Fang-Kuei Li, professor at the University of Washington Tuesday at 8:00 p.m. in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol.

Li is widely honored as a leading authority on the linguistics of both the Far East and North America, specifically Chinese linguistics, Tai linguistics, and American Indian linguistics.

He is a member of the Linguistic Society of America, the American Oriental Society, the Far Eastern Association, the Academia Sinica, and the Ecole Francaise d'Extreme Orient. In addition he has published widely in professional journals in this field.

Li was born in China and received his earliest training there but obtained his advanced training in this country: the University of Michigan and the University of Chicago. He returned to China to become a member of the working staff of the Academia Sinica from 1929 to 1942, and to teach Chinese at Yenning University. This career was interrupted by visits to this country where he served as visiting professor at Yale University, visiting lecturer at Harvard and the University of Washington. Since 1950, he has been a regular member of the Department of Far East, Slavic Languages and Literatures at the University of Washington.

AAU Stops Oilers-Alumni Game

Late Ruling Fails To Ruin Fund Cause

By DON FORSYTHE
Sports Editor

A near capacity audience failed to let a last minute ruling by the Amateur Athletic Union prohibiting the scheduled Phillips Oilers-Bucky O'Connor stars basketball benefit dim their enthusiastic welcome of the players who achieved stardom under the late Iowa basketball coach.

The seven seniors who graduated in 1956 — Carl Cain, Bill Schoof, Bill Logan, Sharm Scheuerman, Bill Seaberg, Les Hawthorne and Bob George — and three other O'Connor stars, Herb Thompson, Chuck Darling and Deacon Davis, were greeted with thunderous applause by the fans who honored O'Connor and the Bucky O'Connor Memorial scholarship fund in a turnout that exceeded the fondest hopes of the evening's sponsors.

Late Thursday Oiler coach Bud Browning received a telegram from Dan Ferris, secretary of the AAU, indicating that the contest was not sanctioned by the AAU and would not be permitted unless all players on the alumni squad held an AAU card.

The benefit contest had been scheduled for several weeks but no official protest was made public until shortly before the game was to have been played.

Iowa officials had entered into the agreement for the game under the assumption that since the game was entirely for charity it would pass AAU approval.

Had the Oilers played the alumni squad their amateur standing would have been in jeopardy and undoubtedly lost.

Rather than call the whole performance off, the Oilers split their squad in half to play 20 minutes and the alumni squad did likewise to round out the evening.

The Oilers displayed two evenly matched fives that played to a 45-43 finish. Former Drake star Red Murrell and ex-Colorado ace Burdell Halderson paced the Oilers' Black squad in their two-point win.

Murrell, pumping his jump shot from the corner with unerring accuracy, hit 18 points and Halderson...

Drake 85, N. Tex. St. 73

DES MOINES (AP) — Drake won its Missouri Valley Conference basketball opener Thursday night with an 85-73 victory over North Texas State, despite the 35-point shooting of Texan Jim Mudd.

Drake's big Dave Terre, 6-10 senior, led the Bulldogs with 26 points of which 22 were from the field on soft hook shots. He teamed with Hank Ayers to touch off a second half spurt in which Drake scored 13 points while shutting out the opposition. Terre also got 25 rebounds.

The rally broke up what otherwise was a close battle. North Texas led at the half 37-35 after a slow start in which only one field goal was scored in the first five minutes.

son, second only to Chuck Darling as the Oilers' all-time scoring leader, got 13.

Gary Thompson, Iowa State's all-American, got only six points but displayed some classy ball-handling as he set up his teammates for scores.

Jerry Shipp, a sharp-shooting forward, led the White team with 18 points and Arnie Short chipped in 10, most of them in the last few minutes as he and Murrell traded long shots until time ran out.

The alumni separated into a White team of the "Fabulous Five" — Cain, Schoof, Logan, Seaberg and Scheuerman — and a Black team of Hawthorne, George, Davis, Thompson, Darling and George Seaberg, Bill's younger brother who played on the 1957-59 squads.

Only the precision shooting and endurance of the five starters on the team which fell before San Francisco in the NCAA finals in 1956 was lacking Thursday night as they outscored the black 33-25.

The alert defense, clock-like teamwork, and accurate passing was still there and the fans enjoyed every minute of it.

The famed fast break, slowed by the four years of the training routine, was again a thing of beauty as the easy baskets materialized as in the day of old.

Bill Seaberg, the only player actively competing in basketball today, topped all scorers with 15 points. Scheuerman had 8, Cain 6, Schoof 3 and Logan 1.

Chuck Darling, all-American center in 1952, waged a personal battle with Seaberg for scoring honors and finished right behind the sharpshooting guard with 13 points.

The 6-8 pivot man got his baskets on the hook shot that made him a star both at Iowa and later with the Oilers.

Herb Thompson, now coaching at Forest City, showed that he can still split the cords as he copped three fielders.

Davis, George and George Seaberg got two points apiece and Hawthorne was blanked.

As the half neared the finish the time outs became regular features of the exhibition. Jim Enright, a "lon of fun" in a striped shirt, took it upon himself to make three "acts of mercy" for the tiring cagers.

During one of the rest periods the band caught the fancy of both the players and fans as it played "The Old Grey Mare."

It might not be what "it used to be" but it still had enough kick to send some 12,000 fans home happy at the final gun.

Edge to South In Saturday's Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The South is a slight favorite to edge the North in Saturday's televised Senior Bowl game.

The oddsmakers Thursday quoted the Southerners as a 3½-point favorite, possibly in the belief that Weeb Ewbank is making a habit of beating Jim Lee Howell.

Also, the railbirds noted that Ewbank has loaded his defenses, a formula he found highly successful in his Baltimore Colts' 31-16 victory over Howell's New York Giants for their second straight title playoff victory over the Giants in the National Football League.

The squads appeared a standoff in workouts. The Northerners appeared not quite as big as the Southerners but possibly a shade the faster.

The overall weight averages for the squads put the South at 207 pounds and the North at 206. The South averaged 213 in the line, 223 from tackle to tackle, and 192 in the backfield. The North was 218 in the line, 226 from tackle to tackle, and 190 in the backfield.

The 25-man Rebel squad includes 15 Southeastern Conference stars. Backbone of the North team is 10 players from the Big Ten, plus three members of Syracuse national championship team.

Charley Britt, quarterback for Georgia's SEC champions, will direct the South with the assistance of LSU's Warren Rabb and Texas A & M's Charley Milstead.

Cincinnati's fine passer, Jack Lee, will head the North offense, aided by Olen Treadway of Iowa. A key in the North offense is Syracuse's Gerhard Schwedes.

L.A. Chargers Select Gillman as Head Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sid Gillman, late of the Los Angeles Rams, Thursday signed a three-year contract to coach the Los Angeles Chargers of the new American Football League and declared:

"This is a tremendous opportunity and a challenge. It'll be a hell of a fight and I am happy to be part of it."

Gillman did not elaborate. But later he said he had nothing but the greatest respect for the Rams, who gave him the ax in December, and enjoyed every minute of his five years with the club and the National Football League.

It was believed Gillman will receive around $25,000 a year.

NCAA Sticks By Guns In OU Football Probation

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association stood firm Thursday and said the University of Oklahoma would remain on indefinite probation until an Oklahoma City man makes known details of an athlete recruiting fund.

The NCAA Wednesday placed Oklahoma on indefinite probation and banned the university from participation in post-season football games and NCAA-controlled television programs.

The organization said the ban would stick as long as Arthur L. Wood of Oklahoma City refused to divulge financial details of a recruiting fund which he administered in the period of 1952-54.

In Oklahoma City, Wood said:

"The money referred to was money I gave Bill Jennings personally to defray travel expenses for prospective athletes during a period from 1952 to 1954. . . . The practice was not a violation of NCAA rules. . . . as a professional certified public accountant I would be liable to a $10,000 fine for disclosing such information on a confidential basis." The law actually reads $1,000.

Jennings, now head football coach at Nebraska but then an assistant at Oklahoma, said "I received no money from Mr. Wood. I've been away from the situation for six years, and I do not want to become involved. I have no further comment."

Tickets on Sale Next Week for State Cage Meet

Tickets for the state boys' basketball tournament to be held at the Fieldhouse March 18-19 will go on sale Friday, Jan. 15.

Semifinals of the eight-game tourney will be played Mar. 18—Class B games at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. and Class A games at 2:45 and 8:45 p.m. Consolation games will be at 1:30 and 2:45 p.m. Saturday, Mar. 19. The Class B final is set for 7 p.m. and Class A final for 8:15 p.m. the same day.

Reserved seat tickets for each game cost $1.50 and $2 a ticket. Season tickets for all games are $12 for the first two rows of court-side chairs, $8 for rows 3, 4 and 5, side floor bleachers and first balconies and $6 for the end floor bleachers.

General Admission seats in the upper balconies will cost $1.25.

Ticket orders should be sent to the Iowa High School Athletic Association, Boone, Iowa. Twenty-five cents must be included with the order for mailing and insurance.

Ticket orders will be dated and filed when received, and the mailing of tickets will begin in late January.

LUCKY STRIKE presents

Dear Dr. Frood:

BAFFLING BLOT FAILS TO FAZE FROOD!

(see below)

Dear Dr. Frood: Every night for the past two weeks I've dreamt that I am being pursued by a beautiful girl in a bikini who wants one of my Luckies. Just as she catches me, I wake up. How can I prevent this? Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: Go to bed a few minutes earlier.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am the ugliest guy on campus. My face looks like 90 miles of bad road. When I go to a party someone always steals my date. I worry about this. Can you help me? Loveless

Dear Loveless: Take heart. Any girl who would go out with you isn't worth worrying about.

Dear Dr. Frood: I think this ink blot looks just like rabbit ears. My friends say I'm nuts. What think? Bugs

Dear Bugs: It's your friends who are nuts. Those are clearly rabbit ears. And the long shape extending down is the rabbit's trunk.

Dear Dr. Frood: I have invited three girls to the dance this Saturday. How do I get out of this mess? Uphia Creek

Dear Mr. Creek: Tell two of them to dance with each other until you cut in.

Dear Dr. Frood: I have been dating one girl but I am so good-looking and so popular that I have decided to spread myself around a little more. What should I do about this girl? Dashing

Dear Dashing: Tell her the good news.

Dear Dr. Frood: My roommate always wears my clothes. What should I do? Put Upon

Dear Put Upon: Cover yourself and stay indoors.

Dr. Frood, Ph.T.T.

Dear Dr. Frood: My mother and my brother don't like my boy friend, but my father and my sister do. His father and two brothers don't like me, but his mother and his other brother do. What should I do? Miss Muddle

Dear Miss Muddle: Tell your father to talk to your mother and then your sister to talk to your brother. Then tell your boy friend's mother to talk to his father and tell his brother to talk to his brothers. If that doesn't work, then talk to your mother and brother yourself. Maybe they know something you don't know.

Hoosiers To Test Hawkeye Mat Strength Here Saturday

By GEORGE KAMPLING
Staff Writer

Iowa's young wrestling squad will be going for its second dual win of the season at 3:30 p.m. Saturday as it meets Indiana on the varsity basketball court in the Fieldhouse.

Led by seniors John Kelly and Gordon Trapp, the sophomore dominated team won a 23-9 decision over Illinois in a pre-holiday affair. In that match, sophomores Dave Gates, 123, and Jim Jones, 137, won decisions, and Sidney Walston, wrestling in the 157 pound class, and 177-pounder Joe Chezum both had draws.

Indiana looks to be a much tougher outfit than Illinois, with outstanding lettermen Dick Zboray and George Ihnat. The Hoosiers won their first meet of the season against Wisconsin 28-8. In this meet, Zboray, a semi-finalist in last year's NCAA meet, won by a fall; and Ihnat, a senior, won a decision in the heavyweight division.

"We look for Indiana to be real tough competition," said Iowa coach Dave McCuskey. "They gave us a real good battle last year, a match that we won by only three points," he added.

Other top grapplers on the Indiana team to face the Hawks will be 147-pound sophomore Jim Black; sophomore Bob O'Connor; 130-pounder Ron Hutcherson; and Russ Smith, 157.

Against Wisconsin, Black, an Indiana State champ, took an 11-5 decision over Jim Innis, last year's Big Ten champ. Black will meet Walston tomorrow afternoon. O'Connor wrestled at 177 against Wisconsin, but will probably come down to 167 against Iowa. He is a two-time Illinois state champion, and will face Joe Mullins, loser in his first match by a fall in 8:43.

Hutcherson will face Iowa's Kelly in the 130-pound division. Kelly won his first match by pinning Illinois' Don Morrissey in 4:33.

One of the best matches of the day should be in the 157 pound battle where Del Rossberg, winner against Illinois with a pin as only four seconds remained, will face Smith. Smith won his match against Wisconsin with a pin in just 2:48.

The Iowa team lost two members this past week with the departure of two 123-pounders, Vince Garcia and Morris Barnhill. McCuskey said that Garcia, last year's Big Ten champ and fourth place winner in the NCAA, was definitely being depended on to regain his eligibility and join the team for the second semester.

Barnhill, a minor letterwinner two years ago, was runner-up in the 123-pound class of the state invitational AAU tournament last month at Cedar Falls.

The probable starting line-ups for Saturday's meet are:

IOWA	INDIANA
J. Kelly	130	R. Carlino
D. Gates	123	R. Hutcherson
J. Jones	137	D. Zboray
S. Walston	157	J. Black
D. Rossberg	157	R. Smith
J. Mullins	167	B. O'Connor
J. Chezum	177	G. Ihnat
G. Trapp	177	B. Pletzer

Harrington Makes U.S. Debut Against Ortega

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Harrington, a newcomer from Honolulu, meets Gaspar Ortega, Mexican who has earned the nickname of the "Unlucky Indian," in tonight's international boxing bout at Madison Square Garden.

Matchmaker Teddy Brenner, with a policy of new faces, really reached out for this one. Harrington never has fought as a pro outside the city limits of Honolulu. He came here as an amateur in 1952 and 1953. In 40 pro fights he has piled up a 34-5-1 record and boasts that he never has been knocked off his feet.

Ortega's career seems to be just one split decision after another.

Swimmers Open Saturday

By JOHN HANRAHAN
Staff Writer

The Iowa swimming team, made up primarily of sophomores and juniors, opens its 1960 season with a triangular meet with Wisconsin and Ohio State Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the Hawkeye Fieldhouse pool.

This will be the first Big Ten competition this year for the three teams and will also be the first Big Ten triangular meet ever held in the Iowa pool.

Ohio State figures to be the strongest of the teams competing Saturday. Iowa Coach Bob Allen says the Buckeyes are "a typical Ohio State team. They always have excellent divers and this year is no exception because they've got Sam Hall back. (Hall was National Collegiate and Big Ten diving champion last year.) I would say the Buckeyes are strong in every department."

Ohio State has five veterans returning from last year's squad which finished third in the Big Ten and then went on to capture second place in the NCAA meet.

Besides Hall, the Ohioans' other top performers are Don McPhee, 50 and 100; Charles Stagman, butterfly; Tom Murray, backstroke; and Bill Van Horn, 100 and 220 freestyle.

Wisconsin is somewhat of an unknown quantity because they are rebuilding and will rely on sophomores this year. The Badgers' top swimmer appears to be Ron McDevitt, a sophomore.

McDevitt, a native Iowan, did his prep swimming at Clinton High School. He was sought after by many colleges and eventually decided on Wisconsin. Allen rates McDevitt very highly in the freestyle, butterfly and individual medley.

Allen has not yet completely decided who will be swimming in the various events Saturday, but the line-up will probably look something like this: Bill Claerhout, sprints; Charles Mitchell, butterfly; Ray Carlson, 220 and 440 butterfly; Captain Larry Fruehling, backstroke; and Bob McNamee, diving.

the Hawkeye tankers will have. The four sophs are Les Cutler, backstroke and individual medley; Bill Meyerhoff, sprints; Howard Heid, breaststroke; and Binky Wadington, 220 and 440 free-style.

Several Iowa swimmers took part in the East-West meet held in Florida over the holidays. Performers from over 60 colleges participated in the meet. The only Iowan to win was Bill Claerhout, who took a first in the 110-yard freestyle. Hawkeye Coach Allen was one of two coaches for the West team.

Saturday's meet will be scored 6-4-3-2-1 for the first five places in the individual events and 8-4-0 for the two relays, with 168 total points being offered in the 11 events.

"My talk with the Bell System interviewer is really paying off"

Today, less than five years since he graduated from Michigan State University, Donald J. Zigman is an Accounting Manager for Wisconsin Bell Telephone Company in Oshkosh—with seven supervisory and 93 clerical employees reporting to him. His group handles billing for 350,000 telephone customers and processes $1,500,000 in revenue each month.

Don has moved ahead fast—and steadily—but no more so than the Bell System interviewer told him he might.

"That guy made a real impression on me," says Don. "He didn't guarantee a bright future for me. He simply described the kind of varied job experience I'd get, outlined the on-the-job training I'd go through, and pointed out the advancement opportunities I'd have along the way. The only thing he promised me was that I would have 'maximum exposure for self-development.' He was 100 per cent right there. My training has been terrific—and I've had every chance to advance that I could possibly hope for."

After joining the company, Don spent eight months in the Plant Department learning the roots of the business. He got experience as a lineman, installer and repairman. He was transferred to Accounting in December, 1956, working in the Methods and Results section. Thirteen months later, he was Supervisor of that section—and, 14 months after that, he became Accounting Manager.

"How much farther I go now is entirely up to me," says Don. "One thing I know: the opportunities are here."

Don Zigman graduated with a B.A. degree in Economics and English. He's one of many young men who have found interesting careers with the Bell Telephone Companies. Learn what opportunities you might have. Talk with the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus—and read the Bell Telephone booklet on file in your Placement Office.

Miss Jones, Dr. Clark, Are Wed

Announcement is made of the recent marriage of Miss Marion Jones, 818 3rd Avenue, and Dr. Arnold F. Clark, Livermore, Calif. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Dorsey Jones, Shelbyville, Indiana, and the bridegroom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Paul F. Clark, Madison, Wisconsin.

The wedding ceremony took place December 28, 1959, at 4 p.m. in the Livermore Presbyterian Church with the minister of the church officiating. There was a reception in the church following the ceremony.

The bride is an assistant professor in the SUI department of bacteriology, College of Medicine. She received her A.A. degree from Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri, B.S. degree from Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., and M.S. degree from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisc. She is a member of the SUI symphony, American Association of University Women, the local chapter of Society of Sigma Xi, and a member of other scientific societies.

Dr. Clark presently is an atomic physicist at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, Livermore, Calif. He holds an A.B. degree from Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Penn., A.M. degree from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisc., and Ph.D. degree from Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind. He is affiliated with the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Mrs. Clark plans to return to Iowa City in mid-January to complete the University semester before re-joining her husband in Livermore.

Couple Wed In Candlelight Ceremony

Miss Carmen Marie Warner of Ames, and Mr. Seymour John Raffety, also of Ames, were married in a candlelight service Dec. 26 at the First Baptist Church, Iowa City. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Emory D. Warner of Iowa City, and Mr. Raffety's parents are Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Raffety of Grinnell.

Mrs. Edwin F. Humpal Jr., Minneapolis, Minn., sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Carol Warner and Miss Helen Warner, Iowa City, sisters of the bride.

Howard Raffety, Grinnell, served his brother as best man. Ushers were Edwin F. Humpal Jr., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Maynard and Donald Raffety, Grinnell, brothers of the groom.

A reception for 100 guests followed the ceremony at the University Athletic Club.

The bride was graduated from SUI and trained in medical technology at the University of Minnesota. She is presently employed at the Animal Disease Eradication Diagnostic Laboratory at Iowa State University, Ames.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Grinnell College, attended the University of Washington and served three years in the Air Force. At ISU he is working on an advanced degree in engineering.

The couple are now residing in the Crawford Apartments, Ames.

Her Uniform -

The Exclusive Executive Model... Tailored To Fit The Finest

One look at her and you know she's an officer in the United States Army. Her uniform gives it away—and she doesn't mind a bit! Because it's her passport to prestige... the distinctive sign of a young executive in the Women's Army Corps. Wherever she goes—and it might be anywhere from Heidelberg to Honolulu!—she knows that uniform will bring respect and recognition.

She doesn't have time to get smug about it, though—her uniform demands as much from her as she does from it! She's got to keep on her toes. She's got to show initiative and intelligence, foresight and flexibility—qualities worthy of a college graduate. Qualities worthy of an executive in a world-wide organization.

Interested in wearing the Army uniform? We'll be glad to tell you more if you mail us the coupon below... (It's your preliminary "passport to prestige!")

SPECIAL... SUMMER PROGRAM FOR JUNIORS: Want a special preview of Army life? Why not see it for yourself this summer? If you qualify for this limited program, you'll receive 4 weeks of orientation training this summer—without any commitment. The program is to help you decide—with confidence—if you want to apply for an Army officer's commission after you graduate. If you're interested, today is the day to mail the coupon. There's no obligation.

Another criticism, concerning the arrangements for the Maynard Ferguson appearance at the Winter Formal, was voiced by Edward Mezvinsky, A4, Ames, in the November 27 issue of the Iowa Defender.

The issue stems from the fact that while the contract for the engagement of Maynard Ferguson was signed on August 12, Bob Downer, president of CPC, sent a letter to all CPC members dated August 19 which said:
"We have been notified that the Maynard Ferguson Orchestra is available for the Winter Formal, and we have written for a contract."

When asked about the discrepancy between the signing of the contract and the date of his letter, Downer asserted that the CPC members would have inferred from his letter that the contract would have already been signed and they would not feel that they were being bypassed.

Stevens clarified the matter by pointing out that a contract is not a contract until both parties have signed it. In the case of Maynard Ferguson the contract had been signed at the SUI end of the line, but it was then sent with $1,000 to Ferguson's manager or agent for his signature.

Stevens and Downer both called attention to the fact that before the summer recess last year, CPC had made a list of the bands they were interested in for the coming year. The committee also authorized Stevens and Downer to make the arrangements for these groups as they could be made during the summer, when the entire committee was separated.

Non-Union Iowa Workers Beaten

ALBERT LEA, Minn. (AP) — Several Iowa men, non-union workers at the struck Wilson & Co. packing plant, reported Thursday they were beaten, and the cars of three others were set afire or damaged. Two women rooming house operators reported to police they had received telephone threats. One said she was keeping a loaded rifle handy.

None of the men beaten was seriously hurt. All are Iowa men now rooming in Albert Lea while working at the Wilson plant which is operating with non-union workers.

Police listed the three men beaten Thursday as Welden L. Buhr, Madrid, Iowa; and Clayton R. Claude and Albert Hasbrouck, both of Goldfield, Iowa.

Editor Speaks To IC Rotary

The Civil War was a struggle of the plain people. For the most part, Confederate and Federal soldiers were young farm lads, semi-illiterate, but filled with a humor which, through their letters, is unmatched in the annals of American literature.

Thus, James Robertson, editor of the Civil War History Quarterly, told the story of the common GI's of the Civil War to the Iowa City Rotary Club Thursday at a luncheon at the Jefferson Hotel.

Robertson told of the humor which manifested itself in anecdotes, witty phrases, phonetic spelling, and spontaneous retorts to questions and statements. For example, one Rebel soldier commented after a battle that "the Yankees were thicker than lise on a hen, and a dam sight ornier."

Robertson reported, and one Confederate wrote derisively that his meat ration came from a cow "too old for the conscript law."

Robertson reported that the standard bread ration of the day, was called "teeth dullers" and "worm castles," he said, and many were the jokes and criticism of this fare.

Robertson taught history at Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., before coming to Iowa, Sept. 1, 1959. He received his master's and doctor's degrees from there.

SUI Library To Stay Open Saturday Eves

The SUI Library will remain open Saturday nights until 10, this week through January 30.

Books should be checked out at the Guard Desk after 5 p.m. since the Main Desk will be closed. The Reserve Desk will be open but none of the Reference Departments' services will be available.

In other words, Dale Bentz, associate director of the library said, the Library will be run in the same way from 5 to 10 p.m. on Saturday that it is from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. on weekdays.

The new closing time was adopted on an experimental basis after Mary Carson, N2, Ely, a Student Council representative, requested it on behalf of the Council.

According to Maxine Kinsky, A2, Chicago, Council representative from Burge Hall, the Council thought that with final exams coming up, many students would like to study in the Library on Saturday nights.

It is the only good place to study, as other buildings are generally closed on Saturday nights, and many students want to get out of their rooms, Miss Kinsky said.

Previously there has been no demand to keep the Library open on Saturday nights, so it has always closed at 5 p.m., said Bentz.

In all probability the new plan will extend into February to see if there is much demand by students, as reflected by their use, Bentz said.

Former Resident Writes Children's Book About Iowa

Mrs. Martha Standing Foster, former resident of West Branch, is the author of a children's book recently published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company of Indianapolis.

The book, "Ginger Box," takes place in a rural Iowa Quaker community in the summer of 1910. The lively Grayson family becomes involved in a mystery, which is ultimately solved to everyone's satisfaction.

Mrs. Foster is the widow of Dr. Paul C. Foster, who interned at SUI Hospitals several years ago. Her brother, T. G. Standing, was associated with the SUI Department of Sociology for many years. Mrs. Foster now lives in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Civil War Round Table To Hear SUI Colonel

Col. Charles G. Kirk, head of the SUI Department of Air Science, will address the Iowa City Civil War Round Table Tuesday evening. The meeting will be held in 305 Communications Center at 8 p.m.

Col. Kirk will speak on "Arms, Uniforms and Equipment of the Civil War" and will show slides and displays.

Persons interested in joining the Round Table are invited to this meeting, said James I. Robertson, president of the group.

SUI Student, 2 Others Injured in Accidents

An SUI student and two other persons were in good condition at Mercy Hospital Thursday night following injuries suffered in traffic accidents Thursday morning.

The student is Carol Woolridge, N1, 19, who lives with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Dane, about three miles southwest of Iowa City. Miss Woolridge received fractured vertebra in a two-car collision on Highway 1 near the Dane farm cutoff road at 8 a.m. Thursday.

Dane was driving the car in which the student was riding. He told authorities he had just turned onto Highway 1 to come to Iowa City when a car driven by Donald J. Ruppenkamp, 22, came over the crest of a hill and hit the Dane car from the rear.

Ruppenkamp, who was traveling alone, suffered a fractured breastbone. Dane was shaken up. In another accident at the same spot a few minutes earlier than the Dane-Ruppenkamp collision, Stephen Black, 16, was injured when his car apparently skidded on the icy highway and hit a three-foot pole marking a culvert. He suffered a head cut, slight concussion, shock and a fractured collar bone.

All three cars were damaged extensively.

At approximately the same time, Miss Rita Tines, 814 Orchard St., suffered a leg cut when her car came over the crest of a hill on Highway 1 near the Johnson-Washington county line and collided with a wrecker, Richard Scott, 42, of Wellman, was driving the wrecker which was pulling another car from the ditch.

Dr. Harry R. Jenkinson was shaken up when his car was involved in an accident on Riverside Drive and Highway 6 Thursday morning but he was able to proceed to the hospital.

Dr. Jenkinson told authorities that he was treated for Mercy Hospital to treat one of the other accident victims. He said that he had stopped for a red light and his car was hit from the rear by a pickup truck driven by Arnold Bartels, 38, and owned by Yoder Construction Co. Both vehicles received minor damage.

A semi-trailer truck jackknifed about one mile west of Tiffin and traffic was held up nearly an hour Thursday morning. No one was injured.

No Skating Yet On Melrose Lake

SUI students who planned to go ice skating on Melrose Lake this weekend will have to change their plans.

The rink, originally scheduled to open Thursday night, will not open until colder weather moves in. Warm weather is predicted for the weekend.

TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY DUBLIN (AP)—Ireland's President Eamon de Valera and Mrs. de Valera will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Friday. The New York-born statesman and his wife plan a family reunion of their six children. They have 16 grandchildren.

City Water Probe Asked

Petitions asking for a study of Iowa City's water supply system will be presented to the City Council at its regular meeting Monday evening.

The petitions, presently being circulated by the Iowa City League of Women Voters, reads:

"Responding to the expressed interest of various groups and individuals and in line with retiring Mayor (Phillip F.) Morgan's final charge to the City Council, the League of Women Voters of Iowa City is circulating the following petition: "We, the undersigned, request the City Council to appoint a committee to study all pertinent aspects of the water supply of Iowa City."

A privately owned utility company, The Iowa Water Service Company, now supplies water to University Heights, Coralville and Iowa City. It has been operating here without a franchise since 1948, and its rates are set by the City Council.

Earlier in 1959, Mayor Morgan, professor of sanitary engineering at SUI, suggested a study to determine whether deep wells could be used in Iowa City when the Iowa river has a high percentage of organic material and an objectionable taste to many residents.

In his final remarks to the City Council last month, Mayor Morgan said that the water supply is one of Iowa City's most critical problems at the present time.

Rockefeller Nixon In Prim

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Richard M. Rockefeller, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's son, was elected to the New York State Senate in a primary election Friday.

Rockefeller, 38, was elected to the Senate seat of the late Sen. J. Lee Edinger, who died in 1958.

The election was a surprise to many observers, who expected Rockefeller to run for the U.S. House of Representatives.

Rockefeller's victory was seen as a sign of the growing political influence of the Rockefeller family in New York State.

He will take office in January 1961.

Supporters of Rockefeller's father, Nelson Rockefeller, had hoped he would be elected to the Senate in 1960.

By day's end, Rockefeller's name was in the lead in the primary.

Nixon candidates are not likely to be in the race, but Rockefeller's victory is seen as a sign of the growing political influence of the Rockefeller family in New York State.

He will take office in January 1961.
