If it were possible to obtain a copy of every book and professional article written by members of the SUI faculty since the founding of the University, the volumes would more than fill an average-size city library.

A small library — comprised of some 40 books and 250 articles written by SUI faculty members during 1959 alone — is currently on display in the lobby of the University Library.

The display includes only books and articles by SUI faculty members during 1959 alone — is currently on display in the lobby of the University Library.

Faculty members are requested to send reprints of articles and the titles of books published during 1960 to Mrs. Lillian Beanson of Special Collections for the University Archives.

Frank Seiberling, professor and head of the SUI Art Department, discussed the basic concepts of art for the layman and the beginning student in "Looking Into Art" published by Holt. In the book, Seiberling describes art in relation to form, content, symbolism, functionalism and the development of personal taste.

Two members of the University Theatre staff published books during 1958. Peter D. Arnott wrote "An Introduction to the Greek Theatre" and Arnold S. Gillette authored "Stage Scenery: Its Construction and Rigging."

Writing in the field of medicine include "Right-Left Discrimination and Finger Localization," a text prepared by Dr. Arthur L. Benton, professor of neurology and psychology, and "Minor Hand Injuries" by Dr. Adrian Platt, associate professor of orthopedic surgery.

E. B. Kurtz, professor and head of electrical engineering at SUI, gives a documentary account of SUI's television station WXXK in his book "Pioneering in Educational Television 1932-1959." Station WXXK was the first station to broadcast educational television programs with sound.

Marcus Bach, professor of religion, added two books to his credit during 1959. "Major Religions of the World" and "Adventures in Faith" make a total of ten books authored by Bach. The religion department is also represented by Franklin Sherman, instructor, the author of "The Courage to Care."

Nine staff members of the SUI Institute of Hydraulic Research contributed to a book titled "Advanced Mechanics of Fluids." The book is edited by Hunter Rouse, director of the institute, and is dedicated to F. M. Dawson, who recently retired as dean of the College of Engineering.

Written for readers in the business and legal world were books by Clifford M. Baumbaek, research associate in the Bureau of Business and Economic Research, and John C. O'Byrne, professor of law, Baumbaek's book, "A Study of the Financial Resources of Students at Public Institutions of Higher Education in Iowa," was published by the SUI Bureau of Business and Economic Research. O'Byrne's "Farm Income Tax Manual," a revised edition of an earlier work, was published by Allen Smith Company.

Clyde F. Kohn, professor of geography, wrote "City, Town and Country," co-authored "Readings in Urban Geography" and contributed to "The Case for Basic Education, A Program of Aims for Public Schools" and "New Viewpoints in Geography." Kohn is the author of four other books and has written more than 30 articles on his subject.

Wendell Johnson, professor of speech pathology and psychology, wrote two books on stuttering during 1959. "The Onset of Stuttering" published by the University of Minnesota Press, reports on investigations carried out between 1937 and 1957 by a team of researchers at the SUI Speech Pathology Center. "Toward Understanding Stuttering" was published by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Representatives of works exhibited by members of the English faculty are "James I. Bacon, Middle-land, and the Making of 'The Peace-maker,'" by Rhodes Dunlap in "Studies in the English Renaissance Drama," published by the New York University Press; Paul Engle's "Poems in Praise"; "Literature, Introduction to Short Stories, Drama and Poetry," edited by John Gerber, and "The Geographical Names in The Iliad," by William Paff.

Forty-four authorities in the fields of genetics, law, public health, physiology, psychology, medicine and psychiatry, from all parts of the United States and Canada and abroad, contributed to a preventive psychiatry book edited by Ralph H. Ojeman, professor of child welfare. Titled "Recent Contributions of Biological and Psycho-social Investigations on Preventive Psychiatry," the book is a report of the proceedings of the second Institute on Preventive Psychiatry, held at SUI April 10 and 11.

Professional articles and papers written by members of the SUI faculty during 1959, and on display at the library, include every subject from advertising to zoology. Many of the works have been printed in several publications throughout the U.S. and in various languages throughout the world.

Loveless Nixes Calling Session On Apportionment

DES MOINES (AP) — Gov. Herschel Loveless Friday indicated he would not call a special session of the Legislature before Nov. 8 as requested by State Senator Duane Dewel (R-Algon). Dewel made the request for a special session to solve the reapportionment issue in a letter he left at the governor's office.

Loveless said, however, "there would be little point in calling back the same legislators who considered the matter a year ago and a n d failed to come up with any agreement on reapportionment."

Iowans will vote Nov. 8 on whether a convention will be held to revise the state constitution to achieve a more equitable representation in the Legislature. Legislators representing counties with less than 30 per cent of the state's population now hold the dominant voting power in both houses.

Dewel, who has announced he will not be a candidate for reelection, was a leading advocate of redistricting during the 1959 legislative session.

In his letter, Dewel told the governor: "As I see the political picture this summer and fall the state of Iowa is to be torn apart by an issue that should have been settled by the 1959 Legislature."

"I refer to the reapportionment issue. 'As you know there is a committee now active in promoting a constitutional convention as the only hopes of getting reapportionment.'"

"Also I believe you are aware of the Farm Bureau in Iowa is conducting a campaign against the convention and the proposal also was recently criticized by an official of the Iowa Manufacturers Association."

"As the campaign on this issue progresses it will undoubtedly become more heated and things will be written and said which will divide the state into a rural camp and a city camp to the detriment of both, and do damage to the state as a whole."

"May I suggest you call a special session for the Legislature to consider the reapportionment problem."

Dewel, in his newspaper, the Algon Kossuth County Advance, this week discussed reapportionment under an editorial entitled "A Special Session Could Help."

"Opponents of a convention are now saying there's no need for a convention as the 1961 Legislature will be the job."

"The legislators are now scared. Candidates are jumping to get on the reapportionment bandwagon, some despite the fact that they privately bitterly opposed any change last season though professing to be for it."

Rogers Suggests Referees To Insure Voting Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General William P. Rogers said Friday that voting certificates issued to Negroes under a Civil Rights Commission proposal would be about as worthless as tickets to the Dempsey-Firpo fight of 1923.

Rogers made what Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) called a "forceful and convincing" argument for the administration's alternate plan, which calls for the use of court-appointed referees where needed to protect Negro voting rights.

The Senate Rules Committee recessed until Feb. 17 after hearing the attorney general, making it unlikely that any committee action would be taken before the Senate opens debate on civil rights legislation Feb. 15.

Only bills carrying out the Civil Rights Commission proposal for federal voter registrars are before the committee. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican floor leader, has said the administration plan probably will be offered as an amendment to whatever legislation is called up when debate starts.

Rogers told the Rules Committee that the plan proposed by the Civil Rights Commission in a report to Congress last September won't work. For one thing, he said it has "no real enforcement machinery behind it."

Under the plan, federal employees would be appointed by the President to serve as temporary voting registrars in areas where discrimination was found.

Asserting the registrar proposal "does not provide effective guarantees that those discriminated against will be able to vote," Rogers said: "The registrars would merely be authorized to determine that, under the state qualification laws, an individual is entitled to vote in a federal election and to issue to that individual a certificate to that effect. It seems doubtful whether this will in fact enable him to vote, and have his vote counted, in even a federal election."

Sen. Kennedy's brother Ted, as an advance agent, sought out Rocky Mountain states which are pretty well uncommitted. He said Johnson undoubtedly has more pledged strength generally but that "we have some friends here."

Gov. John Burroughs of New Mexico spoke warmly of Johnson and said the Senate majority leader has shown a marked increase in Western strength. He attributed it to "a great deal of work behind the scenes of his candidacy."

On the other hand, Paul Ziffren, Democratic national committeeman from California, predicted the Texas senator would be rejected for the nomination.

Ziffren, who favors a "militant liberal candidate," told reporters Johnson will control the "conservative poll." The "liberal poll" will be crowded, he said, but the person who captures that poll will be nominated.

Johnson hasn't said yes or no to running. A sizable group of Texans, here as invited guests, talked up their senator as though he were an active candidate.

The conference was called to discuss Western issues. But it budgeted speaking time for Johnson Friday night and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) Saturday night. Kennedy has arranged to breakfast with delegates Sunday. He speaks at an Albuquerque rally that afternoon.

Gov. Stephen L. McNichols of Colorado told interviewers he was neutral at this point but he referred to Johnson as "a great compromiser and a great man."

C. Girard Davidson, Oregon's national committeeman, reported that Kennedy and Humphrey both have strong organizations in Oregon — 17 votes — but he expressed belief Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) would win the May 20 presidential primary there.

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa Internal Revenue officials obtained employees' tax returns from the files before interviewing the employees about whether they would like to retire, a witness told a congressional subcommittee Friday.

The subcommittee consisting of three congressmen is investigating to determine whether the Civil Service rights of the employees were lost because they agreed to retire instead of being laid off, in a personnel reduction last fall.

Pearl M. Borchardt, former secretary to V. Lee Phillips, district Internal Revenue collector for Iowa, said that H. H. Jopling, a division chief who sat in on employee interviews with Phillips, asked her to get income tax returns of the employees who later were interviewed.

Supporters of 2 Senators Seek Votes

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — Supporters of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) openly hustled for Democratic National Convention votes Friday at the opening of the western Democratic conference.

The contest, on the fringe of the 13-state meeting, looked to the Far West's 271 votes in Los Angeles — a good one-third of the 761 needed for the presidential nomination.

Sen. Kennedy's brother Ted, as an advance agent, sought out Rocky Mountain states which are pretty well uncommitted. He said Johnson undoubtedly has more pledged strength generally but that "we have some friends here."

The purpose of obtaining the returns could have been for the benefit of the employees, Rep. Robert Barry (R-N.Y.) said.

Mrs. Borchardt said she retired after more than 16 years because Phillips had said he wanted to give her a different job as a tax examiner at a lower Civil Service rating. She said she did not regard herself as qualified for the other job.

Genevieve Blackman, who said she was asked to resign but had not quit, said she received word that her 1956, 1957 and 1958 returns were being audited a few days before she was interviewed.

She said she presented further

Sea Search To Find

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A air-sea search failed Friday to find five men swept overboard by a gigantic swell rolled the destroyer Daly green on her right side, man was killed but not overboard.

The Daly and the m tanker Alabama rescued five men from the ocean.

The swell struck Thursday afternoon as she at full speed in trials conducted to determine whether she repairs before joining the fleet.

Several men were making pictures of the Daly when they were swept overboard. "All of a

Hawkeyes Meet Hoosiers At Indiana Monday Night

Iowa's Hawkeyes, inactive since Minnesota stopped them 87-72 here Jan. 25, get back into action Monday night at Bloomington, Ind., where they meet Indiana.

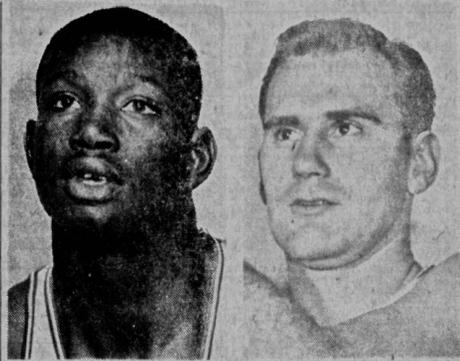

Now 4-3 in conference play, the Hawkeyes could very well drop below the .500 mark before they return to the home court. Following Monday's tilt at Indiana the Hawkeyes challenge Ohio State at Columbus Saturday before meeting Wisconsin here Feb. 15.

Coach Sharm Scheuerman has had practice sessions disrupted by the final examination schedule the past week and consequently the Hawkeyes may be a bit rusty as they meet the Hoosiers.

Junior Mike Dull, leading Hawkeye scorer in the losses to Michigan State and Minnesota, and sophomore Dave Maher may be promoted to the starting lineup at Indiana.

Dull's shooting from the outside could be a factor in keeping the defenses from sagging in on sophomore center Don Nelson, leading scorer for the Hawkeyes.

Indiana, along with Ohio State the pre-season favorite for the Big Ten title, dropped its first three conference contests to Purdue, Northwestern and Ohio State but has come back with wins over Michigan and Northwestern to pull its record to 2-3. A win over Wisconsin tonight would put the Hoosiers at 3-3 and give them an opportunity to move past the Hawkeyes in the standings Monday night.

The chief cause of the Hoosier's resurgence is their fine shooting of late. Coach Branch McCracken's five has split the nets at a .521 pace in its last four contests.

McCracken has also come up with another weapon, a tight zone defense. The veteran Hoosier mentor says he'll use the zone against teams which present defensive problems for Walt Bellamy and Frank Radovich, the Hoosier's big men, but that he prefers to stick with the man-to-man defense.

Bellamy and Radovich are leading the Hoosier scoring parade this year. The 6-10½ Bellamy has a 20.5 average and Radovich, 6-7, has a 14.9 mark. Herbie Lee, a guard, is the only Hoosier in double figures with a 10.1 average.

The Big Ten has a full card Monday night with all teams in conference contests. Illinois is at Michigan State, Minnesota plays at Northwestern, Ohio State travels to Wisconsin and Purdue goes to Michigan in the other contests.

Iowa Fencers Meet Indiana, Notre Dame

Iowa's fencers, winless in two starts, try for their first win of the season at Notre Dame today as they meet Notre Dame and Indiana in dual meets.

The Hawkeyes are given little chance to stop Notre Dame, currently sporting a 7-meet winning streak that includes a win over the Air Force Academy team which defeated Iowa two weeks ago.

Senior foilman Tom Vincent and junior sabreman Ralph Sauer carry the best Hawkeye records into today's competition. Both have 5-1 records. John Youngerman, junior epee man, ranks next with a 4-2 mark.

Notre Dame is paced by two performers in the foil, co-captains Jim Russomano and Jerry Johnson. Russomano is 18-1 and Johnson 17-1 in individual matches this season. Two epee men, Pete Giaimo and Jim Radde both have 11-2 records.

Indiana is considerable weaker than Notre Dame and it is against the Hoosiers that Iowa hopes to annex its first win.

Becerra, Ortiz Retain Crowns With Knockouts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two punches — a left hook to the chin and a right shot to the jaw — kept the world bantamweight and junior welterweight crowns on the heads of their owners — Jose Becerra of Mexico and Carlos Ortiz of New York City.

The punches gave painful headaches but sizeable purses to the challengers, Alphonse Halimi, the French Algerian, and Raymundo Torres, the youthful Mexican.

Becerra, the 23-year-old bantam champ was behind on points when one of his first punches of the ninth round — a crackling left hook — exploded on Halimi's chin.

Down went Halimi, ending his hopes of regaining the title he lost to Becerra last July.

Shouts of "ole" rang through the Memorial Coliseum Thursday night where a crowd of 31,830, mostly Mexican, paid a record California gate of $363,890 to see the double championship card.

Both fights were scheduled for 15 rounds.

For Torres, it was simply a case of too much, too soon.

The 18-year-old unbeaten in 31 previous starts, had 24 knockouts to his credit. But he was outclassed from the outset by Ortiz, the handsome Puerto Rican kingpin of the reactivated junior welter division.

He put Torres away after 2 minutes, 56 seconds of the 10th round with a whistling right to the jaw.

Ohio State at Northwestern In Quest of 7th Loop Win

Ohio State tangles with Northwestern this afternoon in a game which matches the Big Ten's best offensive and defensive machines. The Buckeyes take an unblemished conference record of 6-0 plus the league's best scoring and field goal accuracy marks against the host Wildcats in the day's regionally televised matinee.

NHL Delays Action On Retirement Threat

DETROIT (AP) — The National Hockey League will delay official action on the threatened retirement of Red Kelly and Bill McNeill for 24 hours to give the Detroit players time to "think things over."

Clarence Campbell, president of the league, said he was not trying to patch up the deal that backfired between the Red Wings and the New York Rangers.

"My concern is the welfare of the players," said Campbell, reached by phone in Toronto. "I don't want any player to make a hurried decision that he might regret." If Kelly and McNeill stick to their decisions the NHL then will place them on waivers.

Kelly and McNeill were traded Thursday night to the Rangers in exchange for Bill Gadsby and Eddie Shack. Kelly, 32-year-old veteran of 13 NHL seasons, announced Friday morning he was quitting rather than report to the Rangers. McNeill informed the club early Friday that he, too, had decided to retire.

Illinois (3-2) is at Michigan (0-5); Indiana (2-3) is at Wisconsin (0-5); and Purdue travels to Michigan State (4-3).

Ohio State, ranked fourth in the nation, stopped Northwestern 81-64 at Columbus but the Wildcats are hoping to make a better showing in front of the home fans.

Ohio State has averaged 94.3 points a game in loop action with sophomore Jerry Lucas leading the way with a 25.5 average. The Wildcats have held foes to a 69.5 production to lead the Big Ten in defense.

At Wisconsin, Indiana will be shooting for its third straight conference win after suffering as many losses at the start of the season.

Wisconsin, still gunning for its first loop win, will be bolstered by the addition of sophomore Frank Burks, hailed as the best Badger prospect in 25 years. The return to action of Jim Biggs, sidelined by an appendectomy early in the season, will also help the Badgers.

Campbell Gets Hole-In-One, $50,000 Prize

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Joe Campbell, the youngest among the touring pros, Friday won a $50,000 hole-in-one prize at the world's richest golf tournament. But it's so cut up he'll get only $12,500 from it at best.

Campbell smacked a 205-yard 3-iron shot into the fifth hole at Tamarisk Country Club. A pre-tournament deal with another pro cut his take to $25,000, however, should he be the only one to score an ace.

Later Campbell confided to newsmen he had another deal with Charlie Faust, operator of a Knoxville, Tenn., municipal golf course, to split half his pro earnings in return for $200 a week expense money, advanced by Faust.

"I still think it's good business," said the husky 24-year-old pro who voted the PGA Freshman of the Year in 1959.

Campbell's No. 3 iron shot stole the show at the $100,000 Palm Springs Desert Classic, yet front runner Wes Ellis Jr. rated some spotlight. He shot a third-round 69 which, paired with a 70 and 65, gave him a 204 total and early lead in the 90-hole tournament.

Ellis is two strokes ahead of Johnny Palmer of Tulsa, who Friday added a 69 to rounds of 67 and 70.

Also at 206 is Bob Goalby who has rounds of 67, 70 and 69.

Campbell, a native of Anderson, Ind., who plays out of Knoxville, Tenn., and New York City, said he had made a pre-tournament deal to split the $50,000 with Buddy Sullivan of Yuba City, Calif.

If more than one pro scores an ace in the five-day tournament the $50,000 will be divided.

Campbell's hole in one didn't unnerve him. He wound up shooting a 69 over the par 72 Tamarisk course.

His three-day total was 74-68-69-211.

Levy has been head coach at New Mexico for the past two years.

Levy is a graduate of Coe College at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where he majored in history and won 8 athletic letters, 3 in track and 2 in basketball.

Downey, Fitton Reach Golf Finals; Johnstone Ousted

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A Baltimore woman golfer who has been trying for 10 years to win the Women's Championship of Palm Beach and an Ohio school teacher entered for the first time moved into the finals Friday with a pair of sizzling upset victories.

Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore put on a spectacular late rally to defeat Judy Bell of Wichita, Kan., 1 up. Miss Bell was the last of the four Curtis Cup team members who started in the tournament.

Mrs. Barbara Fitton, junior high school physical education teacher from Hamilton, Ohio, eliminated the 1956 champion, Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa, also 1 up.

The winners will meet for the title Saturday over an 18-hole route.

Mrs. Downey, who has never won the tournament in a decade of effort but holds the women's competitive course record of 69, trailed Miss Bell by three holes with just four to go, then proceeded to win them all.

On two of the last four holes, the Baltimore woman hit the traps, but great recovery shots left her with relatively short putts.

Accurate second shots accounted for Mrs. Fitton's victory. She was shooting dead to the pins and four of these shots set up birdies. She won the 17th with a par to go ahead and they halved the final hole.

By MARGUERITE HIGGINS
Herald Tribune News Service

WASHINGTON — Secretary State Christian A. Herter announced the toughening of Soviet attitudes as show in renewed pressure on Berlin and military threats against Japan.

These developments of "serious concern" may reflect, Herter conceded, the fact that the Russians are gaining in military strength and that this in turn gives them greater assurance in the international field.

With regard to Berlin, the Secretary of State said that sources worry included such things as a communique of the Warsaw Pact countries which indicated that the Red Bloc would soon act on its own to achieve its aim of ousting Western influence from Berlin under the West accepted Red terms in a settlement at the May 16 Summit Meeting in Paris.
