A seemingly minor political ad in Wisconsin has suddenly brought accusations from both the Sen. John F. Kennedy and Sen. Hubert Humphrey headquarters that someone was trying to bring religion into the upcoming Wisconsin Presidential Primary election. See story on page eight of today's Daily Iowan.

Now Trying for Econo Unity—

Beliard: Eupe Not a Unit

By PAT AUGUSTINE Staff Writer

Jean Beliard, one of the two French consul-generals in the United States, Thursday evening, speaking on the "European Common Market," as a part of the Humanities Society Lecture Series, said, "Europe is not a unit as many may think."

"Some of the countries are still so different that fusion is not possible at present but is a thing of the political future."

The countries are trying to build a United Europe. Following the close of World War II, the whole continent was in a financial and economical mess. It took many years to reach the pre-war level. With the aid of the United States the hopes of European unity has begun, Beliard said.

The European countries felt that it was best to start with an economic base in constructing the unit. "The economic obstacles were the greatest, yet the easiest to be solved," Beliard said.

Beliard said that reasons for an economic unity were to try and form a harmonized production of goods and to have a market as vast and prosperous as the United States; to confront an increasing population; to fulfill a psychological view based on a newly created revolution of happiness; and to fill a need of much energy. Europe did not have enough coal, oil, and water, and had to find a way to economize, because they couldn't afford to import them.

From the very beginning the proposed unity received opposition from the Soviet Union, because they that a United Europe would be harder nut to crack." Grein opposed the proposal because they felt that Europe would not take Opposition was also voice colonial territories of the 12 countries.

Beliard said that the first milestone was in April, 1958, with economic union for Eurpl and steel. With the fall orders, production of steel greatly increased. This was considered this as beginning.

In 1954, the Dutch suggested a proposal for a common market considerable discussion, in Rome, March 1957 was signed. It was a treaty of economic union, to iron out of all policies, to monetary policies, to laws for relocation and to workers and a movement, and to see that these were carried out.

By 1959 the European tariffs were cut 10 per cent, with the primary aim to eliminate all tariffs in 12 to 17 years. January of this year, another 10 per cent cut was made. By 1963 it is planned that all currency in Europe will be freely exchangeable.

Economic unity brings a better standards of living. A better economic life kills unemployment and increases the population. With the increasing population the continent must reach for another stage in unity, Beliard said.

Means are being studied to seek another stage. The proposal to elect a common parliament would create more unity.

Beliard added that the worst thing that could happen to a United Europe would be for it to deteriorate after being united.

Beliard believes that a European unity is in the future if they have patience, vigilance, and strength. "A United Europe must also strive for a United Free World, and try to make it as large as possible," Beliard said.

K Talks of Nuclear Halt; France Prepares Bomb Test

PARIS (HTNS) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev implied broadly Thursday that an agreement with the United States and Britain to halt nuclear tests was only weeks away.

As he spoke, France, which is not a party to the Geneva test ban conference, prepared to explode an atomic bomb in the Sahara Desert as soon as possible, perhaps while Mr. Khrushchev was still in the country.

These developments came as the visitor ended a five-and-one-half day tour of the provinces, returned to Paris exuding optimism about the international situation, and went to the nearby chateau of Rambouillet for two final days of secret talks with President de Gaulle.

Despite Khrushchev's presence and his public stand against nuclear tests, for the second time in 24 hours France closed a vast area of the Sahara to air travel with the obvious intention of detonating a bomb as soon as weather permits.

The warning to aircraft issued Wednesday was cancelled Thursday morning, but it was followed by a second alert to take effect at 5:45 a.m. French time Friday (11:45 p.m. EST, Thursday).

Khrushchev, who only Wednesday said that all nations should stop such tests in the interest of mankind, was not thought to be pleased by Gen. de Gaulle's dangling bomb warnings and possibly proceeding to an actual test during his visit.

Before he arrived here March 23, the Russians let it be known that the explosion of France's second atomic bomb during his stay would be unwelcome. France then postponed the test until after his departure, scheduled for Sunday morning.

Usually reliable sources claimed Thursday that since then the Russians have been informed of an impending test and said that they would not regard it as a diplomatic insult. Since the weather in the Sahara usually turns unfavorable in mid-April, the French feel that they must stage the test quickly.

Khrushchev's most optimistic statement about the chances of a three-power agreement to cease nuclear tests came during a reception at the Soviet Embassy. He hinted that a treaty might be reached before the summit conference, which is to open here May 16.

Listing the most important questions to be discussed at the summit, he mentioned general and complete disarmament, a peace treaty with Germany, and a halt to tests of nuclear weapons, adding significantly, "If before then the necessary agreement is not reached on this question."

His raising the possibility of such a treaty within seven weeks appeared to reflect good news from the Geneva conference, in which the Soviet and British-American positions have come much closer together in the past two weeks.

Khrushchev's talks with Gen. de Gaulle Friday and Saturday are not expected to result in any important agreements. In preliminary conferences at the beginning of his visit, they found themselves far apart on such questions as Germany and nuclear disarmament.

Khrushchev proceeded during his provincial tour to flay West Germany as a menace to peace and to France and to describe Chancellor Adenauer as a follower of Hitler's master race theories.

A polite host, Gen. De Gaulle has not replied publicly. But he does not like to have foreigners messing with his alliances or trying to talk over his head to the French people. It is expected that he and Khrushchev will have difficulty in even finding a way to refer to Germany in the final communique.

According to informed sources, they should have as much trouble finding something in common to say about West Berlin. On this question Gen. de Gaulle's determination to resist Khrushchev's demands against the city is among the firmest in the West.

Unless the experts are mistaken, the communique will express pious hopes but no meeting of minds on disarmament and will come out for increased trade, cultural relations, and scientific exchanges between the two countries.

Jerry Kinnamon Wins Hancher Speaking Contest

A prize of $25 was awarded to Jerry Kinnamon, A3, Iowa City, for taking first place in the Hancher Public Speaking Contest held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol.

His topic was "America's Foreign Policy in the Mid East." Kinnamon will represent SUI in a speech contest held by the Northern Oratorical League, of which the University is a member.

Second place went to Mike Gilles, A2, Mason City, who spoke on "Group Discussion Ethics." Judges for the contest were Don Bryant, professor of speech; Sam Becker, associate professor of television-radio film, and Hugh Kelso, associate professor of political science.

Seven houses there were destroyed by fire caused by a flaming shower of debris. Jimmy Hollobaugh, 27, burned to death. Other occupants escaped, some in their night clothes.

The fuselage of the B47 plunged like a rocket into a bungalow near Pulaski Heights Junior High School. Mr. Andrew L. Clark, 63, alone in the house was killed. Her husband was out of town on a business trip.

Smaller fragments of the plane rained down between the two major impact points. Hundreds of residents, dazed and in night clothes, streamed from their homes.

The airmen killed were Lt. Col. Reynolds J. Watson, 43, Athens, Ga.; Capt. Herbert J. Aldridge, 37, San Antonio, Tex.; and S. Sgt. K. E. Brose, 25, Kewanee, Ill. All three were married and had young children.

The crewman who parachuted to safety was Lt. Thomas G. Smoak, Richmond, Va. His face and hands were burned. Shocked, he was placed under sedation in a hospital.

Debris fell across a power transmission line in West Little Rock, knocking out electric service to several thousands homes for 45 minutes.

1-3" Rain Predicted For Southeastern Iowa

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nearly 1,000 more persons were forced out of their homes Thursday evening as Iowa rivers and creeks, swollen by spring thaws and choked with ice, swirled out of their banks and backed up over levees.

A flow that would have flooded Iowa City a few years back poured into the Coralville Reservoir at the rate of 29,000 cubic feet a second Thursday.

The reservoir stood at 632 feet—a 12 foot rise since Sunday. The water was being stored to let the English River outflow pass on down the Iowa River.

The latest evacuations occurred at Des Moines on the spreading Des Moines River and at Marshalltown on the Iowa River.

Between 300 and 400 persons living in a low area north of Des Moines had left their homes Thursday night and the Saylorville Fire Department had a truck on duty to cart away furniture removed by private boats.

Earlier in the day flood waters threatened an area in southeast Des Moines below the junction of the Des Moines and Raccoon rivers. About 200 persons in this area were affected.

Marshalltown more than 250 persons had moved out of their homes, mainly in the north part of town when the Iowa River surged to a new record level of 17.76 feet, nearly 5 feet above flood stage.

This was slightly over the previous all-time mark of 17.72 at Marshalltown, set in 1918. National Guardsmen, farmers, home owners and volunteer workers prepared for a tense, night-long vigil at sandbagged levees in anticipation of river crests predicted by early morning.

The weather forecast brought little cheer to the flood fighters. It called for scattered showers spreading northward across the state Thursday night, and rains of one to three inches in the extreme southeast today.

Strong winds of 35 to 45 miles per hour were predicted for the entire state Thursday night and today, with gusts to 60 miles an hour—a bleak prospect for the job of battling cold flood waters.

Roads, highways and several railroad lines were blocked Thursday by debris-filled water and mud from earth slides.

Mid-afternoon temperatures were in the high 40's and low 50's. Ice chunks in the rivers and what little snow was left on the ground, continued to melt.

In Pacific Junction near the Missouri River about 30 farm families left their homes for safety, then went to fight the rampaging water could escape. More than 200 men and boys met a volunteer call shortly after midnight when a levee broke on Bear Creek west of Marengo.

Sandbags and five bulldozers were used to fight back the water. High school boys were dismissed from school to help combat the threat. New homes and the new Memorial Hospital were in danger until nearly noon.

The Mississippi at Davenport crested at 16 feet, about a foot over flood stage, with some lowland flooding in the south part of the city.

The Wapsipinicon and Maquoketa rivers in eastern Iowa continued to flood lowlands, but no families were evacuated.

Train service on the Burlington route from St. Louis to Burlington was shut down because of high water at the confluence of the Des Moines and Mississippi south of Keokuk. Trains were rerouted through Galesburg, Ill.

Unwanted Mother Image?

To the Editor:

There has been a heightened degree of interest in a number of issues this year. We have had controversy concerning the CPC, the role of The Daily Iowan which resulted in the Iowa Defender, the debate on the University hotel, the large and continuing interest in the discrimination issue, and the examination of the ROTC in the University community, not to mention Kaplan's "Disgust" campaign and the large turnout at the recent campus elections. All of this is good, and those forces that seem bent on continuing the status quo are having a tough time of it. The traditional answer, "That's the way it has been done in the past," is beginning to look pretty shallow. It is with this in mind that I would like to propose to The Daily Iowan a detailed and critical examination of one of the most holy of the holy cows at SU— the Code of Student Life.

In its all encompassing nature the Code of Student Life presents the University as a giant, (and if I might be so bold) unwanted mother image. Most students are cynics when it comes to "The Code"; it is scorned in some areas and rejected or ignored in most others. It is probably only truly revered in the Office of Student Affairs.

The fact remains that the Code of Student Life exists. Although I am cynical in many things, I have a certain streak — call it idealism — or at any rate a belief that a policy such as put forth in the Code of Student Life should be vital and realistic, and not something of scorn — or it should not be at all.

I realize that my proposed investigation is a big order. I can only give you my best wishes and a few basic questions to get you on the way. Who is responsible for the writing of this book? On what criteria is it based? Just where does it get its authority? To be more specific: With what authority does the University, through the Code, require that a full and responsible citizen of the State of Iowa and the nation must live only in housing that is approved by the University. It seems that the legality of this is highly questionable. This is just a starter. I haven't mentioned the numerous rules that the girls must abide by, or that the University considers any group with students in its membership, whose "programs or activities are deemed to affect student morale or welfare", as a "student organization" and "subject to the regulation" of the University. The morale-welfare clause is about as broad and all encompassing as I can imagine. Questioning "The Code" is treading on sacred ground, but I feel that some good honest tramping might be in order. Will you take it from there?

Merry Fool's Day!...and many SU-Iowans are wondering if and when Renaissance II's house organ is going to reply to Jeff Andresen's letter which appeared in The Daily Iowan four weeks ago. Jeff is the A3 from Mason City who was approached by staffers from "the newspaper of ideas and opinions" and was asked to contribute articles to the publication. But when he submitted a pro-fraternity article, his services were no longer desired. This must mean that not all ideas and opinions have a place in a completely free, uncensored publication. And "people who live in glass houses..."

Walter Steigleman, associate professor of journalism, was pleasantly surprised at the answer he received when he phoned a doctor in the University Hospitals' Ophthalmology Department recently. The receptionist greeted him with: "Private Eye."

FIELD HOUSE FACTS

Basketball ace Ron Zagor has joined Otto Vogel's baseball squad, along with teammate Les Kenney, last year's starting shortstop. Other two-sporth stars on this versatile squad are Jerry Mauren and Dick Clauson from the football squad.

Allen... While glancing through some old SUI scrapbooks, I found that Hawkeye swimming coach Bob Allen was a candidate for SUI's MEOB (Most Eligible Bachelor on Campus) around 1933. Bob couldn't recall the exact year, but he did remember that he lost the contest.

A Nobel Peace Prize would be a neat feather for the SUI cap. How about having the Russian Department translate "On The Beach" and send it to the Soviet Union? This seems like a sure winner!

ON GUEST HOUSES... "Indiana students have a ball in the guest house addition to their student union," reports an SU-Iowan who recently returned from a conference in Bloomington. "Whenever a group of students wants to throw a party, they rent a room in the guest house. And bell-hops even bring set-ups to the door as part of the room service," the student said. The Indiana six-story guest house addition was completed last year, and includes barber and beauty shops, a gift shop and bakery.

A Duplex E Qudo to Harry Ray Kristgen, A1, Sioux City, for his letter to the DI condemning SUI's and Iowa City's treatment of the high schoolers during the recent state tournament. The "shunning" was far from the red carpet treatment some of them received during Old Gold Days. And since there are so many high school state meets here (i.e. speech, music, sports), it seems that one of our many student organizations could establish a sub-committee on "Entertaining High School Students While They're in Iowa City." A little more "red carpet" might result in SUI as their choice, rather than Drake, ISU or Slippery Rock.

Why Are Students Apathetic About the BIG ISSUES?

By DAROL POWERS
Staff Writer

As Secretary of the SUI Anarchist Discussion Club, it was my duty to escort Prof. Grant Hannibal to the Union for his speech.

Waiting at the train station, I recalled how Hannibal had been an anarchist anarchist all his life, fighting for individual freedom.

(The train waste.) Hannibal was bringing the college circuit now trying to whip up enthusiasm but the Big Issues of the day.

(The dust in waiting room made my throat, but the Coke machine wroaken.) Finally the train — and so did Hannibal, an unchristian soldier march all alone into battle.

He gripped my hand and called me "Son," which hit me to a taxi.

"Son," he bled without bothering to look the window, "you got a nice here, but— (His words weakened away from him as we a series of potholes.)

"—not interest in the Big Issues," he said, gripping my arm. "Apathetic have to wake up to problems of the nuclear age, it is being made, in Moscow, Washington..."

We got out of taxi in front of a downtown (And stepped a sudden April blizzard.)

"Problems of national budget, national sense, too much government," he was expostulating as registered. (He got a bracelet for $10.)

Stashing his upstairs, I offered a quick to the town.

He agreed, but looked only straight ahead.

"For instance," he waved his arm as we crossed the street. (An Iowa City driver twisted his Buick around the corner at us, and I had to propel the professor to the curb to save him.)

"students don't seem very worried about the government's waste of public funds."

(We passed a shivering student who stood glumly outside a bookstore clutching a thin book to his chest and staring at his checkbook.)

I hunted for an economical restaurant while Hannibal told me how today's youth weren't alert for uncovering important problems.

(And we passed a housewife up to her knees in mud feeding a parking meter.) We found a cheap restaurant and ordered.

(The counter was dirty.) "Use of the Nile," Hannibal went on as he began eating. (The food was greasy and salty.)

"is a big problem." (While I was gazing on the springtime water.) So we finished and went on down the hill. (Slipping on walks nobody ever cleans.)

And past the library. (With its students panicked by the morrow's midterms.) "And what about Red China in the U.N.?" Hannibal wanted to know as we entered the Union. (Soon to be the Union Hotel.)

"I can't figure out why students don't care about anything," Hannibal pouted. We went into the meeting room and sat down. We were the first ones there.

An hour later, we were still the first ones there. Which proves what Hannibal said — students are apathetic about the Big Issues in New York and Cairo and Moscow.

The most beautiful new look in diamonds

It isn't often that I review a vocalist's offerings, primarily because, in my opinion, there are so few good ones. One who definitely fits into the "superb" category is Ernestine Anderson, a relative newcomer. Her work on her latest Mercury release, "The Fascinating Ernestine," attests to her great ability. In this album she does songs of all styles — "Nature Boy," "A New Town is a Blue Town," "Harlem Nocture," "Beale Street Blues," and others. Though she does not have the experience of Ella, I'm sure that in time she will be rated along side the universally acknowledged Queen. To steal a phrase from the liner notes of her new album — Ernestine Anderson always remains a prized gem among contemporary vocalists."

Educator Looks Behind The College Catalogues

American colleges have come in for sharp criticism since Sputnik I rocketed into the nation's headlines. Put simply, a good many observer have concluded that our educational institutions are just not good enough.

One of the latest, and sharpest, entries into the fray is Harper's magazine with a lead article that attempts to reveal as it says, what the colleges catalogue fail to reveal: the "bog of sloppy sentimentality and vested interests" that higher education has settled into.

Writing in the April issue of the magazine David Boroff contends that "It is just possible that college professors and students are actors in a vast comedy, a mad travesty of solemn rituals, wasted times, and trumped-up claims."

A college professor himself, Boroff asks: "How many college graduates are shaped significantly by their experiences in school? How many have developed the habit of disciplined thinking? How many, by decent standards, are well educated?" The answer, "Very few, the honest college teachers would acknowledge ruefully?"

Getting down to particulars, Boroff takes some provocative swings at:

The curriculum — "All too often universities are simply research factories with little relationship to that bold exercise of ideas which should be the peculiar genius of an institution of high learning. Intellectualism and teaching don't pay off; research does since it builds professional prestige — the key factor in the academic marketplace."

The administrators — "They are likely to be smiling, smiling products of Teachers College or some other emporium of inane good will and well-roundedness. And all too frequently, they are under-educated themselves."

The professors "If his status is high, his income is still low — probably a few cuts lower, on the average, than that of a member of the Teamsters Union. The professor's characteristic bearing is one of dignified self-pity... Academics, while beginning to resemble businessmen, have all sorts of special burdens. Absurd standards of gentility prevail. (A faculty tea is truly a parody of itself—the stifling politesse, the elegant non-communication, the shuffling for position.) But the main thing is that there isn't enough money; life is pinched and mean (except for the new expense-account aristocracy who get the big grants)...

As a result, academic institutions are not gentle civilized retreats, high, high above the dark jungle of business. Alas, at precisely the time that business has become somewhat less feral, academia now dances to the beat of the tom-tom.

University presses and scholarly journals — "They pour out a flood tide of the dull and repetitive — an expense of spirit in a waste of footnotes... Every college teacher should be scholarly; it is a minimum obligation. But he need not publish to be scholarly."

What does Boroff propose? Several things. He would, for instance, have the basic skills taught in high school, freeing the colleges to concentrate on the arts. He would also have more independent study in college, and more "bridges" from one area of knowledge to another.

Another suggestion: "We have writers in residence. Why not visiting professorships — or lecturerships — for talented businessmen, journalists, trade-union people... the outlanders might pick up some academic circumstances, while their daring and sense of the concrete might rub off on the scholastics."

Boroff concludes: "We are now in position to try the leap for excellence. We have the students; we even have the teachers. All we need is the will."

Lectures Have Value

To the Editor:

The charges made in a letter in Thursday's Daily Iowan against the current trend to subordinate the standard of significance to a heresy that the idea is as good as another have valid grounds. But I cannot agree with the writer's view that the roster of speakers sponsored by the Political Science Department illustrates adherence to the above heresy.

Obviously, one idea is not as good as another. But the criteria of excellence or significance of different positions and modes of expressing them are subjective. One tends to regard those positions which are similar to one's own as "good." Some regard scientifically verified ideas as good; others, emotionally forceful ideas. But few will deny that all serious ideas, regardless of their particular positions, should have an equal chance to be expressed.

There is a certain measure of agreement as to the standard of significance of ideas within different positions. It seems safe to say that the speakers we have had are able representatives of their respective positions — at least, among the ablest available.

The writer of Thursday's letter seems to feel that there is

Send Opinions

To the Editor:

Students interested in supporting the battle for equal rights for all Americans can do so by sending their opinions to the following men: Mr. E. F. Harrigan, F. W. Woolworth Co., 233 Broadway, New York, N.Y. and Mr. Karl Helfrich, S. H. Kress and Co., 114 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y.

The Congress on Racial Equality is currently negotiating with them in New York to change the national policy of Woolworth's and Kresge's which maintain segregated lunch counters in many of their southern stores. The effectiveness of CORE's persuasion will be greatly increased by voiced public support for their proposals and voiced public dissatisfaction with the current policy of segregated southern stores.

Closer to Nature

To the Editor:

I am in favor of having all the sidewalks in town covered with a layer of rubber. The purpose of this measure would be chiefly to facilitate walking, but other amenities could be included too.

The rubber might be impregnated with a matrix of wire, not unlike an electric blanket, and when everything iced up, it could be turned on, resulting in a dry, unslippery surface.

With a safe place to walk in the winter and a soft place to walk in the summer, those who engage in the disputes which rock our University might be less personal in their assertions. President Hancher might take it on himself to stroll about the premises more often to see how things were going. Man might actually be brought closer to nature, being so encouraged to go out-of-doors.

If it were too expensive to cover the whole town with my invention, at least they might effect it on the sidewalks between my apartment on Summit St. and Schaeffer Hall. It would make my mornings so much more pleasant, and I wouldn't be impelled to think up letters to the editor for the first day in April as I walked along on the treacherous paving.

Good Listy— To On WSUI

Charley Barnet, Maria Callas, Dean Acheson, George Gallup, Norman Thomas, Elvis Presley, Althea Gibson, Jonas Salk, Leslie and a whole host of folks in the public eye. (An especially large, round table has been required to accommodate the discussants.) Panel chairmen, alternating during what is expected to be a grueling session, are Irene Dunne and Vladimir Nabokov. The entire program is being recorded for distribution by the National Association of Educational Broadcasters and the Voice of America.

WHAT'S REALLY HAPPENING? Those hap-happy British comedians, Flanders and Swann, will be heard at 10 a.m. in a recording of their revue, "At the Drop of a Hat." If you have never heard them making fun of such prosaic subjects as the weather, modern homes, and cannibalism, you must listen. At 1 p.m., the original Hoffnung Music Festival (1956) will bring WSUI's afternoon "flow of music" to a virtual standstill. Containing, as it does, such items as "Concerto for Garden Hose" and a Tuba quartet (not to mention the most wonderful fanfare since the Salzburg Festival), Music from Hoffnung, too, deserves to be aired (out). Don't fall to miss it if you can.

A NEW FESTIVAL, the Bergen, Norway, Festival for 1959, will be heard at 2:30 p.m. Tonight's opera, at 6:45, mind you, is "Mauon" by Massenet.

Students Apathetic On Issues?

He agreed, but looked only straight ahead.
"For instance," he waved his arm as we crossed the street.
(An Iowa City driver twisted his Buick around the corner at us, and I had to propel the professor to the curb to save him.)
"Students don't seem very worried about the government's waste of public funds."
(We passed a shivering student who stood glumly outside a bookstore clutching a thin book to his chest and staring at his checkbook.)
I hunted for an economical restaurant while Hannibal told me how today's youth weren't alert for uncovering important problems.
(And we passed a housewife up to her knees in mud feeding a parking meter.)
We found a cheap restaurant and ordered.
(The counter was dirty.)
"Use of the Nile," Hannibal went on as he began eating.
(The food was greasy and salty.)
"Is a big problem."
(While I was gagging on the springtime water.)
So we finished and went on down the hill.
(Slipping on walks nobody ever cleans.)
And past the library.
(With its students panicked by the morning's midterms.)
"And what about Red China in the U.N.?" Hannibal wanted to know as we entered the Union.
(Soon to be the Union Hotel.)
"I can't figure out why students don't care about anything," Hannibal pouted.
We went into the meeting room and sat down. We were the first ones there.
An hour later, we were still the first ones there.
Which proves what Hannibal said — students are apathetic about the Big Issues in New York and Cairo and Moscow.

names mentioned there will be both old and new blues and jazz singers spotlighted.
The purpose of the show is to illustrate different influential styles, the influence of spirituals in blues, and hence, jazz, and to show the external quality of the blues.
To repeat the previous invite, you have a dangle hour and half — dig the set.

It isn't often that I review a vocalist's offerings, primarily because, in my opinion, there are so few good ones. One who definitely fits into the "superb" category is Ernestine Anderson, a relative newcomer. Her work on her latest Mercury release, "The Fascinating Ernestine," attests to her great ability. In this album she does songs of all styles — "Narcissus," "A New Town is a New Town," "Harlem Nocturne," "Beale Street Blues," and others. Though she does not have the experience of Ella, I'm sure that in time she will be rated along side the universally acknowledged queen. To steal a phrase from the notes of her new album — Ernestine Anderson always remains a prized gem among contemporary vocalists."

11 Airmen Rescued from Atlantic Crash; 3 Perish

PATRICK AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. — Eleven of 14 Air Force men who rode a disabled tanker plane into the Atlantic Ocean 40 miles off the Florida coast were plucked out of the water Thursday. Rescue craft also picked up the bodies of three who died.
The pilot, Capt. Richard A. Geiger of Wilmington, Del., landed the KC-97 Stratotanker on the water at 8:16 p.m. Wednesday after trouble had developed in two of the plane's four engines earlier during an electrical storm off Jacksonville, Fla.
By 1:20 p.m. Thursday, all the survivors and the bodies of the dead had been brought to Port Canaveral.
The wine tanker Angelo Petri, the Navy destroyer the Sullivans, the oil tanker Sheldon Clark and the Coast Guard cutter Bramble participated in the rescue operation.
Geiger said an oil line apparently was dislodged during the storm and the No. 2 and No. 3 engines started to feather. Forty-five minutes after the trouble developed he elected to ditch the big plane and brought in down to a smooth landing.

As the men scrambled out of the plane, several were burned by the wing heater but none was seriously injured. Most of them were suffering from shock or exposure when they were picked up.
The dead were M. Sgt. Joseph M. Pheis, 33, Bloomington, Ill.; T. Sgt. Frank E. Bence, 34, Bay Minette, Ala., and S. Sgt. Shirley D. Renner, 27, Shelbyville, Ill.
Geiger told newsmen he saw Bence and Renner climb to the top of the plane, only to be swept off by a wave.
Maj. Robert D. Yates of Tampa, Fla., said the three deaths apparently were due to drowning.
A helicopter from the St. Petersburg Coast Guard Air Station made the first rescue, picking up Lt. John R. Rodgers Jr., of Wilmington, N.C.
The tanker was en route from Newfoundland to her home station, MacDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla., when she was ditched.
Geiger and Rodgers came through unhurt. Yates suffered first- and second-degree burns but his condition was reported good.
The tanker remained afloat after the ditching and an effort was made to tow her ashore for an investigation but she sank in 350 feet of water 15 miles offshore.

Heidelberg Prof To Give Lecture On 'Virgil' April 4

Professor Viktor Poeschl from Heidelberg University will lecture on the "Poetic Achievement of Virgil" April 4 at 8 p.m. in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol.

Poeschl is recognized internationally as one of the leading scholars in Roman literature and thought, according to Oscar E. Nybakken, chairman of the Classics Department. Poeschl's work has been hailed by critics as presenting new insights into the aims and methods of the Latin poets.

One of his most important works in the field of Latin poetry, "Die Dichtkunst Virgils," deals with symbolic patterns in the "Aeneid." An English translation of this work is to be published soon.

Born in Graz, Austria in 1910, Poeschl studied at the Universities of Berlin, Gernoble, Munich, and Cambridge. He received his Ph.D. at the University of Heidelberg in 1933.

Poeschl has taught at the Universities of Munich, Prague, Graz, and Heidelberg. In 1954 he was appointed a full member of the Heidelberg Academy of Sciences.

The lecture is being given under the auspices of the Graduate College and the Department of Classics.

SUI Given 100 Musical Scores By Prof's Widow

More than one hundred scores from the personal library of the late Professor Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the Music Department from 1919 until his death in 1954, have been given to the SUI Music Library.

Presented by Mrs. Mildred Clapp, of Meeker, Colo., the collection includes symphonic repertoire of such 19th and 20th century composers as Ravel, Rachmaninoff, Liszt and Mahler, as well as works by Stravinski and Schoenberg and such younger contemporary composers as Copland, Shostakovich and Arthur Benjamin.

It is particularly rich in the works of such New England composers as Henry Gilbert, Charles Loeffler, and George Chadwick, whose work is probably little known to this generation of students, and in which area the library collection was quite weak.

A native of Boston, Clapp taught composition at SUI and directed the University Symphony Orchestra. His personal works included ten symphonies, several symphonic poems, a piano concerto, an opera and numerous chamber works.

SUI Nurse Zemlicka To Speak at 'Capping'

Pearl Zemlicka, of the SUI College of Nursing, will give the main address at the "capping" exercises for the Broadlawn Hospital school of nursing in Des Moines tonight.

"Your Cap and Its Heritage" will be Miss Zemlicka's topic for the program, which will start at 8 o'clock.

Senate Argues Private Vs. Public Registration Hearings

WASHINGTON — The Senate argued at length Thursday whether the federal registration hearings proposed for would-be Negro voters should be public or restricted.

This was a warmly disputed issue standing between the Senate and completion of action on the House-passed civil rights bill, as amended by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

After a great burst of speed Wednesday night, when the Senate approved 14 of 15 committee amendments, debate bogged down on the 15th.

This amendment, introduced by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), would require two days' public notice of the registration hearings and would permit local registrars to sit in. Under the House bill the hearings would be restricted to uncontested proceedings before federal voting referees.

Kefauver's principal disputant was Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.). The two often are lined up on the same side in issues of political philosophy.

Kefauver argued for public hearing, saying: "How anyone can object to this is beyond my understanding." He remarked that he long has fought against star chamber proceedings in government employ loyalty cases and other types of hearings.

Javits conceded good intentions to Kefauver, but he maintained that the public arrangement would nullify the bill's efforts to help Southern Negroes register and vote.

But Kefauver said that if opponents defeat his amendment, "there will be uprising and all kinds of indignation."

"Public business ought to be conducted in a public office and in a public meeting," he added.

Kefauver also said he has never demanded that country or state registrars testify at the federal referee hearings, or cross-examine applicants for registration. He just wants them to be permitted to appear and make a transcript of what goes on, he said.

Youths Given Suspended Sentences

Two youths were given one-year suspended sentences in Johnson County District Court Thursday for their part in vandalism Feb. 2 at the Pleasant Valley Township No. 3 School east of Hills.

Allen Scheetz, 18, 308 Court St. Pl. and James L. Olson, 19, Coraville, pleaded guilty to a charge of malicious injury of property at the school. Two other juveniles, one 17 and the other 15, that were involved in the vandalism were turned over to the juvenile authorities.

Judge James P. Gaffney ruled that Scheetz and Olson must pay $32.76 ($41.88 each) for restitution and paroled them to Johnson County Deputy Sheriff Don Wilson for the remainder of their sentence.

The restitution is to pay for 32 window panes broken and for scattering books around the school, smearing chalk and "emptying drawers at the school."

Judge Gaffney ordered that the youths not drink any intoxicating liquors, including beer and wine; stay out of taverns; and not drive cars until they have drivers licenses and then only with the approval of their parole officer.

Scheetz and Olson will have to remain in jail until jobs are found for them by their parole officer.

Judge Gaffney gave the youths credit on their sentence for the time they spent in jail since their arrest Feb. 2.

Hillcrest Elects Hillman President

Hillcrest dormitory has elected Ralph Hillman, A2, Essex, president for 1960.

Also elected to the Hillcrest General Council were Allan Goode, A1, Bloomfield; Marv Grace, A3, Greene; Bob Dockendorff, A4, Danville; Tom Drummond, A2, Washington, D.C.; Bill Untiedt, A1, Lake Park; Allen Cherveney, B3, Clutier; Joe White, A1, Spencer; Ronald Andersen, A1, Dike; William Rinderknecht, E1, Cedar Rapids; Gary Smith, A2, Reinbeck; Lee Theisen, A1, Sioux City; Merle Williams, A2, Cedar Rapids; Byron Shultz, A1, Tipton; George Harrell, A4, Beloit, Wis.; Ken Park, E1, Cedar Rapids; and Dave Gee, A2, Independence.

Accused Bode Woman Asks Psychiatric Help

A request for commitment to the SUI Psychopathic Hospital for examination and treatment was granted in Johnson County District Court to a woman accused of writing $700 in bad checks.

Judge James P. Gaffney granted Charlene Olson, 31, Bode the commitment at her own request. Judge Gaffney also granted a continuance of court action pending the report of the examination.

Mrs. Olson was charged with writing bogus checks all the way from Iowa City to New Orleans, La. Authorities also charged her with writing a $25 bogus check in Iowa City March 2.

Prof Elected To Alliance Of Composers

Philip Bezanon, associate professor of music, has been elected to membership in the American Composers Alliance.

An organization of professional composers, the Composers Alliance is designed to further the interest and protect the rights of works of serious music by American composers. The group also controls the performances and publication rights of composition by its members.

To become a member of the organization, a composer must have had some of his work performed by musicians of recognized reputation and must be sponsored by a recognized composer who is a member of the Alliance.

Wallington Riegger sponsored Bezanon's membership. A distinguished American composer, Riegger visited the SUI campus last spring as a panelist and guest speaker for the Midwest Student Composers' Symposium. During the symposium a premiere performance of one of Riegger's compositions was played by the SUI Symphony Orchestra. The composition, "Quintuple Jazz, Op. 72," was commissioned by the SUI Old Gold Development Fund and the SUI music department.

Two of Bezanon's works, "Sextet for Woodwinds and Piano" and "Second Sonata for Violin and Piano," were recently performed in New York City at the Composers' Forum Concert Series.

Bezanon is well known not only for his compositions for small groups but also for his orchestral works. He has also provided musical settings for many poems by Paul Engle, professor of English and director of SUI's Writers Workshop, and the two professors have combined their talents on a requiem for chorus and orchestra, a cantata and an opera.

DeVonna Hyde, Willa Starkey To Give Recitals

Two piano recitals have been scheduled by the Music Department for Sunday, in North Music Hall.

DeVonna Hyde, G. Anamosa, will play at 2 p.m. Her program includes "Italian Concerto," by Bach; Sonata, Opus 56, F Minor, Appassionata, by Beethoven; and Carnival Jest from Vienna, Opus 26, by Schumann.

Performing at 4 p.m. will be Willa Starkey, A3, Portland, Ore., whose recital was postponed from last week. Included on her program are Partita No. 5 in G Major, by Bach; "Intermezzo," by Brahms; and Variations on a Theme by Paganini, Opus 43, by Rachmaninoff.

Accused Bode Woman Asks Psychiatric Help

A request for commitment to the SUI Psychopathic Hospital for examination and treatment was granted in Johnson County District Court to a woman accused of writing $700 in bad checks.

Judge James P. Gaffney granted Charlene Olson, 31, Bode the commitment at her own request. Judge Gaffney also granted a continuance of court action pending the report of the examination.

Mrs. Olson was charged with writing bogus checks all the way from Iowa City to New Orleans, La. Authorities also charged her with writing a $25 bogus check in Iowa City March 2.

The 1 out of 20 that didn't get smoked

There's a lot of satisfaction in pointing out something good to a friend. That's why it often happens that one cigarette out of a pack of Dual Filter Tareytons never does get smoked.

People break it open to demonstrate its unique Dual Filter containing Activated Charcoal. They may not know why it works so well, but they do know this: It delivers far more than high filtration... it brings out the best taste of the best tobaccos—as no single filter can!

Try a pack of Tareytons. We believe the extra pleasure they bring will soon have you passing the good word to your friends.

HERE'S HOW THE DUAL FILTER DOES IT:

1. It combines a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL... definitely proved to make the smoke of a cigarette mild and smooth...
2. with an efficient pure white outer filter. Together they bring you the real thing in mildness and fine tobacco taste!

Hawkeye Fencers Competing In NCAA Meet This Weekend

By Staff Writer

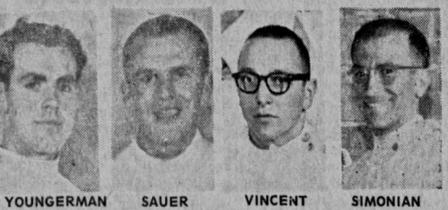

Three Hawkeye fencers, Ralph Sauer, John Youngerman and Tom Vincent, will be competing in the NCAA Fencing Championships today and Saturday at Champaign, Ill.

Coach Chuck Simonian is hopeful that his squad can improve on last year's 19th place finish in the NCAA just as it has improved on both last year's dual and Big Ten records. The Hawkeyes had a 6-5 dual record and a second place finish in the Big Ten meet this year while last season they were 4-7 in duals and had a 4th place finish in the Big Ten.

Two Big Ten champions, Sauer in sabre and Youngerman in epee, give Simonian some basis for anticipating one of Iowa's better finishes in NCAA competition.

Sauer posted a 26-7 record in dual meets this season and won seven of nine bouts as he took the Big Ten title. Sauer is the lone Hawkeye representative with previous NCAA experience, having finished 12th in sabre last year.

Youngerman, like Sauer a junior, has a 22-10 record in dual competition and also won seven of nine bouts in the Big Ten meet.

Vincent, a senior, had a 24-12 mark against dual meet foes and won four of nine bouts as he finished fifth in the Big Ten foil division.

Thirty teams and 77 individuals are entered in the 16th annual meet.

New York University, winner of the Eastern Intercollegiate meet, is favored for a team title. The Violets boast the 1959 rumberups in foil and sabre competition.

Big Ten champion Illinois is given an outside chance at the title, long dominated by Eastern schools. Abbey Silverstone, conference foil champion, has placed third and fourth in previous NCAA meets.

Each fencer will meet all other fencers in his weapon and places will be awarded on the basis of won-lost records. Simonian says that the large number of bouts tends to eliminate the likelihood of upsets in the NCAA meet.

"Everything evens out in the long run and the really good fencers usually wind up at the top of the standings," he said.

Of the three events the epee is expected to be the most wide open as the top six finishers of 1959 have all graduated.

Sabre and foil competition are expected to be considerably tougher as several of last year's top performers return.

Team scoring will be based on the total number of wins collected by each 3-man team.

Bucks, Oilers Lose Opening Olympic Trials

DENVER (AP) — Incomparable Oscar Robertson steered the All-American laden NCAA University All-Stars to a 96-79 victory over Bartlesville (Okla.) AAU veterans and the NAIA All-Stars stumped NCAA champion Ohio State 76-69 in the first round of the U.S. Olympic.

Akron's tall AAU veterans defeated the Armed Forces All-Stars 82-76 in the opening game.

Lucas hit six baskets in the first half in stirring Ohio State to a 42-39 lead at the halfway point.

But the stars from the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics choked him off with a free throw in the second half while Jackie Moreland, the 6-foot-8 Louisiana Tech ace, snared 12 points for the NAIA team.

Moreland hit three straight hooks immediately after the half to push the winners ahead 45-43 and Ohio State never caught up. The Bucks lagged by 67-56 with 5½ minutes left.

Akron never trailed after the first 14 minutes, but needed a last half spurt on the shooting of George Swyers and Dick Boushka to turn back the smaller Armed Forces outfit.

Akron built a 37-25 lead in the first half on three baskets by Boushka and three more by 7-foot-3 Wade Halbrook, but the service stars closed the gap to 40-38 at halftime.

In the second half, Swyers, Boushka and Stan Kernan fired the AAU club to a 65-52 lead in a two-minute stretch during which the losers couldn't penetrate the Akron defense.

That surge put the game out of reach.

Stuhldreher: Big 10 Erred In Quitting Rose Bowl Game

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — The Big Ten made a big mistake in pulling out of the Rose Bowl football game, says one of Notre Dame's famous Four Horsemen.

"It just isn't right to take bowl games away from the boys and people," said Harry Stuhldreher in an interview here Thursday. "I think players should be polled regarding post-season and bowl football games."

Stuhldreher, here for a football clinic, said one of his most pleasant memories is his experience in the only bowl game in which Notre Dame ever played.

"It was the Rose Bowl game Jan. 1, 1925," the former Irish quarterback recalled. "The game brought together Stanford, the power team, and Notre Dame, the speed team.

"We were unbeaten and it was a great challenge to face Pop Warner's fine Stanford team with Ernie Nevers, one of the greatest fullbacks who ever played.

"I recall we won 27-10 but that is beside the point. That one game still lives with all the men who played in it."

Now an executive for a steel company and a widely-sought public speaker, Stuhldreher said his interest in post-season football was only what it meant to the fans and players themselves.

"All of us who played under Knute Rockne learned many things," he said. "These things made us better men. Rock was ahead of his time. He never called us boys. He called us men. People called it Rock's psychology. Actually he was a great salesman."

On Sunday, Stuhldreher will join his three backfield teammates — Jim Crowley, Elmer Layden and Don Miller—and other members of the famous Notre Dame team for the annual Communion breakfast in "Cleveland 'in'" memory of Rockne.

Rockne was killed in a plane crash March 31, 1931.

Montreal Gains Final Round Spot In Stanley Cup

CHICAGO (AP) — Montreal's Canadiens, seeking an unprecedented fifth straight Stanley Cup championship, won the semifinal round in four straight games with a 2-0 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks Thursday night.

So dominating were the world champions that the Hawks never held a lead in the best-of-seven series. Second-period goals by Claude Provost and Dickie Moore doomed Black Hawk hope before a Chicago Stadium crowd of 13,719.

The Canadiens will get a rest before entering the finals because the Toronto-Detroit series is tied 2-2 and will not resume until Saturday night.

Lucci Takes Lead In ABC All-Events

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Vince Lucci of Trenton, N.J., moved into first place in the all-events division of the 57th American Bowling Congress Tournament Thursday with a nine-game total of 1,985.

The 47-year-old bowling equipment salesman contributed a 643 series as the Fairlans team, Fairless Hills, Pa., took eighth place in the team event Wednesday night. He came back with 697 in the doubles and 645 in the singles Thursday.

The only other minor events standing change came as John Germann and Larry Cassner of Albany, N.Y., combined for 1,275 and tenth in doubles.

40-Year-Old Rookie Trying To Break in with Pirates

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — When he was a kid, Diomedes Antonio (Tony) Olivo had to shut the barn door on his papa's cows before he'd lope into town and play baseball. Now he's a 40-year-old rookie with the Pittsburgh Pirates, who hope he can shut the door on the other guys as a relief pitcher.

Olivo is lean, but solid at 6-foot-1 and 195 pounds and what English he has is on the ball — fast ball, curve and slider. He looks no more than 30 and has a brother (Chichi) that age pitching in the Milwaukee farm system.

He didn't start playing for money until he was 27. He got a tumble from the Chicago White Sox a year later. In 1955 he was with Havana of the International League for a few weeks, then was sold to the Mexico City Reds. A year ago, Cleveland had an option on him, but let it lapse.

Some of the Pirates who played winter ball got the brass interested in "an old left-hander who can throw like the devil." So the Bucs made a condition purchase.

With Ramon Mejias doing the interpreting, Olivo confessed to 40 years and no more. "I start when I am boy of five or 10 with pickup teams at home in Dominican Republic at Guayubin.

"My papa have a ranch. When I put the cows away, I got into town to play."

Harper Tells Experience With SUI Lecture Series

By DOROTHY COLLIN
Assistant City Editor

During the 20 years in which he was head of the University Lecture Series, Earl Harper, director of the Union and head of the School of Fine Arts, "rubbed elbows" with many world-famous people.

Acting in his capacity as host for the speakers who came to SUI under the sponsorship of the series, Harper met U.S. Senators, novelists, Supreme Court Justices, poets, Olympic Champions, and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

"They were wonderful," he said. "Those in whose presence I felt the most humble, those with the greatest names, they were the nicest."

Pearl Buck 'Lovely'

He described Pearl Buck, Nobel Prize winning author, as very attractive, lovely, and gracious. She held a special meeting about the care of handicapped children, a subject of special concern to her because of family experiences.

Senator Paul Douglas, (D-Ill.) was a great experience," Harper said. "I group Douglas and Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) together. They were both gracious, delightful people, completely honest and earnest about what they said and did. They meant business every minute of the time."

The appearances of Douglas and Humphrey together with Mrs. Roosevelt in a three year span prompted some members of the faculty to remark that Harper was stacking the deck in favor of the Democrats. "Not so," he said. "I am a Republican and believe me I have tried to get one here, but none of them are available."

Replies in Column

He said Mrs. Roosevelt was a "joy." She met with groups, attended teas and luncheons with great poise, and gave a lecture filled with a tremendous sense of energy. Even after a party that night, she was still fresh and ready to go. Harper called her one of the most wonderful women he had ever met. She later mentioned in her syndicated column her appre-sister of Indian Prime Minister Nehru, "a great evening on campus." She was very gracious and lovely, but inflexible, determined, and possessed with a sharp wit. Everything and everyone she dealt with she held firmly in hand. She was marked by a powerful personality, Harper said.

Madame Pandit had a transportation problem which Harper solved for her. As she said goodbye at the airport, she looked him in the eye and said "I love you."

Followed Shambaugh

Harper, who succeeded Benjamin Shambaugh as head of the Lecture Series in 1940, recently turned the chairmanship over to Orville Hitchcock, professor of speech.

Recalling some of his experiences during the last 20 years, Harper said, "Right at the first I had a rebellion on my hands. In the past Shambaugh had always roped off a reserved section for the committee and for special guests that he had invited. I also started doing this, but the professors protested violently, complaining that they felt like second class citizens. They called a big open meeting and aired their protests, finally requesting that the practice be discontinued. It was."

The general plan of the series has always been to have principle all-University Lectures each year, Harper said. It is also a policy to try to have one outstanding woman such as Madame Pandit each year and to have one lecture devoted to high-grade entertainment.

"Along this line there have been Joyce Grenell, British comedienne, Cornelia Otis Skinner, and many others. No one will forget the pleasant evening of relaxation that Meredith Willson and his wife brought to SUI last year," he said.

Fees Change

There has been quite a change in speakers' fees through the years, Harper said. In 1940 Robert Frost was paid $250; in 1959 he received $1,000. In 1940 the highest fee was $400-$500. Today someone like Madame Pandit commands a fee of $1,500. The highest anyone has gotten is the $2,000 Anna Russell, international satirist, received. In 20 years the average has jumped from $250 to $1,000.

Harper explained that lecturers are obtained through agencies since all the really successful ones are handled by agents. One notable exception who appeared at SUI was Dr. Ralph Bunche, whom Harper worked on for three years before he agreed to appear.

"I have tried to get Walter Lippman, Edward R. Murrow, Henry Cabot Lodge, Lowell Thomas, and the physicist Robert Oppenheimer to come to SUI, but to no avail, so far," Harper said. "The problem is that if men such as these decided to give lectures, they would have to sign an agency contract since they are so busy they could never handle all the business details. All the money involved in the lectures goes between the Series and the agencies."

Harper said there have been many times when he feared the speaker would never get here. "Sometimes planes didn't fly, and if they did, they came to Cedar Rapids or Davenport instead of Iowa City. When this happened I had to meet them anyway, many times driving over ice-covered or fog-shrouded roads.

Looking back over his tenure as chairman Harper said, "I will always be grateful for the great privilege and opportunity of handling the Lecture Course. At times it has been a chore, an unpleasant thing, but above all I have had the pleasure of intimate associations with some of the most noted and greatest people of my day."

25 Firms Bid For Chemistry Addition Work

Twenty-five firms entered bids Thursday on four phases of construction of an addition to the SUI Chemistry Building.

Awarding of contracts for the work on the addition will await final approval of the State Board of Regents and the state budget and financial control committee, according to George L. Horner, SUI superintendent of planning and construction.

A low base bid of $417,777 for general construction was entered by Viggo M. Jensen Construction of Iowa City. Next lowest bids for general construction included Ringland-Johnson Construction, Clinton, $425,670, and Paulson Construction, Cedar Rapids, $453,700.

A low base bid of $130,900 for plumbing and heating construction was submitted by Ryan Plumbing and Heating, Davenport. The next lowest bid for plumbing and heating work was $133,400 by the Conditioned Air Corporation of Des Moines.

A low base bid of $35,222 for electrical construction was entered by Acme Electric of Cedar Rapids. Other bids were submitted by Peterson Electric, Cedar Rapids, $39,800, and Fandel Electric, Cedar Rapids, $43,736.

Otis Elevator of St. Louis, Mo., entered a low base bid of $23,710 for the construction of an elevator. Next lowest elevator bids were Kimball Brothers, Council Bluffs, $24,577, and Montgomery Elevator, Moline, Ill., $27,430.

The five-story addition will be built on the north end of the west wing of the present Chemistry Building. It will include one classroom, eight student laboratories, and several faculty laboratories and offices.

Mitchel Squadron Dinner Dance To Be at Ranch

Bridal Boom

According to the Bureau of Census and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the report on the burgeoning mass bridal market shows that:

33.7 per cent of all 18 and 19-year-old girls are already married.

Half of all women marrying for the first time marry before the age of 20.2.

Over half a million teen-age girls marry each year.

More girls marry at eighteen than at any other age.

According to the report, in 1959, 20.2 was the median age for first marriages for women. Further statistics (from 25 representative states which report marriage data by age) indicate that in 47.5 per cent of all first marriages the bride is 19 or younger. In 37.3 per cent of all first marriages the bride is between 20 and 24 and in 15 per cent she is 25 years and up. In relation to the total marriage picture 37.3 per cent of all brides are young women under twenty.

Unaffected by French Test Plan—

Reds Welcome Latest Ike, Macmillan Nuclear Proposal

GENEVA (HTNS) — The Soviet Union Thursday accorded a swift welcome to the latest move by President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan to speed an agreement among the world's major atomic powers to halt the testing of nuclear weapons.

K. Tsarapkin, the Russian representative at the 191st session of the test-ban talks at Geneva's Palace of Nations.

He called it an "encouraging" step by the United States and Britain. However, he immediately indicated that he would have a series of questions to ask the American and British delegates in the near future.

Despite the remaining hurdles, the general belief in conference quarters Thursday was that only the emergence of major unforeseen difficulties would prevent the successful conclusion of the negotiations sometime this year.

The result of these high expectations is that the world may already have witnessed the end of nuclear bomb-testing by the three governments involved in these talks.

As things now stand, none of the three nations appear likely to risk enraging each other and alienating world opinion by resuming tests in the interval remaining before the proposed tripartite agreement is signed.

A similar calculation explains the continued progress at the Geneva talks despite Gen. De Gaulle's insistence on continuing nuclear explosions independently.

Both Western and Soviet quarters believe that France, if it persists in this direction, will face overwhelming condemnation by international opinion which will be politically unfeasible to ignore.

The Eisenhower-Macmillan plan, officially submitted to the Soviets Thursday by James J. Wadsworth of the United States and Sir Michael Wright of Great Britain, calls for a voluntary moratorium on small nuclear explosions simultaneous with a formal treaty banning all large nuclear blasts.

Until the Eisenhower-Macmillan decision this week, the United States was prepared to sign only a treaty prohibiting the larger tests which can be adequately monitored with existing scientific equipment, Washington wanted to completely exclude the smaller underground tests from the ban on the grounds that present monitoring equipment is not sufficiently capable of detecting them and that any agreement to prohibit would thus be inadequately controlled.

6 Youths Arrested After Car Torn Up

County authorities Thursday took into custody six youths ranging in age from 14 to 18 for questioning in connection with the almost complete dismantling of a car near North Liberty.

Deputy Sheriff Donald L. Wilson and David J. Cook are questioning the youths for vandalism of a 1951 Mercury belonging to Kenneth Alberts of North Liberty. No formal charges have been made against the youths yet, authorities said.

The car was vandalized about two weeks ago after the car was left abandoned along a road three or four miles from Liberty. Officials said the car was left after it became stalled in snow, but had been there only about a day when the vandalism occurred.

Authorities said three wheels were removed from the car, the top of the car was damaged by someone jumping on it, upholstery was torn out, the car's windows were broken, and several of the car's accessories were removed as well as its trim.

The deputies took the six youths into custody Wednesday in Cedar Rapids where police had been holding them for questioning in the theft of a cigar lighter from a service station.

Pending questioning of the six, authorities said a charge of malicious damage to a motor vehicle may be placed against the youths.

Political Ad Causes Stir

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Blazing denunciations from rival camps of a tiny but widely used newspaper ad blew the religious issue wide open Thursday in the Wisconsin Democratic presidential primary.

A high Wisconsin labor union official was involved, along with a former Democratic state chairman and a rather mysterious political committee.

The ad was published widely in weekly newspapers across the state. In effect it called upon Protestants to close ranks behind Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota on grounds that many Republican Roman Catholics will jump over to Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts in next Tuesday's primary.

Humphrey is a Protestant, Kennedy a Catholic. Supporters of each claimed their man had been hurt by the ad.

Humphrey broke up his tight campaign schedule in Milwaukee, called what aides described as an emergency news conference, and declared: "I want the record clear. Any and all literature, ads, statements, oral or written, from any source that raise the issue of religion, or the ugly fact of bigotry are not of my making. I repudiate them. I deplore them. And I denounce them."

Humphrey said he wasn't implying that Kennedy forces had any hand in placing the ad.

He said merely that: "There has been a concerted attempt on the part of some unidentifiable forces who obviously seek to do me no good, in fact to do me great harm, to inject the religious issue."

The Humphrey people were saying that the obvious intent is to stir up sentiment against Humphrey among Catholics who otherwise might vote for him, by making it appear that he is raising the religious issue in the campaign.

The chairman of the Wisconsin Kennedy-for-President Club, Mayor Ivan Nestling of Madison, got off a blast at the ad.

"I deeply deplore this malicious attack on Sen. Kennedy," he said. "We are entitled to an explanation of the source of funds for this ad."

It was a two-column, four-inch ad, placed with the Wisconsin Press Assn., which brought the primary campaign to a new peak of frenzy and bitterness. The association is an organization of weekly newspapers in the state.

Its manager, Carl Zielke, said in Madison that the ad was authorized by the Square Deal for Humphrey Committee, headed by Charles M. Schultz, and that a $1,400 check to pay for it was signed by Charles Greene.

Schultz is vice president of the Wisconsin AFL-CIO and director of its Political Education Committee. Greene is a former Democratic state chairman, ousted in

April 7 Deadline For Selective Service Forms

SUI students who wish to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test must file application cards by midnight April 7.

Scores made on the tests, which will be given April 28, are used by local selective service boards as one guide in considering requests for deferment from military service to continue studies. This will be the only test offered this year.

Application cards and instructions are available at all local selective service boards. The April 28 test will be given at SUI and students who have filed applications to take the test will be notified where the testing site will be. The notification is the ticket of admission to the testing center.

ROTC Men Plan Tour Of Reservoir

The Coralville Reservoir Dam project will be toured by about 30 University of Wisconsin ROTC cadets Saturday morning.

John Story, manager of the dam, said that the cadets will be given a demonstration of equipment at the new Reservoir Administration Building. The electronic equipment that telemeters the water stages of five Iowa rivers to the Coralville office will be shown in operation, he said.

The cadets will also tour the dam control structure, which, according to Story, is now storing water at the 682 feet level. Water at about a rate of 31,200 cubic feet per second is entering the reservoir, and 1,000 cubic feet per second is being discharged through the dam.

At the present time, about 6 billion gallons of water is being stored in the reservoir every hour.

The water level of the reservoir can reach the 712 feet level before it will flow over the spillway. According to studies made, Story said, the chances are only once in 50 years that the water will go over the spillway.

Story said that a group of ROTC cadets from Iowa State University will tour the dam on April 9, and another group on April 16.

The University of Wisconsin cadets and their commanding officer, Col. James O. Baker, will have lunch at the Memorial Union, Saturday afternoon, before returning to Madison, Wis.

The ROTC cadets' trip to the Coralville Dam Reservoir is part of a tour which includes visits to the Rock Island Arsenal and three U. S. Army Corps of Engineer projects in Muscatine.

Miss Iowa City Finals May 14

By Staff Writer

A young woman from Iowa City who will be Miss America this year, Miss Iowa City, sponsored by the local Jaycees, will be an entry in the Miss Iowa Pageant at Clear Lake. If the Iowa City Queen wins the state pageant, she will be the Iowa entry in the Miss America Contest.

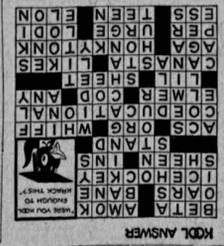

The Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce held a coffee in the Jefferson Hotel Thursday night for more than forty girls interested in entering the preliminaries of the Miss Iowa City Contest which will be held on April 29. Twelve to 15 finalists will be judged using the same criteria by which Miss America is chosen. Miss Iowa City will not be selected wholly on the basis of beauty, but also on poise, intelligence, naturalness, and conversational ability.

The contestants will be judged on their appearance in a formal gown, in a bathing suit, on talent, and on their answers to questions on general topics.

"With all the lovely young women in Iowa City and at the University, the Jaycees feel that Miss Iowa should be from Iowa City," said Malcolm.

New Earth Satellite Called Tiros No. 1 in Series

By EARL UBELL
Herald Tribune News Service

NEW YORK — Weather forecasting by Earth satellite is on its way: The United States, scoring a notable first, launched an electronic eye into orbit at 6:40 a.m. Friday. Already it has snapped a TV-like picture of a Midwest storm.

This is only the beginning. Tiros, a 270-pound, $12 million oversized "hatbox," presages a family of man-made moons called Nimbus which, starting next year, will keep continuous watch on world-wide weather.

Now in a tight circular orbit at 450 miles altitude, Tiros can take photographs of two-thirds of the Earth's surface, but only when its camera is pointing earthward on a sunlit region. Although Tiros passes over Russia and China, its camera is too fuzzy for military reconnaissance.

Although Tiros will stay in orbit for two decades and its solar powered electronic equipment may last for years, its weather usefulness may extend only three months. That's because there is no way of pointing the camera at a selected spot on Earth.

As the satellite goes around its orbit, the eyes point in one direction in space. In three months that eye will be pointing out into space most of the time or at a dark Earth. In six months to nine months, the satellite may be "good" again.

Nimbus will be better. A small jet engine aboard will constantly correct the orientation and keep the camera pointed directly at the Earth. Furthermore, launched in a pole-to-pole orbit, Nimbus will "see" the whole planet.

Tiros, launched by a Thor-Able rocket from Cape Canaveral, flies in a 99.15 minute orbit which reaches latitude 50 degrees south. Varying between 435 miles altitude and 468 miles, the orbit is the closest to a circle ever achieved by any man-made moon.

Tiros gets its name from an abbreviation of television and infra-red observation satellite (Nimbus is the name of a cloud). Tiros II, scheduled for later this year, will have an infra-red device not included in Tiros I for measuring temperatures on the Earth's surface.

Together, the cloud pictures and temperatures, should give weathermen the most complete picture ever obtained of world weather. Dr. Harry Wexler, the U.S. Weather Bureau's chief meteorologist, said after seeing the pictures that Tiros had proved that a space weather observatory is feasible.

No scientist would predict the ultimate value of Nimbus, although some believe that it may revolutionize weather prediction and control. For example:

Scientists have never really observed the birth of a hurricane. A weather satellite could watch its development from an innocuous-looking Caribbean storm. With the knowledge, weathermen may learn how to break up a baby hurricane before it grows to adulthood.

The first pictures transmitted to Fort Monmouth, N.J., covered an area of 640,000 square miles and centered on seven islands near the mouth of the St. Lawrence. They also showed the cloud cover over the area with land masses and water providing a black background.

Actually, the wide angle camera can take a strip of 32 still pictures 800 miles wide and 3,500 miles long. That's enough to get the weather picture of half the United States in one orbital pass. A narrow angle camera can concentrate on a small area within the wide angle camera's view.

The image caught by the lens is stored electronically on a vidicon tube screen. Next, the stored picture is converted to electric pulses that can be recorded on a magnetic tape. At a radio command from Fort Monmouth, or Kaena Point, Hawaii, the tape "plays" the picture over the radio.

On the ground the radio signals are converted to television pictures which can then be photographed on film. The scientists also put devices for sensing the sun and the horizon aboard Tiros. This can tell them which way the camera pointed when it took the picture.
