Cross on Reich Lawn

A four-foot wooden cross wrapped in cloth and soaked in kerosene was found on the lawn at the home of Miss Helen Reich Thursday night. Iowa City police were called and removed the cross. Miss Reich, University of Iowa assistant director of student affairs, said no one saw who planted the cross and she does not know why it was placed there.—Daily Iowan Photo by Tom Hoffer.

Warning Issued In Cross Burning

By GARY HICKOK
Staff Writer

The burning of a large cross on the lawn of Helen Reich, assistant director of the Office of Student Affairs, brought a warning Friday from Dean of Students Marion L. Huit that if students were involved, they would immediately be dismissed from school when caught. The burning cross incident occurred about 11:55 p.m. Thursday at Miss Reich's home at 324 Woolf Ave., leaving her and police officials in a quandary as to why it happened. "It's incomprehensible," said Miss Reich, who was aroused from bed by loud pounding on her front door and by her mother who first saw the cross burning on the front lawn.

Jetliner Hits Mud To Get Stopped In Rainy Landing

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A Trans World Airlines 707 jet with 109 persons aboard went off the runway at Kansas City's Municipal Airport Friday night while landing in the rain.

The big plane was mired in mud, but no one was injured. It touched down at 6:23 p.m.

Capt. Eugene E. Gerow, the pilot, told newsmen he deliberately took the plane off the wet and muddy runway to avoid possible trouble.

A TWA spokesman said the plane, Flight 82 from Los Angeles, was not harmed. It skidded through the mud about 175 feet.

Student Calls Lee Suicides Guilt Apology

Korean Grad Student Thinks Election Fraud Was Fault of Lee

By JANET STAIHAR
Staff Writer

The suicide pact of Lee Ki-poong's family was an apology to Syngman Rhee and all South Koreans, Kwi Kyun Kim, G. Seoul, South Korea, has told the Daily Iowan.

Miss Kim studied English at Ewha Womens' University in South Korea under the direction of Lee Ki-poong's wife, Maria Park Lee, vice-president of the college. Mrs. Lee died along with her husband and two sons.

Miss Kim said she believes that the fraudulent elections in South Korea were under Lee Ki-poong's supervision and not Rhee's. She said: "The suicide admits he is guilty and it is an apology." The Oriental philosophy, she explained, dictates that suicide is the best way to seek forgiveness.

But Miss Kim said she thought that Lee Ki-poong did not have the right to involve Lee Kang-suk, one of his sons, in the death pact since Rhee had adopted him. Rhee has no sons of his own and adopted the boy to continue his line. Lee Kang-suk, 22, wielded the death weapon, a gun. Tradition usually requires poison.

Lee Ki-poong's character, Miss Kim said, was very gentle. "He was not like a politician but more like a school teacher," she continued.

Lee Ki-poong graduated from the now defunct Tabor College in Tabor, Iowa.

Speaking of Lee Ki-poong's political life, Miss Kim said, "He was very devoted to President Rhee but was not very popular with the people."

Miss Kim clarified this by saying: "I think the public did not have much chance to know what kind of person he was. He was very devoted to his country and very sincere, but because of illness he could not meet the people to get his ideas across to them." Lee Ki-poong suffered a nervous disorder which caused him to speak hesitantly and which stiffened his legs. He always walked with a cane.

She said that because of his illness, Lee Ki-poong seldom attended the National Assembly. "But," Miss Kim said, "his power could not be denied." She said that Rhee was greatly influenced by Ki-poong and that he was considered one of the most powerful "behind-the-curtain" political men in South Korea.

In front of the "curtain," Lee Ki-poong was the chief secretary for Rhee, mayor of Seoul, minister of defense, chairman of the National Assembly, and vice-president-elect of South Korea.

Concerning the alleged fraudulent elections, Miss Kim said she thinks that Rhee did not know about the rigged proceedings. If he did, she continued, he would not have allowed them.

In the past, Miss Kim said, Rhee's officials have kept him from knowing the people's feelings about administrative policies. Now, however, he recognizes how the people feel, she said, so he has submitted his resignation. However, she said she believes that Rhee still has a great deal of popularity left with the people.

Miss Kim said that South Korea is ready for new men and new democratic ideas. But she said, "It is very hard to break the traditional ideas so we cannot adopt the western-style democracy just as it is. We have to have our own kind of democracy, in which there is a harmonizing of the Korean traditions and of a democracy."

Report Released On Group's Study Of Discrimination

The Governor's Commission on Human Relations this week released a report of its study of discriminatory practices at SUI.

Robert G. Turnbull, associate professor and chairman of the SUI Philosophy Department, a member of the commission, acted as a "fact-finder" in the investigation. The commission's findings on the basis of Turnbull's report, were:

That there are no indications of discrimination by race or creed in SUI dormitories.

That the University's official policy denies University approval to off-campus housing where discrimination is practiced.

That University policy on fraternities with discriminatory clauses in their charters is under study by the Committee on Student Life.

The three organizations requesting the investigation were the Young Democrats, Student Christian Council and the Iowa City Council on Race Relations.

Armed Invaders Seek Overthrow in Paraguay

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—Armed invaders seeking to overthrow president Gen. Alfredo Stroessner landed in southeastern Paraguay Friday, the Interior Ministry announced. The invaders apparently are Paraguayan political exiles.

A communique said one landing force reported to number about 500 men, was turned back when it attacked the town of Puerto Carlos Antonio Lopez on the Parana River.

Gas, Electric Rate Increase Asked for IC

The Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. has asked for a 29 per cent increase in the electric rates and a 12 per cent increase in the gas rates here.

The increases would total about $413,000 annually on electricity income and about $163,000 on gas in the Iowa City district which includes University Heights and Coralville.

The request made by James E. Stewart, district manager of the company, to the mayors and councils of the three municipalities involved, asserted that the company needs the increases to provide a six per cent return of the "fair value" of its property here.

Iowa City Mayor Ray Thornberry said local councilmen have not seen the figures cited by the company in their latest request, but he said the request came "as a bit of a surprise" because the company now has a request for a six per cent hike in the gas rates pending in the council.

Thornberry said the council probably will take up the rate increase request at its regular meeting, May 17.

Clark Says 'No Payola; Just Can Pick the Hits'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dick Clark told congressional payola investigators Friday he favored some songs over others purely because he had a knack for detecting hits.

Clark, the record-spinning raver of the younger generation, swore the prospect of enriching himself by plugging tunes in which he had a stake had nothing to do with the fare he serves on his television shows. The suave, 30-year-old disc jockey, who prefers to call himself an entertainer, conceded that in one instance he agreed to share in the profits of a record titled "Butterfly" and finally accepted $7,000.

Clark testified before a House subcommittee which gave him a decidedly less enthusiastic reception than the teen-agers who later begged for his autograph.

The subcommittee headed by Rep. Oren E. Harris (D-Ark.), has been searching for intrigue and improper inducements—such as under-the-table payoffs—in the play of music on the air.

Clark, breaking silence after his name had been banded about for months in the hazy-burly over-hank-y-panky in the broadcasting business, confirmed well publicized reports that he and his wife Barbara had accepted a fur stole, a ring, and a necklace from a record manufacturer.

He said that under the circumstances—it was about the time of his birthday in 1958—he reluctantly accepted the jewelry valued at $3,400 from Lop Bedell, who makes Era and Dore records.

He said he pressed on Bedell a check for $300 when Bedell gave Mrs. Clark the stole only a week after she had bought one for herself.

"We were both embarrassed," Clark said.

He later learned, Clark said, that the stole cost Bedell $1,000 and was charged off as a promotion expense.

Clark testified he never had accepted a thing from anyone with the understanding that he would favor the benefactor's music on his afternoon American Bandstand or his Saturday night Dick Clark Show. The gifts from Bedell were the only ones which he seemed to feel required any explanation.

After four hours on the stand, there were still so many questions unasked that the subcommittee ordered him to return for additional quizzing Monday morning.

The broadcast music field, Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) remarked, manifests "more brotherly love than any other on earth—people cannot restrain them—theyself from giving away their wealth."

458 at SUI Sign Request That Illinois Reinstate Koch

By Staff Writer

Four hundred fifty-eight SUI students and faculty have signed a petition requesting the reinstatement of Leo Koch, assistant professor of biology at the University of Illinois, who was suspended by the University on April 7 because of his March 18 letter to the Daily Illini expressing his views on premarital sex relations.

Boyd Critz, A2, Iowa City, reported that 11 petitions had circulated on the SUI campus. They began circulating on Wednesday of last week. He said the response was "fairly good" and that more signatures could have been acquired if those circulating them had had more time. Critz said that about 70% of those approached by him signed the petition.

Critz said the petitions were to be sent out on Friday evening to David Henry, president of the University of Illinois. The petitions were in the form of a letter to President Henry. The letters expressed disapproval of the Illinois action. They asked for Koch's reinstatement, and emphasized SUI opinion and sympathy for Koch.

The following paragraphs were taken from Koch's letter: "With modern contraceptives and medical advice readily available at the nearest drugstore, or at least a family physician, there is no valid reason why sexual intercourse should not be condoned among those sufficiently mature to engage in it without social consequences and without violating their own codes of morality and ethics.

"A mutually satisfactory sexual experience would eliminate the need for many hours of frustrating petting and lead to much happier and longer-lasting marriages among our younger men and women.

"We have a serious social malaise which is caused primarily by the hypocritical and downright inhumane moral standard engendered by a Christian code of ethics which was already decrepit in the days of Queen Victoria."

His letter drew fire from parents of students and he was relieved of his teaching duties because the university considered the letter could be interpreted as promoting immoral behavior.

Following Koch's dismissal, the university trustees granted Koch a hearing but set no date. The trustees said, "We should grant the Senate Committee on Academic Freedom a reasonable length of time to look into the case. We'll want to have their report." Henry estimated the decision would be reached within a month.

The Senate Committee on Academic Freedom considered Koch's appeal for reinstatement but reached no decision on a recommendation to be made to Henry.

The student Committee for Liberal Action then passed twin resolutions. One called for the board to investigate the possibility of sending a representative to the Board of Trustees to speak in Koch's behalf.

The second resolution authorized the Committee for Liberal Action to contact the administration and suggest they write letters to university students' parents "criticizing" the Rev. Ira Latimer for his pamphlet denouncing Koch.

The University Student Senate condemned Latimer's letter which had been circulated to the parents of women students. Latimer's letter lambasted Koch's letter to the Daily Illini and compared his methods to those used by the Communist Party.

Last week the Daily Illini said it had received 89 letters regarding Koch. Sixty-five were against the university's action and 23 were in favor of his dismissal.

Demonstrate Against Menderes; 100 Injured

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Student demonstrations erupted in three Turkish cities Friday against Premier Adnan Menderes and bloodshed resulted in clashes with police.

The government reacted quickly by extending martial law in Istanbul and Ankara for three months.

The most violent clash was in the capital, Ankara, where about 100 students were injured and unconfirmed reports said four students and a policeman were killed. Students and police clashed there in a melee of clubs and tear gas.

Demonstrations were more orderly in Istanbul, Turkey's largest city, and at Izmir, site of a big North Atlantic Treaty Organization base in western Turkey.

Army tanks, mounted troops and infantry surrounded the walls of Istanbul University, where 2,000 students started a sitdown strike. As darkness fell, the students sent up chants of "liberty" and "Menderes resign."

They said they would stay on the campus until the 61-year-old Premier quits and until 11 comrades are returned to them for martyrs' funerals. They also claim 40 of their number are missing.

Martial law was imposed in Istanbul and Ankara following Thursday's disorders, and the Turkish Parliament, controlled by Menderes' ruling Democrat party, moved quickly to extend it through May, June and July.

Military commanders in the two cities issued new orders banning all public assemblies, including sports events, during the period.

The military commanders also ordered all universities and colleges in Istanbul and Ankara closed until May 29. But the 2,000 students enrolled at Istanbul University ignored the orders and assembled in groups of two and three on the campus throughout the day.

The Interior Ministry said only one student was killed in the outbreak of trouble in Istanbul Thursday. There have been unconfirmed reports that more were killed.

Menderes, whose tough political tactics are under student attack, appealed by radio for Turks to inform on persons who he said, are spreading rumors. He called the two days of student demonstrations "prearranged movements detrimental to our nation."

So far, the movement appeared to be confined to university students and there was no indication of popular response to demands for ouster of Menderes.

The demonstrations in Istanbul and Ankara were in defense of martial law orders banning public gatherings.

The army took control of the cities after the first outbreak at the University of Istanbul Thursday where 10,000 students, inspired by the success of student rioters in toppling the authoritarian regime of Syngman Rhee in South Korea, rioted against Menderes. One student was killed in Istanbul, and there were reports of more deaths despite official denials.

The students gathered at Ankara to shout approval of the Istanbul students and demand an official accounting of the dead there.

They marched off the Ankara campus singing praises of ex-Premier Ismet Inonu, leader of Menderes' political opposition. Then 300 mounted police charged their ranks, swinging long riot sticks.

He said that the action taken was with the complete agreement of the chapter house. "We have been working with the fraternity for three or four years," Huit said, "and the action taken was in their best interest."

According to Huit, the period of inactivity would probably be for several years. He said that no definite time had been set, and that the fraternity would have to apply for re-activation.

Huit said that Theta Xi could not "operate as a recognized fraternity on campus," and that other problems connected with the inactivation of the fraternity still had to be worked out.

He said that the action taken was with the complete agreement of the chapter house. "We have been working with the fraternity for three or four years," Huit said, "and the action taken was in their best interest."

Van Allen Declares U.S. Space Program Superior

DUBUQUE (AP)—The space program of the United States was termed far superior to that of Russia Friday by Dr. James Van Allen, space scientist and head of the SUI physics department.

But Van Allen said at a news conference here, where he is to speak at the dedication of a new science building at the University of Dubuque, that in his opinion the United States "man-in-space program is being pushed too hard."

"I certainly have no objection to the progress being made in the man-in-space program," Van Allen said, "but I believe we should expend more time and effort collecting data from space."

He mentioned that Russia has hurled far greater payloads into space than America, but he added: "I believe we get more information from a 50-pound payload than the Russians do from one of 500 pounds."

The United States has made great strides since Russia first "blitzed us" in October 1957 by launching its Sputnik, Van Allen said.

But the last successful orbiting of a Russian satellite was on May 15, 1958, he added, and since then the United States has put up a dozen or more man-made "moons", all of which supply information on outer space.

Van Allen emphasized that he was not belittling Russian space achievements, which he said have been great.

He praised Russia's achievements in hitting the moon with a rocket.

Drastic Curricular Changes

By TERRY FERRER
Herald Tribune News Service

NEW YORK — The United States Military Academy at West Point this July will put into effect the most drastic curricular changes in its 158-year history. For the first time, cadets in the first class (senior year) will be allowed to "concentrate" — just a step away from majoring — in two fields: mathematics-science-engineering and social science-humanities. Also for the first time, West Point will give credit to plebes (freshmen) for courses taken at other accredited colleges and universities or offer them special examinations validating their credits in other institutions. Thirty per cent of entering cadets now have already had prior college training.

By opening up more academic time through acceleration for the bright student, through validation examinations, and through advanced placement examinations, the individual cadet will have a chance to add an entire year's work to his four years of study at the Point. In an article appearing Thursday in the spring issue of "Assembly," the West Point alumni magazine, Lt. General Garrison H. Davidson, superintendent at the Point, outlined why the more flexible curriculum was desirable. While pointing out that the "primary aim" of the Academy must still be to produce professional combat officers, the General said:

"The services require within their professional ranks a sufficient number of officers who can speak the language of the scientist. They are needed on the one hand to advise the scientist, in the scientist's own terms of the needs of the armed forces and on the other hand, to keep the armed forces abreast of the scientific developments of possible application to military problems. We also recognized the corresponding requirement for providing officers properly schooled in the social sciences, for military personnel are now expected to be knowledgeable in national and international affairs. Time for concentration in the first class will also be freed by moving some subjects further back, some into the plebe year. The plebe program will be able to absorb the extra academic work because "vocational" courses such as map reading and physical education will be moved into the summer session. About 40 to 45 hours of military instruction for plebes will be given in the summer. During the winter schedule, the time will be filled with expanded instruction in astronomy, a geography course normally in the third class (sophomore), additional work in chemistry, and a semester of nuclear physics.

Gen. Davidson gave specific examples of how the fields of concentration would work in the later cadet years. When a cadet has completed the prescribed courses before his first class year, he may take electives in his field of concentration or in other departments. In the mathematics-science-engineering concentration, with two years of validated credit behind him, he might choose in the second class year (junior) such electives as advanced calculus, space mechanics, electronics engineering, fluid dynamics, science materials, and great novels. In his first class year, he would choose three or four courses from a list of theoretical physics, physical chemistry, intermediate structures and nuclear engineering.

In the social-sciences-humanities, the cadet would take at a maximum in the second class year the electives of advanced language study, comparative economic systems, comparative governments, advanced history and great novels. In the first class, the cadet would choose three or four of these subjects: comparative military systems, national security problems, contemporary literature and human relations. Gen. Davidson stressed that the new program will not overload the student. The new program will "add only five semester hours to the total four-year curriculum," he said. While the total program will require three to four years to put into effect, the plebes entering this July will begin their first full four years of the more flexible curriculum. The future, Gen. Davidson said, "will require career officers educated to a much greater depth than at present in a variety of fields." The new program, he added, "will enable our graduates to meet the probable demands of the future as successfully as the members of the long gray line have met the challenges of the past."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR Korea in Transition Period

To the Editor:
The unprecedented and extraordinary Korean student uprising during the past two weeks has brought a deep concern to American students on the SU1 campus. We, as Korean students in Iowa City, would like to comment on Mr. Mullen's letter to the editor (April 28).

We acknowledge the comments concerning the recent political transition in South Korea, and we do appreciate your profound interest over the problem of the preservation of a true democracy in Korea.

We certainly confirm your statement that the student demonstration against the National Security Bill was not an act of emotion but one of full realization and knowledge of the meaning of the Bill. Likewise, the recent student uprising is not based on pure emotional motivation, but it is based both on the intellectual knowledge and the emotion found in the cherished desire for democracy.

Dr. Rhee's efforts to save the Korean Republic from the Japanese imperialist reign started early in the 1900's and his actions led him to exile for 30 years during which time his name became synonymous with a free and democratic Korea. He has been a true patriot and, right or wrong, has given his best to his country in its first difficult years. During the past 12 years of his office, Dr. Rhee dedicated his energy to building the newborn country under the two party system.

Less than two years after its establishment the infant republic had to face the sudden invasion of the North Korean communist forces. The contributions of both the U.S. and the U.N. were vital in the defense of South Korea from the communist aggression. We, the Korean people, have not forgotten thousands of American soldiers who lost their lives for the preservation of democracy in Korea. Still, Rhee was the only leader who could unite the Korean people during the crisis.

The causes of today's downfall of South Korean Liberal party government can be analyzed in two aspects. First, from the very beginning of the party government the Liberal party monopolized the political power and suppressed the opposition party with every conceivable means. Second, the presidential "kitchen cabinet" was surrounded by the immediate glory-seeking groups who were less politically experienced, and as a result the aged president, himself, was not informed correctly by his intimate advisors.

It is difficult to wipe out the powerful political bosses and their machines. The word boss, when used to designate a type of politician, is of American origin. It is applied to political leaders who are chiefly interested in politics and political power as a business and whose interest, if any, in issues of public policy is incidental. The boss is also essentially irresponsible and he takes the nature of a dictator. In the case of Frank Hague, he tapped his own chest and said "I decide, I do, me!" Ellihu Root early in 1915, in a famous passage in an address to the New York Constitutional Convention, denounced the boss system as "invisible government." Since the time of Aaron Burr, who is usually regarded as the first American boss, the bosses have come and gone, but the system has survived.

Likewise, under the Rhee regime, there was also a powerful national boss who passed away (or took his own life) when he could no longer control his machine and could no longer advise the President. His machine was completely broken down by the student riot.

The young South Korean Republic is still in a transitional period. No country has ever achieved a true democratic system within such a short period.

In the letter of Mr. Mullen, we find some irregularities in his statements. Of course, election frauds and excessive use of the police force for political purposes are all against democratic procedures. We resent the comment, however, that the undemocratic procedures committed by the Rhee government were permitted or condoned by the American diplomatic corps because Rhee was pro-American as Mr. Mullen was informed by Koreans during his stay in Seoul.

We firmly believe that the United States is the mother country of twentieth century democracy leading the free world, and the principles of her foreign policy, as President Eisenhower reassured the world, is non-intervention in the internal affairs of any foreign government.

American foreign aid to the underdeveloped countries has a two-fold aim, that is to say, the achievement of economic development and the fulfillment of America's political interest in an effort to save freedom and democracy against the encroachment of Communism. Korea, as a close ally of the United States and the pioneer of the development of democracy in the Far East, has shared a large portion of U.S. foreign aid. Recent announcements as to the intention of temporary suspension of U.S. economic aid to Korea are appalling. We believe that it would bring a grave danger to the post-war rehabilitation and reconstruction which are now being undertaken in Korea.

Reply to Charges Against Socialist Discussion Club

To the Editor:

Since the Socialist Discussion Club may soon have to defend itself against charges of having fomented the Hillcrest and Currier-Burke "revolutions" (to say nothing of mistaking the city council's "socialization" of the water works), let us clear the air of earlier charges leveled by Messrs. Tom Ayres and Gary Dunahugh in letters written to The Daily Iowan on April 19 and 20, respectively.

Mr. Ayres lamented the lack of "concrete" and "sane, level headed" defenses of the SDC, raised four questions of his own regarding the club, and concluded that "when these questions are answered and only then can the student body be expected to participate in campus politics on an intellectual basis rather than on an emotional one." Mr. Ayres asked these questions of the SDC: (1) "Why is it necessary to pretend that no one politically important on the campus is a member of your organization?" (2) "What are the objectives of your group?" (3) "Are we to assume that your group is interested in gaining a majority vote on Student Council?" (4) "If so what do you hope to accomplish if this is brought about?"

Mr. Ayres' questions are quite easily answered and any party interested in checking the validity of these answers is welcome to do so. We submit that: (1) It is not necessary to "pretend" that no campus political leader is a member of the SDC for the simple reason that no campus leader is a member! No member of the Student Council is or has been at any time a member of the SDC; (2) We refer any person interested in the SDC's "objectives" to the Club's constitution and welcome him to attend its next meeting. These meetings are open; the University Bulletin Board announces them beforehand; (3) Since the SDC is a "discussion" club, not an "action" group, it is not "interested in gaining a majority vote on Student Council." As the Club does not plan to capture the Student Council, it has not formulated plans which would make sense only if such a coup d'etat were planned. We feel that these answers measure up to the standards set by Mr. Ayres and hope that they will permit an "intellectual" rather than "emotional" discussion of major issues by the student body (if not by Mr. Ayres).

Mr. Dunahugh's letter raises interesting questions regarding his writer's attitudes toward higher education. Mr. Dunahugh wondered why graduate students aren't "more interested in academic problems instead of becoming so articulate as to their opinions of Student Council, CPC, IPC, ROTC, the University administration, picketing and the other organizations and methods which seem to be a morning ritual in our campus newspaper." He added, with pride, we suspect, that "most members of the student body are paying for an education and are not particularly interested in these campus problems which have blown completely out of proportion."

In the first place, Mr. Dunahugh underestimates the role of his fellow undergraduates in creating interest in major issues on campus. Undergraduates led the board-jobber protests at the Iowa Memorial Union and in the dormitories. Undergraduates saved the Iowa Defender from an early death and have been major contributors to its current success. It was an undergraduate member of the Student Council who originally raised the issue of campus discrimination. And undergraduates have participated in every major campus debate from that concerning ROTC to the picketing of the Iowa City branches of chain stores which practice discrimination in the South. Only the library coffee lounge dispute was monopolized by graduate students.

Secondly, and more important, Mr. Dunahugh reveals a woefully narrow view of the meaning of college when he dismisses "Student Council, CPC, IPC, ROTC, the University administration, land picketing" as not being "academic problems." Students express themselves on these issues precisely because they are "academic problems." Those who do not interest themselves in such issues are guilty of viewing college merely as a place from which one secures a degree after completing 126 credits at a 2.00 GPA or better. If, as Mr. Dunahugh contends, most students are not particularly interested in these campus problems, it is this passivity of the majority which is lamentable, not the activity of the minority who view higher education in broader terms.

Mr. Ayres and Mr. Dunahugh raised different questions in their letters. But there is a common thread which unites the two. Implicit in both communications is the idea that there is a conspiracy at SU1, and that a small group of "radicals" is disturbing an otherwise contented campus, itself part of a contented society, Messrs. Ayres and Dunahugh fail to grasp the nature of the criticisms which have been leveled at institutions and practices not only on this campus, but by significant numbers of interested college students across the nation. It is the obligation of those in college communities to critically examine and try to understand the serious problems which do face American society without thought-stifling reference to "conspiracy theories."

WEST SIDE STORY is The Musical this morning at 9 a.m. The leather jacket crowd set to music with realism where fantasy used to be in musical comedy.

AN EXTENDED CUE (suitable for a midget in a pool room) will last from 10 a.m. to 1:25 p.m. when, in the event of sun, baseball will be played. Guests on CUE include a Presidential candidate (Stuart Symington), a rocket-propelled colonel (John Stapp), an aerospace psychologist (and you don't meet one of those every day, unless you're an astronaut), the SUI Mother of Music appropriate to the baseball season has been selected; and, even if there is a postponement...

BECAUSE OF RAIN, Saturday Supplement may be heard today. If so, it will begin at 1:45 p.m.

CLEAR WEATHER, on the other hand, will mean a broadcast of the double-header baseball encounter between the Iowa Iads and their Michigan State equivalents in the gray flannel uniforms. Perhaps better weather will help the players to realize the errors of their ways; if they continue as they've been playing lately, it could be a comedy of some (our) apologies to Bill Shakespeare, the Elizabethan precursor of Casey Stengel).

Existentialism Combined

By Staff Writer
The attempt of a man to free his society, and himself, from an oppressive existence is the theme of Jean-Paul Sartre's play "The Flies," to be presented Thursday through Saturday at the SU1 Studio Theatre.

The play is a classical Greek legend with an existentialist message, for Sartre has based the drama on the story of Orestes.

Orestes has returned unrecognized to his homeland, the kingdom of Argos, and finds the land plagued with flies. The flies, symbols of guilt, have tormented the land since the murder of Orestes' father Agamemnon. The killers, who are the rulers of the kingdom, are Orestes' mother, Queen Clytemnestra, and his uncle, King Aegisthus.

In order to avoid the wrath of the citizens for killing Agamemnon, Orestes has invented the myth that all who admit their guilt will be pardoned by the gods. In the second act, Orestes comes to realize that man is free agent, capable of making his own destiny. He feels a duty to

Engineers Hear Maytag Manager

The SUI student chapter of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers had James F. Biggane, manager of the industrial engineering department at the Maytag Co. at Newton, as a speaker at their meeting Friday night at the Union.

The topic of Biggane's speech was "Organization and Management of an Industrial Engineering Department."

A reception was held in the student lounge after the meeting for the students and their wives with the wives serving coffee.

$25,000 Given SUI for Projects

A $25,000 institutional research grant has been awarded to SUI by the American Cancer Society Inc., for a term of one year beginning July 1.

Dr. Robert C. Hickey, professor of surgery and associate dean for research at the University College of Medicine, will be director of the grant.

The Society has awarded an annual institutional grant to SUI for the purpose of "fostering exploratory projects, initiating new ideas, and stimulating research in the field of both normal and abnormal growth." Dr. Hickey said. "The grant is to initiate projects in both clinical and basic research."

Applications will be received from University scientists in any area of study related to cellular growth. Applicants will be considered by a local research committee at SUI and upon approval may test their ideas without delay.

Wolves Ruin Iowa Loop Debut 6-0

MSU To Play 2 Here Today

By DON FORSYTHE
Sports Editor

The hard-hitting Michigan Wolverines ruined Iowa's Big Ten baseball opener here Friday 6-0 as southpaw Bob Marcareau turned in a fine pitching job. The win was Michigan's third in four loop starts.

This afternoon the Hawkeyes meet Michigan State in a double-header scheduled to start at 1:30.

Right fielder Wilbert Franklin was the hitting hero for the visitors. He came into the contest with a .403 mark and slapped out three singles in four times at bat Friday. He scored once and drove in two of the Michigan tallies.

The Wolverines bunched their hits off Iowa hurler Roger Rudeen and took advantage of five Hawkeye errors to boost their season's mark to 14-5. Iowa is now 3-10 for the year.

The Wolverines scored first in the third inning when Joe Merullo singled, went to second on a sacrifice and crossed the plate on Gene Struczewski's single.

In the fifth Merullo doubled, Ed Hood and Struczewski singled to give the visitors two more runs. Franklin singled Dave Brown home in the sixth inning and scored one of two Michigan tallies in the eighth.

Iowa had runners on base in seven of the nine innings but Marcareau shut the door on all budding Iowa rallies.

The Hawkeyes threatened most seriously in the third and seventh innings.

In the third Don Peden tripled after Jerry Mauren had opened the inning by striking out. Mike Lewis flew out to short center field, but Al Klinger kept the Iowa hopes alive when Marcareau hit him. The rally was stopped as Howie Kennedy grounded to Marcareau.

With one out in the seventh Hawkeye hurler Roger Rudeen blasted his second double. Jerry Mauren poked a short single to send Rudeen to third, but Marcareau fanned Peden and Lewis to end the inning.

Both Marcareau and Rudeen had sharp control — walking only one man apiece. Marcareau struck out six and Rudeen five.

Backs Look Good In Grid Practice

The running of sophomore half-back Larry Ferguson and the passing of freshman quarterback Matt Szykowny were the highlights of the Hawkeyes' spring football practice session Friday.

Ferguson, a converted fullback who lettered at that position last fall, ripped off three long runs from scrimmage and picked off a Szykowny pass for another long gain.

Szykowny connected on 10 of 17 passes. Most of the completions were in the 10 to 20 yard range.

Sophomore quarterback Wilburn Hollis did more throwing than usual, and was sharper on his passes than he has been thus far this spring. Hollis also looked good on his infrequent running attempts.

The Hawks practice again today at 2 p.m.

ChiSox Win 3-1, Gain Tie for Lead—Tigers Lose 4th Straight

CHICAGO (AP) — Four-hit pitching by Early Wynn and Turk Lown carried the Chicago White Sox to a 3-1 victory over Detroit's slumping Tigers Friday night.

The triumph lifted the Sox into a first place tie with the Tigers and the New York Yankees who dropped a 2-1 decision at Baltimore.

The loss was the fourth straight for the Tigers. They opened the season by winning their first five games. Their only run came in the fourth inning when Wynn, a 22-game winner last year, walked four men to force in a score.

Although Wynn had not allowed a hit, Manager Al Lopez yanked him in favor of Lown who closed the fourth inning by fanning Steve Bilko with the bases loaded.

Lown, gaining his first decision, was reached for singles by Frank Balling and Al Kaline in the sixth inning but otherwise encountered little difficulty.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hal (Skinny) Brown eased out of a couple of late inning jams and hung on to pitch the Baltimore Orioles to a 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees Friday night.

The victory was the fifth in a row for the Orioles, their longest winning streak since 1938, and moved them into third place in the American League. It was the third consecutive loss for the Yankees.

Brown allowed nine hits including a double and two triples. But he left seven Yankee runners stranded in notching his first triumph of the season.

Losers Bill Short gave up only six hits but damaged his own cause with six walks. Three of the walks, following a single by Mary Breeding, gave Baltimore a run in the third inning.

Indians 5, A's 4
CLEVELAND (AP) — Woodie Held drove in four runs with two homers Friday night to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 5-4 victory over the Kansas City Athletics in the opener of a four-game series.

The winner was Jim Perry, who gained his first victory of the season against one loss. He gave up eight hits, struck out three batters and walked four in going the distance.

Don Larsen, who started for the Athletics, was the loser. It was his second defeat, both to the Indians. He has never beaten the Tribe.

Held's home runs were his third and fourth of the season. Kansas City (10-10) 001 003 000—4 8 0 Cleveland (10-10) 000 300 200—5 8 0 Larsen, Kuehn (7) and Chitt; Perry and Nixon; W — Perry (4-1); L — Larsen (0-2); Home runs — Cleveland, Held (2).

Rain Spoils Drake Opening; No Records on Soggy Track

DES MOINES (AP) — A mid-meet downpour which virtually cleared 8,500 fans from the stands spoiled the opening of the 51st Drake Relays Friday.

Before a drizzle turned into a deluge, Australian Al Lawrence of Houston ran away with the two-mile title in the most one-sided victory of the dismal session in which seven championships were settled.

The two-day Drake show reaches a climax today when 22 events will be contested, including a special AAU shotput showdown among three super slingers, Parry O'Brien, Bill Nieder and Dave Davis.

Lawrence, 23-year-old sophomore, won the two-mile by 130 yards to lead off the soggy proceedings. The final running event, two hours and a lot of water later, found Nebraska sloshing to victory in the four-mile relay mainly on the efforts of a miler named Joe American Horse.

American Horse, running a 4:17.9 mile, erased a 50-yard deficit on the third lap and gave Nebraska anchor man Joe Mullins a comfortable lead for a 17:42.6 triumph. Western Michigan, early pacesetter, was second.

Iowa finished fifth behind Missouri and Houston with a time of 17:57.7. Lawrence, last fall's NCAA and National AAU cross country champion, jogged the two-mile distance Friday in a modest 8 minutes, 57.4 seconds, well behind the Drake mark of 8:51.3.

It was no contest for Lawrence, who easily won Australia's 10,000-meter Olympic trial recently, but there was a hot scrap for second in the long drive.

Baylor's Bob Merglen sprinted to win by a stride over Oklahoma State's Miles Eisenman.

Kansas won a thrilling victory over defending champion Illinois in the university sprint medley relay. On the 880-yard anchor lap, Kansas' Bob Tague overtook Illinois' George Kerr, 1959 NCAA half-mile champion, 30 yards from the finish and won by a stride.

Kansas' quartet of Cliff Cushman, Paul Williams and Charlie Tidwell, was clocked in 3:22.1. North Scott's Gene Frazier ran two of the finest half miles ever posted by an Iowa prepster to highlight the high school division.

Frazier was clocked in 1:53.1 in the morning preliminaries as he anchored his team to a 3:36.9 clocking in the sprint-medley relays and ran a 1:55.9 half mile as he led North Scott to a second-place finish behind Iowa City's first-place time of 3:38.8 in the finals.

Frank Bindel of Winterset shared the spotlight with Frazier. Bindel equalled the 120-yard high hurdles record of 1:4.6 in the preliminaries and won the finals with 1:4.7. Both times were the best of the season in Iowa.

John Raveling of Saydel turned in the other top performance, cutting loose with a strong finishing kick to win the mile in 4:26.3.

3 '56 Olympians Lose in Mat Trials
AMES (AP) — Three members of the 1956 U.S. Olympic wrestling team were eliminated Friday night in the fourth round of the final free style tryouts.

Going out after dropping their second matches were Dick Delgado, 114.5, of Oklahoma City; Lee Allen, 136.5, of Portland, Ore.; and Jim Peckham, 174, of Weymouth, Mass.

Dave Jensen, of Charles City, was the only Iowan left in the trials. Wrestling at 136.5 pounds he had 3 points.

The three-day free style tournament concludes tonight.

Dodgers 10, Giants 2
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers scored eight unearned runs in a fantastic 5th inning flurry of San Francisco blunders and flattened the Giants 10-2 Friday night.

Johnny Roseboro hit the first grand slam home run of his major league career in the big inning after the Dodgers scored four runs on three consecutive errors by the Giants.

Washington of St. Louis 1st Foe— Iowa Golfers To Open Season

By GARY HICKOK
Staff Writer

Iowa's talent-laden golf team makes its debut in front of home fans today against Washington University of St. Louis at 8 a.m. on the South Pinkbush course. Monday, Coach Chuck Zwienen's Hawkeyes meet Notre Dame and Western Illinois here and then host Missouri May 6 before diving into what could be a hectic Big Ten Conference season.

One of the finer golf teams in SUI history is in store for Zwienen this spring.

Outstanding young golfing names like Jack Rule, Bill Hird, Bob Davis, Tom Holcomb and Frank James will deck the Iowa scene and will try to earn Iowa its first Big Ten championship since the conference tournaments started in 1920.

Rule and Hird transferred to Iowa last February from Houston University. Eligibility-wise, Rule ranks as a junior and Hird, a sophomore.

The importance of depth also will be in the Hawkeyes favor. Bill Barnhart, Mike Dull, James Frazier, Al Lohrop and Gary Lowman are destined to crowd the above five for starting positions all season.

Rule was the Iowa Amateur champion in 1958-59, won the Western Junior tournament and National Jay-Cee tourney in 1958 and a host of other top meets in recent years.

Hird finished second to Rule in the 1959 Iowa Amateur tourney and was Trans-Mississippi medalist in 1958. Davis was a surprise second-place winner in the conference meet last year.

Holcomb was among the top 20 in the Big Ten last season and James, a team starter last year with Davis and Holcomb, gained his fame as the medalist in the 1958 Iowa Amateur.

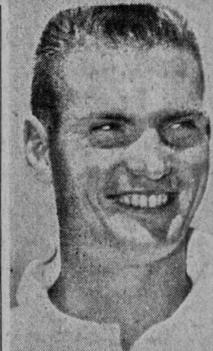

Zwienen, in his third year at Iowa, lists this year's team as a definite Big Ten title contender because of its depth. He says the team should win its four home meets.

Iowa last year accomplished a 7-6 dual meet record, finishing fifth in the conference and 12th in the NCAA meet. Purdue, Big Ten champ last year and winner of five of the last seven conference titles, will again be the team to beat.

The Boltermakers will be led for the third year by John Konek, winner of Big Ten championships in 1958-59, and will have a good share of the players back from last year's squad.

Michigan, second-place finisher in the conference tourney last spring, will have three returning lettermen headed by Joe Brisson, who placed fifth in the conference last year.

Seven lettermen will give Indiana its punch, four of whom played varsity golf as sophomores and juniors. For Ohio State, the picture is very rosy. Jack Nicklaus, national amateur champion and Walker Cup team member, will boost the Buckeyes' hopes of advancing beyond their fourth place finish in the Big Ten meet a year ago.

Michigan State, which has completed a spring training trip to the south, compiled an 11-1 dual meet record last year, but faltered to a seventh-place spot in the conference championships.

Illinois can do no worse than its last place spot garnered in the Big Ten last year, but two lettermen and a promising sophomore in Mike Toliusz could bring the Illini up the ladder a rung or two.

Next Year's Honor Frosh Number 135

An additional 55 college-bound high school seniors have been notified by Rhodes Dunlap, professor of English and director of the SUI Honors Program, that they are to be granted Honors status when they enroll at SUI. This brings the number of students to be granted Honors status to 135.

The number of freshmen to be admitted into the SUI Honors Program is expected to reach some 150 by next fall, according to Dunlap. This group will include the top 10 per cent of the entering freshmen as determined by their high school records and entrance exam scores. Honors students are expected to maintain a B average at SUI to stay in the program.

The students in the Honors sections study regular subjects intensively in small classes planned to inspire them to do their own thinking and research. This approach, which many students consider the most challenging way of learning, is often not used in colleges and universities until specialized department work in the junior and senior years. Each Honors student has a faculty sponsor — and no more than 10 students are assigned per sponsor — who helps guide him in both curricular and extra-curricular activities.

SUI School of Religion Trustees To Meet

The 33rd annual meeting of the board of trustees of the SUI School of Religion will be held Monday, May 9, in the Iowa Memorial Union.

The meeting agenda will include the annual reports by Robert Michaelson, administrative director of the SUI School of Religion, election of new trustees, and action on the school program for the 1960-61 academic year.

The Board of Trustees of the School of Religion is composed of 40 members representing the University and the participating religious groups of Judaism, Protestantism and Roman Catholicism.

In his annual report to the board, Michaelson will point out that the most significant development in the school during the past year has been the receiving of a $40,000 grant from the Danforth Foundation. The grant, made to contribute to the further development of the graduate program in religion at SUI, is the largest single grant that the school has received for more than 25 years.

The grant was made to help the School of Religion secure an additional full-time faculty member to teach at the graduate level and to provide for distinguished visiting professors.

Immediately preceding the meeting of the board of trustees, friends and trustees of the School of Religion will attend a complimentary luncheon in the River Room of the Union. The luncheon will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Adler, of Davenport, as a memorial to Mr. Adler's father, the late E. P. Adler, who was one of the founders of the SUI School of Religion and a trustee of the school for more than 25 years.

Guests at the luncheon will be greeted on behalf of the University by President Virgil M. Hancher. Talks on the nature and significance of the School of Religion will be given by three trustees: Francis J. O'Connor, Dubuque, president of the board; the Honorable Henry N. Graven, Greene, first vice president of the board, and Prof. Russell Weintraub, of the SUI College of Law.

The present officers of the board of trustees, in addition to O'Connor and Graven, include Philip D. Adler, second vice president; Bruce E. Mahan, dean of the SUI Extension Division, secretary, and Sam Morrison, Iowa City, treasurer.

Some 25 Iowa law enforcement officers are expected to attend the 24th annual Police Recruit School at the SUI Center for Continuing Study, May 2 to 14.

Sponsored by the Bureau of Police Science in SUI's Institute of Public Affairs, the school is designed as "basic training" for younger officers, particularly recent recruits in city police departments.

The two-week school will feature 92 hours of formal instruction (lectures, demonstrations, discussions) followed by periodic examinations, after which certificates will be awarded during a graduation program May 14.

Topics to be covered will include arrest tactics, alcohol as a police

Some of the mystery which many persons still attach to mental institutions will be removed Sunday when the SUI Psychopathic Hospital holds an open house for all persons over the age of 16 years.

The event will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. at Psychopathic Hospital and in the Iowa Mental Health Authority at 30 Byington road (overlooking the Hillcrest Dormitory parking lot).

Dr. Paul Huston, professor and head of psychiatry at SUI and director of the Psychopathic Hospital, says one of the major causes for inadequacy in efforts to deal with the nation's mental health problem has been a lack of understanding on the part of the public.

Mental hospitals throughout the nation will open their doors to visitors in an "Operation Friendship" program designed to encourage the public to visit the institutions. The program is sponsored by the National Association of Mental Health.

Tours, films, slide shows and displays will be included in the open house at SUI. Tours will be conducted in wards, recreational therapy areas, the electroencephalography (EEG) laboratory, the Alcoholism Clinic and occupational therapy areas.

The Iowa Mental Health Authority will conduct tours through its headquarters, which were moved from Des Moines to Iowa City April 1. Mental health films, displays and an explanation of the Authority's services to community mental health centers in Iowa also will be included in the program.

Beginning at 9:30 the Infantry Drill Regiment (IDR) Squad Drill will be held with the companies competing in this order: 9:30, Co. G, Iowa State University; 9:40, Co. A, University of Nebraska; 9:50, Co. C, University of Wisconsin; 10:00, Co. H, St. John's University; 10:10, Co. S, SUI; 10:20, Co. D, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee; 10:40, Co. Sulowan Edits Civil War Diary Of Southern Girl

James I. Robertson Jr., editor of Civil War History, a quarterly published at SUI, has edited "A Confederate Girl's Diary," a book recently published by Indiana University Press.

Robertson also wrote the introduction and notes to the book which is the diary of a young girl, Sarah Morgan Dawson, written during the Civil War.

Besides his job as editor, Robertson is also a member of the Advisory Council of the National Civil War Centennial Commission and adviser to the Iowa Civil War Centennial Commission.

The Dawson diary is notable as a psychologically oriented self-portrait of a young girl. The journal was begun just prior to the seizure of Baton Rouge by Federal troops when the writer was 20 years old.

In her first few weeks as a refugee she wrote humorously of her trials, but her wanderings soon became tiresome, and by the last year of the war her entries reflect the dreariness of defeat and despair.

Hoffa Loses in Attempt To Delay Federal Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. Hoffa Friday lost another attempt to forestall a federal court trial which could lead to his ouster as president of the Teamsters Union.

The trial was set to begin Tuesday. U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph R. Jackson rejected arguments by Hoffa's counsel that only the union's members and not the courts can remove Hoffa for alleged misuse of union funds.

Hoffa's attorneys immediately announced a new application to the U.S. Court of Appeals to avoid trial. One such move already was pending before the Appeals Court.

Hoffa is under special court-imposed obligations to safeguard union funds.

His trial, now set to start Tuesday, will be on civil charges brought by the monitors that Hoffa has used some $600,000 in Detroit Teamster funds to help finance personal business ventures.

New Concepts Seen at 12th A

Architecture, tools, furniture, pure design, and a glimpse into the future — all these are now being featured in the Main Gallery of the Art Building.

The event is "Kaleidoscope," the 12th annual design show, being held until May 18. The purpose of the show is to exhibit new concepts in design, as conceived by design students during the past year.

The cardinal principle of design, that "form follows function," has not detracted from the imagination used in the designing of many hand tools on display. A compass saw by Terry Wobken, A2, Sioux City; a set of handles for "scraping, pulling, and pushing" by Roger Hedges, A4, Iowa City, and a saw and chisel by Americus John-Lewis, A4, Beaux Bridge, La., prove that even sturdy tools can be works of art.

Wobken also has an attractive traveling clock on display. There is furniture of contemporary design being shown. Darold Shultz has contributed two modernist jewelry boxes, while Donald Baber and Lawrence Rugolo, instructor in art, have displayed stylish chairs.

Especially pleasing are two of Stanley Bye's works, a distinctive wood and metal sofa, and a low, two tone chest. Bye is a graduate from Deerfield, Ill.

Several examples of modern architecture are on display, ranging from the ultra-modern airport of John Worley, A4, Iowa City, to the most contemporary house of Hong Supkim's, and the pavilion of Roger Conter, A3, Waterloo.

Bennett Cerf, president of Random House in New York City, will speak Saturday at an SUI luncheon announcing the publication of a volume of works by writers at the SUI Writers Workshop during the past 25 years.

The volume, which will be published by Random House, is titled "Midland: Twenty-Five Years of Fiction and Poetry," and was edited by Paul Engle, director of the SUI Writers Workshop, in association with Donald Justice, assistant professor of English, and Henri Coulette, formerly on the SUI faculty.

Founding of the Iowa Industries Fellowships in Writing will also be announced at the luncheon in the Iowa Memorial Union. The fellowships will bring to SUI young writers from all areas of the United States and from throughout the world.

Engle said that "Midland" will prove that imaginative excellence has long existed as a natural part of this University. The Iowa Industries Fellowships will make certain that such excellence continues." Engle said the luncheon will celebrate the generosity and good will of many individuals and business firms toward the program in creative writing at SUI.

Many friends of the SUI creative writing program have been invited to attend the luncheon. SUI President Virgil M. Hancher will welcome the luncheon guests. Songs from "Western Child," a
