Fight Date

COPENHAGEN (AP) — World weight champion Floyd Patterson repeated Tuesday he would meet Ingemar Johansson in a bout on Nov. 1 as promoters about had announced. Patterson is willing to meet Ingemar on Oct. 31 or on Nov. 2 or any date — except Nov. 1," Patterson said at the airport after being five hours late from New York en route to Stockholm. The champion thus confirmed he will be annoyed with the promoters who scheduled the Patterson-Johansson rematch for Nov. 1, Los Angeles — without asking Patterson.

700 Grads Hear
Mark of Education
Is 'Thirst for More'

One mark of an education is a thirst for more education, SUI graduates were told Wednesday evening during summer Commencement exercises. Some 700 students were graduated during the exercises, bringing the total number of SUI alumni to about 51,300.

Provost James H. Jensen of Iowa State University of Science and Technology, Ames, told the SUI graduating students that an education is never finished.

"The measure of one's education is really the strength of his desire to learn more because he has learned so little," he added. Education should develop the ability to use facts, data and detailed information and also to recombine them and fit them together into new patterns to point up the unfilled gaps in knowledge, said the ISU provost. "In fact," he continued, "all that any data do in the mind of one with education is to provide a point of departure."

The Commencement speaker told the graduates that they must be prepared to face responsibility. "It has been said with some justification," he said, "that the contest in life is between responsibility and catastrophe. It is so for individuals, it is no less so for communities and it is indeed so for the national states of the world. Responsibility can never be sidestepped or avoided. We have to answer to ourselves for the decisions we make whenever an opportunity confronts us."

Education is a great asset in meeting responsibilities and making decisions, Jensen told the graduates. "We will all make decisions," he said. "These decisions must be as wise and intelligent as possible and therefore the better informed we are and the sharper our mental facilities for analytical thought, the better decisions we will make."

During his traditional charge to the graduates, SUI President Virgil M. Hancher told the students that they were going out into a world in which "intellectual skill and ability and the capacity for effective organization and mastery of knowledge will be given a higher value than it has ever been given before."

Castro May Take Over
In Dispute

HAVANA (AP) — The surprise scheduling of a speech by ailing Prime Minister Fidel Castro Wednesday night touched off reports he will take a direct hand in his regime's growing dispute with the Roman Catholic Church.

The announcement of his address to sugar came only a day after the archbishop coadjutor of Havana threatened to suspend all Catholic Church services on the island unless the Government guarantees freedom of worship. Msgr. Evelio Diaz took his warning to the presidential palace Tuesday following an antichurch demonstration in front of Havana Cathedral. It was the latest in a series of gang wars harassing anti-Communist churchgoers.

President Osvaldo Dorticos said early Wednesday the Government will continue "respecting all religious creeds" despite what he called provocations. Dorticos made no direct reference to Msgr. Diaz' warning or to the Cuban Roman Catholic hierarchy's pastoral letter last Sunday warning that communism is advancing in Cuba.

A Church source said Msgr. Diaz told Luis Buch, minister of the presidency, during his visit to the palace: "If there are no guarantees of safety for churchgoers, all churches will be closed tomorrow morning and the Church will be declared in silence so that the world will know what is happening in Cuba."

Congo Rioting Breaks Out;
Anti-Government, Lumumba

Dag to Supervise U.N.
Replace Belgian Force

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Anti-government rioting broke out in the Negro heart of this capital city Wednesday and rocks were thrown at the car of Premier Patrice Lumumba.

An aide said Lumumba was not injured — as had been reported in Belgian radio broadcasts.

The aide denied reports that one hurled stone had hit Lumumba in the face.

"The premier is safe and sound," the aide said.

During the rioting Congolese police fired over the heads of surging mobs. The violence was brought under control by the police, showing fixed bayonets, and troops.

Late in the evening the Lumumba government announced: "No one was killed and peace was restored." A few persons were reported injured.

The U.N. in New York announced Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold is flying back to Leopoldville in a special jet plane to supervise the replacement of Belgian troops with U.N. forces in the rebellious Katanga province. The U.N. reported he reached a complete harmony of views in conferences with Congolese leaders at the U.N.

Newsmen were told by Congolese that the people were rising against Lumumba, the fiery chief of an infant nation that has been a world problem since its birth June 30.

But this report could not be confirmed immediately in the chaotic night.

Kashamura said members of President Joseph Kasavubu's Abako party, opponents of the government, had attacked passersby and that police fired in the air to disperse a mob.

One report said Abako party members had fired on police. "The government has the situation firmly in hand," Kashamura said. "There will be numerous other arrests. We will not hesitate to use arms to restore order in the country."

Some leaders of the Abako party were arrested earlier following party demands for a high degree of autonomy for the lower Congo area.

Lumumba has said that all attempts at secession from his central Congo government will be smashed and persons demanding provincial independence will be arrested.

The rioting occurred around the Place de la Victoire in the teeming Negro quarter. Congolese police and soldiers of the Force Publique — the Congolese police — threw a cordon of bayonets around the area.

The fledgling, once-mutinous Congolese army was called to regular duty and received full police powers Tuesday under a state of emergency proclaimed by the government.

On the governmental front, Lumumba shifted tactics and offered to help the U.N. get Belgian troops out of the Congo.

Most of the 7,500 or so Belgian soldiers remaining are concentrated in rebellious Kanta Province, which has conditionally bowed to the U.N. Security Council mandate for replacement of the Belgians with U.N. troops.

But a major condition of Premier Moise Tshombe's provincial Government is that Katanga has the right to prohibit any person or unit from Lumumba's central regime. That could be interpreted to mean troops of his Congolese army as well as Government officials.

On the Political Front—
GOP Senators Starting New
Push For Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican senators bounced back from one defeat and started out in a new direction Wednesday in an effort to get action on civil rights legislation.

Twelve of them, led by Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, introduced a bill to carry out the platform pledges on civil rights made at the Republican National Convention in Chicago last month.

Javits said they hadn't settled on their follow-up strategy but told newsmen one possibility was offering parts of the bill as riders to other measures that Democratic leaders plan to call up for action.

He specifically mentioned a bill to boost the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour and to extend the coverage to some three to five million additional workers as on which an effort might be made to hook a civil rights rider.

The chief sponsor of the minimum wage measure is Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democratic presidential candidate. Kennedy accused the Republicans Tuesday after their first abortive attempt to force action on civil rights at the present windup session of Congress, or trying to block passage of the minimum wage bill, medical care for the aged, and other welfare measures.

The North-South split over the politically explosive issue, voted almost solidly to table and thus kill a two-point civil rights bill offered by GOP Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Kennedy Says Republicans
Now Trying To Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, said Wednesday night the Eisenhower Administration has only reluctantly been dragged into supporting any increases in the $1 minimum wage.

The candidate made a hard-hitting political attack out of his speech opening debate on legislation to boost and broaden the minimum wage.

He told the Senate that what was true with respect to minimum wage legislation also was true with regard to the Administration's position on medical care for the aged, federal aid to education, and housing and area development legislation.

In every case, the Massachusetts senator said, the Administration's original position was to oppose any action. He said it was only when it appeared that the Democrats were going to act anyway that the Administration offered to compromise.

Kennedy's bill would boost the hourly minimum wage to $1.25 in three stages and extend the coverage to five million additional employees.

He said the Administration originally was opposed to any increase in the minimum wage and only agreed to accept a boost to $1.15 after "they were dragged to it."

Nikita Talks of Heading
Soviet Delegation to U.N.
Assembly in September

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower held open Wednesday the possibility that he might join in a forthcoming United Nations debate on disarmament. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has been talking of heading the Soviet delegation.

Eisenhower also kept the door open to a possible personal meeting with Khrushchev should the Soviet leader actually come to New York for the U.N. General Assembly meeting beginning in September. The President said that would depend on whether he thought it would be "useful" to invite Khrushchev to Washington. Despite the President's replies to questions on these points at a news conference, the prospect of a face-to-face meeting of the two men, who last met at the abortive Paris summit conference May 16, appeared remote.

Eisenhower's comments were carefully qualified and to diplomatic authorities it seemed that he was for the moment preserving a flexible position in view of the uncertainty of Khrushchev's future moves.

In discussing other current foreign policy issues, Eisenhower made these major points:

CUBA — Should Cuba become in effect a Soviet Communist satellite the United States would have to take "very definite action." Eisenhower said he did not believe any people would freely choose to live under communism. If international communism obtained control of any government in this hemisphere, he said, the situation would have to be analyzed and means devised "that will defeat it."

NUCLEAR TESTS — If the U.S.-British-Soviet negotiations at Geneva for a test ban treaty reach the point where no progress is possible "then we have to take care of ourselves." With these words Eisenhower implied that a deadlock in the Geneva talks could lead to a resumption of nuclear weapons test explosions underground by the United States, but he did not see a deadline for possible resumption of weapons testing.

BERLIN CRISIS — The only issue on which Khrushchev may precipitate a new crisis in the next few months, so far as the President knows, is the Berlin issue. Eisenhower noted that Khrushchev has spoken recently of signing a peace treaty with East Germany if the West German Bundestag should meet in West Berlin this fall as it has done for the last several years.

LAOS — The revolt of a battalion of paratroopers which developed in the little Southeast Asian country Tuesday appears to be limited to the capital, Vientiane. Eisenhower said the reports he has received indicate that the rest of the country remains loyal to the Government.

LATIN AMERICA — The aim of the President's newly proposed 600-million-dollar program of aid for Latin America is to "find better ways of getting a cooperative effort" in these nations "to bring about the thing they are always talking about, a rise of living standards throughout their nations."

The President said that Khrushchev's recent proposal that all the 82 U.N. delegations to the forthcoming General Assembly meeting be led by heads of state or government was "obviously a propaganda thing."

TERRORIST PLOT ENDS
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Government sources said Tuesday President Romulo Betancourt had squelched a terrorist plot which had the overthrow of the Government as a long-term objective.

The Highlanders are back! And Iowa never looked so good . . . at least, that's the way Brenda Hughes, A3, Iowa City, thinks. Giving her a big welcome are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hughes, 1115 Plum.

Highlanders Return
After European Tour

SUI's Scottish Highlanders have returned after a 54-day tour of Europe. Their ship, the Queen Elizabeth docked in New York Tuesday.

Many of the Highlanders flew back to their homes from New York, many were met by their parents in New York and embarked on tours of the East, and many took the train home to Iowa.

Eight of the touring coeds arrived in Iowa City Wednesday by train while others were traveling to their homes or the towns near their homes.

Most of the coeds agreed that their tour of Europe made the history which is described in books come alive for them.

During their three-day stay in Rome, Italy, Nancy Kennedy, A3, West Liberty, Carol Hathaway, A3, Beth McDermit, A3, Muscatine, visited the Colosseum, the Roman Forum and the catacombs. Beth was particularly impressed with the opera "Aida" which was presented by a cast of some 300 at the outdoor Baths of Caracalla.

The three coeds met at Anzio Beach on the Mediterranean, after choosing different routes from their rooms in Rome. After standing on a train for an hour, Carol said she found the sandy beach pleasant, but the Mediterranean water as dirty and salty.

Both and some of the Highlanders decided to go to the beach by cab or bus. However, they became "thoroughly lost inside and out of Rome," and one man finally accompanied the coeds on a bus and paid for their rides to help them reach their destination. Beth explained, "He knew we could not understand him so he showed us the way!"

Earlier the coeds spent two days visiting Amsterdam, Holland, where they were impressed with the heavy bicycle traffic, cleanliness of the city, and sincere friendliness of the people.

Then the Highlanders traveled to Cologne, Germany, where a visit to the Cathedral in Cologne gave added significance to the words in history. The Cathedral was partially destroyed during World War II, but is still the largest building in the city.

The last cities on the coeds' tour included Amsterdam, Rome, and Bern, Switzerland. Brenda Hughes, A3, Iowa City, said one of the highlights of her visit was going to the beach along the Mediterranean Sea in Rome. "It was funny to see how amemic we looked beside the beautifully tanned natives," she commented.

The girls found Italian spaghetti, pizza and ravioli very good. Margaret Ladd, Iowa City, said ravioli was served for both lunch and dinner every day as an appetizer. "I can see how an Italian woman could get a bit overweight," she laughed.

In Holland, the SUIowans found everything very clean and the Dutch ice cream delicious. "In fact," Margaret joked, "I'm going to take people on special conducted tours of the 'goodie' shops of Europe next summer."

Margaret said the movie "Please Don't Eat the Daisies" was played in nearly every city the coeds visited in Europe with subtitles in each city's respective language. She had seen the movie about a week before the girls left Iowa City, and added, "I've been tempted to see it again just for the fun of this coincidence."

Discoverer XIII Satellite
Fired into Polar Orbit

VANDEMBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The satellite Discoverer XIII was fired through a fog bank into polar orbit Wednesday.

This, said Discoverer project officer Lee Battle, means achievement of near all-weather launch capability at this West Coast space-training base.

Scientists, hoping 13 will be their lucky number in the jinxed series, sent Wednesday's Discoverer aloft with a jinx buster in its nose — a package of instruments they hope will tell what happened if something goes wrong.

The Air Force will try Thursday to break the jinx: failure to achieve the series' much-publicized objective, recovery of a space capsule from orbit.

A recovery is deemed vital as it is expected to demonstrate a technique by which men can be safely returned from space.

Seven Discoverers have orbited and there have been six ejection tries. None has come close to success.

Air Force scientists are pinning their hopes on the jinx buster package. The 78-foot Thor-Agena rocket seemed to lift off its seaside launch pad perfectly, but then it vanished into the fog. Newsmen could hear it but could not see it as it roared south over the Pacific missile range toward polar orbit.

Plans call for the satellite — the entire second-stage rocket — to eject a 300-pound capsule over Alaska waters Thursday. It should fall near Hawaii, where planes will try to snag the capsule's parachute.

Ships will hunt it if planes fail. The nose-load of diagnostic instruments is designed to radio back performance details from the moment the capsule is ejected until its parachute bursts forth in the earth's lower atmosphere.

Senate Agrees
To Peaceful Use
Of S. Pole Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ratified Wednesday a history-making treaty with the Soviet Union and 10 other nations dedicating the vast continent of Antarctica to peaceful, scientific exploration.

The vote to ratify, 66-21, overrode a fervent protest from Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee that the treaty posed "a grave and direct" threat to U. S. security.

The tally was eight votes more than the two-thirds majority required for treaty ratification. Earlier Wednesday a test vote fell two short of the two-thirds margin.

The treaty commits its signatories — the United States, the United Kingdom, Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Chile, France, Japan, New Zealand, Norway, South Africa and the Soviet Union — to peaceful pursuits in the ice-capped continent lying around the South Pole.

Yanks Keep Rolling at Sox' Expense

CHICAGO (AP)—A two-hit performance by three New York pitchers and a strong finish at the plate swept the first-place Yankees to a 6-0 victory over the White Sox Wednesday before the largest weekday crowd in Comiskey Park history, 48,109.

The defeat dropped the Sox from a second place tie with Baltimore into third place. The Orioles beat Detroit 4-2.

The Yanks took the rubber game of a three-game series which packed 144,840 into Sox Park.

Both Sox hits, Luis Aparicio's single in the third and Minnie Miñoso's double in the fifth, came off starter Art Ditmar, who had to retire because of a finger blister as the Sox threatened in the seventh.

Eli Grba issued a walk to the only batter he faced and Bobby Shantz finished for the Yanks, striking out three in the ninth.

Red Sox 6, Indians 1

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ted Williams drove in three runs with two homers Wednesday night to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 6-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

His first homer with two out in the fifth inning of loser Barry Lutzman gave the 41-year-old leftfielder sole possession of third place among the all-time home run hitters behind Babe Ruth and Jimmy Fox. It was the 512th of his major league career and moved him one ahead of Mel Ott on the all-time list.

Williams got his second homer—21st of the season—in the ninth inning off Johnny Klopstein, the third Cleveland pitcher, with pitcher Early Wilson on base.

Williams' first home run into the left field stands with two out gave the Red Sox a 3-0 lead in the fifth inning.

Pending the outcome of pacesetter Pittsburgh's home game against the Chicago Cubs Wednesday night, both clubs are 6½ games out of first with identical 57-46 records.

The winner was Stan Williams, who pitched 8 2/3 innings and knocked in the winning run in the seventh. His record now is 12-4. Loser Lew Burdette is 12-7.

Ed Mathews drove his 25th home run of the season into the right centerfield bullpen in the fourth inning for Milwaukee.

Past Glories For All-Stars In Grid Tilt

By JOE MOOSHLI, Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO — Sammy Baugh, Cecil Isbell, Otto Graham, Elroy Hirsch ...

Those names have a familiar ring in this All-Star football week when a squad of last year's college stars challenge the supremacy of the professional champion Baltimore Colts in Soldier Field Friday night.

Although the professional champions hold a decided edge in the series inaugurated in 1934, men like Baugh, Isbell, Graham, Hirsch and so on were instrumental in the eight victories scored by the All-Stars. The professionals have won 16; two games ended in ties.

Past performances of those All-Stars who helped their teams triumph is one reason the collegians must be given a chance to defeat Baltimore despite the fact the Colts are 18-point favorites.

With minor injuries all mended, the All-Stars will be in good physical shape for the Colts.

It was back in 1937 that Sammy Baugh of TCU tossed a touchdown pass to Gaynell Tinsley of LSU for a 6-0 victory over Green Bay. The following year Cecil Isbell, the great passer from Purdue, led the All-Stars to a 28-16 victory over Washington.

Otto Graham of Northwestern, the current All-Star coach, came on the scene in 1943. Graham, Pat Harder of Wisconsin, Bob Stueber of Missouri and Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa helped the All-Stars vanquish Washington 27-7.

One of the All-Stars' greatest victories came in 1946. The war was over. Many players who had been in previous All-Star games and had been initiated to pro-league competition while playing with service teams, met the Los Angeles Rams. Graham, Harder and Elroy Hirsch of Wisconsin helped smother the Rams 16-0.

Somewhere on the All-Star bench this year there might be a Baugh, Isbell, Graham or Hirsch. If there is, the Colts will have trouble.

World-Wide Anticipation Of Olympics

OLYMPIA, Greece (AP)—Greek officials converged on this ancient Olympic site Wednesday to prepare for the historic ceremony of kindling the torch which will inaugurate the 17th Olympics in Rome Aug. 25.

The torch will be lit by the rays of the sun Friday morning. It will be carried to Rome in relays by nearly 2,000 runners.

At least two rehearsals are planned before the blessing of Zeus is finally invoked in ancient ritual and the flame kindled. One will be for the benefit of television and newsreels, the other for the actors in the drama.

NEW YORK (AP)—Members of the U.S. Olympic team still in the country will be given a rousing sendoff by New York City next Monday.

There will be a colorful, public noon-time ceremony at City Hall and an informal reception and buffet in the evening at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. Mayor Robert Wagner and his wife will be the hosts at the reception.

From the reception many of the athletes will go directly to Idlewild Airport to board a chartered plane for Rome.

ROME (AP)—One of America's greatest post-war runners said Wednesday that the United States may ruin its Olympic track team by too much competition too soon before the Rome games.

Mal Whitfield, in Rome to coach the Liberia tracksters, gave this warning over plans of the U.S. squad to fly to Europe Aug. 18 for an international meet at Bern—within two weeks of the start of Olympic track competition.

ROME (AP)—Special checks will be made on the food parcels of marathon runners and long distance walkers in the Olympic Games to make sure no pep pills or dope have been included with the food. Italian medical authorities revealed Wednesday.

Dr. Furrucci Antonelli, member of the Italian Federation on Sports and Medicine, said the Italian Amateur Federation would make the check before the athletes started out on their long grinds through the Roman countryside.

Titan ICBM Fired Successfully

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force for the first time successfully launched an operational prototype of the intercontinental range Titan missile Wednesday. The powerful rocket smacked a target zone 5,000 miles away.

The 98-foot, two-stage missile, powered by a new set of engines, flew a true course to the bullseye off the South Atlantic island of Ascension, covering the distance in about 25 minutes. Two previous attempts to fire this advanced Titan model failed.

The Air Force reported the Martin-made missile, potentially America's most deadly military rocket, achieved all test flight objectives.

Scientists also sought information on the performance of the tactical-type nose cone carried Wednesday. Ships and planes began an immediate search for a data capsule that was to eject from the cone after re-entry through the earth's atmosphere.

Earlier Wednesday, technical problems forced a second straight postponement of an attempt to launch a 100-foot balloon communications satellite into orbit. Another try will be made Friday.

The advanced Titan, called the "J" model, has improved engines that weigh less and have fewer parts than motors used in earlier Titans. The new power plant is designed for simpler operation and more efficient utilization of fuel.

The "J" Titan is the model earmarked for operational use starting late in 1961. The first Titan squadron, at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo., is expected to be ready by mid-1961. A total of 14 squadrons, each with nine missiles, is planned by 1965.

Reds 5, Giants 3

CINCINNATI (AP)—Pinch hits by Frank Robinson a and Willie Jones drove in three eighth-inning runs and hoisted Cincinnati's Reds to a 5-3 victory Wednesday night over San Francisco.

Johnny Antonelli tried to save the game for Sam Jones after Wally Post singled and Gordie Coleman drew a walk in the eighth with two out.

But Robinson's double brought in the tying run.

Then Stu Miller tried to save the game. But he walked rookie Cliff Cook to fill the bases and then came Jones' telling blow.

Marshall Bridges won his first game as a Redleg in relief after joining the Reds in a purchase from St. Louis.

He gave up a harmless single in the last two innings.

In the seven innings he worked, Bob Purkey limited the Giants to four hits and three runs — one of them unearned.

Sox Protest 'Quick' Call

CHICAGO (AP)—President Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox Wednesday formally protested by telegram to American League President Joe Cronin what he termed was the premature calling off of Tuesday night's New York Yankee-White Sox game because of rain after eight innings of play.

Veeck said Chief Umpire Ed Hurley admitted to him that the rain that night was not as heavy as on May 21 when the Yankee-White Sox game was halted three times.

The Yankees, scoring three runs in the eighth, won 7-4. The game was called after a 31-minute wait, one more than the minimum.

Veeck contended the umpires called the game without examining the playing field or giving the ground crew a chance to try putting it in shape.

Perkins Gets TKO Over Lopes; Eyes Lightweight Title

CHICAGO (AP)—Sharp-punching Eddie Perkins of Chicago, eager to get a shot at Joe Brown's lightweight title, Wednesday night pounded out a seventh round technical knockout over Joey Lopes.

Referee Joey White stopped it at 40 after the 23-year-old Perkins, ranked the fourth lightweight contender by the National Boxing Assn., hammered the bloodied Lopes at will on the ropes.

Mario Stimpinato, chief second of the 29-year-old Lopes, once ranked first in the division, waved his hands at ringside as if signaling that his fighter had had enough in the scheduled 10 rounder televised from Chicago Stadium.

Lopes of Sacramento, Calif., suffered gashed left eye brow in the fourth round and it bled freely until the end.

There were furious exchanges in the third, fourth and fifth rounds with Perkins getting in solid blows each time.

Under the five must scoring system, White and the two judges, Bill Doty and John Schreiner, gave Perkins every round. It was Eddie's 20th victory against 6 losses and his 7th kay. Lopes now is 49-21-5.

Perkins outweighed his opponent 137½ pounds to 135½.

Gross receipts were $1,008, attendance 782.

William E. Prather and his wife, Elizabeth, became Dr. and Dr. Prather following SUI commencement exercises Wednesday night. Both received doctor's degrees in speech pathology and audiology. Mr. and Mrs. Prather also received their master's degrees from SUI. Married Aug. 15, 1959, they will celebrate their first wedding anniversary in four days.

Husband and Wife Both Gain Ph.D.

Academically speaking, there should almost always be a "doctor in the house" at the William E. Prather home. Prather and his wife, Elizabeth, both received Ph.D. degrees in speech pathology and audiology Wednesday evening during summer Commencement exercises.

Five days after the Prathers graduate from SUI, they will celebrate their first wedding anniversary. They were married Aug. 15, 1959.

Following graduation, the couple will leave for a three-week camping trip to Ontario, Canada, and "plenty of rest." During the past year, both have been holding down full-time jobs while they worked on their dissertations during evenings and weekends.

After their vacation, they will return to Iowa City and their jobs at SUI — Prather as an instructor in audiology and his wife as a research associate in speech pathology. Prather also will supervise the audiological clinical service for the SUI Department of Otolaryngology and Maxillofacial Surgery.

The Prathers both received their master's degrees from SUI, in 1958 and 1957, respectively. They had completed their course work and had passed their written comprehensive tests for their doctor's degrees when they were married. Prather is the son of Mrs. Thomas F. Prather of Lancaster, Calif. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of California, Berkeley. Mrs. Prather, the former Elizabeth Moodie, is the daughter of Mrs. Robert R. Moodie of West Point, Neb. She received her bachelor's degree from the University of Nebraska, Lincoln.

See 2nd Largest Iowa Corn Crop

DES MOINES (AP) — The second largest corn crop on record appears to be shaping up in Iowa, the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Wednesday.

The harvest this fall should be a golden one of 737,000,000 bushels, the service estimated on the basis of crop conditions as of Aug. 1.

That is 11 per cent less than last year's mammoth 830,346,000 bushel production, but 30 per cent larger than the average for the 1949-50 average.

Indications on Aug. 1 were that Iowa farmers would harvest 12,707,000 acres — the biggest acreage in history — and would realize an average yield per acre of 58 bushels. That would be somewhat less than last year's all-time record yield of 66 bushels per acre, but well ahead of the ten-year 53.8 bushel average.

Chaperoned Tours Keep Kids 'Amused'

By HARRIET STIX
Herald Tribune News Service

One of the deep joys of childhood is making life unbearable for grown-ups. Or used to be. Nowadays, with all the activities designed to keep them "amused" (adults aren't so dumb after all), the kids often forget to make trouble for hours on end.

In fact, the one remaining situation where youngsters can practice driving parents mad to the full is on holidays. And now that's getting tough, too.

A young New York mother has come up with a scheme that keeps the kids on the street — and out of their parents' way. She has organized a day-tour agency which will collect your child, take him on a trip to Freedomland or on bus and water tours round the city while you scour the shops or take in a matinee. Or collapse in the calm of an air-conditioned hotel room.

Basically the program is aimed at families visiting hotels in New York City. But the suburban housewife in for the day, or even the Metropolitan mom, can dump her child, too.

The service goes under the perhaps not entirely appropriate name of Gulliver's Trails. The children are picked up by Rolls Royce at any one of 15 New York hotels — or if they live in New York, at their homes. Trained concierges, mostly school teachers, take them in groups of about seven, for a day at Freedomland or on day or half day trips round the city.

There are trips around Manhattan by boat, visits to the zoo, the Statue of Liberty, a hansom ride in the park, a bus tour of the city, and other distractions. There are souvenirs for all, snacks and, if they are out all day, lunch.

Gulliver's Trails is the brain child of Seena Hamilton, a travel writer and herself the mother of a five-year-old son. It was born of her own desperation.

She says: "This winter I went to Miami Beach on a job and for various reasons had to take my son with me. The hotel was supposedly oriented towards families with children. What I learned there made me determined to start the agency."

What Miss Hamilton learned was that family plans, and baby sitting services at night still left a good deal to be desired. There were just too many hours of sunshine when unsupervised little darlings could make mischief. Hers was discovered one morning teetering on the roof of the cabana, and he was not the only one to drive mother mad.

So Miss Hamilton started the agency here. If it is a success, she hopes to expand into other areas. She says: "So far, everyone seems very happy. Some of the mothers have told us that sending their kids out on the tour works out cheaper than if they took them along shopping. They just can't say 'no' to the 'gimmies.' We can." The Rolls Royce touch has been a great success, too, with certain reservations. The chauffeur gets a bit agitated at times... all those sticky fingers. And one small boy confided to Miss Hamilton that "if I can't have one of these, I won't have anything."

Cites 4 Functions Of River Parkway

CASSVILLE, Wis. (AP) — A fresh, new dimension to the useful function of highways will be provided by the development of the Mississippi River Parkway, Gov. Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota said here Wednesday night.

Freeman, speaking at a banquet following ceremonies dedicating the first highway markers for the Great River Road in Wisconsin, said the parkway will give tangible evidence that highways can fulfill four functions.

"Beyond the basic use as a means of transportation," the governor said, "the parkway will open a new source of economic strength from a rapidly growing tourist industry. It will provide recreational opportunities for people with greater leisure and preserve historic sites before they are lost forever from public awareness."

The Mississippi River Parkway when completed will be a 2,000-mile corridor of parks, recreation area and historic sites beginning in New Orleans and ending in a loop which runs through the provinces of Manitoba and Ontario, Canada.

Accuse U.S. Air Attache of Spying

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union Wednesday accused U.S. air attache Col. Edwin M. Kirton of organizing a spy apparatus and conducting himself in a manner offensive to Soviet Citizens. They ordered him out of the Soviet Union.

"It's a surprise to me," said Kirton, a husky, 6-foot-5 career officer from Palo Alto, Calif. "I tried to conduct myself properly."

His assistant, Capt. Irving T. McDonald Jr., of Provincetown, Mass., drew a warning against similar activities, but was not ordered to leave.

The charges against both were rejected by the American charge d'affaires, Edward L. Freers. McDonald, who was awarded the Legion of Merit in 1956 for outstanding duty, still has a year to go on his Moscow tour of duty. Kirton's two-year assignment would have ended in October.

Kirton plans to head home via Copenhagen Monday with his wife, Lira, who returned only Wednesday afternoon from a brief shopping trip to Western Europe.

"I never thought this was what I was coming back for," Mrs. Kirton said.

Kirton served two years in the Pentagon before coming here in September 1956. Before that he was in the Strategic Air Command. His mother is Frances M. Russell of Palo Alto.

A Foreign Ministry statement charged that Kirton organized an intelligence apparatus shortly after he took up his post in Moscow, carried out a great number of intelligence trips throughout the Soviet Union, and photographed military and industrial objectives.

It said he was picked up by police in Odessa last winter for Vote To Buy Land for New City School

The Iowa City School Board has voted to buy a nine-acre tract in the southeast part of the city for a new elementary school.

The land is just north of the new American Legion Building on old Highway 6.

The proposed $325,000 school would serve the Court Hills and Towncrest additions and possibly older sections of southeast Iowa City which are fairly distant from Longfellow and Herbert Hoover elementary schools.

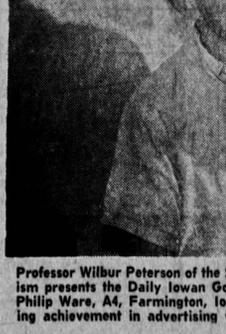

The undeveloped land, 9.188 acres, will be bought from Plum Grove Acres, Inc., for $23,000. The board meeting Tuesday night also approved an addition to the contract of sale providing for improvements of the property — grading and installation of sewer and water facilities. The improvement section of the contract is for $12,000.

The school board hopes to put a $705,000 bond issue to a vote late this fall. The bonds would be for the new elementary school and additions to Mark Twain and Roosevelt schools.

43 Graduations

With few exceptions, Carl H. Menzer, professor of electrical engineering at SUI and director of radio station WSUI, has attended all Commencement exercises here since 1917. He has seen some 68,000 students graduate.

Menzer first attended SUI commencements as a commentator for the WSUI radio broadcast of the exercise in 1919.

Professor Wilbur Peterson of the School of Journalism presents the Daily Iowan Gold Cup Award to Philip Ware, A4, Farmington, Iowa, for outstanding achievement in advertising while working on the Daily Iowan. Each semester the Gold Cup Award is presented to the most outstanding student in the Advertising Sales & Promotion class.

Like Blasts Democratic Politicking

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday he is putting the nation's business ahead of election year politics — and he challenged the Democratic Congress to do the same.

Eisenhower spoke at a news conference largely devoted to the brisk sparring between the Republican Administration and the congressional majority, each of which is accusing the other of politicking at the post-convention legislative session.

Eisenhower said he will do whatever he can to help his party's candidates—Richard M. Nixon for president and Henry Cabot Lodge for vice president — but "this doesn't mean that I possibly should be out on hustings and making partisan speeches. 'I've got a lot of other responsibilities.'"

Eisenhower twice used the word "silly" as he talked about his relations with the Congress now in hurried session with major figures of the presidential campaign confronting each other in the Senate.

"We cannot just simply say that politicking is more important than the nation's business," he said. "I think all this talk about Congress having to take weeks and months and months to get simple actions carried out and accomplished is a little bit silly."

Some Democrats have said the legislative recommendations Eisenhower sent the heavily Democratic Congress were designed more to put Democrats on the spot than to get new laws on the books.

But the President said, "All this talk about me starting a bunch of new programs is just a little bit silly. Go back and look at what I have been recommending, not only during the months past, but only in some instances."

He said it would be completely inconsistent not to keep recommending such things as his proposals for strengthening civil rights laws and for the kind of assistance he considers appropriate to economically hard-hit areas.

At one point the President interrupted a questioner to retort to the charge by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, that Eisenhower is keeping frozen $621 million in defense funds already voted by Congress.

"I know of no reason for anyone to say that I have decided not to spend this money," he said. And he went on to contend that it's impossible to adjust in a few weeks to the reshuffling of his budget by Congress. He said Congress took out $1.75 billion and put back $1,100,000,000 for other purposes.

He said the possibility of his having a personal talk with Khrushchev, if the Soviet Premier comes to the United Nations, has seemed "so remote that I haven't given it a thought." But Eisenhower said, "If I were to come to the conclusion that it was useful for me to see him, why, I would of course invite him to come down if he so chose."

In similar vein, he said, "by no means would I disparage myself" from going personally to a U.N. session on disarmament "if I thought it were necessary." Khrushchev has spoken of the possibility of heading a Soviet delegation to such a session.

Eisenhower used a number of occasions to say in effect that he is not tailoring the final months of his administration to any political needs of Nixon's campaign — but also that he and the man he wants to be his successor are in agreement. "With the exception of minute detail," was the way he put it in one reply.

Ludwig's Project: Instrument Package

Building an instrument package designed to increase our understanding of the Van Allen zones of radiation around the earth was the Ph.D. project of George Ludwig, Tiffin, who received his degree at summer Commencement exercises Wednesday evening.

Ludwig worked for his degree in the combined field of electrical engineering and physics. He designed S-46, was to follow earlier SUI instruments on satellites in learning more about the Van Allen zones of radiation around the earth. Begun in 1959, it was designed specifically to measure the radiation intensity in the various parts of the two zones to determine their structure, to differentiate between the kinds of particles in the zones and determine their fluctuations in energy as related to their position in space and time, and to study for the first time the very low-energy trapped particles by the use of bare crystals as detectors.

On March 23, Ludwig's instrument package was launched but failed to orbit due to malfunction of the second, third and fourth stages of the rocket system used. However, during the nine minutes of its flight from launch, the payload operation, according to Ludwig, was "completely satisfactory."

Testing comprises a large part of the preparation of an instrument package for flight, Ludwig says. The start of the testing procedure, according to Ludwig, was to inspect mechanically and electrically the individual components as they arrive from the manufacturer. They were then "aged" by subjecting them to a temperature of 120 degrees Centigrade for approximately two weeks and then retesting. Change patterns were determined, and components whose changes differed much from the normal patterns were discarded. Inspections were made after each small group of instruments or circuits was put together. Then after the package had been completely assembled at SUI, it was tested by applying power to all the circuits to see that they were all working properly and that they worked together properly.

Next the package was run through a vibration test, a vacuum test, and a temperature test and calibration, using temperatures varying from 75 degrees to 50 degrees Centigrade.

The SUI package was then sent to the Army Ballistics Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., where it was coupled to the other components (the batteries, transmitter and solar cells) and again put through a series of very similar tests before it was ready for launching.
