Sangster Elected New Treasurer

Balloting Light; Yocum, 6 Others Receive Write-Ins

By JIM SEDA
News Editor

Don A. Graham, Dale M. Bentz, and O. D. Bartholow were elected Monday to three-year terms on the Iowa City school board of directors.

James A. Sangster — running unopposed — was elected treasurer. Six persons, including local housemover Max Yocum, received a total of 7 write-in votes for this position.

Graham, the only incumbent of the six candidates for election to the board, received the highest number of votes — 766. He is an officer of Paris Cleaners in Iowa City.

Bentz is associate director of University libraries. The third member elected, Bartholow, is a cashier in the Iowa State Bank and Trust Co.

Sangster, the new treasurer is assistant cashier at the First National Bank.

Approximately 1,000 ballots were cast, making the vote one of the lightest in recent years. School board secretary Robert T. Davis said that 18 ballots were spoiled. Balloting results as reported by Davis were:

For board members (three-year terms):

Graham	766
Bentz	595
Bartholow	560
Bozek	433
Mrs. Kuhn	418
Muhly	348
For treasurer:
Sangster	875
Milo Novy	2
Max Yocum	1
Clair A. Powers	1
Tomas Reid	1
D. O. Nicholson	1
Denver Parrish	1

The new board of directors will hold an organizational meeting Sept. 19. Holdover members are Mrs. Stephen G. Darling, George L. Gay, Elwin T. Joliffe, and F. Neal Miller.

Dr. Eugene F. Van Epps and Prof. James F. Curtis are retiring members of the board who did not seek re-election.

This year's election was held in September under a new Iowa school law. Elections previously had been held in March.

Allies Stop East German Travel Permits to West

BERLIN (AP) — The United States, Britain and France Monday announced their first concerted action against Communist East Germany's current squeeze on isolated Berlin.

They have decided to halt, at least temporarily, the issuance of permits that allow Germans from the Communist-ruled area to travel in Western countries. East Germans may still go to West Berlin and West Germany. As usual, 400 to 500 refugees from the Communist west were taken in at West Berlin's Marienfelde reception center Monday.

The new Western travel restriction is expected to hold up delivery of 75 to 100 "temporary travel documents" every day that it lasts. These are little brown booklets, like passports, which East Germans have been getting to help them travel abroad.

Venezuela Halts Attempted Coup

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The government of President Romulo Betancourt smashed a brief rebellion led by a national guard lieutenant who seized a radio station Monday and proclaimed establishment of a military junta.

Lt. Ecio de Jesus Saldivia failed to obtain support for his attempted coup and he and 20 followers were arrested within an hour, a Government announcement said.

Twenty guardsmen and a civilian were rounded up Monday night. The Venezuelan Army — separate from the national guard — took no part in Saldivia's plot and the nation remained calm, the Government said.

Saldivia said he would disclose the names of the junta members later, but never got the opportunity to make a second speech. He accused Betancourt of having Communist sympathies and urged the populace not to fire on rebel patrols in the streets.

Betancourt, whose Government is composed of a moderate socialist coalition, has been plagued by plots of both domestic and foreign origin during more than a year as president.

Lumumba Out After 2 Hours Of Detention

Congo's Ex-Premier Freed Mysteriously; Not Allowed To Talk

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Patrice Lumumba came roaring back through the streets of Leopoldville shouting, "Victory," Monday night, two hours after he was arrested.

The ousted premier sped to Leopoldville radio station after a tour of the African communes, but was not allowed to speak.

What happened at Camp Leopold, where Lumumba had been taken by army troops, could not be learned immediately.

Lumumba was in custody less than two hours. When he reached the radio station he said, "I am not arrested. The people are with me."

There were reports — all unconfirmed — that troops of Lumumba's Batatele tribe had freed him from Camp Leopold.

The United Nations position, meanwhile, appeared to be weakening.

Reports circulated here that the United Arab Republic had decided to withdraw its U.N. forces, including a paratroop battalion that had just arrived. In Cairo a government spokesman contended the U.N. had violated the Congo's sovereignty by seizing the radio and airfields.

There were rumors — unconfirmed — that Ghana might also withdraw its U.N. force. While a U.A.R. withdrawal probably would not affect the U.N. operation greatly, the Ghana force has been a mountain of strength to the U.N. in preserving order.

Guinea's mission here announced Sunday its troops had been withdrawn from the U.N. command but this had not been confirmed.

It was the steadfast U. N. guard at the radio station that turned Lumumba back again. The radio station guard was greatly strengthened and barbed wire was strung after Lumumba's visit.

Six or seven military jeeps loaded with armed soldiers came with Lumumba.

Lumumba occasionally raised his voice above the din through a loudspeaker to shout, "Victory, Victory."

But whether it was a victory could not be determined in the confusion.

Lumumba had been taken out of his residence by armed soldiers. He was followed by his wife and children and a car piled high with baggage. Two hours later he was free again.

In all the excitement, the power struggle between the left-wing premier and the Congo's moderate president, Joseph Kasavubu, remained unresolved.

Kasavubu, as chief of state, named a new 23-man government to replace Lumumba's red-backed regime and halt what Kasavubu has called a drift toward chaos and communism.

Kasavubu's premier-designate is Senate President Joseph Ileo. Whatever the outcome, the Congo is certain to remain an issue in the cold war. The Soviet Union backed Lumumba with a fleet of planes, 100 trucks and scores of technicians, all sent in outside U.N. channels.

The first announcement of Lumumba's detention was made by his own chief of security, Charles Muzungu.

About 200 soldiers of the Congolese army, being swiftly coordinated with the U.N. forces, made the arrest. They met no resistance when they surrounded Lumumba's villa overlooking the Congo River.

"I do not want any bloodshed. I will come with you," he said.

Later, Lumumba reappeared in downtown Leopoldville. He demanded that he be allowed to speak over Radio Leopoldville, which the U.N. Command controls.

Though the U.N. had put the station back in service Monday morning after silencing it for a week, Lumumba was told it could not be used to air his views.

Search Unit Finds Body In Reservoir

A 39-year-old Marengo man was drowned in the Coralville reservoir about 4 p.m. Sunday. He was the second to be drowned in the reservoir this summer.

Searchers recovered the body of Arnold Maas about 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Authorities said Maas was in a boat operated by George Heller, also of Marengo, when the accident occurred about a mile west of the government launching site on the west side of the Coralville dam. The spot is about 400 feet from Linder point.

Authorities said Maas and Heller were in a party that was taking a group of Marengo Girl Scouts water skiing. Heller said Maas, a non-swimmer who was not wearing a life jacket, was standing in the stern of the 18-foot boat playing out line to a water skier when his feet became tangled in the line, and he fell out of the boat.

Heller said he threw him a life jacket but that Maas then went under the surface and was not seen again. His 10-year-old son, Dudley, was in the boat when the accident happened, and his wife, Betty Jo, was on the shore.

The Johnson County water search and rescue unit hunted for the body until about 7 p.m., then halted because of darkness.

The searchers, directed by the sheriff's office, were just getting organized Monday morning when the body was found by four men in two Coast Guard auxiliary boats that had gone to the scene early.

Three skin divers were standing by ready to enter the water when the body was found.

Maas, an auto mechanic at Homestead, was born Oct. 16, 1920, in Iowa County. He is survived by his widow, the son and two daughters. Maas was known in this area as an organist at horse shows.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at St. John's Lutheran church at Marengo, with Hoover funeral home in charge.

Nebraska Governor Brooks Buried Monday

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Ralph G. Brooks, first Nebraska governor to die in office, was buried Monday after over 2,500 Nebraskans viewed the body as it lay in state in the rotunda of the State Capitol.

Among those attending the church rites, were U.S. Sen. Carl Curtis, Republican whom Brooks was to have opposed in the November election.

U.N. Shelves Congo Case, Then Adjourns

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council Monday put the Congo crisis on the shelf in the hope the situation in the African republic would be clarified.

Despite Soviet opposition, the council voted, 9-2, for a U.S. proposal to adjourn subject to the call of President Egidio Ortona of Italy.

The Soviet Union immediately requested a new meeting, but informed sources said there would probably be none before Wednesday.

A U.N. spokesman announced there would be no session Monday night and that a meeting date would not be set until sometime Tuesday.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth said in a statement after the meeting: "There is not much point in talking until you have a sound basis of information on which to speak."

In the 15-minute council session, Wadsworth called the delegates' attention to press dispatches reflecting "additional confusion" in the Congo. He proposed that, "in view of the lack of clarity in the situation," the council adjourn.

Valerian Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister, declared the proposal was not consistent with the council's interest in the Congo situation. But Wadsworth's motion was approved with only the Soviet Union and Poland voting no.

Zorin then introduced a formal motion that the council meet again at 8:30 Monday night, but Ortona ruled that the council was adjourned and a request for a new meeting must be made either by request to him or Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

The adjournment put off for the time being a sharp East-West clash over the struggle for power in the Congo between Soviet-supported Patrice Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu.

Just as the council ended its brief session, the U.N. announced that rival delegations from the Congo were expected in New York Monday night. One represents Kasavubu and the other Lumumba.

Zorin is expected to demand that the council hear the delegation representing Lumumba. Any such demand will be opposed by the United States and other Western powers.

A U.S. spokesman said the move to delay debate had nothing to do with arrival of the Congo delegations.

In advance of the council session, Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold disclosed he had received an appeal from Congo President Kasavubu that the United Nations reorganize and train the national army under the president's supreme command as chief of state.

The United Nations made plain that while Radio Leopoldville was reopened, restrictions would still be applied to broadcasts.

Renaissance Coffee House At Endsville

Like Wow, Man! It's Alleged That Place Is a Mess

Renaissance II, Iowa City's somewhat faded coffee house, seems to have reached endsville — literally.

The proprietor, John Beardsley, G. Onawa, has been served with a notice to quit the premises at 130 S. Clinton St. It was issued by Gus A. Pusateri, who owns the building.

The notice stated that the premises were littered and a fire hazard.

Beardsley closed the coffee house this summer with hopes of reopening it in the fall.

Later, he placed the business up for sale, but no buyers were found, according to the realtor who handled the deal.

Through the serving of the notice, the landlord intends to take the property over and rent it to someone else, the realtor said.

The Renaissance opened last fall as Iowa City's first and only coffee house. During the school year students flocked there seeking coffee and conversation and partly in hopes of seeing a beatnik.

Pennsy Rail Strike Ends In 12th Day

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania railroad strike ended in its twelfth day under a settlement hammered out by negotiators early Monday morning. The trains will run Tuesday.

Six hours after a federal mediator stepped from a hotel room to announce, "The strike is over," the 20,000 members of the two striking unions ratified the agreement.

The unions are the Transport Workers Union and the System Federation.

The dispute, which stopped the nation's largest railroad for the first time in its 114-year history, was mainly over work rules and job security. Wages were not an issue.

The strikers were nonoperating employees, those responsible for maintenance of equipment on the 10,000 miles of PRR track rolling through 13 states and the District of Columbia. Some 52,000 other railroad employees, however, were furloughed.

Michael J. Quill, TWU president, said the strike and settlement might be a turning point for up-to-date labor relations on the nation's railroads. He claimed the union won protection against the PRR contracting to outside firms work that PRR employees can handle themselves; a severance pay plan; protection for mechanics' helpers against abolition of their jobs; and a rule that defines specifically an employe's job.

Inquiry Launched Into 2 Defectors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department launched an intensive investigation Monday into the defection of two intelligence men and the national security agency that employed them.

Lt. Gen. Joseph F. Carroll was assigned to handle the investigation of the flight to the Soviet Union of Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin.

A Defense Department official retracted one statement made at the Pentagon last week but stood firm on another statement concerning reported sexual behavior of the two junior mathematicians.

The Pentagon reaffirmed its contention that the records revealed no known homosexual activities involving either Mitchell or Martin, but said last week's statement was in error in ruling out any other form of sexual abnormality.

75 M.P.H. Winds; U.S. Toll at 20

BOSTON (AP) — Hurricane Donna, treacherous, fast-moving spawn of the hemisphere's southern seas, raged inland into New England Monday night, after battering the Mid-Atlantic Coast with savage fury. The hurricane was reported dwindling to a rainstorm. But it still packed winds up to 75 m.p.h. as it slashed northward from Long Island turned inland along a 120-mile front from Connecticut to New Hampshire.

Killed by the storm were 135 persons, 20 of them in the United States.

Weather experts, in marking its prior passage from Virginia to New York, called Donna one of the most dangerous hurricanes ever to strike that area. But a well-in-advance alert to its shrieking winds and surging 10-foot tides kept damage and loss of life to a surprisingly low level.

States of emergency had been declared for Rhode Island and Massachusetts in advance of the storm. But dangerous flooding failed to materialize as peak tides subsided before the full brunt of the hurricane was felt.

In New York City, more than 2,000 pupils were successfully evacuated from 11 public schools surrounded by flooded streets. Nearly 300 additional students were marooned without food or electricity in two other schools, one of them an island in four feet of water. But the youngsters were rescued well before nightfall.

The hurricane blustered along at a brisk forward rate, moving at about 40 m.p.h. up the coast.

Weather observers said its path was roughly that of the great 1928 hurricane — which claimed nearly 600 lives in New England and inflicted up to half a billion dollars in damage. Present-day weather forecasting, however, permitted advance precautions to lessen the damaging impact of the storm.

As the hurricane eased its grip on New York City in late afternoon, Weather Bureau Chief Ernest J. Christie announced: "This will go down in history as one of the biggest hurricanes that ever hit New York and the metropolitan area. This is the highest I have ever seen the tide here."

Up to eight inches of rain poured down. It was driven almost laterally by hurricane winds in excess of 80 m.p.h. — outriders of the 130 m.p.h. force of the big storm. Inland areas all along the coast were alerted for flash floods.

Thousands of evacuees streamed inland from the battered South Shore of Long Island and from the Connecticut coast. Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff ordered Connecticut shore residents from their homes.

Police, coast guard, fire, hospital and Civil Defense equipment was marshaled in emergency

Later, New York's streets were all but abandoned to the hurricane. Busy avenues and highways turned into foaming, muddy rivers by the torrential down-pour. Signs were toppled and windows smashed. Trees in the city's famous Rockefeller Center were flattened.

The normally placid Hudson River burst its banks because the pressure of the storm, spewing its waters across the West Side Highway, one of Manhattan's busiest traffic arteries.

Sheets of rain all but obscured vision. Clouds scudded before the gale, obscuring the peaks of the city's skyscrapers.

The New Haven Railroad suspended all Boston-New York service because of the danger of track flooding.

Best Thing for Congo Would be Ouster of Lumumba

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN

LONDON — If Patrice Lumumba survives to claim the title of Premier of the Belgian Congo Republic, his proven powers for mischief are likely to be increased ten-fold.

It is hard to find in recent history a more coldly disastrous man. Essentially, he will do anything to retain personal power and to impose his rule on the whole of the Congo.

Lumumba is a fiery, almost paranoid nationalist. He now equates nationalism with his personal authority.

Kasavubu is different. He is virtually King of the lower Congo and is head of the Abako party which is purely tribal in its nature and intentions.

There was positive antagonism and jealousy and fear between these two very different men.

lic nor in private. Kasavubu made only one major speech, calling for national unity.

Since independence, Lumumba has done all the governing. He has cowed the politicians of many different parties that work in the central government in Leopoldville.

He kept to his central aim. He feared for his life, lived on the steady edge of hysteria.

It is the Russian planes and trucks and technicians who have made the civil war in the Congo militarily possible.

In law, Lumumba had every right to call in the Russians, and the Russians had the right to accede to his request.

ment. The fact that the Russians acted in contradiction to their acquiescence to the Security Council resolutions and to their theoretical support for the U.N. effort in the Congo is legally immaterial.

But in fact the legal government has been Lumumba and a few fanatics. He has long been opposed by disappointed politicians who wanted his job or by tribal leaders who were born with established loyalties and hatreds.

If Lumumba survives, then the United Nations is faced with a martyred and embittered Premier who will be committed to the rejection of United Nations and who must depend almost wholly upon the Russians.

Reduction of Anti-Vote Faction Big Factor in November Win

WITH KENNEDY CAMPAIGN PARTY — There is only one thing you can report for sure about the Presidential campaign so far: the political prairies are definitely not afire for either candidate.

There is no visible trend to either side where I have been travelling — in the middle states, to the Pacific Northwest and into California.

I find many people, who have consistently voted Republican, who have doubts about Vice-President Nixon.

It is the judgment of many professional politicians that historically the country is more disposed to vote against a candidate than for a candidate, that "anti" vote usually tilts the scales.

Political precedents all need to be called into question. They are doubtful guides. Consider a few of them:

VICE-PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEES — There is no instance in American political history to suggest that the Vice-Presidential candidate of either party has ever insured his ticket's carrying a single state it would not otherwise win.

CONGRESSIONAL STRENGTH — Until 1948 no party which had won both houses of Congress in the previous Congressional election had ever failed to win the White House in the next Presidential election.

NEW PLANE — Moscow radio says the Soviet Union is experimenting with a vertical takeoff plane called the coleopter that shifts into level flight at the height of a 10-story building.

Castro Showed Pressing Need For Bogota Act

Latin-American cynics are calling the Act of Bogota "Operation Castro," but actually it is the culmination of a movement begun two years ago with a survey of Dr. Milton Eisenhower and the proposal for "Operation Pan-America" by President Kubitshchek of Brazil.

It is true that the United States really began to run with the ball only after Cuba Prime Minister Fidel Castro demonstrated the urgency of bringing economic aid and the means of social stability down to the level of the people, without waiting for the "filtering down" process from large developments.

RELIGIOUS ISSUE — Since the massive defeat of Al Smith, a Roman Catholic, in 1928, two diverse judgments have been evident. One is that it is still a fatal liability for a party to nominate a Catholic for the Presidency.

Its preamble calls for "further practical expression of the spirit of "Operation Pan-America."

While some of the Latin countries are disappointed at the size of the first American contribution, they kept going. Too, the potential power of the first half-billion is far greater than immediately appears, because it will be a revolving fund.

Latin-American development thus is given two legs to walk upon — increased industrial capacity, and social improvement at the lower levels, looking toward an increase resistance to communism.

Hurricane Blamed For Market Decline

NEW YORK — Clammy business weather combined with the discouraging effects of Hurricane Donna in New York to help along a fairly sharp stock market decline Monday.

STOCKS, autos, utilities, aircrafts, electronics and nonferrous metals were mostly lower. Key stocks, generally, were down from fractions to about a point.

Walter Kerr on Drama— Hopes Broadway Is Sensible After Wild Summer Movies

I do hope we're going to have a nice, sensible season in the theater. No wild improbabilities, no mistaking fantasy for fact, just a decently organized report on the way people really behave.

I express this longing for several reasons. I am one of those summer travelers who get where they are going by ship rather than by plane.

For instance, I seem to have got everything backwards in the matter of illicit love affairs, especially illicit love affairs in tawdry bad bedrooms.

The lovers talk, usually rather angrily, as they begin to realize what time it is. The woman is wearing a slip, except in "Psycho," where she is wearing a brassiere.

I do not question the emotional content of this scene, whatever it may be. I simply question the orderliness and good sense of that man's dressing habits.

I have also been exposed to a movie about a critic — a theater critic, I mean. This fellow was a brand new critic, he had never worked on a daily newspaper before, and it was just his luck to have to review a play produced by a friend of his on his very first night at the job.

all seems very natural to me. I am, or have been, friendly with six or seven producers, and they keep on embarrassing me in exactly the same way. Wouldn't you think they'd take up some other line of work?

Anyway, this critic managed to get to the theater all right, although he was a bit of a sight in these tails, and he even succeeded in finding his way back to the newspaper office once the opening night curtain had rung down. (I take it he was now in a newspaper office, though the fine oak panelling that lined the area around his typewriter suggested that he was also the managing editor or perhaps even the owner of the newspaper, which may explain further how he got the job.)

He was, of course, in a very tizzy of anguish. Seating his wife in a chair directly facing his desk, he paced and paced, chewing his lip and clasping and unclasping the moist hands behind his back. Could he possibly give his best friend a bad notice? If he didn't give him a bad notice, what would become of his integrity? Worse, if he praised a bad show wouldn't every man on the street know he'd done it out of friendship? Which sacrifice was he called upon to make? His wife, listening patiently as this finely-wrought ethic was hammered out, tended to be an integrity girl herself, and ended by urging him to do what he must do.

Candidates Invade Texas

Full Separation Of Church, State Is Ideal—Kennedy

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy told Protestant ministers Monday night he believes in absolute separation of church and state, with no Roman Catholic prelate telling a Catholic President how to act.

At the same time, Kennedy said, he believes in America where no Protestant minister tells his congregation for whom the congregation should vote.

Kennedy is a Roman Catholic, and in predominantly Protestant Texas, as well as in many other parts of the nation, this has become an important, if not the most important factor, in the presidential election.

Kennedy told the Greater Houston Ministerial Association that he's sorry this is so, that he thinks far more important issues confront this country.

"But because I am a Catholic," Kennedy said in his prepared speech, "and no Catholic has ever been elected President, the real issue in this campaign has been obscured, in some quarters less responsible than this."

"So it is apparently necessary for me to state once again — not what kind of church I believe in, for that would be important only to me — but what kind of America I believe in."

This, Kennedy said, is it: "I believe in an America where the separation of church and state is absolute — where no Catholic prelate would tell a President should he be Catholic how to act, and no Protestant minister would tell his parishioners for whom to vote — where no church or church school is granted any public funds or political preference — and where no man is denied public office merely because his religion differs from the President who appoints him or the people who might elect him."

Kennedy declared that if the time ever came when he was required to violate his conscience, he would resign the presidency.

Nixon in Houston On Coast-to-Coast Campaign Tour

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Richard M. Nixon swept his presidential campaign coast to coast Monday — and told cheering Texans that Democrats by their platform "forfeited their right to ask Democrats to vote for them."

The Republican vice president got a sendoff in Baltimore on his transcontinental tour from President Eisenhower and hurricane Donna.

"I say to you by what they did in Los Angeles in their platform, they forfeited their right to ask Democrats to vote for them."

In the home state of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson — the Democratic vice presidential nominee — Nixon said "those people were wrong" who said the Republican national ticket could not carry Texas again.

"We are going to campaign as if has never been campaigned before," Nixon said. "We are determined to win Texas, as we have carried it before." He conceded registration figures meant the odds were against him in Texas, which went for President Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956.

Thus, the Republican presidential nominee embarked on eight grueling weeks of campaigning — the grand finale of his drive for the White House. He said every state is a battleground and there is but a single overriding issue: "Keeping the peace without surrender and extending freedom."

Worker Held in Connection With Washington Death

WASHINGTON, Iowa — An Indiana construction worker is being held in connection with the death early Sunday of a Washington woman.

The body of Estelle Orr, 56, was found by William Foster and his brother, Robert, about 8 a.m. Sunday when they went to feed some hogs on their farm two miles north and a mile west of here.

At first, authorities had thought that Miss Orr had been beaten to death, but an autopsy at a Des Moines hospital found that she died of a heart attack.

The deputy sheriff said Junior Roll, 33, of Bedford, Ind., will be charged today with abandoning a body. The deputy said Roll has admitted:

1. That he met Miss Orr outside a Washington tavern around 11:30 p.m. Saturday, and that they went for a drive in the country.
2. That he robbed her. Authorities said they knew the woman had $70 in her billfold the previous night.
3. That he robbed a hotel roommate of $106.

Roll was quoted as saying that on their ride in the country, Miss Orr suddenly complained of a pain in the chest and slumped over. The sheriff quoted Roll as saying he became frightened and dragged Miss Orr's body into the field and left it.

University School Opens With 500 Students Present

More than 500 youngsters joined the back-to-school trek here Monday as the University schools opened. Public and parochial schools opened a week ago.

U-high reported a preliminary enrollment of 365 as students registered throughout the day. The elementary school, with its fixed enrollments of each grade, again had about 210 pupils.

Enrollment in public schools Monday totaled 4,855, or 83 more than the first-day total last Tuesday.

The total enrollment now is about 350 greater than the first week figure one year ago.

Three parochial schools here had nearly 1,000 students today.

Homecoming Weekend Preparations Underway

Initial preparations are now underway for that pleasant hodgepodge of festivities, football and fellowship which is Homecoming.

Following a familiar format, the SUI activities will begin Friday night, Oct. 21, with the 12th annual Homecoming parade followed by a pep rally in front of Old Capitol. Friday night's activities will continue after the pep rally with the Dolphin Show, a water extravaganza, and open house at Iowa Memorial Union.

Activities Saturday morning, Oct. 22, will include the annual Alumni Breakfast for Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary society; a field hockey game; coffee hours for alumni of various SUI colleges, and a chamber music program by the SUI Music Department.

Highlighting Homecoming Weekend will be the Iowa-Purdue football game Saturday afternoon. This will be followed by an Open House in the Fieldhouse-Armory with band and chorus music, square dancing, and other activities.

The Homecoming Dance and two performances of the Dolphin Water Show will complete the Homecoming schedule Saturday night.

Again this year, Miss SUI will reign over the Homecoming activities. It will be the second year that the Miss SUI contest has been scheduled so that the winner will rule during Homecoming Weekend.

Nicklaus Gains in Amateur

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Husky Jack Nicklaus, 4 up after five holes, scrambled for his life before beating Jack Donohue of Des Moines 1 up Monday as he opened defense of his National Amateur Golf Championship at the tricky St. Louis Country Club course.

The pink-faced blond from Ohio State, youngest champion ever when he won the amateur at Colorado Springs last year at 19, had to come from behind on the last three holes after starting out as if he intended to chase the 38-year-old Iowa insurance man off the course.

A curling four-foot putt on the 16th pulled him even, and he put away the pressure-tinged match with a five-footer at the 18th after they had halved the 17th hole.

"Just like last year," grimaced Nicklaus as he walked off the last green. "Seems like every match for me in the amateur is 1 up or never settled until the last green. Boy, I was lucky."

Monday's 72 winners go on to second round competition Tuesday, together with 56 from the bulky field of 200 who drew first round byes.

Included in the group drawing byes were two-time champion Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, who lost to Nicklaus in the 1959 final at Colorado Springs; former British amateur champion Bob Swerney and two-time NCAA champion Dick Crawford of the University of Crawford.

Strangely enough, in this tournament of upsets, form held up fairly well Monday.

One upset was scored by Fred Kammer of Detroit, who was 2 under for 17 holes in whipping veteran Dr. Ed Updegraff, Tucson, 2 and 1.

Billy Joe Patton, the of North Carolina, scrambled, won the 16th and 17th holes to beat Truman Cannon of Tequesta, Fla., 1 up.

Jim Jackson of Kirkwood, Mo., whose 69 was the best complete round of the day, beat Terry Wilcox of Ada, Okla., 2 up.

Two former champions, Dick Chapman of Oosterville, Mass., and Harold Ward of San Francisco, won easily.

Chapman, the 1940 champion, was two under par for 15 holes in finishing off Ed Preister of Cleveland 4 and 3 and commented:

"I can win this thing. I'm playing the best golf I've played in 15 years."

Ward, still a putting master, sank a 10-foot putt for a birdie on the 15th, a key five-footer for a halve, on the 17th, shot a 72 and beat tough John Owens of St. Joseph, Mo., 1 up.

"I can win, too," said Ward, who won the title in 1955 and 1956.

Donohue, four-time Des Moines open champion, found himself all but out of it almost before he got the kinks worked out of his back-swing. Nicklaus won the second through the fifth holes to go four up and still led three up at the turn, which he hit in a 1-over-par 36.

Then Donohue went to work. He chiseled away a stroke with a par on the 11th, another with a 20-foot putt for a birdie deuce on the 12th. He pulled even on the 576-yard 13th with a 18-footer for another birdie.

After they helved the 14th, Donohue's blazing putter came through for him again. A 15-footer and he had a birdie 4 on the 500-yard 15th. Now he led the defending champ one up with but three holes left.

Back came Nicklaus to pull even with a par on the 188-yard, par 3 16th as Donohue hit a trap and then two-putted. They halved 17 and both missed the green on their approach to 18.

Donohue's blast from a sand trap was long, however, and Nicklaus took advantage of the opening — chipping up to within five feet. After Donohue's 35-footer missed wide to the left, Nicklaus rammed in his putt for the victory.

Nicklaus had a medal score of 74 — 3 over par, while Donohue shot a 76.

Two other strong threats, Ward Wettlaufer, Walker Copper from Williamsville, N.Y., and Western Amateur Champion Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., played well to advance.

Watch the Birdie

With one foot in the air, John J. Donohue Jr., Des Moines, watches the ball as it heads for the cup on the 12th hole of the St. Louis Country Club during the U.S. Amateur Golf tournament Monday. The ball dropped for a birdie two on the hole. Donohue lost the match, however, 1-up, to defending champion Jack Nicklaus.

New Coach of Illini, Pete Elliott, on Spot

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Pete Elliott, newest and youngest football coach in the Big Ten, is on a spot this season with Illinois ranked high in the conference as well as nationally.

But the 33-year-old former Michigan star, coming to Illinois from California as the Big Ten's only new coach this year, is taking it all with a smile.

"What else can I do?" says the younger brother of Don Elliott, who is entering his second season as head man at Michigan. "All I can do is to win the season with Sept. 24 — Indiana, a team with its hickles up."

"Some of those rankings were made before anyone knew we lost Johnny Counts. We don't have a good breakout back without him and it changes our dimensions as a football team."

Counts, a sensational runner, flunked out. Another summer loss was speedy halfback Gary Kolb, who signed a professional baseball contract. Also missing is All-America linebacker Bill Burrell, who was graduated.

Elliott has 34 lettermen, 22 hold-over squadmen and 30 sophomores. Fullback, quarterback and tackles are the brightest spots.

Brothers Jim and Bill Brown give the Illini probably the best pair of halfbacks around. Bill, 22-year-old captain, topped the team last year in rushing (5.7 average), rushing yardage (504), points scored (36) and punting average (39.3).

Jim, 23, a 208-pounder, averaged 4.2 yards a crack as alternate for his brother. Currently he is nursing a broken left hand.

Replacing Counts at left halfback is Joe Krakoski, sensation of spring drills with his hard running. He was injured much of his sophomore year and saw little action in 1959.

Pirates Increase Lead As Cardinals Tumble

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Harvey Haddix threw a seven-hitter and got batting support from Dick Stuart as the Pirates beat San Francisco, 6-1, Monday night.

In the only other National League game played, Warren Spahn and Joe Adcock combined to give Milwaukee a 4-2 victory over St. Louis.

Philadelphia and Los Angeles were rained out.

Haddix struck out two and walked only one in picking up his eleventh triumph of the season against nine defeats. It was only his fourth complete game this year.

Stuart paced the National League leading Pirates' 16-hit attack with his three-for-four night. He smacked his 20th home run of the year in the fourth inning with teammate Bob Clemente on base. It was a long shot over the left field scoreboard.

The loss mathematically eliminated the Giants from the pennant race.

Spahn's 19th win against nine defeats left the southpaw only one game away from his fifth straight 20-victory season. He has 286 triumphs.

Adcock put the Braves in front in the second when he hit his 23rd homer after Wes Covington was hit by a Bob Gibson pitch.

The defeat, which gave Gibson a 3-6 record, trimmed the Cards' second place lead over the Braves to a single percentage point. The Redbirds are 7½ games behind the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

Pilot Denies Giants Feud

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Manager Tom Sheehan, manager of the San Francisco Giants, said Monday "as far as I'm concerned there's no feuding on this ball club."

Sheehan made that statement after being told there were published reports in San Francisco that pitchers Sam Jones and Jack Sanford were "angry" because they were being taken out of ball games.

"How about that," Sheehan said. "I know how the report probably got started. We were playing in Cincinnati the other night and Jones was pitching. We were behind 2-1 in the eighth inning and had a man on first and Jones was due to hit."

"I took him out for a pinch hitter and we got the runner advanced to second base. The runner later scored and we won the ball game. Jones was a little burned up but that's life. Later I gave him permission to leave the club at Cincinnati and go to his home at Monogah, W. Va. There's no feud as far as I am concerned."

Sanford said he had no complaints with Sheehan or Sheehan's managing.

Bob Stevens, San Francisco Chronicle sports writer, reported Monday from Pittsburgh that a feud is brewing between Sam Jones and Tom Sheehan.

He wrote Jones had screamed at Sheehan, "How the hell can a guy win 20 games if he gets taken out?" and later howled "How can I pitch for that man (Sheehan) when he hasn't any confidence in me?"

Evy Pushes Hawks Hard

Iowa football coach Forest Evashevski, disappointed that his Hawks have not responded during the first 10 days of drills, worked the squad a little harder Monday, knowing that the opener with Oregon State is less than two weeks away.

Evashevski is quick to acknowledge that the team has a lot of work to do before it will be ready to meet Oregon State.

To remedy that situation, the Hawkeye boss pushed the team for 2½ hours Monday morning during which kicking and offense were stressed.

In the afternoon session there was a contact scrimmage of about 45 minutes, with the first and second teams alternating on offense and defense against the third and fourth units.

To overcall at the lower levels with as many as three or four quick tricks may, at times, be a reckless act.

Yet there are occasions when a player may compete with a great deal less and not expose himself to great risk. Witness South's performance in today's hand.

West opened with one club and North, in consideration of vulnerability, refrained from participating. East responded with one heart and West was content to offer a single raise.

East held the middle of the road as he refused to carry on and this action, or rather inaction, was revealing to South, who reached the reasonable conclusion that partner had a smattering of "stuff," else the bidding would hardly have subsided at such an early stage.

It was evident to South that North could have no more than one heart and that very likely he was void. Reasonably good spade support could therefore, be visualized in partner's hand, and he considered it an appropriate time and place to give the enemy a bit of a push.

This gesture met with such unqualified approval by North that he promptly contracted for game. East, feeling that partner's honor was at stake, doubled.

West opened the king of clubs and, when it held, promptly shifted to the deuce of diamonds.

Dummy won with the king and returned a club. East was permitted to make his queen and a trump came back. South saw that, if he ducked and West had the king, a trump return might leave him with too few spades to ruff out all of dummy's losers.

So he climbed up with the ace, felling West's king and the rest proved routine.

A trump was led to the jack and a third club ruffed. Next came a diamond to the ace and the ace of clubs was trumped away. Now a heart ruff put the dummy in to draw the last trump and a diamond was conceded at the end.

Olympics Net $5.6 Million

ROME (AP) — The 1960 Olympics brought in an unprecedented $5.6 million in gate and television-radio receipts but the games only paid a part of the bill.

A spokesman for the organizing committee of the Italian Olympic Committee said Monday income from the games amounted to $4,300,000 in ticket sales — a record gate far surpassing the $3,000,000 gate at Helsinki — and $1,300,000 in fees for television and radio rights.

However, the Italian government is taking $1,200,000 in taxes, leaving a net income of $4,400,000.

The Italians paid more than 30 million dollars to build stadiums, roads and other facilities for the games. But these expenses were written off as capital investment since the stadiums, roads and Olympic village will be municipal assets for a long time to come.

Italian organizers say they figure the cost of actually staging the games at $6,400,000. This is the bill for such expenses as wages for employees specifically hired for the Olympics, the printing of Olympic programs, the arranging of transportation and press facilities, etc.
