Ribicoff, Williams Named to Government Posts

WASHINGTON — John F. Kennedy started forming his Cabinet Thursday, by tapping Gov. Abraham Ribicoff, an old friend and early Kennedy-for-President rooster, as his Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

In this job, the 50-year-old Ribicoff would play a key role in some of the programs Kennedy has labeled for priority consideration by the new Congress — aid to education, medical care for the aged and the like.

Standing at Kennedy's side as the announcement was made, Ribicoff declared his philosophy in this general field "is on all fours with the philosophy of President-elect Kennedy."

Several hours earlier, Kennedy made known that he had selected another pre-convention supporter — outgoing Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan — to be Assistant Secretary of State in charge of African affairs.

Williams, 49, who ends an unprecedented sixth term as Michigan's Governor on Jan. 1, said later he plans a brief tour of Africa between New Year's Day and Kennedy's inauguration on Jan. 20.

In the wake of these appointments, there was a hint the incoming President may announce Friday the man he has picked to head up the Budget Bureau.

His first caller Friday was listed as Prof. David Bell of Harvard, a 41-year-old specialist on public administration. The Boston Globe reported Wednesday that Bell appeared in line for the job of budget director.

Kennedy's one obvious disappointment of the day came when he apparently failed to persuade 65-year-old Robert A. Lovett, a New York investment banker, to accept a place in the Kennedy Administration.

After lunching with Lovett, the President-elect told newsmen "it is a great regret to me that he has retired" from further government service.

Lovett, a Republican, was Secretary of Defense and Undersecretary of State in the Democratic Administration of President Harry S. Truman. He had been mentioned in speculation as a possible appointee either as Secretary of Defense or Secretary of State under Kennedy.

The darkly handsome Ribicoff, son of Russian immigrants, was the first Jew elected Governor of Connecticut. He now is at the midpoint in his second four-year term, and said he will resign after the Senate confirms his Cabinet appointment.

Under its jurisdiction fall the Social Security Administration, the Office of Education, the Public Health Service and similar agencies.

In addition to being Governor of Connecticut, Ribicoff served two terms in the House of Representatives, did duty in the State Legislature and was a city judge in Hartford.

The President-to-be, still a senator from Massachusetts, journeyed to Capitol Hill during the day to confer with three Democratic colleagues who will wield influence in shaping a legislative program.

One of them, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, took the occasion to announce he intends to step out as chairman of the Democratic National Committee after the new Administration takes office.

Kennedy also conferred with Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, a leader of Southern Democratic forces. The appointment had been set up in Russell's office, but the Georgian went to Kennedy's suite instead, saying he decided "the proprieties required me to come up here." They skirted civil rights — a potentially touchy issue between them — and spoke about agriculture and defense matters.

Agriculture, Government reorganization and appointments were the subjects when Kennedy spoke with Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Humphrey, whom Kennedy defeated for the Democratic Presidential nomination, said the name of Minnesota Gov. Orville Freeman, beaten for re-election on Nov. 8, was dismissed.

Another caller at the Kennedy home was Rep. Stewart L. Udall of Arizona, mentioned in speculation about the job of Secretary of the Interior.

Women Intensify School Boycotts

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Shoving and kicking women — angered by a crack in their pupil boycott at integrated schools — took out after a university student, a reporter and a minister's dog Thursday.

Six white children attended classes at William Frantz School, center of this week's disturbances, in contrast to the two who attended Wednesday.

Screaming insults, picketing housewives manhandled Sydney Goldfinch, a Tulane University student, saying he led recent downtown sit-in demonstrations. They shoved and kicked him. Police rescued him.

"Jew bastard. Nigger lover," the women taunted as police took the youth — son of a Baptist minister — to a squad car. "I hope you have a bunch of mulatto grandchildren," yelled one woman.

Police ordered reporter Jerry Hopkins of the New Orleans Times-Picayune out of the area. Women demonstrators accused Hopkins of hitting them with a camp stool.

Police also forced from the neighborhood two newsmen on leave from Time and Life magazines. The two — Ken Smelson and Greg Shuker — "were causing trouble," police said.

The two men had asked a man: "Why do you oppose interracial marriage." Several newsmen were kicked or shoved. No one was arrested.

Yelling women thronged around the home of the Rev. Lloyd Foreman, a Methodist minister whose daughter attends William Frantz kindergarten. Police kept them off the minister's lawn.

The minister's dog, a black and white animal, showed up. "Look," yelled one woman, "he's even got an integrated dog."

Some demonstrators threw stones at the dog. Foreman provoked the ire of the demonstrators early in the day when he escorted his daughter and two unidentified white youngsters into William Frantz.

Mrs. James Gabrielle, whose daughter also has been attending the integrated school all week, evaded the catcalls and shoving, that previously forced police protection, by showing up early with her child.

A chill wind and 40-degree weather may have kept the number of pickets a bit below the number that demonstrated Wednesday.

U.S. Rocket Fragments Hit Cuba

WASHINGTON — The Air Force said Thursday night that "it is likely" that fragments of metal which fell on Cuba were from the unsuccessful satellite fired from Florida Wednesday — as Cuba claims.

This conclusion was reached by the Air Force after comparing serial numbers on the fragments, as reported by the Cuban press, with numbers known to have been on some parts of the Thor booster rocket used in the launching.

However, the Air Force said, "Positive identification can be made only if we have an opportunity to examine the fragments." A Defense Department spokesman, in answer to questions about the brief Air Force statement, said that preliminary information indicates that the booster engine cut off too soon after the launching from Cape Canaveral.

Although the booster cut off, the second stage of the rocket, carrying the twin satellite spheres, had separated from the booster and continued to coast upward and then the second-stage engine ignited.

SUI Faculty Salaries Rank Behind Big Ten Average

By CAROLYN JENSEN and JANET MOBERLY Staff Writers

When Life magazine labeled SUI "academically unchallenging" and "unsophisticated," students asked "Why?"

One answer frequently given is that the Iowa legislature has failed to provide adequate funds for faculty members' salaries.

Thursday, a Des Moines Register editorial pointed to a recent study of Iowa universities. The study, made by Indiana University's Raymond Gibson, professor of education, stated that salaries paid professors at SUI and ISU should definitely be increased.

Gibson recommended that the legislature appropriate money to raise salaries of professors $3,000, associate professors $2,000, and other faculty members $1,000 for the first year of the biennium. He also suggested that a further increase of eight per cent be given in the second year.

Provost Harvey H. Davis admits that the SUI salary scale is lower than the average Big Ten school. He agrees with Gibson that an increase in faculty salaries is needed. "You have to compete with other schools," said Davis. "It costs money to get competent faculty members and it costs more to keep them."

Salaries at SUI are based on dif-

School Vote Scheduled For Monday

Superintendent Says $750,000 Needed For More Classrooms

By DICK BUDD Staff Writer

Passage of a $750,000 school bond issue Monday could help ease the Iowa City elementary schools' growing pains, according to school officials.

"Soaring enrollment figures have made present building space inadequate," said Buford W. Garner, city superintendent of schools.

Figures released by the Board of Education indicate projected enrollment for the early 1960's will nearly triple the 1950 totals. In 1950-51, there were 1,385 pupils attending city schools, compared with the 1964 estimate of 3,765.

Garner said six of the seven elementary schools in the system are already over-crowded. The seventh, Horace Mann, is nearing capacity, as well as being one of the oldest buildings in the system.

The largest share of the $750,000 bond issue, $422,000, has been earmarked for construction of a new 12-classroom building on Old Highway 6. If voters approve the levy, the new building, to be named Robert Lucas, would be ready for occupancy in Sept., 1962.

A 7-room proposed addition to Mark Twain School will be allotted $168,500 for completion next September. A Board report shows that Mark Twain, with its 16 rooms, is cramped and has had to transfer some students to Southeast Junior High.

Addition of seven classrooms is also planned for Roosevelt at an estimated cost of $159,436. The proposed two-story addition would be ready for use in Sept., 1961.

In an appeal for voter support of the measure, the seven-member Board of Education pointed out that passage of the bond issue could ward off a space crisis in the near future.

To support payment of bonds, property taxes would be levied. Garner said the annual average cost to the taxpayer would be $1.80 per $1,000 of assessed valuation over the 16-year period for which the bonds will be drawn.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday in four precincts. To pass, the bond issue must receive a 40 per cent majority vote. All Iowa City residents must have valid registrations on file in order to vote. Residents of East and West Lucas Townships and University Heights must take an oath that they are qualified voters.

Precinct designations and their locations are: SUI Communications Center, first ward, first precinct, and all of second ward precincts; Central Junior High School gymnasium, third ward precincts, fourth ward precincts and East Lucas Township; Longfellow School, fifth ward precincts; Roosevelt School, first ward, second precinct, University Heights and West Lucas Township.

Two Would Refuse Rooms to Negroes

By GEORGE JUDY Staff Writer

A proposed plan to help end racial and religious discrimination in approved off-campus housing was met with protest, indifference, and objection by owners of off-campus housing units Thursday.

The plan, which was introduced and passed by the SUI Student Council Wednesday night will be sent to President Hancher for University approval soon.

The resolution stated that any landlord found guilty of practicing discrimination in renting to students would not be allowed to rent to students for two full semesters following the instance of discrimination.

A random sample interview of 15 off-campus housing owners today found at least eight of them opposed to the plan. Four owners had no opinion and only three stated that it would not matter to them if such a resolution were passed.

Four owners who opposed the plan said that other people renting rooms in their house would not accept colored people.

One man explained that he would rent rooms to people he wanted and the University "should not try to dictate to whom he could and could not rent rooms to." He also maintained that the instigators of this resolution were probably "poorly informed" and "did not understand the complexities of the problem."

Two owners said that they would not take Negro boarders into their houses and gave no reason for their policy.

Many owners said that although they didn't agree with the resolution they would correspond with any University ruling. In several cases the money gotten through the rental of rooms was the owners' main source of income. Several owners said that if the resolution passed they would stop renting to students. One man felt that even if the resolution was approved it would not be effective.

One of the owners said that the people who proposed this plan were just "looking for trouble," and that racial relation problems are problems of the South and the large cities and has never been of any importance in Iowa City. He also maintained that the students that were "overemphasizing the racial problem," made up that "group of crack-pots that are bound to be found in a body of 11,000 students."

Stone appeared at the Student Council meeting held Wednesday night at the request of Council Vice President Jerry Lutz, A.C. Conesville. Lutz had asked Stone to present a report of the committee's progress at that time.

Stone told the Council Wednesday that the committee believed it had abided by the resolution fully in submitting its report to the Office of Student Affairs. He said, as he understood the resolution, the committee was not required to report on its activities to the Student Council.

Wednesday's Student Council meeting adjourned with a resolution on the floor requesting that a progress report of this committee be given at the Council's next meeting.

The student body and four faculty trustees appointed by the president of the University. The Daily Iowan's editorial policy, therefore, is not an expression of SUJ administration policy or opinion, in any particular.

Football's most unique team was chosen this week. The players selected are listed below, with their colleges and universities in parentheses:

ALL-ALINEAMENTS: ENDS: Howie Kaplan (SDC), and Barry Goldwater (Arizona State); TACKLES: Jerry Lutz (School of Thought), and Ezra Benson (Tian State); GUARDS: Freddie "Bogorra" Boland (UN), and Steve Canyon (Air Force); CENTER: Harry Truman (Missouri); LINEBACKERS: Board of Regents (Landon School of Economics).

ALL-ALL Backfield: H A L F B A C K S: Charlie "The Schnozz" De Gaulle (Sorbonne), and Tony Accardo (Capone State); F U L L B A C K: Patricia "Crazylegs" Lumbumba (Cong J.C.); QUARTERBACK: John F. Tackles, Lutz has proved himself an able DEFENDER, and Benson is known throughout the Midwest for his strong support(s). Boland earned a guard slot for his ability to come through when the "chips" are down; Canyon, known for breaking barriers, was selected to satisfy the Pentagon.

In the backfield, De Gaulle earned a halfback slot for his exceptional use of the Statue of Liberty play; Accardo was placed at right half due to his evasive methods. Lumbumba earned the fullback slot for his escape techniques, and Kennedy will call the plays because of his staggering blow to the opposition and his WASHINGTON — Those twenty individuals, whose names are best known to the gangland elite and who, on a rainy day in November, 1957, were by some accidental magnet all simultaneously drawn from many parts of the United States, Cuba, and Italy, to visit the baronial mansion of a sick friend in Appalachin, N.Y. — are today busy about their work free from their recent and only mildly cumbersome entanglements with the law.

Good Listening — Today On WSUI

- WHY DO BARBERS figure in so many operas? I mean, we all know the Barber of Seville and Figaro (they're the same guy but two different operas) and now comes "The Barber of Bagdad," by Peter Cornelius. Fortunately, Avril O'Brien will be on hand at 7:30 tonight to straighten up the plot and sort out the various tonorial artists; who knows, she may be carried away by the theme and play a little Dallah to our Samson. Anyway, when we finally get around to hearing the "B. of B.," we'll hear the Brenzenz, Austria, music festival performance of last August 2, with Heinrich Hollreiser conducting the Vienna Symphony Orchestra.
- IF YOU HAVE SEEN THE PLAY, "A Dream Play," by Strindberg, currently on the stage of the SUJ Theatre, you may be interested to hear what the director, Phil Benson, has to say about it. Moreover, listeners who are planning to see the play next week will benefit from hearing Benson's views on the playwright and this particular work. Those thoughts may be heard on CUE, Saturday, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.
- SATURDAY SUPPLEMENT may be as mysterious as the workings of the human mind; in fact, that's the very theme this week when SV converses at 1 p.m. (Saturday, of course).
- ANOTHER OF OUR SECRETARIES, Miss Karene Eades, has made the switch to private enterprise. Winding up several months of service with the boys and girls at WSUI, she has qualified at last as operator of a pre-school. Toddlers who can operate the new dialing system may call her about study opportunities; others must get Mommie or Daddy to make arrangements. Remember: A little knowledge is a dangerous thing.
- GOOD TALK is in store for listeners to WSUI early next week. On Monday, at 8 p.m., British novelist Angus Wilson may be heard on British books and society; on Tuesday, at 8 p.m., Arnold Wolfers, political scientist, who spoke in the Shambaugh Lecture Series Wednesday evening, will treat "Neutrality, Neutralism and the Cold War." A special interview with Wolfers, touching directly on U.S. foreign policy, will be added.

Memorable Moments — 'A Dream Play'

—All Too Brief

By WALTER R. KELLER
Daily Iowan Reviewer

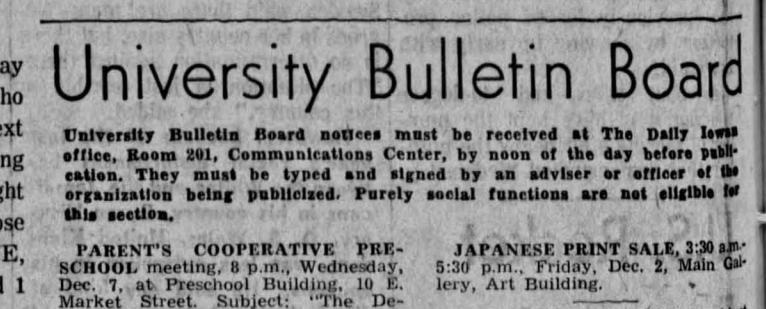

Philip A. Benson directed August Strindberg's "A Dream Play," which opened last night. Although the production had its memorable and semi-memorable moments, I came away with an overriding impression of diffuseness and a lack of focus.

A dream is diffuse by its very definition, and Strindberg deftly projected the aberrated nuances of the dream state. It was just those nuances and inherent moments of indefiniteness which proved the director's and actors' main pitfall — for you can't project the latter characteristics effectively with indefinite, unfocused acting and an overall tone of "feeling one's way."

As the lawyer, Bill Elwood's moments of fire (more a smoldering than a blaze) were essentially washed out by his blandness. I am not sure just how Mr. Elwood conceived of his character, but if he felt his main trait was blandness (heaven forbid!) then he should realize that one can't play blandness by being bland (if, indeed, one can play that nebulous state at all).

I found myself wondering just how much suffering he was actually going through in his early scenes; he seemed to lack enough concern for the character... the lines.

But I kept wanting to scream out to her: "Mrs. Thayer, do you really believe it when you say you are 'earthbound'?"

'Oh, Isn't Love Wonderful?'

livability — flashes all too brief. Bill Carr, as the officer endlessly seeking his perfect love, Victoria, persistently marred a generally good performance with a throaty, diaphragmless voice. Many of his otherwise well-executed scenes were garbled in vocal transmission. I kept wishing that he would try using his diaphragm to aid in the shouting, rather than starting the voice somewhere up around the larynx.

And yet, despite all these rather negative, wishful feelings about many of the main characters, I will not soon forget those "moments" I mentioned earlier. The most effective scene of the play was the awarding of the laurel wreaths at graduation. The staging was superb; the solemnity and vividness in perfect proportion. Each character in the scene, to the last female laurel-giver, was perfect. (Mr. Elwood had his best moments during this scene.)

I went away shouting BRAVO! to Judy Puttcamp for her wry insistence as she pasted her way along; to Newell Tarrant, as the elderly top, for his priceless gift to us of ugliness and dogged persistence; to the four deans — Scott Frye, Roger Collison, Paul Elliott and Mike Gillette for their vibrating moments of squabbling and didacticity; and finally, to the many Righteous People and Poor People for their intelligent application of what was the brighter part of Mr. Benson's direction.

His staging of many of the crowd scenes is to be commended; I found myself noting often the well-balanced effect.

Wilms Marcus should also be applauded for the imaginative dance movements which she somehow persuaded largely inexperienced people to perform with a surprising degree of restraint and control.

After just under two hours of theatre, I was left with the impression of seeing a spectacular "production" which seemed to lack enough of the raw meat of the play.

Higbee, chairman, 7-5457, or her assistants, Mrs. Paul Sayre, 7-3803, and Mrs. Arthur Trowbridge, 7-9403. "Christmas" decorations will brighten the bridge tables.

Big Scrapbook for Children

The Iowa City Junior Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) spent approximately 128 hours in preparing a giant scrapbook full of color pictures. The group made the entire book itself, under the supervision of its advisor, Mrs. John Fisher, Rural Route 2, and presented the scrapbook to the children at the University Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children as its holiday gift project for the year. Left to right are Karen Albright, 502 Third Ave., Junior VFW member, Jane Swanson, student at the school, Mrs. Fisher, Barbara Wilson, student at the school, and Shirley Sharp, 1022 First Ave., a union VFW member.

ATO, Chi Omega To Hold Winter Formals This Weekend

"Alpine Rendezvous" is the theme of the Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity's winter formal which is to be held this evening. The fraternity house will take on the appearance of a ski lodge, with skis, and toboggans decorating the room.

Trio Plus combo will be playing for the dance. The downstairs lounge of the house will become "Club Tau." The currency to be used in the gambling casino will be "house currency."

Prior to the dance, a dinner will be held at the Ranch Supper Club. Chaperones for the evening will be Mrs. Esther Novbeck, ATO housemother, Mrs. George Whitford, Sigma Nu housemother, and Mrs. Marshall McKusick, Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Stamp, 1504 Glendale Dr., and Mrs. Selma Yetter, a former ATO housemother.

Alpha Xi House Sets Yule Fetes

Soon the sparkle of tinsel, the smell of pine needles, the excitement of mistletoe and the refrain of favorite carols will create a gay Christmas atmosphere at Alpha Xi Delta sorority house.

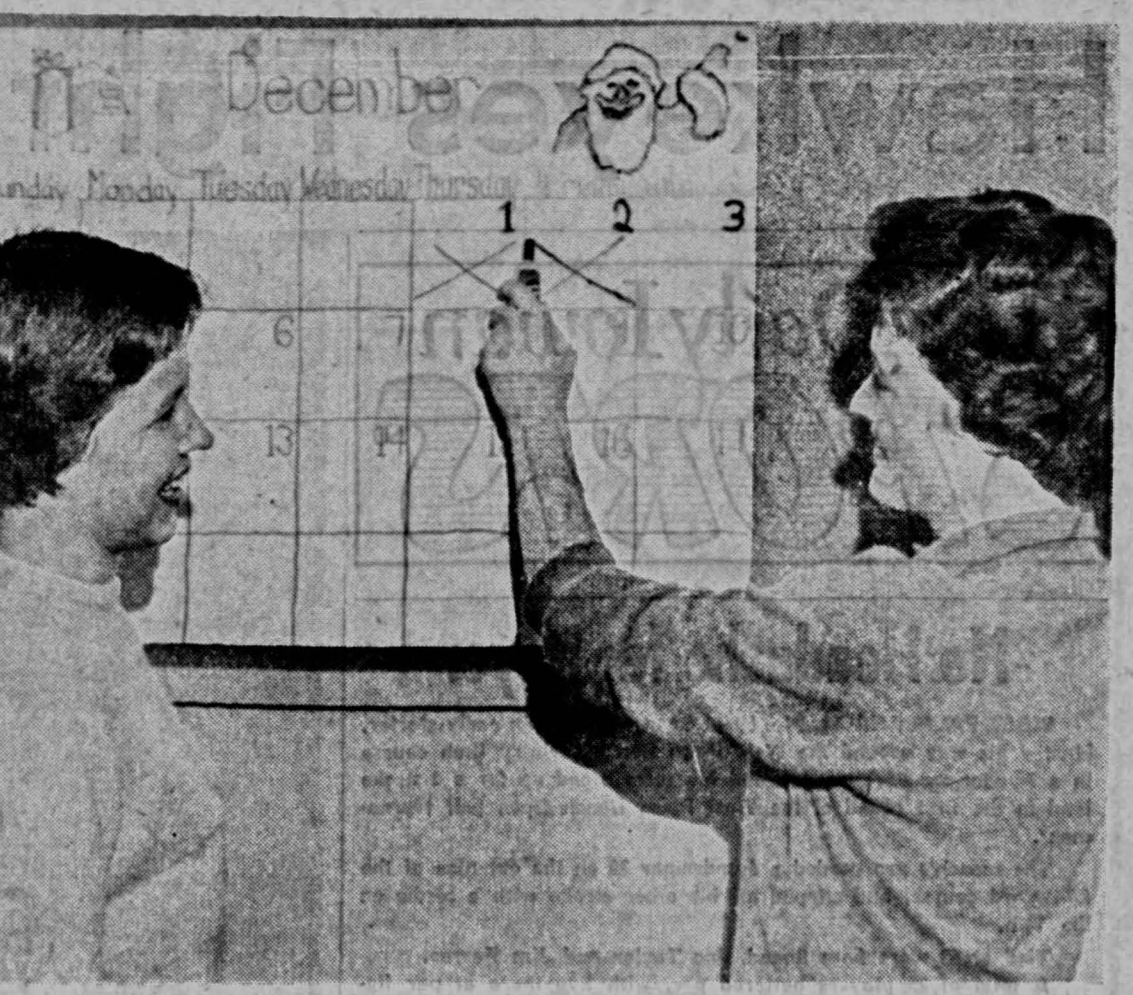

The sorority's holiday activities will begin on Saturday, Dec. 3, when an afternoon tree-trimming party will be held at the chapter house for members and their dates. Christmas music and refreshments will encourage the participants in their decorating endeavors.

Sunday, Dec. 4, the Alpha Xi's will hold their traditional Christmas buffet. A holiday menu, a brightly-decorated house, carefully-planned "chance-meetings" under the mistletoe, and the singing of carols will be climaxed by a visit from Santa Claus who will distribute "tee-hee" gifts to the male guests.

The week of December 5 through 10 will be Cheerful Cherub week at the Alpha Xi house. Each girl is secretly assigned an unknown cherub who will do good deeds for her throughout the week, always "trying to maintain her anonymity. The climax of the week will come on Saturday evening, at which time the senior members will present the Christmas Cozy. After entertainment, Santa Claus will appear to reveal each girl's cherub and present gifts to all. Refreshments and singing will close the evening.

Strangers Will Be Gamma Phi Guests

A Christmas fireside will be held Wednesday by Gamma Phi Beta social sorority. At 4:15 p.m. the girls will all leave the sorority house with instructions to not come back without a guest. Preferred guests are those who have never seen the inside of a sorority house before. Christmas shoppers, store clerks and other strangers will be taken back to the house and served punch and cookies before a blazing fire.

'One More Down!'

Although many people are counting the number of days until Christmas, or the number of shopping days left, Barb Hlavacek, A3, Riverside, Ill., and Jody Ahrold, A3, Des Moines are crossing off the days left until Christmas vacation.

"Only fourteen days left." These gals aren't the only SUIwans marking off the days, however the next two weeks promise to keep every student busy with exams, papers, parties, and formals.

Hawkeyes Fight Back To Score 77-75 Win

14-Point Rally Pays

By PHIL CURRIE
Assistant Sports Editor

After trailing most of the game, Iowa's cagers squeaked by South Dakota State 77-75 Thursday night in the season's opener for both squads.

The Jackrabbits led 58-48 midway in the second half when the Hawks caught fire. They poured in 14 straight points in three minutes to move out in front 64-58.

Iowa was never headed after that, although South Dakota pulled to a 67-67 tie with 5:16 left in the game. Then guard Dave Maher hit a quick jump shot and the Hawks pulled ahead for good.

Forward Don Nelson, top scorer for Iowa last year, led the Hawkeyes with 21 points. Guards Ron Zagar and Dave Maher followed closely with 19 and 17 points respectively.

Don Jacobsen, guard for the North Central Conference squad, topped the Jackrabbits with 22 points. He also captured eight rebounds. Sophomore Frank Allen picked off 22 rebounds for the Hawks.

After Iowa jumped off to a 4-0 lead, the Jackrabbits quickly closed the gap and moved ahead 12-7 with less than four minutes gone.

Ron Zagar kept the Iowa squad in the game in the early minutes by scoring 9 of Iowa's first 16 points. With 13 minutes left in the first half, Iowa tied the score at 18-18. That was the last time the two teams were tied until the second half when Coach Sharm Scheurman's squad blazed its comeback trail. South Dakota State led at halftime 32-27.

When the Jackrabbits came out in the second half, it looked as though they were about to take command permanently. They pulled away to an apparently commanding margin, 58-48. Iowa then took a time out. After that, things started to happen.

Maher, who managed a smooth floor game all night, opened the rally with a jump shot from 12 feet out. Nelson dropped in two free throws and 14 seconds later slammed in a dunk shot to close the margin to 56-58.

Maher hit a drive-in shot to tie the game and was fouled in the process. His free throw was good and the Hawks led 59-58. Zagar cashed in on a drive-in and Frank Allen dropped in a free throw to end the Hawks' 14-point splash.

The Jackrabbits were not out at the contest yet, however, and trailed only by two and three point spreads down to the final three minutes when Nelson hit a layup and followed it soon afterwards with a free throw. That gave the Hawks a 75-70 edge, their greatest margin for the game.

With 34 seconds left, State's La Moine Torgerson sank a free throw for the Jackrabbits' final score. They intercepted an Iowa pass in the last seconds but were unable to get a shot before the game ended.

The Hawks' superior height gave them a good advantage on the boards as they grabbed a total of 60 rebounds to 38 for South Dakota State. However, the Iowa team made only 33 of 94 field goals for a .351 percentage while the Jackrabbits counted 27 of 71 for a .380 mark.

South Dakota State also topped Iowa at the free throw line where they hit 21 of 18 for Iowa.

The Hawkeyes will meet Evansville, NCAA small college champs, at Evansville, Ind., Saturday in their next contest.

Lucas Leads Bucks Past Ohio U. 85-64

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's Buckeyes, defending national basketball champions, swept past Ohio University 85-64 in the opener.

Led by All-America Jerry Lucas, the Buckeyes scored the first three baskets in the game and were never behind.

Lucas, 6-8 junior, scored 29 points and set up countless other baskets. He scored 16 points in the first half, added 13 in the second and sat out the last 2½ minutes.

By halftime, Ohio State had built up a 40-26 lead.

Gotham Bowl Tilt Canceled

NEW YORK (AP) — The inaugural Gotham Bowl football game, scheduled to be played at Yankee Stadium Dec. 10, will not be held this year, bowl director Bob Ready said Thursday.

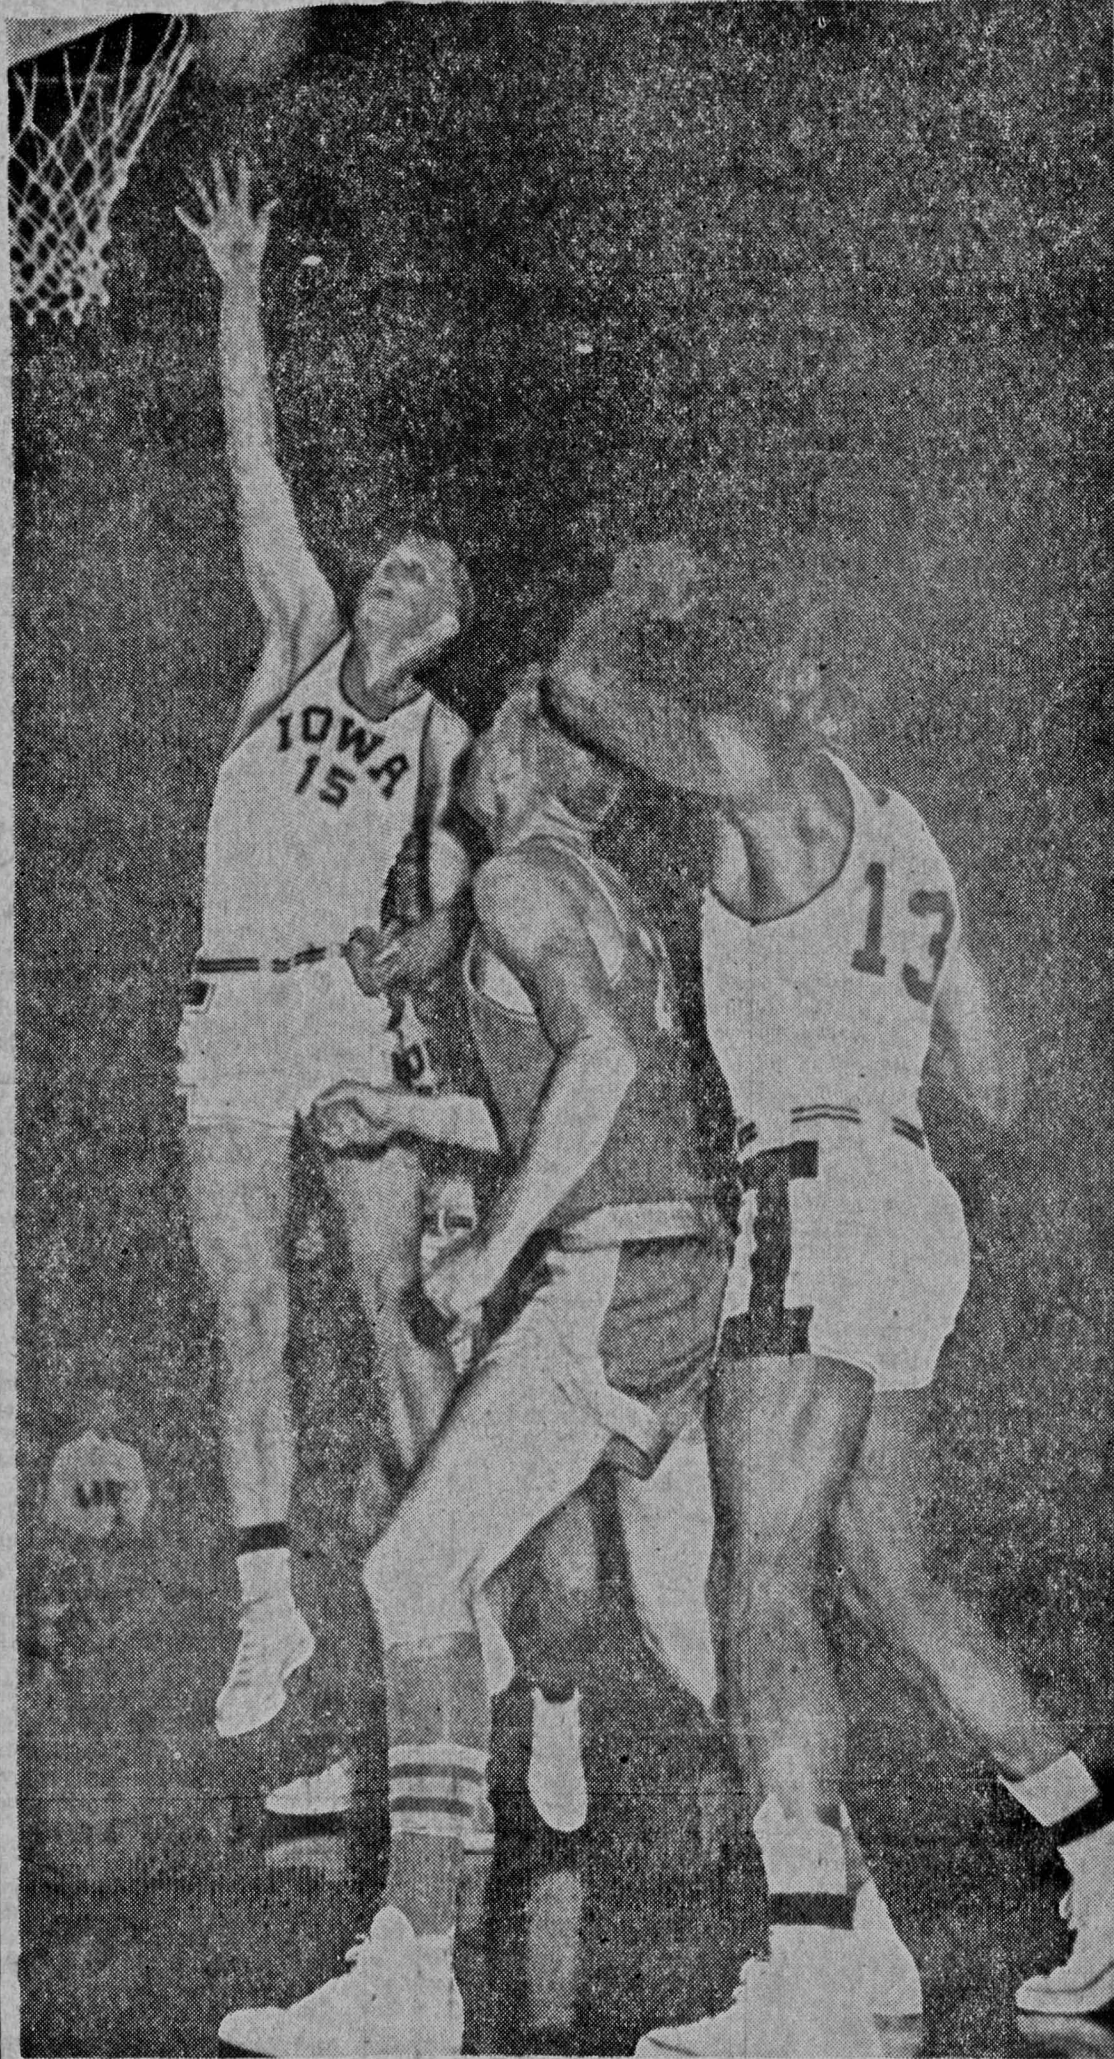

Oregon State's football squad had accepted an invitation to play this year but the committee was unable to find a suitable opponent.

Efforts to salvage the game fell through Wednesday night when Holy Cross rejected its second invitation.

Lawrie To Lead Walker Cuppers

LONDON (AP) — Britain's golf selectors Thursday named Charles Lawrie, 37-year-old Scottish amateur, as captain of the British Walker Cup team against the United States at Seattle next September.

They will wait until July 5 before choosing the rest of the squad that will try to end America's run of seven straight victories.

Baseball 'Big 3' Seek Unity

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's top three officials, after nearly nine hours of conferences, drafted several amendments Thursday they hope will help unify the major leagues in their expansion programs.

"The two-day meeting is concluded," Commissioner Ford Frick's office announced after a 2½-hour second session among Frick, National League President Warren Giles, American League President Joe Cronin and their attorneys.

"Several amendments to Rule 1 have been prepared for presentation to the 16 clubs at the meeting in St. Louis."

None of the three had any further comment.

The two leagues will consider the amendments, aimed at clearing the way for AL expansion to 10 teams next year and the NL to 10 teams in 1962, at separate meetings opening the winter meetings in St. Louis Monday.

If approved, the amendment or amendments will go on to further consideration at a joint meeting. The rule says, in effect, that unanimous approval of all major league clubs is required when one league wants to establish a team in a city now occupied by a team from the other league.

No Headache for Bayer

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — George Bayer, an early starter, blasted his way around the West Palm Beach Country Club course in a 7-under-par 65 Thursday and his score stood up for a 3-stroke lead in the first round of the West Palm Beach Open golf tournament.

The massive pro carded a 6-under-par 30 on the out nine of the 6,745-yard course, and slipped off his other stroke with a birdie on the 10th.

Tied at 68 were Sam Snead, Joe Taylor and Jim Ferree.

A total of 25 players bettered par, with five more at par figures. Arnold Palmer, who last Sunday captured the Mobile, Ala., Open to become the biggest one-year money winner with a total $73,716, was tied with 12 others in the 71 bracket, five strokes off the pace.

The second round will be played Friday and the 72-hole event will wind up Sunday.

Opening lead: King of ♣ West led the king of clubs, which declarer ruffed with the three. The king of diamonds revealed the bad break in that suit, and declarer led the six of diamonds, winning with the nine in dummy. When the spade finesse succeeded, declarer cashed the queen of diamonds, and then the last trump to dummy's ace exhausted all hands of that suit. On the repeated spade finesse, declarer raked in 12 tricks, conceding a heart at the end.

North expressed himself in a highly complimentary manner to partner; West, just as vigorously, pointed out the enormous luck into which South had fallen, and all seemed to share the belief that a natural result had been attained.

Perhaps so. But West could have saved many hundreds of points had he remained calm enough under fire to follow the spots in the trump suit.

The opening lead was ruffed with the three, and declarer next played the king. His remaining diamonds were therefore marked as Q-10-6. When he led the six at trick three, West should have played the jack instead of the low one.

This sacrifices nothing since his jack is trapped in any event, but it gives declarer only one entry into dummy instead of two and prevents the taking of two spade finesses.

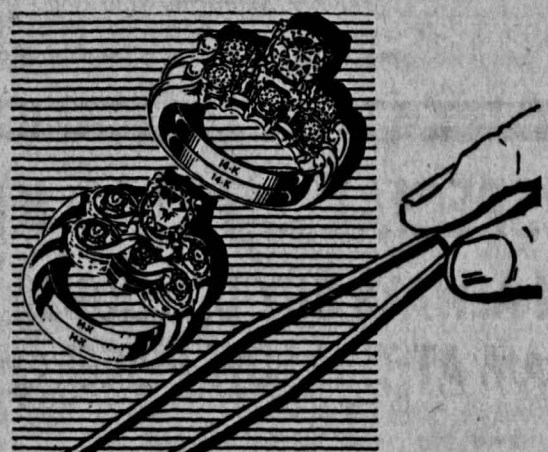

On the surface, it would appear, therefore, that a natural result had not been achieved.

Actually, however, it was, for at the start declarer could have protected himself by ruffing with the ten of diamonds instead of the three, in which case it would not have required contributory negligence on the part of West to permit fulfillment of the contract.

Analysis will show this to be the sound play. It is preferable not to protect against four diamonds in the East hand. If that is the holding, it is doubtful that the spade suit can be brought in.

Iowa City police and firemen move from their 79-year-old quarters next week to the new Police Safety Building, a city official today.

The move from the old City Building — which was built in 1881 — is expected to take about 10 days. The new building is on Washington Street, between Bert and Van Buren Streets block from old City Hall.

The $180,000 building will be ready for occupancy as soon as the floor tile, according to architect Henry Fisk, of Iowa City.

The building is the first of a new building to be built at the location. It will make up the new Civic Center. The contract for the Administration Building, which will be needed to the Public Safety Building by a lobby, will be let Jan. 1961. A new recreation center to replace the one which burned in 1955 will be the third new building in the center.

Police, Firemen Plan Move to New Site

By BOB INGLE
Staff Writer

Iowa City police and firemen will move from their 79-year-old quarters next week to the new Public Safety Building, a city official said today.

The move from the old City Hall building — which was built in 1881 — is expected to take about two days. The new building is on East Washington Street, between Gilbert and Van Buren Streets — a block from old City Hall.

The $180,000 building will be ready for occupancy as soon as workmen have finished laying floor tile, according to architect Henry Fisk, of Iowa City.

The building is the first of three to be built at the location. They will make up the new Civic Center.

The contract for the Administration Building, which will be connected to the Public Safety Building by a lobby, will be let Jan. 12, 1961. A new recreation center to replace the one which burned in 1955 will be the third new building in the Center.

Both police and firemen are pleased with the new building. "I can hardly believe it's true," said Police Chief Emmett E. Evans. "Words can't describe how happy we are to be moving to a building with adequate working space."

The police station, which is in the south half of the building, has two cells for men and one for women or juveniles, a booking room, a records room, a radio control room, a public waiting room, and reception room, a laboratory, a photographic darkroom, and offices for the chief, detectives, and highway patrolmen.

One new innovation at the police station is an entry-garage. The door of the garage opens when a patrol car approaches, allowing the policeman to take the prisoner directly to the cells. The prisoner thus will be isolated from public areas.

Prisoners at the new jail will find their stay colorful — the bars and steel furniture in the women's cell is pastel blue, and in the men's cells they are brilliant pink!

The fire station, in the north half, has an equipment room large enough to accommodate four fire trucks, the chief's car, and the city boat.

It also has a dormitory for 24 men, a modern kitchen, a utility and recreation room, a hose storage room, a fire chief's office, and a watch room.

School children who visit the new fire station will probably be disappointed to find that there is no brass pole for the firemen to slide down. Instead, the firemen's quarters are located just north of the equipment room. When there is a fire, they can run through a large double door to the trucks.

The tower in the center of the building is for drying high-pressure hoses, which is necessary to prevent them from rotting.

When the fire equipment is moved into the building, Fire Station No. 2, at 320 S. Gilbert St., will be left vacant.

The basement under half the new building contains the boiler room, a fire equipment repair room, and a 50-foot police pistol range.

Mayor Ray Thornberry expressed his appreciation to the University for its help in financing the fire station. SUI pays 28 per cent of the annual operating expenses of the fire department, or about 14 per cent of the cost of the new building.

Thornberry also said he was grateful for the provision in the State Code which allows cities to levy taxes for capital improvements.

Bond issues in 1954 and 1956 for a new Civic Center were turned down by Iowa City voters. The new building is being financed by tax levies of three mills in 1958 and 1959, and three and three-quarters mills in 1960 and 1961. The levy will also pay part of the cost of the proposed library addition.

The 1958-1959 tax levy provided only $164,000 for the Public Safety Building. The other $16,000 will be taken from the annual operating expense fund for the police and fire departments.

Construction of the Administration Building, which will house all city offices, will begin next September. It will cost an estimated $275,000.

Until the Administration Building is completed, the Traffic Bureau, where traffic tickets are paid, and the Police Court will be located in the Public Safety Building.

The old City Hall, described by the Iowa City Weekly Republican in 1881 as "a model of elegance and tasteful architecture," will then be torn down. The City Council has indicated that the site will either be sold or used for a public parking lot.

Team To Inspect SUI ROTC Unit

SUI's AFROTC detachment will be inspected Monday and Tuesday by a two man team from Headquarters, AFROTC, Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., Capt. Clarke S. Scott, director of leadership has announced.

Lt. Col. James A. Thrash, Jr., and Major Kenneth M. Hammer will be here for the annual inspection of the detachment.

A special wing staff briefing will be held Monday morning for the two officers.

General To Address 900 AFROTC Cadets

Brigadier General John E. Dougherty, USAF, will be in Iowa City Monday to speak to the nearly 900 cadets in the SUI AFROTC Wing.

General Dougherty, Deputy Chief of Staff, Intelligence Headquarters, Air Research and Development Command, will give an account of the increasingly important role that missiles, aerospace programs, science, engineering and research are playing in the Air Force.

The program, to be presented at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Maebride Auditorium, is open to the public.

Special guests, invited by Col. Charles Kirk, Professor of Air Science, include professors and heads of the Engineering and Physics Departments, along with the SUI military officers committee.

General Dougherty, DOUGHERTY, who will be accompanied by two other officers, will be introduced by Cadet Col. James Krambeck, A4, Clinton, Wing Commander.

A coffee for the general and special guests will follow the talk.

General Dougherty, 44, assumed his present position in September, 1959. He previously had been commander of the 93rd Bomb Wing, the 38th Air Division, and Chief of the Operations Control Division.

He has been awarded the Silver Star, the Legion of Merit, Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal, Purple Heart, and the Distinguished Unit Badge.

He is rated as command pilot.

"I ENGINEERED MICROWAVE TOWER LOCATIONS ON MY FIRST ASSIGNMENT"

When Bill Pigott knocked on the door of Pacific Telephone, he had two big assets. One was an electrical engineering degree from Seattle University. The other was a craving to jump right into vital engineering problems.

Other important assignments followed: engineering maritime radio systems, SAGE systems—figuring engineering costs for Air Force Titan missile bases.

"Our people respect a man's engineering training—you really get a chance to show what you've got on the ball," Bill says. "I was up to my neck in tough engineering problems right from the start."

If you want a job where you put your training to work from the day you hang up your hat—you'll want to visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

It was not long before Bill was exploring Washington's rugged Cascade Range in a helicopter to find sites for microwave relay towers—part of a multimillion dollar telephone construction job. Today, it's considerable satisfaction to him to see these towers spanning the mountains, knowing that his planning helped put them there.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

Welcome for Guatemalan Students

W. J. Simon, dean of the SUI Dentistry College, welcomes dental students from San Carlos University of Guatemala who are visiting SUI this week. William Goodale, acting department head of preventive dentistry, (seated) and Bruce Mahan, dean of the Extension Division, have planned lectures and clinical observations for the group.

Some 28 students and two faculty members from San Carlos University are included in the group. They are in the United States to visit several dental colleges and plan stops at New Orleans, St. Louis, Chicago, Cleveland and Louisville as well as Iowa City. This tour is under the direction of the State Department's Educational Travel Program with arrangements being made by the National Catholic Welfare Conference. Three interpreters provided by the State Department accompany the visitors. While visiting SUI, members of the tour are hearing lectures by several of the University dental faculty and each is assigned to a senior in dentistry at SUI for observations in the clinic. Thursday evening members of the tour attended Iowa's first basketball game of the season with South Dakota State in the SUI Field House.

Luncheons have been planned by the Delta Sigma Delta and Psi Omega fraternities. The faculty of the SUI College of Dentistry will be dinner hosts to the visitors this evening at Iowa Memorial Union.

Before the group's departure for Chicago, they will have opportunity to tour University facilities and will be entertained at the Catholic Student Center on Saturday.

Science Day To Feature Space Travel Discussion

"Problems in Space Travel" will be explored by a five-member panel as a feature of the fifth annual Science Day at SUI Dec. 10. Science instructors and undergraduate science students from 26 junior colleges, colleges and universities have been invited to attend the Science Day activities.

The "space travel" panelists will discuss such problems as "Life in a Non-Terrestrial Gravity," "Absorption of Carbon Dioxide from Space Capsules," "Physical and Psychological Factors of Space Travel," "Instrumentation," and "Radiation." The discussion will be held at 1 p.m. in Shambaugh Auditorium. The public is invited.

Panel members will be Charles Wunder, assistant professor of physiology; Colman Major, professor of chemical engineering; Dr. William Bean, head of internal medicine at University Hospitals; Harold Shipton, research associate engineer in medical research, and a representative from the SUI Physics Department, Dick Adamson, G. Des Moines, will be panel moderator.

Morning sessions during Science Day will include scientific demonstrations in the medical research building by several departments. Closed circuit television will be used to give the visitors a better look at work details. Cooperating in the program are the SUI Departments of Physics, Botany, Zoology, Geology, Chemistry, Mathematics and psychology and medical research areas.

The program is designed to encourage graduate study in science, whether at SUI or at any other college or university, according to Philip Clappitt, Des Moines, president of Gamma Alpha, graduate science fraternity which is sponsoring the event. Research and study now underway at SUI will be presented as being representative of work in science at graduate schools throughout the country, he added.

This is the second year that Science Day has been held at SUI for college students. Originally designed for high school students, the conference was opened to both high school and college students in 1958, and last year it was limited to college students.

P.S. from Paris — That's English Show Biz

By ART BUCHWALD
 Recently we got involved with a musical revue in London called "The Art of Living." (It was their title, not ours.) The revue was originally based on columns we had written and was put together by some bright young British writers named Julian More, David Heneker, and Monty Norman, who were responsible for adapting the hit Broadway show "Irma La Douce."

It was our first experience with the English theater except for the time when an usherette accidentally spilled a pot of tea on us during the intermission of "Look Back in Anger."

The idea started three years ago when we were invited by the young producer Wolf Mankowitz to go down to his country home in Kent for the week end. Mr. Mankowitz was trying to write the week end off on his taxes, so he suggested he produce a revue of our columns. He of course had no intention of doing any such thing, but we made him sign a contract on the back of a railroad ticket and he was stuck. For the next two years we negotiated the terms of the contract with Mr. Mankowitz and Mr. Oscar Lewenstein, his partner. This necessitated several trips to Paris on Mr. Mankowitz's part. He stayed with us on week ends, none of which we could write off, because Mankowitz was writing his Paris trips off on us.

Anyway, he explained to us that the English theater wasn't as wealthy as the American theater and naturally the royalties would have to be less but at the same time he was sure that if we had a hit we would gain a great deal of prestige which he pointed out Americans were very low in.

He also said the thing that would make the show different from other British musical revues was that this show would have the "American point of view."

We couldn't afford many more week ends in Paris with Mankowitz, so we finally agreed to the terms of the contract, which, when it was circulated in British financial circles, was considered one of the great major economic victories over the United States in years.

Once the contract had been signed, Mankowitz and Lewenstein put their writers to work. They left instructions that the revue should be American in spirit and concept and should follow the columns.

Then it opened in Oxford. Mr. Mankowitz and Mr. Lewenstein paid our way over to Oxford so we could see the results for ourself.

It turned out that the American spirit and concept was falling on its face and as the show kept progressing to what looked like a disastrous week, it became more and more British in concept, until the only thing American in the show was Hiram Sherman, who had been brought over from the United States to play us.

All of us were terribly discouraged, particularly Mankowitz, who knew he had to pay our fare back to Paris.

But somehow everyone worked very hard and instead of closing in Oxford and letting Sherman go there to school on a Rhodes scholarship, they decided to bring it to London at the Criterion Theater. The critics were mixed in their reception. Some felt the show was too British and lacked the American spirit and concept. Others thought it was too American and lacked the British spirit and concept, but we were saved by the evening papers and the Sunday theater critics, who thought the show had a nice French flavor.

In keeping with the British theater tradition, Mankowitz explained that the author always gave a party after opening night, instead of the producer, and so not wanting to break with tradition we gave a party at the White Elephant which just happened to be owned by Mr. Mankowitz.

A friend figured out that if the show ran to full houses we would earn enough royalties in eighteen months to pay for the party. It turned out the show was what

Interstate 80 Opened Thursday Near Iowa City

Interstate Highway 80 from Davenport to within 28 miles of Iowa City was opened Thursday.

The new stretch of road extends from the Highway 61 interchange north of Davenport to Highway 38 south of Tipton. Iowa City traffic can reach the new highway by taking Highway 1 through West Branch and Springdale to Highway 38, then by taking Highway 38 east to the interchange.

The 29 mile section is part of a five-year plan to complete a super-highway between Davenport and Des Moines. The program is to be completed by 1965.

The highway is completed to the Cedar River, where two new bridges have been built, but was not opened to that point due to a lack of access to the area.

Some work still remains to be done on the highway. Shoulders have not been completed, but the edge cuts have been filled to protect traffic during the winter months.

Heavy truck traffic is not expected to use the new stretch. Highway commission officials said Wednesday that if truck traffic were to continue from the Interstate into Iowa City on Highway 1 it would encounter problems on the Iowa City-West Branch section, and again in Iowa City, when it would encounter a series of sharp turns on the city streets.

The next section of the highway to be completed will be the stretch from the west end of the Cedar River bridges to Highway 1 at a point about four miles from Iowa City. Grading, bridge and culvert work was worked on this summer, and is within 60 days of completion, according to a Cedar Rapids Highway Commission official. Paving is expected to be laid early next year.

Bids on the paving work will be called in March, according to Highway Commission plans.

 Staff Writer

Politics is never dead even rig after election. So politics here
 SUI didn't pass away on Nov.
 with few final harangues.

SUI's three political groups, t
 Young Republicans, the You
 Democrats, and the Socialist D cussion Club, are still active a planning programs on state, loc and campus issues.

In a meeting of the three pol
 cal groups, agreement was ma to work together in those areas campus affairs where mutual c cord could be reached.

Brice Oakley, L3, Iowa Cit
 president of the Young Repub
 cans, Phil Cummins, G, Ced Rapids, president of the Social Discussion Club, and Chuck W
 A4, Elkader, president of t
 Young Democrats, speaking f their clubs agreed to work together in the following areas:

1. Discrimination in off-cam housing.
2. Compulsory ROTC.
3. Purported violations of c liberties in Iowa City involv university students.
4. Student housing cost incre
5. Central Party Committee ganization and its monopoly o

6. Improvement of the comm cation between the student b and the University Administrat
7. Opposition to the propos dition to the Iowa Memorial Un

Wolf said that letters with sig natures of the three club pres will be sent to each of the inc
 ing state legislators requestin g improvements at SUI which h been ignored in the past.

Oakley said the Young G are now working in three areas on local issues, sending letters to the state legislatures which students opinion about state local issues, and preparing p ventions to be held next spring
 St. Paul and Des Moines.

Oakley said the club will be

Campus Co
 Hold Organ

The Campus ConservaTo three-strong, launched their organization at SUI at a mee Thursday.

The three decided upon off and planned for their next m ing, which will be open to th people who have indicated an interest in the club. The next m ing will be held at 8 p.m. Wed day at a place yet to be deter ed.

Since the group is not yet a proved University organization cannot secure a regular me place. Thursday's meeting place in the Gold Feather Roo
 the Iowa Memorial Union.

The officers elected are S
