Congo's Ileo Tries To Form Coalition With Chief Rivals

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomatic sources disclosed Thursday night that the new Prime Minister named by Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu is negotiating with rival political leaders in an effort to form a broad Government of national unity.

Informed sources said this information was contained in a report transmitted to the United Nations by its 11-nation Congo Conciliation Commission now in the troubled African country. The report was considered Thursday afternoon by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's Congo Advisory Committee.

The conciliation group was understood to have concluded that the new Government of Joseph Ileo might form a basis for a unity Government acceptable to all if it were broadened to include groups such as the former supporters of slain ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba and Katanga leader Moise Tshombe.

U.N. officials expressed hope that a solution might be in the making for the critical Congo situation. But they acknowledged that the conciliation group still had not been able to contact Lumumba's successor, Antoine Gizenga, who has set up his own Government in Stanleyville.

The Soviet Union has recognized Gizenga as the Congo's "rightful" leader.

The new developments came as the Security Council dragged through a long day of debate in which African countries lined up for and against the policies pursued in the Congo by Hammarskjöld.

Informed quarters said Hammarskjöld had urged his advisory committee to make his public conciliation group's report, but that a number of members had opposed him.

The group's conclusions included the following:

1. The "fundamental law" must be upheld as the Congo's temporary constitution.
  2. Military operations now in progress in Katanga Province and elsewhere must be halted immediately to avert a civil war.
  3. The Congolese national army must be insulated from politics and the United Nations must guarantee law and order throughout the country.
  4. A summit meeting of Congolese leaders must be held — to reach agreement on a desired changes in the form of Government. A federal system was suggested as the most suitable.
  5. All political personalities now being detained should be released and a general amnesty should be decreed following the establishment of a national unity Government.
  6. Parliament should be reconvened without delay.
  7. Effective measures should be taken by the United Nations to prevent all countries from sending military aid to any of the Congolese factions.

Falling Crane Kills 6 Men

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — A 35-ton underground missile pit Thursday fell 18 stories and exploded. At least six workmen died and 14 were injured.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers said the crane was not unattended, as first reported, but that the crane operator leaped for his life when the huge machine started to fall. It fell 172 feet to the bottom of a pit being built in the southeastern New Mexico plains to house an Atlas intercontinental missile.

The falling giant swept men from their work positions on the concrete walls of the underground silo. When it struck, the fuel tank exploded and sent sheets of flame as high as 15 feet up the pit walls. "It looked like Dante's inferno," said Maj. Stanford Polonsky, engineer executive officer.

The pit was one of 12 being dug around Roswell to house the Atlas missiles.

D. L. Orendorf, deputy area engineer for the U.S. Corps of Engineers, said it appeared that all the men who were in the hole had been removed.

The crane exploded when it hit bottom, spewing flaming fuel over the men. Injuries ranged from severe burns to cuts.

The crane was 15 feet high and carried a 75-ton boom.

Ambulances and helicopters from Roswell and Walker Air Force Base, 10 miles south of the missile site on U.S. Highway 70, rushed to the injured to three hospitals.

Some damage was done to the concrete-lined silo, but no monetary estimate could be made.

Earl D. Metton, an iron worker and welder, was working in a gallery running from the missile silo to the concrete control house nearby.

He said, "There were some men on the sides of the pit when the crane fell, and 14 or 15 in the hole. Another worker near me said he saw one man crushed off the side of the pit by the crane."

Senate Gets Another Plan To Redistrict

New Proposal Offers 3-County Districts, 125 House Members

DES MOINES (AP) — Bypassing a House-approved reapportionment bill, a Senate committee Thursday brought out a plan sponsored by Sen. Jack Schroeder (R-Davenport), for consideration.

Four amendments immediately filed amendments to the proposal, indicating the third tough tussle of the 1961 session on the reapportionment issue is coming up.

Sen. J. Kendall Lynes (R-Plainfield), Senate majority floor leader said a decision probably won't be made until next week on whether to make the reapportionment issue a special order of business as was done two weeks ago when the Senate failed to pass a plan sponsored by Sen. David Shaff (R-Clinton).

But Schroeder told newsmen it was "quite likely" a move would be made on the Senate floor today to set the issue for debate next week — possibly on Wednesday.

Schroeder's plan calls for dividing the state into 33 legislative districts of three counties each. One senator would be elected from each district and each would elect one representative for each 125th of the state's population it contains. This would create a House of 125 members.

There was only one dissenting vote, by Sen. J. Henry Lucken (R-Akron), as the Senate Legislative Redistricting Committee voted to send the plan to the floor without recommendation for or against passage. Committee Chairman Clifford Vance (R-Mount Pleasant) did not vote.

Sen. Irving Long (R-Manchester), though he voted to put the measure on the Senate calendar, said he feared the result.

"I think that by putting out anything other than the House bill, we could be killing reapportionment for the session," he said.

"The House could take the position that it passed a bill first, and if we don't act on their bill, they won't act on ours."

The three-county districts set up by the proposed Schroeder plan would be assured of electing at least two representatives each, on the basis of their 1960 population.

Schroeder said his plan strictly follows the principle that representation in one house should be based on area and the other on population.

"Nobody can say there's an iota of population in the Senate under my plan," he said, "and where two or more large counties are together, I have put them together in one district so that no small county will feel it is swallowed up by being included in a district with a large county."

Committee members said they brought out the Schroeder bill instead of the House measure because they didn't want to restrict the choice of plans that might be considered by a future Senate-House conference committee.

Kennedy Asks States To Act On Projects

Authorizes Spending For School Building In Crowded Regions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy Thursday prodded the nation's governors to act at once so a billion dollars in federal funds can be poured into road and school projects that would put more men to work.

"Use of these funds is now largely dependent on state and local action," Kennedy said in a telegram to the 50 state chiefs.

"I will appreciate your cooperation to speed these and other public programs to strengthen the economy in your area and throughout the nation."

This was a follow-through on Kennedy's announcement at his news conference Wednesday night that he has ordered quickened spending of $734 million on the federal highway program.

In addition, Kennedy told the governors Thursday, he has freed $350 million for construction grants to be used mainly for schools in regions whose classrooms are crowded because they serve youngsters of normal ages, along with their normal pupil population. Some of these grants also would go for constructing hospitals and waste treatment plants.

Meanwhile, the Interior Department announced it is putting Reclamation Bureau employees in Denver on overtime to speed award contracts for construction, and equipment. This, the department said, is in response to Kennedy's orders to help in battling recession.

On Capitol Hill, Republican congressional leaders agreed to cooperate in what they deemed sound measures.

But Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said, "We do not believe this is the time to push the panic button."

Enrollment At 10,293

Spring-semester enrollment at SUI totals 10,293, according to preliminary figures announced today by President Virgil M. Hancher.

When late registrations are completed, the final enrollment figure for the current semester is expected to be approximately 10,350. This is the third year in a row that spring enrollment at SUI has been more than 10,000.

Largest increase this spring is in the College of Liberal Arts, where 5,720 students are enrolled — 364 more than last year.

Preliminary enrollment figures for other SUI colleges for the spring semester are: business administration, 460; dentistry, 257; engineering, 501; graduate, 2,126; law, 302; medicine, 432; nursing, 334; and pharmacy, 161.

Some 400 students received degrees at first-semester Commencement exercises Feb. 4.

SUI Play Adds 2 Performances

University Theatre has added two performances of "The Boy Friends," because of rapid ticket distribution Thursday.

The two performances will be Feb. 27 and 28, at 8 p.m. With the two extra shows, the musical will run Feb. 23-25, Feb. 27-28, and March 1-4.

John Terloth, business manager of University Theatre, said Thursday that he expects all tickets to be distributed by 4:30 p.m. Friday. SUI student reserved seats may be obtained by presenting I.D. cards at the Theatre ticket reservation desk in the East Lobby of the Iowa Memorial Union after 9 a.m.

Cash admission for staff, faculty and other guests is $1.25.

Young Demos Abolition of House Un-American Unit

By JERRY DICKINSON Staff Writer

A resolution calling for the abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities was passed unanimously by the SUI Young Democrats Club Thursday night.

"The Un-American Activities Committee represents one of the last chapters in history of the era of McCarthy, witch-burning, book-burning and hysteria," said the Young Democrats' president, Chuck Wolfe, A4, Elkader.

Wolfe also said that the Committee is itself un-American, in that it violates freedoms granted by the Constitution, such as the freedom of speech, and that it "punishes without proof of guilt."

In passing the resolution, the SUI Young Democrats join other clubs on campuses around the country favoring abolition of the committee. The action started in California when students rioted against the Committee and its actions.

Wolfe also introduced to the group a resolution to be presented to the Student Council calling for a change in University policy concerning functions sponsored by campus groups for which admission is charged.

The resolution, which according to Wolfe, is aimed at breaking the "monopoly" of the Central Party Committee in this area, jointly sponsored by the Young Democrats, the Young Republicans, the Socialist Discussion Club, the Student Peace Union and the Iowa Conservatives.

Three other resolutions were also discussed which were presented to the Student Council.

The first of these was a resolution to make the membership of CPC elective, if the "anti-monopoly" resolution fails.

The second resolution calls for a change in the makeup of the Committee on Student Life. The exact changes were not discussed, but the general idea was to make the meetings more public.

These lines were also followed in the third resolution which asked that membership and matters to be considered by the Committee on Student Life be made available before its meetings, and the results of meetings be given to the press, i.e., the Daily Iowan.

Leadership Banquet in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Representatives of all fraternities and sororities at SUI were on hand to applaud the honorees for their contributions to the campus and their organizations. Miss Brown and Downer were selected for the honor by a faculty council from a list of nominees submitted by fraternity and sorority.

Greek Week will receive its grand finale tonight when the Interfraternity (IFC) and Panhellenic Councils sponsor the annual Greek formal dance in the Main Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The music of Peter Palmer, introduction of IFC Queen Beth Kesterson, and naming of UGOC (Uglies Greek on Campus), will highlight the evening.

Following the 10:30 p.m. presentation of the Queen and her court, a tea will be held for them in the private dining room. All housemothers, special guests, and Greek Week committee members are invited to the reception.

Any Greek-affiliated student on campus may attend the dance. However, one member of each couple must be wearing a sorority or fraternity pin.

A member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, Miss Brown is majoring in math. In her sorority she has served as activities chairman, vice-president and chaplain. She has been Panhellenic president, a member of Mortar Board, Union Board secretary, and a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and Pi Lambda Theta.

The selection of Outstanding Greek Man and Woman marked the midpoint of a week of special activities at SUI designed to show the contributions of fraternity and sorority leadership to campus and community affairs.

Speaker at the banquet was Colonel Herbert W. Mansfield, professor of military science. He addressed the student-faculty audience on "Building on the Shoulders of Giants," a suggestion for the continuance of spiritual and intellectual growth through the Greek system.

Co-chairman of the leadership banquet were Jim Knoke, A2, Iowa City, and Joan Walsh, A2, Burlington.

Fire! Planter in Hillcrest Burns; Little Damage

Hillcrest diners witnessed a fire outside the cafeteria of the men's dormitory about 6:30 p.m. Thursday but damage went no further than the wooden base in which fire started.

One Hillcrest resident said that while the men were in line waiting for dinner, someone set fire to papers piled in the base of a wooden planter.

Efforts to put out the blaze with the nearest fire extinguisher failed when the extinguisher ran out of fluid.

Finally a large fire hose was brought in and the blaze was extinguished.

The base of the planter was burned, but no other damage was done by the fire.

B-Ball Bounce

A "B-Ball Bounce" dance, following the Iowa-Ohio State game Saturday night, will be held in the River Room at the Iowa Memorial Union.

Sponsored by Union Board, the dance will last from 8:45 to 11:45 p.m. Music will be by Shirley Porter.

The resolution will ask that recognized campus organization be allowed to charge admission fees for (1) programs at which a person from outside the University community will give a lecture, and (2) entertainment programs which have been planned to raise funds for the organization, or when such programs are planned for the purpose of raising funds for charitable purposes.

Under the Code of Student Life, the Central Party Committee is the only campus organization which may charge admission fees for lectures or entertainment. Rogers said that campus organizations in certain circumstances may wish to present entertainment programs which are not or probably will not be sponsored by the CPC or other groups.

The Office of Student Affairs arbitrarily interprets University regulations in such a way that certain groups are not allowed to charge admission fees, placing an undue financial burden on these organizations," Rogers said. "The result is that other activities and functions must be curtailed."

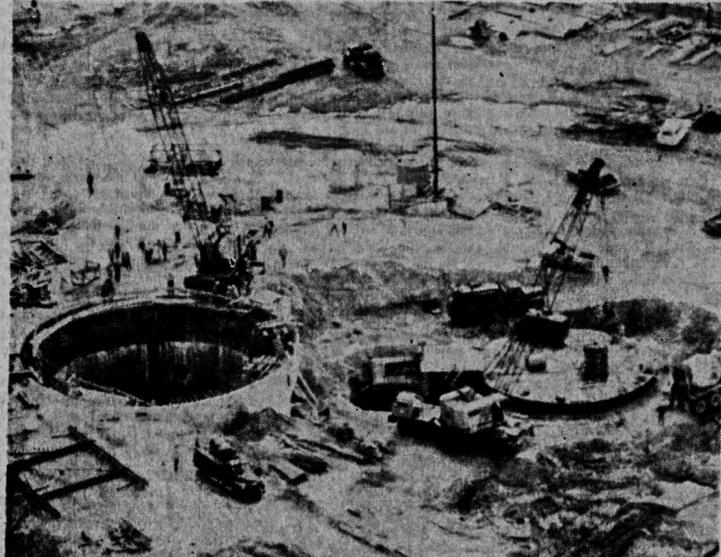

If passed by the student council, the resolution will go to the Committee on Student Life for any action that might be taken.

A resolution passed by the council on December 14, 1960, recommended a change in the Code of Student Life which would enable any campus organization to sponsor and charge admission for a speaker on the SUI campus. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Student Life which considered the subject but no action was announced.

The new plan recommends no change in the procedure for having lectures approved, with the exception that the proposed admission fee should be included in the plan submitted to the Office of Student Affairs.

Rogers said that current regulations regarding entertainment programs should be followed.

Organizations would have to show that they can accept the financial responsibility in sponsoring a program. The University would not be made responsible for the debts of any organization resulting from such entertainment,

More Study Needed

This past week The Daily Iowan has presented a series of articles dealing with the SUI advisory system. The study was conducted by members of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, primarily to ascertain student and faculty sentiment towards the present system.

Mortar Board members themselves state that the report "is not an earth-shattering document in and of itself, but attempts to pull together feelings of students and faculty towards this program."

We think the study was and is an excellent idea. It has shown that the status quo is not satisfactory to the student or to the faculty adviser, and that the importance placed in a system of this nature by both students and advisers determines its success or failure.

A plan such as the advisory system is bound to have its faults. The Mortar Board study points out that some advisers have as many as 80 advisees, making it humanly impossible for them to give adequate attention to each student.

We heartily endorse Mortar Board's six recommendations to the University which appear elsewhere on this page. The advisory system must be reorganized and advisers assigned on a more equal basis if the system is to be beneficial.

Perhaps the recommendation that can be implemented the fastest and simplest is the one considering the possibility of using selected upperclassmen as "junior advisers" during the registration period.

In this issue Mortar Board offers YOU, the SUI student, the opportunity to voice your opinion of the SUI advisory system as it now exists, and to give suggestions as to how it can be improved.

-Judy Klemesrud

Mortar Board Recommends 6 Advisory System Changes

For the past three days, The Daily Iowan has printed the summaries of answers to questionnaires dealing with the SUI advisory system.

From these answers and from interviews with SUI faculty and Administration members and with freshmen, Mortar Board members arrived at a list of six recommendations for improving the SUI advisory system:

1. For the purpose of stimulating student and faculty interest in the SUI advisory system, we (the members of Mortar Board) recommend that the University study and consider the following proposals:

(1) That the advisory system be reorganized and advisers assigned on a more equal basis than now exists;

(2) That the University seriously study the possibility of a voluntary advisory system in which the class load of each adviser is lightened to provide extra time for meeting his advisees; or that adequate compensation be given the adviser for his services; or that there be more advisers;

(3) That the University investigate the assertion that advisory information is widely scattered and difficult to collect. If this assertion is found to be true, an effort should be made to make this material more accessible;

(4) That the University consider the possibility of using selected upperclassmen in the major areas as junior advisers during the registration;

(5) That the University investigate the possibility of incorporating the faculty home visits during orientation with the advisory system;

(6) That the University make every attempt to encourage and work with student groups in their plans for gaining student interest in the advisory program. A cooperative plan drawn up by students and faculty would be ideal.

The study also included five recommendations from the 1959-60 Mortar Board members to the 1960-61 members for pursuing the study:

(1) That Mortar Board pursue the questions, recommendations, and information contained in this report;

(2) That Mortar Board conduct a study of the advisory system on other campuses in order to gain new insights and ideas into the possibilities and potentialities of an advisory system;

(3) That Mortar Board members place their main emphasis on ways of creating student interest in the advisory program in the hope that with this increased interest the advisory system will of necessity, grow and improve.

(4) That Mortar Board members continue to investigate the possibilities of planned or informal meetings between advisers and advisees — not just one conference, but several throughout the year.

(5) That Mortar Board work closely with the Administration in any study or project undertaken by the group. The administration can provide a great deal of valuable information and help.

Legislators Battle Reapportionment

By JAN MOBERLY Staff Writer

For the first time in more than 70 years, Iowa's state legislative districts may be reapportioned, but "the Battle of the Bill" rages in Des Moines.

On Tuesday of this week, the Iowa House of Representatives, after hearing eight proposals, compromised on voting 73 to 33 for passage of House Joint Resolution (H.J.R.) number 20.

This bill calls for a 99-member House, with one representative from each of the state's 99 counties. The Senate would consist of 56 members, with each senator representing about 50,000 people. However, county lines could not be crossed in setting up senatorial districts under this plan.

At present there are 50 members in the state Senate. It was last districted in 1887 on the basis of area and population. The House now is based on area with some emphasis on population. Ninety counties have one representative, while the nine most populous counties have two each, bringing the total House membership to 108.

Under H.J.R. 20, Polk County, with a population of 226,000 would have five senators on the basis of the 1960 census, and Johnson County, with a population of 45,756 would have one senator. At present, Polk County has one senator and Johnson and Johnson Counties combined are represented by one senator.

The legislature itself would be required to set up senatorial districts and to make necessary changes, after every federal census, if the legislature failed to do so, the task would be given to the State Supreme Court.

H.J.R. 20 is now being heard before the 14-member Senate redistricting committee. It is considered a "weak" bill by those most concerned with urban representation. Many speculate it will not pass the state Senate because of the far-reaching changes that would be required in that body.

Last week, the Senate defeated by a vote of 25 to 24 a plan calling for a 99-member, area-based House, and a 60-member, population-based Senate. Twenty-six votes were needed to pass.

This bill was known as the "Shaff plan," after Sen. David Shaff (R-Clinton), and it differed from H.J.R. 20 in that it would have allowed county lines to be crossed in setting up districts. It had been given a good chance of passing by rural legislators.

If H.J.R. 20 gets the Senate's nod, it must be passed again without change by the 1963 legislature. It would then go before the voters for final approval before it would become an amendment to the Constitution. But again, Senate approval is highly doubtful.

The Senate redistricting committee Thursday heard a plan for basing both Senate and House districts on population and area. This bill would create a 53-member Senate and a 120-member House. Two county districts would be entitled to one senator while the seven largest Iowa counties would get one senator each. In the House, each county would have one representative and the additional 21 seats would be allocated on a population basis.

More plans will undoubtedly be introduced, but that's how the matter stands to date.

Offers Help In Providing Grad Lounge

Letters—

To the Editor: As the University is the primary medium of exploring new frontiers of knowledge and disseminating the results, it is to everyone's advantage that we in the academic community foster the exchange of ideas and experiences. Certainly President Hancher's service in the United Nations makes him well aware of this need. Likewise, Mr. Dunlap as Library Director cannot be insensitive to it.

An excellent means of achieving this end, would seem to be the provision of a place where faculty, staff, and graduate students might meet on a voluntary basis. A room available in the evenings as well as during the day with lounge chairs, a carpeted floor, tasteful decorations, and where refreshments could be obtained would suit the purpose admirably.

It is a shame that this room had to be closed to all groups for lack of funds. Certainly great effort was expended to solve the financial difficulties and the failure to do so casts a gloomy shadow at this time when the democratic process faces such a severe trial throughout the world. Though there has been a question of property rights pertaining to the lounge and especially the graduate students' rights to use this lounge, I believe that all must certainly recognize the more fundamental problems of the scarcity of space, the need for utilizing all space to the fullest extent possible for University goals, and the need for bringing graduate students, as future scholars, into closer relation with staff and faculty.

Neither am I unsympathetic to the interests of the Library staff as my wife is employed by the Library and I count many of the staff as my friends. But it would be a superb gesture for the Library staff to waive any special prerogative by opening the lounge to faculty and graduate students and thus dissipate all rumors and antagonism on this issue. Such a friendly act is worth double its normal value during this time of external stress and internal pressure. Only good will and better relations could result from such magnanimity.

I would like to suggest, then, that a committee representing the three interested groups meet to discuss new ways of approaching the problem. The desirable aim would seem to be to put this project on a self-sufficient basis. With a positive outlook based upon a firm conviction in free discussion and a faith in man's goodness, such a committee must surely succeed. Unwilling to merely comment from the sidelines, I offer my own services. Though the staff has closed the lounge door, I refuse to believe they have closed the door on this issue.

Tickets Left For Guild's New Program

By DAVID ROUNTON

Season tickets are still available for the Art Guild's especially fine assemblage of films in its spring program. It would be a shame if any ticket went begging, since all the offerings are fine and some are rarely shown. Subscriptions for the six-film series may be purchased at the Art Building or by mail. They will also be on sale at the showing of the first film, Lewis Milestone's "A Walk in the Sun," tonight at 8 p.m. in Shambaugh Auditorium at the Main Library.

Two U.S. films, two Russian classics and two outstanding examples of the Italian postwar renaissance of eloquently realistic films make up the Spring Semester slate.

"A Walk in the Sun" has been called the best American film to come out of the Second World War. It matches the director's World War I classic "All Quiet on the Western Front" and is the prototype of the rash of war films about the "average" man in war. But instead of the banalities of their imitators, Director Milestone and Scriptwriter Robert Rossen, (who later became a director and made films like "All the Kings Men" and "The Brave Bulls,") devised a firm and consistent style of infantry warfare. And Milestone brought to it his peculiar genius for dramatic pacing and visualization. His use of the trucking shot is particularly magnificent and has become a trademark in his work.

Rarely seen, (at least this writer has never had the opportunity) is "Strike," the first major film by the Russian cinema genius, Sergei Eisenstein. I understand that this is a brilliant early statement of the concepts of intellectual and dynamic editing created by a man who was probably the greatest artist the cinema has ever seen.

"Earth" is a film by Alexander Dovzhenko, one of the trio of great directors, (including Eisenstein and Pudovkin) who formed the nucleus of Russia's post-revolutionary movement in film. The Italian films are Roberto Rossellini's "Open City" (with Anna Magnani) and Vittorio de Sica's "Bicycle Thief." The former is concerned with life during the Nazi occupation in Italy and the latter, with the postwar period.

The other American film is Robert Flaherty's "Nanook of the North," which I believe was the first effort of that great documentary director and thus the pioneer film in the genre. It should be interesting to compare it with his last production, "Louisiana Story," which the Dramatic Arts Department will show next week.

New Project For SPU

To the Editor:

Judging from the great "Snowball War" of last Sunday, the SPU should begin by picketing "Fraternity Row." There is impossibly little time left to teach the unconscious masses and their fanatic leaders that war in our time can no longer be a release for the pent up energies with which society has burdened us all.

Good Listening— Today On WSUI

IN ORDER TO UNDERSTAND an opera like "Abduction from the Seraglio" you had better know what a seraglio is. As a matter of fact, you should be clear about the distinction between Abduction and Seduction even though, in the end, there may be little difference between them (it's good to know for general information, in any case). A seraglio, as I understand it (and remember, it's been years since I was one), may be defined as "... A harem; a place for keeping wives or concubines. ... Loosely, a place for licentious pleasure."

Now, from this it's easy to see why the fellow who owns one should be called "Pasha" (comes from "pashionate"); but how young Mozart found out about this sort of thing is beyond me. In any case, he did this parents were terribly permissive, and he set music to it, if you can imagine. You may hear the product of this curious alliance tonight at 7:30 p.m.: Avril O'Brien, whose approach is entirely clinical, I assure you, will introduce the subject matter. (Children, however, will not be admitted unless they are accompanied by a bag of popcorn.)

THE EDITORIAL PAGE MAN is very upset, frankly, with the way U.S. newspapers have blurred their coverage of the Congo troubles. To this day, a society which can only tell the good guys from the bad by looking at the color of their respective hats has not had sufficient guidance in understanding the nature of the Congo situation and the reasons for its deterioration — nor have there been any intelligent efforts to affect blame and responsibility. If it is not too much to expect of audiences fixated at the level of "Lassie" and Jack Paar, EP may have a go at better understanding today at 12:45 p.m.

GUESS WHY The Musical, to-morrow at 9 a.m. is "The Boy Friend." Give up? It's because the SUI production of that burlesque of 1920's musical comedies is about to make its appearance in the University Theatre. After hearing the music from it, stay tuned to CUE for an interview with the director and choreographer of "The Boy Friend" (campus version) who are sufficiently infectious about it to make you want to get tickets instantly (if not sooner).

Cabinet Wives— Painting Is a Specialty

—Dorothy Goldberg

That's the title of the mantel painting done by Mrs. Arthur J. Goldberg, abstract painter and wife of the new secretary of labor. Mrs. Goldberg has had several one-woman showings and runs her own art gallery with three other painters.

AP Newsfeatures Dorothy Goldberg, a small woman with black hair and a vital and alive look about her, has made a reputation of her own as an abstract painter.

She has had one-woman showings in New York, Chicago and Washington. With three other painters, she runs a gallery in Washington.

The wife of Arthur J. Goldberg, the new secretary of labor, she was born Dorothy Kurgans in St. Louis and grew up in Chicago. She worked for the now-defunct Liberty Magazine as a secretary and in promotion and research during the depression to make enough money to finance her college education.

Mrs. Goldberg met her future husband on the Chicago campus of Northwestern University where he was doing research in the Law School and she was taking night classes in journalism. They studied together in the library, but "I don't think we got too much studying done," she says.

After their marriage in July, 1931, her husband insisted that she go back to school and get her degree. She earned her degree in art education at the University of Chicago and took extra courses at the Art Institute of Chicago.

Mrs. Goldberg also studied at the University of Chicago School of Social Service Administration and came within one quarter of getting her master's degree.

Prague Organizers Want Re-Opening Of Skating Event

PRAGUE (AP) — Organizers of the World Figure Skating Championships Thursday night formally requested the International Skating Union (ISU) to reconsider its decision to cancel the event.

The ISU's executive committee voted a substantial majority to abandon the 1961 championships, scheduled to start in Prague next Wednesday, because of the death of 18 American skaters in the crash of a jet airliner near Brussels Wednesday.

The memory of the American skaters "will be best honored by holding this top figure skating competition," the committee told the ISU.

It was pointed out that in 1947 most members of the Czech hockey team were killed in a plane crash en route to London "but in spite of this the world championships was held," the official Czech news agency Ceteka reported.

Ceteka said the ISU's decision was surprising especially since many foreign skaters already were in Prague.

A spokesman for the Prague organizers said the tournament committee decided Wednesday to hold the championships although "everybody was shocked and deeply moved by the tragic death of the American skaters."

He said preparations for the title meet had cost more than $140,000 so far and arrangements had been completed for a 16-nation, European television hookup of the competition.

Skaters from the favored Canadian team and Soviet Russia were among the competitors from six countries already here. Nine other countries also were to be represented.

George Haesler, secretary-general of the ISU, said in Davis the cancellation decision was made by the ISU's executive committee. He declined to name the members who voted against holding the meet.

"This is the only correct decision," said Dr. Jacob Koch, ISU president, in Basel, Switzerland. Both he and Haesler had urged the executive committee to call off the tournament. Dr. Koch said a substantial majority of the nine-man committee had voted to abandon the championships this year.

Thomas, Brumel To Meet Today

NEW YORK (AP) — John Thomas and Valery Brumel, the world's greatest high jumpers, meet face to face for the first time since the Olympics tonight in the New York Athletic Club track meet in Madison Square Garden.

Thomas, a 19-year-old Boston University junior, holds the official world record of 7 feet, 3 3/4 inches. Less than a month ago, Brumel, the Russian whiz-kid, cleared 7-4 1/2 — the highest any human ever has jumped.

By JIM TUCKER
Assistant Sports Editor

Invincible, Murder, Inc., unbeatable — these are some of the terms writers have used to describe Ohio State's fabulous Buckeyes, Iowa's opponent Saturday night.

The number one team in college basketball, Coach Fred Taylor's mighty Maohers have won 19 games in a row this season. They're on top of the Big Ten with a 9-0 record, and they lead almost all conference statistics.

With center Jerry Lucas leading the way, the Buckeyes have won 24 games in succession over the past two seasons. They won the national championship last year and recorded a 25-3 record. They also took the Big Ten crown with a 13-1 mark.

The Buckeyes have not been defeated since late last season when Indiana stopped them 99-83. The Hoosiers had been one of the few teams given a chance to beat Ohio State this year, but "the big showdown" resulted in a routine 100-65 slaughter by the Bucks.

St. Bonaventure, ranked second in the Associated Press poll, is about the only team that has come close to beating the mighty Buckeyes. The Bonnies lost by just two points, 84-82, but Ohio State had complete control throughout the game.

To say Ohio State is led by Lucas is an understatement. The 6-8, 225-pound junior achieved practically every honor possible as a sophomore last season by winning unanimous All-America rating, playing on a conference and national championship team, and starring on the U.S. Olympic team. His field goal accuracy mark of 64 per cent led the nation.

Lucas is currently second in Big Ten scoring with a 26.7 average. He was nosed out of first by Purdue's Terry Dischinger who has a 26.8 average.

Lucas leads all rebounding statistics, averaging 16 a game. He is also tops in field goal accuracy, hitting 66 per cent of his shots.

As a team, Ohio State dominates all Big Ten statistics, both offensively and defensively. The Buckeyes are averaging 87.7 points a game and have a defensive average of 61.3.

They also lead the conference in rebounds (52.2 per game), field goal accuracy (.506), and free throw accuracy (.759).

Players like Lucas, Captain Larry Siegfried, and Mel Nowell have helped boost the Ohio State statistics. Against Northwestern last week, Lucas took just 11 shots, but he connected for nine of them. Nowell, a 6-2 guard, shot 14 times and made 12.

Nowell, Siegfried, and forward John Havlicek are each averaging about 14 points a game to back up the usual point production of 25 or 30 thrown in by Lucas. Lucas set a Big Ten record by scoring 48 points against Michigan Saturday.

The fifth Ohio State starter is 6-4 guard-forward Richie Hoyt. Hoyt is averaging just seven points a game but is a key playmaker and a dangerous out-shooter.

Mason City Tops Defending J.C. Tourney Champs 91-67

WEBSTER CITY (AP) — A new champion of Iowa Junior College basketball was assured Thursday night when Eagle Grove, defending titlist, was eliminated from the state tournament in the second round.

A strong Mason City team defeated Eagle Grove 91-77 and earned a berth in the semifinals Friday.

In two afternoon games Muscatine and Burlington, two southeast Iowa teams, also advanced to the semifinals.

Webster City, favored to take this year's title, edged Ellsworth 65-64 to also move into the semifinal round of the tourney.

Led by Joe Cahalan's 28 points, Mason City jumped ahead early and was in command of the defending champions all the way. Dick Point paced Eagle Grove with 23 points.

Cahalan was a member of the Iowa basketball squad until he dropped out of school near the end of the first semester to enroll at Mason City Junior College.

Muscatine and Burlington both won close decisions in the final minutes of afternoon games. Muscatine edged Marshalltown 75-70 and Burlington squeezed out a 83-82 victory over Des Moines Grandview.

Trailing 36-33 at halftime Muscatine, led by Gary Stickrod's 25-point shooting, came back to take a 69-66 lead with 2 minutes left.

A pair of free throws each by Dennis Schroeder and Gary Kissel furnished winning points. Top scorers for Marshalltown were Harry Peters and Paul Balcom with 18 points each.

Burlington, ahead 44-41 at the half, had to fight down to the wire to overcome the Des Moines team. With less than a minute remaining, Grandview tied it up at 90-90.

Dick Perry hit two straight free throws for Burlington and Ira Herge added another for a 3-point edge. Grandview's Dennis Schachode hit a basket with 6 seconds left. Herge led all scoring with 33 points and Schacher had 23.

Webster City completed the semifinals lineup with its win over Ellsworth in a tight defensive game that ended the second round.

The score had been tied 64-44 with only seconds left when Marv

Iowa Hopes To Avenge Track Loss

By GARY HICKOK
Staff Writer

The Iowa track team gets a premature opportunity to avenge an earlier 70 1/2-68 1/2 loss to Northwestern when it hosts the Wildcats in a dual meet tonight at the Field House. The field events will begin at 7:15 and the running events at 7:30.

A dual meet with Purdue originally had been scheduled to tonight but the Bollermakers couldn't make it. Thus the stage has been set for a rivalrous return contest between the Hawkeyes and Wildcats. Last Saturday Northwestern beat Iowa and Wisconsin in a triangular meet here. The Wildcats had 70 1/2 points to 68 1/2 for Iowa.

Coach Francis Cretzmeyer said Thursday he expects the meet to be run on a par with last Saturday's with either team a possible winner. However, he did say he expected the Hawkeyes to do better in the broad jump, shot put, pole vault and hurdles.

There is a possibility that seven records from previous Northwestern-Iowa dual meets could be broken, said Cretzmeyer. These include the high jump, 440-yard dash, 800-yard run, mile relay, pole vault, shot put and mile run.

Of these, the high jump stands the best chance of being broken. The existing record is 6 feet, 2 7/8 inches but in last Saturday's meet Iowa's Wes Sidney jumped 6 feet, 7 inches.

The meet will be abbreviated with the exclusion of the 300, 600 and 1,000-yard runs.

Competing for Iowa, according to events, will be the following:

70-yard high hurdles—Jerry Williams, Don Gardner, Mike Carr and Fred Luthans.

One-mile run—Jim Tucker, Don Greenlee, Gary Fischer and Ralph Trimble.

440-yard dash—Tom Hyde, Bernie Wyatt, Roger Kerr and Bill Mawe.

800-yard run—Ralph Trimble, Gary Fischer, Roger Kerr and Bill Mawe.

Two-mile run—Jim Tucker, Don Greenlee, Ken Fearing and Bill Ashton.

One-mile relay—Teams to be selected just before race.

Pole vault—Fred Luthans, Jon Cada and Dave Simpson.

High jump—Wes Sidney and George Frohman.

Broad jump—Dick Lezer, Jerry Williams, Don Gardner and Mike Moran.

Shot put—Bill Reif.

'Dazzy' Vance, Dodgers' Ace in '20s, Dies at 69

HOMOSASSA SPRINGS, Fla. (AP) — Clarence Arthur (Dazzy) Vance, a member of Baseball's Hall of Fame and former strikeout ace of the Brooklyn Dodgers in the 1920s, died Thursday of a heart attack at his home in this fishing community on Florida's west coast.

Vance, who was born in Orient, Iowa, would have been 70 on March 4, and won 197 games in his 16 years in the major leagues. A late bloomer who didn't win his first game in the big leagues until he was 31, the right-handed pitcher became one of the most popular Dodgers in the long and colorful history of that team.

Usually pitching for a second division club bumping around sixth place in the National League, he fanned 2,045 hitters to become one of the 10 pitchers with more than 2,000 strikeouts.

From 1922 through 1932, Vance was a regular feature at Ebbets Field. Most of the time, he was the one big pitcher for the Dodgers, then managed by Wilbert (Uncle Robby) Robinson.

After a brief stay in St. Louis and Cincinnati in 1933 and 1934, Dazzy finished his career back in Brooklyn in 1935 under Casey Stengel, his old teammate.

Vance led the league in strikeouts for seven years from 1922 through 1928. His peak year was 1924 when he had a 28-6 won-lost record, struck out 262 and led with a 2.16 earned run average.

The bidding:

1♣ Double 2NT Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♣

In Operations Bridge, a sixth sense should be added to the recognized five and that sixth sense might be termed the sense of time. A split second lost at the rise of the curtain may set a contestant back so far in the race that he cannot recover. In today's hand this observation was brought home to East with painful clarity.

North's opening one club bid and East's take-out double were perfectly normal, but South's call of two no trump may appear to be rather bizarre inasmuch as a re-doubling would describe his values quite precisely.

However he was influenced by the 40 part score and, not wishing to let the opponents get together easily, he elected to block their channels of communication. West had nothing to contribute and, when the bidding came back to East, he naturally was disinclined to compete further at this elevated level.

West opened the jack of diamonds and declarer played from the dummy. East observed that, if he ducked, the jack would force out declarer's queen, and the ace could be used subsequently to capture the king. He therefore signalled encouragingly with the six and South won the trick with the queen of diamonds.

Declarer had six top tricks and, in order to establish two more, he went after the clubs. East was in with the king and he cashed the ace of diamonds and then returned the deuce thru South to net two more tricks.

However declarer was able to drive out the ace of clubs, before the defense could establish the setting trick.

East made the fatal error of losing the timing for his side at the opening gun when he permitted the jack of diamonds to ride. While it is true that he restricted declarer to one diamond trick, he had surrendered the initiative in doing so.

By playing the ace of diamonds in order to switch to the queen of hearts, East would have been able to establish three heart tricks while he still held the vital club controls.

It should have been apparent that South would almost surely need the club suit for his contract, so that holding up the ace of diamonds could only prove useful if West had a five card suit.

Shaw's Ankle Much Better

The fears that Dick Shaw, first line reserve forward on the Iowa cage team, would not be able to play against Ohio State subsided somewhat Thursday along with the swelling of his injured ankle.

Shaw, who sprained the ankle in Wednesday's practice, was apparently in better shape when he worked out with the varsity Thursday. It had been feared he would miss the practice and perhaps the game.

While he should be able to play Saturday, Sharm Scheuerman, Iowa coach, reported Shaw is still hampered somewhat by the injury and, when running, is unable to cut or turn quickly. "Actually it's too early now to say what his condition will be for the Ohio State game, but now we are encouraged," Scheuerman said. "However, we know the danger is that it could go out any time during the game."

Plotting the Course

Before class, as his working day begins, Iowa star Don Nelson goes over a diagram of a play, possibly one for the game that night.

Butterflies

It's noon, but even after his wife has prepared a tempting meal, Nelson doesn't feel like starting in — too many butterflies and thoughts of the coming contest.

Nelson in Action

Once the game gets under way, opponents find Nelson difficult to stop. Here the big guy shoots for a two-pointer.

Halftime Thoughts

Taking a well earned rest after a rugged first half, Nelson sits pensively during halftime, perhaps thinking of the bottle-neck defense he faced. Despite tough defenses, he has maintained over a 21 point average for the season.

Pleases Young Fan

With the game over and the tension lifted, Nelson, who has been a standout all season for the Hawks, makes a special hit with a young, admiring fan by signing his autograph for the boy.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Ability to shoot well in the wind and dust gave young Frank Wharton of Dallas the first-round lead in the $20,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament Thursday with a six-under-par 31-33-64.

Tricks learned on West Texas courses, where the wind blows free, helped him birdie two of the final three holes on the 6,464-yard, par 70 El Rio Golf and Country Club layout.

Jay Hebert was just a stroke behind with a 33-32-65.

Four of the five men grouped with 66s seldom make the PGA weekly payoff. They were Bob Shields, Tom Talkington, Buddy Sullivan and Harold Kneese. None of them has ever won a PGA event. Dave Marr, winner of last year's Sam Snead Festival, was also grouped with them.

Newcomers to the tourney trail were sprinkled through the rest of the 18-hole leaders. Thorne

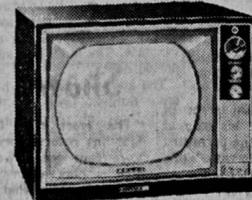

Wood and Bob Wagner were grouped with Marty Furgol with 67s.

International League Gate Rise Predicted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Tommy Richardson, new plane-piloting president of the International League, sees better days ahead for the triple-A baseball circuit.

The ancient loop drew 1,454,786 fans last year, a drop of 532,113 from the previous season, but Richardson observed:

"Last season they were plagued by bad weather at the start. Then Toronto made a runaway of the pennant race, winning by 16 games or so, which took a lot of zest out of things."

"The league appears more evenly balanced this season, and there is a good chance for a hot pennant fight. If we get a little better break from the weatherman, we'll pick up a lot of that attendance loss."

One favorable factor, Richardson said, is that four of the clubs — Syracuse, Columbus, Buffalo and Rochester — are community-owned.

"And community ownership," he said, "is the salvation of minor league baseball. When fans learn a major league club owns and operates the team in their town, they lose interest. All four of our community-owned teams are organized on a non-profit basis, and there's a lot of hometown spirit behind them."

53 Students Win Semester Scholarships

Fifty-three SUI students have been named recipients of scholarships for the second semester. Grants totalling $11,334 which made possible some 40 scholarships were accepted at the January meeting of the State Board of Regents finance committee.

Winners of some of the scholarships were announced earlier. In many cases, recipients were chosen by the donors; others were selected by the University.

The grants came from governmental divisions, non-profit organizations, private companies and individuals.

Twenty SUI students have been awarded Student Aid Scholarships, according to Charles Mason, executive secretary of the University Scholarship Committee.

The scholarships were established in 1945 by what was then the State Board of Education for a limited number of students who are Iowa residents. Full tuition and fees for the spring semester will be paid by the scholarships.

Winners must be enrolled in the SUI colleges of liberal arts, engineering, business administration, nursing or pharmacy, and were selected on the basis of above-average academic achievement and evidence of need.

Mason also announced that four students have been awarded Drew Memorial Scholarships for tuition for the second semester. The Drew scholarships are provided by income earned from citrus groves in Florida which were bequeathed to SUI by the late Gilman A. and Lena S. Drew.

Recipients of the scholarships announced by the State Board of Regents are: Daniel C. Denton, G. Bellevue; Karen E. Amstutz, A1, Bloomfield; Charles N. Johnson, A1, Cedar Rapids; Ronald E. Members of the faculty and professional organizations of the SUI School of Journalism are now studying more than 100 entries submitted for judging in the annual Iowa Press Association contests.

The materials to be judged, submitted by Iowa weekly and daily newspapers, represent news, pictures, advertising matter, editorials or columns published during the preceding year.

The Iowa chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, will present plaques to winners in the master columnist and editorial excellence contests. Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism fraternity, will honor the newspaper judged to have produced the best in "women's news" for the preceding year.

Medical Men Study Iowa's Regulations

DES MOINES (AP) — Eighty-three county medical examiners and deputies met Thursday to work out uniform regulations to apply the state's new medical examiner law.

The new law went into effect Jan. 1, replacing the elected corner system with an appointed medical examiner system.

Speakers at the all-day meeting included health, medical and law enforcement officials from local, county and state levels.

T. A. Thompson, chief of the State Bureau of Investigation, urged the examiners, when investigating violent or suspicious deaths, to be extremely cautious and methodical.

Maj. James R. Machholz, assistant chief of the Iowa Highway Patrol, told the examiners of problems patrolmen face and urged the group to adopt uniform regulations on two points:

What should be done with valuables found on a body in an auto accident? Should a patrolman take them and turn them over to the medical examiner or should he leave them on the body? There is always a danger, Machholz said, that someone will steal the valuables while the patrolman is caring for injured or investigating the accident.

Should bodies thrown from a car be left lying on the pavement until the medical examiner arrives? Patrolmen feel that this is a traffic hazard, said Machholz, and would prefer to move a body off the road and mark the spot where it had been.

Photo on License Plan Wins Favor

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa State Sheriff's Association announced its endorsement Thursday of a proposal to make each driver's license bear a photograph of its owner.

J. B. Steinel, association business manager, said that Iowa sheriffs favor the photographic type of driver's license because of the near positive identification provided.

He said it also would help eliminate improper use of licenses as identification for the purchase of alcoholic beverages and the loaning of licenses to unlicensed drivers.

'Marriage Mills' Bill Faces Delay

DES MOINES (AP) — A proposed bill to eliminate "marriage mills" in Iowa was recommended for indefinite postponement by House Judiciary Committee II Thursday.

The bill would have provided for a three-day waiting period before a couple could obtain a marriage license. The state has no waiting period now.

The sponsors said the bill would have brought Iowa law into line with those of neighboring states and would have stopped a big influx of marriage license requests from other states, particularly in the northern border counties.

School Boundary Plan Introduced in Senate

DES MOINES (AP) — A new method for changing boundary lines between adjoining school districts is provided under a bill introduced Thursday in the Iowa Senate.

The measure would give the state superintendent of public instruction latitude in changing a boundary if petitioned by 75 per cent of the electors residing in the affected portion of a district.

Secret Balloting Gets Rural Home Number Plan Passes House

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa senators, in a heated battle, refused Thursday to prohibit secret voting in committees.

The fight came as the Senate made permanent the temporary rules under which it has been operating. Those rules leave it up to committees to determine whether secret balloting is allowed in committee sessions.

The Senate acted on a rules amendment offered by Sen. Andrew Frommelt of Dubuque, Democratic floor leader. His proposal, beaten 27-23, came after a series of rule changes had been offered by Democrats and defeated.

The vote on the Frommelt proposal was unexpectedly close. Eight Republicans joined the 15 Democrats in opposing secret committee voting.

"Just what do you want to hide," Frommelt declared. "Use of the secret ballot is despicable," he added.

Frommelt pointed to rules adopted by the Senate Ways and Means Committee Wednesday to permit executive sessions and secret balloting as proof that it cannot be left to the committees to write an open record.

When challenged by the chairman of that committee, X. T. Prentiss (R-Mount Air) to explain why he had refused to vote on one motion in the Ways and Means session, Frommelt said it was because the rule was a ridiculous one requiring newsmen to remain in committee meetings until the session was over.

Prentiss said the purpose of the rule was to make sure that newsmen did not leave with only half the story.

During Wednesday's Ways and Means session one newsmen sought to put the rule to a test by leaving without the required permission. Nothing much happened.

Before the secrecy battle, Sen. C. Edwin Gilmour (D-Grinnell) tried to amend the Senate rules by providing that appointment of standing committees and conference committees in the Senate be made by a committee of committees. Under present rules they are made by the lieutenant governor.

Gilmour, a Grinnell College political science professor, said he was trying to change the system to fit the recommendations of study committees which have urged greater efficiency in Government.

Sales Tax Hike Debated As School Aid Method

DES MOINES (AP) — A proposal calling for a 3 per cent sales tax to raise state school aids to nearly double those now being paid was discussed at length by the House Tax Revision Committee Thursday.

Rep. Elmer Vermeer (R-Pella), the committee chairman, said the group "went through the entire bill and made some changes and amendments in it" but didn't vote to bring it out to the House floor.

He said a special meeting may be called early next week to decide whether to send it to the House calendar.

Under the proposed bill, the sales tax and use tax rates would be raised from the present 2 to 3 per cent, and a state school property tax relief fund would be set up.

The bill would earmark for the fund half the state's total sales tax revenue, estimated at $52.1 million a year; half the use tax, except that collected on automobile sales, estimated at $5.75 million annually; one-third of the annual individual income tax revenue, or about $12.5 million; and one-third of the corporation tax revenue, or about $1.3 million a year.

State school aids, which now total $24 million annually, would be boosted to about $56 million and the agricultural land tax credit appropriation, now $10.5 million annually, would be raised to $16 million.

Vermeer said the bill calls for changing the law so that the $16 million appropriation would pay the agricultural land tax credit in full after the first year of the next biennium.

The credit now is supposed to pay school taxes above 15 mills on farm land, but the $10.5 million appropriation covers only about 44 per cent of it. The bill proposes raising the base from 15 to 17 mills.

Vermeer said he favors the measure or something similar to grant real property tax relief.

Remember 1960?

By JERRY PARKER Staff Writer

Let's get nostalgic for the moment. Remember the "good old days" at SUI when things were really happening? Remember when each morning's paper brought further reports on campus issues that were of concern to a major part of the student body?

And when each morning a new barrage of argumentative letters from grad students were published?

Remember 1960?

At this time last year nearly every SUIowan was on one side or the other of such local questions as whether a time limit should be set on the removal of discriminatory clauses from the constitution of campus organizations, in particular the clauses of four social fraternities.

For several weeks this issue was topic A at Student Council and Interfraternity Council meetings, and at coffee klatches and in the letters to the editor column of the DL.

Most students also took an interest in the demands for higher wages by the Quadrangle and Iowa Memorial Union board crews.

The resignation of Daily Iowan editor Steve Tudor and the subsequent founding of the Iowa Defender brought about added interest in last year's all-campus elections.

We were also faced with two very interesting, and rather amusing political campaigns. On the heels of James Colby's widely publicized try for the U.S. presidency on an "abolish winter" platform, came a darkhorse aspirant for the office of president of the SUI student body.

Amid cries that he wasn't eligible to serve even if elected, grad student Howie Kaplan and his supporters campaigned vigorously to drum up write-in votes.

Howie mustered sufficient support to come in a not too close but impressive second. Reports have it that in the last hours of the campaign, Kaplan himself felt a clutch of panic at the possibility that he might win.

Other areas of interest developed when the Board of Regents considered banning student cars, and Big Ten athletic directors failed to renew the Rose Bowl pact.

In comparison the current year at SUI may seem rather dull. But though most of the sound and fury has subsided, we old-timers still have our memories — and we do have a whole semester before us. Something could happen yet.

SUI'S G O

P.S. From Paris By ART BUCHWALD Commons Bill To Aid Writers

A lively battle has been raging in the House of Commons for the past few months which could affect the life of every living author in the Western world.

Sir Alan and his group maintain that composers and song writers get paid everytime their works are performed, and there is no reason why authors shouldn't get paid everytime someone reads their books.

The backers of the bill claim that 73 per cent of all British authors earn less than 1,000 pounds ($200) a year, and while 400 million books were borrowed from 560 public libraries in 1959, as against 76 million in 1924, authors were poorer than ever.

There has naturally been a great deal of opposition to the bill from libraries and also from friends of "free reading" in the House of Commons.

The anti-author faction maintains authors should be paid higher royalties by publishers instead of taking it out on the public.

As an author of five books, our sympathies from the start have been with Sir Alan and his group. There has never been a more intelligent and sane bill proposed in the House of Commons and it is our dearest hope that President Kennedy, an author himself, might suggest a similar bill in the U.S. Congress.

As Nigel Fisher, the Conservative from Surbiton, put it so well in one debate, "If libraries thought the charge made by the bill too great, why should not a charge be made on the borrower? What is so sacred about the right to everybody to read everything for nothing?"

We would like to add one amendment to the bill if it is introduced in the American Congress. As everybody knows, the real less to an author doesn't come from the lending libraries, but from the average person who loans his book to a friend.

Therefore we think that when someone loans somebody a book, either the owner of the book or the borrower should pay the author.

We know this would be a very hard law to enforce, but we believe J. Edgar Hoover, who is also available to check up on people who loan their books to other people without paying the author his royalties.

To quote our wife, a very wise woman, "A strong democracy can survive only if its authors are rich."

Kennedy Second To 'Woodpecker'

DES MOINES (AP) — Rep. William Denman (D-Des Moines), criticized WOI-TV Thursday for showing a "Woody Woodpecker" cartoon Wednesday night during the period President John Kennedy was conducting a news conference.

While the two commercial television stations in this area were carrying the President's news conference live at 6 p.m., our own state-owned educational station was carrying Woody Woodpecker, Denman said.

He added "it is time for the legislature to take a good long look at its educationally owned TV station to see just what kind of education is getting preference in prime time."

WOI-TV said that the news conference was carried at 10:15 p.m., a time when it was available to adults who might have missed the 6 p.m. showing.

REACH SOUTH POLE MOSCOW (AP) — Seven members of the U.S. antarctic expedition and a young Soviet explorer reached the South Pole today after a 930-mile trek overland, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Tass said the Russian was Sverdlov Yevyevich and that the trip was made on three snow vehicles. The group is to fly back to the U.S. base at McMurdo Sound, their starting point, next Monday.

Awesome Monster— Latest in Moon Suits LOS ANGELES (AP) — The newest thing in moon suits is an awesome monster 7½ feet tall in which an astronaut can explore the lunar surface for days at a time without having to return to base.

When perfected the weird-looking suit should enable the explorer to: 1. Feed himself from cans carried inside its bulbous, 30-inch-diameter aluminum torso.

2. Drive his "moon jeep" with a remote control panel, also built inside the torso. 3. Leave the jeep and walk about surveying and collecting rock samples.

"Space Suit, Lunar Exploration, MKI" was modeled Wednesday by Dr. John Lyman, head of the bio-technology laboratory of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Soviet Arms Reach Congo

Don't Provoke Weapon Race, Neutrals Told

By MARGUERITE HIGGINS
Herald Tribune News Service

WASHINGTON — At least six truck shipments of Soviet bloc arms have already reached the Red rump Gizenga regime in the Belgian Congo Republic, it was revealed Thursday as officials studied what to do if Moscow defies President Kennedy's warning against unilateral outside intervention.

The Soviet bloc deliveries, which were transhipped by Egypt, took place before Kennedy's firm public pledge Wednesday to oppose Soviet threats to give all possible assistance to the red-dominated regime of Antoine Gizenga in the Congo's Oriental Province.

The White House declined to comment on whether the President's pledge meant that, if worst came to worst, American troops would be dispatched to the Congo.

But it was learned that the United States has warned so-called neutralists like Egypt that the continuing supply of weapons outside U.N. channels must ultimately provoke an arms race, or worse, as the free world does not intend to stand paralyzed before a one-sided Red build up.

Although Kennedy avoided saying so specifically at his press conference, officials confirmed that the United States considers the Congo a crucial test of Soviet intentions. There is no doubt that continued Soviet meddling in the Congo will put in doubt any kind of fruitful negotiation on any subject.

The Congo, it is understood, will be a priority subject at a special meeting next week between Kennedy and NATO Secretary-General Paul Henri Spaak.

Spaak, due to retire soon from NATO to play a leading role in Belgian political life, will arrive in Washington Sunday and will confer with Kennedy Tuesday morning at the White House.

The NATO leader is reliably reported to have been gratified at the firm tone of Kennedy's warning to the Soviet Union against meddling in the Congo. The President's strong stand has also been applauded in non-communist quarters along Embassy Row here and in most allied capitals.

The President's Congo warning additionally won bipartisan support in Congress where praise was forthcoming from, among others, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Republican minority leader.

In his carefully worded statement Kennedy described Soviet threats to give all possible aid to the Red rump regime as "irresponsible and dangerous," called Soviet proposals for withdrawing the U.N. force from the Congo a danger to the peace, and asked for support for the legal Congo regime headed by President Joseph Kasavubu with headquarters in Leopoldville.

At the same time it is learned that the U.S. is living up to the spirit of its pledge to oppose all military aid outside the U.N., is putting pressure on Belgium to persuade the 700 officers advising the Congolese (mainly in secessionist Katanga Province) either to leave the area completely or come under U.N. control.

The Belgians have replied that the officers are there as private citizens and that the decision as to their fate is up to the Congolese Governments involved.

The dangerous role played by Egypt in playing the Soviet game in the Congo was touched on Wednesday by Secretary of State Dean Rusk in testimony before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

From other sources, it was additionally learned that the flow of Communist-made armaments to the Army of Gizenga has been confirmed by eyewitnesses in Oriental Province who have seen guns in hands of some of his soldiers.

Witnesses Testify In Jury's Probe Of Sheldon Corp.

SIoux CITY — An air of secrecy continued to mark a federal grand jury's investigation of activities of Northern Biochemical Corp. of Sheldon Thursday. About half a dozen witnesses testified.

One of the witnesses was Vince Fleming, former public relations officer for the firm, who had willingly talked with newsmen Wednesday.

However, Fleming disappeared down a back stairway after his appearance before the grand jury Thursday.

Another of the witnesses seen entering the hearing room was Mrs. William Wells, reported to be a typist for Northern Biochemical.

Her husband was mentioned in the fifth of 35 counts filed by federal authorities against Mrs. Burnice Geiger, who has admitted embezzling more than $2 million from the defunct Sheldon National Bank.

The count involving Wells said Mrs. Geiger "fraudulently credited $2,000 to the William Wells account March 30, 1958."

Wells was in the federal building but was not seen entering the hearing room.

Firing of Satellite Postponed Again

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Government scientists Thursday night postponed for the second time the launching of a satellite designed to study the ionosphere, an electrically charged region around the earth.

Technical troubles forced postponement of the shot after the countdown on the 76-foot rocket had moved to within 55 minutes of launch time.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration did not pinpoint the reason for the trouble. If it is minor, firing could be attempted again in a day or two.

'Lost Satellite' Beeps Its Last over Australia

WASHINGTON — American scientists searched Thursday night for a "lost satellite" — one with polka dots on it — even as they claimed partial success for a major space mission.

With the electronic ears and eyes of radio and radar, and with telescopic cameras they patrolled the skies for a 12-foot balloon-type space vehicle that was hurled aloft by a huge Scout rocket from Wallops Island, Va. at 8:05 a.m. Eastern Standard Time.

The balloon, folded like an accordion in the nose of the four-stage rocket, was successfully ejected and inflated in space and began sending back radio signals.

It was heard as it soared over Johannesburg, South Africa at 8:42 a.m., at possibly 16,000 miles an hour speed.

And it was still beeping when it zoomed over Woomera, Australia, at 9:20 a.m. but since then—Silence.

The sphere may have gone into orbit but lost its radio voice.

City Council Asks More Road Funds

Iowa City City Council has called upon the state legislature to allocate 15 per cent of the road-use tax fund to cities and towns for street construction and maintenance.

Cities and towns now receive about seven per cent of the fund. The resolution adopted by the council points out that cities and towns face a "growing crisis in the face of rising populations, soaring debt and property taxes, and inadequate sharing of state funds, to keep up the construction and maintenance of urban streets."

Even with an increase to 15 per cent, the resolution notes, cities and towns "will have to meet a deficit in the next 20 years of $815,440,000."
