

World Awaits Russia's Answer to Proposed Laos Settlement

By The Associated Press
Hopes for a cease-fire in Laos to douse a smoldering threat to world peace turned Friday night on the still-silent Kremlin.

While the United States moved military units toward the little Southeast Asian kingdom, a worried world waited to see what Soviet Premier Khrushchev would do.

Meanwhile, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization military chiefs, faced with an explosive crisis in Laos, vowed Friday to strengthen the alliance's fighting power to halt communism aggression in Southeast Asia.

The immediate, pressing question: Will the Soviet Union accept a British proposal for a truce between the U.S.-backed Laotian Government and Communist-led rebels?

If Khrushchev says yes, presumably the threat of another Korea — with its ever-present peril of general war — will subside.

If Moscow rejects the offer or remains silent, the United States stands pledged by President Kennedy to honor its commitments to Laos — and these call for armed intervention if necessary.

Foreign Relations Committee, went further and said India already is playing "a tremendous part" in the behind-the-scenes negotiations to reach an agreement under which Laos would be saved from a Communist takeover.

There was a brief flurry of excitement at the committee session when reporters understood the Republican senator to say: "We will probably be sending troops into Laos. I do not know, but I hope so."

It soon developed that Wiley had been misunderstood and that his reference actually was to India, and he had said "she" rather than "we."

This, in turn, caused concern in other quarters and India's ambassador to the United States, Mahomed Ali Chagla, commented: "We are not sending any troops to that country; Laos is not open to a military solution, only to a political solution."

Chagla added that the truce commission, of which India is chairman, could be convened on a day's notice in New Delhi.

The truce commission which Britain wants to use in this emergency was set up in 1954 as an outgrowth of a Geneva conference on Indochina. It carried out the neutralization policy agreed on at that time and still is in existence although it has not been active in recent years.

Eisenhower added impact to already apparent Republican support of Kennedy's firm position.

The former president called a news conference at Palm Springs, Calif., where he is on a golfing vacation. He told newsmen Kennedy had called him Friday morning to discuss the Laotian situation.

Then Eisenhower said: "His idea seemed to conform exactly with what we had tried to do the last few years, so I went long with him."

Further evidence of bipartisan support came from the Senate where the Democratic leader's estimate of the situation won prompt endorsement from leading Republicans.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the majority leader from Montana, said: "There can be no evasion in Laos. What is done there will ring the bell for what is done elsewhere. A failure of a peaceful settlement in Laos will cast the shadow of impending failure" over the "entire world's hope for peace and progress."

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, the Republican's assistant leader from California, quickly endorsed Mansfield's estimate and said: "There is no political party line in this chamber, and no cleavage in America concerning the goal so well and ably stated by the President."

SLATE Victories Will Be Appealed

By CAROLYN JENSEN
Staff Writer

The election of one or more SLATE candidates will be appealed, according to Mike Gilles, All-Campus Elections Chairman.

"My continued investigation of the campaign has indicated that there are grounds for an appeal and it is evident that one will be made," Gilles said Friday.

He said he does not know at this time who will make the appeal, or against whom it will be directed.

Five SLATE candidates were elected Wednesday. Flori Ann Wild, Town Women's delegate to Student Council; Karen Branson, member of Student Publications, Inc.; and Boyd Critz, Kenneth Barber, and Glenn Meeter, Married Students delegates to Student Council.

SLATE platforms and candidate lists inserted in some issues of The Daily Iowan early Wednesday morning will be the basis for the appeal.

Elections Committee rules specifically forbid any active campaigning on election day.

When the appeal is made it will be up to the Student Court to decide whether the SLATE candidates did actively campaign. The Student Court then has "the power to uphold an election of any candidate; call for new elections of candidates; or disqualify any candidate for cause." (Article V, paragraph 3, section C, of the Student Council Constitution.)

Gilles said the Court possibly will act on whatever appeals are made Monday night, if the rest of the details involved in formal appeals can be worked out by then.

Lost, Found Service Set

An SUI lost and found department sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity and the Union Board will soon lead to janitors tagging and marking pens, books and other misplaced items found in SUI halls and classrooms.

The department, to be set up in the Iowa Memorial Union at the New Information Desk, will consist of articles picked up once a week at each building. Athletic buildings would transfer all unclaimed articles to IMU once a month.

Tags, furnished by Alpha Phi Omega, will be distributed to janitors. All items will be tagged and marked with date, place and finder.

Lost items will be cleared by auction or by giving them to charity organizations.

The group expects to be ready this weekend for those claiming lost and found articles.

Bitter Defeat For Kennedy On Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy suffered a bitter defeat Friday night when a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats pushed through a scaled-down substitute for his minimum wage bill.

A compromise bill carrying Administration backing was rejected by a standing vote of 186-155 and the House then went on to approve a less sweeping measure offered by Rep. William H. Ayres (R-Ohio).

This would raise the legal minimum wage to $1.15 from the present $1 level, instead of to $1.25 in stages, as Kennedy had asked. It also would extend coverage to 1.4 million workers not now covered. Kennedy was backing a proposal to bring in an added 3.8 million workers.

Voting for the substitute were 74 Democrats and 142 Republicans. Against it were 177 Democrats and 26 Republicans.

Administration forces made one more effort to send the measure back to the Labor Committee, with instructions to report back the Administration-backed bill, but lost 224-196.

The cliff-hanging series of votes came after a long day of maneuvering by both sides, in which Kennedy came out firmly for the compromise measure worked out late Thursday by the House leadership and Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

Goldberg pointed out the Administration hope that the final version will be more nearly in line with Administration recommendations.

Prof. Stark Quits SUI

Prof. Herald Stark of the SUI Music Department has resigned as conductor of the University Chorus, but will continue to conduct University operas, H. M. Voxman, head of the Music Department, said Friday.

Stark is officially conductor until the end of summer school, the chorus will not give any more concerts until next year.

Stark will continue to teach studio voice, undergraduate choral conducting, graduate seminars, and to act as adviser to all graduate and undergraduate voice students.

His successor as conductor of University Chorus has not yet been announced.

100 Persons Demonstrate Around Union Entrances

Approximately 100 persons, including members of the Socialist Discussion Club, Student Peace Union, two car-loads of Grinnell College students and several University High School students, picketed the ROTC Military Ball Friday night.

The picket route extended from the south entrance of the Iowa Memorial Union to the entrance of the Main Lounge, scene of the Military Ball.

Anti-ROTC posters, Down With ROTC buttons, and "peace" songs characterized what were rather orderly proceedings, except for occasional hecklings from passers-by. The only incidents of "violence" occurred when two SUI students grabbed and destroyed two picketers' signs. One of the signs struck Steve Gadd, A2, Fort Dodge, an onlooker, in the face. Passers-by brandishing water pistols were also in action.

Typical of the signs carried were those reading "STUIT is Wrong: The Function of a University is NOT 'Military Procurement!'; 'Education, Not Regimentation!'; 'ROTC is Mickey Mouse!'; 'SUI, Si, ROTC — No, Gringo!'; 'Hawk-Make Us Play Soldier!'; 'Hawkeyes, Not War Hawks!'; and 'What's Next, Compulsory WACs?'

One of the picketers was Walter Gormly, pacifist from Mt. Vernon who has been in jail three times for refusing the draft, tax evasion, and protest movements. He carried a poster reading "Military Ball, The Dance of Death."

One SUI notable watching the proceedings was Dr. James Van Allen, head of the Physics Department. "It looks like good fun," he said, "but with 10,000 students in the University, it isn't too impressive a demonstration."

When President Virgil M. Hancher, a guest at the Military Ball, arrived at the Union entrance, he paused, and stared attentively at the picketers, before entering the Union.

On the ROTC side, various comments were heard including: "We're here to protect this country so they (picketers) will have the right to do this." A major said: "I hope if I have to go to Laos and get my tail shot off, these people will appreciate it."

Barry Wardlaw, G. Stockton, Calif., said the purpose of the demonstration was to "draw attention to the fact that ROTC is compulsory, and to inform the administration that there is a body of student opinion on campus that objects to ROTC. We hope our actions will help to eventually abolish it," he added.

Picketing Protestors

A picket protesting compulsory ROTC paraded before the entrances of Iowa Memorial Union Friday night where the annual SUI Military Ball was being held.

Victor Borge, Comic Pianist, Coming Here

How can one man, assisted only by a piano, keep audiences from coast-to-coast in "stitches" for two hours at a time?

This question will be answered April 11 as Victor Borge comes to SUI for one of his famous one-man shows. The "zany Dane" will perform at 8 p.m. in the SUI Fieldhouse.

Music and theatrical critics have been hard pressed to explain what makes Borge's humor a hit with audiences, but most are in agreement that, as Ed Sullivan put it, he is "the wittiest individual ever seen on the metropolitan stage."

John Chapman of the New York Daily News said that although he had seen Borge's piano shenanigans about two dozen times, and wept two handkerchiefs full of tears from laughter, he could not analyze the daffy comedy.

The comedian explains his performances this way: "I talk until I don't know what to talk about. Then I sit down and play . . . until I feel like talking again, then I talk until . . . well it just goes on like that."

"Just going on like that" propelled Borge from his first one-man show in Seattle to Broadway with "Comedy in Music" and on to television for an occasional "Solotacular."

When Borge brought "Comedy in Music" to Broadway, the New York Herald Tribune proclaimed "the Era of the Borge" while the New York Daily News contented itself with "Borge is the Champ!"

After 849 Broadway performances, he began a world tour and has since played to audiences in all parts of the United States.

Tickets for the Borge show may be obtained by mail from Victor Borge Concert, Iowa Memorial Union, Iowa City, or by phone at 338-0511, extension 2197. Tickets may also be purchased beginning Monday at the Union. Sections of seats in the Fieldhouse have been reserved and tickets for seats in these sections are on sale at prices ranging from $2-64.

Ike's Budget Inaccurate, Kennedy Tells Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy labeled the last budget of Dwight D. Eisenhower inaccurate and told Congress Friday to expect two more years of spending in the red.

Kennedy's special budget message to Congress — by omitting defense proposals — did not detail all the expected deficits for fiscal years 1961 and 1962. But the combined total evidently would reach $5 billion, raising the national debt to record heights.

Outline Peace Corps Jobs

By GENE GLEASON
Herald Tribune News Service

The 17,000 people of America's Peace Corps will begin their work overseas at the end of this year, it was announced Friday, by R. Sargent Shriver, Peace Corps director, at the 15th annual New York Herald Tribune forum in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria.

Shriver, speaking to the 37 young forum delegates from 34 countries and an audience of more than 2,000 students of high schools in the New York metropolitan area, said the corps volunteers will concentrate on four main tasks: Teaching languages, fighting disease, improving farm methods and serving in local governments, as clerks, administrators and helpers.

"As we see it, the Peace Corps should be composed of trained and skilled workers — and I emphasize trained and skilled," Shriver said. "Young in years, mature in judgment, dedicated in purpose, voluntary in character, ready to go and work anywhere in the world at the discretion of the President of the United States.

They will go, however, only where they are asked. We shall not impose the Peace Corps on anyone or any country. We shall not propagandize or proselytize."

The Peace Corps director said he hopes to be able to send out the first trained workers by Christmas of 1961, and added that he hopes some foreign nationals will also come here to be trained in the work of the corps.

Delegates to the forum, which has the theme, "The World We Want," showed keen interest in the Peace Corps. Per Seglen of Norway said that his own country has adopted the idea, and two other delegates suggested that the Peace Corps might be made an international organization, with the richer and more highly developed nations joining to help less technically advanced countries.

Shriver said that he saw the corps as "a two-way street," with "our volunteers gaining a greater knowledge and a deeper understanding of the people of other nations . . . it is this mutual understanding — this deeper appreciation — that leads to mutual respect and to world peace."

Father and Son Team

Father and son will combine talents for a Palm Sunday concert at SUI. The father, Frank Piersol (left), director of bands at Iowa State University, will be guest conductor of the SUI Symphony Band Sunday. His son, Jon, A4, will be featured as clarinet soloist in the concert. Young Piersol is president of the band. The concert will be presented in the Main Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union at 3:30 p.m.

Dean's Awards to 3 Honor Students Soon

Three exceptional members of the Honors Program at SUI will be first recipients in May of the newly initiated Dean's Awards, according to Rhodes Dunlap, professor of English and director of Honors.

Funds personally contributed through the SUI Foundation by Dewey B. Stuit of the College of Liberal Arts will provide awards of $100 each to three Honors students who are currently finishing their freshman, sophomore and junior years.

To be considered for an award, a student must be nominated by a member of the faculty. The final selection will be made by a committee composed of members of the Honors Council, who will take into account the students' course schedules and grades, the recommendations of instructors, and individual interviews with the most outstanding nominees.

The deadline for faculty nominations for the awards is April 10. "We hope to evaluate the total achievement of the student and the total promise which he shows," Dr. Dunlap says. "The awards will not be determined mechanically by grade-point average alone."

Interviewing concerning the strongest nominees will be through. "We not only hope to

Summer Service Jobs Available for Students

By DAROLD POWERS
Written for the DI

Summer jobs intended to exemplify the idea that "work is love made visible" will be outlined here next week.

Warren Witte, regional college and youth program assistant for the American Friends Service Committee (AFSC), will be on campus Tuesday to interview students interested in service work projects in the United States and other countries.

Building bridges in Italy, teaching swimming in Seattle, constructing a child-care center for migrant workers in the Midwest, planting trees in Latin America . . . these are a few of the jobs young AFSC workers have tackled.

In most such projects workers live together cooperatively, sharing responsibility for cooking and housekeeping. Some projects provide board and room plus a small allowance. In others, the worker must contribute to his own maintenance.

Witte will be available to provide details from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday in the YWCA office at the Iowa Memorial Union. If desired, appointments may be made through Dr. William E. Connor, phone 8-3558.

The AFSC describes the following programs as attempts to speak across barriers of culture, race, social class and mental infirmity — and adds, "Work is the language."

Institutional Service Units — work is usually as ward attendants or psychiatric aids.

Interns in Community Service — work is generally in day camps, neighborhood houses or on playgrounds.

Interns in Industry — participants find themselves a job in industry and attempt to understand the problems of their fellow factory workers.

Overseas and U.S. Work Camps — mostly unskilled labor. Community Service in Latin America — labor, teaching, public health, etc.

Voluntary International Service Assignments (VISA) — whereas one may join the other programs for from 10 summer weeks to an indefinite period, VISA requires a one-year commitment. Its volunteers will be assigned specific jobs in community service overseas. As with the other programs outside the United States, special qualifications may be required.

Iowa House Passes Bill Raising Marriage Age
DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa House Friday passed and sent to the Senate a bill raising the minimum age for marriage. The vote was 74-3.

The minimum age at which a girl can marry would be increased from 14 to 16, and for a boy from 16 to 18.

The bill was sponsored by Reps. Riley Dietz (R-Walcott) and Paul Kowles (R-Davenport).

Scott County Clerk Elmer Jens complained recently that Iowa's border counties are having to marry other states' young couples "in trouble."

Kennedy Signs Order Giving Ike Five Stars

Lopez Is Optimistic About '61 White Sox

Associated Press Sports Writer

SARASOTA, Fla. — Al Lopez optimistically rates his 1961 Chicago White Sox higher than the team that won the pennant in 1959. He believes the addition of Cal McLish and Juan Pizarro to his pitching staff has closed the gap that led to last year's disappointing third-place finish.

"We led the league in hitting, fielding, double plays and stolen bases last year," said the affable Senator. "Still, we finished third. It must have been our pitching that failed. So, we went out and got two starters in McLish and Pizarro."

"I think we have a real good chance to win it this year. Of course, we'll have to contend with New York again. I do think the Yankees were hit hard when they had to give up men like Bobby Shantz, Eli Grba, Duke Maas, Bob Corv and Dale Long to stock the new clubs and also lost Gil McDougald who retired."

Lopez hopes to get relief help from 23-year-old Gary Peters, a lefty with a 12-9 record at San Diego.

The infield is set with Sievers (.295) on first, Fox (.289) at second, Aparicio (.277) at short and Marrin at third.

The outfield will have Minofo (.311) in left, Landis (.253) in center and Al Smith (.315) in right. Spares will be Jim Rivera (.294) and possibly Floyd Robinson (.318) at San Diego and Stan Johnson (.333) at San Diego.

Catcher Lollar (.252) may be spelled by Bob Roselli (.258 at Sacramento), a drafted player. Joe Ginsberg (.257) also is available.

Although the club has plenty of age with men like Early Wynn, 41, Gerry Staley, 40, Minnie Minofo, 37, Sherm Lollar, 36, Roy Sievers, 34, and Al Smith and Nellie Fox, 33, Lopez doesn't think it will hurt him.

Lopez has eight potential starting pitchers. He can pick from left-handers Frank Baumann (13-6), the league's earned run leader, Billy Pierce (14-7), Herb Score (5-10) and Pizarro (6-7 at Milwaukee) and right-handers Wynn (13-12), McLish (4-14 at Cincinnati), Russ Kemmerer (6-5 at Washington and Chicago) and Bob Shaw (13-13), who has been a holdout.

Lopez hopes to get relief help from 23-year-old Gary Peters, a lefty with a 12-9 record at San Diego.

The infield is set with Sievers (.295) on first, Fox (.289) at second, Aparicio (.277) at short and Marrin at third.

Nation's No. 1 and 2 Teams--

OSU, Cincy Win; To Meet In NCAA Finals Tonight

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Defending champion Ohio State crushed outclassed St. Joseph's (Pa.) 95-69 and scrappy Cincinnati whipped Utah 82-67 Friday night, setting up tonight's National Collegiate Basketball Championships final between the nation's No. 1 and No. 2 ranking teams.

Second-rated Cincinnati pushed its winning streak to 21 in the second game.

Unbeaten Ohio State, its uncanny shooting eye and Jerry Lucas' 29 points overcoming its frequent mistakes, made it 32 straight in the opener of a semifinal showdown.

The Buckeyes of the Big Ten and the Bearcats of the Missouri Valley Conference — only some 90 miles apart in the basketball hotbed of Ohio — will meet in the championship test at 9 p.m. tonight.

The 7 p.m. consolation match will match Utah and St. Joseph's.

Ohio State and Cincinnati haven't met in basketball since 1922. They played six times before that — with Ohio State winning four of the six.

Only Billy McGill of Utah could penetrate the Cincinnati defense with any regularity. McGill, the nation's No. 4 scorer, with a 27.7 average, hit 25 points.

Cincinnati now is 26-3 and unbeaten since losing to Bradley on Dec. 23.

A capacity crowd of 10,700 watched the showdown doubleheader in Municipal Auditorium.

Ohio State, attempting to become the first team since North Carolina in 1957 to sweep through a major season unbeaten, played well only in spurts, tossed away too many passes, and had a bundle of other infractions. But those things don't mean much when you score practically everytime you step back and take aim.

And that's just about what the Bucks did — ramming in 64 per cent of their shots while sweeping to a 45-28 halftime lead and 63 per cent for the game.

Lucas, the 6-8 great, was the most uncanny of the bunch — hitting 10 of 11 field goal attempts, dropping 9 of 10 free throws, and doing a tremendous job on rebounds and play-making in the 33 minutes he played.

St. Joseph's, which had pushed its winning streak to 15 while startling experts in capturing the Eastern regional at Charlotte (N. C.) last week, had 3 minutes and 52 seconds of ecstasy. Those were the first 3:52 of the game — in which the Hawks from Philadelphia, champion of the Middle Atlantic Conference, bounced into a 5-0 lead while Ohio State adjusted its sights.

The Bucks zeroed in promptly, swarming over St. Joe for 23 points in the next eight minutes while taking a 23-9 lead. The Hawks never got within 10 points again.

Vince Kempton, 6-8 senior from New York, led the Hawks with 18 points while St. Joe's ace, Jack Egan, was held to 8 compared to his 22-point season average.

All-American Ambushed

St. Joseph's (Pa.) player F. A. Majewski (21) uses a straight arm to try and stop Ohio State All-American Jerry Lucas (11). Majewski's teammate John Egan (43) also gets into the act. The tactics didn't work, however, as Lucas scored 29 points and the Bucks won the NCAA semifinal game 95-69.

Cowboys Lead NCAA Meet; Huff Loses

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — The Oklahoma State Cowboys picked up ground Friday in their drive to regain the National Collegiate wrestling title.

The nine Oklahoma State wrestlers who survived the opening day of the NCAA tournament moved through the quarterfinals without a loss.

Tom Huff, Iowa's last man in the tournament, was defeated in the quarterfinals by Ted Pierce of Oklahoma State, 4-3. Huff was Iowa's top wrestler during the regular season with a 11-1-1 record.

In late action Thursday night, Hawkeyes Del Rossberg, Dave Gates, and Steve Combs were eliminated.

Gates, who won his first 137-pound match by defeating UCLA's Bill Zeltztona 6-1, dropped his second duel 3-5 to Oklahoma State's Doug Wilson, one of the tourney favorites.

Rossberg lost an 8-5 decision to Oklahoma State's Bob Wilson in the 147-pound match. At 157, Kirk Pendleton of Lehigh pinned Steve Combs in 1:20.

Runge Also Designated Iowa Captain

Dennis Runge, 6-9 senior of the Iowa basketball squad Thursday was named an honorary co-captain of the 1960-61 Iowa team along with Don Nelson, 6-6 junior.

Thursday, the Associated Press reported that Nelson had been named but did not report Runge's selection.

Providence, St. Louis Vie For NIT Crown Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Two unseeded teams, Providence's fast-breaking Friars, and St. Louis University's possession-minded Billikens, meet today for the National Invitation Basketball Tournament's championship.

The windup of the 12-team tournament at 3 p.m. is expected to draw another big crowd to Madison Square Garden. The tilt will be televised NBC TV. Dayton University and Holy Cross, the beaten semifinalists, will battle for third place in the 1:15 p.m. opener.

Providence figures to have a psychological advantage. The Friars beat the Billikens in the quarter-finals of the last two NIT's, winning 75-72 in double overtime in 1959 and 64-53 last year. Providence was defeated in the final last year by Bradley. St. Louis, in its 10th NIT, captured the title in 1948.

Providence is noted for its wide open style of attack. The Friars break fast with 5-8 Vince Ernst and 6-foot Johnny Egan leading the attack.

Judge Tells Tax Attorney: 'Hurry Ingo's Case'—or Else

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A federal judge warned attorneys Friday to conclude their tax case against Ingemar Johansson by next Friday and let the Swedish heavyweight go home.

"I'm not going to keep this man in prison because you say he has not paid his taxes," Judge Emmett C. Choate told John J. McCarthy, attorney for the Department of Justice Tax Division.

Johansson has been at nearby Palm Beach since his knockout at the hands of Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson March 13.

McCarthy told the judge, at a hearing on Johansson's petition to be allowed to leave the country, that the Internal Revenue Service can invoke the aid of the Immigration Service to keep persons in the country during tax investigations.

"I told you a week ago what to do," the judge shot back. "I may decide to release him after the depositions. I'll set the case for next Friday at 9:45 a.m."

The government contends that Johansson owes $498,181 for 1959 and 1960 and $411,620 for 1961 and the judge noted that $1.3 million of Johansson's funds are tied up in this country.

"His tax may be $1.4 million," McCarthy said.

"You're going to have him fighting for nothing if you keep on," Judge Choate remarked.

By focusing his attention on the dummy rather than his own hand, declarer was able to bring home an enterprising slam contract in today's hand.

North opened with one heart, and South responded with one spade. Unwilling to settle for less than game, North made a jump shift rebid of three clubs, absolutely demanding a game contract. South now showed his second suit. North then showed the spade support, and South, on the basis of his club holding and realizing that North held a singleton diamond, took charge of the proceedings and went on to slam.

West opened the three of clubs, and East's jack forced the king. Declarer observed that setting up dummy's heart suit would not in itself be sufficient, for only three diamond discards would be available out of the South hand.

Obviously also, any play to discard two diamonds and ruff two in dummy would not be sound, for that would probably establish the ten of spades for one of the adversaries.

Assuming a three-two spade break, the most probable division, declarer saw that he could not win the hand safely enough by reversing the dummy, that is to say, by ruffing North's losers in the South hand and drawing trumps with the K-Q-J of spades.

He, therefore, led to the queen of hearts and ruffed the low heart in his own hand. He then cashed the ace of clubs and ruffed a low club in the closed hand.

A low trump lead to dummy permitted declarer to ruff the remaining club with the ace of spades. South's last trump was used to enter dummy to draw the remaining trumps and dummy was high except for the losing diamond.
