Eichmann Hearing Begins With Defense Challenge

French Ultimatum to Algeria

PARIS (HTNS) — President De Gaulle said Tuesday that if France could not negotiate peaceful cooperation with Algeria it would pull out of the North African territory altogether.

At the same time, he sparked new hope for the stalled negotiations by promising that rebel leader Mohammed Ben Bella, now a prisoner of the French, would be given a "more liberal regime" once the talks begin and would be freed if a cease-fire goes into effect.

More than half of the 75-minute press conference held before about 600 newsmen at the Palais de l'Elysée was devoted to Algeria in De Gaulle's most detailed exposition of the problem to date.

He reaffirmed his position that the Algerians should be granted self-determination, and that the final choice of an alliance with France was up to them.

But he added this ultimatum: Either the Algerians, in a referendum to be made after negotiations, agree to preserve cultural and economic ties with the French, or France will move its men and material out of Algeria.

This would entail, De Gaulle said, removing and relocating in metropolitan France the 1,000,000 Europeans still living in Algeria. It would also mean sending the Algerians who live in France back to Algeria. Algeria is still considered a part of France and Algerians automatically have French citizenship.

The French Chief of State spoke in somber terms of what would become of Algeria once the French have pulled out. "One could say," he predicted, "that these territories which France has evacuated would fall immediately into misery, chaos, and would eventually be absorbed by communism. That is, in effect, what would probably happen. We would have no further duty toward them than to feel sorry for them."

"One could also say that the Soviet Union or the United States, or both of them together, would try to gain a foothold there. I can tell both that I wish them a lot of luck."

Paper Tells Russ Return Of Spaceman

MOSCOW (AP) — London's Communist paper, the Daily Worker, reported Tuesday night that the Soviet Union shot a man into space orbit six days ago and brought him back to earth suffering from "after-effects of the flight."

There was no official confirmation of the report here, however, and Western correspondents could find nothing to bear out the story.

A spokesman at Tass, official Soviet news agency, said reports abroad of a Soviet space man came entirely from unofficial sources and no official statement was contemplated. Asked if an announcement would be published this morning in Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, he said it would not be.

The Tass spokesman did not flatly deny, however, that there had been a flight.

A spokesman at Britain's Jodrell Bank radiotelescope observatory, which keeps track of space ships and satellites, said he had no knowledge of a new Soviet launching.

Communist newspapers in Europe, including Rome's L'Unità often first with news from Moscow, did not receive stories similar to the London Daily Worker account.

The London Daily Worker, attributing its information to "well-informed sources in Moscow," heralded "the first man in space" in splashy headlines and said the astronaut was the test-pilot son of a leading Soviet aircraft designer.

In New York City, CBS Radio broadcast a report from Moscow in which correspondent Marvin Kalb said he had confirmed the London Daily Worker story through unofficial sources in the Soviet capital. Kalb said the flier was probably the son of Sergei Ilyushin, designer of the Ilyushin jet planes.

The London story said the astronaut "is understood to be suffering after-effects from his flight," and was under constant observation of leading Soviet medical specialists and space scientists.

The paper said he completed three orbits around the earth some 200 miles out in space last Friday before his 4½-ton vehicle returned to earth on command.

The story appeared only a day after rumors swept Moscow that the Soviet Union was about to announce the completion of a manned space flight. Communist newsmen here apparently had been tipped off from some source to expect an announcement.

No statement was issued, however, and a Foreign Ministry spokesman said Monday night that he knew nothing about it.

Some correspondents here raised questions, when no announcement was forthcoming, whether something might have gone wrong.

Lawyer Says Prisoner 'Dragged' into Crimes

By GARVEN HUGDINS

JERUSALEM (AP) — Far from the concentration camps he helped turn into factories of death, Adolf Eichmann faced his Jewish accusers Tuesday and heard his attorney challenge their right to bring him to trial.

His pale face showed no emotion as the Israeli court read off a roll of crimes portraying him as a mastermind in the methodical extermination of millions of Jews.

Then, behind the bullet-proof glass of a specially constructed prisoner's dock, the one-time Gestapo bureaucrat listened with Teutonic stolidness while his attorney pictured him as no more than a tool "dragged" into his actions by the Nazi state.

The trial's opening day ended with legalistic questions still unresolved. Eichmann himself had spoken only a single word — and has not yet pleaded to the charges.

First came the reading of the indictment, in Hebrew and German. The itemization of this 15-count charge took 70 minutes.

During its reading the slim, bald former Jewish affairs chief of Hitler's Germany stood in the dock and scarcely moved. His hands were folded before him, his lips pursed in a petulant expression.

The document, read by Chief Justice Moshe Landau, accused Eichmann of criminal responsibility for the slaughter of six million Jews in Nazi-dominated Europe during World War II. It pictured him as the brains behind the systematic horror of Belsen, Auschwitz, Chelmo, Treblinka and other notorious camps dedicated to race murder.

In the marble-faced community center, and throughout Israeli Jerusalem, the atmosphere was electric as the long-awaited trial began. A cordon of 200 police, their automatic rifles glinting in hot sunshine, surrounded the building.

And then, with dramatic suddenness, the man called the arch-persecutor of European Jewry was on public view for the first time since Israeli agents ran him down in Argentina almost a year ago and spirited him to Israel.

Wearing earphones so he could hear the German translation of the Hebrew proceedings, his head cocked in an attitude of stiff attention, Eichmann stared fixedly at the judges' bench as Justice Landau enumerated the names, places and deeds which struck terror into European Jewry in the days of the Nazis.

He heard himself described as the chief architect of Adolf Hitler's "final solution of the Jewish question."

Before hearing the indictment, he spoke his only word of the day into the record. That was "ja-wohl," the German military way of saying yes, when he was asked to answer to his name.

Then, before he could plead to the charge, his attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius, rose to address the three-man court of German-born judges.

He contended that "one of the judges" might be prejudiced. He also argued that Israel's 1950 law covering Nazis and Nazi collaborators did not apply because it was enacted after the deeds in question.

Servatius did not name the judge he thought might be prejudiced, but he obviously referred to Justice Benjamin Halevy, who, in presiding over a collaboration case four years ago, called Eichmann "the devil."

Eichmann, said Servatius, was only an instrument "dragged into these actions by the State." Compared with the Nazi leaders tried at an international court at Nuremberg in 1946, said the attorney, Eichmann "cannot be measured by the same yardstick."

Eichmann, flanked by two blue-uniformed guards, listened with icy impassiveness. Apparently suffering from a slight cold, he frequently reached inside his left inside coat pocket for a handkerchief. The guards watched every movement.

Servatius, noting that Eichmann was seized in Buenos Aires and brought here on Israeli orders, contended all this was illegal.

Prosecutor Gideon Hausner, Israel's attorney general, responded swiftly to the defense contentions.

Long explained that co-operatives are owned either by stock or membership open to both students and townpeople with each member having one vote. Distribution of profits is to members who bring in sales slips at the end of the year for a percentage refund.

Long discouraged students from forming a co-op if they were thinking of 10 to 15 per cent on the patronage refund. At Oberlin the refund is four percent.

Concerning the capture of Eichmann in Argentina, Hausner cited half a dozen United States court decisions covering the right of states or the Federal Government to try defendants brought from other jurisdictions.

London Paper Reports Powers To Be Released

LONDON (AP) — The London Daily Mail said Wednesday U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers will be freed from a Soviet prison in the next few weeks and will choose to stay in Russia.

The Mail's Moscow correspondent John Mossman reported:

"I understand he would like his wife, Barbara, to join him, and she is anxious to come here."

The Mail said Powers probably will walk to freedom May 1 — exactly a year after his reconnaissance plane was shot down.

And the newspaper quoted Mrs. Powers as saying in New York:

"I would love to go to Moscow to join my husband. I will go out to him if possible, even if he decided to run on after his release."

Mossman quoted no Russian source for his story, but reported:

"He (Powers) is believed to be in Vladimir Prison, near Moscow. His release is planned as a demonstration of increased goodwill between the Soviet Union and America."

The Mail said Mrs. Powers telephoned Washington to talk to them about it," she was quoted.

"I have had nothing official to confirm the rumors, but I had a lovely letter from Gary only this morning. I have already told him I would go to Moscow to join him."

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said "we haven't heard anything about it" if Powers is to be released. The spokesman said he didn't know if Mrs. Powers had phoned any officials in Washington or not.

11 Companies Named in Suit

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eleven electrical companies, convicted conspirators in antitrust price-fixing and bid-rigging, were sued by the U.S. Government Tuesday for millions of dollars in damages.

Six separate complaints were filed in U.S. District Court accusing the firms, including the nation's two biggest — General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp. — of cheating the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) and a dozen other federal agencies in the sale of equipment used for generation, transmission and distribution of electricity.

Specifically, the suits allege the companies, as early as 1956, defrauded the Government by fixing noncompetitive prices and bids that were substantially and unreasonably high.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, discussing the suits in Washington, said the amount of money damages sought was presently undetermined "but it would run into millions of dollars."

Tuesday's actions followed by two months the conviction of 29 companies — the current 11 among them — and 44 of their executives. These defendants were fined $1,925,500. Seven men spent about four weeks in jail.

Approval Given To House Bill For College Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Administration was said Tuesday to be in accord with a move in the House to provide direct federal grants to colleges, including those controlled by churches.

Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore.), who is sponsoring the Administration's higher education bill in the House, has consistently drawn a distinction between colleges and secondary schools as recipients of federal aid. But the extension of grants to private colleges would seem certain to further inflame the church-state controversy now raging about the whole issue of federal aid to education.

Four Persons Injured By Small Texas Twister

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Four persons were injured, three seriously, late Tuesday when a small tornado ripped an area in north Dallas County, just beyond the city limits.

Aubrey Crawford, 45, his wife and their infant son were seriously injured when the tornado demolished their trailer home and his adjacent gasoline station.

Adenauer Arrives in U.S. To Confer with Kennedy

WASHINGTON (HTNS) — The next round in President Kennedy's venture into diplomacy began Tuesday night with the arrival of West German Chancellor Adenauer.

The 43-year-old President and the 75-year-old Chancellor will confer in the White House today and Thursday.

In one sense the German leader's visit comes at a difficult time for him because of his great sensitivity to American reaction to the trial of Adolf Eichmann in Israel.

However, on his arrival at 6:01 p.m. Chancellor Adenauer spoke hopefully of a new sense of union and resolution among the peoples of the West. He said that already the German people have developed "great confidence" in Kennedy.

The Chancellor was welcomed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk as he emerged from his jet liner at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, in Maryland.

Borge Delights SUI Crowd

By DIANE GROSSETT
Staff Writer

Danish comic pianist Victor Borge manipulated an audience which filled the main floor of SUI's Field House as skillfully as he did the keyboard Tuesday evening. Opening with a jibe at his "concert hall," Borge caught the crowd in waves of laughter which rose and fell — and only rarely ceased.

Explaining his shortness of breath, Borge quipped "I missed the 7:30 elevator at the Jefferson — the one going down." He harassed latecomers from the edge of the stage — "Parking problems? You could've driven right in!" — and sat down at his Steinway after fifteen hilarious minutes of ad-lib antics.

Borge began with a simple theme, "Happy Birthday," and rendered interpretations of the tune in the manner of the various masters shouted from the floor.

For our inflationary age, the comic offered a new language. Many of the words in English contain numbers. Borge explained. By adding one to each of these, you get "inflationary English." To demonstrate, he read a tale of a young lady pursued by an "intoxicated three-faced triple-crosser."

Several routines which the Dane presented at the piano featured manipulations of two melodies at the same time, resulting in strains of "Donkey Serenade," running through heart-rending bits of "My Funny Valentine."

Concluding the first half of his show with the "Skater's Waltz" in garbled tempo — "The composer has no sense of rhythm," he collected three stage hands to take his curtain calls.

Previously passed off as a Cedar Rapids resident Borge had given piano lessons to New York Philharmonic pianist Leonid Hambro joined the "zany Dane" in added.

An interpretation of Texas-born Van Cliburn's Moscow appearance last year, Borge and Hambro delighted the crowd with Tschaikovsky's First Piano Concerto — done with undertones of "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon Us."

Borge next offered his system of phonetic punctuation, replacing the commas, periods, question and quotation marks with sound effects, and drawing the largest laughs of the evening from the crowd.

Borge concluded his show in total darkness, the only bright spot his face, lit with a golden glow. He ended on the hope that "we will meet again — in your dining room, in your living room, in your — I don't know how many rooms you have . . . but wherever your television set is!"

And the light went out, leaving the audience with lightness born of laughter — "until I ached all over," one departing enthusiast added.

The paper said he completed three orbits around the earth some 200 miles out in space last Friday before his 4½-ton vehicle returned to earth on command.

The story appeared only a day after rumors swept Moscow that the Soviet Union was about to announce the completion of a manned space flight. Communist newsmen here apparently had been tipped off from some source to expect an announcement.

Be Prepared

Preparedness is a great asset. The United States must never forget that. We must be constantly on the alert. But our defense policy — especially as it pertains to jet fighter plane interceptions of our bombers on mock attacks — must be re-evaluated in view of the tragedy which occurred over the New Mexico desert last weekend.

Three crewmen were killed Friday when a Sidewinder missile, accidentally fired from an F-100 jet fighter, shot down a B-52 bomber. Five crewmen escaped. Two of those five, who bailed out at 35,000 feet, were not found until Sunday. An Air Force spokesman said their survival in 10-degree weather and a blizzard whipped by winds of 65 miles an hour was "certainly miraculous."

Many thoughts come to mind in view of the incident. The most pressing is a fear that the next accident could easily down a foreign craft and plunge us unwillingly into World War III.

This thought, as well as a desire to spare innocent airmen, has also struck ranking Air Force officers. They have responded by banning missile practice runs. This action is very wise.

Supposedly, the Sidewinder has a foolproof system. An elaborate three-point safety check negates the possibility of an accidental firing. Yet the jet fighter pilot has denied he fired the missile. The safety theory was shot down when the B-52 crashed in flames. No one has been able to explain the accident.

The Air Force has a problem. Until the mystery is solved, there will be no more interception flights with live missiles. At present, the risk is too great.

But we must not allow our guard to fall. We must continue to train our pilots. We must have armed craft ready to intercept an enemy and keep our skies free from all terror.

The solution would seem to be to disarm all planes engaged in training. This would allow our pilots to continue to develop their interception skills. And while the unarmed jets trained, loaded, lethal Sidewinders would wait under the wings of other planes to deter the enemy.

Clever News Advertising Is Just a Status Symbol

By JOHN CROSBY

I was in the shower the other day singing "Goodbye, Crabgrass, Goodbye," which is my favorite singing commercial of the moment. It contains those great lines: "I'm going to get you early this spring/Dow Chemical has the very thing/Goodbye, Crabgrass, goodbye."

By George, I was saying to myself, they don't write lyrics like that any more. Except that obviously they do. Well, I mean, they just wrote that one. "Goodbye, Crabgrass, Goodbye" is the favorite all up and down my block. Small children sing it much as they would sing "Oh, we're off to see the Wizard, the wonderful Wizard of Oz." They're both equally fanatical and dreamlike.

Crabgrass? Why, bless my soul, Dow Chemical, there hasn't been a blade of grass, crab or any other variety, seen in my vicinity since somewhere in the mid-nineteenth century. You got the very best thing, have you, Dow Chemical? Well, we got a better cure for crabgrass. Cement. "The crabgrass grows high/as an elephant's eye/but not in Greenwich Village."

Well, my family is so backward it's been using those old-fashioned Chinese rockets — been using them ever since the 15th century — so I went right down to the store to get some new fancy, Dynaflo Raytheon rockets. The store didn't sell 'em. Didn't stock missiles at all. They had lots of Dow Chemical to get rid of the crabgrass I haven't got but no missiles which are advertised in every magazine and which clearly every growing American boy can hardly do without.

There's not a store on my block that stocks Polaris missiles. Now why? You can hardly open a magazine without finding marvelous color advertisements of the Polaris and if they're not trying to sell me one, what are they trying to do? ("Concealed by ocean depths, these ever-moving missile bases cannot be accounted for by an enemy surprise attack," boasts Sperry Gyroscope.)

But the purpose of these ads, I was told, was not to sell anything. But then what is the purpose of what "The Nation" calls "advertising doomsday"? Well, as I said, it's a status symbol.

Any day now I expect to hear the first singing commercial for a missile:

"General Electric goes high in the sky."

"It's I-C-B-M protects you and I."

"Safe in our beds now we can...

On Other Campuses

By GARY G. GERLACH

Assistant Managing Editor
IS THE FRATERNITY SYSTEM ALL WASHED UP? Are brotherhood and fraternity whoop- 'em up parties on the way out?

Apparently several influential sources, including Newsweek magazine, several large West Coast dailies plus at least one college editor believe that the college fraternity system is on the wane.

An article in the March 27 issue of Newsweek, entitled "Zeta Beta Kappa put?" says that the traditional image of the hell-raising fraternity of the '20's with its frantic hazing is disintegrating in the face of a new surge of intellectual seriousness on U.S. campuses.

Newsweek said that fraternities "don't cast the campus shadow they once did. For one thing, more and more students feel they don't have the time to participate in house functions."

The big reason for the fading fraternity, says the new school of thought, is that intellectual seriousness is crowding fraternities and sororities off the collegiate stage; young America is swapping pledge pins for text books. For some reason there is a feeling that scholarship and fraternalism just don't make good bed partners.

Newsweek quoted the editor of the Daily Trojan, student newspaper at the University of Southern California (Los Angeles), as saying:

"I think the fraternity system is going out. It'll be gone in 10 years here. Students are growing up, becoming more self-sufficient. They don't have to run to fraternities because they're not afraid to stand alone."

BUT THE NEWSWEEK ARTICLE AND COMMENTS by the college editor brought a gush of counter statements from pro-fraternity advocates.

The president of the Interfraternity Council at Southern Cal dismissed Newsweek's indictment as "sour grapes." He went on to claim that 1960 had seen a big gain in rushers and pledges at USC — the same campus where fraternities are supposed to be extinct in 10 years according to a prediction by the editor of the student newspaper.

A highly influential member of the UCLA faculty, Chancellor Franklin Murphy, has no doubts about the fraternity system. Murphy has told reporters that the fraternity system, "or something like it will certainly survive on most university campuses. . . Young men will always gather in small living and social groups."

* * *

AND YOU WILL HAVE A HARD TIME convincing officials at the University of Oklahoma that the old fraternity handshake is losing its grip.

The Board of Regents recently abolished formal rush at the University of Oklahoma, because, as President Cross said, the University is being dominated by the Greek system.

Slightly over one third of the student body belongs to either a sorority or fraternity at the University of Oklahoma. (At SU 19.2 per cent of all undergraduate men are affiliated; no estimate of the percentage in sororities was immediately available.)

* * *

FROM THE CONGLOMERATION OF FACTS and statements it is impossible to determine whether the Greek System is coming or going, and by extension, whether it is "good" or "bad." There is evidence to suggest both. But one thing is certain: the whoop- 'em up social organization — largely unknown at the SU campus — is going to have to have a reconciliation with scholarship, or face extermination.

SUlowans Seek To Help Return Father From Siberia

By JUDY HOLSLAG
Society Editor

"My mother is still hoping my father will be home again some day," said Alex Korzeniewski, SU sophomore. "During the war, she went through all kinds of hardships; I think it would be a great thing if her hopes would be fulfilled."

SUI students will be asked to help fulfill these hopes this week, as petitions for the release from Siberia of Alex's 56-year-old father, Adam Korzeniewski, circulate in campus housing units.

In 1939, one year after Alex was born, his home town of Grodno, Poland, was taken over by the Russians. "My father and all the other men of our family were sent to Siberia," Alex said. "I'm not sure what the charge was, but part of it was probably because my grandfather had served for the Russian Czar before."

Adam Korzeniewski was sentenced to 10 years in Siberia in 1939; he is still there.

"In 1941, when Germany attacked Russia and took all of Poland, my mother, two sisters and I were sent to a German work farm. We were sometimes separated and sent to different farms during the rest of the war, but we always got back together again."

After the war, Alex "roamed around Europe" going to different schools. In 1949, his oldest sister, now 28, came to the United States with her husband.

She married a Polish fellow, and they couldn't go back to Poland, of course. We had a priest headed by Sharon Thornberry, A4, Iowa City, and Tom Eversman, G, Burlington, decided to set up a petition, to be signed by SUI students, requesting the release of Adam Korzeniewski from Siberia.

Their mother always talks to me about my father when I'm home," Alex said. "We have a very close family because of this. She always thought she would see him again sometime. She could have remarried, but she never did." Mrs. Korzeniewski is now 50.

Alex, a language major, was interpreter for the Russian gymnasts when they were in Iowa City this winter.

"I didn't have any hard feelings toward them," he said. "They are just plain people like anyone else—they have to do what they're told."

In 1959, when Khrushchev was visiting San Francisco, Alex Korzeniewski was boxing in Golden Gloves competition. An article about Alex and his father appeared in an Iowa paper, and George Thompson, a writer for the San but plays guard now.

"Ever since the war, my oldest sister had been writing to agencies all over, trying to get in touch with my father. We thought he might have died during the war—being sent to Siberia is not an easy life, and he is not a young man."

Thompson asked Christopher to speak to the Russian premier about the release of Adam Korzeniewski. However, Khrushchev turned the matter over to one of his ministers and Alex heard no further word until three months ago. At that time, he received a letter from Thompson asking for his father's address, as the Russians had been unable to locate him with the anglicized spelling of his name which Thompson had given them.

Alex has heard nothing since. A group of his friends, headed by Sharon Thornberry, A4, Iowa City, and Tom Eversman, G, Burlington, decided to set up a petition, to be signed by SUI students, requesting the release of Adam Korzeniewski from Siberia.

M. L. Huit, dean of students, has given his approval to the idea, and David Archie, editor of the Iowan magazine is supporting the project. Miss Thornberry is contacting student organizations for backing, and a resolution for support will be introduced at the Student Council meeting tonight.

Cass said Brinkman dedicated himself entirely to painting at 16. "This is unusual anywhere, he said, but especially in Spain where a university education is for a small minority. The choice was difficult for him and his family."

Although he has worked some times with no apparent success, Brinkman has not painted for the tourist trade as he has some of his fellow citizens, Cass said, and has painted what he wanted.

Cass also commented on the sign of maturity shown throughout Brinkman's works and his determinism. He said, "It is really amazing that he is so dedicated a painter at so early an age."

The original speeches should be five to eight minutes in length and will be judged both on content and delivery. The winner will receive a prize of $10 and the runner-up $5.

The contest will be held on Tuesday, May 9, at 3:30 p.m., in Room 7 Schaeffer Hall.

Instructors in the Speech Department and in Communication Skills will be available to suggest topics and give advice on preparation.

Park Bridge Work Stopped By Rain

Work on the permanent approaches to the new four-lane Park Bridge which opened January 7 was suspended Tuesday because of rain. The grading and paving of the approaches is scheduled to be completed by May 31.

An 800 foot stretch along Dubuque Street on both sides of the bridge extending approximately from Kimball Road to Brown Street will be raised and widened to four lanes.

Lane H. Mashaw, city public works director, said he believed the work can be completed without closing the street. However, there will be momentary interruptions of traffic.

Mashaw also said that traffic is likely to be routed over the old Park Bridge during part of the construction.

IMU To Show Spanish Art During April

Members Honored, Officers Installed at Currier Hall

Outstanding members were named and new officers installed at the annual Currier Hall Association Recognition breakfast held Sunday morning.

Outgoing president, Marilyn La Plante, A4, Sioux City, presented pins for outstanding service to Sandra Weingarten, A1, Ottawa, Ill.; Marlene Burr, A1, New York City; Darlene Walther, A3, West Liberty; Linda Papritz, B4, Waukesha; Carol Pitsch, A1, Park Forest, Ill.; Jean Fuller, A2, Cherokee; Lois Helmrich, A2, Manchester, and Eva Winter, A2, West Branch.

The works of the 22-year-old artist were brought to the attention of the Union Board Fine Arts Committee by Ted Cass, Summer, who met Brinkman while studying in Spain a year ago. Brinkman gave Cass the oils while he was still in Spain.

When Cass wrote this fall about a showing, Brinkman sent the other works now in the exhibition.

Cass said Brinkman dedicated himself entirely to painting at 16. "This is unusual anywhere, he said, but especially in Spain where a university education is for a small minority. The choice was difficult for him and his family."

Although he has worked some times with no apparent success, Brinkman has not painted for the tourist trade as he has some of his fellow citizens, Cass said, and has painted what he wanted.

Cass also commented on the sign of maturity shown throughout Brinkman's works and his determinism. He said, "It is really amazing that he is so dedicated a painter at so early an age."

Petitions will be sent to every SUI housing unit and will be posted in Schaeffer and Macbride Halls today, tomorrow and Friday.

The completed petition will be sent to the Kremlin, with a letter requesting Korzeniewski's release to the American Embassy there. "We hope it will work," said Miss Thornberry. "Alex's friends are all behind it. We'd like to see his father get back to his family again."

Bill Virdon's Homer in 9th Inning Gives Pirates 8-7 Win over Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bill Virdon slammed a three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning Tuesday, boosting the 1960 world baseball champion Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-7 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

An opening day throng of 41,423 watched the Pirates rally after their first two batters went down in the final frame.

Then pinch hitters Dick Schofield doubled and Dick Stuart walked. Lefty Mike McCormick relieved Stu Miller for the Giants and Virdon smashed McCormick's first pitch over the right field fence at Candlestick Park.

The victory went to Elroy Face, the Pirates' veteran reliever who was their third pitcher.

Until the ninth, the Giants were in command. Orlando Cepeda knocked in three runs, Willie McCovey two, and they hit successive solo homers in the fifth.

A crowd of 41,643 watched the Indians lace starter Jim Bunning for six hits in the second inning.

Cleveland batters collected six hits in the inning and got three unearned runs as the result of a fumble by shortstop Chico Fernandez.

Cubs' Coach Corps Can't Stop Cincy's Jim O'Toole

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim O'Toole, who pitched most of last year's season opening victory for the Cincinnati Reds without getting credit for the triumph, made it on his own Tuesday with a sparkling four-hitter in a 7-1 Cincinnati decision over the Chicago Cubs.

The 24-year-old O'Toole, starting his third full season in the majors, was aided by some lusty Reds' hitting that included home runs by Frank Robinson and Wally Post. Post's was good for three runs.

Cards Win Over Spahn

MILWAUKEE (AP) — St. Louis shortstop Daryl Spencer cracked Warren Spahn's first pitch in the 10th inning for a homer boosting the Cardinals to a 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves Tuesday in a National League opener.

Spencer's blast dealt Spahn a heartbreaking loss before a chilled crowd of 33,327.

Spahn, who will be 40 in less than two weeks, baffled the Cards on just one hit, a bunt by Julian Javier leading off the game, before Stan (The Man) Musial tripled with two out in the seventh. Musial was left stranded.

Cleveland obtained Whitney in a trade that sent Walt Bellamy of Indiana; the Pipers' first draft choice, to Chicago.

The 6-7 Whitney also was selected by Syracuse of the National Basketball Association in the third round of the NBA draft.

The Braves' lone run came on a home run by Mathews in the fourth.

ISU's Whitney Signs Contract With Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Pipers of the new American Basketball League Tuesday signed Henry Whitney of Iowa State to a contract for the 1961-62 season.

A mainstay of the Cyclone cage team for the past three seasons, Whitney played on the West team, coached by Iowa's Sharm Scheuerman, in the East-West Shrine Game last month.

Cleveland obtained Whitney in a trade that sent Walt Bellamy of Indiana; the Pipers' first draft choice, to Chicago.

The 6-7 Whitney also was selected by Syracuse of the National Basketball Association in the third round of the NBA draft.

During the past season, Whitney had a 43.6 per cent scoring average from the field and hit on 70.5 per cent of his free throws.

Ron Zegar, former Iowa guard, was drafted by the league's Chicago entry, but he has not as yet signed a contract.

Allison's homer opened the scoring. Earl Battey's double, a walk to Bertoia, and Billy Gardner's sacrifice set the stage for Ramos' two-run single to center.

The opening day crowd of 14,607 watched the first Yankee opener in 13 years without Casey Stengel. Ralph Houk, the rookie skipper who replaced Stengel, made his first unhappy game appearance when he lifted Ford for Ralph Terry in the seventh.

Boston Gets 3rd Straight NBA Title—

Celtics Top Hawks 121-112

BOSTON (AP) — Incredible Bill Russell, the man who made basketball world champions of the Boston Celtics, kept them there by spiking a 121-112 victory over the St. Louis Hawks Tuesday night.

The star centers all-around excellence enabled the Celtics to close the best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff finals in five games before a capacity 13,909 Garden fans.

Former All-America and Olympi-cic wonder, Russell scored 30 points, grabbed 38 rebounds and stole the ball frequently in carrying the dazzling Celtics to their third straight NBA title and fourth in five years since he arrived.

But the never-say-die Hawks fought back from a 9-12 deficit and pulled to within five points before veteran Tom Heinsohn, Bob Cousy, Frank Ramsey and Sam Jones finished the job.

Cousy, putting on his fantastic dribbling show when it got close,

and feeding for the late baskets, flopped to the floor in complete exhaustion at the final buzzer as pandemonium broke loose.

While the crowd bore the rest of the team off to the dressing room and Coach Red Auerbach happily and helplessly watched the clothes torn from his back, the 11-year-old fans.

Unshaken by a 10-point deficit early in the second period, the Celtics turned to their win weapons — the fast break and the choking defense.

Russell climaxed a tremendous first-half effort by scoring the final

5 points, giving them a 62-61 halftime edge.

Once again the big guns for outmanded St. Louis were Cliff Hag-

Bridge Expert Goren Calls Evashevski a 'Tense' Partner

Forest Evashevski, known more at Iowa for his coaching ability and direction of athletic activities

FOREST EVASHEVSKI
Also a Bridge Expert is highly regarded in another department in this week's Sports Illustrated magazine.

In an article "The Best in Bridge," Charles Goren, expert in that game, describes Evashevski as "one of the tensest partners I ever had." Goren continues, "Unlike most people, Evy, a supremely confident man, never seems to let tension affect his play."

Goren also states: "He is a highly capable bridge player and he acquitted himself most creditably in the Iowa State bridge championship a few years ago when he and I were partners."

"I must confide, however," Goren chides, "that he covered more territory between rounds than he ever did as a blocking back for Tommy Harmon in his undergraduate days at Michigan."

In the article, Goren describes a particular hand he and Evashevski played in the tournament and how Evashevski's keen play won for them.

"Evashevski," Goren concludes,

"performed in the tournament in a manner that would have done credit even to the most adroit card handler."

Along with Evashevski, Goren describes the bridge skills of golfer Bobby Jones, the late Chief Justice Fred Vinson, actor Humphrey Bogart, Prince Aly Kahn, and playwright George Kaufman.

Angels Win, 7-2, As Kluszewski Hits 2 Homers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ted Kluszewski socked homers in his first two at bats Tuesday to account for a total of five runs in powering the Los Angeles Angels to a victorious 7-2 American League debut over the Baltimore Orioles.

Bob Cerv smacked a home run right behind Kluszewski in the first inning and Albie Pearson singled in the other run in the second to quickly complete the Los Angeles scoring.

It proved enough for pitcher Eli Grba who held the Orioles to single runs, produced with the aid of errors, in the second and third innings.

In starting a recent address, Lawrence remarked:

"Before we settle down to the serious discussion of other issues I feel I should give you my report on a matter of great importance:

The Pirates look better than ever. This promises to be another good year for our ball club and for Pittsburgh."

Detroit Seeks 1st Win Against Black Hawks

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings Tuesday looked to the home ice advantage to get them even in the Stanley Cup championship series with the Chicago Black Hawks.

The Hawks, bidding for their first Stanley Cup title in 23 years, have won both games on Chicago ice. The Wings won the lone contest at Olympic Stadium. The fourth game in the best-of-seven series for hockey's biggest prize growing. Defense man Warren will be played here tonight.

The Detroit cripple corps is Godfrey stayed in Detroit Tuesday for treatment of a bruised left knee.

Marcel Pronovost, all-star defense man, has missed the last two games with a severe foot bruise. Doctors doubt he will be ready Wednesday night. Godfrey may see limited action.

Goalie Terry Sawchuck is ready to go again but Coach Sid Abel may keep Hank Bassen in goal. Sawchuck has been out with back and shoulder bruises for all except one period of action in the series.

HORSE WINS — NO SHOES

Lack of shoes didn't bother Indian Maid when she won the Columbian Handicap at Hialeah. The Florida-bred mare ran seven furlongs barefooted, an unusual racing feat.

May 6 is the date of this year's $125,000-added derby at Louisville, about 85 miles west in the Blue Grass country in which Ambipoise is entered.

"He wasn't beating many good Derby-caliber horses last Saturday in the Gotham," said Waller Tuesday as he laid out plans for Ambipoise.

"I'm going to talk with his owner, and Charley Kennedy, who manages the horses, but I suppose we'll go for the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct April 22," Waller said.

Waller may be overly cautious. But Ambipoise ran a terrific 1:35 4/5 mile in the Gotham, and 3-year-olds don't usually get that clocking.

"We will hook up with more top Derby candidates in the Wood Memorial and see what happens," said Waller.

Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back, who won the Flamingo at Hialeah and the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park to become the 5-1 Derby favorite, arrives by plane tonight. Carry Back is scheduled to start in the Wood, along with many other Derby candidates.

Young Colt Hopes For Birthday Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Ambipoise, a New York-owned colt who stepped smartly into the Kentucky Derby picture with an impressive 6-length victory in the Gotham Stakes at Aqueduct, could celebrate his third birthday, May 6, in stylish fashion.

But its trainer, Tom Waller, wants to be sure the bay colt is worthy of a trip to Louisville and the great 3-year-old classic.

Weather Fails To Halt 2nd Football Practice

By Staff Writer

Neither rain, nor wind nor threat of colds could deter the Hawks Tuesday as Coach Jerry Burns conducted a two-hour drill for his spring football charges.

The scene was in marked contrast to opening day Monday when there were as many spectators as there were football players — about 100 in each group.

Tuesday's session was conducted with about 100 players — but the spectators and the sun were absent.

Passing got more attention Tuesday. Quarterbacks Wilburn Hollis and John Calhoun, as well as several freshmen hopefuls, threw passes for about half an hour to backs and ends. Meanwhile linemen pushed dummies around in the mud.

Coach Burns was not intimidated by the nasty weather. He had his charges going at full speed most of the session. In addition, the reserves scrimmaged for about 30 minutes to end the day's workout.

Much attention was given to timing. Linemen drilled under Coach Bob Flora, who kept up a constant cadence as the players cracked shoulder pads.

The ends and backs also drilled on blocking, then shifted into play formations to polish their attack.

Most of the work was done with the sophomores-to-be. Coach Burns knows what his varsity members can do. He also knows how the new arrivals developed as freshmen. His task now is to sort out the Big Ten material.

After an hour and 30 minutes in the steady drizzle, some of the notables of last season were sent to the dressing room while the reserves knocked heads in a scrimmage.

It was two hours before the session ended.

A couple of new problems have been added to the list, meanwhile. Originally, Burns had mentioned the weak passing game and vacancies at left tackle, right guard and No. 2 fullback as gaps to be filled.

The most recent additions to the list are to find a replacement for kicker Tom Moore and a wildcard substitute to play defense for the quarterback.

These situations were created when Moore used his eligibility and when most valuable player

Bernie Wyatt was promoted to first team offensive right halfback to fill the void left by Jerry Mauren's absence. Wyatt excelled as the wildcard defensive last season.

Burns has indicated that Hollis may be used to kick off for the Hawks next season. Matt Szekowny has been tabbed as the kicker for extra point attempts.

Tuesday's session was conducted with about 100 players — but the spectators and the sun were absent.

Passing got more attention

Tuesday. Quarterbacks Wilburn

Hollis and John Calhoun, as well as several freshmen hopefuls, threw passes for about half an hour to backs and ends. Meanwhile linemen pushed dummies around in the mud.

Coach Burns was not intimidated by the nasty weather. He had his charges going at full speed most of the session. In addition, the reserves scrimmaged for about 30 minutes to end the day's workout.

Much attention was given to timing. Linemen drilled under

Coach Bob Flora, who kept up a constant cadence as the players cracked shoulder pads.

The ends and backs also drilled on blocking, then shifted into play formations to polish their attack.

Most of the work was done

Forest Ensign, SUI Prof, Dies at 94

Forest C. Ensign, 94, a member of the SUI faculty 56 years, died Tuesday noon at Campbell's Casket Home, 402 Church St.

A professor emeritus in the SUI college of education since 1939, Ensign had been in ill health for some time. He was admitted to Mercy Hospital in Iowa City Jan. 17, 1959, where he was a patient until Nov. 25, 1960, when he was taken to the nursing home.

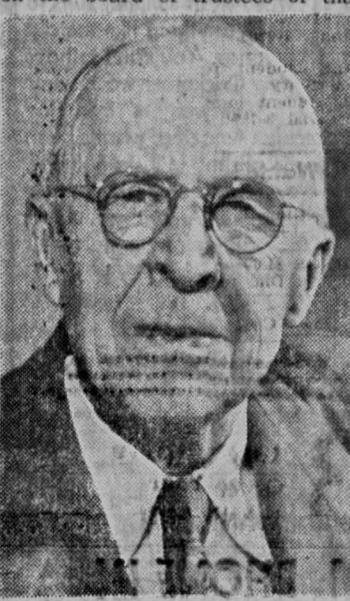

Beckman Funeral Home is in charge of funeral arrangements.

On the SUI faculty since 1905, Prof. Ensign began teaching in a Linn County rural school in 1892. Then he studied at Iowa State Teachers College and SUI, returning to teaching as Iowa City High School principal in 1897. In 1900 he became principal at Council Bluffs High School, where he remained until his appointment to the SUI faculty in 1905.

Prof. Ensign was dean of men and university registrar at SUI from 1911 to 1915. From 1916 until his retirement in 1939 to emeritus status, he was professor of history and philosophy of education.

With the late SUI President Walter A. Jessup, Prof. Ensign led in initial steps in developing the Iowa Memorial Union. He served either as secretary or a member of the Union Board until his resignation in 1954. He was also active in planning Homecoming activities at SUI. He was chairman of the University Homecoming committee for many years.

He was one of the faculty leaders in founding the SUI School of Religion and served several years on the board of trustees of that pioneer program in interfaith teaching. Active in the Iowa Alumni Association, he was a past president of the organization and served for several years as acting secretary.

Born in Defiance County, Ohio, March 22, 1867, the son of Dwight F. and Charity Southworth Ensign, he was educated in Fayette, Ohio, normal and business college. He is survived by one son, Dr. Dwight Ensign, Ford Hospital, Detroit, and a daughter, Mrs. Howard Gordon, Moline, Ill. Mrs. Ensign died Sept. 8, 1959.

Professor Ensign was 1919-20 president of the Iowa State Teachers Association, now the Iowa State Education Association. In 1928, he was elected president of the National Society of College Teachers of Education. He was a member of the National Education Association; of Phi Delta Kappa, national education honorary fraternity, and of Phi Beta Kappa, national liberal arts scholarship fraternity.

Services will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Beckman Funeral Home. P. Hehisonpollock, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and Dr. M. Willard Lampe will officiate.

April Art Treasure

On display in the showcase in the main lounge of the SUI Art Building is this oil on wood panel as the Art Treasure of the Month. Done by an unknown artist of the late 14th century, it is a fragment of the Last Supper. The painting depicts three apostles, Bartholomew, James and Phillip, and is on loan to the SUI Art Department from Dr. and Mrs. Richard L. Hinman of New York City. Dr. Hinman was a chemistry faculty member here from 1953 to '57, and Mrs. Hinman received her MFA in Art History at SUI in 1957.

Author Talks Here Tonight

Ralph Ellison — whose first novel, "Invisible Man," won the National Book Award in 1953 — will speak at 8 p.m. tonight in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol.

Sponsored by the SUI Writers Workshop, Ellison will discuss "Modern Fiction."

In accepting the award for "Invisible Man," which is the story of a Negro's effort to find his place in the world, Ellison said that there is a crisis in the American novel.

Controversy now rages over just what aspects of American experience are suitable for "novelistic" treatment, Ellison said.

Ellison, who participated in the SUI-Esquire Writers Symposium held here in December, 1959, has had short stories, reviews, criticisms and articles published in such magazines as Horizon, The Reporter, The Saturday Review of Literature, and The New York Times Book Review.

An interview with Ellison also appears in the current issue of December magazine.

Erbe, SUI Leaders, To Attend Dinner

Iowa's Governor Norman Erbe and some 85 SUI male students will be guests of honor at the 44th annual Finkbine dinner at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, April 20, in the Iowa Memorial Union, according to Alvin W. Dakin, SUI administrative dean.

Governor Erbe, an SUI graduate, was selected to attend the Finkbine dinner while a student at SUI and since that time has attended many of the annual dinners.

Students invited, all juniors and seniors, were selected by SUI deans and department heads as those most likely to succeed in their respective fields. The number of students invited from each college was determined by the college's enrollment.

The dinner was inaugurated in 1917 by the late W. O. Finkbine, a former Des Moines businessman and an 1880 graduate of the SUI college of law, and the late Carl Kuehnle, 1882 graduate of the college of law from Denison.

Robert F. Ray, dean of the special services division at SUI, will be master of ceremonies for the dinner. Robert Downer, Lt. Newton, will respond for the students. SUI President Virgil M. Hancher will deliver the traditional closing address.

They do if you use 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic on your head first! Most men use water with their hair tonic and 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic is specially made to use with water. ## Nathan: Dallapiccola May Be the Greatest Italian contemporary composer Luigi Dallapiccola "may be the greatest of the present period," according to Hans Nathan, professor at Michigan State University.

Speaking in SUI's Humanities Society Lecture Series, Nathan said Dallapiccola has been slighted in contemporary circle including Stravinsky and Bartok only because he has made so few recordings.

"Like any first rate artist, Dallapiccola points forward and backward," Nathan said. The Italian was the first of his countrymen to modify the twelve-tones system of Schoenberg "so that the essential tonal style remained, yet did not jar on Italian sensibilities." Making this adaptation from the past, the Italian went forward in his development.

"He is clearly not an imitator," said Nathan. "There is in Dallapiccola greater coherence and stability, and more frequent use of chromatics and repetition."

Dallapiccola's affinity for Schoenberg's twelve-tone scale sprung from a feeling that "twelve tones would enable him to articulate an idea better than seven," Nathan added.

The Italian finds stimulus for his music in the works of James Joyce and Marcel Proust. He is presently working on an opera, "Ulysses," patterned after Joyce's great novel.

Nathan corresponds with Dallapiccola and will spend the 1961-62 academic year working with him in Florence. Nathan received his doctorate from the University of Berlin. He joined the faculty at Michigan State in 1946, has been a Guggenheim fellow, and was a Fulbright professor in Italy in 1952-53.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:

Dear DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: The best defense is a good offense, unless you're weak or cowardly, in which case a good hiding place is unbeatable.

DEAR DR. FROOD: Every guy I go out with thinks he's Casanova. What should a girl do?
Chased

DEAR CHASED: Ask each one to roll up his sleeve. If there is a small birthmark just above the left elbow, you've got the real Casanova.

DEAR DR. FROOD: A tackle on the football team likes the same girl I do. He says that if I see her any more, he'll mop up the floor with me. I refuse to be intimidated! What should I do?
Ninety-nine Pounder

DEAR NINETY-NINE: You'd better let your hair grow long.

DEAR DR. FROOD: I am a sophomore majoring in architecture. Our college has just completed a magnificent carillon tower. Yesterday, while examining the blueprints, I was horrified to discover that the tower will collapse at 3:30 P.M., June 3, 1964. I have taken my calculations to the dean, to the architects, to the builders, to the president of the college. No one will pay any attention to me. I am desperate. What can I do to avert disaster?

Franitic

DEAR FRANITIC: You've done your best, son. Now, for your own peace of mind, won't you join me in a short trip to Las Vegas to see what kind of odds we can get?

DEAR DR. FROOD: I've been writing poems to a certain girl for about five months. Yesterday I found out that this girl and her friends get together to read my poems and laugh at them. Do you think I should stop writing to her?
Upset

DEAR UPSET: Definitely not. There are all too few humorous poets writing today.

Plans Underway for SUI Mothers' Day Weekend

With spring comes Mothers' Day, and SUI coeds are already making plans for SUI's Mother's Day Weekend May 6 and 7 and for selection of the 1961 Representative SUI Mother.

The Mothers' Day Weekend, an annual affair at SUI, is sponsored by Associated Women Students.

The SUI Mother will be formally presented at the Mothers' Day Luncheon May 6 at 11:45 a.m. in the Iowa Memorial Union. She will also reign over other activities of the weekend, including University Sing, which will be held at 3 p.m. May 7 in the Union.

Any SUI student may nominate his mother by writing a letter stating why he thinks his mother should be the Representative SUI Mother of 1961. It is not necessary that the mother be a graduate of SUL. Letters of nomination will be accepted at the Office of Student Affairs until April 19.

The selection committee asks that the student consider both his

Kennedy Spearheads Drive Against Job Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy personally launched a drive Tuesday to remove "every trace of discrimination" from the federal jobs or hiring by contractors who do business with the government.

Kennedy told the first meeting of his new Committee for Equal Employment Opportunity that he had armed the group with powerful sanctions so it can be an effective instrument against job discrimination.

Kennedy armed the new 22-member committee with powers to cancel government contracts held by firms that refuse to fulfill the standard nondiscriminatory clause in all federal contracts. This required equal hiring opportunity and working conditions for all.

Kennedy's brief remarks, made public afterward, were that he is "hopeful and confident that from this time forward the committee will exercise the great powers given to it by executive order to permanently remove from government every trace of discrimination because of race, creed, color or place of national origin."

A few tickets still remain for the concert. They will be available, free to students and for $1.50 to others, at the East Lobby desk in the Iowa Memorial Union until 5:30 p.m., and from 7-8 p.m. at Macbride Auditorium.
