

Rebel Forces Claim Castro Injured Kennedy: If Necessary, U.S. Will Act in Cuba

'Cannot Let Communists Take Island'

President Announces Major Foreign Policy Statement to Editors

WASHINGTON (AP) — If necessary for U.S. security, we will act on our own against Cuban Reds.

This was the notice President Kennedy served on Communist foes and non-Communist friends alike Thursday.

Kennedy did not specify when this might come — but in a major foreign policy speech delivered to an editors' meeting, amid news of a major setback for anti-Castro invaders, he said somberly: "Cuba must not be abandoned to the Communists. And we do not intend to abandon it, either . . ."

"Any unilateral American intervention, in the absence of an external attack upon ourselves or an ally," he pointed out, "would have been contrary to our traditions and to our international obligations."

"But let the record show that our restraint is not inexhaustible," Kennedy declared.

"Should it ever appear the inter-American doctrine of non-interference merely conceals or excuses a policy of non-action — if the nations of this hemisphere should fail to meet their commitments against outside Communist penetration — then," Kennedy stated, "I want it clearly understood this government will not hesitate in meeting its primary obligations, which are to the security of our own nation."

And should America have to go it alone, he added, in obvious reference to the Soviet Union, "We do not intend to be lectured on 'intervention' by those whose character was stamped for all time on the bloody streets of Budapest. "Nor would we expect or accept the same outcome which this small band of gallant Cuban refugees must have known they were changing, determined as they were against heavy odds to pursue their courageous attempt to regain their island's freedom," he said.

Kennedy spoke for 12 minutes in a nationally televised address to a crowded luncheon gathering of

Secret Meeting Held with Rebels

After delivery of Kennedy's speech, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters some of the strongly worded language was based on a secret conference Wednesday with rebel leaders.

Salinger said Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, chairman of the Revolutionary Council of Cubans, and five colleagues flew in from Miami to see Kennedy about acting in behalf of rebels taken prisoner by Castro forces.

Kennedy was asked to request the Organization of American States to check into whether the wounded receive proper care and the captured are not summarily executed.

The President agreed to do this.

nearly 1,000 members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and their guests.

Kennedy said the triumph of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Communism must not be underestimated, that another look is needed at the danger to other American countries, and that subversion threatens relentlessly "in every corner of the globe."

"The complacent, the self-indulgent, the soft societies are to be swept away with the debris of history," Kennedy said. "Only the strong, only the industrious, only the courageous, only the visionary can survive . . ."

"We intend," he continued, "to profit from this lesson. We intend to re-examine and reorient our forces, our tactics and our institutions. We intend to intensify our efforts for a struggle in many ways more difficult than war, where disappointments will often accompany us."

Ask $43.8 Million Yearly for Regents

By PHIL CURRIE Sports Editor

(Editor's note: Currie is one of three reporters in Des Moines covering the State Legislature for the Daily Iowan.)

DES MOINES — The House Appropriations Committee Thursday voted 31-13 to recommend for passage a bill asking $43,820,703, per year for the State Board of Regents.

The amount proposed by the committee is about $3.5 million above the amount recommended by the Senate Appropriations Committee and the $40,373,000 proposed by Gov. Norman Erbe in his budget message.

Under the committee recommendation, SUU would receive $22,593,325, with $14,542,304 going to the general University.

In addition, the recommendation calls for the following amounts: University Hospital, $5,908,952; Psychopathic Hospital, $376,526; Bacteriological Lab, $376,526 and Hospital-School for the Severely Handicapped Children, $642,034.

The committee's recommendation was based on the figures provided by the House Appropriations Subcommittee which asked for the $43.8 million.

George Paul (R-Brooklyn), chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee, said the bulk of the proposed increase would go for salaries and salary increases for the academic staffs at SUU, ISU and ISTC.

Wednesday, the Senate Appropriations Committee recommended that the Senate follow the Governor's budget and approve only $40.3 million.

The Board of Regents had asked $49,765,480 per year in operating funds for its institutions, but later said it would accept the subcommittee's recommendations of $43.8 million.

Paul said his subcommittee felt that more funds than the governor had recommended would be needed by the three major higher educational institutions to meet competition of other schools for academic staff members.

He said Presidents Virgil M. Hancher of SUU, James Hillon of ISU and J. W. Mauker of ISTC have said their institutions face rising enrollments, and unless more money is forthcoming, they will have to limit the number of students.

Appropriations Committee Chairman Ray Cunningham (R-Ames) wasn't as optimistic about the bill's chances in the House.

"I don't know if we can get by here (the House) or not," Cunningham said. "We'll need 54 votes to pass it. Since 31 members were for the bill in the committee, we'll have to find 23 more members in favor of the bill and I'm not sure we can do it."

Cunningham said he personally favored the $43.8 million recommendation and "was for the best bargaining we can get out of it."

Cunningham also said that if the Senate passed the lower bill first, that passage might hurt the chances for approving the higher sum in the House.

Appropriation S u b committee Chairman Paul said he also expected the Senate to pass the bill first. "If that happens, we'll probably have to hook an amendment for our amount on to it."

Paul said Thursday that he would prefer to get the house bill to the floor first. "I'd like to see it considered tomorrow. Maybe we could beat the Senate to the punch then."

Paul expected the bill to pass the House, but by no more than three votes.

In addition to the amounts recommended for SUU, the Appropriation Committee breakdown for the rest of the Board of Regents' institutions is: Iowa State University, $14,649,980; Iowa State Teachers College, $3,983,415; Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School, $484,452; Iowa School for the Deaf, $877,106; State Sanatorium, $1,232,425.

Senators 'Will Tell Story' Behind Request for Funds

By MIKE PAULY Staff Writer

(Editor's note: Pauly is one of three reporters in Des Moines covering the State Legislature for the Daily Iowan.)

DES MOINES — Efforts to "tell the story" of the need of Iowa's three institutions of higher learning for more funds than recommended by Governor Norman A. Erbe will be made when the Board of Regents appropriations bill comes up for consideration in the Senate.

This was revealed Thursday by Senate Minority Leader Andrew Frommelt (D-Dubuque) who told The Daily Iowan that advocates of more money for SUU, ISU and ISTC will use either an amendment or a barrage of questions in an effort to aid the schools.

Frommelt explained the plan two days after the potent Senate Appropriations Committee had advocated a bill to give the Regents $40.3 million. This is the same figure recommended by Gov. Erbe, but is $3.5 million less than had been voted by a joint subcommittee and $9 million under the request by the Regents.

Backers of more aid to schools got a boost Thursday when the House Appropriations Committee voted out a bill to add almost $3.5 million to the Governor's budget figure.

"We hope to point out the prospect of decreased enrollments and increased tuition costs when the bill comes to the Senate floor," Frommelt said. "We will do this either by an amendment or by questions."

"If we feel we have enough support to pass an amendment, we will try that method," he said. "But, we may also use only questions to make our point." An amendment to increase the appropriation by $3.5 million has already been drawn up, Frommelt said.

Monday appears to be the most likely time for the appropriations bill to come up. Friday is usually devoted to non-controversial bills in both chambers. Senate Majority Leader J. Kendall Lyons (R-Plainfield) said he did not expect the bill to come to the floor today.

This was the situation today: Senate — Appropriations Committee has voted out a $40.3 million bill, the same as the Governor's recommendation. Advocates of more aid will use an amendment or questions to tell the story of the schools. Action likely Monday.

House — Appropriations Committee has voted out a $43.8 million bill, $3.5 over the Governor's recommendation. A few representatives advocate more money. Action likely Monday.

Next Steps — Most likely, Legislative leaders believe, is that the House will vote for a $43.8 million bill. The Senate is not likely to exceed the $40.3 million recommendation of the Appropriations committee.

Likely Bill — Something between the $40.3 recommendation of Erbe and the Senate Appropriations Committee and the $43.8 bill of the House Appropriation Committee. This would be hammered out by a joint Senate - House Conference Committee.

Grinnell Students Plan Peace Work

GRINNELL (AP) — A group of students at Grinnell College announced plans Thursday night for a peace march in Des Moines Saturday.

Jack Pitts of Fort Dodge, secretary of the Grinnell College Students for Peace movement, said about 50 to 60 students from that school will leave Grinnell Saturday morning, arrive at the State-house in Des Moines at 12:15 p.m., march through the downtown area and then end up at the Capitol about 5:30 p.m.

Pitts said others at the State University of Iowa, Iowa State University and Drake University have been invited to join and the group hopes to have more than 100 in Des Moines.

Senate OK's Two Major Money Bills

Gives Commission Regulatory Power On Utility Rates

By MIKE PAULY News Editor

DES MOINES — Two major appropriations bills, the first of the present session, were passed by the Iowa Senate Thursday. The Board of Regent's money bill, however, did not come up for debate.

The upper chamber also approved a much-debated and oft-amended measure to give the State Commerce Commission authority to regulate rates and services of public utilities.

The Senate, by a 46-0 vote, allocated $21.6 million annually to the Board of Control, after it had approved nearly $18 million a year for the State Department of Social Welfare. Both measures were less than the recommendations of Gov. Norman A. Erbe.

The Senators pared almost a million dollars from the welfare appropriation as recommended by the Governor. Cuts in old age assistance were the biggest.

Neither appropriation met much resistance, but several Democrats attempted to add more funds for welfare work. The final bill was $7 million less than requested by the department.

After taking care of the appropriations measures, the Senate turned to the unfinished business of the utilities bill, which had taken most of Wednesday's session when more than a dozen amendments were offered.

The amendment attempts continued Thursday, but the bill finally won passage on a 35-13 vote. However, Majority Leader J. Kendall Lyons (R-Plainfield) filed a motion to reconsider. Observers pointed out that this strategy may have been an attempt to keep the bill from going to the House, where considerable opposition is expected.

The Commerce Commission would not assume its power until January 1, 1963.

The Senate also passed and sent to the House a bill to permit the Legislative Interim Committee to hire a fiscal agent for budget matters.

Although described as a measure to set up one of the "biggest bonodoggling" jobs in Iowa history, the bill was passed 27-20.

A revision of a bill which Gov. Erbe had vetoed earlier was passed 39-5. The measure is concerned with Legislative approval of action by various state agencies.

D. C. Nolan (R-Iowa City) backed the bill. He said he had contacted the attorney general's office, which had indicated the revised bill was constitutional.

Erbe vetoed the initial measure because he contended it violated the separation of powers.

Swisher Leads Battle To Curb Insurance Sales

By GARY GERLACH Ass't. Managing Editor

(Editor's note: Gerlach is one of three reporters in Des Moines covering the State Legislature for the Daily Iowan.)

DES MOINES — A bill introduced into the Iowa House by Representative Scott Swisher (D-Iowa City) to regulate the sale of credit life, health and accident insurance was defeated Thursday.

The measure was voted down 67-31 after an hour and 10 minute discussion hinging on whether the Senate Insurance Commissioner should be given power to regulate the premium rates of such policies.

The bill, handed in debate by Swisher, spelled out stringent rules that required sellers to inform the buyers they were purchasing credit insurance and its exact cost, and to guarantee that coverage bought would be sold at a rate that did not exceed the benefits provided.

Senate Votes To Increase Wage Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed President Kennedy's minimum wage bill Thursday in the form he wanted.

The bill would extend provisions of the wage-hour law to four million more workers and increase the minimum wage from the present $1 an hour to $1.25.

The measure now goes to conference with the House, which rejected the Kennedy bill last month and passed a narrower-gauge version instead.

The House measure would extend wage-hour law coverage to 1.2 million chain-store workers only and limit the minimum increase to $1.15.

The Senate's 65-28 vote, climaxing a successful five-day fight by administration leaders to stave off major amendments, gave Kennedy a more impressive victory in that chamber than he had won with a similar bill last year as a senator.

Bank Theft: 3 Men Held

MISSOURI VALLEY (AP) — Three Nebraska men were held Thursday night in a $10,000 holdup at the Defiance State Bank.

They were identified by the FBI as Donald Gene Brophy, 35, of Lincoln and the Eblen brothers, Donald Wayne, 34, and Ernest Eugene, 36, both of Ashland.

The prisoners were taken to Council Bluffs Thursday night and a federal charge of bank robbery was filed there. The men were held in the Council Bluffs city jail.

The three men were taken into custody less than three hours after the bank was robbed about 2:25 p.m. Thursday.

Defiance is located 12 miles north of Harlan in Shelby County.

String Quartet Performs Tonight

The Iowa String Quartet will give its last concert of the season tonight at 8 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium, playing selections by Hindemith, Schubert and Beethoven.

No tickets are necessary. Members Stuart Canin and John Ferrell, violins; William Preucil, viola, and Paul Olefsky are all members of the faculty of the Music Department. As a quartet, they have played many concerts throughout the United States, as well as their series of five concerts at SUU.

As individual musicians each has received high honors in his field.

President Requests 5 Broad Tax Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy asked Congress Thursday for broad tax changes as weapons against aging factories, unemployment, tax cheaters, expense account living, and the flow of gold overseas.

He called his requests "a first-though urgent step" toward more thorough tax reform next year.

That reform, the President said, could mean a general income tax cut for everyone.

Meanwhile, his 6,500-word special message to Congress asked these major changes:

1. A special tax incentive for business to expand and modernize.

2. Withholding of taxes on dividends and interest.

3. Repeal of the special benefits given stockholders.

4. Sharp limitation of expense account deductions.

5. Ending special treatment for corporations that invest in competing industrial nations.

Kennedy said his proposed changes, when taken together, would not cut government revenue. He said that while his incentive to modernize business would mean a $1.7-billion loss, the other changes would bring in at least $3 billion more than that.

The message immediately ran into Republican criticism in Congress.

Rep. Bruce Alger of Texas called it "A declaration of war on American free enterprise." And Rep. Steven B. Derouin of New York termed it "hokum and hyperbole."

Democrats like Rep. Thaddeus M. Machrowicz of Michigan praised the message but said some of the proposals would have difficulty passing Congress.

The House Ways and Means Committee will open hearings May 3 on the President's proposals.

Kennedy's key proposal was the tax incentive for business expansion and modernization.

Under it, companies could subtract from their annual tax part of the money they had invested in new or improved plants and equipment that year.

Questionnaires to gather opinion on the present SUU grading system will be sent to housing units and off-campus residences next Monday. The results of the survey will be used by the Student Council Grade Revising Committee for possible suggestions on changes to the faculty committee on Educational Development.

Questionnaires sent to students living in off-campus housing should be turned in to the Student Council office by Wednesday.

SDC Paper Hits U.S. Role in Cuba

A petition condemning the role of the United States in the present invasion of anti-Castro forces in Cuba is being circulated by members of the Socialist Discussion Club, according to Phil Cummins, G. Iowa City, president of the SDC.

The petition, which is to be telegraphed to President Kennedy at the end of this week, reads as follows:

"It has been reported in many publications, including Time, The New York Times, Nation, and The New York Post, that the United States Government has allowed Cuban exiles to engage in military training on U.S. territory. Allowing these preparations for invasion of Cuba violates our publicly announced principle of non-intervention in the affairs of other countries."

"We, the undersigned, condemn the role of the United States government in allowing this country to become a base for these forces."

Cummins said the petition was drawn up following a meeting of the SDC Monday, and is being circulated by a group of interested persons including Jerry Barrett, Quentin Black, Sol Stern, and himself. All are graduate students from Iowa City.

He said about 100 signatures have been obtained so far.

Cuban Gives No Speeches Since Monday

Castro Described In 'Good Health'

HAVANA (AP) — Havana turned quiet Thursday night — after a series of victory celebrations — because many families were mourning casualties suffered in battle against anti-Castro invaders.

This was reported in the first telephone call the Associated Press was able to put through from New York to Havana since last Monday when the invasion began.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro was believed here to be in good health although he had not appeared on TV or radio since the invasion.

Late Thursday night Havana was very quiet. It had been earlier in the day because of a series of noisy celebrations after the pre-dawn radio announcement that anti-Castro invasion forces had been destroyed.

guerrillas invaded Cuba over the weekend, said the information was gathered by the front's organization.

Castro's voice has not been heard from Havana since the infiltration attempt began, and he has been reported to be in the area when the infiltrators hit the beach in southern Cuba.

A Cuban radio announcer said early Monday a rebel bomb dropped "just where Fidel was." The announcer then was cut off.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, in Atlanta for a speech, said Thursday night he had received no information about the report, but added: "There are a lot of rumors going around."

"There have been many questions as to the whereabouts of Castro," said Wendell Rollason, director of what he termed the Inter-American Affairs Commission of Miami.

Rollason, a public relations man and civil worker who has been engaged for some time in Latin American affairs, appeared as a spokesman for the Cuban exile group.

Rollason said: "Castro has been incapacitated by bombings. He is out of circulation with a mental or physical collapse. We have good reason to believe the former is the case."

"They are trying to get him (Castro) back on his feet," he added. "But he has not been able physically or mentally — whatever the case — to appear in public."

If Castro, 34, in fact is incapacitated for any long period, the question arises as to who would succeed him.

The news of Castro's incapacity — if confirmed — would go far toward offsetting the setbacks suffered in the first round of anti-Castro rebels.

Fidel obviously is the single personality that has held his regime together so far.

"There was no firm news on any new landings, however, despite rebel claims Wednesday night that one had taken place."

In Washington, President Kennedy warned that the United States will not hesitate to safeguard its own security in the Cuban situation even if other nations in the hemisphere fail to live up to their anti-Communist obligations.

Predictions of new attacks on the island nation from Moscow press and radio. They asserted the strike might come at any hour.

They charged U.S. Marines were poised to go in despite Washington's repeated statements of non-intervention. They warned again that intervention might bring war to U.S. soil.

With Castro's regime apparently triumphant for the moment over its enemies in exile, fears arose for the safety of Americans in Cuba.

Honor Societies

With the coming of spring honor societies on the campus set in motion one of their biggest projects, the selection of new members.

Too often during the year honor societies get bogged down because members, outstanding students and campus leaders as well, have schedules already crammed with meetings, classes and social engagements.

Today's specialization has led to the separation of research, finding the facts, from scholarship, understanding the meaning of facts, said Dr. Harry Philpott, Vice President of the University of Florida.

He suggested that societies, particularly departmental ones, promote joint and exchange programs with other departmental groups whenever possible.

These ideas sound good. Honor societies on this campus should become more academically active, not to make resolutions about dorm telephones, the CPC or co-op book stores, but to find out about the Sabin vaccine, C. P. Snow and the Export-Import Bank.

Selection of members to a honor society is an important and sometimes difficult task. But choosing new members should not even sound like it is the largest order of business for the honor groups on the SUI campus.

NO 'NOBODY'?

The search still goes on for the SUI "Student Nobody." Many SUIowans have indicated they think they are the typical non-entity, but they can't quite measure up to "nobody" standards.

JLK This letter to the DI last week: Dear Daily Iowan staff:

I noticed in last Friday's DI that you were looking for a "student nobody" with a "don't give a damn" attitude for a future personality profile. I believe I could fill the bill easily.

"Don't ask me what I'm doing in college. I couldn't tell you. Possibly it's because I dread going to the Army (especially after the Mickey Mouse antics I observe in MS 1). I have no idea what I will major in, if I don't flunk out, that is. Actually, I couldn't care less if I did flunk out.

"You will notice I didn't sign this letter, because if a profile on me was done, I would no longer be a "student nobody." P.S. I could also care less about the Greeks vs. Independents. To each his own!"

Peace Corps Proposals

Not Before Congress Yet

By DAROLD POWERS

Written for The DI

Congressional action toward creation of a permanent Peace Corps is still absent.

However, the Administration has not yet prepared the specific legislative proposals on the Corps which it has promised Congress. It is undoubtedly awaiting further clarification of needs and problems by the temporary Corps now in operation only seven weeks, as well as the final report on the feasibility of the Corps authorized by Congress last year and in preparation by the Colorado State University Research Foundation.

Four state senators Tuesday asked for the creation of a 5-man committee to investigate Communist activities in Iowa. We're lucky the John Birch Society wasn't called in. After that group labeled Goldwater a Socialist, we'd be lucky if Johnson County were left with one professor, three students, and 50 farmers.

At Des Moines last week, President Hancher told a former lady Regent who was shocked when she learned of SUI coeds' "lenient" senior hours. Hancher asked her about the hours high schoolers kept in her hometown, and she promptly dropped the subject.

'FREE-WHEELING' IT

After the Senate Appropriations Committee shaved the Regents' $49.7 million request, rumors of SUIowans picketing the Legislature brought to mind Senate Majority Leader Buster Lyles, who said he was "strenuously opposed to providing the Regents with 'free-wheeling' money."

Perhaps our honorable legislators should visit SUI and see how the money is "free-wheeled" around. We could start by touring Old Dental Building, progress to the Geology Building, and from there to the Electrical Engineering Building. Then we could return to Old Capital for a glance at the Big Ten faculty pay scales, followed by a tour of Iowa City in a "free-wheeling" Lincoln, pride of every faculty member.

Topics for conversation might include the latest in Harris tweeds, heated swimming pools, and Ayrshire cattle. And the faculty must not forget to congratulate Sen. Lyles on being named the press's "Outstanding Senator of the Year."

Co-ops May Reduce Prices; Apathy Endangers Success

By LYMAN B. POWELL

Special to the DI (Third of a Series)

The establishment of a cooperative at a campus where there has been none before may well reduce local prices which have hitherto been held at artificial, exorbitant levels.

But this is the epitome of competitive capitalism, rather than contrary thereto. Furthermore, there is no need for the cooperative to reduce prices as a means of creating savings for its members, since it can just as easily keep its prices at the prevailing level and return any margin to students at the end of the year in the form of patronage refunds.

Of nine responses to the question of the prices of local competitors since creation of the cooperative, one cooperative replied that they were about the same but that the cooperative controlled price on some items; six stores replied that local prices were about the same as before; and two replied that prices were a little lower.

Has the attitude of local businessmen become more hostile to the college cooperative since its creation or more favorable?

The answer to this question appears to be that local businesses haven't had things as bad as they originally expected from the cooperative store. This attitude is noteworthy considering the fact that of the nine cooperatives having local competition, (one is situated on campus several miles from the business district), seven reported direct competition between the cooperative and local private businesses in most items and services provided, and two reported such competition in some items or services.

Ten cooperatives reported that there was no institution-owned or state-owned store which competed with the cooperative. Thus it is not certain what difficulties might be encountered if an attempt were made to establish a student cooperative which conflicted with such a state-owned university store instead of with private businesses.

While some of the early student cooperatives sold only to official members, the practice has changed and now nine of ten college stores report that they are open to the general public, although presumably they may patronage refunds only to members. This practice may cut into the business of local competitors and account for some of the friction reported, but there appears to be nothing unethical involved, since the cooperative pays the standard battery of taxes on such retained income from non-members.

The heart of any unique new social or economic movement is the individual enthusiasm of its devotees. The unusual success of the student cooperative housing experiment is due in good measure to the personal interest and participation of its members.

The founding of student cooperative stores had the leadership of devoted and dynamic personalities who were prepared to take risks and assume the extra burdens of responsibility in raising a fledgling cooperative to its feet. While the enthusiasm of residents of co-op houses has been maintained if not increased, the prosperity of the stores has resulted in a wave of indifference and apathy among the students, who appear to be interested only in the rewards but not the responsibilities of their enterprises. Perhaps the waxing size of these co-ops accounts in part for the lack of close personal relations with the members. Whatever the precise reasons may be, the general apathy of members of college cooperative stores is reflected in their voting at elections for the Boards of Directors and related matters. The percentage of students voting varies from 1-3 per cent at one institution to a reported 85 per cent at another, with the average at about 25 per cent. The author believes that even 25 per cent may be an overstatement.

Several college stores, sensing the impossibility of continuing any semblance of popular government in the face of such negligible interest, have amended their articles and by-laws to permit some form of appointment of directors or trustees. At the University Bookstore at the University of Washington the student council votes on amendments, and officers are elected by the Bookstore Board. Voting rights in the University Cooperative at the University of Wisconsin are held by a Board of Trustees consisting of two faculty members, two alumni, and three students. At the University of Texas the faculty Board Members are appointed by the President of the University and the student Board Members are appointed by the President of the student body.

Where Directors of the college cooperative are selected in this fashion the appointees are likely to be skilled, devoted, and interested workers who serve because of their capability rather than social popularity. While this may be a desirable system in times of stability and prosperity, the apathetic attitude presently demonstrated by members of college cooperative stores bodes ill for times which may not be so abundant.

Good Listening— Today On WSUI

A LITTLE KNOWN WORK by Dvorak, the opera "Rusalka," is scheduled for 7:30 tonight. You might have expected "A Comedy of Errors" instead, because of the odd way in which the Music Director at WSUI has thrown pieces of the opera programming about. What happened, you see, was this: When it was discovered that Pan-American Day would consume all Friday, April 14, "Rusalka" (the opera scheduled was cheerfully canceled. There arose, then, a need to fill some time during Pan-American Day at about 7 p.m. The MD, already completely confused, happily selected the first of the two operas he thought had been originally scheduled (actually they were to have been broadcast tonight) and Scenes from "Troilus and Cressida" was the result. That left only the second half of what was to have been a double-bill starting at 7 tonight and made up of "Troilus and Cressida" and "H. M. S. Pinafore." So what's actually playing? "Rusalka" by Dvorak. What time does it start? 7:30 p.m. And the name of the nut that got us all into this? (Wouldn't you like to know, though?)

SPEAKING OF NEWSPAPERS, tomorrow's Saturday Supplement will be devoted to the work of city editor's in the service of Iowa newspapers. The program is almost entirely the product of a tape-recorded visit by WSUI staffers at a conference of newsmen in Cedar Rapids. The message of the principal speaker and the interviews with various editors are of great interest.

Bergman Films Combine Light, Serious Touches

By WALTER R. KELLER

DI Movie Reviewer

If one were somehow able to view only the final scene in each of these films, without seeing what had gone before in each instance, he might well decide that Ingmar Bergman had undergone a drastic reversal of form and sold out to the "happiness-ever-after" gang. But happily, such is not the case.

Although the final scene in each film seems to be an affirmation of the married life — of the undeniable power of love, the conjugal state is hell — that's what the protagonists in "A Lesson in Love" tell us repeatedly.

He: "The marital bed is the graveyard of love."

She: "Man invented the immaculate conception," (as a projection of his wish to create the impossible archetype of eternally pure, untouched femininity).

He: "Happiness is like a paralyzing dough that settles over your daily life."

He: "Love seizes but a few and is a punishment and a gift."

This film is reminiscent of "Three Strange Loves" (an earlier film directed by Bergman) in philosophy and actual plot. In each film the action takes place on a train, the technique is one of flashback and jolting jumps from past to present and back again, and there is a close investigation into the underlying causes for the present unhappiness.

Although there are some hilariously funny scenes in the film, which, I suppose, make it a "comedy," the moments of deep seriousness raise it far above the level of situation comedy. The long sequences at the grandfather's birthday celebration contain dashes of pure cinematic lyricism — almost too good for this mediocre, disjointed film.

The grandfather is the traditional patriarchal figure whose warm philosophy and unmitigated simple happiness is in sharp contrast to the various degrees of malaise and instability in the other characters.

The most notable moments in these sequences are the fleeting moments of recognition between father and daughter, and the wandering through the woods of husband and wife.

There are some stark images sprinkled throughout the film. The best, perhaps, is the shot of the broken, uneven, blobs of clay revolving on the potter's wheel — starkly symbolic of the disturbed, ambivalent life which the daughter has led, due primarily to the infidelity and neglect of both her parents.

Although the basic elements of comedy — double infidelity, jealousy, attempt at reconciliation, etc. — are present in abundance, the abrupt intrusion of the serious on the comic, (or vice-versa if you wish), makes for a diffuse effect . . . a shifting point of view.

To put it another way: The serious, realistic, detailed examination of father-daughter, husband-wife relationships is not reconciled with the lighter, fast-moving comic shell of the film.

"Smiles of A Summer Night" succeeds precisely where "Lesson in Love" fails. Bergman's use of mock-heroic character and macabre situation renders the serious and comic ingredients more compatible.

The plot, an ingenious and complex one, involves Frederik Egermann, a lawyer who is rapidly approaching middle age and has married for the second time. His new wife is quite young, (younger than his own son), and after a little more than a year of marriage she is, by his own admission, still untouched. While patiently awaiting her awakening, he has fallen in love with Desiree Armfeldt, an actress who is older than his wife and far more experienced.

Frederik's son has successfully passed his final exams in divinity school and comes home filled with an appropriate fear of heaven. He soon succumbs to his more instinctual side, however, and unsuccessfully attempts a seduction of the luscious, willing housemaid.

Frederik encourages his son, explaining that the first fumbling attempts represent the necessary steps to promised higher ecstasy, but the son regresses and resorts to exhorting the bored, confused maid with biblical preachments.

Although this is certainly not a "message film," the dominant images of the revolving windmill in the final scenes, (as a background to the latter love game described above), leave one with the feeling that Bergman sees no hope for an abatement of the clashes and instances of wasted energy which occur between the sexes.

The inevitability of the latter is equally apparent among the simple folk, who lead uncluttered lives, and among the sophisticated idle-rich. And always the twain shall meet.

Mantle Drives in 5 Runs—

Yanks Whip Angels Twice

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees pushed their winning streak to four Thursday, whipping the Los Angeles Angels 7-5 and 4-2 at Yankee Stadium. Mickey Mantle triggered the sweep by hammering his second and third home runs and driving in five runs in the opener.

Art Ditmar, making his first start of the season, received credit for the first-game victory with relief help from Bill Stafford.

Bob Turley, another right-hander, won his second straight in the nightcap although he walked nine and was in constant trouble. The Yanks now are 4-1.

The Angels, beaten four straight times since winning their opener at Baltimore, not only lost the double-header but will have to do without third baseman Eddie Yost for about a week. Yost suffered a hairline fracture of the middle finger of his right hand when he was hit by a pitch from Stafford in the first game.

Mantle smashed a two-run homer in the first inning and a three-run shot in the fifth inning of the opener—both off ex-teammate Eli Grba. His slugging gave Ditmar a 5-2 lead but the big right-hander couldn't finish and Stafford closed out the game after Los Angeles' Leon Wagner got his third hit, a solo homer, in the eighth inning. The Yanks got the two deciding runs in the last of the eighth on pinch hitter Jesse Gonder's two-run single off Tex Clevenger, third Los Angeles pitcher.

Mantle got one hit and started two rallies with walks in the second game. Ned Garver, the loser, walked Mickey to open the second inning and New York came up with three runs. In the sixth, against reliever Ronnie Kline, Mantle walked, went to third on a single by Roger Maris and scored as Bill Skowron hit into a force play.

Ken Hunt was the day's hitting star for the Angels. He had two doubles in the opener and rapped his first major league homer and a triple in the second game.

Tigers Claw Indians, Cash Homers for 3

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Detroit Tigers pounded Gary Bell for seven runs in five innings Thursday — three on Norm Cash's first home run of the season — and trounced Cleveland 11-4.

The Indians bunched five of their eight hits off Frank Lary in two innings. The Tigers took a four-run lead in the first inning and stayed out front to sweep the two-game series here. Those first four runs came on a double by Rocky Colavito, sandwiched between two walks, and singles by Steve Boros and Dick Brown.

An error by Bubba Phillips on Al Kaline's grounder and a single by Colavito preceded Cash's blast in the fifth inning.

Cincinnati Bows to Giants On McCormick's 4-Hitter

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mike McCormick pitched a four-hitter for San Francisco Thursday, beating Cincinnati 2-1.

McCormick didn't allow that single run until the ninth inning. He had pitched 17 straight innings of scoreless ball before the Reds scored.

Giant Manager Alvin Dark drastically revised his lineup Thursday and the players starting for the first time — Joe Amalfitano, Bob Schmidt and Jim Davenport — all contributed to the Giant victory.

McCormick is now 2-1. Left-hander Jim O'Toole, who started for Cincinnati, allowed the Giants just five hits in the seven innings he worked and was charged with the loss. He is now 1-2.

McCormick wrapped up his sharp victory in just 1 hour, 51 minutes. The Reds managed to get only two runners to second base until the ninth when Vada Pinson led off with a double, moved to third on a wild pitch and scored on Wally Post's sacrifice fly. But McCormick got Gene Fresse to tap back to him for the final out.

The Giants opened the scoring in the second inning when Felipe Alou walked, moved to third on Schmidt's single and tallied on Davenport's infield out.

McCormick helped himself to an insurance run in third when he led off with a single. Mike was erased by Amalfitano's fielder's choice grounder. But Amalfitano went to third on Harvey Kuen's single and scored when Willie Mays bounced into another force play.

Wynn fanned Woodeshick, got Keough on a pop up and emerged unscathed as Minnie Minoos made a shoestring catch on Veal's drive in left.

Washington trimmed the Sox margin to 2-1 in the third when Marty Keough tripled and scored on Coot Veal's fly.

In the Washington sixth, singles by Willie Tasby and Danny O'Connell and a walk to Dutch Dotterer loaded the bases with none out.

Wynn fanned Woodeshick, got Keough on a pop up and emerged unscathed as Minnie Minoos made a shoestring catch on Veal's drive in left.

The victory was Hobbie's first against one loss. He struck out seven and walked only one.

The first hit off Hobbie was a single in the second by Don Hoak. Bill Virdon singled off Hobbie in the sixth but was retired on a double play. With one out in the seventh, Dick Stuart and Roberto Clemente singled, but Hoak bounced into a double play. The Pirates threatened again in the ninth when Dick Groat and Bob Skinner banged consecutive singles with only one away. But Hobbie got Stuart on a fly, and fanned Clemente to end the threat.

Southpaw Joe Gibbon started on the mound for Pittsburgh, worked eight innings, gave up nine of the Cubs' 10 hits and all their runs.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Charlie Lau singled home Roy McMillan in the 11th inning Thursday night to give the Milwaukee Braves a 7-6 victory over Philadelphia and ruin the Phillies' home opener, which had been delayed two nights in a row by bad weather.

McMillan got on first base when he was hit by a pitched ball by Johnny Buzhardt, fifth Phillies' pitcher. He advanced to third on a throwing error by Bobby Malkmus, then came home with the winning run when Lau dumped a safety into right field.

The Phillies blew a 6-1 lead as the Braves rallied for five runs in the ninth inning on five hits. (11 innings)

Wynn Scores 285th Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Veteran Early Wynn, with home run help from Roy Sievers, Jim Landis and Al Smith, notched his 285th major league victory Thursday as the Chicago White Sox defeated the Washington Senators, 6-1.

Wynn, who safely got out of a bases-loaded, none-out jam in the sixth with the Sox ahead only 2-1, was making his second start of the season.

Sievers blasted a two-run homer in the first and Landis led off the sixth with a homer. Both homers came off Senator starter and loser Hal Woodeshick, who yielded to Tom Sturdivant in the sixth.

Smith's homer was a two-run shot off the third Senator pitcher, Johnny Klippstein, in the eighth.

Hawkeyes Battle Gophers In Track Meet Saturday

A point here or there may decide the outcome of Saturday's track meet between Minnesota and Iowa at the Iowa Track, north of the stadium. Field events begin at 1 p.m. and running events at 1:30. Various troubles have cut several scorers from the Minnesota team but the Gophers still have formidable strength. Minnesota beat Iowa indoors at Minneapolis, 59 1/2-44 1/2, and the Hawkeyes are eager to avenge this setback.

If Jim Tucker's injured leg permits him to run his normal races, Iowa will score heavily in the one and two mile runs. He is backed by such proven distance runners as Ralph Trimble and Don Greenlee.

Gary Fischer, the sophomore Big Ten indoor 1,000-yard champion, will hook up in a duel with Minnesota's Art Patterson in the half mile. Bill Mawe of the Hawkeyes is another strong factor here. In the 440, Iowa's Roger Kerr and Minnesota's Jim Fisher have comparable times.

Big Ten outdoor high hurdles champion Dave Odegard is the likely winner of both hurdle races and the Gophers should win the pole vault with Everett Smith, the shot put with Wayne Steffenhagen and the broad jump with Karl Pedersen.

Capt. Tom Hyde and John Peter Thomson Leads Houston Golf Classic

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Peter Thomson birdied the last two holes Thursday for a five-under-par 65 to take a one-stroke lead over Chick Harbert in the first round of the $40,000 Houston Golf Classic.

Thomson, a four-time winner of the British Open, hit 17 greens while posting a 32-33-65 for the 7,122-yard, par 35-35-70 Memorial Park course as most of the gallery of 20,000 was following the pre-tournament favorites, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

Palmer was two under at the turn but took nine straight pars on the back nine for a 68. Player also jumped to a two-under score but four back-nine bogies, dropped him to a 72, seven strokes off the pace.

Iowa enters the Michigan State contest with a 3-7 record in non-conference games. Six of the Hawkeyes' defeats, however, were to Arizona, the nation's second-ranked team. Iowa owns victories over Luther, Bradley, and Western Illinois.

Michigan State has a glossy 12-2 record in early season games and has a nine-game winning streak going. The Spartans finished seventh in the Big Ten last season with a 4-7 record.

Iowa's batting forte is topped by five sluggers above the .300 mark. Gene Mosley has a .364 average, but has only batted 11 times. Paul Bonstead, Capt. Jack Leabo, and Howard Kennedy are all hitting at a .333 clip, and Dennis Henning has compiled a .325 average.

Wisdom Tooth Acting Up?

Dentist Advises, 'Don't Wait'

By KAY ARMSTRONG
Staff Writer

A touchy subject for many between the ages of 18 and 22 is wisdom teeth.

According to the Review of Dental Literature, 33 per cent of the population have wisdom teeth. They are either buried beneath the surface causing infection and pain, or have poked their evil crowns through the surface, but are abnormal in some other way—causing infection and pain.

All this discomfort may be avoided by simply having an X-ray taken before the toothache starts.

Daniel E. Waite, head of the Department of Oral Surgery in the SUI College of Medicine, said in an interview, dentists have learned that removing wisdom teeth not worth salvaging before any trouble starts, is much better for the patient.

What's the sense in going through a painful operation if nothing hurts? In the first place, Waite said, "With good post-operative care and patient cooperation, the patient should be relatively free from pain and discomfort."

"Severe discomfort after the operation is directly in proportion to the surgical difficulty of the operation," he added.

Fear of the "dry socket" problem after the operation also keeps a lot of people out of the dentist's chair, Waite said.

The "dry socket" occurs when the blood clot, protecting the bone after the operation, is lost. This leaves the bone uncovered—and it hurts!

This problem has been considerably alleviated, however by new surgical techniques, antibiotics, and general medical improvements, Waite said.

Putting off getting a check-up may result in infection which not only increases the pain involved, but could necessitate having normal teeth removed, he said.

Repeated periods of tenderness, pain, or swelling is a good sign of bad trouble. It may get better for a time, Waite warned, but it will be back.

Waite urged students not to wait until they graduate to have their wisdom teeth taken care of.

Oral Surgery in the SUI Dental Clinic is booked up to May 1, since many graduating seniors have waited until spring to get the job done.

Waite advised that in the fall and before vacations are therefore the easiest times to get into the clinic.

How much does this operation cost? The clinic charges a sliding fee of $1-$10. If the same specialist were working elsewhere, Waite said, it would cost 7 to 10 times that much.

And it's quite possible this student does feel no pain with the modern equipment and techniques in use now at the SUI Department of Oral Surgery in the College of Dentistry. The elevator used for extracting teeth today is a far cry from the old fashioned leverage instruments used in the "might makes right" era.

Govt. Investigates Mail Use Legality By Northern Bio

SIoux CITY (AP)—The Government put witnesses on the stand Thursday seeking to support its charges that Northern Biochemical Corp., Sheldon, used the mails to sell and deliver unregistered shares of its stock.

The bankrupt corporation and three of its officials, former President Harold Kistner, Jr., A. M. Bideman, former bookkeeper and Robert Smith, onetime employe, are on trial in U.S. District Court.

One of the Government witnesses, Mrs. Joan Wells, who was the company's stock certificate clerk, testified that she filled out forms for transfers of Northern Biochemical stock to individuals and that Bideman ordered stock certificates sent by registered mail.

Under cross examination Mrs. Walker admitted she didn't know who mailed the stock certificates and also didn't know if Bideman ever issued any stock.

4 Students 'Bemoan' Wisdom Tooth Losses

By KAY ARMSTRONG
Staff Writer

Four SUI students were interviewed who have had their wisdom teeth removed either at the SUI Dental Clinic or at the Oral Surgery Department in General Hospital.

Dorothy Collin, A4, Golf, Ill.: "One wisdom tooth was infected so I sat for six hours at the Dental Clinic waiting for an X-ray. They treated the infection and said two would have to come out. Someone told me a private dentist could do it faster, but the private dentist I went to sent me to the Dental Clinic. . . . Only instead I went back to Student Health and they sent me to Oral Surgery at the hospital. They opened my mouth, looked in and said 'Let's take 'em all out.' They kept me in the infirmary for two nights, but there was no pain."

Lee Brown, G, Long Beach, Calif.: "I had two pulled. There was a lot of pain the first night. . . . After that it was uncomfortable but not too bad. I took quite a few pain pills that helped quite a bit. . . . I got an infection afterwards, but a private dentist told me that that was no reflection on the Dental Clinic—it happens in about 50 per cent of the cases, he said. . . . Because I hadn't had one wisdom tooth removed sooner, it caused infection in another."

Lois Fitch, A4, Clarinda: "I went to Oral Surgery over at the hospital to have mine taken out. They took me into the recovery room and shot me with something that made me feel sort of doozy. . . . Then I went in for the operation and they gave me seven or eight shots of novacaine plus a few other drugs."

Laurence P. Holderness, 20, of Williamsburg, has been charged by Iowa City police with larceny of a motor vehicle.

He was arrested in the 800 block of Maggard Street Wednesday night after an unidentified person who recognized the car as the one stolen a week ago from the Nall Motors used car lot notified police. It was a 1952 two-door Chevrolet.

Holderness was also charged with operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license.

18 To Attend Microbiology Conference

Eighteen faculty members and students from the Department of Bacteriology in the SUI College of Medicine will attend the annual meeting of the American Society for Microbiology in Chicago Sunday through Thursday.

Prof. John R. Porter, head of the Department of Bacteriology, and Prof. R. E. Kallio are attending a Symposium on Marine Microbiology, which will precede the society meeting. Dr. Kallio will read a paper at the symposium today. Stanley Wawzonek, professor of chemistry, and two former SUI graduate students are co-authors of the paper.

Reading papers Monday at the society meeting will be Keith R. Long, assistant professor at the SUI Institute of Agricultural Medicine, and Jean M. Schmidt, G, Waterloo. Co-authors of the two papers, respectively, are W. S. Jeter, associate professor, and R. L. Richardson, assistant professor. Erich Six, assistant professor, will read a paper at a Thursday session.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Dr. Kallio will assume the post of program chairman for the society's annual meetings for the next two years.

Would Have Obeyed Any Orders--Eichmann

By ROBERT S. BIRD
Herald Tribune News Service

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector — Adolf Eichmann pictured himself to the Israeli police as a Nazi administrator who only obeyed orders in the Jewish extermination program—but he said he would have obeyed any orders whatever, it was disclosed Thursday.

"I have obeyed," he said with great finality. "No matter what the orders, I would have obeyed. I cannot get it out of my skin."

The Israeli Government Public Information Office made available to the press Thursday, a series of volumes reproducing more than 3,500 pages of transcript in the police examination of Eichmann since May, 1960.

Eichmann disclaimed responsibility for the extermination plan itself, saying it shocked him and that he was "really glad I had nothing to do with the extermination." All he did, he insisted, was to run a transportation program. As to the responsibility for transporting Jews to the death camps: "I would like to know what possibility existed for not carrying out the deportations?"

"I say there was one possibility—to take a gun and shoot oneself. Of course, I did not do that." The mammoth transcript file reveals many examples of Eichmann's excuses for the things he did and this morning, when court resumes after Thursday's recess because of Independence Day, there will be a further reading included of Eichmann's police interrogation.

Red Clean-up!

Russ Police Can Spot Fine Drunks

MOSCOW, (HTNS) — Vodka face new hazards here, as the flippers and juvenile delinquents Russian Republic of the Soviet Union gave its authorities broader powers against drunkenness and vandalism.

Anyone 16 or older who appears "in a drunken way in the streets or other public places" may be fined three to five rubles ($3.33 to $5.55) by Russian militia men on the spot, according to new provisions published Thursday in Soviet Russia, the government journal of the USSR's largest republic.

For "petty hooliganism" fines of 10 to 30 rubles ($11.10 to $33.30) were added to the previous potential penalties of three to 15 days in jail.

The amendments also provide that persons guilty of hooliganism, a blanket term roughly equivalent to juvenile delinquency, may be institutionalized "taking into consideration the personality of the violator and the character of the crime committed."

And if a person found guilty of petty hooliganism refuses to work while in prison, he is to be charged for all nourishment given him during the confinement.

France To Hold Bomb Tests

PARIS (HTNS) — Pierre Messmer, French minister of defense, said Thursday France will continue to hold atomic tests until it gets an operational atom bomb.

Messmer indicated France was close to achieving its goal, since "only a few more tests will be necessary."

He didn't refer to France's most recent atomic test in the Sahara last December which was described as "not a full technical success."

Messmer added the site and nature of future tests were classified "top secret," and he wasn't at liberty to say "whether they will be held in the Sahara, or whether they will be underground or surface tests."

In reply to questions at a luncheon given by the Anglo-American Press Assn., he said France has given up asking the United States for atomic weapons and is relying on its own resources. President De Gaulle has insisted repeatedly France must have her own atomic striking power to repulse aggressors.

Turning to the internal problems of the French Army, Messmer pledged the 500,000 French soldiers stationed in Algeria would help carry out Gen. De Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria.

There have been persistent reports secret societies inside the army are dedicated to maintaining a French Algeria, and are ready to side with right-wing extremist movements once peace talks with the Algerian nationalists get under way.

Messmer conceded there would be "discontent" in the army over Gen. De Gaulle's policies but ruled out the possibility of "massive defections."

If and when the Algerian problem is solved, he said re-patriation of French troops will be subject to four priorities.

First, troops will be withdrawn proportionately to the political stability of Algeria.

Second, military service will be reduced. French soldiers, who normally are conscripted for 18 months, are currently serving from 24 to 27 months because of the Algerian emergency.

No Comment From Nixon After Talk With Kennedy

WASHINGTON (HTNS) — President Kennedy and former vice-president Nixon met Thursday night for the first time since the inauguration and discussed Cuba and other problems.

Nixon made no comment after their surprise 75 minute talk at the White House. Earlier he had refused to be drawn into criticizing the President's performance in the Cuban affair.

Nixon came to Washington for a conference, Thursday morning with Republican Congressional leaders. Then, in a meeting with reporters, said there was "nothing more irresponsible" than for a citizen outside the government and not privy to the facts to "pop off" against the President. "And I don't intend to do that."

Nixon went to the White House at the President's invitation.

On the Cuban affair today, the former vice president said he would not criticize the President until he had something "constructive" to say. The United States, he said, must do whatever it can within its treaty obligations to help the Cuban people "realize their aspirations to have a free and independent country." United States policy must "imply" that the United States is doing what is necessary to convince the Cuban people of support for a "free Cuba."

Privately, some Republicans were critical of the flatness and seeming inflexibility of the President's statement last week that there would not "under any conditions" be an intervention in Cuba by the armed forces of the United States. They held that the timing of the statement may have disheartened the anti-Castro forces on the very eve of their dangerous undertaking.

Nixon was composed, rather grave and in full command at his crowded press conference. The occasion was his first major excursion back into the national political jungle since the day he left the vice presidency in January. Questioning was friendly. Nixon's answers revealed that:

1. He would not attempt to "grade" the new President on performance thus far. The new President has been in office only 90 days, the former Republican vice president said. Give him 10 more days and there will still be plenty of time to review his record. He smiled. In just about 10 days, Nixon sets off on a political speaking tour to discuss the "Kennedy record."

2. The new President is popular in the country, he said, but nobody seems to like his program.

Nixon hoped the President would not try to use his popularity to strengthen his party instead of his country.

3. He fully approves the "Ev and Charley" political shows, conducted each week by Sen. Dirksen and Rep. Charles A. Halleck, (R-Ind.), The House Republican leaders.

Orchesis To Present Dance Drama

Three dramas in dance will be enacted in the annual recital of the Orchesis modern dance group in Macbride Auditorium April 27 and 28.

The dramas include a legend, a pantomime and a story. "Three Fates" tells of the legendary three fates who measure, spin and cut. In "Portraits in Hats" the dancers use hats to depict people in different aspects of life — in the garden and kitchen, at tea, at the golf course and walking in the rain.

Main production of the show is "Commentary on a Park" which depicts like in a park from midnight of one day to midnight of the next. Phases range from the hoodlums and gang fights at night to the children playing during the day.

Guzey Kamozi, Turkish graduate student and two-year Orchesis member, will give her last performance in the solo dance "Oriental."

Tickets for the program are on sale at Whelstones, the Paper Place and the Main Office of the Women's Gymnasium.

Lab Studies Mysteries Of Leukemia

Some of the mysteries surrounding leukemia and other malignancies involving the bone are being investigated at a special Bone Marrow Laboratory at the SUI College of Medicine.

The laboratory, headed by Dr. Willis M. Fowler, professor of internal medicine, is concerned primarily with leukemia, lymphomas, and multiple myeloma.

Leukemia and lymphomas alone will cause an estimated 26,650 deaths in the United States in 1961. Many scientists believe, however, that cures will be found for leukemia and lymphomas sooner than for any other form of cancer.

The Bone Marrow Laboratory at SUI, which is sponsored with the help of a $7,500 yearly grant from the American Cancer Society, has been in existence for more than 10 years. The laboratory is a multi-function operation.

In addition to the research and study on malignancies involving the bone, the laboratory also serves in training resident physicians to interpret bone marrow and blood smears. Medical students are given firsthand experience in having the smears analyzed and interpreted.
