Shepard in Space Suit

Alan Shepard, selected to make America's first space flight, is dressed in his space suit as he walks toward a Mercury capsule in a dry run test during final preparations to send America's first man into space.

Shepard, Chosen as 1st Astronaut, Now Waits

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Storms Tuesday halted an attempt to hurl astronaut Alan B. Shepard aloft as America's first spaceman and it was reliably reported that another try will not be made until Friday.

The postponement was announced as Shepard, named only a few hours before as this nation's first space pilot, prepared to leave his ready room for a 3½-mile trip to the launch pad.

He removed his silver space suit to await once again the beginning of the countdown on the Redstone rocket which is to hurl him 115 miles into space and drop him 290 miles down range after an arching suborbital flight.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced at 4:40 a.m. CST, that the launching was postponed because of foul weather both at the cape and in the intended down range recovery zone. It said that the shot would be postponed at least 48 hours.

The weather forecast for Thursday was encouraging, but then came a report that the rocket itself was in trouble.

An informed source reported that an x-ray examination of the Redstone showed a liquid oxygen line had been damaged during the fueling operation as scientists prepared the missile for launching Tuesday.

This will require an additional day to repair, the source said.

The source also reported that if the launching is not accomplished by Sunday, it will have to be postponed at least a week.

This is because of logistics and supply problems involving the seven Navy ships waiting in the down range recovery area. NASA originally had set Saturday as the cutoff date, but a check with the ships Tuesday showed they could remain on station through Sunday.

Space agency officials had no comment on the reported Friday date. They were sticking to their original statement of at least a 48-hour delay.

The postponement was caused by two storm fronts converging on the area 290 miles down the range where the astronaut's capsule was to parachute into the ocean some 15 minutes after launch.

Disclosure that Shepard, a Navy test pilot with the rank of commander, had been chosen for the historic flight came simultaneously with the postponement.

His backup, who will replace Shepard in the 1½-ton capsule if anything happens to Shepard during the long wait, is Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., 39.

Both will be given frequent examinations during the delay, with doctors watching Shepard especially closely to see how he fares up under the tension.

Shepard is considered nervous, however, and a U.S. space agency spokesman said all indications are that he will be aboard when the launch is attempted.

Shepard was only two hours and 20 minutes away from his rocket ride when the postponement came.

For three hours he sat in his silvery space suit, cooled by a portable air conditioner to keep him comfortable, while he waited

Tells NSC Laos Pressure Easing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heartened by reports of a partial truce in the Laotian fighting, President Kennedy conferred again Tuesday with the National Security Council (NSC).

It was the President's second meeting in two days with the top-level strategy board, and their fifth session in 11 days. Decisions reached at these private White House conferences seldom are announced.

With pressure easing slightly in the Laotian crisis, the prime focus of discussion was reported shifting to another acute problem — the stalemated U.S.-British effort to negotiate a nuclear test ban agreement with the Soviet Union.

Arthur H. Dean, U.S. representative at the Geneva negotiations, and John J. McCloy, Kennedy's disarmament adviser, attended the meeting which lasted an hour and 15 minutes.

No list of all those present was made public, but assistant press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said participants included officials who are not members of the council.

Hatcher said the council would convene again on Friday to concentrate on a totally different subject. He explained this to mean matters other than the atomic test ban and Laos.

Dispatches from Vientiane said a Government negotiator had arranged to begin cease-fire negotiations with the pro-Communist rebels under a provisional truce.

A State Department spokesman reaffirmed U.S. readiness to attend an international conference on Laos "once an effective cease-fire has been verified."

If the eight-month-old civil war can be halted, a 14-nation conference would be convened in Geneva May 12 to work out Laos' political future, but the delay in arranging a cease-fire has been arousing fears of a spread in the conflict.

Civil Liberties Union To Be Formed Today

A meeting of students, faculty members and city residents interested in forming an active chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union will be Thursday at 4:30 p.m. in Conference Room 1 of the Iowa Memorial Union.

The American Civil Liberties Union is a national organization, founded in 1920. Its aims are: "To protect the principles of the Bill of Rights — freedom of inquiry and expression; due process of law and fair trial; equality before the law."

A group of three faculty members and about twelve students are organizing the Thursday meeting.

Delta Chi Depledges Andy Hankins

By SANDY FAUS Staff Writer

SUI's Delta Chi social fraternity deplored its first Negro member in an initiation vote Monday night. Andy Hankins, A1, Waukegan, Ill., was informed of the action Tuesday morning. Pledged March 17, he was the first Negro to be in an SUI fraternity and Delta Chi, which has no discriminatory clause.

According to Dennie Herrmann, A3, Des Moines, chapter vice president, "Someone felt Andy wouldn't fit in with the rest of the members of the chapter."

It takes only one vote to prevent the initiation of a Delta Chi pledge. It is not known how many other pledges, if any, were voted on during the meeting that deplored Hankins.

When questioned further on possible reasons for the deploping, Herrmann said, "This is all the chapter wishes to say at this time. Anything else would be just my personal opinion and would not represent the views of the chapter, for which I am spokesman."

Lewis S. Armstrong, Seattle, Wash., national Delta Chi President, will arrive in Iowa City this evening. Armstrong visited the chapter one other time this year — shortly after Hankins was pledged.

Hankins was a guard on the freshman basketball team. Graduated from Waukegan Township High School, he was a member of student council and vice president of the National Honor Society.

Dick Boe, A3, Lake Zurich, Ill., chapter president when Hankins was pledged, has left the fraternity house. No reason was given for his departure.

HENRY KAISER, JR., DIES OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Henry J. Kaiser Jr., died Tuesday night after an extended illness. He was 44.

He was the son of industrialist Henry J. Kaiser Sr., and vice president and director of Kaiser Industries.

Erbe Blames Administration For SUI Faculty Exodus

By DOROTHY COLLIN City Editor

DES MOINES — SUI professors receive salary increases according to "who has the dean's ear," Gov. Norman Erbe told SUI students here Tuesday morning.

Erbe made his charge in reply to a question from Dick Hall, B3, Cedar Rapids, at a conference with five Student Council members. Hall asked Erbe about the Board of Regents' contention that SUI is losing many good professors to institutions which pay higher salaries and have more prestige.

Erbe said the problem was one of administration. He said SUI professors are given salary increases only if they do something creative or offer better jobs.

"What about good instructors who like it here, but never do anything which is considered spectacularly creative or don't come around saying they can get a better job?" Erbe asked.

"Most institutions are on a base pay scale," he continued.

Erbe used Frank Kennedy, professor of law who is leaving SUI to take a position at the University of Michigan, as an example. He said Kennedy was offered a pay increase, received it, but is still leaving. "There is no sense in this," Erbe said.

"It isn't the right kind of administrative action when salaries are decided like this," he said. "If the morale is bad because of poor salaries and prestige, then professors wouldn't stay around too long," he said.

James Jordan, head of University relations, called Erbe's statements "generalizations which are completely unfounded."

SUI has no standard pay scale for the total University, Jordan said, but there are norms in all the colleges. "We pay differently for different skills," he said.

Jordan said that though pay for different fields varies, there is uniformity within units and that merit is the big factor in pay increases.

"All salary increases go through a whole raft of reviews," Jordan said. "They must be reviewed by the department head, the dean, the provost and the president."

The pay increase approved for Kennedy was one point in an effort to keep him here, Jordan said.

Other factors such as a chance to concentrate on his particular field of law at Michigan instead of having to teach three fields as he would at SUI caused Kennedy to leave, according to Jordan.

In his conference with the students, Erbe said he didn't know anything about appropriations for the Board of Regents' institutions other than what is included in his budget recommendations. Erbe's budget calls for a $40.3 million appropriation to Regents' institutions.

The Regents contend this amount is too little to cover increasing costs and enrollments.

Erbe said no department in the State Government has lobbied as thoroughly or told its story as much to as many people as the Regents this session.

"I've made my recommendations," Erbe said. "There might be some changes I don't approve of, but it's up to the Legislature to decide where the emphasis should go."

The five students who conferred with Erbe were John Niemeyer, A4, Elkader; Ron Andersen, A2, Dike; Jim Brown, A3, Dike; Dave Nelson, A2, Decorah; and Hall. They were part of a group of 23 SUIIowans who visited the legislature Tuesday.

Niemeyer told Erbe that the group wished to indicate that the student body was concerned with appropriations. He said the students realized increased appropriations would be of no value to most of them, but they were concerned with future SUIIowans. He said there is a feeling that if appropriations were cut any further the University would deteriorate.

Honest

Student Returns $73 in Purse

In Greece 2500 years ago a fabled philosopher who went by the handle of Diogenes wandered all over the country carrying a lighted lantern in search of an honest man. If Diogenes could have been in Iowa City Tuesday night he might have run through the streets shouting, "Eureka."

At 7 p.m. Tuesday, Richard A. Penhollow, A1, saw a purse drop from a convertible at Court and Muscatine avenues. By the time he stopped to pick up the purse, its owner was gone.

Penhollow turned the purse over to Iowa City Police Department. Among its contents was $73.

Owner of the purse is Diane Jensen of 1045 W. Benton.

Iowa City Police Clarify Curfew Law Arrest Here

A clarification of a curfew law in Iowa City was given Tuesday by Iowa City Police. The law was supposedly invoked against Daniel Lee Kelley, 19, 123 N. Dubuque St., last Tuesday night.

Kelley had been arrested on the previous Sunday on a charge of disorderly conduct, when found asleep on a table in a laundromat wearing only khaki trousers, while his shirt and socks were washing. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $25 and costs.

The following Tuesday, Officer Ronald Dreyer asked Kelley to leave a local restaurant, because he was breaking an Iowa City curfew.

Police today said that the law under which Kelley was asked to leave was Chapter 104, Section 4 of the Iowa City Municipal Code, which states:

"No person shall loiter or rove about the streets or other public places on any night later than 11 p.m. without any reasonable excuse or business."

A curfew law, chapter 100, Section 1, states that no one under 16 years of age may remain on the streets between 9:30 p.m. and 5:30 a.m. unless accompanied by a parent or unless he has reasonable or legitimate business. This was not applied to Kelley.

No action has been taken by a group of interested persons investigating the case pending a meeting this afternoon of representatives of this group with city officials.

Group Pleads With Governor For Increase

Joint House-Senate Committee Debates Appropriations Bill

By MIKE PAULY Staff Writer

DES MOINES — Twenty-three SUI students, self-appointed lobbyists seeking additional funds for the University and the State Board of Regents, Tuesday made a vox populi plea to Gov. Norman A. Erbe and members of the Legislature.

The group, led by Student Council President John F. Niemeyer, A4, Elkader, was composed of council members and other campus leaders.

Niemeyer, Ron Andersen, A3, Dike; Jim Brown, A3, Dike; Dick Hall, A3, Cedar Rapids; and Davis Nelson, A2, Decorah had a morning appointment with Erbe. The five made their plea for more money to the Governor.

Individual members of the SUI group met with their legislators during sessions. Many had lunch with representatives or senators as they discussed SUI's needs and the money bills.

Meanwhile, the fate of the appropriations measure went to a joint Senate-House Conference Committee Tuesday.

This action developed after the House had passed a bill to grant the Regents' institutions $43.8 million a year, while the Senate had voted for $40.3 million, the same figure recommended by Erbe in his budget message.

Appointed to the eight-man committee were Senators W. C. Stuart (R-Chariton), Robert Rigler (R-New Hampton), John Shoeman (R-Atlantic) and R. G. Moore (D-Du-lap).

Representatives appointed were W. J. Johannes (D-Ashton), Ray Cunningham (R-Ames), Richards Stephens (R-Ainsworth) and Elmer Vermeer (R-Pella).

The conferees group now must reach agreement on a figure that will be acceptable to both chambers of the Legislature.

Most observers here feel that the Regents will get an increase of between $1 and $1.5 million when the conference committee acts.

The SUIIowans were active in both chambers of the Legislature Tuesday. The group was introduced to the Senate Tuesday afternoon by Adolf Elvers (D-Elkader). There was mixed reaction in the State House to the students' arrival.

James Jordan and Max Hawkins, lobbyists for the Regents and SUI, briefed the students on procedure several times during the day.

After returning to Iowa City Tuesday night Niemeyer said he thought the trip was "constructive."

"I don't think we swayed anyone on the conference committee," Niemeyer said, "but I think we've changed the attitude of a lot of the legislators."

"We were able to clear up a few points. The legislators were able to see how the students, themselves, feel about the appropriations."

"The chief value, though, was the chance we had to get in touch with our legislators and see how the system operates."

Nearly 80 SUI Cadets To Receive Awards

Nearly 80 Air Force and Army ROTC cadets will be given awards today in the annual Joint Awards Day Ceremony. Participating in the ceremonies, scheduled for 3:30 p.m. in the drill area behind the SUI Field House, will be all cadets in both Air Force and Army ROTC.

The awards, in eight separate categories, will be presented by Arthur W. Melloh, dean of the College of Engineering, Marion B. Huit, dean of students, and Dr. Alton K. Fisher, head of the Department of Stomatology.

By GARY G. GERLACH Assistant Managing Editor

IOWA STATE'S STUDENT COUNCIL, the Cardinal Guild Senate, voted 24-2 in favor of voluntary ROTC at a regular meeting last Wednesday.

In recommending voluntary ROTC, the bill proposes a four-year trial period and an orientation program to interest and inform students of ROTC possibilities.

The Senate's resolution also contains a recommendation that allows transfer students and others without basic ROTC to enroll in advanced core.

The resolution, thus passed by the Senate, now goes on to the student body president who is expected to put the recommendation before the faculty committee studying ROTC.

But the final decision as to whether Iowa State will receive voluntary ROTC will come from the State Board of Regents. Nevertheless, as an editorial in the Iowa State Daily points out, the decisions of both ISU and ISU's administrations will have a great influence on the matter.

ISU's Student Senate move can be termed as mildly surprising. Although the student newspaper and other critics have raised loud voices against mandatory ROTC, in the past there had been little indication (i.e., picketing military balls or mass petition signing) of a strong anti-ROTC feeling.

With PEACE CORPS NEWS flooding collegiate papers these days, it is interesting to note that a history professor at the University of Oklahoma, Dr. Percy Buchanan, has been carrying out his own Peace Corps for a number of years.

Buchanan was born and reared in Japan and has since sponsored three student tours to the Orient, the first in 1953, the second in 1956, and the most recent in 1958.

The purpose of the trips was to foster closer ties and better understanding and to educate the students in the customs of Oriental nations.

Actually, the closer one looks at the Peace Corps movement the more evident it becomes that the whole idea behind a corps for peace has actually been informally carried out in the past. Only recently has the Corps been organized on a national scale around the central government.

THERE'S TWO SIDES TO EVERYTHING. And an editorial in the Michigan Daily (University of Michigan, Ann Arbor) made the following comment on what tends to be the true side of the Adolf Eichmann trial:

"No one could possibly argue that one man's dying will pay for or make up for six million deaths."

"The purposeful taking of another's life, for any reason whatsoever shy of self defense, is not within the bounds of moral human conduct, particularly if Israel is acting as spokesman for the Jewish people who are sworn to uphold the commandment 'thou shalt not kill' as well as the biblical injunction to turn the other cheek."

"Furthermore, killing Eichmann to make him pay for his crime is implying that such a crime can be paid for, and this implication is inexcusable. Israel's position would be clear if we remember that the state dropped capital punishment for murder in 1954, and if one abandons capital punishment on principle, one is not permitted by those principles to make exceptions."

And so the eternal question: what is truth and what is legal? WITTY WORDS: life is like a bed; if it is uncomfortable, the thing to do is to get up and make it so. —unknown.

Make-good service on missed papers is not possible, but every effort will be made to correct errors with the next issue.

'It's All Right To Seat Them. They're Not Americans'

Can We Keep Cold War Out of the Peace Corps?

By DAROLD POWERS Written for the DI (1st of 4 articles)

Will America's Peace Corps intensify conflict between the Western and Communist blocs, or will it strengthen the world's chance for peace?

The answer is not easy, despite the program's name and the aims it implies.

Under developed nations want policies kept out of the Peace Corps, and no one in Washington will come out and advocate making it an instrument of our Cold War foreign policy.

However, President Kennedy in his March 1 message to Congress explained, in reference to the underdeveloped nations: "Our own freedom, and the future of freedom around the world, depend on their ability to build growing and independent nations where men live in dignity, liberated from the bonds of hunger, ignorance and poverty."

Disenchanted by the cold war and eager to work for peace, young Americans responded by the thousands to this appeal against the ills of mankind.

But in the dialectics of the Cold War, Kennedy's words were also seen both at home and abroad as a call for another front and another weapon against Communism.

At the March 21 hearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the nomination of Sargent Shriver to direct the Peace Corps, he and Chairman J. W. Fulbright noted a Russian official had denounced the Peace Corps as a "crafty plot" to put spies into underdeveloped nations.

"If we are to have any success in stemming the advance of Communism throughout the world, we too must offer a positive program to aid the development of people in the have-not nations."

Pearson, credited Shapp with selling Robert Kennedy on the Peace Corps idea last fall. Visiting Russia in 1959, Shapp had found that many thousands of Soviet youths were training for technical assistance work in other countries — learning the language, culture, history and religion of the country to which they would go.

"It is this group," Shapp said, "upon whom the Soviet is relying to penetrate the minds of men and help win the world for Communism."

On the surface, though, the interest of both Russia and the United States in furnishing technical assistance to underdeveloped nations is equally peaceful and non-political. Compare these statements — the first by Shriver in 1956, as quoted in "Soviet Leaders & Masters over Man" by Hadley Cantril; the second as found in the preliminary report by the Colorado State University Research Foundation on the feasibility of the Peace Corps:

"In the struggle against social oppression and against colonialism, in the struggle for peace and democracy, the great aspirations of all the oppressed people, whether of the Arab, Asian and Latin countries, and of all the working people, whether Catholics or Protestants, Buddhists or Moslems, will find their fulfillment."

"The primary objective of the Youth Corps is to assist in accelerating the process of economic and social development in the less developed areas of the world."

But the similarity in these phrases masks a basic incompatibility in aims.

FORMULA FOR LIVING CLEVELAND — Missionary, evangelist and author, Dr. E. Stanley Jones offers this personal formula for keeping up a busy pace: "Each night, before going to bed, I exercise for 10 minutes. I have been doing this for more than 30 years. I go to bed at a decent hour. Nature balances the accounts every night."

"You don't have to take long vacations. I've been speaking for 45 years, from two to five times a day. For relaxation, I write a book."

Fulbright: "Which would indicate that you are on the right track, and that this is a good idea, would it not?" (Laughter)

Shriver: "This is some evidence, although we would not want to undertake it for that reason."

Fulbright: "No, I know, but it is reassuring in that it might indicate that there is real merit in it and can be very successful if properly administered."

The young men and women who were flooding Shriver's office with letters of application had, ever since the Corps was first proposed, resented the possibility that their work might have political implications. "Keep politics out of it!" was the gist of a resolution passed at the March 29-31 National Conference on Youth Service Abroad in Washington.

It is true that Kennedy's message to Congress had also said, "It is important, however, that the Peace Corps be advanced not as an arm of the Cold War but as a contribution to the world community."

The Peace Corps is not a diplomatic or propaganda venture but a genuine experiment in international partnership.

But columnist Drew Pearson would shortly attribute origin of the Peace Corps to Moscow, via Milton J. Shapp, president of the Jerrold Electronics Corp. in Philadelphia. And this is how Shapp explained the need for a Peace Corps in an address to students at Pennsylvania State College on March 9:

"If we are to have any success in stemming the advance of Communism throughout the world, we too must offer a positive program to aid the development of people in the have-not nations."

Pearson, credited Shapp with selling Robert Kennedy on the Peace Corps idea last fall. Visiting Russia in 1959, Shapp had found that many thousands of Soviet youths were training for technical assistance work in other countries — learning the language, culture, history and religion of the country to which they would go.

Letters to the Editor

Student Council Calls For Letters to Legislators

To the Editor:

We too often live in a sheltered little world here on campus quite unaware of what is happening in the political and governmental areas of our state and nation. However, it is time we made our opinions felt, especially since the Iowa State Legislature is going to make itself severely felt to us on campus in the years to come.

The legislature is in the process of making appropriations to the three Iowa state schools. Perhaps they don't understand the consequences of this action. We realize here that we have a great need for more and better faculty members and for increased and improved facilities. If the legislature does not grant us more money, the Board of Regents will be forced to double tuition, putting the load on us students, to maintain this as an institution of higher learning.

The legislature is supposedly representing the people of Iowa. Each legislator must be responsible to some extent to his constituency if for no other reason than to assure himself of re-election. Consequently, when they receive letters, calls and visits from individuals from their county they must place some importance upon them. If every SUI student were to write two letters, one to his state representative and one to his state senator, the men in Des Moines would certainly feel the impact. Also, it would add even more weight if the voting parents of the students were to contact their legislators. Anything we can do to help the representatives understand our position would be worthwhile.

What we plan to do must be done immediately. A list of the senators and representatives by county should be available at the Student Council Office in the Union for those who would like the information.

At the risk of sounding trite, we would like to encourage every SUI student to write to his legislators and make the voice of the SUI student body felt at the Capitol in Des Moines.

Try and Figure This One Out-If You Can

To the Editor:

I say "Hear! Hear!" and offer my total personal consent to the views of Tom Egerman on the subject of "Long Distance Chess" as he lucidly expressed them in his letter published in the DI on April 27th.

I have a greater purpose in writing, other than congratulatory, which came to my mind after overhauling several sincere comments which quite naturally followed in the wake of such a provocative letter. Things like: "What does it all mean?"; "the most off-heard comment"; and "Cubism in commerce? Does he mean block-heads in business? Is this part of the Great Left-Right Debate? Is he 'Pinko?'" or "Where is Clinton Street?"

In the midst of this confusion I could see immediately the need for an apologist, or better yet, a philosophical popularizer, or at the very least a clarifying, discursive letter. It is to this critical task that I have appointed myself, assuming (and I hope not presuming) that I will have T. E.'s accord.

What is he talking about you ask? Well, in the light of the danger of oversimplification, I will say that I think he talking about... but wait, before I spell it out for you I want to say that I like it. I think that it shows depth in meaning and it 'hit me' hard, and in a way that I know it's going to live. What's more I believe in Tom! But, to get back to my original point... I think that Tom has something new and trenchant to say about the "Tic-Tac-Toe" mentality and it's strangulating affect on the development of Western Christendom. I think he's talking to all of us about the restriction put upon the exercise of individual, existential activity through the abuse of administrative facilities and the demoralizing affect of pettifogging, narcissistically-inspired editorializing. Or he could be talking about the new "Ping-Pong" technique in sonar-neurosurgery and its value in the understanding of the inductive element constituent in the modern scientific temperament. The possibilities are truly exciting, and sobering, considering that we're at the "cross-roads," so to speak. At any rate I see T. E. as a Voice! Nay, a Clarion Call!

I like it Tom. I'll admit along with many others that it did kind of dribble off into incoherence near the end, but I like it! Do you disagree with any of my interpretations Tom? I could be wrong you know! Am I Tom? We could talk it over — I have a deep need to be well liked Tom. I live just a few doors south, now that I know where Clinton Street is.

Good Listening— Today On WSUI

TONIGHT'S BAND CONCERT will be broadcast from WSUI beginning at 8 p.m. It will mark the high point of a day devoted to good music. Lovy of Chopin, for example, will find his Preludes, Nos. 1-14, Op. 28, in the morning between 10 and 11. Then at 1 p.m., Ernst Krenek will discuss his own works and illustrate from them; WSUI will persevere with further illustrations from his compositions until 3:55: Symphonic Eleven Transparencies, and several piano pieces played by the composer.

The hour-long Evening Concert at 6 p.m. will feature the Overture and Venusberg Music from Wagner's "Tannhauser"; the Stereo Hour at 7 will feature, in turn, the Fifth Symphony of Shostakovich. Then comes the concert by the SUI Symphonic Band, live, at 8. As always, this column advocates "in person" attendance first — attendance by radio as an alternative.

TWELVE HOURS EARLIER (if it's not already too late), the usual classroom broadcast at 8:30 a.m. will enjoy a one-day absence from the air in favor of a talk by Marc Slonim on "New Trends in Modern Literature."

IF YOU'VE BEEN WONDERING just where military leaders fit into "The Power Elite" in the United States, author C. Wright Mills is currently discussing the matter, by proxy, on The Bookshelf at 9:30 a.m.

WEST GERMANY and the news background picture today at 12:45 and 5:45 p.m., respectively. Recorded within the week, the reports survey present opinion in their two countries and may be expected, over a period of years, to have the accumulated effect of broadening the point of view of the average listener (unfortunately, the AVERAGE listener is probably not listening to WSUI).

CREATIVE ARTS WEEK on the SUI campus begins next Monday; if you haven't heard about it, you should begin to soon. WSUI and KSUI-FM are cooperating in the presentation of the most radiogenic of the events; in addition, interviews and special news stories will bring attention to the four days of special emphasis on campus creativity.

BOOK CAMPAIGN NORTHFIELD College, Ohio — Books are filling the shelves of the library at St. Barnabas Roman Catholic School as members of the parish practice self-discipline.

It began as a Lenten project, with parishioners contributing to the library fund the money they saved by giving up drinking, smoking or other habits.

Ted Haas, a member of the parish board of education, got the idea after hearing a sermon by the pastor, Rev. Bernard P. DeCrane. Father DeCrane says: "Response has been unusual, but I won't be alarmed if it takes a year to reach our goal."

CONFERENCE OPENS MANILA — Delegates and observers from 25 nations completed preliminary steps today for the seventh annual conference of the Asian People's Anti-Communist League.

The conference opens today, then breaks up for separate discussions of communism in Southeast Asia, Africa, the Middle East, Europe and Latin America. U.S. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) will be the keynote speaker.

Kennedy Speaks Loudly, Must Carry a Bigger Stick

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — In the wake of Castro's repulse of the Cuban Freedom-Fighters, Khrushchev's wrecking of the test-ban talks by demanding a veto over inspection, and, now, the Communists' grab conquest of Laos, President Kennedy is certainly saying enough about averting the worst.

But he isn't doing enough. He is not yet coming near to matching his "adequate" words with adequate action.

It is well that the President is responding to the accumulating peril so soberly. This is the beginning of mobilizing the spirit and the resources essential to fight the enemy who proclaims that he is drumming all the world their own.

It is my conviction that the time for words has passed, that the moment is at hand when it is not enough to say what needs to be done — but to do what needs to be done before it is too late.

On the President's declared convictions that our very civilization is "at stake," that the hour is late, that never has "a great threat" confronted us than this war called peace — nothing that the Administration is yet doing "to provide for it" is anywhere near equal to the peril.

Why? He has given a clew in his statement that the Nation's greatest adversary is not the Russians but "our own unwillingness to do what must be done."

There is truth in this but it is a dangerous half-truth. I am convinced that the whole truth is that the American people will respond galvanically, not to presidential words, but only to presidential action — by adding not a puny 5,000 but 500,000 men, if necessary, to our limited-war forces, by expanding radically our capacity to meet unconventional aggression with unconventional means.

I believe that the country is anxiously waiting for the President to act in a way equal to the urgency of his own words.

But if "no war ever posed a greater threat," is the President proposing measures equal to this threat?

But is the President yet calling on the Nation to do all it would do when its very life is at stake and the hour late?

In Chicago last week Kennedy declared: "I believe that the American people would say as Patrick Henry said in 1775 — 'For my part, whatever anguish of spirit it may cost, I am willing to know the whole truth, to know the worst and to provide for it.'"

While Kennedy is rightly telling the country the worst, is he adequately "providing for it?"

I do not find that he is. For example, the new Administration saw the great need to expand our limited-war capability, fully appreciated that over-reliance on massive retaliation might deter a nuclear war while losing every vulnerable nation in Asia. The President spoke out lucidly for this need. Secretary McNamara agreed. But when the new defense budget is carried into effect, it won't add much more than 5,000 men to our limited-war capability.

A water carnival, "City at Night" will be presented Friday and Saturday evening as part of SUI's annual Mother's Day weekend. The water show is an annual event for the Seals, SUI women's swimming club.

Tickets at 75 cents a person for the show are available at Whetstone's Drug Store, the main office of the Women's Gym, from any Seal Club member, or at the door the night of the show. No reserved seats are available.

Both performances will begin at 8 p.m. in the Field House swimming pool.

Each of the 12 acts in the water carnival centers around and brings to light different aspects of big-time, metropolitan living in New York City. One girl in each act is in charge of originating the synchronized movements and coordinating them with specially selected taped music.

The central theme, "City at Night," was created by Kay Getz, A4, Sioux City. Her theme was chosen from a number of others by a special club election.

The show opens with an act titled "Grand Central Station," in which 20 girls are featured in a synchronized swim routine depicting the hustle and bustle of New York's famous station.

One of the highlights included in the show will be a solo swim, "Down," by Seal President Sharon Hamill, A3, Des Moines.

The Penguins, a group of six girls training to become Seal members, will be featured in the "Wharf Scene."

Four members of the Dolphin Fraternity, SUI men's swimming club, have been invited to take part in "Latin American," a vivacious Central American dance. The four Dolphins are the only males in the 39-member cast.

SUI Canoes Used Little

Temperatures dipping into the 40s resulted in few canoe launches the first two days of the new canoe rental service.

Dr. Fred Beebe, assistant physical education professor in charge of the service, said that Monday a group went to the dam at Coralville for a picnic. Several canoes were rented Tuesday.

The 12 University-owned canoes are being launched from the lagoon shelter house on the west bank of the Iowa River between the river and the lagoon.

The canoes can be rented from 4:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and from noon to 8 p.m. Sunday. Rates are 75 cents for the first hour and 50 cents for each additional hour or part of an hour. The daily rate is $4. Students must present ID cards at the lagoon shelter house.

Life vests for adults and children are also available for rent at the shelter. Non-swimmers and children in the canoes are required to wear life jackets at all times.

Canoe rental is subject to weather and river conditions. If the current is too swift or weather is bad the shelter house will be closed and no canoes rented.

Marceline Jaques Is Recognized Most Outstanding in Rehabilitation

Some 30,000 miles of travel and interviews with 404 rehabilitation counselors in 20 states resulted in a national research award for an SUI graduate.

The research of Marceline E. Jaques, who received a Ph.D. from SUI in 1959, was recognized as the most outstanding in the field of rehabilitation counseling in the past year at the recent annual convention of the Division of Rehabilitation Counseling of the American Personnel and Guidance Association in Denver.

Titled "Critical Counseling Behavior in Rehabilitation Settings," her research was done at SUI under the direction of John Mithard, associate professor of education, and was submitted as her Ph.D. dissertation. Generally, the research attempted to find out what

Creative Arts Week Is Feature of May Events

The May calendar of SUI lists some 30 cultural events, with a dozen being part of Creative Arts Week, May 8-11.

One of the month's first exhibitions is a Civil War exhibit at the University Library. Continuing through Monday, the exhibit features letters, photographs, two muskets and currency, which are all mementos of the early years of the Civil War.

An art exhibit now on display will continue through May 19. Twenty original engravings by the 15th century German printmaker, Martin Schoengrauer, can be seen from 2 to 6 p.m. daily in the print studios of the Art Building.

Two other art exhibits will continue throughout the month. One is a display of recent Japanese carvings and pottery in the east foyer of the Art Building. The second is the Masterpiece of the Month: an original Roault color lithography given to the department by the Iowa City Raphael Club.

Student life as captured by Daily Iowan photographers will be displayed in the Terrace Lounge of Iowa Memorial Union through May 13. The photos represent creative works as well as news pictures taken for the student-edited newspaper.

Tonight through Saturday will mark the second week's run of "Break of Noon" at University Theatre. The SUI performances are the first for the Paul Claudel play in America.

The SUI Chamber Singers will give a concert Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Union.

Creative Arts Week will open Monday with a presentation of three miniature operas composed by French composer Darius Milhaud and performed by students of the SUI Opera Workshop and the Faculty Woodwind Quintet. The concert will be given at 8:30 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium.

Two art lectures will be given during the week; one will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday and the second, "The Visual Arts in Transition," at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday. Both will be presented in the Art Building Auditorium. The formal opening of SUI's new art galleries will be Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. and will feature an exhibition of paintings, sculpture and prints from 20 Iowa collectors and museums.

W. D. Snodgrass, former poet in SUI's Writers Workshop and winner of the 1960 Pulitzer Prize in poetry, will speak on "Tact and the Poet's Force" Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Shambaugh Auditorium. New poems by past and present students of the SUI workshop will also be read. At 3:15 p.m. the same day, three SUI faculty members will demonstrate criticism of an original short story written by a student in the workshop. The critic-authors on the panel will be Vance Bourjaily, George P. Elliott and Philip Roth.

The SUI Symphony Orchestra

and Chorus will perform works of Darius Milhaud Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Main Lounge. Milhaud will attend the concert, which will include the world premiere of "Cantata on Texts from Chaucer," commissioned by the SUI music department with the aid of a grant from the Old Gold Development Fund.

"The Creative Mind of Science" will be discussed May 11 at 2 p.m. by James A. Van Allen, professor and head of the SUI Department of Physics and Astronomy. He will speak in North Music Hall.

A concert of original chamber works by students will follow the lecture. A concerto for piano and winds and an opera, by Leonard Klein and Charles Hoag, respectively, are on the program.

Two plays by Euripides will be given in the Studio Theatre May 11-13. "Hecuba" and "Cyclops" will be given in Old Armory at 8 p.m. The play is being directed by Peter Arnott, assistant professor of classics and dramatic art.

Visitors to the SUI campus can also see four special exhibits during Creative Arts Week. In University Library, recent publications by faculty and students of the SUI writing program will be on display, as well as printing by Iowa City's private presses — The Prairie, Cunningham, Qara and Stone Wall Presses.

The Patio Show of student art work at SUI will be held May 6-12 on the Sun Porch of the Union. Most of some 100 works included in the show will be for sale.

An exhibit of editorial cartoons by Ted Rasmussen of the Milwaukee Journal, a former editor of The Daily Iowan, will be exhibited in the Communications Center May 8-11.

The Old Gold Singers will give a concert May 12 in the Main Lounge. Their 8 p.m. appearance will be sponsored by Union Board. An American Institute of Graphic Arts Exhibit will begin May 15 and continue throughout the month. "Fifty Books of the Year" will be displayed in the SUI Library.

The University Theatre production of Shakespeare's "Troilus and Cressida" will be given May 18-20 and 24-27. James Goussier, instructor in dramatic art, will direct the play. Performance time is 8 p.m.

The final lecture of the month will be given to the Humanities Society by Professor Grady McWhinney, Northwestern University. He will discuss "How the South Could Have Won the War" at 8 p.m. May 22 in the Senate Chamber.

SO I WAS SITTING IN THE DARK FEELING VERY RESPONSIBLE BECAUSE WHEN THE SIRENS BOUNDED I OBEYED THE LAW AND TOOK SHELTER—WHEN I REALIZED I HAD BEEN THERE FOR AN AWFULLY LONG TIME. "THE ALL CLEAR MUST CERTAINLY HAVE SOUNDED BY NOW," SOME PEOPLE SAID.

SO WE FIGURED OUT THE TIME AND IT HAD BEEN OVER FOUR HOURS. SOME OF THE CROWD WANTED TO GO OUT ON THE STREET BUT I'VE ALWAYS BEEN A NATURAL LEADER SO I TOOK CHARGE AND SAID—

"WE TOOK SHELTER BECAUSE THE LAW TOLD US TO. IF WE LEAVE OUR SHELTER BEFORE THE LAW TELLS US TO WE'RE AS BAD AS THOSE PEOPLE SITTING OUT IN THE PARK WHO INSIST THIS WHOLE BUSINESS IS INSANE."

EVERYONE AGREED THAT WE CERTAINLY WANTED TO STAY WITHIN THE LAW CALM WAS RESTORED AFTER TWO MORE HOURS WENT BY. A NERVOUS MOTHER SAID "LISTEN, I'M SURE I HEAR SOME MOVEMENT OUT THERE! MAYBE THE SIREN HAS BROKEN."

"YES," CRIED EVERYONE. "THE SIREN MUST HAVE BROKEN!" BUT ONCE MORE I BROUGHT LOGIC TO THE SCENE.

I SAID "THE LAW SAYS WE MUST WAIT FOR THE SIREN. IF WE LEAVE BEFORE WE HEAR THE SIREN EVEN IF IT IS BROKEN WE'RE AS BAD AS THOSE PEOPLE SITTING OUT IN THE PARK WHO INSIST THIS WHOLE BUSINESS IS INSANE."

IT'S BEEN THREE DAYS NOW AND THOSE WHO ARE STILL CONSCIOUS ARE BEGINNING TO STIR. PRETTY SOON I'LL HAVE TO SPEAK UP AGAIN.

WITHOUT PROPER RESPECT FOR THE LAW, SOCIETY MUST CRUMBLE.

Yanks Win in 10th, 6-4, On Grand Slam by Mantle

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Mickey Mantle hit a home run with the bases loaded in the 10th inning Tuesday, cracking a 2-2 tie and giving the New York Yankees a 6-4 victory over the Minnesota Twins. It was Mantle's eighth homer of the season.

A crowd of 16,669 turned out to watch the Yankees' first appearance in Metropolitan Stadium.

Camilo Pascual, the loser, had given up a double to Tony Kubek and walks to Hector Lopez and Roger Maris after two were out before Mantle, batting left-handed, hit his grand slammer.

The blow sent his season runs batted in total to 22, tops in the majors. He had knocked in another run with a single in the fourth inning.

Jim Coates, who pitched three innings after Art Ditmar left for a pinch hitter in the seventh, won his first game. It was Pascual's first defeat after two victories.

After Mantle's homer had made it 6-2, the Twins chased reliever Ryne Duren in their half of the 10th when Harmon Killebrew, first up, homered.

Left-hander Luis Arroyo came on and finally retired the side after giving up another run on a double by Earl Battey and a single by Billy Gardner. It was the first run scored off Arroyo in six appearances by the veteran this season.

The Twins quickly opened up a lead for Pascual, who was going after his third straight victory. After a single by Reno Bertoia, a double by Green and a walk to Killebrew loaded the bases in the first, Bertoia scored while the Yankee infield was reeling off a double play on Jim Lemon's grounder to shortstop Kubek.

Minnesota struck for another run in the second on successive singles by Battey, Gardner, and Jose Valdivielso. Once again, a Yankee double play broke the back of a potential big inning. A third double play broke a Twins' threat in the third inning, too.

New York got to Pascual for a run in the fourth when Maris doubled, the first Yank hit, and scored on Mantle's single.

Bill Skowron tied the score when he opened the seventh with his third home run.

Pirates in 1st As Haddix Stops Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Harvey Haddix, backed by flawless support, which included three double plays, made his first 1961 victory for the Pittsburgh Pirates a 6-0 shut-out over the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night.

The triumph, their fifth in the last six games, put the Pirates in first place in the National League.

Haddix' only other start this year produced no decision for him as he was knocked out in the eighth inning of the Pirates' third game, against the San Francisco Giants. In between, he had a bout with the flu.

"The little southpaw, whose resemblance to Harry (the Cat) Brecheen earned him the nickname of 'The Kitten' when he pitched for the Cards, spaced the Redbirds' hits one to an inning, and only Don Taussig, who doubled in the second inning, got as far as second base against him.

Giants Fall 9-4 To Cubs; Drop To 3rd in NL

CHICAGO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants' home run power oozed out in the ninth inning Tuesday, but the Chicago Cubs led built up in the first two innings prevailed for a 9-4 victory.

Willie McCovey's No. 5 homer of the season gave the Giants a total of 14 in three consecutive games to tie a major league record.

The Cubs victory, coupled with a Pittsburgh win over St. Louis, knocked San Francisco out of a first place tie with the Pirates.

Jim Davenport had led off the ninth with a double. It was only the third hit, and first for extra bases, allowed by Don Cardwell, who permitted only one man to reach base in 5 1/2 hitless innings.

The Cubs backed Cardwell with five runs in the first inning and four in the second, George Altman's two-run homer and Billy Williams' second slam smash fused the blast.

The Braves erupted in the eighth for three runs, two of them unearned as a result of the fourth Los Angeles error, but finally were stopped by Larry Sherry, the third Dodger pitcher, with the bases loaded.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds edged the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 Tuesday night. It was their second victory by the same score in two days.

The game had been scoreless until the fourth, when Vada Pinson's first home run of 1961 broke the ice. The Phillies did not score until the eighth when catcher Clay Dalrymple batted in two runs with a single.

Ken Hunt, the Reds' prize rookie, gave up only three hits before tiring in the eighth.

Tigers Beat Nats 6-3 To Keep 1-Game Lead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Detroit Tigers retained their one-game lead in the American League with a 6-3 victory over the Washington Senators Tuesday night. Jim Bunning pitched his first victory of the season after two losses.

The New York Yankees had crept to within a half game of the Tigers with a 10-inning win over the Minnesota Twins Tuesday afternoon.

Bunning gave up 11 hits, but the eight-hit attack that supported him was more deadly. It included Norm Cash's fourth homer of the season, a two-hit job over the rightfield wall; two triples by Jake Wood, the hot-hitting rookie; and a double by rookie infielder, Steve Boras.

Joe Hicks hit his first home run of the season for the Senators, and Dale Long batted out three hits for the first time this season, including a pair of doubles.

Jackie Jensen Stands Firm On Decision To Quit Baseball

KANSAS CITY (AP) — An unrepentant but apologetic Jackie Jensen talked to his boss, Manager Mike Higgins of the Boston Red Sox, Tuesday and reiterated that he's through with baseball.

Higgins, who said Jensen phoned him from Lake Tahoe, Nev., indicated he had hopes the big outfielder's decision may be changed.

Higgins said Jensen called to "apologize completely and sincerely" for the manner in which he left the Boston Club in Cleveland Saturday night without consulting the manager.

Jensen said he did not look up Higgins personally "because you are the toughest man in the world for me to face and tell something that will hurt you."

A Red Sox spokesman said Higgins listened to Jensen, offered no argument against the player's decision but immediately contacted the Red Sox executive vice president, Dick O'Connell, in Boston.

O'Connell issued a statement that "since the ball club does not officially have to remove Jensen's name from the active list until cut-down time (midnight Wednesday, May 10) we will wait until Jensen confers again with Higgins later in the week."

This was interpreted by club sources as meaning the door was open for Jensen to change his mind. But O'Connell said, "we don't expect him to come back."

He told the Red Sox manager he now feels exactly as he did when he left the club, that he has quit baseball, that he felt he was not helping the Red Sox and didn't feel he would be able to help them, and that it would be best for all concerned if he quit.

The statements were much the same he made earlier Tuesday in Reno, where he said "I am through with baseball forever."

"I just don't feel I can play major league baseball anymore, and I wasn't giving them their money's worth."

Jensen added that he also wanted to be out of the life of a public figure.

Since suddenly leaving the Red Sox Saturday night and taking a train in Cleveland, the 34-year-old outfielder has maintained he quit because he lost the touch which made him the American League's most valuable player in 1958.

Jensen, reportedly signed for $50,000, had only a .130 batting average for the first dozen games of the campaign, hitting safely six times in 46 times at bat and with just one RBI. Going into this year he had a career average of .281 in the majors and hit .315 with 281 home runs in 1956.

He said this year the reflexes and coordination weren't there. Even catching a routine fly ball was an effort.

"That's right," he reiterated on his arrival here. "I've had it."

He then jumped into a car with his sobbing wife, Zoe Ann, and sought seclusion at a hotel.

A friend said Jensen and his wife planned to return to their Lake Tahoe home.

Earlier, Mrs. Jensen said she would try to persuade him to return to the Boston club, recalling he's recovered from batting slumps before.

Hawks in Last Days of Spring Practice

'Old-Timers' Start Practice Here Today

The "old-timers" — oldest from the 1947 team and the youngest from the squad of last fall — will rally at SUI Wednesday to prepare for the fourth annual spring football game with the Hawkeye varsity.

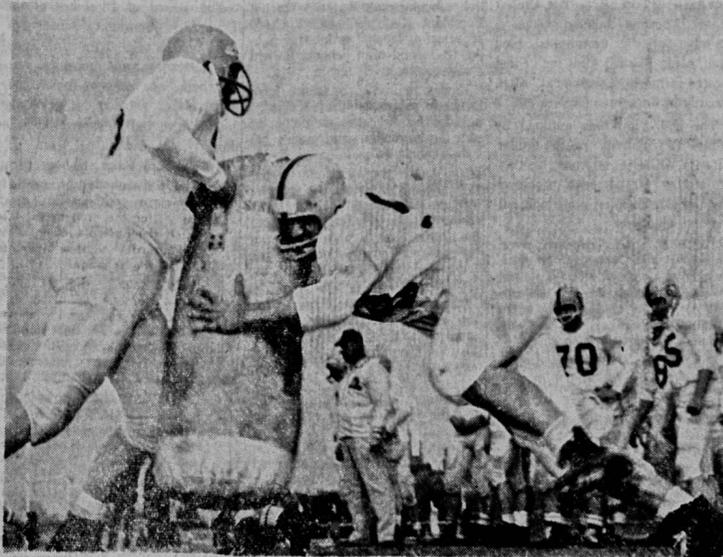

Their leaders will be varsity coaches Jerry Hilgenberg and Bill Hoppel, shifted for a few days from their regular duties to the task of lining up the "enemy" attack and defense. The game is Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

First practice is today at 3:30 p.m., and the last is Friday. This period should be just about right to enable the former stars to work some of the kinks out of their muscles and install new ones.

The alumni squad shows a wealth of guards (seven), but an alarming shortage of tackles and ends (three of each). Perhaps some of the guards will have to fill in as tackles unless Charlie Lee, Frank Rigney and John Sawin decide they can handle things against the young and eager varsity.

It's expected that the alumni will emphasize passing as the method of moving the ball from here to there with a minimum expenditure of energy. However, they would enjoy eluding the varsity defenders in Willie Fleming, Ray Jauch and Bill Gravel.

This is the squad:
 Ends: Don Norton, Curt Merz, Frank Gilliam.
 Tackles: Charles Lee, Frank Rigney, John Sawin.
 Guards: Hugh Drake, Mark Manders, Jerry Novack, Bill Ringer, Don Shipanik, Gary Groszinski, Bob Cummings.
 Centers: Bill Lapham, Lloyd Humphreys, Don Zinn.
 Quarterbacks: Randy Duncan, Olen Treadway, Tom Moore.
 Halfbacks: Bill Gravel, Don Tucker, Emien Tunnell, Willie Fleming, Mel Knotts, Orlando Pellegrino, Ray Jauch.
 Fullbacks: Don Horn, John Nocera, Eugene Mosley.

O-o-o-omph!

Crozier Sets Record In Derby Trial Stakes

By JOHN F. CHANDLER
 LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Fred W. Hooper's Crozier drew away from the favored Four-and-Twenty at the eighth pole and won the Derby Trial Stakes in track record time Tuesday.

Four-and-Twenty, owned by the Alberta Ranches of Canada, led until the final eighth of a mile when Crozier took the lead and spun under the wire in 1:34 3/5.

This compared with the 1:35 flat Churchill Downs record set by Hasty Road when he beat Determine in the 1954 Derby Trial. However, Determine came back in the derby and reversed the finish on Hasty Road.

Nine colts tried the derby roses on for size in the trial and they may have fit Crozier to perfection.

He has been an unpredictable horse all spring and in his last start at Keeneland was fourth as Four-and-Twenty won the Fore-runner Purse April 21.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Dr. Miller, who flew into Louisville Sunday, rushed past J. Graham Brown's He's A Pistol at the wire to get third place in the one-mile race. Braulio Baeza rode Crozier. Johnny Longden rode Four-and-Twenty, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby in March and 4 to 5 favorite Tuesday. Dr. Miller had Willie Shoemaker aboard.

Four-and-Twenty and Crozier were far ahead of the others when they turned for home at the head of the stretch with a quarter of a mile to travel. Four-and-Twenty held a two-length margin.

Suddenly Crozier began to move and Four-and-Twenty, under no great pressure from Longden, began to fall back.

We Know Our Top Players--Burns

By GEORGE KAMPLING
 The Iowa Hawkeyes donned pads here Tuesday entering the last few days of spring practice — 1961. The team went through group drills, and finished the period running offensive patterns.

Even though handicapped by wet weather and an injury list longer than usual for the spring session, Head Coach Jerry Burns feels the spring practice has accomplished its main purpose: that of judging new talent.

"We have had a good enough look at the sophomores-to-be so that we can sense their ability, and we now know who our top football players are," said Burns. "We will work them into our plans for the California opener when practice starts next fall," he added.

Burns reported that "Gus" Kasapis of Detroit, Mich., has gained a slight edge over John Sunseri of Dubuque for the starting left tackle position. Sunseri was out of action for several days with a knee injury.

Another Dubuque player, Mike Reilly and Cloyd Webb of East St. Louis, Ill., stand out among the sophs along with Lonnie Rogers of North English and Paul Krause of Flint, Mich.

Reilly is a guard, Webb an end, while Krause and Rogers are both halfbacks.

Much attention has been given to the passing attack. In last Saturday's scrimmage, passers Wilburn Hollis and John Calhoun threw well while on the receiving end, Webb, Bill Whisler, Bill Perkins and Sammie Harris all did a creditable job of receiving.

Several men injured earlier in practice will probably see action in the fourth annual Alumni-Varsity game Saturday.

Royals May Seek Legal Action Against Farmer

CINCINNATI (AP) — J. Thomas Grace, executive vice president of the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association, said Tuesday he expects to confer by telephone with an NBA attorney shortly about the possibility of filing legal action against Mike Farmer.

Farmer, a player with the Royals during the past season, has said he intends to sign a contract with San Francisco.

National League Leads in Homers

NEW YORK (AP) — Although it has eight teams and the American League has ten, the National League out-homered its rival circuit in the first three weeks of the 1961 season.

Through Monday's game, National League batters had hammered 117 home runs compared with 107 in the American.

The Los Angeles Dodgers lead both leagues with 27 homers followed by San Francisco with 21 and St. Louis, 17. The Minnesota Twins pace the American League with 16 in as many games.

Unkind Words

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Chicago White Sox complaints brought quick action by Metropolitan Stadium officials Tuesday.

The Sox Monday griped that the Minnesota Twins' home park had a terrible background and was hard to play in.

The stadium maintenance crew got busy and painted green the concrete base of the stands behind the batter's box, down both foul lines and tinted the wire fence in the outfield.

"It's bush," growled second baseman Nellie Fox after the Sox 6-5 loss to the Twins Monday. "On a lot of balls you can't get the jump. It's even bad on ground balls."

Fox complained that the unpainted concrete strip at the bottom of the stands "is a terrible background."

Cookie Lavagetto, Twins manager, showed no surprise.

U.S. Says Cuba 'In Communist Bloc'

Red Tanks Roll in Havana

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Tuesday labeled Cuba a member of the Communist bloc and said Prime Minister Fidel Castro is more "Communist" than most Iron Curtain rulers.

The U.S. view was outlined by State Department press officer Lincoln White in comment on Castro's May Day speech proclaiming Cuba a Socialist state and ruling out elections.

Despite public concern over growing ties between Havana and Moscow, Peiping, the United States had refrained until now from calling the Castro regime a Communist camp.

But Tuesday, White said Cuba "has certainly become a member of the Communist bloc."

The U.S. spokesman gave these two examples in saying Castro has gone further down the Communist road since he came to power on Jan. 1, 1959, than most Red rulers:

1. Elections — the Soviet Union and most other Red regimes at least hold elections even though the voters don't get a choice of candidates.

Under Castro, the U.S. statement said, "the Cuban has but one choice, namely to say 'si.'" The mass meetings which Castro portrayed as his substitute for expressing the people's will, according to the U.S. statement, are "very much like Hitler's and Mussolini's mass gatherings."

2. The Socialist state — "socialism," the term Castro used, is the term used in Marxist jargon to describe a society on its way toward the ideal of a purely Communist classless state.

So far only the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia have gone so far as to call themselves socialist republics while other Communist bloc nations including Red China still term themselves people's republics, the U.S. statement said.

"It would therefore appear that Castro considers Cuba further along the Communist road than some other countries in the bloc," White said.

"The average Cuban is in trouble if he so much as shrugs his shoulders. And the tragic part of this is he is in real trouble, to be thrown in jail or even put to death, if he says no," he added.

The U.S. spokesman did not rule out one further choice for Cubans — to try to overthrow Castro. The Kennedy administration has made plain since the abortive invasion of Cuba two weeks ago that it still hopes for moves to topple the Havana government.

Education Aid Bill Nears Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — An 8-1 vote of approval by the Senate Education subcommittee Tuesday started President Kennedy's $2,298,000,000 program of federal grants for public grade and high schools toward a showdown in Congress.

It was in about the same form Kennedy submitted the bill. As he urged, the measure contains no aid for parochial and other private schools.

The move to provide aid for private schools in separate legislation is apparently dead this year. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the Democratic Senate whip, said the party's congressional leaders have decided not to bring up any such bill at this session.

The subcommittee's vote sent the three-year public school aid measure to the full Labor and Public Welfare Committee, which is expected to approve it Thursday or early next week.

Democratic leaders aim at bringing the legislation up in the Senate next week.

Greater trouble for the program is expected in the House, where its Education Committee still is working on similar legislation.

The measure approved Tuesday would authorize federal grants to the states over three years to be used for school construction, teachers' salaries or both. The grants would total $666 million the first year, $766 million the second and $866 million the third.

School Board Accepts Bid From Kansas City Bank

The Board of Directors of the Iowa City Coaching Staff, participating in athletics in Iowa City schools, is a list of rules relating to smoking, liquor or beer, and hours.

The low bid accepted by the Board was submitted from the City National Bank, Kansas City, Mo. The interest cost submitted was $244,535.09 and the net effective interest rate 3.00479 per cent.

The Kansas City bank will furnish the $730,000 needed by the School District. This total plus the interest will be paid back over a period of 17 years.

In other action, the Board of Directors approved the "Code of Conduct and Standards" adopted by the Iowa City Coaching Staff. The code, concerning participating in athletics in Iowa City schools, is a list of rules relating to smoking, liquor or beer, and hours.

According to the code, if an athlete is caught smoking, he will be eliminated from the athletic program for a period of six months. Any evidence of an athlete's use of liquor or beer will lead to his elimination from the program for a period of one year.

The code also says that athletes must be home by 10:30 p.m. all nights except Friday and Saturday when the deadline is 12:30 a.m. Hours on nights before contests will be determined by the coach of the sport.

Defense Fights for Ex-Nazi Witnesses

JERUSALEM (AP) — The defense counsel for Adolf Eichmann fought Tuesday for the right to summon four ex-Nazis to testify that Eichmann was only an insignificant piece of Nazi Germany's organization for exterminating millions of Jews.

Dr. Robert Servatius' legal arguments — which appear likely to be rejected — came as almost a relief in another day of testimony about Nazi cruelties in Poland. Photographs taken in a Jewish ghetto under the Nazis and buried until after the war were introduced in evidence. One witness testified that a guard dog ripped flesh from a woman boarding a deportation train.

After Servatius named his prospective witnesses, Israeli prosecutor Gideon Hausner said every one of them would be arrested if they set foot in Israel. Servatius applied to the three-judge Israeli court for permission to summon these former Nazi figures:

Former SS storm trooper Maj. Gen. Franz A. Six, one-time department head in Hitler's Reich Security Office. Sentenced to 20 years in prison as a war criminal at the Nuernberg trials of 1946, he was later freed and now lives in West Germany.

Dr. Martin Merlen, former Nazi governor of Salonika, Greece, sentenced to 20 years in prison by a Greek war crimes court, later freed and now a West Berlin lawyer.

Former SS Maj. Hermann Krummy, an Eichmann deputy in Nazi-occupied Hungary, now a prisoner in West Germany awaiting outcome of an inquiry into his activities at the extermination camp of Auschwitz.

The court said it would hand down a formal decision today. The legal arguments between Hausner and Servatius broke the continuing train of testimony from witnesses who personally experienced Nazi atrocities.

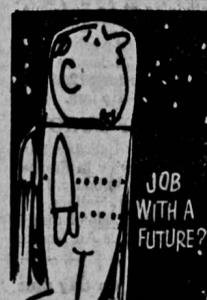

Pictures taken in the ghetto at Lodz, Poland, were produced in court by Henryk Ross, a professional photographer who worked for a while under the orders of the Nazis occupying the Lodz area.

Mainly, he said, his task was to make photographs for identity cards and to take pictures of Jews found dead in the streets. He said he hid the negatives in a barrel and buried the barrel. After the war, he was able to recover them.

Asked to identify recovered photos, he said they showed: "A child about to be deported. . . Children digging frozen potatoes from the ground. . . This is a woman found dead in her room. . . These are Jews about to be deported to Auschwitz."

A physician, Dr. Joseph Bushminsky, described the attack by a dog owned by one of the guards, on a woman trying to climb aboard a deportation train.

"It tore a piece of flesh from her body and brought it back to the guard," the physician said. He said the guard gave the animal a piece of sugar.

OLD GRADS NEVER DIE

In just a matter of weeks many of you will be graduating—especially seniors. You are of course eager to go out in the great world where opportunities are limitless and deans nonexistent. At the same time your hearts are heavy at the thought of losing touch with so many classmates you have come to love.

It is my pleasant task today to assure you that graduation need not mean losing touch with classmates; all you have to do is join the Alumni Association and every year you will receive a bright, newsy, chatty bulletin, check full of information about all your old buddies.

It was her second in four months.....

Oh, what a red-letter day it is at my house, the day the Alumni Bulletin arrives! I cancel all my engagements, take the phone off the hook, dismiss my chiropractor, put the ocelot outside, and settle down for an evening of pure pleasure with the Bulletin and (need I add?) a good supply of Marlboro Cigarettes.

Whenever I am having fun, a Marlboro makes the fun even more fun. That filter, that flavor, that pack or box never fails to heighten my pleasure whether I am watching the television or playing buck euchre or knitting an afghan or reading Mad or enjoying any other fun-filled pursuit you might name—except, of course, spearfishing. But then, how much spearfishing does one do in Clovis, New Mexico, where I live?

But I digress. Let us return to my Alumni Bulletin and let me quote for you the interesting tidings about all my old friends and classmates:

Well, fellow alumni, it certainly has been a wing-dinger of a year for all us old grads! Remember Mildred Cheddar and Harry Camembert, those crazy kids who always held hands in Econ II? Well, they're married now and living in Clovis, New Mexico, where Harry rents spearfishing equipment and Mildred has just given birth to a lovely 28-pound daughter, her second in four months. Nice going, Mildred and Harry!

Remember Jethro Brig, the man we voted most likely to succeed? Well, old Jethro is still gathering laurels! Last week he was voted "Motorman of the Year" by his fellow workers in the Duluth streetcar system. "I owe it all to my brakeman," said Jethro in a characteristically modest acceptance speech. Same old Jethro!

Probably the most glamorous time of all us big alumni was hunting by Francis Macomber last year. He went on a big game hunting safari all the way to Africa! We received many interesting post cards from Francis until he was, alas, accidentally shot and killed by his wife and white hunter. Tough luck, Francis!

Wilma "Deadeye" Macomber, widow of the late beloved Francis Macomber, was married yesterday to Fred "Sureshot" Quimby, white hunter, in a simple double-ring ceremony in Nairobi. Good luck, Wilma and Fred!

Well, alumni, that just about wraps it up for this year. Keep 'em flying!

Old grads, new grads, undergrads, all agree: The best new nonfilter cigarette in many a long year is the king-size Philip Morris Commander. Welcome aboard!

Unemployed Totals Drop During April

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Government reported Tuesday that unemployment dropped by 553,000 in April without denting the hard-core idle total. The number of jobless normally declines at this time of year.

The job picture, reflected in the Labor Department's monthly survey, showed the expected favorable effects of improving weather but lacked signs of basic economic improvement.

Seymour Wolfbein, the Department's manpower expert, said however that even if the nation is in the middle of a sizable economic upturn, it would take some time to begin eating into the unemployment backlog.

The April report showed that unemployment fell from 5,495,000 in March to 4,962,000, a drop of 533,000. This is slightly more than seasonally expected but 1.3 million higher than in April last year.

Employment increased from 65,516,000 in March to 65,734,000, up 218,000. This is 425,000 fewer than the total holding jobs a year earlier.

The drop in unemployment exceeded the employment increase because the work force dwindled by 315,000 in April.

The long-term unemployed — those workers idled for 15 weeks or longer — increased by 266,000 to 2,128,000 — highest such total since shortly after the depression of the 1930s. Those idled more than half a year increased by 124,000 to 923,000.

Ousted Veep Defends G.E. Board Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — William S. Ginn, ousted vice president of General Electric, testified Tuesday that board chairman Ralph J. Cordiner took no part in the illegal price fixing that put Ginn in jail.

In fact, Ginn said, he stopped price fixing after Cordiner laid down the law to him.

Instead, Ginn put most of the responsibility on Henry V. Erben, once executive vice president of General Electric.

U. of Missouri Volume To Honor SUI's Baird

A volume of thoughtful studies of great American speakers — honoring A. Craig Baird, professor emeritus of speech and dramatic art — will be published by the University of Missouri Press Thursday.

A reception and dinner at Columbia, Mo., that day will also honor Dr. Baird, presently a visiting professor of speech at the University of Missouri. A volume of letters from his former students will be presented to Baird at the dinner.

The volume concerning American speakers is entitled "American Public Address: Studies in Honor of Albert Craig Baird." Among those included in the studies are Oliver Wendell Holmes, Clarence Darrow, Robert LaFollette, Theodore Roosevelt, William Jennings Bryan, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Ralph Bunche and Edward R. Murrow. Studies of Harry Emerson Fosdick, Ralph Sockman, Albert Cummins, Albert J. Beveridge, William E. Borah, Thomas E. Dewey and Eugene Debs are also included in the volume.

The collection is the work of 18 authors — all former students of Dr. Baird.

A brief biographical sketch of Baird is contained in the volume, which includes excerpts from his writings to illustrate his philosophy of speech education.

The authors are Dorothy Anderson, professor of speech, University of Colorado, Boulder; Horace Raskopf, chairman of the Department of Speech, University of Washington, Seattle; Roy McCall, president, College of the Desert, Palm Springs, Calif.; Fred J. Barton, dean of the Graduate School, Abilene Christian College, Abilene, Tex.; Elbert W. Harrington, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, University of South Dakota, Vermillion; Gordon Hostettler, chairman of the Department of Speech and Dramatic Arts, Temple University, Philadelphia.

Other authors include Carl A. Dallinger, associate professor of speech, SUI; Margaret Wood, professor of speech, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb; Halbert Gulley, professor of speech, University of Illinois, Urbana; Waldo Braden, chairman of the Department of Speech, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge; Laura Crowell, professor of speech, University of Washington, Seattle; L. LeRoy Cowperthwaite, head of the School of Speech, Kent State University, Kent, Ohio.

Others are Earnest Brandenburg, dean of the University College, Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.; Robert F. Ray, director of the Institute of Public Affairs and dean of the Division of Special Services, SUI; Herold T. Ross, head of the Department of Speech, DePaul University, Greencastle, Ind.; Gregg Phifer, professor of speech, Florida State University, Tallahassee; Ota Thomas Reynolds, chairman of the Department of Speech, Hunter College, New York City; and Lester Thonsson, professor of speech, College of the City of New York.

The reception and dinner honoring Dr. Baird will be sponsored by the Department of Speech and the University Press at the University of Missouri.

SUI faculty members who will attend the ceremonies are H. Clay Harshbarger, professor and head of the SUI Department of Speech and Dramatic Art; Professors Philip A. Benson, Donald C. Bryant, Carl A. Dallinger, and David G. Schaaf, assistant professor, all from the same department; and Dean Ray.

Publication of the volume honoring Baird was financed in part by contributions from students and colleagues of Dr. Baird made through the Old Gold Development Fund.

The fund was organized in 1956 by alumni of SUI as a channel for voluntary contributions with which they might extend the amount and scope of alumni support for the University.

NURSES OPEN HOUSE
Freshmen and sophomore nursing students and their mothers will be special guests at the Westlawn Nurses Residence open house Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. The open house is sponsored by the Westlawn Association.

Bezanson's Works Played at Grinnell

Philip Bezanson, associate professor of music, was one of three composers whose works were featured in a program of contemporary music at Grinnell College Sunday evening.

The program was a part of the 1961 Festival of Contemporary Arts at Grinnell, and was presented by the Collegium Musicum, the College Orchestra and the College Choir.

Bezanson's compositions, music for poems by William Blake, included "The Piper," "The Echoing Green," "The Lamb," "Laughing Song," "Nurse's Song" and "Night."

Soloist was Nya Yannatos, a student of David Lloyd, associate professor of music at SUI.

The Grinnell College Orchestra was conducted by James Yannatos, who is to receive a Ph.D. degree in composition from SUI in June and will be a member of the Grinnell faculty next fall.

Prof To Direct Hospital Group—

Hartman Will Be Inducted

Gerhard Hartman, professor and director of the graduate program in hospital administration, will be inducted Friday as president of the Association of University Programs in Hospital Administration at the group's annual meeting at Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Army Brooke Medical Service School and the Baylor University Graduate School. It will open today and close Friday.

Next year's annual meeting will be held in Iowa City in May. Traditionally, the annual meeting is held at the university of the associations' current president.

Prof. Hartman received a Ph.D. degree in 1942 from the University of Chicago, becoming the first to receive such a degree in hospital administration. He became superintendent of University Hospitals at SUI in 1946, and soon after organized the graduate program in hospital administration. Before coming to SUI, he was director of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Newton Lower Falls, Mass.

The Association of University Programs in Hospital Administration, established in 1948, is made up of members from institutions of higher learning that offer graduate education in hospital administration. The University of Chicago started the first hospital administration program in 1934.

Also attending the meeting from SUI will be Samuel Levey, assistant professor of hospital administration.

Retirement programs and the marital deduction in estate planning will be discussed by Iowa lawyers during the seventh Spring Tax Institute Friday and Saturday at SUI.

The institute, sponsored by the Iowa State Bar Association and the SUI College of Law, will be held in the River Room of the Iowa Memorial Union Friday and in Shambaugh Auditorium Saturday.

SUI's tax problems give lawyers information for advising clients on tax and for handling tax disputes.

Lawyers Will Attend Spring Tax Institute

Chemistry Prof Speaks as Visitor

R. T. Sanderson, professor of chemistry, is a speaker this week in the Visiting Scientists Program of the American Chemical Society's division of chemical education.
