Approximately 100 children and many adults sat enthralled Thursday morning watching the greatest free show on earth, the Paul A. Miller Wild Animal Circus. Appearing on the lawn just west of the University Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children, complete with a musical combo, the show featured several wild animals including Suzie Q, the elephant, above, and Delesia Richards, her pretty trainer. Scheduled as a treat for the handicapped students, the circus music and barker attracted many spectators.

Van Allen Slams Myths on Science

By TERRY TRIPP
Staff Writer

The creative aspect of science, according to James A. Van Allen, "is covered by a nearly impenetrable layer of partial-truths, or intellectual smog, which not only obscures the matter at hand, but also irritates the eyes of those who attempt to peer through it."

Van Allen, head of the Department of Physics and Astronomy at SUI, spoke on "Science as a Creative Art" Thursday afternoon in North Music Hall.

Speaking from the point of view of a teacher of physics, researcher and practitioner, Van Allen identified and disposed of "some of the ingredients of the smog which overhangs science."

Van Allen deplored the assertion that "science and physics in particular, is all worked out" as an impression produced by "much of our elementary teaching." He said this view of any subject progressively diminishes.

Van Allen rejected the idea that "science is exact." Citing a personal experience, in connection with a survey paper written in 1950 summarizing the intensities of energetic charged particles near the earth, Van Allen said he later found he was in error.

In 1953, by means of rocket flights in the Arctic, his summary was found to be in error by a factor of about ten million.

"Then with our first satellite experiments in 1958, we found that my extrapolation to greater altitudes was also in error — but this time by a factor of over ten billion. This is a vivid example of why we refer to physics as an exact science!"

The belief that "one must be a genius to be a scientist" Van Allen said was two per cent true. This figure includes Newton, Galileo, Fermi, Einstein and other well-known names in science, he said.

"Those of us in the other 98 per cent have no apologies, and have a good time anyway. Despite my great admiration for persons just named, I do feel that adoration is not only unwise but is downright destructive in the development of your scientists."

Van Allen further denounced the notion that "science is objective. It is cut and dried. There is no room for opinion."

He said the assumption that "scientists are gentle, devoted characters eling out an existence in an attempt to improve the welfare of the unenlightened masses," is steadily losing ground.

His rebuttal to the antithesis, that "scientists are sinister monsters plotting the efficient annihilation of the earth and of the human race," came in the form of an example:

"If you punch a man in the nose, making full use of Newton's Law of Motion to produce the maximum effect, do not, for heaven's sake, blame Sir Isaac for the consequences!"

Van Allen said the essence of science is the investigative spirit. "Science contains a fine mixture of firm observational knowledge, speculation, and esthetic appeal. This science is a thoroughly human enterprise."

The basic intellectual dilemma of the creative scientist, Van Allen said, is the "vast body of existing knowledge in science," in which one must have "some measure of mastery in order to do any significant work."

Atkinson Doubts Power Of New York Critics

By ANNE STEARNS
Staff Writer

Can drama critics in New York City make or break a Broadway show?

"I know they cannot!" replied Atkinson, former New York Times drama critic who visited SUI this week. Now retired from his critical duties, Atkinson writes a column, "Critique at Large," appearing in the Times.

"That's shown by what happens to Broadway plays," he said. Many times plays that a reviewer criticizes go on to be successes, he explained.

Atkinson has been in Iowa City since late Tuesday night. He attended Wednesday's events in Creative Arts Week, including a luncheon at the Iowa Memorial Union at noon and various Writers' Workshop functions.

"I thought 'Bye, Bye, Birdie' was sophomoric and vulgar, for instance," he said. The play, which stars Gretchen Wyler and Gene Rayburn now, won the "Tony Award" in 1960-61 as the best musical of the year.

Atkinson described the last two or three years of Broadway productions as "desolate." He blamed lack of talent in playwrighting as the largest factor causing this situation.

"Part of the reason is the economic situation of the playwright; in part it is the mood of the country at this time; and in part, competition from TV and other entertainment forms which are taking away good writers," he explained.

Atkinson was asked by what criteria he judges plays by reviews. "I go to a play as anyone goes — hoping to have a good time," he said. "That's the main standard of success."

Atkinson was invited to attend SUI's special week by Paul Engle, director of the Writers' Workshop. "It sounded interesting, and I thought it would be good material for my column," he said.

Thursday afternoon, Atkinson and Vance Bourjaily, SUI author, went birdwatching, the critic related. "Vance showed me a spongy-billed duck, which I had never seen before," he said.

After viewing the Writers' Workshop, Atkinson said that he thought that any situation where people sit and write is helpful in developing better writers.

"That's the only way to learn," Atkinson said. "And when the writer can work with other people, so much the better. That way, there's a community where writers can talk and think."

Atkinson left SUI this morning, going to Cedar Rapids to catch a 6:15 plane. He said he goes to Huntsville, Ala., home of the ballistic missile agency and Redstone Arsenal.

"I'm going to find out what's wrong with them," he said. "I'll say, 'Boys, what went wrong?'"

Shakespeare Play To Begin May 18

Goethe, the German poet, remarked about Shakespeare: "But would you know his unfettered spirit, read 'Troilus and Cressida.'"

SUI audiences will have a chance to recapture the spirit of the Bard in seven performances of this play May 18-20 and 24-27.

Ticket distribution began Thursday at the Theatre Ticket Reservation Desk in the East Lobby of the Iowa Memorial Union, where students may reserve tickets with I.D. cards. General admission is $1.25.

Senate Group Approves Bill On School Aid

$252 Million Added To Kennedy Proposal; Expect Floor Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee approved a $2.55-billion school aid bill Thursday and pointed it toward a floor battle starting next Tuesday.

The committee added $252 million to President Kennedy's recommendations but did not change the purposes for which the money could be used. The funds would be available for public school construction or teacher salaries, or both, during the next three years.

Sponsors did not claim White House approval of the higher spending figure, but they indicated confidence that Kennedy would accept it.

All 10 committee Democrats and two Republicans voted for the measure, which includes a newly adopted formula for allotting money among the states. Opposing them in the 12-2 lineup were Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.).

Dirksen told reporters he was against the original bill and was even more opposed "now that it has been increased more than $200 million."

The measure was discussed at a conference of Senate and House GOP leaders and Dirksen said Republicans will try to trim it down with amendments on the Senate floor.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the House Republican leader, said there will not be "any tremendous Republican support" for the bill, but its Democratic sponsors seemed confident they have the votes for passage.

Debate starts Tuesday in the Senate. A House Education subcommittee approved a $3.3-billion, three-year program last Tuesday, but action in that chamber is not scheduled until later.

The two Senate committee Republicans who voted with the Democrats were Sens. Jacob K. Javits of New York and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey.

Javits said he was not satisfied with the distribution formula, however, and would make a floor fight to substitute a plan he worked out with Sen. John Sherman Cooper, (R-Ky.).

Regents Hear SUI Plan For Russian Department

AMES (AP) — Creation of a new Russian language department at SUI was proposed to the State Board of Regents Thursday.

The University now teaches Russian but has no separate department for that language. The regents took no immediate action on the SUI request but will meet again today.

Max Oppenheimer, Jr., 43, former Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) officer, has been proposed for appointment as chairman of the department.

Johnson Pledges U.S. Backing to Viet Nam

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson told the South Viet Nam National Assembly Friday the United States is ready immediately to help increase Viet Nam's 150,000-man regular military forces by a substantial number.

In a speech prepared for the assembly after talks with President Ngo Dinh Diem, Johnson said the United States will also assist in equipping and training the 50,000 civil guards, and work to improve the village militia, which is known as the self-corps.

"I informed your president that the United States stands ready to assist in meeting the grave situation that confronts you," Johnson said.

"I've gone into details with your president," he added.

"There are many things the United States is willing to do."

Among others, he added, were steps to improve Viet Nam's capacity to resist subversion and terrorism of Communist guerrillas.

A crowd of 10,000 Vietnamese jammed the road to the airport where Johnson and his party arrived at dusk.

The tall Texan, radiating charm and friendliness, stopped the motorcycle five times to hop out and shake hands with crowds displaying cardboard American flags.

The vice president has a two-hour conference today with President Ngo Dinh Diem at his palace on ways of bolstering South Viet Nam against Communist guerrillas.

The vice president brought a cheering promise that President Kennedy is determined to give Diem powerful support in his fight against the guerrillas.

All of Saigon's 2,000 police and substantial army, marine and paratrooper units were out in force. They gave President Kennedy's special envoy military honors and tight security protection on his arrival for an important round of talks with Diem on

Special Play Performance

A special performance of "Hecuba" and "Cyclops" will be given Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Studio Theatre. The two, short, contrasting plays were written by the Greek dramatist Euripides.

Peter Arnott, assistant professor of classics and dramatic arts, said the extra performance will be given because all tickets for the three scheduled performances have been distributed. Reserved seat tickets are available to students upon presentation of ID cards at the East Lobby Reservation Desk of the Union.

"Cyclops" has been described by modern critics as a "gay and fantastic piece."

In contrast with this light theme, "Hecuba" is a tragedy, showing the transformation of its title character from a stately queen to a mad woman.

Senate OKs Red Satellite 'Aid' Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted, 43-36, Thursday to grant President Kennedy wide authority to aid Eastern European Red satellites whenever he thinks it would help wean them away from Moscow.

It did so over vehement protests of a minority who argued that any aid intended for the people would tighten the dictatorial Soviet grip rather than loosen it, the opponents said.

Sen. Storm Thurmond (D-S. C.) called it an example of "the naive-ty of the self-styled humanitarians — whom I prefer to call misguided radicals." He said when the United States sent wheat to Poland a few years ago all it did was "alleviate the economic strain" on the Kremlin.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) Senate minority whip, charged the aid proposed for Poland would make it possible for that Red Government to advance further credit to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Communist regime in Cuba, to which it already has granted $13 million.

Seven Republicans joined 36 Democrats in supporting the measure while 18 Democrats and 18 Republicans opposed it.

The legislation, which now goes to an uncertain fate in the House, would amend the Battle Act. That act places tight curbs on any assistance to a country which ships strategic materials to the Soviet Union and Moscow-dominated countries, including Red China.

Kennedy asked for this new economic tool of foreign policy on the theory that opportunities may develop where financial and economic, but not military assistance, might strengthen captive peoples in their efforts to gain further freedom.

Floods Chase Midwesterners From Homes

Illinois Governor Asks Disaster Declaration For Half of State

By The Associated Press

Vast floods rolled down Midwestern valleys Thursday, routing more lowland dwellers in Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Indiana and Kansas.

Illinois' governor asked that 53 counties — more than half the counties in his state — be designated as a major disaster area by the Office of Civil Defense and Mobilization.

The Small Business Administration Thursday designated nine Southern Illinois counties and adjacent localities as disaster areas making residents and businessmen eligible for loans to make repairs.

The southern half of Illinois held most of the backwaters in the six-state flood region where some 8,000 persons were affected.

American Red Cross workers, National Guardsmen, local officials and volunteers were busy feeding and sheltering the homeless, while new evacuations were planned as flood crests inched downstream. Thousands of workers toiled to strengthen dikes protecting cities.

Rising water in the lower Ohio River and the middle Mississippi served as liquid dams, preventing the drainage of such flooding tributaries as the White River in Indiana; the Wabash, which runs along the Illinois-Indiana border, and several lesser central and Southern Illinois streams.

Along the Ohio River, there was overflow from Cincinnati to Cairo, Ill., at the juncture of the Ohio and the Mississippi.

Refuses To Attend Laos Peace Talks

GENEVA (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk stood firmly early today on demands for proof of a solid cease-fire before he sits down to the 14-nation conference on Laos.

It seemed unlikely that such evidence would be on hand by the deadline, 10 a.m. Iowa time — the hour at which the confusion-clouded conference was scheduled to open.

The American delegation believed it might be waiting in Geneva well into next week before the delegates sit down around the conference table.

As hours ticked by without certification of such a cease-fire from the Indian-Canadian-Polish control commission, it seemed unlikely that the conference would get under way on schedule.

The top commission members returned to Vientiane, the capital of the royal Laotian Government, from a visit to the rebel headquarters apparently without having secured a detailed agreement.

But the Chinese Communists were busy spreading the word that fighting had indeed stopped. Peiping radio said, "Fighting has stopped on the Laotian fronts," and, "People of the world over are eagerly expecting a peaceful solution."

Informed sources in London also said earlier they understood organized fighting in the Southeast Asian kingdom has in fact sputtered to a stop. But they added some sporadic clashes "still have to be regularized."

Secretary of State Rusk's statement that he would not participate in the conference unless there is notice of a real cease-fire, only confirmed what American spokesmen have been saying all along.

But it caused a change of the atmosphere here where it was widely assumed through the day that the conference would get under way on time today.

Rusk informed British Foreign Secretary Lord Home of his position. Lord Home undoubtedly passed the word along at dinner later to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

American sources said Rusk believes discussions on establishing a neutral Laos could not be successful under the threat of more fighting.

In the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina the Western powers found themselves committed to negotiate while Communist led troops won a resounding victory over the French at Dien Bien Phu.

Tell New Tales of Red Activity—

2 Cuban Diplomats Defect

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A Cuban Embassy official and his wife, both career diplomats, defected Thursday and asked Mexico for asylum.

They denounced Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime, saying his attacks on the Roman Catholic Church were the last straw, and they reported hitherto undisclosed details of Communist actions in Latin America.

Antonio R. Montane, a second secretary and the embassy's fourth-ranking official, and his wife, Consul General Gilda Portela, labeled the remaining dozen or so embassy staff members as Communists.

The defections were believed to be the first major ones since the anti-Castro invasion of Cuba and the first for religious reasons. Both Montane and his wife are Catholics.

They pictured to a news conference a Cuban Embassy hand in hand with the Soviet Union and utilized as a beehive of Communist activity.

They resented, they said, "being used as Communist agents and the breaking point was Fidel Castro's crackdown on religion."

Mrs. Portela handled all passports, visas and civil problems. The embassy staff in Mexico City, they told newsmen, had been tripled since Castro took over.

They brought out these points in answers to questions: The embassy was a distribution point for Communist propaganda for most of Latin America. It has its own printing plant to produce pamphlets and booklets.

The Cuban ambassador in Mexico, Jose Antonio Portuando, "de-

Cultural Gold Mine

The chance to speak with people who have achieved a certain standard of success in their fields is always a stimulating opportunity for a college student.

Walking into a music class, one might find Darius Milhaud instead of the usual instructor, and the famous French composer was also present at various presentations of his music.

Somewhat of the SUI students had met Milhaud before, as he has taught at the Aspen Music Festival in Colorado.

Also repeated was David Lloyd's brilliant rendition of "Words of Love," the Bezonson-Engle song cycle, heard first at SUI in March.

W. R. Snodgrass, returning to campus with such symbols of success as his Pulitzer Prize and a published volume of poetry, "Heart's Needle," boosted Writers' Workshop morale.

Two New York City artists, who refused any other classification than "artist" (great for individuality but bad for headline writers) provided a pleasant interlude Wednesday morning as they discussed an amorphous topic, "The Visual Arts in Transition," in a concrete way.

A pleasant surprise for a journalist during the Wednesday morning presentation was photographer Alfred Eisenstaedt of Life Magazine, who commandeered ladders, tree branches and people (notable or students) and arranged them for his pictures.

Crossing the bridge after the art discussion, we ran into Brooks Atkinson, former drama critic of the New York Times and terror of the New York stage from his fifth-floor center seat.

"Eisie" covered Creative Arts Week in depth, to put it mildly. Not only did he hit the announced events — lightly — but also the little side affairs which accompany visits to SUI of famous people.

Also in the reporting line, the journalist covering the week's events for Life Magazine, thrilled one SUI fledgling newshound when she asked her name and then said, "Oh, Eisie, this is the girl with the by-lines!"

And mixed with the frantic but rewarding week's productions was the announcement of former SUI orchestra conductor James Dixon's appointment as assistant director of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra — at the tender age of 32.

So from the DI staff, a hearty "congratulations" to the Music Department, the Dramatic Arts Department, the Art Department and the Writers' Workshop for their successful Creative Arts Week, and our hope that it will continue to be a stimulating part of campus life next year.

Legal Rights For Delta Chi

To the Editor: Does Delta Chi not enjoy certain legal rights? Does not any social fraternity enjoy certain legal rights? Social fraternities are private organizations. They are supported by the dues of the present members.

When Student Council last year passed its discrimination resolution, it was not able to levy a sanction on the ruling Inter-Fraternity Council is responsible for regulations governing fraternity life. The University must work through IFC (or through IFC waiting for the individual student as a part of the university).

The type of letter printed in the Daily Iowan, the type of editorial, and the quality of the articles concerning this matter has been sensationalist material. All of it has been based on a purely emotional appeal against the "passion of race hatred" (courtesy of the Reverend Thurston Davis, S. J.). There has been no so-called rationale behind it.

The key phrase has been "moral responsibility." One man's moral responsibility is not necessarily that of another man's. Man has a moral responsibility only to himself.

A social fraternity enjoys a legal right to pick and choose on any basis it desires. How it determines the "social acceptability" of an individual is its own concern. People are equal only in essence and the sight of God. On the basis of personal achievements, people are inherently unequal.

It is up to the fraternity to decide whom it considers to be deserving of membership. Saying that "all men are created equal" requires fraternities not to practice discrimination is incorrect. This approximately is the same as ordering a fraternity to pledge every man who rushes the house.

Anyone who does not approve of the standards a fraternity sets up for membership qualifications has no right to do: boycott the organization personally. Making an example of Andy Hankins is not the way. In fact, if there is such a thing as a moral responsibility among human beings, Mr. Hankins is being wronged by the resultant publicity that is being heaped upon him.

When Delta Chi pledged Andy Hankins, it consulted Dr. Brown, Dean of Men; Dean Huit; and Mr. Prusok, who all advised the fraternity objectively by discussing both the pro's and con's of the issue. Mr. Hankin's pledge was NOT passed by unanimous vote. The decision to pledge was made by the house itself. The decision to de-pledge followed a "vote of confidence," not a vote to activate.

Mr. Hankins had not yet completed the stipulated pledge period. Obviously the chapter did not weigh the consequences seriously, because somewhere along the line, a member or two changed his mind. The alumni apparently had been bombarding the chapter with letters. However, their withdrawal of contributions could not break the house financially. Individual members, by secret ballot, deplored Andy Hankins.

To "muzzle" Mr. Prusok is to take away his freedom of speech. Furthermore, Mr. Prusok spoke the truth. Depledging happens frequently, both for scholastic and personal reasons. It is unfortunate that Delta Chi did not think a little longer about what it did, mainly for Andy Hankin's own sake. However, depledging Andy Hankins was up to Delta Chi, locally; it was not up to Bob Gold, or Alfred Lee, or Doug Stone, or Mr. Prusok, or Ruth Wright. Nobody asked me either. It was Delta Chi's own decision, and rightfully so, to pledge and depledge Andy Hankins.

I want to add one further point. I am not a H. F. Byrd type conservative. I am not a prejudiced person. I judge people on their own merits. Andy Hankins, scholastically and personally, is a fine young man. And I think he has been dealt a low blow.

However, I retain the right to pick and choose my associates. I assume Delta Chi is doing the same. It is nobody's business but the present active members of the local chapter of Delta Chi fraternity.

I criticize only those authors who present unfounded opinions in the form of destructive criticism. I criticize the fraternity because I believe it has gotten itself into a situation which could have been avoided, not because it has acted beyond the realm of its legal (and moral) rights.

Kennedy in Trouble With Civil Rights

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND WASHINGTON — The sweeping new civil rights bills, introduced in Congress by two leading Democrats, Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York and Sen. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, confront the Kennedy Administration with a delicate and perhaps, a devastating dilemma.

If President Kennedy fails to give this new civil rights legislation strong support at this session of Congress, he will be abandoning specific pledges of the campaign and party platform. He will also be pulling the rug from under the two members of Congress he appointed to act for him.

If the Kennedy Administration does not put its full weight behind the six new civil rights bills, then the President runs the risk that he will destroy the carefully contrived operation of the White House to win more and more southern Democratic support for the Kennedy program.

Thus it will take fantastically delicate maneuvering for the President to avert the most devastating consequences. Take the House vote on the minimum wage law, which in the end gave the President almost exactly what he asked. It was 230 to 196. Without the votes of 32 out of 99 southern Democrats, the President's bill would have lost.

This increasing southern support for the President's program has been carefully cultivated by the White House. The President knows full well that if the White House puts its prestige and power behind the Clark-Celler civil rights bills, the southern support would drop radically — almost certainly below the point absolutely needed for Administration success.

The reason is that the Clark-Celler bills add greatly to the powers of the Federal Government to enforce civil rights. They restore Title III giving the Attorney-General authority to intervene in all cases, re-create an F.E.P.C., and provide for a much faster integration of the public schools.

It would seem to me that the only freedom of maneuver open to Kennedy is timing. He would like to delay civil rights legislation until next year, while Attorney General Kennedy sees what headway he can make by rigorous endorsement of present laws. But that hardly sounds like the action promised in the campaign.

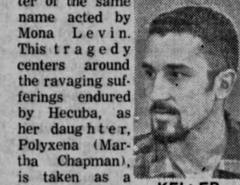

Good Listening — Today On WSUI

BACK TO NORMAL broadcasting is the rule of the day today at Broadcasting House. One or two Creative Arts Week remnants are to be disposed of, but, for the most part, the special events of the week are over: All of the broadcasts, however, were recorded, and there is reason to believe that occasions will arise when they may be rebroadcast.

THE NATIONAL PASTIME (let's face it, friends) has fallen upon evil times. In future, only two sources of supply may be counted upon for professional players: college campuses and Japan. We have no plans to broadcast the game today between Tokyo and Kyoto (actually, it was played 15 hours ago), but we are going ahead with Illinois-Iowa (today at 3:25 p.m.) and Purdue-Iowa (tomorrow at 1:25 p.m.). Who knows, you might hear about players who will become next year's stars; it might even be worth another of Grandma's funerals to be there.

Rhythm, Careful Balance — 'Hecuba,' 'Cyclops'

By WALTER R. KELLER Daily Iowan Reviewer But, there was a notable recovery in the later scenes. It would be rather pointless to consider small segments of this production for their representative clarity and impact.

KELLER

"Hecuba" opened and dominated the evening — both the play by Euripides and the lead character of the same name acted by Mona Levin. This tragedy centers around the ravaging sufferings endured by Hecuba, as her daughter, Polyxena (Martha Chapman), is taken as a sacrifice for the death of Achilles, and her (Hecuba's) eventual revenge on Polyxena, King of Thrace. Her revenge is also sparked by her knowledge of her son's (Polydorus) death.

Director Peter Arnott employed the classic masks of Greek drama, as well as the formal movement associated with this genre. The production was a masterfully wrought melange of the aural and visual. The chorus of slave women, for example, provided concern, supplication, and reflected the suffering. They sharply pinpointed the action with their eloquent physical and vocal commentary.

Their masks were superb synopses of the latter qualities. All the masks, in fact, were the finest examples of creative imagination incarnate. Bobbie Byers, as the ghost of Polydorus, opened the show with a subtly vibrating introduction, which was soon to grow to a powerfully intense pitch. Mona Levin entered soon after and created a polydimensional, passionate, full-blooded woman. Her performance was a sustained figure of complex emotions — a model of power and completeness.

Martha Kurkjian displayed good control and strength in a role calling for warm love for her mother and a defiant spirit in her attitude toward imminent death. Dave Esbeck (Talthybius) and Bruce Sweet (Polyxena) performed well. They displayed a good deal of energy and variety in key roles.

The only weak performance was that of Monty Plitner as Odysseus. His acting seemed better suited to heartside melodrama than Greek tragedy. His prancing (for this, movements seemed closer to that than anything else) was jolting in the company of the formalized movements of those around him.

There seemed to be a slight let-down after the nearly impeccable tautness of the first 20 minutes or so. The chorus's precision frayed a bit. The movement was slightly ragged at times, and members of duets and trios were discernible as individuals rather than as small units for a while.

Besides representatives of Kasavubu's central Government, there are provincial delegates from Equator and North and South Kasi. The Lumumbist regime of Antoine Gizenga in Oriental Province declined to participate.

The conference opened in this jungle village on April 24 but its deliberations were overshadowed by Tshombe's airport arrest two days later as he attempted to walk out.

Leading ministers estimated it would take from four days to two weeks for the plenary session to approve the proposed constitution.

Dinner To Feature Woman Legislator

"It's so nice to have a woman in the House," so Miss Percie Van Alstine, representative to the Iowa Legislature from Humboldt County, is expected to explain to the women attending the seventh annual Matrix Table Banquet.

Miss Van Alstine will be the guest speaker at the banquet which will be held Monday, May 15, in the River Room of the Iowa Memorial Union to honor outstanding women in the Iowa City community and on the SUI campus.

Because there was no opposition to the Democratic incumbent for the House of Representatives from Humboldt County, Miss Van Alstine ran for the office on the Republican ticket and won by six votes. She is the first single woman to be elected to the Iowa Legislature. There is a record four women in the Legislature this year.

Miss Van Alstine was graduated from SUI in 1928 with a B.A. in home economics. While at SUI she was affiliated with Pi Beta Phi social sorority and was a member of Seals, the synchronized swimming club.

Her club has a history of interest in politics. She is the daughter of the late State Senator H. S. Van Alstine; her brother, F. E. Van Alstine of Sioux City, is the federal district attorney from northern Iowa. Miss Van Alstine served as president of the Humboldt County Council of Republican Women, which increased her interest in state politics, and led to her running for the House.

Her life has been filled with a variety of jobs and experiences. She managed Dayton's University Tea Room on the University Campus at Minneapolis for three years. Later she did promotion work for Norge, Proctor & Gamble and a baby food company.

Traveling has been a hobby of Miss Van Alstine since she retired from business in 1948. As social secretary to a wealthy Rockford, Ill., woman, she has visited Japan, Singapore, South America, Africa and elsewhere.

One of Iowa's most serious concerns, according to Miss Van Alstine, is the challenge of keeping Iowa's young people in the state. She has two nephews and a niece who grew up in Iowa and then moved to far-off states. She feels that Iowans have a responsibility to make their state appeal to its youth. She named property taxes as one factor which is discouraging young people from remaining in Iowa.

Rather than moving to California, as seems to be the trend of Iowa's youth, they should, according to Miss Van Alstine, stay in Iowa and let some millionaires develop here.

Two Matrix Awards, gold matrices engraved with the name of the winner and the date, will be awarded to the outstanding Iowa City woman and the outstanding coed, as determined from applications submitted by civic and campus organizations. A matrix is a piece of metal used in casting type for print.

The banquet is sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi professional fraternity for women in journalism. Over 500 invitations were sent out for the dinner. Tickets are $2.85 and must be purchased from Theta Sigma Phi by noon Saturday, May 13.

Accountants Elect Ellis President

Jerry Ellis, G, Oskaloosa, has been elected president of Beta Alpha Psi, honorary accounting fraternity.

Other new officers include: Arlyn Miller, B3, Rock Valley, vice president; Larry Frederickson, B3, Estherville, secretary; Roland Emerson, B3, Toronto, treasurer.

Alpha Phi Mothers Attend Luncheon; Form New Club

Alpha Phi social sorority members entertained their mothers at a buffet luncheon at the Mayflower Saturday noon. Following the luncheon, the mothers met to form a chapter Mother's Club.

Officers of the Mother's Club are: Mrs. Buford Garner, Iowa City, president; Mrs. David Van de Roovaart, Cedar Rapids, vice president; Mrs. Cleo Brickey, Ottumwa, recording secretary; Mrs. William Crissman, Cedar Rapids, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Stevens, Iowa City, treasurer.

Iowa To Face Illinois Nine

Improved Hawks Could Gain 1st Division Berth

By JERRY ELSEA
Staff Writer

Iowa's improved baseball squad, 3-4 in the Big Ten, will be trying to crash the first division today when it meets fourth place Illinois, 4-3, on the home diamond at 3:30 p.m.

The Hawks will play a doubleheader against Purdue Saturday at 1:30 p.m. The Boiler-makers are 2-6 in the conference, sharing the cellar with Wisconsin and Michigan State.

Facing the Illini today will be Ron Reifert, 5-3 for the season and 2-1 in the conference. Reifert, who last Friday beat Wisconsin with a four-hitter, has posted a 2.42 earned run average for all games and has been the stingiest of all Hawkeye mound-men, allowing only four runs in 26 innings.

But the probable Illinois pitcher has an equally impressive record. Doug Mills, a right-hander with a 5-0 record and a 1.22 earned run average for 36 innings.

At the plate the Illini are batting .228, the same as Iowa. But Illinois has the edge in conference batting average with .221 compared to the Hawks' .194.

Paul Bonstead leads all Hawkeye hitters with .354 for the season and .375 in Big Ten play. Last Friday the blond first baseman hit a two-run homer against Wisconsin at Madison helping the Hawks to a 5-4 win.

Team captain Jack Leabo is second with .304 for all games. Leabo, an outfielder, bats left but has good power to all fields.

The Purdue squad which invades the Iowa diamond Saturday is better than its 2-6 record would indicate. The Boiler-makers have lost four games by one or two runs. Most of the defeats were caused by errors.

Probable pitchers for Iowa Saturday are Matt Szykowny and Howie Friend. Szykowny, a triple sport sophomore, has lost two conference games but is improving after a late start. Friend went all the way for the Hawks last Saturday in beating Northwestern 7-6 at Evanston.

Purdue's light hitting squad (.219) is led by Bernie Allen, who also quarterbacked the football team. Allen plays shortstop and is batting .348.

After this weekend's games Iowa has only four games remaining. They will face Coe at Cedar Rapids Monday in a game postponed from April 9 then return to tangle with league-leading Minnesota in a three game series May 19-20.

Hot Gophers Go for 4th Straight Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Minnesota's steamed-up Gophers, victorious in eight straight conference games, will try to sew up an unprecedented fourth successive Big Ten baseball title this weekend.

The NCAA-defending champion Gophers carry a pacesetter 8-1 mark into today's single game with Purdue (2-6) and a Saturday doubleheader with Illinois (4-3) in Minneapolis.

As the conference race moves into its semifinal weekend, Minnesota's closest pursuer is Michigan with a 5-1 mark. The Wolverines today play host to Wisconsin (2-6) in a single encounter and Saturday entertain Northwestern (4-3) in a twin bill.

Indiana, still in contention with a third-place ranking of 6-2, is home to Ohio State (2-4) for a solo game today and a Saturday doubleheader.

Other single games today include Illinois at Iowa (3-4); Wisconsin at Michigan; and Northwestern at Michigan State (2-6). The rest of Saturday's doubleheader card includes: Purdue at Iowa and Wisconsin at Michigan State.

The Big Ten's top batter with the season moving into its semifinal three-game round this week-end is Indiana's first baseman Max Bailey with a .533 mark.

Runner-up is Bill Freehan, Michigan catcher, with .500 while Minnesota's Dave Fritz is third with .483 followed by Evans and Indiana's Bill Elyea and Eddie Laduke with .478 each.

In the pitching department, Mike Joyce of second-place Michigan (5-1) is the conference leader with a 4-0 record.

Orioles Top Twins 8-7

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles turned clutch hitting and five Minnesota errors into an 8-7 victory Thursday.

The Orioles pushed over their winning margin in a three-hit, five run spurge against Camilo Pascual, Twins' starter, and Ted Sadowski, in the fifth inning.

Jim Gentile doubled in the big fifth, scoring Dick Williams, who singled; Jack Brandt, who doubled; and Brooks Robinson, who walked.

Sadowski, who relieved Pascual, yielded singles to Gus Triandos and Jerry Adair, Triandos scoring on a fielding error at second on Adair's steal.

Minnesota . . . . . 7
Barber, Wilhelm (6) and Triandos (5) pitched for the Orioles. Giel (7), Fiel (9), Moore (9) and Batty, W. Barber (4-2), L. Pascual (2-3). Home run — Minnesota, Mincher (4).

Bill Would Make Pro Ball Subject To Antitrust Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Bill which would declare professional football, baseball, hockey and basketball subject to antitrust laws but legalize many present practices was introduced Thursday by Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.).

Hart said the measure would not affect such long-established customs as player draft, assignment of contracts and territorial agreements which have been questioned as possible antitrust violations.

He said the bill is an effort to resolve inequalities which have arisen in application of the antitrust laws to professional team sports.

Presumably, the bill would operate to prevent mergers within a sport or common ownership that might reduce competition.

These three home run hitters led the Washington Senators past Detroit 9-4 Thursday in a game at Detroit. From left are Gene Woodling, Billy Klaus and Dale Long. Klaus hit a grand slam homer — second in his major league career. —AP Wirephoto

Senators Stomp Tigers 9-4; Billy Klaus Hits Grand Slam

DETROIT (AP) — Billy Klaus, a .095 hitter, smashed a grand slam home run that sparked the Washington Senators' biggest offensive show of the season Thursday in a 9-4 victory over the first-place Detroit Tigers.

Gene Woodling and Dale Long also hit homers for the Senators, who climbed out of last place by splitting a four-game series with the American League pacesetters.

The Tigers gave reliever Bill Fischer his first start of the season and the sinker ball specialist was in command for four innings. But the Senators loaded the bases on two singles and a walk with one out in the fifth.

Then Klaus smashed the second grand slam of his career. Fischer walked Danny O'Connell, and Woodling greeted Hank Aguirre with a two-run homer.

Long led off the sixth with his home run off Jim Donohue, who yielded another run in the seventh on Woodling's walk and Jim King's double.

O'Connell drove in Washington's final run in the eighth off Terry Fox.

MacDonald, Michigan Prep Coach, Named Hawk Aide

By PHIL CURRIE
Sports Editor

Andrew C. (Andy) MacDonald, a successful Flint, Mich., high school coach, Thursday was named backfield coach of the Iowa football team.

MacDonald, 31-year-old former Little All-American quarterback, fills the vacancy created when Jerry Burns moved up to the head coaching spot last winter.

MacDonald brings with him an outstanding record. He was named Michigan high school coach of the year in 1956 and 1960 when his Northern High teams won the state titles. In his six years as head coach, his teams compiled a record of 41 wins, 18 losses and 3 ties — a 67 per cent mark.

MacDonald, a 1953 graduate of Central Michigan College of Mt. Pleasant, Mich., entered the coaching field in 1952 as backfield coach at Flint's Northern High and became head coach there in 1954. He earned the master of arts degree at Eastern Michigan University in 1958.

MacDonald is a long-time acquaintance of Burns, who coached at St. Mary's of Detroit before coming to Iowa in 1954.

Burns told the Daily Iowan Thursday that while he hadn't worked with MacDonald before, he Jerry Hilgenberg (assistant coach), Burns said. In this post, the two coaches will watch the game from the press box and report to Burns on the field by telephone.

Burns said that MacDonald "hasn't used the Iowa offense at Northern, but he is very familiar with our patterns."

In recent weeks MacDonald reportedly has been doing contact work for the Hawkeyes with Michigan high school stars, several of which have announced plans to attend Iowa. Burns said Thursday that "I am certain MacDonald will be of help in our recruiting program in Michigan."

MacDonald's appointment is effective June 1. MacDonald and his wife, Delores, have three daughters. They are Lora Lee, 8; Patti Sue, 6; and Anne Drew, 18 months.

Moore Is Certain He'll Make Weight For Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Archie Moore assured boxing writers Thursday he would make the 175-pound limit for his light heavyweight title defense June 30 against Italy's Giulio Rinaldi.

Although the National Boxing Association stripped Moore of his title for nondefense and crowned Harold Johnson, Archie is paying no attention.

The fighter who calls himself "The MongOOSE" and who is 44 according to his count — 47 according to his mother — spoke over the telephone from Nogales, Mexico, where he is boxing an exhibition today.

A loudspeaker was hooked to the phone so that all could hear in the offices of the Garden's boxing branch.

Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring magazine, asked the first question. "Archie, you remember you had to get up at 5 o'clock and hit the road and still didn't make the weight until the seventh try for your fight with Yolande Pompey in London (1956). Do you expect to do the same thing again?"

"That's why I got up at 4 o'clock today," said Archie. "I'm doing it early. Anyhow, the scales were wrong over there. I weigh 184 right now. I'm on my special diet . . . raw vegetables and lean meat."

"How old are you?" a writer asked.

"I am a young man," was the answer.

"Rinaldi did he took it easy in the early rounds last time (Oct. 29). Do you think he did that in respect for your talent and age?" another asked.

"He respected my old gray fist," said Archie.

"If he gets the decision over me I'll be the first to congratulate him. If I knock him out I'll be the first to render aid."

Oklahoma State, Cyclones To Play Crucial 3 Games

By The Associated Press Oklahoma State, campaigning for an undefeated season, the Big Eight Conference championship, and a berth in the NCAA tournament, opens a three-game series with Iowa State in Stillwater today.

The Cowboys enter the Iowa State series with a 13-0 league record and 17-0 for the season. If they sweep the three games, then they can clinch a tie for the title.

Missouri, three games behind OSU, plays third place Colorado today and Saturday. In other league games Oklahoma will be at Nebraska and Kansas and Kansas State are scheduled in Manhattan.

Netmen in 2 Conference Dual Meets

By PHIL CURRIE Sports Editor

Iowa's tennis team, revitalized after gaining its first victory of the season Tuesday, will head into dangerous territory again to face Indiana and Minnesota at Minneapolis in two dual meets today and Saturday.

The Hawkeye netmen, whose record is 1-11, will oppose Minnesota for the third time this year. In two other meetings, the Gophers whopped Iowa, 8-1 and 9-0.

Indiana's squad should provide equally tough opposition for the young Iowa squad. The Hoosiers boast a 10-3 season record and were beaten only by Michigan in six Big Ten engagements.

Last weekend Indiana lost 5-4 to Notre Dame, which defeated Iowa 9-0 earlier in the season, but topped Illinois, 8-1, and Wisconsin, 6-3.

Don Thorne, Gary Baxter, Stuart Cohen and Dick Martin, the top four Hoosier netmen, have 11-2 records. Denny Lortz and Bob Ewald, the No. 5 and 6 men, have 9-4 marks.

No. 1 man, Steve Wilkinson, whose singles record is 8-4, is Iowa's top performer.

Wilkinson starred in the Hawks' 5-4 win over Northeast Missouri Teachers College Tuesday when he won his singles match and combined with Mike Schrier to take the No. 1 doubles duel.

Howard Stars But—

Yank Almost Missed Game

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Elston Howard, batting star in the New York Yankees' 9-4 victory over Kansas City Wednesday night, almost didn't play because of his mother's illness and lack of sleep.

Howard was awakened by a telephone call at 3 a.m. Wednesday. It was his father, from St. Louis, who told him his mother was ill in a hospital.

Howard received permission from Manager Ralph Houk to go to St. Louis, only an hour's flight. Assured that his mother was not in danger, the catcher flew back and returned to the hotel at 3:30 p.m.

Two hours later he was at the ball park. The first time at bat, he singled. Next time he hit a long fly that advanced a runner from second to third. In the sixth inning, he slammed a run-scoring double and later threw out a Kansas City runner.

In the eighth, with the score tied at 4-4, and Yankee runners on first and second, Howard hit a single to put the Yankees in front.

Nagle Gets Hole-in-1; Leads Texas Classic

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — British Open champion Kel Nagle used a hole-in-one to shoot a record-tying 5-under-par 65 Thursday and take the first round lead in the $40,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

The 40-year-old Australian bagged the ace on the 13th hole — first in the tournament's 15 years — with a 195-yard two-iron blast.

It helped the big fellow, who has played poorly in five previous tournaments this year, and won only $1,164.17, to pass perpetual favorite Arnold Palmer and national amateur king Dean Beman, who had come in early with 68.

Nagle's great round tied the tournament record set in 1946 by Ben Hogan and equaled three times the ensuing 14 years. The competitive record over the 7,041-yard Colonial Country Club course is 64, set Wednesday by Doug Ford in a pro-amateur.

Hogan also had a 68 Thursday and tied Palmer and Beman for second place. The golf great from Fort Wayne was playing in his 14th Colonial tournament. He has won five.

Seven players in the field of 57 bettered par. Doug Sanders, Bill Casper and Mike Souchak each registered a 69 to tie for fifth place. Bob Goalby had a 70.

Gary Player, the year's leading money winner, had a 74 to tie for 29th place.

Nagle is playing in his second Colonial tournament. Last year he tied for second place and won $2,500 in his initial appearance, shooting 281 for 72 holes.

There were no bogeys on Nagle's card as he moved around the long course in 33:32. He started by birdying the first two holes, with a 4-foot putt on 1 and a 20-footer on 2. He parred the remainder of the first nine and shot pars on the next three holes before banging the ace on 13.

His putting was terrific — he used only 25 in going around the course.

Nagle was delighted to get the hole in one. It was the fourth in his golfing career.

RON HANSEN From Short to Second ards. He hasn't made up his mind how long it will last.

Richards had Hansen and second baseman Jerry Adair swap positions in the fourth inning of Wednesday's game with the Minnesota Twins.

"Hansen is having a tough time getting in shape," explained Richards. "He's having trouble with his throws and it's an easy throw to first when you're playing second base."

Hansen, who never played second base before, participated in three double plays.

Fowlkes Still Fast — Man, 33, Does 100 in 9.6

By VERNON BUTLER Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA — If you don't think Douglas L. (Buddy) Fowlkes is an unusual fellow, suppose you start listing all the people you know who are 33 years old and can run 100 yards in 9.6 seconds.

Buddy Fowlkes, 33, father of three young sprinters, full-time paint contractor and youth worker, did it last week in the Florida AAU meet when he took six young members of his Atlanta Striders team to Gainesville and beat the University of Florida and Florida freshmen track teams. His 9.6 performance in the 100 tied a meet record.

Next week the former Georgia Tech dash man, hurdler and broad jumper will attempt to match his amazing 9.5 performance of a year ago in the Georgia AAU meet.

Fowlkes won the Southeastern Conference 100-yard dash 14 years ago. In a four-year college career he amassed 50 points in SEC meets, an all-time conference record.

The remarkable Fowlkes never stopped running after leaving Tech.

"I don't dare stop," he explained. "Not if I want to keep running meets. At my age especially, you have to keep at it all the time."

Fowlkes says he runs at least one hour a day, five or six days a week.

"I'm in training for sprinting each year from January through August. Starting in September, I work with weights through December. That doesn't leave much time for loafing."

Fowlkes' only concession to time has been withdrawal from competition in the hurdles and broad jump.

"At my age, it's better to specialize. An injury now would shelve me, I'm afraid, so I'll just stick to the sprints for as long as I can," he explained.

Witness Charges Eichmann Cleared Jews from Berlin

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann swept Berlin clean of Jews over objections of army and industry clamoring for manpower in the midst of war, a witness testified Thursday.

By document and testimony, the prosecution tried to show that the Gestapo colonel on trial for his life was the power behind the programs that shook Europe in the wake of the Nazi conquest.

The story of the roundup of 80,000 Jews in the German capital came from Hildegard Henschel, who with her husband escaped from the gas chambers only because the Soviet army captured Theresienstadt camp in Czechoslovakia in 1945.

She said her husband, Moritz, was spared from early arrest only because as leader of Berlin's Jewish community he could direct Jewish affairs.

Henschel was called repeatedly to Eichmann's office after the roundup for the death camps in October 1941, she testified.

Thousands of Jews were moved out by train and truck to the east, guarded by SS (elite guard) troops, who looted the prisoners of valuables, Mrs. Henschel said.

By early 1943, only a few thousand Jewish workers considered vital to the war effort remained in Berlin. Then, over objections of the army and industrial leaders, Gestapo agents ranged through factories, "took out 8,000 Jews and sent them to the east," Mrs. Henschel said.

In June 1943, she, her husband and 300 bedridden patients of the Jewish hospital were put aboard a train to Theresienstadt, she testified. Her husband died in Israel a year after the Russians liberated the Jews in the camp.

Eichmann stared fixedly at Mrs. Henschel during her testimony. He twisted his lips frequently in a nervous grimace.

Once in his pursuit of Jews for the gas chambers Eichmann paused to spare a prospective victim, one document disclosed. Assistant Prosecutor Gavriel Bach produced the document showing that Eichmann ordered that a 102-year-old Jewess "may remain in Denmark" thus avoiding deportation to extermination camps.

But this was the only break in documentary evidence portraying Eichmann as the architect of Jewish extermination.

Astronaut Shepard Gets Deluge of Mail, Awards

WASHINGTON (HTNS) — The nation's space man, Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., is deluged with mail, with invitations to speak, with special awards and with some pretty classy gifts — including a house and a sleek, high-powered automobile.

New York City is reportedly bidding for America's space hero to come up for a ticker-tape parade; Los Angeles wants him for a celebration; a brand new auditorium in Virginia has been named for him, and a battery of Navy and Space Agency secretaries is being tapped to help him answer his mail.

Shepard is going to reject, as politely as possible, every speaking and other request and will go nowhere — except to his hometown Derry, N. H., to see his family — when he has finished all the tests he is taking. Regrets are going to Chicago, to Cleveland, to Norfolk and every other city now bidding for an appearance by him.

White House policy is two-fold: Avoid all sensationalizing of Shepard's exploit of vaulting 115 miles into space, because of the heavy work ahead; and avoid any appearance that this country caters to "the cult of the individual." The policy also is designed to emphasize the fact that there are seven astronauts and that the space work is a team operation.

Shepard will accept no gifts for himself or his family. In the first place, a strong policy against it is already in effect. In the second, he wouldn't anyway.

But he is examining the possibility of deeding over the house and the car to some kind of charity as yet unknown, if that would be feasible.

"There is no firm plan on this yet," a friend of Shepard's said Thursday.

"If we could find some really constructive channel to put some of these things into, that is what Cmdr. Shepard might decide to do."

The outpouring of mail and the large number of requests for personal appearances were reminiscent of the treatment that Charles Lindbergh got when he flew the Atlantic Ocean in 1927.

But he was on his own, not a uniformed officer working for Uncle Sam.

3 SUI Profs To Air Views On Red China

Three SUI faculty members will give their views on the Red China problem in a panel discussion Tuesday, May 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol.

The discussion, "The United States, the United Nations, and Communist China," will deal with problems of both ancient and modern-day China. Special consideration will be given to the influence of Red China on the United States and in international affairs, with emphasis on the recognition problem.

Three separate areas of China will be covered in 20-minute presentations. Alan Spitzer, assistant professor of history, will present the historical background, concentrating mainly on the past decade.

Gerald Maryanov, assistant professor of political science, will point out the political relationship between China and the rest of the world. James Spalding, associate professor of religion, will cover the moral, ethical and religious aspects of China.

Discussion among the panelists and a question period from the audience will follow the presentations.

George De Boer, graduate assistant in political science, will serve as moderator.

The discussion is being sponsored by the Westminster Foundation of the First Presbyterian Church in Iowa City.

The Chicago Symphony at the Cornell College May Music Festival last weekend dedicated a concert to Prof. Erwin K. Mapes. Professor Mapes, who was a professor emeritus of romance languages at SUI, died earlier this year. He was an alumnus of Cornell College.

The program and libretto included the following citation: "Dr. Erwin K. Mapes, '09, was a lover of music. During his student years he sang in Messiah and May Festival choruses; he was a member of the Cornell College Glee Club and part of the time a member of a male quartet. When he returned to the college in 1921 as a professor of romance languages, he again sang with the Oratorio chorus.

"Professor Mapes, for 35 years a member of the SUI faculty, was internationally known as an authority on Spanish-American literature. He was respected and admired not only for his careful, sound scholarship but also for his modesty, his integrity, and his quiet friendliness."

Mrs. Mapes, 300 McLean St., and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred J. Hinkhouse of Fairfield, were honored at the concert and at a luncheon in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Beckheim, director of the festival.

Senator Asks Ban On Missile Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) appealed to Congress Thursday to outlaw strikes which he called damnable and which he blamed for slowing down the space flight-missile programs.

The senator plans to offer specific legislation soon.

McClellan heads the Senate Investigations subcommittee which has just suspended its hearings on labor troubles at missile bases. He said the disclosures were appalling — at least as shocking as anything turned up by the old Senate rackets committee he headed.

CORE Asks for Stand On Hankins Depledging

The recent depledging of Andy Hankins, A1, Waukegan, Ill., from Delta Chi fraternity is viewed as discriminatory by SUI's chapter of Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

Core members at a meeting this week agreed that the local Delta Chi chapter is not living in accord with the stated convictions of its national charter and the University Administration has a responsibility to express its opinion of the depledging.

The University has not taken a position on the depledging of Hankins, a Negro, May 2.

According to CORE Chairman Myrna Balk, A4, University City, Mo., members feel that since the University Administration has taken a definite stand on non-discriminatory practices in off-campus housing, it should express its position on the denial of membership to Hankins.

Members further stated that the fraternity should not enjoy such freedom of decision since fraternities provide housing for students and the University in turn provides the intellectual climate in which fraternities exist.

Bill Seeks War On Youth Crimes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy asked Congress Thursday to declare a five-year federal war on juvenile delinquency. He said offenses by youth "diminish the strength and the vitality of our nation."

The President's program, sent to Congress in a bill, would cost $10 million the first year. Primarily, Kennedy said, his legislation would help "those dedicated persons in local communities throughout the nation who are striving in many ways to create social conditions" that choke off juvenile delinquency.

The bill's specific provisions:

1. Grants to states, communities, agencies and institutions for projects aimed at preventing juvenile delinquency. These projects would be experimental ones demonstrating and evaluating techniques for controlling delinquency or treating offenders. The techniques, if proven useful, then would be applied throughout the country.

2. Grants to train probation officers, police, social workers, institutional house parents, youth gang workers and others in the field.

3. Federal technical assistance and instruction to states, communities, agencies and institutions fighting juvenile delinquency.

Besides sending his bill to Congress, Kennedy created a President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Crime. It is comprised of Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, and Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

The President also appointed David L. Hackett, a former amateur hockey player and now special assistant to the attorney general as executive director of the committee.

The committee was asked to make recommendations from time to time to the President and federal agencies on measures needed to fight juvenile delinquency. Kennedy also set up a citizens advisory council to assist the committee.

Several "successes" of the U.S. foreign aid program are described in the spring quarterly issue of the Iowa Business Digest by the former U.S. ambassador to Yugoslavia and Greece and former director of the International Cooperation Administration (ICA).

James W. Riddleberger, who was responsible for this country's foreign-aid activities as director of ICA, admits, however, "some failures and some activities whose success is still in doubt."

"Current Problems in Foreign Trade," is the topic of the special issue of the Digest, which is published by the Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

Korea, Taiwan, Vietnam, Iran, Turkey and Greece are examples of countries where economic assistance has helped build up strength to deter military aggression, he says.

Recent internal emergencies which probably would have brought Communist or other disruptive influences to power in the absence of U.S. assistance include, for example, Laos, Guatemala, Iran, Bolivia and Jordan, adds Riddleberger.

The Government also reported Thursday that the factory work week — one of the most closely watched economic indicators — rose again in April.

The work week increase was only six minutes to an average 39.2 hours a week but it represented a full half-hour rise since January.

Seymour Wolfbein, Labor Department manpower chief, said these minor changes are "not something you want to write home about, but in terms of what's happened we think this small turnaround is significant."

Wolfbein said the statisticians have their fingers crossed over the strength of the upturn, looking for some reversal in the still-rising trend of long-term unemployment and for improvements in especially hard-hit industries, occupations and areas.

The principal April job figures had been released a week ago. They showed employment rose by 218,000, less than expected, to 65,734,000. Unemployment fell by 533,000, more than expected, to 4,962,000. Some further seasonal cut in the idle total is due in May.

Long-term unemployment — meaning 15 weeks or longer — rose by 266,000 to 2,128,000, highest number in two decades. Some of the new figures showed that unemployment among heads of families is still heavy, at 1.9 million.

This is the first such increase since last fall. The total is 1.1 million below a year earlier.

Factory employment remained about the same in April at 15.5 million but showed increases in certain key industries such as steel and other metals production, metal-fabricating and machinery-making.

Scott Wins Medal, Air Force Citation

Capt. Clark S. Scott, assistant professor of Air Science, this week was awarded the Air Force's Commendation Medal.

The medal, for meritorious service from September 1947 through May 1, was awarded to Capt. Scott Tuesday by Col. Charles Kirk, professor of Air Science.

Capt. Scott, director of leadership of the AFROTC detachment, will leave SUI at the end of this term for reassignment in Germany.

An accompanying citation said "the personal and professional qualities which Capt. Scott applied were instrumental in gaining respect and recognition of the Air Force at SUI."

Economy Rise Seen in Work Week Trends

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employment on factory assembly lines began to show some small but encouraging improvement in April.

The Government also reported Thursday that the factory work week — one of the most closely watched economic indicators — rose again in April.

Long-term unemployment — meaning 15 weeks or longer — rose by 266,000 to 2,128,000, highest number in two decades. Some of the new figures showed that unemployment among heads of families is still heavy, at 1.9 million.

This is the first such increase since last fall. The total is 1.1 million below a year earlier.

Factory employment remained about the same in April at 15.5 million but showed increases in certain key industries such as steel and other metals production, metal-fabricating and machinery-making.

Scott Wins Medal, Air Force Citation

Capt. Clark S. Scott, assistant professor of Air Science, this week was awarded the Air Force's Commendation Medal.

The medal, for meritorious service from September 1947 through May 1, was awarded to Capt. Scott Tuesday by Col. Charles Kirk, professor of Air Science.

Capt. Scott, director of leadership of the AFROTC detachment, will leave SUI at the end of this term for reassignment in Germany.

An accompanying citation said "the personal and professional qualities which Capt. Scott applied were instrumental in gaining respect and recognition of the Air Force at SUI."

STEPHENS DUKE MODEL SUIT

No liberties here, nor compromise. The Duke is it! There is unfailling natural authenticity in every line, in the lap seams, the hooked vent, the trim trousers — and in the fabrics selected by Stephens to exemplify the innate integrity of the most classic of all.
