Police--Some With Dogs--Await Buses

Bond Set at $500 On Each Charge; NAACP Offers Funds

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Two buses carrying 27 "freedom riders" — both whites and Negroes — rolled into Mississippi's capital city Wednesday and all landed in jail.

City policemen who ringed the city's bus terminal — some of them with police dogs on leashes — arrested both groups when they strolled into waiting rooms reserved for whites.

Charges against the "freedom riders," whose trip Wednesday started in Montgomery, Ala., included breach of peace, disobeying an officer and attempting to incite a riot. Bond for each of the "freedom riders" was set at $500 on each charge, but none made bail immediately.

Later police said they dropped the charge of attempting to incite a riot.

The pattern for arrests was the same in both cases. Officers repeatedly ordered the "freedom riders" to leave, but the order was ignored. Police hustled them into a waiting patrol wagon.

There was one white person in each of the 12-member contingents aboard the two buses.

Jackson Police Chief W. D. Rayfield said the "freedom riders" came to Jackson to violate city and state laws, and he said they would be "accommodated" by being arrested for such violations.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) offered its full legal resources to the "freedom riders" and said this would include posting the $1,500 bond for each.

Crowds flocked to the terminal awaiting arrival of the first bus, but there were no incidents other than the arrests.

A second bus of "freedom riders," one that left Montgomery with one white man and 14 Negroes about four hours after the first bus, skipped a scheduled stop at Meridian, the state's second largest city, and continued on to Jackson, about 125 miles away.

Almost 100 armed Mississippi National Guardsmen maintained a vigil at the Meridian bus station. City police cleared the terminal of everyone but passengers.

Asks 'Cooling-Off Period'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Att. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy called on Negro and white "freedom riders" Wednesday to hold back on their integrated bus trips into Alabama and Mississippi.

"Innocent people may be injured," he said. "A mob asks no questions."

The attorney general issued his statement as Mississippi police arrested one group of riders in Jackson and other groups announced plans to start bus trips through the Deep South almost every day.

"A cooling-off period is needed," Kennedy said.

"It would be wise," he continued, "for those traveling through these two states to delay their trips until the present state of confusion and danger has passed and an atmosphere of reason and normalcy has been restored."

He added: "Besides the groups of 'freedom riders' traveling through these states, there are curiosity seekers, publicity seekers, and others who are seeking to serve their own causes, as well as many persons who are traveling because they must use the interstate carriers to reach their destination."

"The Alabama and Mississippi law enforcement officials are meeting the test today, but their job is becoming increasingly difficult."

Alabama's Gov. John Patterson commented: "It's the first common sense the federal government has displayed in many days."

Aides to Kennedy said his statement was prompted partly by the fact that the state police-guarded bus that traveled from Montgomery to Jackson Wednesday was followed by a second bus having nothing to do with the freedom riders."

The aides said this second bus was not under police protection and might have been in danger from angry bystanders unable to distinguish which bus carried "freedom riders."

Earlier, Kennedy urged the two states and the riders "to weigh their actions carefully" — especially now that President Kennedy plans a summit conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Student Senate Passes AID Plan, Backs Quad

By HAROLD HATFIELD News Editor

The Student Senate Wednesday night unanimously endorsed President John Niemeyer's plan to set up a student-organized scholarship fund drive at SUL Project AID (Assist Aid Development) will be launched with a target goal of $10,000.

The Senate also gave support to Quadrangle in its feud with the University Administration over the naming of sections of the dormitory. The University has vetoed Quad's attempts to name sections after living men.

In introducing Project AID, Niemeyer said he hopes scholarship funds will be available by the second semester of the 1961-62 school year.

Admits Part Of Theft

Police said Wednesday night that Marlin D. Breneman, 22, 75-a-week bookkeeper accused of embezzling more than $12,000 from the Dobby Boot Shop, has signed a statement admitting part of the theft.

Breneman was arrested Tuesday night at his recently-purchased $83,000 home in the fashionable Bel-Air district of Iowa City after Earl Snyder, owner of the shoe store, filed a complaint against him. He was transferred from city to county jail Wednesday, having failed to post the $5,000 bond.

Snyder had Breneman arrested after an audit revealed that there was a shortage in the company's bank account of $12,674. Snyder ordered the audit conducted when he found a faulty deposit slip which Breneman had apparently forgotten to destroy.

In his signed statement, Breneman said he took only about $3,000. He recently paid $6,000 on his home at 1902 Glendale Rd., according to police.

According to authorities the money was embezzled between April 16, 1960 and May 8, 1961. Breneman has been employed at the store since December, 1959. He is married and the father of two children.

According to police, the main system of embezzling used by Breneman was with false deposit slips.

Police also said that Breneman altered the amount of four of his payroll checks and made out false customer refund slips. It is not known how much money was embezzled under these systems.

SDC Divided After Leaflet Is Distributed

Members Criticize Content; 5 Others Linked to Publication

By JERRY PARKER Staff Writer

Inner strife threatened the solidarity of the Student Socialist Discussion Club Wednesday after pamphlets denouncing The Daily Iowan's "Letters to the Editor" policy were distributed on campus. The pamphlet claimed the DI's policy had maligned the SDC.

In a letter to the editor which appears in today's DI, several SDC members deny any knowledge that such a publication was being prepared, and criticize the content of the pamphlet.

The four-page tabloid attacked The Daily Iowan for failing to print several letters submitted to its editor and criticized the paper's coverage of several news items of recent weeks.

Stamped on each copy of the "Unauthorized Supplement to the Daily Iowan" was "Free Press Committee, Socialist Discussion Club, 130 1/2 S. Clinton, Iowa City."

The SDC president, Phil Cummins, G. Cedar Rapids, said Wednesday that the publication was not sponsored by SDC and that the organization had no "Free Press Committee."

Cummins has called a special meeting of the SDC at 7:30 p.m. tonight to discuss the pamphlet and possible action the club may take in regard to it.

Alan B. Spitzer, faculty adviser to SDC, declined to comment on the pamphlet, but said he wished to have the letter speak for his views on the matter.

Jerry Barrett, G. Medicine Lake, Wash., admitted late last night that he was chairman of the "Free Press Committee." He said the group had received authorization from the SDC at a meeting, but could not give the date of the meeting.

Barrett said he had edited all material contained in the pamphlet and had written some of it. "Seven or eight others helped with it," he said.

Barrett refused to release for publication the names of his committee of contributors to the pamphlet saying "it is an intracub matter, and if the committee is to be taken to task, it should be by the club." He said another reason for his refusal to divulge the information was that he regarded the Daily Iowan as "a hostile press."

Other members of the SDC, Dave Cunningham, Iowa City, Brian Peterson, A. Des Moines, and Dan Kelley, Iowa City, said they had played a part in the production of the leaflet. Cunningham and Kelley said they had helped prepare the copy for publication, and Peterson said he had only aided in distribution of the pamphlet.

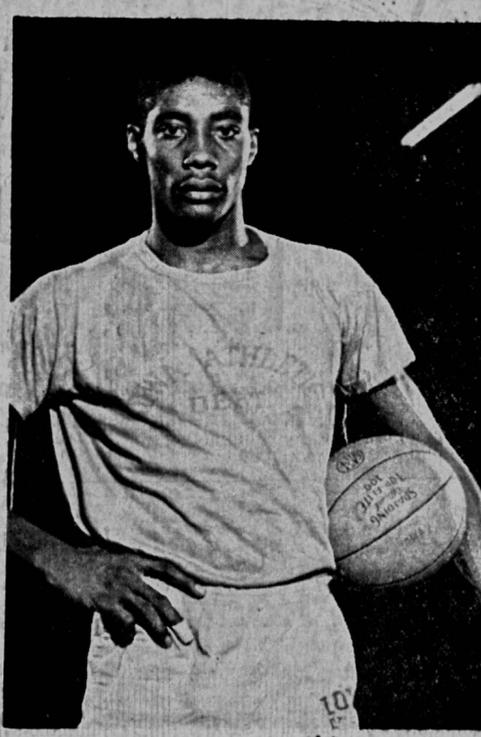

Cunningham said William Bunge, visiting assistant professor of geography, had written much of the material contained in the pamphlet.

Cunningham said he thought the group had had authorization from the SDC, but that he, Bunge, and Barrett would have to bear the cost of the publication. He said a friend of Bunge's in Chicago, where the pamphlet was printed last week, had also contributed financially to the publication.

Both Barrett and Cunningham admitted there were inaccuracies in the "supplement," but said they believed all of the material to be true when it was written.

Kennedy Asks Donations For Cuban Tractor Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—Declaring a government hands-off policy, President Kennedy Wednesday urged Americans to contribute to the $15-million fund to buy tractors Fidel Castro has demanded for release of Cuban invasion prisoners.

Iowans Vow Hawkins Never Contacted Them

By MIKE PAULY Written for The Daily Iowan

To a man, SUI varsity basketball players contacted here Wednesday night denied ever having been approached by freshman phenom Connie Hawkins in any connection with gambling or point-shaving.

Hawkins, described by Coach Sharm Scheuerman as one of the finest basketball players ever to attend Iowa, was implicated in the scandals Wednesday.

His role, said the New York District Attorney, was that of intermediary — to introduce players to gamblers.

However, the Hawkeyes vowed Hawkins never had approached them before he left school about 10 days ago "because of scholastic and financial difficulties."

Don Nelson, the team's leading scorer and most valuable player two years in a row, summed up the attitude of his teammates when he said:

"I was surprised that it happened and I was surprised that it was so close to home. No, he never contacted me. Today was the first I knew about it."

Said guard Joel Novak: "He never approached me. I don't think he approached any of our guys. The character of our guys is good enough that they would have told Sharm about it, I'm sure."

"I was really surprised. Connie was not that type of boy. There must have been some other circumstances. We were pretty good friends. Everybody liked Connie."

Dave Maher, who played as a regular guard the first semester before he was ruled scholastically ineligible, said: "I can't understand it. No, he never approached me. I had no idea about anything at all. I don't think any of the Iowa players were involved — I certainly hope not."

Several other players also said they noted nothing strange about Hawkins' actions.

"He never approached me," said Dick Shaw. "I'm sure he didn't get to any of the Iowa players, but I guess they'd keep something like that quiet. It was a complete surprise."

Bob McCauley, a late-season addition to the squad, added: "He didn't approach me. The first I knew was today. I knew him only as a player."

Another player who expressed surprise was forward Dennis

N.Y. Attorney Calls SUI Star Intermediary

Connie Hawkins, promising freshman basketball player, recently departed from SUI, was named Wednesday as an intermediary between alleged "fixer" Joseph Hacken, 48, New York, and college basketball players, according to an Associated Press report.

Hawkins' involvement was revealed by New York District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, who said that the 6-8 1/2-year old Hawkins received $210 to introduce players to Hacken.

Hogan did not reveal when the transaction occurred.

Hawkins, regarded a sure starter for next season's squad, left SUI several weeks ago because of financial and scholastic difficulties. He went to his home in Brooklyn, N.Y., but returned to SUI shortly last weekend.

Eleven other players from eight colleges were implicated Wednesday in the spreading college basketball scandal. The total involved in the New York investigation is 25 players from 16 schools.

The probe is continuing, said Hogan as he made the new disclosures. In addition to the New York action, North Carolina authorities have charged three North Carolina State basketball players with accepting bribes to shave points.

Present revelations may only have scratched the surface, officials indicated. The current inquiry threatens to dwarf the 1951 mess which implicated 33 players from 7 colleges.

Three players — one from New York University and two from St. John's University (N.Y.) — were named as bribe takers by Hogan, Hawkins and Roger Brown of Dayton, were named as intermediaries. And seven from six colleges — St. Bonaventure, Colorado, St. John's, New York, Seattle, Niagara and Bradley — were said by Hogan to have received and rejected but failed to report bribe offers.

Hogan emphasized there is no criminal penalty for failure to report a bribe offer. He added, however, that such a failure might violate the regulations of the individual school.

The New York County district attorney revealed the new list of involved players in announcing the indictment of Hacken, on 17 counts of bribery in the corruption of basketball players and one count of conspiracy. He also named David Budin, a former physical education teacher at a Brooklyn Junior High School, as a co-conspirator.

Hacken, and Aaron Wagman, a convicted New York football fixer, were arrested March 17 when Hogan first broke open the New York basketball scandals. Wagman is Unusual Occurrence—

Kennedy To Address Joint Session Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will go before a joint session of Congress today to speak on "urgent national needs."

The White House gave no further inkling of what the President has in mind in announcing his plan to address Congress.

Democratic leaders of the Senate and House met with Kennedy at their weekly legislative conference Tuesday and came away announcing the President would send to Congress today a message calling for increased spending on foreign aid, defense and space programs.

Nothing was said then, however, about Kennedy addressing Congress in person, and the news that he would do so came rather abruptly.

In the House, Democratic Leader John W. McCormack from Massachusetts interrupted debate on a $12.5-billion defense-authorization bill to announce a joint session will be held at 12:30 a.m. to hear the President.

Television and radio networks arranged to carry the speech. Seldom does a President go before Congress to deliver a message in mid-term except in time of war or great emergency.

One source said the President had decided to go all-out in the space race, bending every effort to put an American on the moon within 10 years.

Kennedy also is expected to ask for a sharp increase in a program of providing fallout shelters to protect civilians against nuclear attack. Civil defense officials have been pointing to what they regard as public apathy.

Coaches Say SUI Cagers Not Involved

SUI officials said Wednesday that no Iowa varsity players were involved in the basketball scandals in which a Hawkeye freshman was named as contact man.

"We are satisfied, on the basis of a preliminary inquiry among our varsity squad members," Athletic Director Forest Evashevski said, "that none have been involved in any such activity."

Basketball Coach Sharm Scheuerman also said none was involved.

Their statements were backed by the player involved, Cornelius (Connie) Hawkins, in a telephone interview with Terry Bledsoe, sports editor of the Dubuque Telegraph Herald.

"I have done nothing wrong since I got out of high school," Hawkins told the Telegraph Herald. "I didn't do anything I shouldn't have after I got to Iowa City."

"I didn't line up any Big Ten players for them," Hawkins added. "It was just guys I knew from high school ball in New York."

Hawkins dropped out of school two weeks ago, and at the time Scheuerman said he left the campus because of low grades and financial problems.

In a statement Wednesday afternoon, however, Scheuerman said "I knew Connie had been called to New York, along with other ball players, to be questioned."

"Upon his return from New York, Connie and I decided that it would be best that he drop out of school, due to this along with his scholastic and financial problems," Scheuerman said.

"I have talked with the boys on our squad on different occasions and I am as sure as I can be that none of them is involved in the basketball investigation."

Evashevski said that "we have not at this time been specifically informed as to the nature of the involvement of Connie Hawkins, nor of the implications of this involvement for our varsity team."

But he added that a preliminary investigation had cleared the varsity of suspicion.

"However, when and if further information is produced," Evashevski said, "which would warrant further investigation on this campus, we shall undertake that investigation immediately."

Hawkins was 6 feet 7 and considered a sure starter for Iowa next year. He was a standout in freshman games last winter and often put on shooting and ball-handling displays at halftime of home varsity games.

He told the Telegraph-Herald that he met convicted point-fixer Aaron Wagman at Madison Square Garden while "I was still in high school, and I introduced him to some other players. None of them are in the Big Ten, and Mr. Hogan's office has asked me not to identify any of them."

Hawkins said he testified before the New York grand jury about a week ago.

"A man from the district attorney's office came to Iowa City to see me three or four weeks ago," Hawkins said. "He told me they wanted me to appear in New York and I left Iowa City right after that."

Bledsoe said Hawkins spoke in a very low voice and seemed dismayed by the turn of events.

"I guess I haven't got any plans now," Hawkins said. "With this, I just don't know. I would like to play pro basketball but I don't know if I can do that now."

Policy Regarding Letters to the Editor

We feel it necessary at this time to explain the Daily Iowan policy regarding the use of "letters to the editor" sent in for publication. We shall also put forth the format recommended for any letters in the future.

Let it be known first of all, as in the case of nearly all publications, the Daily Iowan cannot print all letters received — largely because there is not ample room to do so.

Certainly, no letter that may be libelous, or in our opinion, in bad taste, will be printed. Also we reserve the right to shorten letters.

Likewise, when a large number of letters received seem to indicate the same, or nearly the same, opinion, we feel it fair to select certain letters, representative of that given opinion, rather than publish a large number which merely repeat the same words. If the number of letters received seems to lean strongly in one direction, we seek to publish letters enough to indicate the proportion of sentiment in that particular direction.

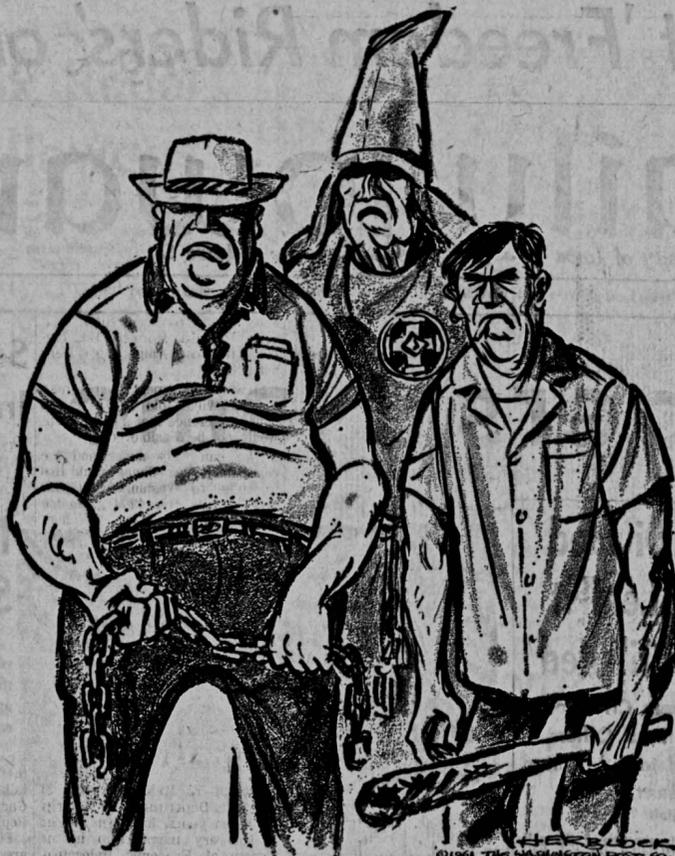

Further, the Daily Iowan does not, at any time, feel obligated to print letters from any particular group or segment on campus simply because that group may feel all of its letters should be in print. We use the same yardstick for selection of all letters and in no way attempt to discriminate against, nor blow the horn for, any particular group or philosophy through selection of the letters used.

In the future, we request that all letters sent in use the following format:

- 1) They should be between 250 and 300 words, with 300 as the very maximum.
- 2) They must be signed by the letterwriter and his address included.
- 3) They should be typewritten and double spaced.

We feel that this format will be advantageous to all for it will allow us to present more opinions and in more concise and exacting form. It will also give the readers a chance to more clearly find the "meat" of the argument presented.

Iowa's Highway Program Aims at Road Modernization

By JIM SEDA
Managing Editor
(Second in a Series)

Modernization has been the aim of Iowa's program of highway construction, maintenance and reconstruction.

In 1933 three major faults of Iowa's highways were recognized: Pavements were too narrow, bridges were too narrow, and curbs on pavements were dangerous and unnecessary. Correcting these three hazards became the main goal.

When Iowa's roadways were first built, they were constructed with the thought of providing transportation and travel routes. Many were developed from the old pioneer paths. Most were "mud trails" that were inaccessible in rainy weather.

AS NEW METHODS and better materials became available, the public clamored for paved roads for year-round use. In determining the width of these roads, the people and the Legislature considered immediate economy more than future needs.

In fact, some consideration was given to a 12-foot width because it was adequate for the vehicles of that time. An 18-foot width was considered the widest necessary, so this became the standard for most of the paved roads.

At the same time, the road builders were faced with another big question — how to prevent erosion along highways. Soil washed away easily, especially on long, steep grades. Before too long, shoulders were washed out, and the pavement cracked and crumbled.

TO SOLVE THIS PROBLEM, curbs were built into edges of highways to retain surface water on the road itself rather than on the shoulders.

Criticism by drivers of these narrow roads and curbs increased. The convenience of hard-surfaced roads became an inconvenience because of the strain of driving long distances under crowded conditions.

But more important, the narrow highways and curbs became hazards to safety. Meeting another vehicle increased dangers of collision. The 18-foot highway had become obsolete.

SOME REMEDY was necessary to minimize the already rising traffic toll.

One of the steps was to increase the width to 20 feet when constructing new highways. Most of these were built in counties in which major cities were located. Not until 1935 was there a great number of 20-foot roads.

In 1942 this width was increased to 22 feet in the construction of defense highways.

Where 18-foot highways were already in use and where new construction was financially impractical, another step was undertaken. A three-stage widening program to increase widths to 22-24 feet was begun.

STRIPS ARE added along highways to achieve these new widths in the first stage. During the second stage, the entire road is resurfaced. In the final stage, shoulders are widened and improved.

But in widening some highways, that old nightmare — the curbs — again created an obstacle. Before the road could be widened, the curbs had to be removed. This problem was solved with the perfection of a machine for this purpose.

At the same time that the three major faults were being corrected, emphasis was also being placed on other areas of highway improvement. Among these are resurfacing old paved roads, elimination of non-dustless surfaced sections of primary roads, building of climbing lanes on hills, and initiation of interstate construction.

The interstate system is a special system provided for by the Federal Aid Act of 1956. Also called the Defense System of Highways, it provides nationally coordinated and correlated major highways.

In March, 188 miles of the interstate system were already in use. By this fall, 219 miles are expected to be completed.

AS IMPRESSIVE as the state's program of road improvement appears, it still has not achieved its goal of modernization. Lags in the program have been caused by several things.

High costs have slowed down the progress of the program. When funds are limited, the modernization process is also limited. Additional sources of revenue to meet these expenses have been provided, but still more is necessary to bring us out of the dark ages of obsolete roadways.

Inclement weather and a war have also been delaying factors. During World War II, only those roads deemed essential for national defense received attention. In 1951 severe flooding and wet weather further delayed the program.

ANOTHER FACTOR has been the disagreement about what should be stressed. For example, not all curbs have yet been removed, although Gov. Erbe has encouraged this as part of his campaign platform.

One reason for this was noted in an editorial in the Jefferson Herald:

"Three members of the (Highway) Commission have expressed doubt as to whether the curbs are a menace. At least two of them have commented that they actually think they may prevent accidents by helping to hold cars on the concrete.

"We are guessing that the great majority of Iowans, recalling what happens to their cars when they inadvertently get a wheel up on that pesky curb, would violently disagree and would condemn all such devices to everlasting oblivion."

(A report of a suggested long-range program will be presented in the next article.)

"NIGHT THOUGHTS," a radiophonic poem for voices and orchestra, is tonight's Evening-at-the-Theatre offering at 8. Especially commissioned for the BBC Third Programme, "Night Thoughts," we are reliably informed, "involved some tentative experiments in musique concrete which, though highly developed in Continental radio at the time, had not then been fully exploited in Great Britain. The subject of the poem is indicated by a verse of Holderlin which Martin Buber quotes in his book "Eclipse of God":

But alas; our generation walks in night, dwells
As in Hades, without the divine.
The programme, which is written for a number of voices, is divided into three parts or movements. In the first the poet considers the loneliness of individuals in the modern world; and in the second part he enters the domain of Satan. Finally, the poet returns to his house, to his sleeping wife and his children."

"Night Thoughts" was written by David Gascoyne with special music by Humphrey Searle.

"MA VLAST," the music of composer Bedrich Smetana, will consume most of the pre-theatre hours from 6 p.m. Smetana's most familiar work, "The Moldau," is only one part of "Ma Vlast."

'Why Can't I Also Go To College?'

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

So far as I know, Ben Washington has never been to Alabama, but somehow I have been thinking about him in the last few days.

Ben and I, when we were just turning into men, worked on a small dairy farm owned by my father in Chunn's Cove, on the outskirts of Asheville, N.C.

One day we walked two miles to the street car line and then rode several more miles to buy a cow. Ben took a back seat on the car as Negroes were supposed to do, and I took the one in front of him so we could continue to talk. From turning around to him, I got a crick in the neck which helped me none on the long walk home with the cow.

I've thought about it many times when standing in buses and railroad diners in the South while "reserved" seats in the rear went unoccupied, and wondered who was being discriminated against.

Transportation, however, was not Ben's problem.

There was youthful competition over the work we had to do. Ben had large hands and could milk more cows per hour. I could handle horses and mules better.

We were about even on the cross-cut saw that fed the eight Molochs which helped to keep the big old house warm.

Each would try to drive the other "into the ground" with the saw, and when we stopped to get our breaths we sat on the log pile and talked.

One bright day, with the sun working on the damp matted leaves beneath the great oaks, Ben raised a cloud which is still far larger than a man's hand.

"Bud, you're about to go back to college. Why can't I go?"

His father owned a ragged house on a tiny farm, and a little money might have been raised, but not enough to go away to the only colleges open to Ben. And anyway, with the schooling he'd had, he couldn't have passed the examinations. But there was desire, and a dream of strange worlds in his eyes.

I never doubted that his native intelligence was as great as mine. I went away with little nagging twinges, as though I might have done him wrong, though it was something in which I had no part. The twinges still recur.

Ben became a private chauffeur-mechanic. But people cause me an unease when they say: "He's done very well — considering."

Some men need the dream he had that summer day — even based on hope that is forlorn — more than food and clothes. And much more than transportation.

I never did anything for Ben. But he did something for me. He helped me learn to bear in mind the unsuspected inside of a many-man.

To the Editor:

As members of the Socialist Discussion Club we were surprised and appalled by the distribution on the campus Wednesday of a four-page sheet entitled "The Unauthorized Supplement to the Daily Iowan." The sheet which bore the name of the "Free Press Committee" of the Socialist Discussion Club was in fact never authorized by the membership of the club, its executive committee or its President. There is, further, no such thing as the "Free Press Committee." Those individual members who took it upon themselves to speak for the club in such a high-handed manner have done the Socialist Club and the causes for which it works a grave disservice.

Some of the issues raised in this tract are of course legitimate ones. But we categorically reject the hysterical and exaggerated manner in which they were dealt with. By arrogantly equating their own interpretation of recent events with those of the club as a whole, the authors of the tract have served only to antagonize many club members — as well as many other students on the campus.

R U Tired Of Spelling?

After years of struggling with the intricacies of English orthography, we have finally broken down under the weight of accumulated and antiquated traditions and given up the struggle.

We freely admit our defeat — after 15 years of instruction, we still cannot spell. But since we are so often forced to communicate on paper, we long ago decided that if we couldn't overcome the vagaries of English spelling, we would circumvent them.

First to go was the "gh" configuration. Thus through became thru, though shrunk into thru, and enough shrivelled into enuf. Thru this process, we noticed that many words could be thoroely cleansed of their vowels as well, and reduced to their consonants only. So day and nite we eliminated the extra vowels. This hacking went on fr many happy yrs, until finally th vowels wr reduced to a slite segment of the former gly.

The comoner endings soon faded frn view as will: -ing was squashed into g, -ed condensed nto d, & -tion metamorphoed nto tn. Thgs r nw really in fine shap — brief, quick and clr.

Shrt words bcame shrtr — "it" dissolved nto "i," "you" was dissectd nto "y," "if" compacted to "f." Bt "a" still remaind "a" — unity cndt b divided, & on "t" wnt, until ths nw method of wrtng reachd ts present standrds of excellence. W blve tht ths system will alleviate th problems of schoolboy frvr, & so th y hv t — th agonies of spgld ncd.

Bt of crs, nw pbllms always arise wth nw ideas, & ths system s nt free frn ts drawbacks, th chief one b'g, wh' cn rd t?

If medical science brings about a life expectancy of 120 years, as predicted, by the end of this century, the world will face a tremendous new problem. At 120, most people can count on seeing five generations of descendants behind them, down to great-great-grandchildren.

With all the in-laws, cousins and shirt-tail relatives, this will also bring about, either we will need parallel progress in capacity of human mind of a breakthrough on pocket computers, to keep track of them all.

For Themselves Alone

It is rare that we can get a glimpse of what many Russians really feel about their lot and their leaders.

With the exception of Pasternak, the more daring novelists and poets write only "for the drawer"; that is, for themselves alone or for their trusted friends.

A revealing glimpse of Russian disillusionment, distaste, and discontent, has now come to light in the literary work of one of the nation's older poets. It has been circulating "underground" for some time. His poems were recently given to a Russian-speaking American scholar by a Polish Communist in Warsaw and appear in the current issue of "Problems of Communism," a bi-monthly magazine published by the United States Information Agency.

DRUMMOND

To protect the Russian poet and his translator no names are revealed. But the authenticity of the work is well established. In a commentary accompanying the poems the translator writes that this poetry represents not only an artistic confession of a Soviet intellectual's moral conflict with his Communist society but a telling insight into present-day Soviet man.

At one point the Russian poet, who writes for "posterity" because he cannot be published, cries out for intellectual integrity:

"But, you, you men of reason and scholars!
Oh, you solons —
You were led by the nose,
like silly girls,

Like children, you were dragged by the hand.
You have no reason to walk with a proud smile,
You who were repeatedly bought for a medal.
What have you to say about wisdom and reason?
You have repeatedly sold yourself for a phrase."

Another poem concludes with these lines:

"But I am faithful to the construction program.
Backed up against a wall, hanging by a hair,
I am building on sand which is flowing
Under my feet."

"Here," writes the commentator, "the hope that characteristically sustains not only its author but most critically thinking Russian intellectuals in their middle years or older is expressed in the line: 'But I am faithful to the construction program.' If these intellectuals can and do find things in their society that are worthy of assent, it is because they, like our poet, are absorbed — mesmerized, I should say — by a compelling vision of their country's economic future."

This Russian poet chose to write in the hope that sometime he could be read. He had this to say on propaganda:

"Today I don't believe anything —
My eyes — I don't believe.
My ears — I don't believe, —
I'll feel it — then, perhaps, —
I'll believe.
If it can be touched — everything is without deception.
A word of four syllables —
propaganda —
Sounds in my ears to this day."

"Everything is propaganda. The whole world is Propaganda."

Explains Rate Base In Gas Firm Trial

By JERRY DICKINSON
Staff Writer

More facts and figures were presented Wednesday at the trial concerning an injunction suit brought against Iowa City by Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company.

The testimony from three witnesses concerned reproduction costs, operating costs, fair value, rate bases and depreciation.

William L. Patterson, a partner in the engineering firm of Black and Veatch, Kansas City, Mo., testified that the fair value rate base for gas properties in Iowa City is $2,778,916 and $6,489,654 for electric properties.

Patterson said these figures were determined by using a weighing system of 70 per cent of reproduction cost and 30 per cent of original cost. This is the formula determined by the Iowa Supreme Court in the Fort Dodge case, which involved a controversy over property value and fair return for utility companies.

The rate base is the most important issue at stake in this controversy. Thus, his testimony, and cross-examination of him by the city's attorneys, will play a part in determining the outcome of the case. Cross-examination of Patterson is expected to begin today.

Also appearing on the stand Wednesday was Edward Hopkinson Jr., a Philadelphia investment banker. The bulk of his testimony was aimed at supporting the company's contention that seven per cent of the fair value of property is a fair return.

The third witness to appear Wednesday was W. Page Anderson, a manager in the utilities department of the Arthur Anderson accounting firm of Chicago. He resumed the stand to further explain operating costs of Iowa-Illinois and to explain how depreciation is figured. Anderson had testified Tuesday concerning the net original cost, working capital and depreciation figures of the utility company.

Anderson stated that the cost of pipeline gas bought by Iowa-Illinois in 1960 was $857,881.

The accountant also testified that $97,356 was the amount of annual depreciation expense applicable to the fair value of the property used in the Iowa City District gas operations.

Anderson also demonstrated, through the use of an example, the proper and improper ways of figuring depreciation.

Music Classes Offered to Preps

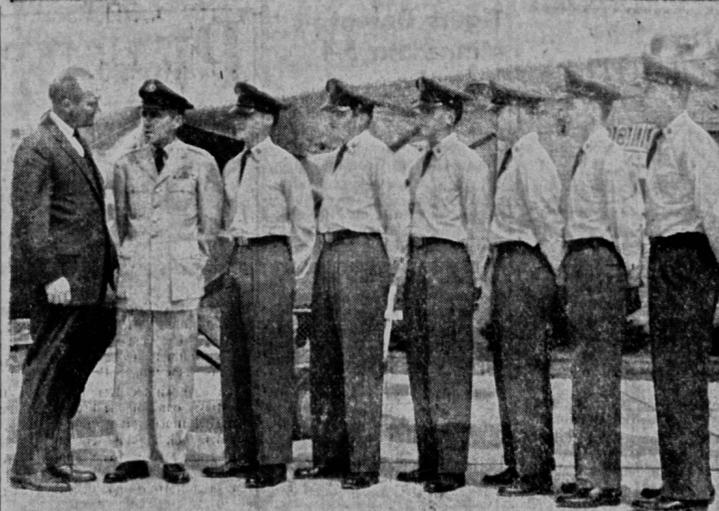

The SUI Department of Music will again offer a summer course in music for students of schools in Iowa City and nearby cities for the period June 14-Aug. 9. Students of high school age and below may enroll.

Fees will be $8 for one one-half hour private lesson weekly or $16 for two a week. Registration is scheduled for Monday, June 12, at 9 a.m. in South Music Hall.

Tuition will be payable at registration.

Gromyko Leaves Geneva; Red China Denounces U.S.

GENEVA — The conference on Laos, already slowed by its top foreign-office official. A new Chinese Communist attack on U.S. policy, was the high light of Wednesday's sessions, and the departure of another foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko of the Soviet Union.

Gromyko left the conference for Paris on the way to Moscow and is expected to accompany Soviet Premier Khrushchev to the Vienna meeting next weekend with President Kennedy.

The American, English and French foreign ministers already have returned to their capitals, leaving only Red China among the major powers represented by its top foreign-office official.

A new Chinese Communist attack on U.S. policy, was the high light of Wednesday's sessions, and the departure of another foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko of the Soviet Union.

Gromyko left the conference for Paris on the way to Moscow and is expected to accompany Soviet Premier Khrushchev to the Vienna meeting next weekend with President Kennedy.

The American, English and French foreign ministers already have returned to their capitals, leaving only Red China among Kennedy and Khrushchev telling them that "the Laotian nation would find peace and settle its own problems much better if the two great powers leave the Laotians alone." The two met in Vienna June 3-4.

Sihanouk has been working unsuccessfully to bring together the three rival factions in Laos — Premier Boum Oun's Royal Laotian Government, the self-styled neutral, Prince Souvanna Phouma and the Communist-led Pathet Lao rebels.

One Western source summed up the Conference situation this way: "It is too early to speculate on whether the conference has run on the rocks for good. Yet the obstacles to securing any agreement on Laos are staggering indeed. Maybe the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting can change the situation."

At Wednesday's hour-long session Chen Yi, Red China's foreign minister, underlined the basic differences between the Communist and non-Communist sides. He supported the Soviet plan for a veto over truce machinery in Laos.

He denounced the proposals advanced by Rusk, who had defined a concept of neutrality for Laos under which it would be protected from subversion.

Johnson Stresses Need For Economic Aid in Asia

WASHINGTON — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson reported Wednesday that, with President Kennedy's authority, he promised Asian leaders this country will make any sacrifice required in the defense against communism. But he said there are no plans to send U.S. troops.

Johnson stressed instead a need for economic and social advance in poverty-ridden Asia to stop Communist inroads. He said Kennedy will ask Congress for new foreign aid Thursday.

The vice president spoke at a news conference fresh from his return from a 15-day, globe-circling tour that took him to seven countries in Red-threatened areas. Kennedy assigned him to see the leaders of South Viet Nam, Nationalist China, the Philippines, Thailand, India, Pakistan and Greece.

Flying into Andrews Air Force Base from Bermuda Wednesday morning, Johnson promptly hopped by helicopter to the White House where he conferred with the President.

Looking tanned and relaxed despite the arduous of his 29,000-mile mission, Johnson said at the airport he was now more hopeful than he thought possible when he started the tour.

Kennedy headed a welcoming committee on the White House lawn and told Johnson he had heard not "a single discordant note" from the countries Johnson visited. Kennedy called the trip a mission showing America's concern for the cause of freedom.

At an afternoon news conference in the State Department auditorium, Johnson gave a preliminary report and answered questions.

"While I made it clear, at the President's request, that we shall make any sacrifice, risk any danger, that the protection of liberty may call for," Johnson said, "nowhere in Asia was there a request that we send American troops."

Set 1961-62 U. Concerts

The SUI Concert Course will present five programs by nationally and internationally recognized artists in 1961-62.

Return engagements by the Goldovsky Grand Opera and the Minneapolis Symphony, both of which were received enthusiastically in performances at SUI this year, are included in the program.

The Goldovsky Opera will begin the program on Oct. 25, 1961, followed by a harpsichord recital by Ralph Kirkpatrick, Dec. 6, 1961; a performance by famed baritone William Warfield, Feb. 14, 1962; a recital by lutenist Suzanne Bloch, Mar. 14, 1962; and the Minneapolis Symphony, Mar. 26, 1962.

Conducted by Stanislaw Skrowaczewski, the Minneapolis Symphony made its first concert tour in 1966. Performances at SUI over many years have established it as a favorite of local concert-goers.

Chang Calls off U.S. Trip

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Lt. Gen. Chang Do-yung, South Korea's revolutionary premier, today called off his plan to visit President Kennedy in Washington.

The U.S. State Department said such a meeting was not feasible, for the time being.

Earlier, Chang and four assistants were planning to leave Thursday afternoon for Tokyo where they would catch a jet flight to the United States. They made reservations for the flight and asked for visas from the U.S. embassy Wednesday night. Visas were not granted.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White told a Washington news conference that a Chang visit would not be feasible now.

"We can fully understand the reason why Gen. Chang would like to come to Washington at this time," White said, "but given the crowded schedule of the President, this is just not practical or feasible at this time."

Despite his newly won status,

Chang needs a visa just like any other foreigner going to the United States.

No follower of diplomatic protocol, Chang had announced he wanted to visit Kennedy. He obviously hoped to win the President's support for his regime and erase the disapproval of U.S. officials here for overthrowing the elect Government of Premier John M. Chang.

Marshall Green, U.S. charge d'affaires, met with Chang for 45 minutes but gave him no encouragement regarding his planned visit to Washington.

Green, however, reportedly told Chang he was encouraged by a number of steps the new regime is planning but would not be satisfied until words are translated into deeds. Green expressed special concern over political arrests and the new Government's relations with Japan.

Poppy Day Set May 27 In Iowa City

The annual Iowa City observance of Poppy Day, honoring American war dead, was set for May 27 in a proclamation issued by Mayor Thelma Lewis.

The American Legion Auxiliary of Roy L. Chopek Post No. 17, assisted by volunteer workers and the junior group of the Auxiliary will sell the poppies on the city streets.

Made by disabled veterans, the poppies are worn in memory of men killed in World Wars I and II and the Korean conflict. Veterans in the Des Moines Veterans Hospital, the Clinton Domiciliary and the Iowa Soldiers Home at Marshalltown are paid a small fee for making the flowers, enabling them to earn money while hospitalized, according to Mrs. Fred Gartzke, local chairman of the Poppy Day sales.

Funds received on Poppy Day are used locally for veterans and their families in times of need, Mrs. Gartzke said.

Poppy Day co-chairmen are Mrs. Elizabeth Schilling, Mrs. Johnnie Shaffer, Mrs. Carl Miller, Mrs. C. Evans, Mrs. Margaret Kinsinger, Mrs. John Yoder, Mrs. Don Albright, and Mrs. E. Nielsen.

Skowron's Triple Beats Boston 3-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Skowron snapped out of a hitting slump Wednesday with a ninth-inning triple and scored on a two-out, bases-loaded single by Tony Kubek to give the New York Yankees a 3-2 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

SKOWRON

Skowron's hit, his second of the game, set up the second victory of the year for right-hander Ralph Terry, who went the distance for the first time this season.

Gene Conley started for the Red Sox but the loss was charged to Chet Nichols, a southpaw who took over for Conley in the eighth after the Red Sox had tied the score 2-2 in the top half of the inning on a home run by Gary Geiger.

Nichols retired the first batter he faced in the ninth but Skowron sent a long drive over Geiger's head in deep center. With a runner on third, Boston Manager Mike Higgins summoned right-hander Tracy Stallard from the bullpen. The relief pitcher walked Clotis

Clemente, Stuart Homer as Pirates Stomp Cubs 7-3

CHICAGO (AP) — Roberto Clemente hit two homers and Dick Stuart one as "Vinegar Bend" Mizell won his 14th of the past 15 decisions from the Cubs, pitching Pittsburgh to a 7-3 victory over Chicago Wednesday.

Mizell was unable to finish, but veteran Clem Labine worked flawlessly to save the big southpaw's fourth win of the year. Labine retired seven straight batters.

The Cubs combed Mizell for 11 hits. Rookie outfielder Billy Williams poled his second homer in as many games, and the Cubs' new shortstop, Jerry Kindall, smashed his first of the season.

Gino Cimoli's infield roller scored Stuart, who had tripled, with the Pirates' first runoff losing starter Dick Ellsworth in the second inning.

Clemente's first homer was a leadoff smack in the fourth. His second was good for three of the Pirates' four runs in the fifth before Ellsworth retired in favor of Bob Anderson.

Home runs — Pittsburgh, Clemente (2), Stuart (4), Chicago, Williams (4), Kindall (1).

Boyer intentionally and also pinch hitter Bob Cerv on four pitches to fill the bases.

Mickey Mantle batted for Terry and struck out for the second out. Stallard had a 2-2 count on Kubek when the Yankee shortstop lined a single to right for the game's winning blow.

The Red Sox, held to three hits by Terry, took a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning on a walk, Jackie Jensen's double and Russ Nixon's sacrifice fly. The Yanks came back with two runs in their half of the fourth on a walk and Roger Maris' homer, his eighth of the season.

Home runs — Boston, Geiger (4), New York, Maris (8).

St. Louis Romps Past Dodgers 7-2

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lary Jackson pitched and batted the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday night.

He had to have ninth inning help from Lindy McDaniel after the Dodgers loaded the bases on Junior Gilliam's single and two walks. McDaniel fanned Tommy Davis to end it.

Jackson, who picked up his first triumph in four decisions, delivered a key two-out, two-run double in the sixth inning. The Cards led 3-2 at the start of the inning after Jackson steadied to pitch out of a jam in the top of the frame.

Los Angeles — 001 001 000—2 8 3
St. Louis — 000 000 100—7 9 2

Athletics Score in 9th To Beat Senators 6-5

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Pete Burnside walked Jerry Lumpe with the bases loaded in the ninth inning Wednesday night and the Kansas City Athletics edged the Washington Senators 6-5.

The victory ended a five-game losing streak for the A's and came in an error-studded battle that ruined lefty Jim Archer's second pitching start for the A's.

Washington — 021 000 110—5 9 0
Kansas City — 100 010 202—6 8 3
Stardani, Gabler (8), Burnside (9) and Daley; Archer, Kunkel (8) and Figatano, W. — Kunkel (1-2), L. — Gabler (1-1).
Home run — Kansas City, Posada (2).

Orioles Sweep Twin Bill From Sagging White Sox

BALTIMORE (AP) — Late-inning home runs by Gus Triandos and Ron Hansen enabled the Baltimore Orioles to sweep a two-night double-header from the Chicago White Sox Wednesday night, 2-1 and 5-3.

Triandos slugged a lead-off homer in the seventh inning of the opener, his fifth of the season, to break a 1-1 tie and preserve Hal Brown's six-hit pitching performance.

Hansen walloped a three-run homer in the eighth inning of the nightcap as Baltimore again came from behind to overtake the slumping White Sox who have won only 14 of 37 games.

The homer by Hansen, his fourth of the year, was yielded by Gerry Staley — the fourth Chicago pitcher and third of the inning. But the

Giants' Late Rally Nips Redlegs 5-4

CINCINNATI (AP) — The San Francisco Giants seized the lead with three unearned runs in the seventh inning Wednesday night and went on to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 5-4, in spite of an eighth-inning rally sparked by Vada Pinson's homer.

The victory was credited to Mike McCormick (5-2) with Jim O'Toole (4-4) being charged with the defeat.

O'Toole had things under control until the seventh when he walked Willie Mays, allowed Orlando Cepeda to single and purposely walked Jim Davenport to fill the bases.

Ex-Red Ed Bailey then bounced to Gordie Coleman at first and catcher Jerry Zimmerman dropped Coleman's throw. Mays and Cepeda scored, followed shortly after by Davenport who came home on Jose Pagan's single.

San Francisco — 000 000 320—5 9 1
Cincinnati — 000 000 130—4 9 3
McCormick (5-2), O'Toole (4-4), Nunn (8), Bridges (9) and Zimmerman (9) — McCormick (5-2), L. — O'Toole (4-4).
Home runs — Cincinnati, Robinson (11), Pinson (3).

Phil's Mahaffey Defeats Braves with 4-Hit Job

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Young Art Mahaffey turned in a masterful mound performance for Philadelphia Wednesday night, holding Milwaukee to four scattered hits as his mates staged a six run rally in the fourth inning that led to a 7-1 Phillie victory over the Braves.

The 22-year-old right-hander, who was called up by the Phillies from Buffalo in midseason last year, struck out five men and issued three walks in subduing the Braves.

Navy Jet Fighter Sets Coast to Coast Record

NEW YORK (AP) — A Navy jet fighter plane flashed from coast to coast in 2 hours, 48 minutes Wednesday to eclipse a record that stood since 1957. Two accompanying planes were timed within 15 minutes, also beating the old record.

Said Lt. Richard F. Gordon, 31, of Seattle, Wash., who piloted the fastest plane across the nation at an average speed of 871.38 m.p.h.: "It was a wonderful trip. The weather was fine all along the route. I feel great, but I'm real tired."

Tigers Defeat Minnesota 5-4

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Home runs by Al Kaline and Rocky Colavito carried the American League-leading Detroit Tigers to a 5-4 victory over the slumping Minnesota Twins Wednesday night.

Kaline's second home run in two nights and Colavito's two-run homer in the fifth, his 11th of the year, helped Don Mossi to his fifth season victory. He has not lost a game.

Mossi needed relief from Bill Fischer, who disappointed the 24,358 fans by ending a seventh-inning Twins' rally. Fischer came in with two on and no one out and got Harmon Killebrew to hit into a double play and Jim Lemon to strike out. Killebrew narrowed the margin to one run with his 11th season homer, a two-run blast in the ninth. But Fischer fanned Lemon again.

Detroit — 001 010 000—5 9 0
Minnesota — 000 020 002—4 11 2
Moss, Fisher (7) and Brown; Pascual, Lee (5), Sadowski (7) and Batten. W. — Mossi (5-1), L. — Pascual (4-3).
Home runs — Detroit, Kaline (3), Colavito (11), Minnesota, Versalles (3), Killebrew (11).

Oregon's Burleson Sets New U.S. Mile Record

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Dyrrol Burleson, the University of Oregon's great miler, set a United States and American citizen's record with a 3:56.7 mile here Wednesday night.

Burleson, a 20-year-old junior at the university and member of the 1960 U.S. Olympic team, achieved the mark in the Emerald Empire all-comers event meet. The affair had no advance publicity.

given in Iowa City Saturday at the Post Office, according to Edward Ginsburg, Special Assistant to the Director of Recruitment for the Peace Corps. The examination will begin at 8:30 a.m. and will run all day.

Those wishing to take the exam must fill out an application form in the Office of Student Affairs to become eligible.

There will be a duplicate exam June 3 for those who cannot take it on the earlier date. This first exam is for those who want to be considered for Peace Corps projects, with the exception of those interested in secondary school teaching. A college degree is not required.

This first test will allow applicants to be eligible for jobs in the following fields: Elementary teaching; agriculture; animal husbandry; engineering; surveying; road-building; construction; health; and community development projects.

There will be a second examination given on June 5, starting at 8:30 a.m. and running through the entire day, for those interested in secondary teaching. Teachers are needed in the following areas: English, biology, physics, chemistry, and mathematics. A college degree is required for this exam.

Those wishing to qualify for the entire program should take both examinations, Ginsburg said.

If an applicant cannot be available for duty right away, his name is placed on a list and he will be called as new projects develop.

Influenced by Hometown Druggist

2 Left Farm for Pharmacy

On June 9, Marvin Shever and Carole Shever Rambo will be graduated from SUI. As graduates go, there is nothing unusual in a brother and sister finishing college together, but in this case things are different.

Both Anthon students will be graduated in pharmacy, both were officers of the student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association this year, both are married and both were influenced to some extent by an Anthon druggist in choosing pharmacy.

Marvin farmed for four years and worked in Orville Ducker's drug store in Anthon one year before "I got up enough nerve to enroll in pharmacy," he joked.

Carole, who had also worked for Ducker, had just graduated from high school when Marvin decided to come to SUI. So she decided to join him. "And of course Ducker was an influential factor in our deciding to take the pharmacy course," she said. Their parents own a farm near Anthon.

The pharmacy course, as Carole and Marvin know it, is an intensive four-year concentration of study in chemistry and pharmacy and related sciences such as zoology, and physiology.

Their training, however, is a great deal more than "academic." In the second year their class work included practice in compounding drugs. During the junior year, the future pharmacists spent part of their class time in the drug production laboratory which prepares supplies for the hospitals and other University areas.

Then in the senior year, Carole and Marvin gained more practical experience working under supervision in the dispensary at University hospitals. Thirty-six laboratory hours each semester were spent in the dispensary.

The pharmacy program at SUI has now been expanded to five years in order to include one year of liberal arts courses before students begin study in pharmacy. Students who entered in the fall of 1960 were the first ones affected by the change.

As officers of the student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association, Carole and Marvin have participated in planning for the monthly meetings, which feature speakers in the field of pharmacy. They also have given direction to the association-sponsored social events, including a prom and a picnic.

Carole is married to a 1960 graduate of SUI's college of pharmacy, David Rambo, formerly of Webster City. After Carole's graduation the Rambo will move to Decorah, where David is buying into a drug store.

Marvin is married and has two boys, ages five and seven. His wife, Eunice, is also from Anthon. He has not decided just where he will go to work after graduation.

Reunited with Mother

Mrs. Maria Pulis, San Antonio, Texas, poses cheek-to-cheek with her mother, Mrs. Anna Dowhan, 61, after her arrival from Russia at New York's Idlewild Airport Wednesday. Mrs. Pulis had not seen her mother in almost 20 years. German troops shipped the daughter to Weisbaden, Germany. She later married an American soldier and came to the United States, after unsuccessful attempts to find her mother, who finally wrote her in 1959. —AP Wirephoto

U.S. Juno II Radio Satellite Fails To Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Second-stage failure thwarted an attempt Wednesday to orbit a radio brain satellite to investigate the effect of the ionosphere on radio and television communication.

The 75-pound satellite was launched in the nose of a Juno II rocket. The early part of the flight appeared smooth, but project officials reported later that the second stage failed to ignite.

The radio brain satellite carries a single radio transmitter designed to bombard ground stations around the world with a steady stream of signals on six different frequencies.

Analysis of the radio impulses as received on earth could tell why the ionosphere occasionally disrupts radio transmission, causing blackouts, fading, and snowy television reception.

The experiment could show how the ionosphere changes under such influences as sunlight, solar flares and magnetic storms.

It could also help locate proper frequencies, and determine the best times for using them.

The 60-ton, 76-foot Juno rocket blasted off at 2:48 p.m. (EST). Its mission was to hurl the satellite into a cigar-shaped orbit ranging from 240 to 1,600 miles above the earth.

The launching was a repeat of an attempt which failed last Feb. 24.

Engineer's Group Elects President

Larry Montgomery, E3, Muscatine, was elected president of Pi Tau Sigma, men's honorary mechanical engineering fraternity.

Other new officers are: Charles Wells, E4, Iowa City, vice president; Gerald Moeller, E3, Davenport, treasurer; Dennis Rhoads, E4, Des Moines, recording secretary; Duane Snyder, E3, Davenport, corresponding secretary; and Kenneth Tamp, E3, Iowa City historian.

Pi Tau Sigma also initiated 11 new members. They are: William Adamson, E4, Iowa City; Gary Honts, E3, Iowa City; Marvin Jamison, E3, Muscatine; Hong Kim, E3, Seoul, Korea; James Rollins, E4, Iowa Falls; and John Tonkinson, E4, Mt. Pleasant. Wells, Moeller, Rhoads, Snyder and Tamp were also initiated.

Tacoma Air Crash Kills Servicemen

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A fiery takeoff crash of a C124 Globemaster in foggy darkness killed 18 servicemen Wednesday including 6 airmen, and 12 soldiers homeward bound to Oklahoma.

Four men survived. All but one were in critical condition at nearby Madigan Army Hospital.

The four-engine, propeller-driven transport also was carrying several pieces of heavy equipment as it lumbered off the McChord Air Force Base runway, faltered, plunged into a wooded area and burned.

What caused the crash was not known.

The soldiers had just finished two weeks of intensive training in the sagebrush wastelands of central Washington as part of the joint Army-Air Force exercise, Lava Plains, at the Yakima firing center.

The 63rd Troop Carrier Wing to which the plane was attached won the Air Force's Flying-Safety Award for the second half of 1960. The wing had not had a fatal crash in more than 20 million miles, more than two years.

Raymond Paprocky of New York University, was slaid by Hogan to have accepted $1,300 from Hacken to fix four games last season.

Michael Parenti and William Chrysal of St. John's were named by Hogan as having allegedly received $4,450 each to fix five games during the 1956-7 season, the last season for both players.

Hogan said the following had received and rejected bribe offers but had failed to report it to their coach or any authorities:

Fred Crawford, 19, New York, St. Bonaventure star sophomore who has been hospitalized with tuberculosis.

Maurice (Corky) Gilmore, New Canaan, Conn., U. of Colorado.

Tony Jackson, 22, Brooklyn, former All-America from St. John's, New York.

Sylvester Blye, 23, New York, Seattle sophomore who played basketball for a week and was barred as a professional.

Salvatore Vergopia, 22, New York, Niagara, who played during the 1958-9 season.

James Robinson, 21, Chicago, Bradley, a sophomore.

Al Saunders, 24, Chicago, Bradley senior.

Hogan said Saunders had rejected Hacken's bribe offers but had accepted $200 for spending money from Hacken.

Eichmann's Trial Goes Into Important Phase

JERUSALEM Israeli Sector (HTNS)—The Israeli prosecution began late Wednesday the Hungarian phase of its case against Adolf Eichmann.

The prosecution did not get very far with it in this session but the evidence on what happened in Hungary will be the capstone of the Israeli Government's case against the accused man.

Hungary will occupy the tribunal for the rest of this week and into early next week, Hungary will be the last of the European countries to be dealt with, and it is the most important for two reasons.

One is because of the magnitude of exterminations of Hungarian Jews. More than one million of them are estimated to have been murdered by the Nazis by gas, bullet or through starvation and brutality.

The other reason is that Hungary was the only European country where Eichmann was on the scene as his own field commander.

In this connection a major American witness is to be called this week by the prosecution to testify against Eichmann. He is Gustave M. Gilbert, who was the American prison psychologist at the Nuremberg trials and author of the book, Nuremberg Diary.

He is expected to testify and produce documentary evidence dealing with statements made to him about Eichmann's Hungarian activities by leading Nazi figures in the Nuremberg trial.

Before going into the Hungarian stage of the prosecution's country-by-country survey of Eichmann's activities, Solicitor General Gaviel Bach completed his round up

3 Japanese Survivors To Try Mountain Again

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Three survivors of a six-man Japanese expedition to scale Mt. Langtang arrived here Wednesday and a fourth was en route with mountaineering equipment.

The other Japanese from Osaka City University and a Sherpa guide were killed May 11 when an avalanche overwhelmed their camp at the base of the 23,750-foot mountain.
