PARIS (AP) — A U.S. Air Force B-50 bomber flashed across the Atlantic Friday to commemorate Charles A. Lindbergh's epic flight 34 years ago and made it in one-tenth of the Lone Eagle's time. The jet broke all records for an Atlantic crossing.

Sometimes flying at twice the speed of sound, the four-engine Convair Hustler crossed from New York to Paris in 3 hours and 20 minutes. The average speed was 1,105 miles an hour.

When he brought his single-engine "Spirit of St. Louis" down at Le Bourget Field after the first successful flight May 21, 1927, Lindbergh had been in the air for 33½ hours. His average speed was a little over 109 m.p.h.

The Hustler landed at Le Bourget to a rousing welcome from senior U.S. officers in Europe and officials of the 24th International Paris Air Show. The show commemorates the 34th anniversary of Lindbergh's flight, and the Hustler's feat got the event off to a rousing start.

The unofficial flight time of the Hustler, was 6 hours 15 minutes for its whole trip from Carswell Air Force base in Texas to Le Bourget.

The ocean section — 3,669 miles — broke the record for flights between the continents. The previous transatlantic record — 5 hours 45 minutes — was set by a Boeing 707 commercial jet.

Flying with Payne were Capt. William L. Polhemus, navigator and Capt. Raymond R. Wagener, defensive systems operator. All are from the Strategic Air Command's base at Carswell.

An Air Force announcement said the three also set a record from Carswell to Washington of 2 hours 16 minutes and a record between Washington and New York of 19 minutes.

The bomber roared away from Carswell at 4:10 a.m. and reached Paris at 10:25 a.m.

The deadline for 1961 Homecoming Monument ideas is Tuesday, May 30. All SUI students, faculty, alumni, and their families, and residents of Iowa City are eligible to enter the contest.

Entries, in the form of sketch or drawing, should be sent to Homecoming Monument Design Contest, Dean's Office, College of Engineering, Iowa City.

The winning design will be selected by the monument chairman, two other engineering students, and two faculty members on the basis of theme, originality, and adaptability to construction.

First prize $20 and second prize is $5. For answers to any additional questions call William Ashton, EA, Davenport, monument chairman, at 8-6946.

'Actual Killing' Now Charged To Eichmann

JERUSALEM (AP) — For the first time in his seven-week trial, Adolf Eichmann was linked personally Friday with the murder of a Jew, a boy accused of stealing cherries from the Gestapo colonel's orchard.

Through the weeks of testimony, Eichmann has been described as the organizer of the Nazi slaughter of six million Jews in Europe in World War II. Others did the actual killing.

Now, in the testimony of Avraham Gordon, Eichmann was portrayed as a man who on one occasion took part in a murder — or at least was in a shed where a 16-year-old was beaten to death.

The prosecution had announced at the outset of the trial that it had evidence Eichmann took part in one murder, and Israelis had been awaiting this moment. The crowd in the courtroom listened intently as the assistant prosecutor, Gavriel Bach, led the witness up to the crucial moment. In the prisoner's dock, Eichmann stared straight ahead, his mouth twisted in a half grimace.

Gordon, 35, a Hungarian Jew now a guard in an Israeli copper plant, said he was working in a slave labor gang digging ditches in the garden of Eichmann's villa in Budapest late in the war.

Gordon's testimony, while it offered no direct evidence that Eichmann actually laid a hand on the victim, nevertheless is regarded by the prosecution as an important part of its case against the accused.

Foreign Aid Boost Asked By Kennedy

Long Range Program Unveiled to Congress, Termed 'Necessary'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy Friday asked Congress for a sweeping overhaul of the foreign aid program. He proposed a 4.8-billion aid effort for the coming year and $7.3 billions in borrowing authority over the next five years for easy-term economic development loans abroad.

The program faces an uncertain future at the hands of the lawmakers, not only because of the higher expense which Kennedy said is necessary to fight the Communist threat around the world but also because of some of the new ideas it contains.

One innovation, which the President termed "of paramount importance" to his long-range plan, would be the $900 million for the coming year and $1.6 billion in each of the following four years which Kennedy wants to borrow from the Treasury.

These sums would be used to promote economic development overseas through loans up to 50 years carrying little or no interest.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Kennedy's proposals would permit the planning of foreign aid programs on a business-like basis.

Fulbright praised Kennedy's emphasis on repayable loans, saying: "This emphasis should give fresh drive, spirit, and imagination to United States officials who operate these programs."

The Foreign Relations Committee scheduled a hearing on the new aid program for next Wednesday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk as the first witness. The House Foreign Affairs Committee will start hearings June 7.

Kennedy said the year-by-year appropriation method is wasteful, and long-range economic projects require long-term authority.

The President also sought authority to use for future long-term economic loans the funds now being paid back by foreign countries from previous U.S. loans. This is expected to come to some $300 million a year.

Pinkos Plague Pulitzers In Annual Softball Game

By Staff Writers

Every once in a while it is the unexpected pleasure of a casual passerby to observe an act of courage and brilliance just in the flash of a moment, by accident as it were.

Such was the case Friday afternoon, as Madison Avenue stroller received their one-and-probably only chance to see the much-fabled, epoch-making Daily Iowan softball team in action.

The Political Science pinkos and Ringers also played.

The Daily Iowan team arrived at the Women's Athletic Field promptly at 3 p.m. to begin a casual warm-up. There they found the Pinkos, on their knees praying to Marx for rain.

But, sadly for both sides, blue skies prevailed, and umpire George DeBoer, G. Wichita, Kan., called, "Batter Up."

The diamond classic began with an expected flash of brilliance displayed by the DI infield, Pitcher Darold (Peace Corps) Powers intentionally walked the first poly sci batsman to give the pinko team unwarranted confidence.

The shrewd, calculating mound ace then forced the next hitter to ground sharply to shortstop Larry (Lino) Wallace, who flipped to Gary (Chunk) Hickok at second for one out. "Chunk" then gunned the ball to Phil (Pica Pole) Currie to nip the hapless pink by half a step — a "Dad's Day" double play for the DI.

In the second inning, the DI's suffered one of those unexplainable flukes which plague all major-league ability teams. The pinkos scored seven runs — all accidental.

After sporadic run-scoring by both teams (and the sidelines) during the next five innings, the deviants insisted that they had scored 14 runs, to the DI's four.

Right-wing stalwarts on the infield insisted that the total was nearer 10. However the DI, predicated on principles of fair play and "turn the other cheek" (and the other knee) challenged not the pinko allegations.

Although handicapped by this alleged 14-4 deficit, the Daily Iowan team rallied with a great surge of strength in the eighth inning to narrow the lead to 14-13.

What role the Defense Department played in the Cuban matter has never been explained in detail, but there have been reports that some of the plans were approved by the chiefs.

Group Seeks Tractor Talks With Cuba

DETROIT (AP) — The Tractors for Freedom Committee said Friday night it is seeking to form as early as possible a committee of agricultural and tractor experts to go to Cuba to meet with Cuban technicians.

The committee hopes the American experts can go to Cuba next week.

The American and Cuban technicians together would determine the sizes and types of tractors best suited to "increase the Cuban agricultural production and raise the standards of living of the Cuban people," the tractor committee said in a statement.

The statement added: "It had been hoped that the committee of technicians would be organized in time to accompany the delegation of 10 prisoners when they return to Cuba today. Unfortunately it was impossible to complete the committee's organization soon enough because American experts who are willing to serve and who may be available could not rearrange their schedules in time.

"It is hoped organization of the committee may be completed next week and arrangements made immediately for them to proceed to Cuba.

"Once their work is completed we shall exert every effort to have the first consignment of tractors in Havana Harbor as soon as humanly possible so that the liberation of the approximately 1,214 Cuban prisoners may be effected with the greatest expedition."

Labor Peace Plan Set Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Government came up Friday with a labor peace plan for missile and space bases and officials said they are sure it will work.

The plan involves a firm no-strike pledge from labor unions and a no lock-out pledge from manufacturers and contractors — along with a new 11-man Missile Sites Labor Commission designated to settle all disputes.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg will head the new commission, with William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, serving as co-chairman.

Three top representatives each from the public, labor unions and management round out the commission. The public is represented by labor experts David L. Cole, David H. Stowe and John T. Dunlop.

The union men are AFL-CIO President George Meany, Walter P. Reuther, head of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department, and C. J. Haggerty, president of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department.

Joint Chiefs of Staff Receive McNamara's OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Friday he has "complete confidence" in the Joint Chiefs of Staff and consults with them several times a week.

He gave that reply to a news conference question about reports that he has been bypassing the Joint Chiefs of Staff in arriving at strategy decisions.

McNamara made no direct comment on the recent statement of Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) that the present chiefs should be replaced by able and wiser men.

Personnel of the JCS changes periodically. The present JCS is composed of Army Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, the chairman; Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations; Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff; and Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff. Sitting in with the chiefs is the Marine commandant, Gen. David M. Shoup.

One question raised in Washington talk concerning the relationship with the JCS has involved the question of Defense Department

Billfold Containing $400 Lost by SUIowan's Dad

A billfold containing $400 was reported lost Thursday by a man visiting Iowa City for his son's graduation from SUI.

Theodore Hendricks, whose son, James, lives at 1109 Yewell said the billfold was lost in the vicinity of Dubuque and Washington streets. Hendricks told police it contained $260 in U.S. currency and between $100 and $200 in Venezuelan currency.

Recently, a lost purse containing $70 and a lost billfold containing $120 were both returned to their owners after the people who found them turned them over to the police.

To Start Anew Integration Drive

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Twenty-seven "Freedom Riders" convicted Friday of breach of the peace in a desegregation attempt, elected to remain in jail rather than post bond or pay the $200 fine.

Jack Young, attorney for the 27, told newsmen after conferring with his clients that they elected to remain in jail "at least for the present."

Three hours earlier, City Judge James Spencer convicted them of breach of the peace and sentenced them to a $200 fine and 60 days in jail. He then suspended the jail term at the request of the prosecution.

Spencer told the riders their conduct already has led to mob action and it would appear that they sought to inflame the people to fight it out among themselves instead of taking their cases through the courts.

The youthful-looking judge, talking in slow, deliberate tones, told the 27 — all but two of them Negroes — "the sole purpose that you came to Mississippi was to breach the peace."

He said that he was not trying any segregation laws or the defendants' rights to ride on any particular buses in any way, or to eat at any place.

If any person wanted to challenge the laws, he said, orderly methods are provided by law.

"These people took the laws into their own hands and flagrantly disobeyed the law," he said in a statement before he handed down the sentence.

Defense attorney Jack Young said before any decision was made on a possible appeal he would have to talk to each of the 27 individually. Some may want to appeal and some may want to pay the fine, and some to sit it out, he said.

The small courtroom was quiet during the two-hour trial, witnessed by about 100 persons.

An aisle down the middle of the room divided the seats. White persons — all newsmen — occupied the right side. The defendants, Negro newsmen, and a few Negro spectators occupied the other.

Spencer permitted no cameras in the courtroom.

The defense charged that police herded the riders into the white waiting room of a Jackson bus station in a "plot to arrest them."

They were originally arrested on charges of breach of peace and failure to obey an officer, but the latter charge was dropped by the city "because we don't want to be too harsh."

Defense attorney Wiley Branton of Little Rock, Ark., contended the arrests were "preconceived" and said officers herded the Freedom Riders into a white waiting room when they arrived from Montgomery, Ala., Wednesday in a plot to arrest them.

The Rev. James Lawson, a Negro Methodist minister from Nashville, Tenn., testified an out-of-order sign hung at the colored waiting room, and that he went into the white waiting room.

Lawson was the first witness among the Freedom Riders.

They left Montgomery, where racial violence broke out last weekend when other Freedom Riders challenged bus depot segregation, with the avowed purpose of testing racial barriers in Mississippi bus stations.

Gov. Ross Barnett ordered the highway patrol to escort the group nonstop through Mississippi on its destination to New Orleans. But the riders ignored officers enforcing segregation laws at Jackson's depot.

At Montgomery, 11 Freedom Riders were arrested Thursday after their challenge of bus station segregation laws. A court hearing is set June 16 of charges of breach of the peace while trying to eat at a white lunch counter in the terminal.

Other integration leaders predicted more massive demonstrations against racial barriers in bus stations would start anew within the next few days.

In New York, headquarters of the Congress of Racial Equality, (CORE) a spokesman said the Freedom Riders' trips to Southern bus terminals were only one phase of a drive to completely eliminate racial segregation.

Air and rail terminals will be added, the spokesman said, in the movement for "complete elimination of racial and religious discrimination." The drive has already hit lunch counters in drug and department stores.

In Tampa, Fla., the president of the state National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) ordered a test of racial barriers of all rail and bus terminals in the state. He instructed Negroes to seek service in terminal restaurants, take front seats on trains and buses and use restroom facilities designated for whites only.

CORE headquarters announced it was sending representatives to New Orleans, Jackson and Montgomery to assist in preparing additional attempts to break segregation laws.

The AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department donated $5,000 to CORE to help defray Freedom Rider expenses.

Corps Exams Begin Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — At 8:30 a.m. today, 7,000 Americans will sit down in 340 centers across the nation and write answers to questions for 5 and a half hours. The examination is their first hurdle on the way to the Peace Corps.

The government is giving the exams as the initial step in selecting candidates for the corps, which will send skilled Americans to underdeveloped nations. The corps members will work long hours at low pay and share the normal living conditions of the host country.

This first examination will be followed by a special test June 5 for candidates who want to teach high school courses overseas. The corps plans another general examination in early July.

There are no passing marks in Saturday's test.

Dr. Nicholas Hobbs, director of personnel selection for the Peace Corps, has said candidates who do poorly on one section may do so well in another that they will be picked for a particular skill needed for a specific project.

Thirteen applications have been received in Des Moines to take the Peace Corps examination today, said Eugene Warns, executive secretary of the Federal Civil Service Board in Des Moines.

The board will administer the day-long tests. Saturday's tests are for candidates in all Peace Corps programs, except teaching in secondary schools. Teaching tests will be given in Des Moines June 5.

Slow Down, Drivers; Prevent a Splashing

Not too long ago, pedestrians were a problem for motorists at the Riverside Drive-Iowa Avenue intersection. Rather than use the new footbridge, pedestrians would take the short-cut lower route. Drivers had to be alert for wandering pedestrians.

For a much longer time, however, an opposite situation has existed in the same vicinity. In this case, pedestrians have to be alert for passing traffic on rainy days as they cross the Iowa Avenue bridge.

A car buzzing along the bridge tosses up a veritable deluge of spray as it drops in and out of water-filled pot holes.

The wary pedestrian has no defense but to crouch along the railing to avoid catching the full force of the watery blast. The unwary pedestrian, however, finds himself mud-spattered and waterlogged after a jaunt across the bridge.

It is easy for motorists, when they are in their tight dry autos, to forget just how dampened one's spirits can get. But, it is only they who can eliminate this problem by slowing down while driving across the bridge.

Drivers should keep in mind that they also may be pedestrians someday when the streets are full of puddles.

Cold War Defroster: Presidential Visit to Russia

If this judgment is correct, there is one thing Khrushchev can do to bring it about:

He can re-extend the invitation to the President of the United States to visit the Soviet Union as a return courtesy for his tour of America. Khrushchev can make it possible for Kennedy to accept this invitation by making co-existence more peaceful in Laos, South Vietnam, and Berlin, and by negotiating seriously for a nuclear test ban.

Obviously Kennedy cannot visit the Soviet Union while the Kremlin is abetting aggression in Southeast Asia, pointing a gun at West Berlin, and applying a pocket-veto to test-ban inspection.

The U.S. experts who think that Khrushchev wants to reduce tensions might be right. But the test will not be what Mr. K says, but what he does.

You will recall that in the fall of 1959 the Soviet premier had the privilege of a long trip across the United States with many opportunities to present his views to the American people through the press, television, and radio.

It would be opportune to reciprocate, to give President Kennedy the privilege of a long trip across Russia and equal opportunities to present his views to the Soviet people through press, television and radio.

These things take time to work out. The President could not go on such a journey until Congress has adjourned. Perhaps this fall would be the right moment — if Khrushchev wishes co-existence to be more peaceful.

Since Mr. K has already accepted U.S. hospitality, he must wish — or, at least, expect — to extend Soviet hospitality to the President.

Will Khrushchev act to bring about such a visit by Kennedy? It will be interesting to see what happens. I know that Eisenhower always believed — and still does — that the Kremlin used the U-2 incident as an excuse to withdraw the invitation because it couldn't tolerate letting Eisenhower have the kind of access to the Russian people that Khrushchev had to the American people — speeches to large audiences nearly every night, full texts in the press, continuous radio and television coverage, and a half-dozen major addresses over the networks.

Naturally it would be obligatory for the Soviets to extend the same courtesies and facilities to Kennedy in Russia.

Whatever the reason, the Soviets found a way to get out of their invitation to Eisenhower. If Mr. K does not expect this cultural exchange at the summit to be entirely a one-way street, may it not be timely for him soon to switch the red light, turned against Eisenhower last year, to a green light for Kennedy?

Of course, Khrushchev may not be thinking of the needed defrosting of the Cold War for even the short time to carry through a Kennedy visit to Russia. The smiling periods of Soviet diplomacy have not usually lasted that long. For myself, I am inclined to step back from the official theory that the Kremlin wants the Vienna meeting to keep the Cold War from getting out of hand. This is like suggesting that the Soviets wish Kennedy to help Khrushchev from getting too intoxicated by the Communist giants in Cuba and Laos.

That may be the reason why Kennedy should go to Vienna, but I rather doubt that it is the reason why Khrushchev wants the meeting.

3 Alternative Finance Plans Offered for Improving Roads

By JIM SEDA
 Managing Editor
 (Last of a Series)

A long-range plan for improving Iowa's highways divides the needs into three categories — Primary Road, Municipal Street and County Road. The plan was based upon a 15-month study and projects needs and financing for the next 20 years.

Financing of the Primary Road System improvements is divided into 10-year, 15-year, and 20-year programs.

Under the 10-year program, $149 million would be needed annually. This would keep up with new requirements. Approximately $127 million each year would be necessary under the 15-year program. For the 20-year program, $111 million would be needed annually.

LACK OF UNIFORMITY within Iowa's incorporated urban areas prompted a recommendation for changes in the Municipal Street System.

The report suggests turning over responsibility for primary road extensions within cities and arterial (through) street systems to the State Highway Commission. In this way, more coordination in establishing uniform programs could be achieved.

Basic objectives of the Municipal Street needs are to provide reasonably free-flowing arterial streets, to provide paved surfaces for all residences and business except in outlying areas of communities with less than 5,000 population, and to provide adequate traffic control for arterial streets.

Three alternative financing programs are also offered for carrying out the Municipal Street category. In the 10-year program, $103 million would be needed annually. About $89 million would be necessary to implement the 15-year program, and $85 million would be needed for the 20-year plan.

ALTHOUGH A 1948 GOAL of providing an all-weather surfaced roadway to every reasonably located rural home has nearly been attained, new problems have arisen. These new problems are the basis for the County Road category.

Increased in volumes, weights and speeds of vehicles have already made many of the county roads obsolete. Therefore, the report suggests reconstruction of nearly 27,000 miles and building or rebuilding of about 15,000 bridges.

Maintaining these roads in order to preserve the investment in them is a basis for this suggestion. Other bases are to eliminate the backlog of improvements and to meet future needs for improvements.

Financing of County Roads needs, as in the other two categories, is offered under three alternatives: About $108 million annually for the 20-year program; $120 million for 15-year program; and $140 million for the 10 year program.

ANOTHER REPORT, by Public Administration Service, cited public understanding of the problems as one of the important things in undertaking future highway improvements:

"It must be recognized that there is no popular method of raising revenues to finance the operations of Government and that there is no convenient way of making up the deficit to meet highway needs. There is no untapped reservoir of public monies available for spending; there is no pat formula for providing each level of Government with all of the funds it needs.

"Local and special interests cannot be substituted for the general public interest in the implementation of a road and street program which affects every individual, every business, and every industry in Iowa."

President Kennedy is trying to soft pedal the aspect of the man-to-moon project as a direct part of the space race with the Soviet Union.

Accomplishment rather than competition was the President's theme Thursday.

Last month, however, the project was presented to several hundred columnists and editors from over the country, gathered in Washington, primarily and almost exclusively as a matter of prestige in the competition with Russia.

No matter how you slice it, it is a race and will be accepted as such by people everywhere, and victory or defeat will be clear cut.

The retirement under pressure of Rajeshwar Dayal as special representative of the United Nations in the Congo serves to pour some oil on the waters there regardless of whether he got out voluntarily.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld achieved a master political stroke when he persuaded India to take an active role in the Congo with a considerable body of troops, and Dayal was part of the deal.

A leftist intellectual, Dayal was accused of being neutral on the side of the Communists, just as Krishna Menon had been accused before him in other United Nations affairs. He became persona non grata to the Kasavubu faction which the West supports, and so was a stumbling block in Congolese relations with the United States. These relations became better when Dayal came back two months ago.

India, by the very force which she contributes and the presence of an Indian as second in command, retains a powerful voice in the Congo, and an embarrassment has been removed regardless of whether Dayal deserved it.

A number of hardheaded American bankers and business men are betting $100 million that there will be no great war in the next five years.

Other business men and governments throughout the world are preparing to make the total bet $600 million.

That's the estimated outlay, first for the grounds and then for the exhibits, before the 1964-65 World's Fair opens in New York.

As an omen of peace, the 1939-40 fair on the same site fell short. Maybe the law of averages will help this time.

What Was That You Said, Mr. H.?

The principle that who says a thing is of greater importance than what's said is well exemplified in this little excerpt from a "message."

"The times call for strong leadership, and above all, a sense of responsibility in the Congress if this nation is to continue in its course of greatness."

Quarter Million Accepted By SUI for Research

A quarter of a million dollars has been accepted for SUI during the past two months for research.

An additional $63,700 has been given to the University for research and grants for students, including awards to students, loan funds, scholarships, fellowships and funds for student training programs.

The gifts and grants for research and student aids were included in a total of $377,887.32 accepted at the May meeting of the State Board of Regents finance committee for SUI.

More than half the funds accepted — $196,504.82 — will be used by the SUI College of Medicine. The medical research projects include such areas as urology, arthritis and metabolic diseases, lung disease, pediatric metabolism, infectious diseases, cancer, and heart and blood diseases.

Other areas receiving research grants include: pharmacy, $4,945;

Two New Tests In Fall Program

Two new editions of the Iowa Tests for Educational Development (ITED) — the result of five years of test development — will be used next fall during the 20th annual Fall Testing Program for Iowa High Schools, according to Leonard S. Feldt, director of the program and associate professor of education at SUI.

Work in developing the new test forms during the past five years has involved trying out more than 3,500 exercises to complete the two 700-item forms to be used.

Iowa high schools which wish to take part in the 1961 program should notify Iowa Testing Programs, N-101 East Hall, Iowa City, before May 31.

Pitchers Grant, Lary Explain Win Streaks

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim "Mudcat" Grant, a fair pitcher with the Cleveland Indians, last week registered his 17th victory in 19 decisions with the Minnesota Twins, formerly the Washington Senators.

Detroit's Frank Lary has beaten the New York Yankees, usually a tough opponent for all other pitchers, 25 times while losing to them only eight times. He has whipped them twice in as many starts this season.

"I wish I knew," said Grant. "Then maybe I'd have the same luck against the others."

The Cleveland right-hander's luck has been somewhat less than good against the rest of the American League. Through the 1960 season, Grant's won and lost record was 13-24.

"I really don't know unless I unconsciously bear down a little harder against them because of their reputation," he said.

Lary, up to this season, has been

Drought Conditions May Spoil Fall Duck Hunting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department had some bad news for duck hunters Friday — the outlook is bleak for the 1961 duck crop.

Serious drought conditions on the best duck-nesting areas on the Canadian prairies threaten to sharply curtail waterfowl production again this year, the department said on the basis of early reports.

The Fish and Wildlife Service said, "The same condition extends into the duck-nesting areas of the Dakotas, Montana and Minnesota."

The field reports described the waterfowl breeding habitat as in poorer condition than it was last year or in 1959, when drought conditions brought new restrictions on hunting of migratory waterfowl.

Defending Champ Beats Eller in Golf Tourney

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Sherry Wheeler beat defending champion Judy Eller 2 and 1 Friday to join five-time winner Polly Riley in the finals of the Southern Amateur Golf Tournament.

Miss Riley, 34, Ft. Worth, Tex., turned back Mrs. Betty Probasco of Chattanooga, Tenn., 3 and 1 in the other semifinal match.

The 36-hole final will be Saturday over the 6,000-yard Biltmore Forest Country Club course.

Palmer Leads at Halfway Point at Indianapolis Meet

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — U.S. Open champion Arnold Palmer cooked a one-under par 70 on a "charcoal-broiled" Speedway Golf Course Friday and held the undisputed halfway lead in the $50,000 "500 Festival" tourney by one stroke.

Palmer's round of 35-35 included one birdie scored on a 60-foot putt on the 328-yard 12th hole. His 70 gave him a 137 total for the 36 holes.

A 25-mile an hour north wind in 45-degree weather made conditions so miserable that charcoal burners were dispatched to warm the helpers on the outpost scoreboards.

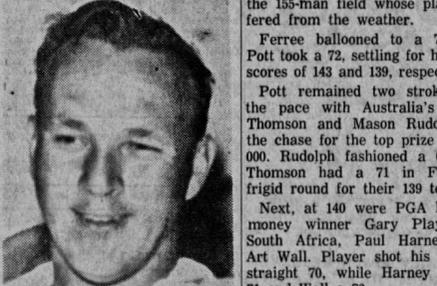

Palmer, who blew a three-foot birdie putt on the 18th green, shook off the pair who had tied him at 67 for the lead in Thursday's first round. But defending champion Doug Ford picked up a stroke on Palmer with his second successive 69 to grab the runner-up spot with 138.

Jim Ferree and Johnny Pott who shared the first round lead with Palmer were among the many in the 155-man field whose play suffered from the weather.

Pott remained two strokes off the pace with Australia's Peter Thomson and Mason Rudolph in the chase for the top prize of $9,000. Rudolph fashioned a 69 and Thomson had a 71 in Friday's frigid round for their 139 totals.

Next, at 140 were PGA leading money winner Gary Player of South Africa, Paul Harney and Art Wall. Player shot his second straight 70, while Harney had a 71 and Wall a 72.

Cards Maul Bucs 12-2; Boyer Stars

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Boyer smashed two homers and drove in six runs and the Pittsburgh infield collapsed with six errors in the St. Louis Cardinals 12-2 romp over the Pirates Friday night.

The big third baseman crashed out of a slump in which he went 15 games without batting in a run. His homers were his sixth and seventh. He also had a single as the Redbirds matched their best run-scoring game. That one came against the San Francisco Giants Tuesday.

Boyer got the Cards off to a lead they never lost when he homered to the right field pavilion roof in the first inning with Curt Flood and Bill White on base with singles.

Flood walked to make Boyer's second homer, in the sixth, a two-run job.

Football Ticket Sales

Between 50,000 and 55,000 application forms for SUI season football tickets were placed in the mail Friday Business Manager Francis Graham has announced.

Season tickets only will be on sale during June and July. These tickets will admit the holders to the Iowa Stadium for five home games of 1961 and will sell for $25 a book.

Ticket orders for individual games will not be accepted prior to Aug. 1, Graham announced.

Senators Nudge Twins On Bright's Clutch Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry Bright's bases-loaded single in the sixth inning drove home the tying and winning runs Friday night as the Washington Senators edged the Minnesota Twins, 4-3.

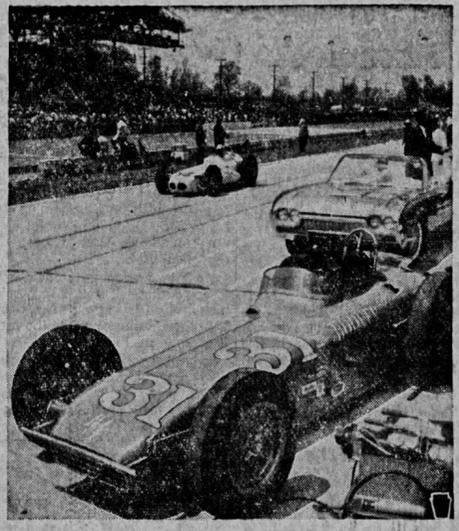

Bright's two-run liner enabled rookie right-hander Joe McClain to escape with his fifth victory in eight decisions.

'Rev 'Em Up'

Racing activity at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway nears the big Golden Anniversary Memorial Day 500-mile race with high powered cars turning practice laps at average speeds of more than 145 miles an hour. Driver Eddie Sachs will start the May 30th race from the pole position, earned on the first day of qualification with a four-lap average of 147.481 m.p.h. This pit area photo shows one car ready to go for the qualification, another just coming off the 2 1/2-mile oval, and the 1961 Thunderbird which will pace the 33 fastest cars to the starting line on race day.

6 World Marks May Be Set at California Relays

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — This city with its population of 36,585 transforms itself into the nation's track and field capital today as champions compete in the 20th annual California Relays.

Meet director Tom Moore, a former University of California hurdler and Harry Jerome of Oregon aim at breaking the 9.3-second world record in the 100-yard dash. Dennis Johnson has tied the mark four times already this season.

The pole-vault features Olympic champion Don Bragg and Oklahoma State sophomore George Davies, who last Saturday bettered Bragg's world record with a leap of 15 feet 10 1/4 inches.

Olympic champion Ralph Boston, the world broad jump record holder, heads the entry list for that event with Oregon's Darrell Horn, credited with the second best collegiate jump this year, and Bo Roberson of the Army the top competitor.

Abilene Christian's sprint relay teams challenge such quartets as San Jose State, Occidental, Oklahoma State, Baylor, Texas Southern, SMU, Oregon State, Gram-

Bradley Players Named In Basketball Scandal

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Two Bradley University basketball players listed by the New York district attorney's office as having rejected bribe offers but failing to report them to authorities were ordered dismissed from school Friday.

The Men's Discipline Committee of the university issued this statement:

"It is the decision of the committee that Alpha Saunders and James Tim Robinson shall be dismissed at the conclusion of the present semester examination period for action detrimental to the best interest of the university."

The present semester ends in about two weeks.

The committee is made up of three faculty members, the dean of men, dean of students and the dean of admissions.

Auto Race Veteran Picks Favorites for '500' Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A man who was racing autos 145 miles an hour 35 years ago, Harry Hartz, says he wouldn't be surprised if five or six cars are fighting for the lead when the checkered flag signals the winner of the golden anniversary 500-mile race Tuesday.

"Unquestionably it will be the finest collection of equipment that ever started the race," Hartz said Friday. "and the field is full of charging drivers."

"Everybody figures Roger Ward, 1959 winner, and Jim Rathmann, 1960 winner, are the ones to beat, but I also like Don Branson, Jim Hurtubise, Parnelli Jones, Lloyd Ruby, A. J. Foyt and several others."

Hartz, now vice chairman of the race technical committee, qualifies as an expert in every phase of the sport.

He came to the Speedway in 1919 as riding mechanic. He started driving in 1922 and was in the second-place car.

Hartz spent a year in a hospital after crashing on the board track at Salem, N.H., in 1927 and the 1928 Indianapolis race is the only one he hasn't seen in 42 years. He and Pete DePaolo had raced at 145 miles an hour on the boards — a speed which is close to the present-day top competitive speed on the relatively flat Speedway.

Hartz turned to building autos after his wreck and put together the winning racers driven by Billy Arnold in 1930 and by Fred Frame in 1932.

Giants Beat Cubs 3-2 in 13 Innings

CHICAGO (AP) — The league-leading San Francisco Giants, defeating the Chicago Cubs for the sixth straight time, scored two unearned runs in the 13th inning and downed the Cubs 3-2 Friday.

Two errors — a fumble by third baseman Ron Santo and a wild throw by outfielder Billy Williams — led to the Giants' final two runs. Harvey Kuenn, whose eighth-inning single produced the tying run, singled for the lead run before Felipe Alou scored on Williams' wild throw past the plate.

Sam Jones, fourth of five San Francisco pitchers, was the winner as Don Elston took the loss — his fourth against five wins.

Eddie Fisher closed out the 3-hour 40-minute marathon by getting Al Heist on a long fly after the Cubs picked up their second run in the home half while chasing Jones.

DeMaret To Play Instead of Palmer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy DeMaret will replace U.S. Open champion Arnold Palmer in the Canada Cup International Golf Matches in Puerto Rico next week. Frank Pace Jr., president of the International Golf Association announced Friday night.

Al Johnston of Quebec will substitute for Canada's Stan Leonard. No replacement has yet been seen for South Africa's Gary Player, who also is unable to play.

Palmer, Player and Leonard all advised Pace Friday night that they were unable to play in the international events because of Professional Golfers Association regulations. They previously had accepted invitations but could not obtain releases from the Memphis Open, also scheduled June 1-4.

Under PGA rules certain players, including champions and top money winners, are barred from taking part in non-sponsored tournaments at the same time as PGA co-sponsored events are being held unless they are released.
