1,170 Receive Degrees at Spring Commencement

Morrill Tells Of Special Responsibilities

Hancher's Charge: 'Survival Depends On Pioneering Spirit'

President Virgil M. Hancher conferred degrees upon some 1,170 SU Iowans Friday at Commencement exercises in the Iowa Field House.

The University President also issued the traditional charge to the graduates. This year marked the 103rd year that SU has granted degrees.

James L. Morrill, former President of the University of Minnesota who addressed the graduates, stressed that a massive job of education, our own re-education as well as the education of others, offers the best hope in meeting the challenge of world affairs.

"All of us find ourselves citizens of the world, as never before, since the beginning of the Second World War — and the college graduate a citizen with very special responsibilities, opportunities and obligations," Morrill said.

Morrill, now a consultant with the Ford Foundation, recently traveled in India, South America, and East Africa.

Quoting the U.S. Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, Morrill continued: "In the upsurge of demands for independence and economic advancement among hundreds of millions abroad who have now little of either . . . they see education as indispensable to their quest for growth and dignity. At the center of these new educational demands . . . stands the American University."

The schools and colleges of this country are just awakening to this educational challenge, he continued.

It is the summons to see outside the Western World of our nature and knowledge, to train our young people to meet the problems and prospects of this divided world; to upgrade, through education, our own and the capacities of peoples everywhere for responsible self-government and freedom, for productive and peaceful partnership.

Morrill asked that a greater portion of our foreign aid be spent on education. "The great masses of the illiterate are not yet ready to understand or appreciate the doctrine of democracy," he said. "For democracy presupposes a literate populace."

"Investment in education is investment in the indispensable resources of human ability and competence and hope — the key to economic development and political stability."

President Virgil M. Hancher, in his traditional charge to the graduates, urged them to nurture and cultivate the pioneering spirit that has made SU a formidable and respected University.

Following the lines of Morrill's address, Hancher said: "Neither by wealth nor by power can your generation dictate the course of your allies or regulate the pattern of international affairs."

"For many decades to come you may be called upon to endure a world which you cannot cure or greatly alter. Only by a pioneering spirit and the keenest of mentalities can you hope to survive in the turbulent decades that will measure your span of life."

Hancher said that this University stands for the things that have been precious to men of perception during the long span of 25 centuries: the transmission of learning; the search for truth; the distinction between the word and the deed; the cultivation of the life of the mind; the kindling of the imagination; the soaring of the human spirit; and the power of an idea.

U.S. Diplomatic Note Urges End of Laos Talk Deadlock

By CARL HARTMAN

GENVA (AP) — U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman put strong pressure on Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko Friday to get the stalled 14-nation conference on Laos back on the track.

He delivered a note from Washington that carried the personal approval of President Kennedy, and supported the note with an hour-long argument.

American sources said Gromyko made no new offer, but raised hopes something could be worked out by indicating that the Soviet Union is eager to go on with the conference.

The Western Powers Thursday decided to call an indefinite postponement of the conference because of frequent violations of the cease-fire proclaimed May 3. The incident that touched off the postponement was a prolonged artillery and infantry attack by the pro-Communist rebels that forced a retreat by forces of the Royal Laotian Government from Padong, a mountain village 20 miles south of rebel headquarters at Xieng Khouang.

Further reports during the day told of withdrawal of Government troops under rebel pressure north of the royal capital, Luang Prabang.

International truce teams under the supervision of India, Poland and Canada, have not been able to travel freely to trouble spots to oversee the cease-fire, as demanded by the West.

American sources understood that Gromyko's indication of a desire to see the conference proceed came directly from Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Khrushchev and President Kennedy, in their Vienna Summit talks last weekend, agreed on the importance of a cease-fire. There is some doubt, however, that Khrushchev gave the same meaning to the words of their joint communique that Kennedy did.

Gromyko told Harriman that rebels in Laos had been provoked by American parachute drops to the defenders of Padong. Gromyko evidently sought to blame the United States for the rebel attack.

The Soviet foreign minister suggested that an effective cease-fire could be obtained simply by Washington and Moscow passing the word down to both sides in Laos "to behave themselves."

Hold General In Dominican Conspiracy

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The investigation into the assassination of dictator Rafael L. Trujillo took a dramatic turn Friday night with the announcement that Maj. Gen. Jose Rene Roman, deposed defense secretary, is being held for questioning.

Leland Rosenberg, civilian aide to Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo Jr., son of the slain dictator and new chief of the armed forces, made the announcement but gave no details.

Reports circulating here said, however, that Gen. Roman was visiting an official near the scene of the assassination on the night of May 31. He was said to have held a gun, was drawn to the scene and thus became a subject of suspicion.

Officials still have not given out details of their investigation of the plot. With only two men in the alleged team of seven assassins still at large, however, the Government's version is expected to be disclosed soon.

Previous reports said the slain retired Brig. Gen. Juan Tomas Diaz, who has been labeled by the government as the chief plotter in last week's assassination of Trujillo, had tried to get in touch with Gen. Roman while in hiding from secret police.

Dr. Robert Reid Cabral, the young physician who committed suicide after being forced at gunpoint to give sanctuary in his home to four of the alleged assassins, said Diaz sought contact with Roman.

Diaz was killed by Government agents, reportedly while resisting arrest.

Anti-U.S. Rally Staged By Uruguayan Students

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — The first anti-U.S. demonstration of Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson's South American tour occurred here Friday.

While President Kennedy's special representative met with Uruguayan officials, student supporters of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro staged a protest rally shouting, "Cuba si, Stevenson out."

The leftist rally at National University took place as officials were reported telling Stevenson that Uruguay favors a hands-off policy toward Cuba at present.

A high Government source said the Castro regime appears to be embarking on a more moderate policy and should be left alone to see what happens.

The official Uruguayan attitude, however, does not go far enough to please leftist leaders. At the protest rally, they accused the Government of "selling the country to the envoy of Wall Street and the Pentagon."

The anti-U.S. outburst was the first since Stevenson began his 18-day tour last Sunday. The U.S. chief delegate to the United Nations is attempting to line up support for Kennedy's alliance-for-progress aimed at combating the spread of Communism by raising economic standards in the Western Hemisphere.

Stevenson came here from Argentina in a pouring rain. Government officials and newsmen were almost the only people at the airport. The streets were nearly deserted as the ambassador's motorcade drove into the city.

The first outward anti-U.S. sign in Montevideo was an announcement in the Communist newspaper El Popular that an open air meeting would be held in front of the university to "repudiate the Stevenson mission." The meeting was arranged by Uruguayan supporters of Castro.

Stevenson had private talks with Foreign Minister Homero Martinez Montero and later with the president of the Government Council, Eduardo Victor Haedo, the Uruguayan equivalent of president.

Both sides declined to divulge details of the talks but it is known Uruguayan officials, like officials in Venezuela and Argentina, presently oppose any joint or drastic action against the Castro regime.

Despite the pro-Castro rally, Uruguayan Communists have been restrained lately and the government reportedly feels the Cuban crisis will gradually calm down if there is no new aggravation.

Senate Saves Housing Bill By Democratic Concession

WASHINGTON (AP) — Modification staved off disaster in the Senate early Friday for President Kennedy's housing proposal for modest-income families.

Administration leaders now are hopeful they can restore it in full when the House acts this month.

House Administration leaders said "we think we have the votes" to restore the 40-year, no-down payment loans for houses costing up to $15,000 in the form Kennedy proposed.

The Senate Thursday at first voted to knock the whole program out of a $6.1-billion catch-all housing bill. But Democratic leaders won a reversal toward the end of a 13 1/2-hour session.

They had to concede an important point, however — as approved by the Senate, the mortgages would require down payments running to $555.

Housing specialists in the House feel the down-payment requirement would seriously limit the use of the program by the families in the $4,000-$6,000 income bracket for which it is intended.

Still they were cheered by the fact that the long-term mortgages, in any form, remained in the Senate bill. This means that even if the House, traditionally more conservative on housing legislation, should knock out the program, it still has a chance of being revived in the conference between the two chambers.

It is taken for granted that the Senate and House will pass different versions of the bill initially and that a conference will be needed to iron out the differences.

The Senate, which finished considering all amendments during its marathon session, votes Monday, with final passage generally conceded. The House Rules Committee considers Thursday the House version already approved by the Banking Committee.

Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said that if the Rules Committee clears the bill, as expected, he will call it up for action in the House the following week.

SUI Coed Receives Degree, Dies in Car-Truck Collision

By JIM TUCKER
Staff Writer

At about 11 a.m. Friday, 22-year-old Myrna Sprengeler of Mason City, received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Liberal Arts in the Iowa Field House.

A few hours later, she left Iowa City with her fiancé, Rodney Anderson, 22, of Hampton. At 1:30 p.m. they were both fatally injured in a three-vehicle accident on Highway 218, 1/2 mile north of Vinton.

The two reportedly were planning to be married August 20.

The accident occurred on a wide curve in an area where resurfacing work was being done. Highway Patrol officials said, a flatbed, semi truck traveling south lost control on the curve, sideswiping another semi-truck and jack-knifing into the path of the oncoming car occupied by Anderson and Miss Sprengeler.

The driver of the flatbed truck, Richard Clark, 24, Mt. Hope, Wis., was not injured, but a passenger, Arnold Ziegler, 62, of Dubuque is listed in serious condition at Vinton Hospital with a broken collar bone and extensive head injuries. Robert Cusher, 40, of Waterloo, the driver of the second truck escaped uninjured.

Authorities said Miss Sprengeler was taken to Vinton Hospital where she died at 5:30 p.m. Anderson was taken to University Hospitals in Iowa City and died at 8 p.m.

The truck driven by Clark caught fire shortly after the crash. Clark and Ziegler were rescued, but the truck's wreckage was destroyed by fire. Vinton firemen were on the scene shortly after the accident.

Highway patrolmen Lloyd Patterson and H. P. Jannott, both of Vinton, and numerous other rescue workers had considerable difficulty freeing Anderson and Miss Sprengeler from the wreckage. The car, was demolished.

Miss Sprengeler received her degree in home economics.

She was graduated from Mason City High School in 1957. Miss Sprengeler is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Sprengeler, and an older sister, Virginia, all of Mason City.

Anderson was a student at Iowa State Teachers College. He was graduated from Hansel, Iowa, High School in 1957. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilbur Anderson of rural Hampton.

Local Man Shoots Wife, Daughter, Self

County Attorney Pins Tragedies on Family Quarrel, Despondency

By ROBERT G. PRENTISS
Staff Writer

A former Fairfield policeman apparently went berserk Friday and shot to death his wife and 3-year-old daughter before fatally wounding himself.

Dead are August Klett, 48, his wife, Lucille, 48, and their daughter, Diane, 3. Two other small children ran to safety when the shootings started at the Klett home, 1024 6th Ave.

County Atty. Ralph L. Neuzil wound up investigation of the case Friday night after Dr. George D. Callahan, county medical examiner, ruled the deaths murder and suicide.

Neuzil said the tragedies grew out of a family quarrel. He added that Klett had evidently been emotionally distraught before he and his family moved to Iowa City late in January.

The shootings occurred shortly before 11:30 a.m. The weapon, a .22 caliber revolver with hollow-nose bullets, was found near the bodies of the parents.

Neuzil said Klett had bought the gun and a box of shells about 10 a.m. from a local sporting goods store. He paid $40 in cash. According to the clerk, Klett had also been in the store, Thursday to look at the weapon.

A next-door neighbor, Edward Morley, said he saw Klett come home about 10:30 a.m. and start mowing his lawn.

Morley, who was weeding his flower garden at the time, said, "He even came over to tell me how nice my roses looked."

"We talked for a while about gardening. He didn't appear to be disturbed about anything," Morley said, "and then I left to go get some dinner."

Neuzil said Klett apparently shot the girl first in the right wrist, then in the right ear. The body was found on the floor in a rear bedroom of the small, green shingled home at the corner of "H" St. and 6th Ave.

The mother and father were lying on the cellar stairs, adjacent to the bedroom. Mrs. Klett was shot in the cheek and temple, and Klett, in the side of his head.

The older children, Robert, 14, and Linda, 10, ran out of the house when the shootings occurred. Their screams attracted the attention of Bill Canon, 928 East Bloomington St., who was working on a new house nearby. He immediately called police.

Meanwhile, another older son, Charles, 18, returned to the home. He reportedly was met at the door by his father who told him:

"I just shot your mother."

Charles drove off in his car and met Police Sgt. Edwin J. Ruppert, who was patrolling in his cruiser on Burlington St.

Ruppert was directed to the scene, along with Sheriff Albert J. Murphy, Detective-Lieut. Charles H. Snyder, Patrolman C. D. Stimmel, Neuzil and Callahan.

Authorities said they had had no previous trouble with the Kletts.

Neighbors said, "They seemed a nice family — one that liked to be together."

Klett had worked for the Fairfield police department for about two years. Herbert Atherton, police chief in 1954, said he "fired Klett for drinking too heavily." Atherton also said Klett had "had family troubles."

Fairfield Police Chief Russell Simmons, who was deputy sheriff in 1954, said "Klett was very moody — when he was down, he was really low and when things were going good for him, he was congenial, a friendly person."

Since 1954 Klett worked in the Fairfield area in a foundry and on a farm. He was unemployed here. His family was drawing aid to dependent children assistance through the county welfare office.

Other members of the family include two older daughters, Pat, 21, employed locally, and Mrs. Robert Ackerman of Fairfield.

Gowned Under

Debbie Hawkins, A2, Iowa City, piles graduation gowns on John Salyer, L1, Silver Springs, Md., after the anxious graduate escapes had dumped them on the floor on the way to picking up their degrees. Miss Hawkins and Salyer were in charge of the "cap and gown clean-up crew."

Where Are Those Bold New Ideas?

We now have the assurance of President Kennedy that the net result of his personal talks with Premier Khrushchev was substantially what had been reported previously by the newsmen — no material change in the status of Russian-Western relations, which remain deeply discouraging. Khrushchev gave no sign of any slightest of changing his present positions, which have been fairly well defined.

It is perhaps admirable to say that we shall persevere in our efforts to persuade him to take what we consider more tolerable positions, and possibly there is no harm in continuing to go through such motions. But might it not be more realistic to admit conviction that this approach isn't working, probably isn't going to work, and ought to be supplanted by something else?

Hasn't the time come, perhaps, to break out some of those "bold new ideas" of which Adlai Stevenson and others used to speak so hopefully?

Better yet, it may be time to fall back on a bold old idea which has served more than a few countries well in the past in times of adversity — do what's right, as we see it, regardless of what Khrushchev or anybody else may think of it, and let others do the counterpunching for awhile. Constant backpedaling around the ring in an effort to avoid hurting anybody's feelings is getting irksome.

'He Gets Mean When He's Drunk'

Supreme Court Decision A Blow to U.S. Reds

WASHINGTON — After 11 years of litigation the Supreme Court has at last put into the hands of the Government a powerful weapon against the Communist Party in the United States.

In the minds of some people there is anxiety that this decision undermines the constitutional rights of free speech, free assembly, and the privacy of political beliefs.

In my judgment it does no such thing. But the question should be fairly faced and answered.

To answer this anxiety it is necessary to see what the court has not done as well as what it has done.

The decision does not outlaw the Communist Party. It does not make it illegal to advocate Marxism. It does not make it illegal to advocate any political theory except the active overthrow of the Government by force. It does not give Congress the right to outlaw any group merely because such a group espouses unpopular ideas. It leaves with the American people the responsibility to counter Communist ideas in the market place of free speech.

The Supreme Court ruling reaches to the heart of the evil of the Communist Party. The premise of the decision is that the Communist Party is an agent of a foreign power (the Soviet Union) and on this point it supports the central findings of the Subversive Activities Control Board which was set up by Congress in 1950 to administer the Smith Act.

Because the Communist Party is an obedient instrument of the Soviet Union — not an American political party loyal to the United States — the Supreme Court has, I believe, rightly ruled:

"That it must register publicly as an agent of a foreign power."

That the Communist Party must list its officers and members.

That it must name the sources of its finances, account for its expenditures, and identify all its publications.

That heavy penalties can be imposed for failure to do these things.

In a related decision the Court also ruled that it is a crime to be knowingly a member of any party which actively advocates the forcible overthrow of the Government.

Why is this a powerful weapon which can greatly immobilize the Communist Party? Its power is total disclosure and total disclosure can be devastating.

It means that the Communist Party cannot legally receive funds without disclosing the source. It cannot legally accept members without disclosing their names. It cannot legally spread its propaganda without disclosing its sponsorship.

Of course, the Communist leadership will try to evade the law. That is its nature. But it will be difficult for it to function effectively under these restrictions. The Communist leaders will be in the toils of the F.B.I. a great deal of the time. Their finances will be hard to come by. Their propaganda will be hard to spread surreptitiously.

Naturally the Communist Party screams and squirms over this Supreme Court decision. It rants that the decision is "a blow against democracy and the American Constitution" — both of which it wants to destroy.

It needs to be emphasized that the Court only ruled against a so-called political party which is an agent of a foreign Government. As such the court held that the Communist Party must yield to total disclosure and not parade under the false guise of loyalty to the United States.

Some say that this action will drive the Communist Party underground. My judgment is that the Communist Party is already operating underground to the full extent of its capacity. It will now find it harder to operate above ground and underground.

CONSCIENCE MONEY

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP) — State police received a 25-cent check recently from Mrs. Jerome Schlesinger of Port Chester, N.Y., for a highway toll.

It seems she missed the basket when she tried to throw a quarter into an automatic toll collector on the Connecticut Turnpike. She started to get out to retrieve it, but a long line of motorists behind her began to honk their horns. So she drove off.

Later, she began to brood — maybe she had better make certain the state received the money. Thus, the check.

Appropriation Cuts May Create Education for Rich

By MIKE PAULY
Written for the DI
(Last of a Series)

They're still grumbling in Michigan, Minnesota, Texas and other states about the treatment accorded by legislatures which sliced appropriations requests by governing bodies much the way the Iowa Legislature pared millions of dollars from the recommendation by the Board of Regents.

In financially plagued Michigan, the blow may have been the most severe. There, Michigan State University, the University of Michigan and Wayne State University have had to take drastic measures to insure the continuation of education.

At Michigan State, enrollments have been frozen, tuition raised and nearly $1 million lopped off present operating budgets.

At the University of Michigan, the faculty will suffer. Teaching pay scales have been set and won't be changed until more money is available. But even at the University of Michigan, tuition increases appear to be coming, and enrollment may also be squeezed.

Wayne State, in Detroit, will attempt to balance the budget by slicing 20 per cent from its enrollment. The faculty at Wayne State also is in the bind, because the school will make only the most necessary salary increases.

The story is the same in many parts of the country. For the most part, legislators accuse the school administrators of deliberate misrepresentation of the facts in order to get additional funds. But the administrators counter this charge by pointing out that in many cases the picture actually is much more bleak — but for the sake of the school and in order not to scare away members of the faculty, a middle-of-the-road policy statement has been delivered.

The real scandal in most cases is that fully qualified students, who would have easily been accepted in most circumstances, now have to be turned away and be denied a college education. Some schools are making their entrance requirements tougher each year, gradually forcing more and more formerly qualified students out.

It cannot be denied that a problem — indeed, a crisis — has developed in higher education. And until the members of the legislatures and the governors awaken and face the situation, the schools are going to be sliding backward.

But by cultivating funds from industry and from alumni, from Government and from individuals, the rising and onrushing tide may be stemmed for a while. Certainly we could make better use of scholarship money that now exists, and certainly, too, we could increase present totals by cultivating sources now not fully utilized.

However, the problem is to be continued until the legislatures find additional means of support for the schools. But we must not allow our colleges and our universities to slip further and further into oblivion. Each year we under-appropriate will make it more difficult to catch up.

If increased taxes must be the answer, well and good. But to expect students to be able to raise the entire cost of their education — especially if the present trend continues — is to flirt with a system that will revert to education for the rich — qualified hopefuls be damned!

Coffee Houses In New York Have Changed

Recently, a couple of city councilmen toured three Greenwich Village coffee houses and decided they weren't nearly as bad as they were painted. The tour started in Phase 2 and the first remark made by one of the city councilmen: "This isn't a coffee house, is it?" I don't know what they expected.

Well, yes I do. They expected a coffee house as shown on the Bob Hope show. The coffee houses have been portrayed on television and in movies so luridly that the real things are beginning to look a little pallid. No bearded beats, no drug addicts, just people. At the Figaro, one of the original coffee houses, a trio (clarinet, violin, cello) played Bach and Mozart. At the Bizarre the songs were Caribbean.

As a matter of fact, the pressures on the coffee shops have eased a bit. The premise is back in business again after being closed by the fire department. But the pressures on Greenwich Village itself as a way of life, as a center of offbeat ideas and art and free expression has not let up. The cops still frown on folk singing in Washington Square but for some reason you can walk through the square with a portable radio blaring. Folk dancing is all right. But folk singing isn't. It's a puzzlement.

Latest to feel the lash of official disapproval are the artists in the loft buildings. The lofts where they used to make electric light bulbs years and years ago have been the large, airy, and well lit refuges of painters and sculptors for years. Actually, it has always been illegal to live in the lofts but no one really enforced these regulations.

Lately though, the fire department has been cracking down to such a degree that the artists hardly dare open their doors. And they black up their windows at night and don't dare play the hi-fi in lots that once rang with music and merriment.

The other day I visited a large loft — man, what space — over an undistinguished bar, and about 500 steps up. Sparse but delightful.

The artist, Ron Westerfield, said: "It is illegal for me to live here. We don't deny that. We want either to amend the building code so that we could legally live here or we would like the city of New York to build low rent studios for artists. I have been living here a few years and this is my home. Nobody until recently has threatened me. But we now have black curtains on the windows at night and no music."

An artist friend Jim Gahagan spoke up. "I have been living in my loft for seven years. Firemen have come and looked around but they have never given me a summons. They've hit the building across the way but the reason was legitimate: There was no stairway to the roof in case of fire. It's the same way it's been for 50 years. I don't question their right to hit the building. I just wonder why they're doing it now. I question what is behind this sudden move to get rid of New York City's creative people."

Said Westerfield: "We don't have any place to go from here. If we lose our lofts we have to leave New York City. We can't afford apartments. There are few studio apartments and most of them have been taken over by photographers who pay exorbitant rents. If I were making enough money I wouldn't be interested in breaking the law. I don't know anyone except De Kooning and Hoffman and a few others who can afford both an apartment and a separate studio."

"We are a prestige group mainly," said Gahagan. "Not only painters, but photographers, dancers, acting groups. We all lease lofts. We've mostly cleaned these studios and almost without exception we've made fantastic improvements."

"It's funny," said Ron, "that people aren't interested in artists themselves, only their paintings. I think the general opinion most people hold is that artists are riff-raff. They think we live in slums and don't much care about us. Look at my studio. It's more than livable and it's clean, certainly. People think that whenever artists move into an area they lower the standards — well, they usually raise them. Here we are considered an illegitimate profession. We're not stealing anything, we're paying our rents."

"And here in New York," Ron continued, "they are building Lincoln Center but they apparently don't think enough of the artists, who will be needed to keep Lincoln Center the cultural center it is supposed to be, to give them homes, places to work."

"Yeah," said Jim Gahagan, "if they take care of us, we'll take care of them."

Committee Will Fly to Cuba— To Discuss Tractor Trade

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro agreed Friday night to receive experts from the "Tractors for Freedom" Committee to discuss details of exchanging prisoners for tractors.

The Cuban prime minister sent a note to the committee formally agreeing to accept the freedom group's technicians. Castro said he would have preferred a member of the committee come to Havana "but that is not indispensable."

Castro told the committee the delegation coming "must have powers to discuss the quality and amount of indemnification Cuba is asking as it was spelled out to you by the prisoners" who were sent to the United States to negotiate the deal.

The freedom committee announced in Detroit that its technical committee will fly to Havana Monday.

The committee also said, "It appears that newsmen whose publications wish to send them to Havana with the Freedom Technical Commission can be provided transportation."

At present there are no American newsmen in Cuba.

The announcement said its technical experts "will leave Miami International Airport Monday at 2:30 p.m. (EST) on Pan American flight 7421."

Meanwhile, mail continued to pile up at "P.O. Box Freedom" in Detroit.

The post office estimated more than 55,000 pieces have arrived since a "Tractors for Freedom Committee" was organized May 22 to raise funds for 500 tractors which Prime Minister Fidel Castro fixed as Cuba's price for releasing 1,200 prisoners taken in an abortive April invasion of the island.

The committee arranged "P.O. Box Freedom" as an address for donations.

Whether any of the mail ever is opened here will depend upon a swap being arranged. If the proposed deal falls through, the committee proposes to let the post office return the mail unopened to original senders.

The committee Thursday night drafted a reply to a Castro message received at its Detroit headquarters Wednesday morning, and offered to send the technical experts to Cuba.

This proposal countered one from Castro asking that one of the top leaders of the committee come to confer with him.

How much money the 55,000-plus pieces of mail contain, isn't known, of course. But experts figure $3 to $3.5 million will be needed to provide the 500 tractors the citizens' committee has pledged itself to deliver for freedom of the April invaders.

The 50 land-clearing and 450 conventional agricultural tractors which the committee has pledged would cost an estimated $2.5 million; the plows and other agricultural instruments the committee proposes to throw in, another $500,000 to $1 million.

West German President Tells Reds: 'Get Out of East Berlin'

BONN, (HTNS)—West German President Heinrich Lübke Friday told the Communists to get out of East Berlin, and said that he will visit the city's free Western sectors "again and again" despite Soviet protests.

Lübke's declaration was the day's most outspoken reply to the new Soviet barrage against alleged "unlawful interference" by West German authorities in the affairs of West Berlin.

Lübke, who flew back to Bonn after a two-day visit to Berlin, said that the Communist attacks against his presence in the city were "all the more reason to continue our visits."

However, at Bonn, the West German government was more cautious in defending the right of the Bonn Parliament to convene in Berlin, this is the immediate issue raised by Friday night's Soviet notes to the United States, Britain and France.

Felix von Eckardt, spokesman for Chancellor Adenauer, insisted that the Bonn Parliament has the "right" to meet in West Berlin on special occasions as a way of demonstrating its loyalty to the former German capital, and that Moscow voiced no objections until recently.

However, he dodged questions as to whether the upper house of Parliament will go ahead with a much-bruited scheme for convening in West Berlin on June 16, the eve of the eighth anniversary of the East German uprising against Communists.

He asserted that no final decision has yet been taken and that it was, anyway, a matter for the Parliament and not for the Bonn Government to decide.

Prior to Friday night's sudden Soviet blast, it was widely believed that the Upper House's June 16 session would be quietly cancelled in order not to raise tension at Berlin. This would be a similar move to the current indefinite postponement of the annual West Berlin session of the Parliament's lower house.

That may still be the final outcome, but it will displease one segment of West German opinion which made itself heard Friday night.

work carried a commentator's The North German Radio Network broadcast calling on the upper house not to "retreat" in the face of the new Soviet move and to travel to West Berlin on June 16 — come what may.

President Lübke's trip to West Berlin marked his third visit there this year. Although his office is largely of symbolic importance under the postwar Bonn constitution, his visits clearly emphasize West German support for Berlin.

Two weeks ago, Lübke was angrily assailed by the East German Reds when his name appeared as the patron of an International Water Resources Congress held in West Berlin. Communist delegates to the Congress refused to attend.

His visit to the city this week, again aroused violent Communist attacks.

Asks Reform For Angola

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States split with its North Atlantic allies Friday night to support a U.N. Security Council resolution demanding that Portugal stop repressive measures against the native African population in its riot-ridden territory of Angola. It was the Kennedy Administration's third such vote on the Portuguese-Angola question.

The council adopted the Asian-African resolution 9-0 with two abstentions. Joining the United States for the resolution was the Soviet Union.

Britain and France abstained, and Portugal, an ally of the three Western powers in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, spoke out strongly against the resolution.

The other seven yes votes came from Chile, China, Ecuador, Turkey, Ceylon, Liberia and the United Arab Republic.

The resolution asked for reforms in Angola, where thousands have been killed in clashes between Angolan rebels and Portuguese troops.

It called on Portugal to extend every facility to a subcommittee of the General Assembly set up April 20 to investigate the situation in Angola, and asked the subcommittee to report back as soon as possible.

In a report to Erbe the agency said it had been a policy of long standing, under both Republican and Democratic Administrations, to distribute sample liquor to various persons, including those putting on state functions, members of the legislature and public officials.

The 1961 Legislature named an investigating committee which reported that no incumbent legislators got any free liquor.

Meeting with Erbe, besides Burris, were Commissioners Homer Adcock, Des Moines Democrat, and Gerald Smith, Creston Republican.

NAACP Asks Aid for Riders Against Police

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People entered the "Freedom Riders" movement Friday, asking U.S. District Court to protect the riders from police interference.

The move aligned the NAACP with the Congress of Racial Equality — CORE — in its southwide test of segregation laws and traditions.

The NAACP has favored legal action, and has looked with reserve upon the more direct CORE-sponsored rides, although supporting the goal of desegregated travel facilities.

The NAACP petition was filed by Constance Baker Motley and chief NAACP attorney Thurgood Marshall of New York and R. Jess Brown of Jackson, and Vicksburg, Miss.

The petition is a class action asking that a three-judge federal court consider the request for protection against the arrest of riders.

Under the law, U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize must refer the petition to the chief judge of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, Judge Elbert P. Tuttle, for consideration.

Since May 24, 98 so-called Freedom Riders have poured into Jackson by bus, train and plane with the announced intention of testing segregation laws.

All have been arrested on charges of breach of the peace growing out of their refusal to obey police orders to move out of the terminals.

Police have said the presence of the riders in Jackson after announcing their intentions to violate a law is a breach of the peace, compounded by their refusal to move out of the terminals.

The NAACP petition came shortly before five more riders were convicted of breach of the peace charges in City Court. The five arrived by Illinois Central Railroad earlier Friday.

The five were all given maximum fines of $200 and four-month jail sentences by Municipal Judge James L. Spencer. Previous sentences to riders were suspended in whole, or in part.

Liquor Commission Accepts Gift Ban

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa Liquor Control Commission bowed to Gov. Norman Erbe Friday and accepted his recommendations on procedure to ban gifts of liquor or anything else of value from distillers and dealers who sell their products to the state stores.

After a conference in his office with the three liquor commissioners, the Governor indicated that his investigation of the agency, launched earlier this year, was ended.

One of 11 recommendations Erbe submitted calls for a strict accounting of sample liquor which comes from the suppliers for chemical analysis.

Commission Chairman C. J. Burris, Maquoketa Democrat, said this is now being done.

The disposition of about 4,000 bottles of sample liquor figured prominently in the Governor's probe when he asked the commission for an accounting in April. At that time he threatened to bring removal action against the commissioners.

In a report to Erbe the agency said it had been a policy of long standing, under both Republican and Democratic Administrations, to distribute sample liquor to various persons, including those putting on state functions, members of the legislature and public officials.

The 1961 Legislature named an investigating committee which reported that no incumbent legislators got any free liquor.

Meeting with Erbe, besides Burris, were Commissioners Homer Adcock, Des Moines Democrat, and Gerald Smith, Creston Republican.

Cleveland Trips Tigers 5-4

Phillips' 9th Inning Homer Boosts Lead to 1 1/2 Games

DETROIT (AP) — Bubba Phillips cracked a 3-2 pitch into the lower left field seats with one out in the ninth inning Friday night and lifted the first place Cleveland Indians to a 5-4 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

Right-hander Barry Latman pitched 4 1/2 innings of near perfect relief ball and picked up his fifth victory without a defeat.

The only safety off Latman was a run-scoring double by Rocky Colavito after Latman inherited a two-on jam in the fifth inning.

The victory, Cleveland's 23rd in 28 games, increased their margin over the Tigers to 1 1/2 games.

The final game of the four-game series will be played Saturday afternoon.

Phillips' winning home run was his seventh and came off Paul Foytack, who hurled the last four innings for Detroit.

Yanks Dump Kansas City For 8-6 Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle crashed tie-breaking homers and drove in six runs between them as the New York Yankees defeated the Kansas City A's 8-6 Friday night in a game twice interrupted by rain.

Maris' 18th homer, tops in the majors, was a two-run shot and broke a 5-5 tie in the seventh inning.

It was the 15th in the last 23 games for Maris and followed a double by Tony Kubek, who had a pair of two-baggers and a single while extending his hitting streak through 19 games.

Mantle took care of the Yankees' first five runs against loser Ray Herbert 3-6.

He walked and scored an unearned run on Gene Stephens' error in the second inning, cracked the 1-1 tie with his 16th homer, a three-run belt, in the third, and singled home another run in the fifth.

Little Luis Arroyo was the winner in relief, squaring his record at 2-2 after replacing starter Jim Coates in the sixth inning.

Home runs — Kansas City, Stephens (1), Fossida (4), New York, Mantle (16), Maris (18).

He walked and scored an unearned run on Gene Stephens' error in the second inning, cracked the 1-1 tie with his 16th homer, a three-run belt, in the third, and singled home another run in the fifth.

Earlier, the Senators had frittered away a 6-0 advantage. Rookie Chuck Hinton and Green also socked homers for Washington, while Roy Sievers hit his 12th and Jim Landis his 9th for the White Sox.

In contrast, the first game was a neat package, with tight pitching on both sides. Dick Donovan, an ex-White Sox, went the distance, giving up six hits.

The Senators also won this one on a hit by a pinch-batter. Gene Woodling opened the 10th with a single and Pete Daley sacrificed him to second. Then pinch-hitter Harry Bright hit a single to left field to give Washington the victory and end a five-game losing streak.

Washington Senators took two hairline decisions from the Chicago White Sox Friday night — 1 to 0 in 10 innings on the six-hit pitching of Dick Donovan and 10-9 on a ninth-inning rally that produced four runs.

The Senators scored one run in the ninth inning of the second game and then tied it on successive home runs by Dale Long and Willie Tasby. A double by Gene Green and a single by Danny O'Connell brought in the winning run.

Earlier, the Senators had frittered away a 6-0 advantage. Rookie Chuck Hinton and Green also socked homers for Washington, while Roy Sievers hit his 12th and Jim Landis his 9th for the White Sox.

20 Negro Track Stars Protest Discrimination

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Most Negro track stars, including world record holders John Thomas and Ralph Boston, withdrew from the 1961 Meet of Champions shortly before the finals started Friday night.

They said they withdrew in protest against what they called segregated seating of spectators.

The public address announcer at Jepperson Stadium, a city-owned football field, told the 5,000 spectators when the meet was to start that "some of the contestants have withdrawn for personal reasons."

Both Boston, Tennessee State, and Thomas, of Boston University, turned away from the stadium when they reached a picket line at the gates.

Thomas is the world record holder in the high jump, and Boston world record holder in the broad jump.

They told reporters shortly before the meet was to start they would not take part in the meet as long as Negro pickets were outside the stadium protesting against what the pickets called segregated seating.

The 20 Negro athletes who refused to compete included hurdler Hayes Jones, broad jumper Anthony Watson, 880-yard star George Kerr and Stone Johnson, sprinter. All of these were in the 1960 Olympics.

Slam Not Enough; Braves Lose

CHICAGO (AP) — Moe Thacker singled across the winning run from second in the ninth inning Friday as the Chicago Cubs outlasted Milwaukee 11-10.

Four Braves homered accounted for all of their runs.

The Cubs blew leads of 6-0 and 9-6, with Milwaukee moving ahead 10-9 in the top of the ninth on Lee Maye's first major league grand slam homer with two out.

The Braves now have hit 10 homers, driving across 17 runs, in two successive games, both of which they lost.

After the Cubs nicked the sixth Milwaukee pitcher, Warren Spahn, for one run in the bottom of the ninth, Thacker whacked his decisive single, with men on second and first, off Carl Willey.

The defeat was charged to Spahn, while the victory went to the fourth Cub pitcher, Bob Anderson.

Before Maye hit his grand slammer in the ninth, the Cubs shoved across three runs in the eighth, keyed by Billy Williams' pinch double, for a 9-6 lead.

Ed Mathews slammed a solo homer in the top of the eighth, hoisting Milwaukee into a 6-6 tie.

Joe Torre's two-run homer in the fifth and Joe Adcock's three-run smash in the seventh melted away a 6-0 Club margin.

Don Cardwell started for the Cubs and Bob Buhl for the Braves, who used a total of 20 players. The Cubs used 16.

Milwaukee . . . 000 020 014 — 10 12 1
Chicago . . . 014 100 003 — 11 17 0
Buhl, McMahon (3), Brunet (6), Raymond (7), Olive (8), Spahn (9), Willey (9) and Torre; Cardwell, Schaffert, Mathews (7), Elston (9), Anderson (9) and Bertell, Thacker (9), W — Anderson (2-5), L — Spahn (6-6).
Home runs — Milwaukee, Torre (3), Adcock (7), Mathews (15), Maye (6).

Bombers Get Bombed

Lee Maye, who hit a grand-slam home run for the Milwaukee Braves in the ninth inning of a game with the Chicago Cubs yesterday is congratulated by his teammates — but joy was short-lived as the Cubs won 11-10. The Braves have driven 17 runs across with 10 homers in the last two days. But they have lost both games. Shaking hands with Maye are Frank Bolling (2), pitcher Lew Burbov.

Iowa City's Home Opener Tomorrow

By GEORGE KAMPLING Staff Writer

The Iowa City Merchants baseball team entertains Watkins here tomorrow afternoon in their home opener of the 1961 season. The Merchants come into the game with a 1-3 record, losing to three non-conference foes, and beating Victor last Sunday in their first East Central Iowa league game.

Game time is 2:30 p.m. DST on the City Park diamond.

Watkins is also 1-0 in the ECI league, beating Solon last week, 9-8. Solon was league champion in 1960, while Watkins finished in the number two spot.

This is the first year Iowa City has been in the league.

The Merchants defeated Victor 18-8, while losing to Fairfax, Anamosa Reformatory, and the Muscatine Red Sox.

Other league teams are Williamsburg and Belle Plaine.

Bob Norton will be starting hurler for the Merchants, in tomorrow's game. Norton pitched two innings of hitless relief against Muscatine in his only stint on the mound this season.

The Iowa City team plays Williamsburg there next Thursday night, and returns home next Sunday afternoon, also against Williamsburg.

The starting line-up for tomorrow's game:

Dick Libby, cf
Ernie Gaerens, 3b
Harry Olslander, ss
Vic Bolger, 2b
Lee Ockenfels, lf
Gene Vell, rf

ROTTEN!
Bob Cousy Raps Basketball Scandals

AFTON, N. Y. (AP) — Bob Cousy says the current basketball scandal is representative of American society which he called "rotten to the core."

"I find it awfully hard to make these ball players any more criminal than the 'point shaving' on millions of income tax returns and illegal insurance rebates that many try to finagle," the Boston Celtics' star said in an interview with the Evening Press of Binghamton.

"This is the society that these players have been brought up in, and to my way of thinking," he said, "the players involved are the least guilty of anyone at all involved in creating their environment."

Cousy, considered one of the greatest professional basketball players, made the remarks after attending the Afton Central High School athletics award dinner. He said then: "Our American society has become rotten to the core."

The scandal has involved 31 players from 17 colleges. They have been charged with taking bribes for shaving points in 40 games.

Which One Will Win: Moore, Old Age, Scales, or Rinaldi?

NEW YORK (AP) — Archie Moore defends his share of the world light heavyweight boxing title tonight against the triple threat of Italy's Giulio Rinaldi, old age and the scales.

Old age is given the best chance of upsetting the ancient one.

With a $100,000 guarantee at stake, Moore is expected to make the 175-pound class limit even if he has to shave his whiskers. His trainer, Dick Sadler, said before leaving the Monticello, N. Y., camp that Moore was down to 176 1/2 and would have no trouble.

Beating age may be a more difficult problem. Archie claims he is 44 but his mother says he is 47. Doubt about his strength after a long weight-reducing program has sided the reported odds from 3-1 to 8-5, Moore favored.

Moore's share of the title has been chipped away and now covers New York, Massachusetts and Europe. The National Boxing Association withdrew its recognition last October because of his failure to defend. Later the NBA crowned Harold Johnson.

This 15-round match in Madison Square Garden, scheduled for 10 p.m. CST, will be carried by network ABC television.

Moore, a veteran of 212 pro fights dating back to 1936, holds the record for knockouts with 130. He hasn't defended in almost 22 months. Archie's career record is 181-25-6.

He has held the title longer than any other light heavy champ. Since he won it from Joey Maxim, on Dec. 17, 1952 he has defended it eight times.
