

Kennedy Licks Illness, Tackles Foreign Policy Problems

U.S. To Stand Firm in Berlin -- McNamara

South America Seen Very Unstable Amid Widespread Ferment

Compiled From Leased Wires

A bit weak, but no longer bedridden with sore throat and fever, President Kennedy spent his first day back at the desk Friday, retackling major foreign policy problems in all parts of the globe.

From Berlin to Cuba to Japan, Kennedy took them in 1-2-3 order. His personal physician, Dr. Janet Travell, remained at his side to ply him with periodic shots of penicillin.

The President's first official action was to call together a hastily assembled White House conference of top-level advisers to review recent Soviet threats to Berlin.

Reporters were barred from the secret session, but Secretary of Defense McNamara said in a press conference afterward, there are "no present" plans to build up U.S. forces in Western Europe — or specifically, to increase the garrison and add Army weapons in Berlin.

"We are taking a firm, but I believe not a belligerent attitude in supporting our position in Berlin and the rights and freedoms of the people living in Western Berlin," McNamara said.

Regardless of what was discussed, however, Kennedy in his first day back at least had the relief of knowing the House Appropriations Committee was fully behind him in his request for heavier military spending.

With apparently little opposition, the committee recommended appropriations of $42.7 billion for the fiscal year beginning July 1 — about $2.4 billion more than the amount allotted the Defense Department this year just ending.

The committee's closest approach to a major break with Kennedy's recommendations came in its addition of $448.8 million for manned bombers — which, McNamara said, the Administration doesn't really need, especially since development of the supersonic B70 has been cut back to an experimental basis.

Nevertheless, the committee felt heavier armaments were necessary because "there has been a general worsening of the international situation."

In South America U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson did find a worsening international situation, and in his report to Kennedy Friday, he declared that the continent is "slipping backward economically, amid rising discontent."

Among the causes, he listed an explosive birth rate, low productivity, and in many cases a feudal setup marked by social injustice, and imbalanced use of natural resources.

Stevenson also told Kennedy the U.S. role in the unsuccessful invasion of Cuba in April was unpopular among the 10 South American capitals he visited where "the principle of non-intervention is a religion."

To promote better relations, Kennedy may attend the Inter-American Economic and Social Council Conference now scheduled to begin at Punta del Este in Uruguay July 15.

Regents Pass New Budget: $17.3 Million

New Fees Hike This September Will Bring In $500,000 Yearly

Meeting in closed executive session, the State Board of Regents Friday approved SUI's 1961-63 budget of $17,361,349.

Iowa State received $19,393,428; Iowa State Teachers College, $4,569,200; Oakdale Sanatorium, $1,224,200 and the Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School, $488,745.

Nearly all of SUI's appropriation, $17,006,949, will be devoted to basic teaching, research, and service activities. Budgeted for repairs, replacements, and alterations is $350,000. The SUI Lakeside Laboratory, located on Okoboji Lake, was granted $4,400 for similar improvements.

Funds appropriated for SUI by the 59th General Assembly will take care of $13,250,400 of the $17,361,349. A total of $3,496,549 will come from fees paid by SUI students during the year, with some $500,000 of this income to be derived from a fee increase of $50 per year for Iowa residents and $100 for non-residents. The Board of Regents authorized this increase to take effect in September.

The remainder of the budget will be supported by payments on government research contracts ($190,000) and $70,000 income will be derived from various other sources.

The new budget provides another $390,000 for salary increases and additional expenses expected to be made necessary by anticipated higher enrollment.

Other major increases over allocations in the current biennial budget include $1,417,294 for raising salaries of SUI's teaching, research, professional and administrative staff, the largest hike for any salary group in the new budget. A total of $302,701 has been set aside to raise salaries and wages of general service staff members.

In all, the new budget is $2,252,019 greater than the current fiscal year's budget, an increase of 14.2 per cent. As in the case of the salaries and wages, most of SUI's categories of expenses will receive additional funds next year.

The University will apply $299,687 next year in an attempt to arrest "program dilution" which is the result of state appropriations disproportionately small in relation to the educational cost load carried by SUI during the past several years. The upgrading and addition of new positions to weaken teaching areas will be among the first steps in this direction.

Under the new budget, academic salaries will be 13.8 per cent higher in 1961-62 than they were in the first year of the current biennium, 1959-61. General service staff salaries and wages will average 9.8 per cent higher for University employees. Administrative and professional staff members of University Hospitals will receive a 14.2 per cent higher average salary and general service staff will average 11.2 per cent more.

University Hospitals received a total of $9,915,262; Psychopathic Hospital, $1,239,500; the State Bacteriological Laboratory, $408,254; and the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children, $634,300.

Hancher Tells Race Policies, Hankins Findings to Regents

Pledges Housing Probe For Any Bias Reports

By BILL STRABALA Staff Writer

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher appeared at Friday's Board of Regents meeting and outlined the official University policy on discrimination in off-campus housing.

Hancher also declared that an investigation into the widely-publicized Andy Hankins depledging incident "revealed no conclusive evidence that the fraternity was acting on orders from higher up."

When Mrs. Joseph Rosenfield, Democratic regent from Des Moines, asked what the University would do if a charge of discrimination in off-campus housing were reported, Hancher replied, "The Office of Student Affairs would conduct an investigation to determine the truth of the charges. If they were found to be true, the landlord's name would be removed from the list of approved off-campus housing."

The subject of discrimination was first broached by Lester S. Gillette, Democratic regent from Fostoria, who asked Hancher for the findings of the investigation into the Hankins affair.

The incident of two months ago involved Negro Andy Hankins, 21, Waukegan, Ill., who was denied membership in the Delta Chi social fraternity after being accepted as a pledge.

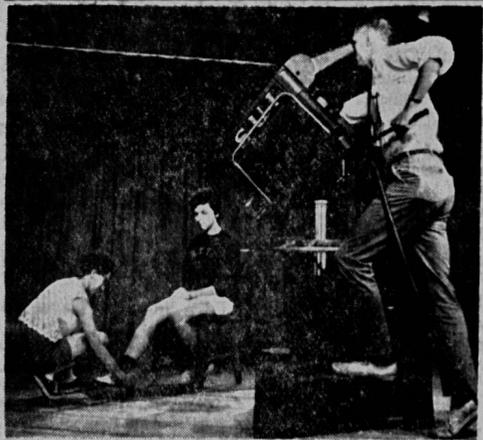

Speculation was rife that Hankins was a victim of racial discrimination, and that "undue pressure" had been exerted by the national chapter of Delta Chi to get rid of Hankins.

If he had been finally accepted, Hankins would have been the first Negro member of an SUI fraternity.

Hancher said that the depledging incident was "not as simple as it appeared in the newspapers." He said the investigation revealed the result of a division of opinion which developed within the fraternity after the pledging. He described it as "a first-class fraternity fight."

Hancher told the regents, who were convened in the Pentacrest Room of the Iowa Memorial Union, that he was consulted even before the pledging of Hankins by a representative of the fraternity.

He said he advised the representative "it was a chapter matter. If 'Delta Chi' pledges a Negro — fine. If not — fine again." Hancher emphasized that the color line was not a major issue in

News in Brief

DETROIT — The Tractors for Freedom Committee said Friday night it was disbanding because Dr. Fidel Castro's rejection of its plan to trade tractors for prisoners "has made impossible a realization of our humanitarian goals."

The committee said Castro's revised demand for $28 million worth of American tractors was "a move which could only be interpreted as one calculated to destroy any possibility of agreement."

"As a result of Dr. Castro's action," the statement said, "the decision of the committee is to disband and return all contributions without putting them to the use for which they were generously, genuinely and unselfishly intended."

NEW YORK — Three big seamen's unions flayed turned down Friday a 60-day Government fact-finding armistice in the maritime strike. American shipowners earlier had agreed to the proposed truce, in an effort to head off eventual tieup of nearly 1,000 of their vessels.

The rejection by the Seafarers International Union, the Marine Engineers Union and the Masters, Mates and Pilots Union—three of the six involved in the eight-day strike — apparently doomed the plan outlined Thursday by Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg for a three-man fact-finding committee to settle the deadlock. The three unions represent 47,000 strikers.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — A Redstone rocket ticketed to carry a second American astronaut into space was erected on a launch pad Thursday for a firing expected in mid-July.

The flight will be similar to that taken on May 5 by this nation's first spaceman, Alan B. Shepard Jr. Shepard's historic 15-minute journey carried him 116 miles high and 302 miles down the Atlantic range, proving man can endure weightless flight and the pressures of blastoff and re-entry.

The pilot on the upcoming mission will do more observing and fewer performance and monitoring tasks.

The astronaut will be either Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. of New Concord, Ohio, or Air Force Capt. Virgil I. Grissom of Mitchell, Ind.

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — The X15 rocket plane roared to a record mile-a-second speed Friday — with its pilot practically paralyzed by a ballooned space suit.

Air Force Maj. Bob White guided the ship to a mark of 3,600 miles an hour, fastest for winged flight, despite cabin pressure failure that expanded his rubberized space suit so it was all but rigid.

1-Year ROTC Program OK'd

By BILL KRAHLING Staff Writer

The required ROTC training for SUI male students will be one year, following Friday's action by the State Board of Regents.

Approval of the plan, which was 18 months in the study stage, is scheduled to be in effect for two years with a new Reserve Officers Training Corps program to be launched at that time.

Freshmen will thus be relieved of taking the sophomore year of ROTC in the 1961-62 academic year. SUI will continue to offer the second, third, and fourth years on a volunteer basis for qualified students, leading to Army and Air Force commissions.

The Defense Department will have the final word on acceptance of the plan. Although Government officials were consulted on the program, some past preferences have been for two-years of ROTC — either voluntary or compulsory.

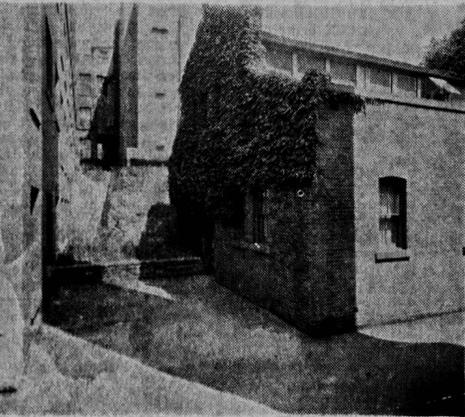

ROTC action was just one of a

RUSSIAN DEPARTMENT

Continuing growth in enrollment for Russian classes at SUI prompted Board approval of the establishment of a Department of Russian, effective this fall.

Dr. Max Oppenheimer Jr. of Florida State University will join the faculty as the Department's first chairman.

Regents Approve SUI Building Projects

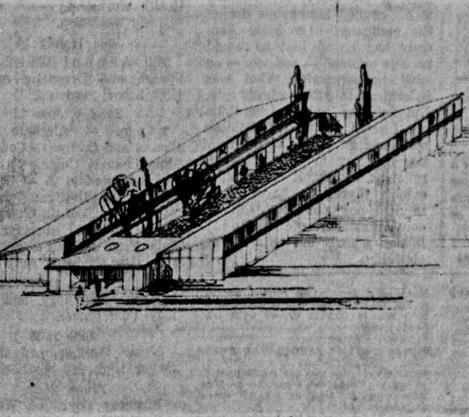

Engineering Addition

Additional laboratory space, two offices and a conference room for the SUI College of Engineering will be provided by enclosing this 16-foot space between the Materials Testing Laboratory (right) and a wall of the Engineering Building (left). The State Board of Regents Friday approved the two-story, 16 by 40 foot addition, budgeted at $20,000.

Special Services Addition

Additional work and storage space for the SUI Division of Special Services will be provided by an 18 by 38 foot, two-story addition to be built on the west side of Day House (shown above). The converted residence is now used to house the SUI Institute of Public Affairs, part of the Division of Special Services. Budgeted at $15,000, the addition was approved Friday by the State Board of Regents.

New Art Studios

New studios for SUI faculty artists were given preliminary approval Friday by the State Board of Regents. To be constructed northwest of the Hawkeye Apartments, the studio building will be the first step in clearing a site for a new College of Business Administration building along the north side of Iowa Avenue, between Dubuque and Clinton streets. An old, wooden-frame studio building on the site will now be demolished.

Infirmary Enlargement

Additional space for the SUI Infirmary will be provided by enclosing the first-floor porch area, shown above. Enclosing the 16 by 40 foot space will provide two examining rooms, a staff room and a passageway. The State Board of Regents approved the project Friday and set a budget of $8,000.

Consideration Needed For Police Grievances

The grievance committee of the Iowa City Police Department is grieving — over an apparent delay at City Hall.

About six weeks ago, the grievance committee addressed to the City Council a petition for fringe benefits which would put a little more "stretch" in the policemen's paychecks.

At present there are 24 men on the force. The base pay (before deductions) for a patrolman is $4,800.

The grievance committee wanted:

- 1.) More liberal allotments to insure neat, clean, and (when needed) new uniforms for the force.
- 2.) A longevity or incentive pay plan which would grant an automatic and modest $20 a month salary increase every five years, up to 20 years of service. (The Iowa State Highway Patrol is presently operating with a $25 a month longevity plan.)
- 3.) Under the present wage plan, Iowa City policemen on the 3-11 p.m. shift receive an additional 2½ per cent, while patrolmen on the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift receive an added 4 per cent. The captains and sergeants, however, do not receive any such addition to their salaries for night duty. The grievance committee voted to seek this benefit for the police officers.

This was the petition which the City Council referred to City Manager Peter F. Roan. According to the Council's directive, Roan was to investigate the situation in the Police Department and make a recommendation at the next Council meeting.

That Council meeting has passed without any report from Roan. Members of the grievance committee have attempted to arrange appointments with the City Manager, but have reportedly received none.

The 1962 city budget, with its appropriations for the various departments has already received a first reading in City Council and is now being prepared. Roan says the police petition is a budgetary matter to be considered when the budget comes up for approval. He would not say what action he has taken or what recommendations he is making. No mention of the petition was made in Tuesday night's City Council.

It appears likely that delaying tactics are being employed which will shelf for a whole year, any consideration of the policemen's petition. It may seem like a trivial matter. No doubt there are many more important items at City Hall which keep Roan busy.

But policemen are busy too. They are on duty protecting property, assuring the safety of everyone from the City Manager down to their own families.

We don't want Iowa City to experience what happened in Des Moines or Burlington. We like our policemen and we want to go on liking them.

But to express a like for them, a little consideration needs to be shown... consideration from every citizen, and consideration especially from City Hall.

Sentiment Changes

The Gallup Poll's reflection of sentiment in the South toward the use of federal marshals to quell the Freedom Bus riots is surprising when compared with a similar report on use of federal troops in the 1957 Little Rock school integration crisis.

Only 36 per cent favored federal intervention in the Little Rock case; 50 per cent in the bus riots in Montgomery, Ala. Those who thought federal intervention wrong dropped from 53 per cent in the Little Rock case to 29 in the Montgomery case. The number who weren't sure increased sharply.

We do not know what percentage of Negroes and of whites were polled, but presumably it would be the same in both cases. If so, the change is significant.

We hope, and believe to some extent, that the South is beginning to realize that the states' rights argument is not valid when applied to deny rights to United States citizens.

Probably more importance can be placed on the difference in the way the local police acted in the two incidents. Although Gov. Orval Faubus' attitude at Little Rock was questionable, the police there did what they could to control the mobs at the schools. The police were missing most of the time at Montgomery while the bloody beatings were administered to Freedom Riders.

It is encouraging that a majority of Southerners seems to be willing to accept federal intervention when the local police fail to prevent brutality against the Negro.

'Summer Employment Gets Worse Every Year'

Both Supporters, Opponents Jeopardize Education Bill

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The Administration's education bill is in serious jeopardy. It is in jeopardy by the combined power of some of its supporters and all of its opponents; it is in jeopardy by a combination of those who would apparently be willing to see it killed unless they can get aid to religious schools also, and those who want it killed under any circumstances.

At this point the bill is bottled up in the House Rules Committee because Reps. James J. Delaney (D-N.Y.) and Thomas P. O'Neill (D-Mass.) who want federal aid to religious schools, are teamed up with members of the committee who want nothing. This gives them a majority, and there Delaney says he is prepared to stand until the committee clears a companion bill to provide religious school aid.

The opponents of any kind of federal aid to education are delighted.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee which approved the Administration's public school bill a month ago, now sees the whole program going down the drain. He is convinced that only President Kennedy's vigorous intervention can save the situation.

Will Kennedy intervene? And to what purpose? Will he ask Congress to pass the public school bill and then later consider aid to religious schools on its separate merits? Or will he oppose the appropriation of public funds for religious schools not just on the ground that it is unconstitutional but on the ground that it is unwise and unsound public policy?

It seems to me that the answer to the questions as to what stand the President will in the end take, if necessary, is contained in his explicit statements during the campaign. Obviously Kennedy had hoped that he would be able to stand — and win — on what he advocated. That was federal aid to public schools only. But since the leaders of the Catholic Church in the United States and some influential members of Congress are demanding aid to religious schools, it is becoming evident that Kennedy will have to deal not only with the constitutionality of aid to religious schools but with its desirability.

Make-good service on missed papers is not possible, but every effort will be made to correct errors with the next issue.

The issue which will soon confront the President is not just whether Congress has the constitutional power to give money to religious schools but whether he deems it good policy.

The Catholic Church officials in the United States are taking a position on federal aid to religious schools which painfully tests the commitments which Kennedy, who is also a Catholic, made to the American people in seeking the Presidency.

"The position of the Administrative Board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference is that it is unconstitutional for the Federal Government to give aid to religious schools and that to appropriate money for religious schools is incompatible with separation of church and state."

The position which Kennedy took in the campaign is that federal aid to religious schools is unconstitutional and that the appropriation of public funds for religious schools is a violation of separation of church and state.

In his address to the Greater Houston Ministerial Association, Kennedy defined the religious issue as "not what kind of church I believe in, but what kind of America I believe in." He then described this aspect of the America he believed in:

"I believe in an America where the separation of church and state is absolute — where no church or church school is granted any public funds."

I find it hard to read this statement as meaning anything other than that Kennedy intends to maintain "absolute" separation of church and state and oppose granting "any public funds" for church schools as an essential to maintaining separation of church and state.

This crystal-clear stand by Kennedy undoubtedly helped more than anything else to dissolve the "religious issue" in his favor last fall and it is unlikely the President will depart from it.

Mousy Assault

There is no sure way of estimating the damage air pollution in our cities does to human health, but it is widely believed by medical specialists and others to be very substantial.

Estimates have been made that pollution costs us several billions a year in harm to livestock, vegetation, buildings and materials, property values.

Against these heavy and largely incalculable drains on our life and substance, we must set the fact that United States states and cities together spend only $9.5 million annually to attack pollution problems. Though hundreds of cities of varying sizes are afflicted, only about 100 have control programs with full-time staffs.

It seems a pretty mousy assault on a mountainous difficulty.

T. Roosevelt's Power Was Sort of Poetry

Reviewed by MAURICE DOLBIER
 Herald Tribune News Service

POWER AND RESPONSIBILITY: The Life and Times of Theodore Roosevelt, by William Henry Harbaugh, 566 pages, Farrar, Straus and Cudahy, 50 cents.

Theodore Roosevelt gave a minor government post to Edwin Arlington Robinson and told him "to think poetry first and Treasury second." Robinson's friend Robert Frost has said: "I remember TR — the only President I ever met, the only President who ever took that much interest in a poet... (He) was our kind. He quoted poetry to me. He knew poetry. Poetry was in his mind..."

Poetry and power — the same combination that Frost recommended to the second such President he has met. It is the power that most Americans remember about TR — the "Big Stick," the "S Brenobus Life," the zest for combat (political, military or moral), the "deelight" in living — the power whose exercise was in itself a wild kind of poetry. "He really believes," said John Jay Chapman dryly, "that he is the American flag." Under the magnetic influence of his personality, millions of his fellow-countrymen accepted that identification. Even Woodrow Wilson, who had been the target of some of Roosevelt's most profane abuse, said after a White House meeting: "... I was charmed... There is a sweetness about him that is very compelling. You can't resist the man."

Certainly his biographers haven't been able to resist the TR spell. Let them set down in all candor, as Harbaugh does, "the affront his militarism and chauvinism gave the hum a spirit," his rashness and irresponsible statements and actions, his rough-riding ego — "he once exclaimed when asked how he knew that justice had been done, 'Because I did it.'" — his intolerance, and the compromising that was so frequent in Roosevelt's political career.

As "Mr. Dooley" interpreted one of the Presidential messages: "Th' trusts," says he, "are hee-jooz monstahs built up be th' in-lighntened interprise iv th' men that have done so much to advance progress in our beloved country," he says, "I own hand I wud stamp 'em under fut; on th' other hand not so fast..."

Yet, with all these faults and weaknesses noted, in the summing-up they're heavily outweighed by the accomplishments of "the first great President-former of the modern industrial era," by his "dramatic and exhilarating impact on his time," by the energy and the innocence, the enthusiasm and the courage, the heart-winning and heart-warming qualities of the man himself.

What Roosevelt said when he reviewed the 1913 exhibition of modern art at the 69th Regiment Armory can be applied, without too great exaggeration, to his own career: "The necessary penalty of creativity 'is a liability to extravagance... There was one note entirely absent... and that was the note of the commonplace. There was not a touch of simpering, self-satisfied conventionality anywhere..."

Harbaugh's biography is scrupulously fair in its judgments, rich in anecdote and apt quotations from Roosevelt's contemporaries and from modern-day students of the TR era, well organized, and moves at a pretty good pace (though it can't match that of its subject: "Tis Teddy... that's running," said Dooley, "and he ain't running, he's gallopin'...")

Appointed to Zoning Body

Allan D. Vestal, SUI professor of law, has been appointed to the City Planning and Zoning Commission for five years — his first venture into local governmental affairs.

Vestal was named by the City Council to succeed O. K. Patton, SUI professor emeritus of law, who resigned Tuesday. Patton, appointed last month, said he expected to be out of the city next year.

Vestal joined the SUI faculty in 1949. He is a lecturer on pharmaceutical jurisprudence, has co-authored a textbook, "Pleading and Procedure," and served on the Advisory Committee on Rules of the Supreme Court of Iowa.

Director of the State Services for Crippled Children at SUI; director of the University Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children; and professor of pediatrics. He will head the optimists until June 30, 1962.

Dr. Rembolt formerly served on the board of directors as vice president in 1959-60 and as director of the year before. He is a past governor of the Iowa Optimist district, and has held many other district posts. A fellow in the American Academy of Pediatrics and the American Academy for Cerebral Palsy, Dr. Rembolt is an associate member of the American Academy of Neurology, and a member of more than 10 professional organizations. In 1959, he was elected president of the American Academy for Cerebral Palsy.

coal bids for the State Sanatorium and SUI. Representatives of a variety of coal, gas, and railroad companies were on hand to speak at the open meeting.

Finally, the Board rejected all bids and will re-advertise for bids. This will form a major portion of business at the Board meeting, tentatively set for Aug. 10 and 11 in Des Moines.

Two elevators will be installed — one at $15,511 in the new Law Center and the other, estimated at $35,000, in the Union. The funds for the Union elevator will come from the Memorial Union Plant Improvement Fund.

Perhaps, nearer home for many SUIowans was the first action on an ultimate six-story $200,000 parking ramp with a capacity of 450 cars to be located east of the Union, on the east side of Madison Street, and north of the Women's Gymnasium.

Preliminary plans were approved for an initial three-floor unit with a capacity of 178 cars. It is hoped this project can be included in bids for three additional to the Union — pending the outcome of a suit before the Iowa Supreme Court.

All Staters To Perform On Sunday

Musicians from throughout Iowa attending the annual All State Music Camp at SUI will present an orchestra, chorus, and band "Pops" concert Sunday at 3 p.m. in Iowa Memorial Union.

Opening the concert program will be the All State Orchestra, which will be under the direction of Paul Olesky, conductor of the SUI Symphony Orchestra. Selections will include "Symphony No. 8" by Schubert, five pieces for younger orchestra by Bartok, and "Rakoczy March" by Berlioz-Page.

Members of the All State Band, directed by James Nielson, conductor of the Oklahoma City University Band, Oklahoma City, Okla., will perform "The Sinfonians," symphonic march by Williams; "Festival," also by Williams; "Greensleeves," arranged by Reed; "Gypsy Baron Suite" by Strauss; "A Sketch of the West" by McKay, and "Medallion" by Kenny.

All State Chorus members, directed by Robert Page, director of choral activities at Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa., will sing three short anthems by Purcell, "Sanctus and Hosanna" by Schubert, "Cantique de Jean Racine" by Faure, three quatrains from "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam" by Bright, "Mister Banjo" by Burlingame, "There's a City Called Heaven" by Page, "Ain't Got Time to Die" by Johnson, and a "Finian's Rainbow" choral selection by Lane-Warnick.

More than 40 Iowa twirlers will perform in a twirling show at 6:45 p.m. the same day on the Women's Athletic Field across from the Union.

Campus Police Reorganized; Holcomb Named Director

Because SUI's physical plant has grown to nearly $69 million in buildings and the University's parking facilities have increased to some 4,000 off-street parking spaces, the campus police and security office is being reorganized to handle this increased responsibility.

As part of this reorganization, Richard Holcomb, who has been chief of the Bureau of Police Science in the SUI Institute of Public Affairs, has been named director of the Bureau of Police Science and Campus Security at SUI. The change in his appointment was approved Friday by the State Board of Regents meeting in Iowa City.

Holcomb said University buildings house expensive research and teaching equipment. As the number of buildings and the amount of equipment increases on the SUI campus, it naturally becomes a bigger job to guard against such hazards as fire or theft. SUI students and staff now drive some 8,000 autos, and campus police are responsible for checking University parking facilities.

In recommending the change to the Board of Regents, SUI President Virgil M. Hancher said, "In Holcomb we have a person skilled in police science and who has worked closely with the College of Law and with state and national law enforcement agencies and has been largely responsible for the interests of sheriffs, chiefs-of-police and other law-enforcing officers in the short courses on campus in subjects of concern to those men.

"The bureau could also serve as a laboratory for the training of a limited number of police," President Hancher continued.

Holcomb, a native of Boone, joined the SUI faculty in 1945. His work at the University has dealt with handling surveys on various police and traffic problems in Iowa communities. He also directs four short courses annually for Iowa peace officers.

Holcomb has written numerous articles about traffic safety and is the author of five books on civil police administration. Three of the books have been translated into Japanese and two into Korean.

In 1955 Holcomb was in Liberia to make a survey for the Liberian Government of the African nation's police organization. He went to Liberia under the auspices of the International Cooperation Administration of the U.S. Government. In 1957 a similar survey was made in Libya.

In 1951 the SUI associate professor was appointed to a part-time position with the Federal Civil Defense Administration, where his work consisted in developing materials to be used in training regular and auxiliary police officers in the special problems of civil defense.

Holcomb graduated from Boone Junior College in 1931, received a B.S. degree at Iowa State University in 1933, and received an M.S. degree at SUI in 1936.

A member of the staff of the Northwestern University Traffic Institute for three years, he completed a major research project on the relation of alcohol to traffic accidents. The study was published in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Between 1939 and 1942 he was with the protection service of Montgomery Ward and Co. in Chicago and Kansas City. In 1942 he entered the Kansas City, Mo., police department and later became assistant director of the Police Academy with the rank of lieutenant.

Hultman To Speak Here

Persons interested in attending may make reservations by contacting Mrs. Robert G. Caldwell, 404 Magowan St., tel. 8-2534.

Mrs. Caldwell, the program chairman, said Mr. Hultman's talk "will outline a more definite program for Republican action — something that is very much needed especially in an off-year election."

Other luncheon chairmen include Mrs. R. J. Jones, 107 Grove St., membership; Mrs. George R. Dane, RFD 3, first vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Milligan, 450 Grand Ave., social; and Mrs. Robert H. Lind Sr., 438 Lexington St., publicity.

Tigers Bombard Indians with Homers

Win by 15-7 To Increase Lead

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bill Bruton drove in four runs with two homers to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 15-7 victory over the Cleveland Indians Friday night in a battle of home runs.

The Indians hit five homers with the bases empty, one short of a major league record. Chuck Essegian had two and Tito Francona, Bubba Phillips and John Romano each hit one.

Rocky Colavito and Dick McAuliffe also homered for the Tigers. The nine home runs by the two clubs fell two short of a major league record.

Bruton's homers came in consecutive times at bat in the first and second innings. His first came after the leadoff batter struck out. The second scored two runners ahead of him and was the big blow of a five-run rally that gave the first-place Tigers a lead they didn't relinquish.

The loss was the fifth straight and the eighth in their last 10 games for the Indians. The Tigers have won eight out of 10.

3 Iowa Citians Move To International Meet

By Staff Writer

For the second straight year Iowa City boys dominated the 3-day State Jaycee Junior Tennis Tournament, completed Friday on SUI's Field House courts.

In the biggest upset of the junior tourney, No. 3 seeded Dave Strauss, Iowa City, surprised defending champion and No. 1 seeded Rich Friedman, Des Moines, by dumping the Des Moines Ace 6-4, 6-4.

6-4. Strauss, keeping his sizzling serves under fairly good control, caught Friedman standing flatfooted a number of times.

Strauss will be an SUI sophomore this fall, eligible for the tennis team.

Two other Iowa Citians, Chuck Darly and Richie Strauss, squared off against each other in the 15 and under boys finals.

Defending champion Darly, seeded No. 1, coasted to a 6-2, 6-0 victory over Strauss, seeded No. 3.

In the third championship singles match held Friday, No. 1 seeded Shelia Pearl survived a nearly disastrous first match and went on to successfully defend her 15 and under girls singles title by defeating unseeded Debbie Jones, also of Des Moines, 10-8, 6-0.

Karen Moser, Waterloo defeated Nancy Baker, also of Waterloo, 6-2, 6-4 for the girls 18 and under championship Thursday.

The top place winners in each age division, both boys and girls, will represent Iowa in the International Jaycee Junior Tennis Tournament to be held at East Lansing Mich., August 6-12.

Cincy Slips Past Dodgers

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, battling from behind all the way, defeated Los Angeles 5-4 Friday night on Eddie Kasko's bases loaded single in the ninth and stretched their National League lead to three games over the Dodgers.

Gene Freese led the victorious ninth with a double and moved to third on Gordy Coleman's sacrifice bunt. The Dodgers then intentionally walked pinch hitters Jerry Lynch and Dick Gernert to load the bases. Kasko worked the count to 2-2 and then lined reliever Larry Sherry's next pitch into left field for the game winning hit.

The victory was the ninth in the last 10 games for the Reds. Los Angeles . . . 000 103 000—4 12 1

Twins Fire Manager Lavagetto

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Twins, mired deep in the American League after a disastrous losing streak, Friday fired Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto as manager and replaced him with Coach Sam Mele.

Owner Cal Griffith, announcing the switchover at a news conference, said Mele, 38, would take over with the start of the New York Yankee series at Metropolitan Stadium Friday night.

It was the second firing in one week in the American League. Joe Gordon got the gate from the Kansas City Athletics, who are only one notch above the Twins.

The abrupt firing of Lavagetto, 46, came after he had failed to get the Twins back on the winning track that surprised other American League clubs at the beginning of the season.

From an initial 5-1 won-lost record in the East, the former Washington Senators skidded into a prolonged slump and disappointed the home crowds that kept flocking to the stadium. They've lost 27 of their last 34 games and once had a losing streak of 13 in a row.

Going into the three-game series against the Yankees, Minnesota was in ninth place, 17½ games behind leading Detroit.
