Interim Committee Rescinds Psychiatric Salary Ceiling

DES MOINES (AP) — Psychiatric and physicians presently employed at state mental institutions should continue to draw upward of $22,800 a year, the Legislative Interim Committee decided Friday.

The committee, in rescinding its previous $18,000-a-year salary ceiling for professional mental institution personnel, accepted a compromise that salaries of future employees paid more than $12,000 might be making a mistake here, but it's an unfortunate circumstance that only time will heal."

Jim Henry, another board member, added that the question of which professional employee should receive the highest salary "is a matter yet to be decided."

In other action, the committee approved a motion asking that the board prepare every six months statistics evaluating the programs at the various board institutions.

The committee said statistics were needed "so that accurate appraisals may be made to the 60th General Assembly for corrections which the committee feels are necessary for the best interests of the program, the taxpayers and the general welfare of Iowa."

The board was asked to prepare statistics on mental institution admissions, releases, deaths, custodial care for use as a comparison of the various institutions.

Shoeman said it was important that the committee have the statistics, especially in the preparation of budgets.

Price added that the board was compiling an analysis of its mental institution staff "to see where our professional people are needed the most."

Dr. Ralph H. Ojemann, president of the Iowa Association of Mental Health, said Friday "The removal of the salary ceiling is a helpful step for the mental health program of Iowa and we hope that some of the damage suffered by the program can be repaired."

"However," he added, "the basic question of the separation of the legislative and executive functions still remains and must be worked out."

Patrolman Admits Abduction Hoax

Wilke Says He Was With Woman Friend

DES MOINES (AP) — A tearful Iowa highway patrolman has admitted spending last weekend in a motel with a red-haired woman instead of in the arms of three abductors.

State officials said Friday that Patrolman Robert Herman Wilke, 31, married and the father of three children, broke down and confessed that his story of being abducted was a hoax.

The woman, Nancy Grubbs, 49, also married and the mother of two children, was arrested at the Hiawatha, Kan., home of her seriously ill mother and was being returned to Iowa.

Wilke, stationed at Chariton, where Mrs. Grubbs lived with her husband, Oscar, a retired rural mail carrier, was charged with embezzlement by a public officer. Mrs. Grubbs was charged with conspiracy.

State Safety Commissioner Carl Pesch said Wilke told Thursday night of abandoning his patrol car early last Saturday and driving with Mrs. Grubbs in her car to Sioux City, where they spent the night in a motel.

On Sunday, they drove to Missouri, returning to Iowa late in the day. Wilke said he jumped from the car and made his way to a farm house near Lamoni.

It was then he told authorities of stopping by a parked car along Highway 65 south of Lucas and of being overpowered by three men.

In recounting his abduction story, Wilke said he threw his gunbelt, cap and summons book from the car.

Officials said Wilke told of beginning to have misgivings about his escapade when he woke up in the motel with Mrs. Grubbs.

Pesch said Mrs. Grubbs admits to being with Wilke last weekend. The commissioner said, "Our information is that she has made approaches to get him to run away with her before. She had ideas to go further than they did."

He said Mrs. Grubbs related that Wilke's .38 caliber Colt service revolver and flashlight were tossed into a lake near Chariton.

In Chariton, Lucas County Attorney Richard Morr said the embezzlement charge was the outgrowth of Wilke getting into Mrs. Grubbs' car with his revolver.

If convicted, Wilke faces a maximum of 10 years in prison. The conspiracy charge is punishable by a maximum of three years in prison.

T. A. Thompson, chief of the Iowa Bureau of Investigation, said that early in the investigation he had received information that a woman might be involved.

One of the key clues, officers said, came from Don Holton of Chariton, who reported seeing a 1953 or 1954 Chevrolet near Lucas.

at a Chariton hospital, where he is held in protective custody.

"I told him that when all this is over I'm willing to build a new life. I said that with three children I thought we had to do this."

Grubbs, who moved to Chariton with his wife 10 years ago from Fort Morgan, Colo., said he knew his wife was going to Sioux City, but he thought it was to check on their daughter, Carol, 15, who ran away July 5 from a private correctional institution there.

The county attorney said Mrs. Grubbs will be arraigned Saturday morning. Wilke was arraigned Thursday night and held for grand jury action.

U.S. Would Veto Russia's 'Troika' Plan

Rusk: Khrushchev's Proposal Would Kill Effectiveness of U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, with President Kennedy's approval, Friday threatened a U.S. veto if necessary — to block Soviet Premier Khrushchev's "troika" plan for revamping the United Nations.

Rusk denounced a three-headed U. N. directorate replacing Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, as a move to kill the United Nations' effectiveness.

"There is no way that the Soviet Union can impose his proposals," he said. "This would mean an amendment of the U.N. Charter, which requires the consent of the United States and other permanent members of the Security Council."

"We would not consent, nor would the necessary two-thirds of the General Assembly, The United Nations will not destroy itself."

Rusk's statement came as another step in a mounting U.S. propaganda counterattack against Communist pressures on cold war issues.

Also with White House endorsement, the State Department is preparing a "White Paper" summing up the U.S. stand on Red-pressed Berlin.

Khrushchev has been pushing his "troika" scheme for various international organizations. Under it, executive control of international machinery would be split three ways between Communists, the West and neutrals.

The United States contends this would ruin the effectiveness of international organizations by giving the Soviet Union veto powers.

Rusk's statement was read to newsmen by Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary for international organization affairs.

Tax Revision Bill Gets Tentative OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax withholding on dividends and interest to give the Treasury a $537 million-a-year shot in the arm was approved tentatively Friday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The withholding proposal is the chief revenue-producing item in President Kennedy's tax revision program. Its approval by the committee — even though in somewhat altered form — was a major victory for the Administration.

The committee indicated also a willingness to go along with Kennedy's proposal to spur industrial expansion by providing a tax credit on expenditures for new equipment.

Under the withholding plan, one-sixth of an individual's income from dividends or interest would be withheld by the institution making the payments and turned over to the Treasury. The Administration had asked that the withhold rate be set at 20 per cent, or one-fifth.

The plan is aimed at an estimated $3.7 billion in unreported dividends and interest. The Treasury figures 9 per cent of the dividends and 35 per cent of the interest payments went unreported in 1959, depriving it of $664 million in taxes.

The $537-million added revenue figure is the estimate of money that would go directly to the Treasury. Since the 16 2/3 per cent withholding rate is well below that paid by many owners of stocks, the ultimate revenue might well be several hundred million dollars greater but the Treasury was unwilling to make a guess on this.

To meet protests that withholding would work a hardship on the small investor, the committee provided exemptions for those whose incomes would be below the taxable level, and refunds for those whose tax would be less than the amount withheld.

Exemptions would be granted automatically on the filing of a statement by the recipient that he doesn't expect to have to pay any tax that year. Refunds could be made quarterly on the basis of a single claim filed by the taxpayer at the end of the first business quarter.

In taking care of the small investor, however, the committee may have hardened the opposition of banking and corporation executives who complained of the expense and inconvenience they said would be involved in such a plan.

The committee gave its answer to such complaints in a provision that the money withheld would not have to be turned over to the Treasury until one month after the end of each quarter, thus making it available to the banks for short-term investments.

In cases where dividend and interest payments are made at the beginning of a quarter, the banks would have access to the withheld funds for nearly four months. The income from such investments should offset any inconvenience or expense involved, the committee feels.

Besides acting on withholding, the committee accepted in principle Kennedy's plan to give industries a tax credit for money spent on new plant equipment.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon is to appear before the committee Monday for further questioning on the incentive plan.

2 Astronauts Prepare for Rocket Flight

One Will Be Flung Into Space Aboard American Capsule

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Two finely tuned astronauts Friday intensified preparation for a rocket flight which will fling one of them briefly into space next week aboard a capsule nicknamed Liberty Bell 7.

Air Force Capt. Virgil I. Grissom, 35, favored to make the trip, and Marine Lt. Col. John R. Glenn Jr., 39, ran through simulated missions in a ground-based capsule and were observers as the launch crew conducted a full-dress checkout on the Redstone booster rocket.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will reveal the name of a selected pilot 24 hours before launch, now scheduled for shortly after dawn next Tuesday. Weather or technical problems could delay the mission.

Informed sources report Grissom, of Mitchell, Ind., is the most likely choice, with Glenn serving as backup as he did on Navy Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr.'s pioneer space flight in May.

Shepard is working closely with Grissom and Glenn. During the flight he will be at the important capsule communicator post, keeping in constant voice contact with the pilot.

The flight will be almost a carbon copy of the suborbital journey which lofted Shepard 116 miles high and 302 miles downrange.

Several changes have been made in the capsule and the pilot will have more time to make observations during the 15 minutes he is slated to be aloft at a peak speed of more than 5,000 miles an hour.

If it can be worked out, technicians will mount a camera near WASHINGTON (AP) — With presidential pressure mounting behind it, the $4.8-billion foreign aid measure will get special Senate treatment next week — including rare night committee sessions if necessary.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, (D-Ark.) said Friday if his Foreign Relations Committee doesn't complete action on the controversial measure by midweek, he will call night sessions. He added he feels the committee will agree and the night sessions might start as early as Wednesday.

While Fulbright shaped plans to speed Senate action, President Kennedy extended his campaign of personal persuasion in a White House conference with members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Afterward, Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Mich.) said "there is no room for compromise" on the President's request for a long-range overseas lending program.

Fulbright made his announcement to reporters after morning and afternoon sessions at which the committee did not even tackle the major controversial items in the bill.

President Kennedy has taken personal charge of the Administration drive to dispel seeming reluctance of both Senate and House committees to come to grips with the legislation. Friday's session with House members followed a similar Thursday discussion with members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Monday he is to see more senators.

The president is emphasizing, in these conferences, that he considers foreign military and economic assistance in this "critical year—and critical decade" more important than ever before.

Storm Lake Youth Captured in Rugged Colorado Mountains

CRAIG, Colo. (AP) — A rookie Iowa gunman, exhausted after two days of flight in the mountain wilds of northern Colorado, surrendered Friday and calmly admitted shooting four officers last Wednesday.

Two of the officers died but not once did Delmar D. Spooner, 25, inquire about his victims after his capture.

Sheriff Bill Terrill said the sunburned, shaggy ex-soldier from Storm Lake, Iowa, gave as reason for the slayings:

"I just didn't want to go to jail." Spooner wolfed down two sandwiches and coffee after his capture near the tiny community of Botsd, Colo.

Later, after an hour long interrogation, he was given a hot meal — his first in more than two days — at the Moffat County jail.

Then he picked up a magazine and calmly began reading a crime story.

Spooner, who stands 5 feet 5 and weighs about 130 pounds, surrendered to an armed officer as the climax of a two-day search ignited by the slayings. He threw down a fully-loaded pistol when State Patrolman Morris Backer challenged him.

Spooner was taken by railroad handcar to State Bridge Colo. where he was questioned by Terrill and State Patrol Chief Gilbert Carrell.

Then he was flown here to jail. His face had been bruised and his lips were swollen and split from two days in the open country without food and water.

Lt. Hiram Short, 49, of the Colorado State Patrol, was fatally shot near a northern mountain town, Kremmling, Wednesday and John Clark, 68, an undersheriff, was fatally wounded a short time later after a chase along a dirt road.

Sheriff Chancy Van Pelt, 55, and Robert Hoover, 35, a game warden from Grand Junction, Colo., who were wounded in the shooting near Kremmling, were reported improved Friday.

Sheriff Terrill said Spooner, in relating incidents of two days ago, told of being alarmed when Hoover approached his parked car on a mountain road.

Hoover found Spooner's rifle and ammunition and called in Short and Van Pelt.

"Spooner said all he could think about was going to jail," Terrill said. "He seems to have an unnatural fear of the law and being jailed."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed a bill Friday aimed at increasing the exchange of students, teachers, leaders, actors, artists, and athletes between the United States and other lands.

The bill, which now goes to the House, was passed by a 79-5 vote after a week of debate.

Its only controversial element is a provision that has little to do with the core of the bill. The provision would revive a law that admitted adopted foreign orphans to this country without regard to immigration quotas. The law expired June 30.

The provision was not in the bill when brought to the floor of the Senate. It was added by a Republican-sponsored amendment.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), author of the exchange bill, said he hoped the House throws out the provision when it takes up the bill.

Fulbright said his bill would consolidate and broaden all the educational and cultural exchange programs operated by various agencies of the Government. The bill also aims at increasing the importance of exchange programs in the U.S. foreign policy.

Interim's Reversal A Credit to Iowans

The decision of the Legislative Interim Committee to lift the $18,000 lid on salaries of state psychiatrists was a good one, and it is an indirect credit to the people of Iowa.

When the limit was established more than a month ago, Iowans, necessarily concerned, let the legislators know — loud and clear — that they were against this action. The eventual result was the Committee's decision to drop the limit.

A new provision states that salaries above $12,000 for any new employees will be subject to the approval of the Interim Committee. This provision still puts a "curb" on recruitment, but if enough sentiment arises, perhaps in the future it, too, will be eliminated.

The Interim Committee's decision to change its original ruling well illustrates the influence Iowans can exert on the legislators if they clearly express their feelings on legislative matters.

The people should realize how important their influence is, and they should continue to use it whenever major issues arise in the state.

A Direct Reminder

The Washington announcement that plans are being studied for calling up some reserve and National Guard units may well be a wise move. We trust it will help to alert the American people without alarming them. It is a far more practicable measure for meeting any early military need than would be the ordering of new bomber fleets which require years to build.

Indeed the frightened and illogical demand by some Americans for new planes could well be the kind of response Premier Khrushchev seeks with his well-publicized military gestures. Also we question whether any general call-up should be based on a sudden "menace" to Berlin. The problem of Berlin is a continuing one, to be met by Western resolution, unity and steadiness.

A "study" of call-up plans is not a call-up. It remains in the same "bookkeeping" area we suspect Mr. Khrushchev's $3,300,000,000 "increase" in his arms budget still occupies. It should be noted that the Pentagon announcement said it would permit a sizable increase in American forces "within six months." That is the period Mr. K. seems to have set for the build-up of his Berlin crisis.

The most feasible military answers to pressures on Berlin are likely to fall in the realm of conventional forces. And study of a call-up could disclose needs for new planning and training. A general call-up would disrupt many phases of the national economy and would be too drastic a response to threats that can be made at any moment in Moscow. But the announcement just made usefully reminds many individuals and families that they have a direct personal concern with the cold war.

TV's Delinquent Adults

The Senate judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency has heard testimony (with supporting film clips) that the television industry is devoting an undue amount of time to shows that emphasize violence. The committee was told that half the programs during prime viewing hours — when many children watch — put the primary stress on gunplay and other violent acts.

Public criticism of TV programs by congressmen and Federal Communications Commission officials are resulting in some efforts by the TV industry to provide more varied and higher quality shows. This is all to the good.

But we hope the criticisms leveled at the networks will not have the effect of absolving parents from their share of responsibility for the programs offered on TV.

The statistics that show huge numbers of youngsters watching programs of violence would not be possible unless parents gave at least tacit consent to these programs being brought into their homes.

Parents what not only the authority and responsibility to determine what their children watch, but the power to influence the kind of programs that are made available. Sponsors are acutely sensitive to ratings and opinions of their audience. If parents put their feet down in opposition to objectionable programs — and made their objection known — they could have a vast influence on program content.

The networks unquestionably bear major responsibility for the programs shown under their auspices. But the networks should not be made the sole whipping boy. The apathy, poor taste and judgment of the adult audience are at least partly responsible for the low state of TV.

Communists Use U.S. Mails To Distribute Propaganda

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND
 Must the Government and the people of the United States simply accept a mounting mass of Soviet and Chinese Communist propaganda — and do nothing to protect ourselves?

I am not talking about censoring the news or shielding ourselves from the fullest knowledge of the actions and declarations of the Communist Government. We need to know what the adversary is saying about us, to us, and against us.

But does a free society have to leave itself totally exposed to an unending brainwashing of foreign Communist propaganda — mostly concealed in its origin, subtle, purposeful — directed primarily at young Americans, at college students, at the millions of Eastern European emigrants who are just beginning to put their roots down in American democracy?

Before seeking an answer to these questions, let's look at the volume of Communist propaganda material which now flows freely through U.S. customs and is distributed throughout the nation — courtesy of the U.S. postoffice.

This propaganda barrage is now being intensified. The Deputy Collector of Customs in New York estimates that the inflow of Communist material increased fully 137 per cent during the past 12 months. The total volume of known Communist propaganda coming into the U.S. in 1960 was more than 14 million packages, as against 6 million in 1959. During February and March of this year 182,000 packages of magazines and 11,700 packages of newspapers arrived from Cuba, which is both a point of origin and a transmission belt for Communist materials.

But the main sources are Moscow, Warsaw, Budapest, East Berlin, and Prague. Part of this propaganda literature is in English but much of it is in native tongue of emigrant groups in the United States. Former Russian citizens receive a tabloid called "Golos Rodiny" ("Voice of the Homeland"). The Ukrainians receive the "Voice of the Ukraine." The Estonia newspaper is "Toe Haal" ("Voice of Truth") — and so on for American-Latvians, American-Lithuanians, and American-Roumanians. The Hungarian Communists send over newspapers in both Hungarian and English, plus books, tracts, and other fairy-tales.

Dr. Bela Fabian, who has fought tyranny his whole life and is now chairman of the Federation of Hungarian Former Political Prisoners, points out that the Soviets are now making a special drive to get at Ukrainian, Hungarian, and other Eastern European exiles in the United States. They hunt down names and addresses and then flood them with unsolicited propaganda attacking the United States as "imperialist," "war-mongering," and "colonialist."

This tide of propaganda from behind the Iron Curtain is mounting, not receding. It is reaching saturation proportions.

Do we have to stand helplessly by and let it come? Why should we? Bear in mind that the known tactics of the Communists is to try to maintain on the surface normal diplomatic relations with non-Communist Governments and behind the scenes to work for their destruction. Since the Communists are dedicated to destroying every non-Communist Government, why should we put into their hands any tool to help them do it?

I offer this basic principle to decide how we should deal with unsolicited Communist propaganda: all courtesies and all facilities exchanged between the U.S. and any Communist Government should be reciprocal.

This means that American diplomats must have the right to travel as freely in the Soviet Union as Soviet diplomats travel in the United States. Freedom of travel must be reciprocal. This we require.

This means that American propaganda must have the right to flow as freely into and throughout the Soviet Union as Soviet propaganda can flow into and throughout the United States. Freedom of propaganda must be reciprocal — or Communist propaganda will be stopped at ports of entry.

I do not mean that solicited Communist material should not be receivable. It should be. That is an American's right. But the U.S. postoffice ought not to have to work for Moscow and Peking delivering unsolicited and unwanted Communist propaganda.

Concert Review— String Quartet Gives Perfect Performance

By SHIRLEY HARRISON

Program
 Quartet P. 18, No. 6
 Beethoven
 Quartet in A Minor
 R. Vaughn Williams
 Quartet, Op. 10
 Debussy

Playing to the utmost of their mastery abilities, the Iowa String Quartet, as now constituted, presented SUJ with the gift of a perfect concert Friday evening in the Iowa Memorial Union.

The program displayed the kind of organic structuring always expected from first-rank quartets, but too seldom offered by them. There was an inherent progression from the sincere, naive early-Beethoven quartet, through the darkly passionate, but objective — Vaughn Williams, to the reasonable and fantastic Debussy.

Early Beethoven quartets are not often played in concerts today and must often come as a surprise to those who talk knowingly about "late Beethoven" quartets. To say that the Iowa Quartet played the Opus 18, No. 6 so consummately well that the listener could hear the links between it and Opus 132 is more than an accolade to their musicianship. It is a tribute to their abilities as teachers, too.

The Vaughn Williams quartet was a new experience for this reviewer, and a very moving one. But even on a first hearing, one knew that this work has very seldom been given such a sensitive reading by four men who are masters of their instruments and whose playing has come to be the product of one four-dimensional genius.

The Debussy work, following intermission, brought the audience gradually to a less-intensive emotional level. Debussy's variations on a cyclical theme engaged the mind and eased the emotional strain of the Williams. This, too, was performed with finesse and subtlety. The Iowa String Quartet has never been content to rest with tradition without examining that tradition in their own way. This was most evident in the last movement of the Debussy which, as played, it revealed new structural possibilities.

The evening had a special poignance in that this was the last performance of Stuart Canin with the quartet.

When the quartet reassembles in the fall, it will surely be an excellent quartet. But it will be a different quartet. It is to be greatly regretted that circumstances have made the continuance of this quartet impossible. It seems to me that, unlike football teams, musical teams on the road to greatness are hobbled by the concept of turnover.

It Doesn't Work

"Did you feel any strange pains in your chest over the weekend?" High school sophomore Mary Ann Cass of Des Moines asked her English teacher, Frank Angerer.

"No — why do you ask?" Angerer replied.

Two weeks later he got the answer when Miss Cass turned in a term paper. On the front cover was a picture of Angerer — stuck full of pins.

The subject of the paper: Voodooism.

Eichmann Admits On Nazi Foreign Ministry

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann admitted on the witness stand Friday that he worked a bureaucratic swindle on the Nazi Foreign Ministry in his implacable hunt for Jews.

Israeli Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner confronted Eichmann with documents showing he told the Foreign Office that only certain numbers and classes of Jews would be deported from Romania and Western Europe, but then gave SS chief Heinrich Himmler true — and higher — figures.

"I am reaching the stage where I will take upon my head things which are not true as well as things which please me, the completion would be. Acridly, Hausneresses survived the picture." This byplay of clerk-like deviousness in court stand, Eichmann twisted his grimace of not noticeable in April, continue Monday. Hausner contention the Nazi plot Citing documents prosecutor c

Hausner concluded a week of stern cross-examination of the former chief of the Gestapo's Jewish Affairs Section with a series of questions based on captured Nazi documents. This finally forced Eichmann to declare:

Racial Riots Stir Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Police rounded up 60 Negro youths Friday and restored order to a Southwest Side neighborhood which was beset by race disorders for the second successive day.

A huge emergency control plan was thrown into effect in the neighborhood of Harrison High School, 26th Street and Marshall Boulevard. Calm was restored within two hours.

At least four white persons were injured in scuffles with gangs of youths. Of the 60 seized, 43 were 16 or younger.

It was in this neighborhood that a Negro youth was shot to death Wednesday while walking home from summer classes at Harrison High.

Police blocked off the area to automobiles and set up headquarters at 18th Street and Douglas Boulevard. The prepared plan of operation brought in 26 two-man squad cars, five combination squad cars and patrol wagons, 13 members of the Youth Bureau, 10 patrolmen and 32 men of a task force, all under command of a deputy police superintendent.

John T. Connors, deputy superintendent, said 10 Negro youths were seized in Douglas Park, a short time after Harrison High, where summer classes are in session, let out for the noon hour. Shortly afterward 50 more were picked up in the area and taken to a district police station.

Officers also seized a teen-age Negro girl in a large group of girls who jeered police picking up youths in Douglas Park.

The youths were seized when they defied police orders to break up their groups and keep moving. Fernando Molina, 16, was beaten in a fist fight in front of the school and taken to a hospital. He is well.

Some groups of roving Negroes threw stones at windows.

A bus was halted and some of its windows broken. A policeman fired three warning shots over the head of a youth who broke away from him.

Police said restiveness of neighborhood teen gang was stirred by the unsolved shooting of a summer high school student Wednesday. Matthew Tolber, 16, a Negro, died of a bullet wound he received while walking home from classes at Harrison.

British, Soviet Jets at Iraqi Celebration

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — British and Soviet jets screeched over this ancient city Friday in an anniversary display of Iraq's revolutionary nationalism. Tanks and other weapons supplied by both sides in the East-West cold war rumbled through the streets in a 2½-hour parade.

Wearing an open-neck military shirt, Premier Abdel Karim Kassem stood on the reviewing stand in Liberation Square, smiling, waving and pacing back and forth as two tank regiments rolled by — one made up of Soviet T-54 medium tanks and the other of heavy British Centurions.

Across from the soldier-premier was a map showing the neighboring oil sheikdom of Kuwait as an Iraqi province. Kassem claims the newly independent patch of desert as part of this nation, but he insists he will not try to seize it by force.

The parade, kicking off a six-day nationwide celebration, officially billed as the greatest in Iraq's history, opened with a roll of drums and 14 cannon salutes — "the call of the revolution."

It was practically three years to the minute since Kassem's troops marched into Baghdad and overthrew King Faisal and Premier Nuri al-Said. Both were killed by the rebels. That ended Iraq's formal military ties with Britain, although the British still run the nation's oil industry.

Iowa City Band To Play Sunday

The director of the Cedar Rapids municipal band, R. L. Moehlmann, will conduct the Iowa City community band Sunday at 4 p.m. in College Hill Park.

Moehlmann holds a master's degree from SUU. Sunday afternoon's program includes: "Hall of Fame" by Olivadoti; "Serenade, Opus 22" (first movement) by Dvorak; "Knights-bridge March" by Coates; excerpts from "The King and I" by Rodgers; and "Italian Polka" by Rachmaninoff.

Also, "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach; "Ceska Music" by Knoch; "Pax et Labor" by Pares; "On the Quarterdeck" by Allford; "Boop: Hambogie" by Brewster; and "Washington Grays" by Gratulla.

Korean Won-Kyung Cho To Give Dance Recital

Won-Kyung Cho, a classical dancer from Seoul, Korea, will be featured in a Korean dance recital at Shambaugh Auditorium Monday at 8 p.m.

Cho has performed at Carnegie Hall, Harvard University, and Columbia University. He conducts his own dance studio in Seoul.

The recital is being sponsored jointly by the SUU Union Board and the Summer Institute on The Far East.

No admission will be charged.

Satellite Information Plan for All-Murrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — All nations of the world should have free access to an American global satellite communications system, Edward R. Murrow said Friday, and if that includes Red China, "I would have no fear of the outcome."

Murrow, head of the U.S. Information Agency, took that stand before the House Space Committee, which is considering proposals for getting the first experimental communications satellites into orbit next year.

Rep. James G. Fulton (R-Pa.), said he was against "equal time for Red China, financed at U.S. taxpayers' expense."

Murrow replied, "This would be a two-way street. If the Chinese were prepared to say we could get words and pictures from the satellite to their sets, and they could get words and pictures from the satellite to our sets, I would have no doubt where the advantage would lie at the end of the day."

Tapping his foot nervously under the witness table, Murrow read a statement to the committee with all the skill and craft he developed in years as a network TV commentator. He made these suggestions:

—Why not have an international space communications year, similar to the recent International Geophysical Year, "to prepare for the day when we will need qualified men from Conary to Calcutta to help operate the satellite system?"

—The principle of access "must be paramount." Smaller countries must be assured that the United States would not operate the system "for capricious national advantage."

—Private corporations with profit as their aim should not be in a position to bind our government.

Russians Go All Out for Liz Taylor

MOSCOW (AP) — Shouting Soviet press photographers, teenage auto-graph hunters and little old ladies pushed and shoved each other in Gorky Park today to get near actress Elizabeth Taylor.

Miss Taylor, who was visiting the U.S. exhibition of plastic products, was perspiring too.

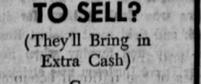

There were two reasons: the temperature was in the 80s and she was wearing a comparatively heavy suit.

Several hundred Russians were in the small exhibition building when Miss Taylor and her entourage entered. They quickly formed a tight knot around her, clamoring for autographs.

Her Russian chauffeur and U.S. Embassy officials had difficulty keeping them at arms length.

Gagarin Visits Palace, Lunches with Queen

LONDON (AP) — Maj. Yuri Gagarin lunched with Queen Elizabeth II Friday and then placed a wreath on the Western shrine of Communism — Karl Marx' grave.

Marx, author of a political system calling for the triumph of a classless society over capitalism and such institutions as royalty, died in London in 1883. He lies beneath a huge bronze of his bearded self among Victorian cherubs and urns in Highgate. A crowd of 3,000 watched as Gagarin placed the wreath of red roses and white carnations and saluted. He then stood stiffly at attention for two minutes in pouring rain before returning to his car.

The spaceman's potluck luncheon at Buckingham palace was, perhaps, the highlight of Gagarin's triumphant five-day visit to Britain, which ends today. A palace spokesman pointed out that the queen had made up her guest list for the luncheon before she learned of Gagarin's visit to London. She invited him last Tuesday, when he arrived here as guest of the Soviet Trade Fair being held in the British capital. Asked if this meant Gagarin took potluck at the palace, the spokesman replied, "Yes, I suppose it does — in a way."

Commenting on the spaceman's appearance at the palace, hardly a hangout for Marxists — Moscow radio said, "In accordance with British tradition, the reception of a foreign guest by the reigning monarch is the highest honor."

The fire department sent nine pieces of equipment to the field in addition to the three engines regularly stationed there, but there was no need of their services.

U.S. officials said the plane landed at Stapleton Field without incident, after the fire department was alerted. Four persons were aboard — all United employees.

"The plane was engaged in a proficiency check of the flight crew and reported a loss of hydraulic fluid," the spokesman said.

"Our district office requested a standby alert."

Ten minutes before the Wednesday crash of a UAL jet from Philadelphia, the pilot notified passengers trouble was experienced with the hydraulic system and there might be a rough landing.

Sixteen passengers and a city employe in a truck near the runway were killed.

Another Jet Loses Fluid

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A United Air Lines DC3 jet airliner — the same type of $5-million craft which crash-landed here Wednesday with 17 lives lost — ran into hydraulic system difficulties on a training flight Friday.

A UAL official said the plane landed at Stapleton Field without incident, after the fire department was alerted. Four persons were aboard — all United employees.

"The plane was engaged in a proficiency check of the flight crew and reported a loss of hydraulic fluid," the spokesman said.

Hopes Dim As U.S. Faces Russia Today

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States was dealt a blow for its track and field meet against Russia today and Sunday when ace miler Dwyol Burleson was stricken with an upset stomach and jumper John Thomas had to have a tooth extracted.

So the Soviets received some unexpected help in this third meet.

WE COULD LOSE

The July 17 issue of Sports Illustrated predicted — before both Burleson and Thomas were sidelined — that the United States would defeat Russia 12-10 in the meet today and Sunday. But the prediction was based on the assumption that both Thomas and Burleson would win their events.

of the series. They lost both the previous men's meets by 14 events to 8.

"Dwyol has gastric enteritis," said Dr. Han Hanley, the team physician. "It usually takes 48 hours to start and 48 hours to run its course. We won't know until just before he is scheduled to run if he will be all right."

Thomas' extracted tooth was less serious. "I don't think the extraction should have any effect on John," said Dr. Hanley.

If the score is close and Burleson does not start or happens to get beaten, the United States could be in serious trouble. He was a cinch in the 1,500-meter run. Now Jim Beatty of Santa Clara, Calif., will carry the main American hopes. He should win on the basis of his 3:58 mile time, but if the United States gets beaten out of second it will mean two points on the 5-3-2-1 scoring table.

Rain Pestors British Golf

THE LEADERS SO FAR

DAI REES, Wales, 68-74-142
HAROLD HENNING, South Africa, 68-74-142
ARNOLD PALMER, Latrobe, Pa., 70-73-143
KEL NAGLE, Australia, 68-75-145

BIRKDALE, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer and 47 other top golfers were staggered Friday night by official word that unless the rain-plagued British Open golf championship is completed today it will be declared void.

This is the title that Palmer has tried to win for two straight years. The Latrobe, Pa., pro lost it by one stroke in 1960 to Australia's Kel Nagle. Because of a penalty stroke on the 16th hole Thursday, he is tied for second with Nagle at 143, one stroke behind the leaders Dai Rees of Wales and Harold Henning of South Africa.

Hit by heavy, overnight rains Wednesday night and gales up to 50 miles an hour Thursday, the sandy Royal Birkdale course alongside Liverpool Bay was hit by a torrential downpour Friday, making play impossible.

The rain turned greens into lakes and flood fairways and traps. This forced a decision to postpone the final 36 holes from Friday until today.

Brig. Eric Brickman, secretary of the Royal and Ancient Club, created a sensation by announcing:

No. 1 Contender Draws Suspension

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Charles Sonny Liston, No. 1 heavyweight title contender, Friday was suspended indefinitely and told he has reached the final crossroads of his boxing career.

The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission lifted Liston's license and told the fighter he could apply for reinstatement "at such a time as you have rehabilitated yourself and shown you have respect for the law."

Specifically he was suspended for actions detrimental to boxing and the public.

Since Pennsylvania is a member of the National Boxing Association, its suspension undoubtedly will be honored in the NBA's 48 state jurisdictions. Only California, Massachusetts and New York and the European continent do not recognize the NBA. New York normally recognizes suspensions by Pennsylvania and other states with which it has working agreements.

The suspension of Liston, 28, resulted from two recent arrests in Philadelphia. He was picked up for corner lounging May 18, and less than a month later jailed, along with a companion, on various charges including impersonating an officer while allegedly forcing a woman to stop her car in a lonely park section.

Liston, his companion and the woman are all Negroes.

Two different magistrates, both admonishing the fighter for failing to live up to his responsibility as a public figure of athletic renown, dismissed the charges in each case.

NCAA Maps Clean Up

CHATHAM, Mass. (AP) — Walter N. Byers, executive director of the NCAA, told the National Association of College Commissioners behind locked doors Friday how his organization hopes to clean up the current collegiate basketball mess and make future ones impossible.

No details leaked out of the session.

After the luncheon break-up, it was announced that Bernie Moore, veteran commissioner of the Southeastern Conference, had been elected president, succeeding Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, recently retired Big Ten boss.

Howard Grubb of the Southwest circuit, was reelected vice president and Reaves Peters of the Big Eight, was named secretary-treasurer.

The commissioners chose Colorado Springs, Colo., the site of their next meeting on July 2-6, 1962.

DES MOINES (AP) — Silver-haired Rod Bliss II of Des Moines sank a 20-foot putt on the 18th green for a blazing 66 and took the first round lead Friday in the Iowa Amateur golf tournament.

Bliss, 48-year-old insurance executive, headed a list of about 25 golfers who shattered par on the Hyperion course.

Bidding for his third state title, Bliss shot a 34 on the front 9 and came home with a 32. He eagled the 11th hole and birdied the 2nd, 8th, 18th, and 19th.

Despite the 6 under par, Bliss was hard pressed by Floren Di Paglia of Des Moines, and Don Richardson, also of Des Moines.

DiPaglia rolled in a 22-foot putt for a 67 and Richardson — playing on his home course — also posted a 67.

Although youngsters were expected to take charge of the tournament, only two were among the nine golfers who fired scores of less than a 70.

They were 23-year-old John Liechty of Marshalltown and 19-year-old Dave Bollman of Sheldon.

Liechty, who tied for a second a year ago, shot a 68, as did Bollman, basketball player at SUI.

15 Awarded I-Club Grants

Fifteen students at SUI will receive I-Club Scholarships for the 1961-62 academic year, according to Charles Mason, coordinator of student aid.

Each applicant for the $200 scholarships must be recommended by a high school superintendent or principal and by a business or professional man in his hometown. If the applicant is a first-year student, he must have graduated in the upper half of his high school class.

Scholarship winners are: Edward J. Vrzal, A1, Cedar Rapids; Thomas W. Purcell, A3, Clarion; Sharon L. Fladoos, A1, Jesup; Russell L. Miller, A1, Jesup; Richard Riley, A2, Keokuk; Eugene W. Pauley, A1, Manilla; Robert L. Peterson, A4, Olds; Susan Spring Hermann, A2, Belleville, Ill.; Herbert B. Hoffman, A2, Chicago; William L. Meyerhoff, A4, Highland Park, Ill.; Gary G. ## Mantle Hits 31st; Maris Has Trouble

CHICAGO (AP) — Southpaw Juan Pizarro, contributing from the plate as well as the mound, hurled the Chicago White Sox to a 6-1 victory over the New York Yankees Friday night.

The strapping Puerto Rican spaced seven hits, struck out eight and chipped in with a pair of doubles to become the only left-hander besides Kansas City's Jim Archer to go the distance against the Yankees this year.

Pizarro kept Yankee slugger Roger Maris hitless but lost his shutout in the eighth inning when Mickey Mantle hit his 31st homer.

The Sox slammed out 10 hits and took advantage of three wild pitches in one inning to even the current series at one game each.

Al Smith opened the fourth with a bloop single and Minnie Minoso was hit by a pitched ball. Sheldon retired the next two batters, but J. C. Martin singled Smith home and Minoso held second. Then, in the process of striking out Pizarro, Sheldon uncorked three wild pitches enabling both Minoso and Martin to score.

CJ Upsets Little Hawks 4-1

Unheeded Columbus Junction eliminated favored Iowa City from further sectional tournament competition 4-1 yesterday.

Both moundmen hurled well enough to win, but throwing errors by Iowa City infielders allowed the winning Wildcats to score three unearned runs.

The winner, Jim Singleton, gave up just one hit, a triple by Butch Wombacker. He struck out four, issued three bases on balls, and hit one batter.

Iowa City hurler John Rhoades was even more effective and deserved a better fate for his fine performance. The slender pitcher allowed only two hits, whiffed nine, walked one and relinquished just one earned run.

Columbus Junction took advantage of the Little Hawks' first throwing error in the opening frame. The first man up, Bill Quigley, hit a routine roller to the shortstop who threw ball past the first baseman allowing the runner to advance to second base. After an infield out and a single by Bill Gray, Columbus had its first run.

Although the Little Hawks had men on base every inning except the final one, they could cross the plate only once. Wombacker's three-bagger and an infield grounder by Rhoades ruined Singleton's bid for a shut out.

Columbus Junction will meet Cedar Rapids Prairie Monday at 5 p.m. on the City High diamond for the tournament championship.

Minnesota Blasts Lary For Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Jack Kralick, employing his soft stuff effectively in the jams, stopped the patched-up Detroit Tigers Friday night in a 5-2 victory for the Minnesota Twins.

Second-place Detroit failed to take advantage of its opportunity to recapture first place in the American League from New York, which lost to Chicago.

The Tigers played without regulars Norm Cash and Steve Boros. Both are recovering from injuries. Kralick, winning his ninth game, was in hot water often, yielding 10 hits. The left-hander was touched for at least one hit in all but the third inning.

Minnesota scored single runs in five innings.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Western Big Three in effect notified the Soviets Monday to keep hands off West Berlin.

Separate notes delivered to the Soviet Foreign Ministry by the United States, Britain and France rejected Premier Khrushchev's plan for Berlin presented to President Kennedy in Vienna June 4. The plan was designed to squeeze them out of the divided city by the end of the year.

Details were withheld until today, but a firm general tenor had been disclosed by Western statesmen and diplomats during consultations on the Berlin issue. Their basic unity was made clear.

Six weeks of talks and drafting by the Western Big Three and minor editing by the Permanent Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris went into the response.

The United States, British and French embassies declined to make public the notes. In keeping with diplomatic courtesy, their Governments planned to withhold the texts from publication, so the Kremlin would have time to study them overnight.
