Expect Homicide Charge In 'Baby-Sitting' Cases

Suspect Dubuque Woman in Deaths

DUBUQUE (AP) — A plump, too-loving baby-sitter admitted Friday that three babies she frequently attended died in her arms while rocking them.

"I was only trying to give them love and affection," said the 29-year-old baby-sitter, Mary Madigan.

The children were Gail Nemmers, 3, and her sister, Karen Sue, 22 months, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nemmers; and Michael Fitzpatrick, 4 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fitzpatrick.

County Attorney Robert Oeth said "some sort of homicide charge" would be filed Saturday against the 180-pound Miss Madigan.

Gail Nemmers died of suffocation Thursday night, Dr. Donald McFarlane, county medical examiner, said.

Police Chief Pery Lucas said Miss Madigan related "she was holding Gail Nemmers across her lap and because she was crying put her hand over her mouth quite a bit."

"Miss Madigan said she held Karen Nemmers and the Fitzpatrick boy with their mouths against her neck," Lucas added.

"They seemed to gasp for air and then their bodies went limp," he quoted her.

Karen Sue died last July 12 of a congenital heart ailment, Dr. McFarlane said. The Fitzpatrick boy died of viral pneumonia the next night, he added.

Miss Madigan, who lived with her widowed mother, Mrs. Kathryn Madigan, was regularly employed by Mr. and Mrs. Nemmers to sit with their two daughters and a son, Richie, while the parents worked nights.

Mrs. Nemmers was employed as a clerk at a discount house and Nemmers worked at Dubuque Packing Co.

Neighbors said the Fitzpatricks had used Miss Madigan because she was well-known as a baby-sitter. Michael was their only child.

A person close to the Madigan family said several families had refused to re-hire Miss Madigan because they said "she wanted to do everything for children and was too loving."

Louis F. Fautsch, an attorney for Miss Madigan, said the woman suffered injuries at birth that made her left arm practically useless and partially closed one eye.

Quizzed in 3 Deaths

Mary Madigan, 29, a Dubuque baby-sitter, was quizzed by police Friday in connection with the death of three infants. County Attorney Robert Oeth said "some sort of homicide charge" would be filed today against Miss Madigan.

Army Map Worker In Nazi Affiliate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Schuyler D. Ferris, a civilian employee of the Army map service, acknowledged Friday that he belongs to the "Fighting American Nationalists," an organization associated with the American Nazi Party.

Ferris, whose dismissal has been demanded by a congressman, also said he may charge the Army with persecuting him for his political beliefs. It is investigating him.

The congressman, Rep. Seymour Halpern (R-N. Y.), discussed Ferris in a letter to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara this week.

"I do not understand how the United States Government can justify continued employment of an individual so unstable politically that he facilitates totalitarian extremism and propaganda," Halpern wrote.

"He is hardly the man to have access to our strategic maps at a time when the nation is mobilizing in response to the President's call for a military alert."

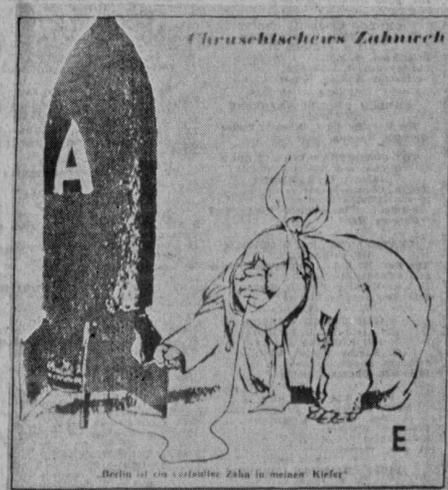

The Department of Defense said it has been investigating a report that Ferris was involved in the picketing of the movie "Exodus" in Philadelphia.

The department also said Ferris is a geodetic technician in the map service without access to classified papers.

CUBANS ASK ASYLUM

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — The Cuban consuls general of Buenos Aires and Montevideo, Uruguay, asked and were granted political asylum by Argentina Friday.

Diplomats here regarded the defections from Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime as a severe prestige blow to the Cuban delegation arriving in Punta del Este, Uruguay, for the inter-American economic and social conference.

'Khrushchev's Toothache'

This Khrushchev cartoon in the Socialist newspaper Arbeiterzeitung in Vienna drew a protest from the Russian charge d'affaires to the Austrian chancellery. The cartoon shows Khrushchev with a big bandage around his head and a cord hanging from his mouth and fastened at the other end to an A-bomb rocket. It is titled "Khrushchev's Toothache" and bears a caption "Berlin is a decaying tooth in my jaws."

Reds Impose Stiff Economic Burdens

BERLIN (AP) — The East German Communists, ignoring Western protests, imposed harsh new penalties Friday on East Berliners who commute to work in West Berlin.

The commuters now must pay the Red regime nearly five times more for rent, electricity, gas, water and other public services than their stay-at-home neighbors pay. The Communist device to bring this about is a requirement that they settle their bills in West German marks, which are much more valuable than Communist currency.

East Berlin's Communist City Government issued the order Friday. Less than 24 hours before, the three Western sector commandants in Berlin protested to their Soviet counterpart against similar measures aimed at helping stop the drain on East Germany's manpower through the refugee flow to West Berlin.

Soviet Embassy officials would not answer questions about the protest. The official Soviet position is that such matters are the exclusive concern of the East German Communist regime.

This latest defiance of the West came amid several moves in the cold war over Berlin: Soviet notes speaking of readiness to negotiate were published; British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said the West must be ready to talk but can never abandon the two million free West Berliners; West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss said West Germany is going to increase its military strength to meet the Berlin crisis.

The East Germans have been putting pressure on the commuters for some weeks. Some have been put out of their homes. They have been forbidden to buy such things as TV sets and motorcycles. Their children's schooling has been threatened.

The Communists are trying to force the commuters — some estimates put their number as high as 90,000 — to quit their well-paying West Berlin jobs and bolster the Reds' own shaky economy.

RALLY SMASHED

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Police squads armed with machine guns and clubs smashed an anti-government rally near a Roman Catholic Church here Friday. One person was reported wounded and several clubbed.

Reds Outlaw 'Cult of the Personality'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist Party of the Soviet Union published new rules Saturday that outlaw the "cult of the personality."

The new rules, to be adopted at a Party Congress in October, supersede the ones adopted at the 20th Party Congress in 1959.

The new rules also provide for a regular turnover in the membership of the Central Committee and of regional central committees, with no member — except those of "acknowledged authority" — allowed to have more than three successive terms.

The section dealing with the cult of the personality reads like this:

"The cult of the personality and all the violations of inner party democracy connected with it cannot be tolerated in the party. They are incompatible with the Leninist principles of party life."

The principle of collective leadership was declared the "highest principle of leadership."

The cult of the personality was publicly attacked for the first time in the Soviet Union in 1956 by Premier Khrushchev, who declared the late Premier Stalin harmed the Soviet Union by encouraging such a cult to be built around him. The new rules represent the first formal attempt to eradicate this from the party.

DI Deliveries To Cease

Wednesday's copy of The Daily Iowan will be the last one delivered to SUI students until September after fall registration.

After Wednesday, copies of The Daily Iowan may be purchased at newsstands in Iowa City or at The Daily Iowan office, 281 Communications Center, Ron Farrar, circulation manager, said Friday.

The only student delivery to be continued will be at Westlawn. Non-student subscribers will continue to receive their copies. Faculty copies will be delivered to various academic buildings on campus.

Farrar explained that students would have to pay for The Daily Iowan after Aug. 9 because student fees for the paper apply only through summer school. Cost of the paper is five cents per copy.

After The Daily Iowan University Edition is issued Saturday, Aug. 19, all publication will be discontinued until Sept. 6.

'Down with Air Drunks, Flying Fools, and Spies in the Sky'

Seek Federal Law Against Air Hijacking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy Administration asked Congress Friday to meet the menace of "air drunks, flying fools, and spies in the sky" by passing a law to make airline hijacking punishable by life imprisonment.

This would put airline hijacking in the same class of crime as piracy on the high seas.

The Administration views were presented to Congress by Najeeb E. Halaby, the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) administrator.

If other measures to curb air-traffic hijacking are unavailing, the FAA may have to resort to police inspection of boarding passengers, Halaby said. Such action is already being considered at airports within reach of Havana.

"Can you imagine the line that would form from the ticket counter in Miami if everyone had to submit to police inspection?" he asked.

Meanwhile, in El Paso, Tex., Federal authorities moved quickly to bring the man who doesn't want to be an American any more and his teen-aged son into court for hijacking a jet airliner Thursday.

The pair said they wanted to force the pilot to fly the $5-million Continental Airlines Boeing 707 into Cuba.

U.S. Judge R. E. Thomson ordered a special grand jury convened Monday to determine whether to indict Leon Bearden, 38, and his son, Cody, 16.

Federal authorities who questioned the pair at great length, but would not permit use of their names, said of the elder Bearden: "He just doesn't want to be an American any more."

"He wanted to take his family to Cuba. In his mind, there was only one way to get to Cuba, and hijacking the airliner was it."

The Beardens drew a .45 automatic pistol and a .38 revolver shortly before 2 a.m. Thursday and commandeered the Los Angeles-to-Houston plane.

Aboard were 67 passengers, including the Beardens, and six crew members, two of whom were hostages.

The pilot, Capt. B. D. Rickards, persuaded the hijackers that the plane must set down at El Paso, a scheduled stop, for fuel.

Border patrolmen shot out the landing gear tires so the plane could not take off again.

Nine hours after landing, border patrolman Leonard W. Gilman, 43, a passenger-hostage, slugged the father. FBI agent Francis Crosby, aboard to negotiate, overpowered the son.

President Kennedy Friday commended the two Government agents for the "courageous and level-headed manner" in which they handled the hijacking "under the most difficult circumstances."

Kennedy's letters were sent to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and to Immigration Commissioner J. M. Swing. He also commended the FBI generally for its key role in the capture.

The elder Bearden, three times sentenced to prison and a voluntary mental patient for one month is held in the El Paso County Jail, along with his son, under $100,000 bond each.

They are charged with hijacking the plane and taking it across the New Mexico-Texas state line and with kidnapping those aboard.

At present, no Federal law covers such hijacking, Halaby said. It also is difficult to charge hijackers under state law, like those covering assault. For one thing, it is very hard to figure out where the plane was flying when the

Khrushchev Wants Berlin Settlement

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told the Western Powers Friday he is ready to negotiate a settlement on the future of Germany and Berlin. No specific proposals were made about setting up a conference, apparently leaving the next move to the West.

Parallel notes to the United States, Britain and France concentrated much of their fire on West Germany and accused the Western Powers of rearming the West Germans so Bonn can push the world "to the brink." Otherwise, the Soviet tone was more argumentative than threatening.

A fourth note to the West Germans harshly warned they would not survive "even a few hours of the third world war if it is unleashed." It accused the West German Government of opposing "any regulation which could lead to strengthening the peace in Europe."

None of the notes contained any change in the Khrushchev line on Germany, and it was clear that he will try to negotiate a settlement on his own terms.

However, the British were invited to submit proposals for discussion. No such offer appeared in the note to Washington.

The round of notes was the latest in a diplomatic exchange that began two months ago in Vienna when Khrushchev gave President Kennedy a memorandum on Berlin outlining his plans to sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany by the end of the year. This would hand over control of Western access rights to West Berlin to the East German Communists.

On July 17, the three Western Allies sent the Soviet Union notes warning that Khrushchev's plans present "grave dangers" threatening peace.

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said Friday night the West must be ready to talk with the Soviet Union on West Berlin but that the West can never abandon the two million free West Berliners.

Macmillan was the first of the Western leaders to react publicly to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's new offer to negotiate on Berlin.

Rusk: May Meet On German Crisis

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday that he and the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany would seek an approach to possible Berlin negotiations on a basis which would preserve freedom, democracy and understanding.

"We will do our best to find the answer to these problems so as to preserve the liberty and peace of the Western world," Rusk told newsmen on his arrival from Washington for talks on Berlin here this weekend.

He made it clear that the West would talk with the Soviet Union — but only in an absence of threats or pressure. The West, he declared, holds World War II victors' rights to garrison West Berlin.

Rusk's statement coincided with a declaration by the Soviet Government that it also was willing to shift toward negotiation.

The basic problem faced by the four Western spokesmen — Rusk, Britain's Lord Home, France's Maurice Couve de Murville and West Germany's Heinrich von Brentano — is the preservation of freedom of the 2.25 million West Berliners isolated behind the Iron Curtain.

Lord Home said he was "quite sure these meetings will be useful and we will be able to agree on whatever action that might be appropriate."

Many diplomats feel that the talks here, which start Saturday and continue through Monday, will make up merely the first act in a long drama of conference-table sparring.

Senate Approves Defense Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forging $1 billion beyond President Kennedy's defense budget, the Senate voted unanimously Friday for a record peacetime defense budget of $46.8 billion.

An 85-0 roll call sent the money bill to the House which had voted $42-plus billion well before Kennedy called 10 days ago for a $3.5-billion spending boost in the face of fresh Communist threats to West Berlin.

The Senate added about $1 billion that the President did not ask for in his program of strengthening U.S. conventional, ground warfare forces. This pushed the Senate-approved total about $4 billion above that of the House.

The House, however, is expected to go along promptly with the added $1 billion, largely for more bombers, although the Administration may refuse to spend the money.

Biggest single, unasked addition is $525 million to continue production of B52 jet bombers which Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has said he doesn't need.

The Senate also added $228 million to the $200 million the House voted for development of the 2,000 m.p.h. B70 bomber which the Administration feels could not become an effective weapon before missile systems are perfected.

Friday's action left only one more Congressional step for enactment of the emergency program Kennedy called for July 25.

Earlier, Congress overwhelmingly approved and the President signed measures authorizing the Chief Executive to call up to 250,000 reservists and guardsmen to active duty and permitting him to spend nearly $1 billion to arm and equip them.

The Senate also passed the $207.6 million Kennedy asked for an intensified civil defense program.

Peace Corps OK'd - But Not by Gross!

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's request for $40 million to put the Peace Corps in business won Senate Foreign Relations Committee approval Friday.

The committee rejected 11-6 a move to cut the first annual authorization to $25 million and then approved the full amount 14-0, with 3 members abstaining.

The Peace Corps, which is recruiting and training volunteers for work in underdeveloped countries, was described at the Senate session as having great merit. But in a House hearing, it was denounced as a huge boondoggle.

That criticism was voiced by Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa). Gross accused the Peace Corps director, R. Sargent Shriver, of violating federal lobbying laws by promoting the program in breakfast with congressmen.

Gross told Shriver during a hearing at a House Civil Service subcommittee that he was making a complaint to the Justice Department about his activities.

He noted that Shriver is a brother-in-law of both President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The hearing was on a bill to create 28 top-paying jobs on the federal payroll for administrators.

Shriver acknowledged meeting with congressmen at breakfast. But he said the breakfasts were paid for with private funds and contended there was nothing wrong in what he did.

Consider The Future, Then Vote Monday

The fate of Iowa City's water supply is at stake Monday when residents go to the polls to vote on the water referendum measure. The immediate purpose of their vote will be to determine whether the city should purchase and improve the existing privately-owned water plant.

The future consequences of the poll assume gigantic proportions, however. Voters should think in these far-reaching terms before they mark their "X" on the ballot.

On a matter such as this, it often is much too easy to think only in money terms: What will it cost? Is it really worth going so far in debt? Will it raise my water rates?

The public must certainly be wary of wasteful spending. It should examine closely any proposed expenditures that will affect them directly. And, nothing could be more direct than the monthly water bill in the mailbox.

The "maximum expenditure of $3.1 million" for the purchase and improvement of the water plant has been thoroughly explained and justified by the water study committee and the consulting engineering firm.

Tax funds will not be touched for this purpose according to the committee's report. Instead, the funds will be raised from revenue bonds. This means that the long-term loan payments will come from money that is paid for water service by Iowa city water users.

What is more important is that neither the city tax rate nor the water rates will be increased to pay off this debt.

A merger with the University will also be considered if the water plant is purchased. This joint plant would be managed and operated similar to the present sewage disposal plant. Although this would entail an additional expenditure of $1.5 million, SUI would pay this sum immediately. It would also share operating costs with the city.

Such a merger should not present any great problems. Cooperation between University and city officials has immensely improved the sewage plant's operation.

Questions that have arisen concerning the money terms of the purchase therefore have been satisfactorily answered.

But even should some doubts about the financial soundness of the purchase remain, there is a much more important consequence to be considered. Will Iowa City have enough water to comfortably supply residents of this generation — and of the next generation?

The committee reports that the maximum daily capacity of the present water system is 4.5 million gallons. If more than this is needed — and this has already happened — two dangers arise.

First, there would be insufficient water to be used for firefighting. Modern firefighting equipment, such as the city has, would be of no value if there were no water to flow through the hoses. If a major fire occurred, it could easily become a catastrophe of charred rubble.

Second, sufficient pressure could not be maintained. Turning on a faucet might produce only a trickle.

As mentioned before, the need has at times already exceeded the capacity of the present system. Just this summer it was necessary to call for a halt to watering lawns because the drain on the water supply was too great.

As the population of the city grows in the next few years, and the demand for water increases, more drastic measures might be necessary. It could possibly even lead to curtailing the drinking of water.

The proposed improvement and expansion of the plant would increase the maximum capacity. It would also eliminate the need for these more drastic measures.

An improvement of the taste of the city's water would be made, according to the committee's report. Anyone who has had his thirst suddenly quenched when the present water brushes his taste buds should welcome this pleasant change.

If voters value a ready supply of fresh, drinkable water; if they wish to be assured of protection against fire; and if they desire these things for their children in the future, there is only one thing to do. Give a resounding approval to the water referendum measure Monday.

Build-Up of NATO Forces Is Imperative in Berlin Test

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The reinforcement of the U.S. Army, which the President has proposed to the nation, is planned to provide three additional regular divisions for deployment in Western Europe before the end of this year.

That is not the end of the plan, however. Three further divisions will also be available, if desired, to strengthen the U.S. element in NATO. But if the decision is taken to send all six divisions to Western Europe, the strategic reserve in the United States will be reduced to an unacceptable level — no more than three divisions. National Guard divisions will then be called up to supplement the strategic reserve.

Another careful review will be made, toward the end of August or beginning of September, to determine whether all six divisions will be needed. If this need is established, the required National Guard units will be called up about mid-September with time to spare for bringing them to combat readiness before the moment when a Berlin crunch is likely.

These are the reasons why it is thought to be safe to refrain from declaring a national emergency.

agency and ordering an immediate call-up. These are also the facts which explain the passage in the President's speech that has puzzled so many people — the passage asserting that "brave men" can defend Berlin as they have defended other seemingly indefensible positions, like Bastogne and even Stalingrad.

THIS HAS PUZZLED the great majority of Kennedy's audience, since the real nature of the new approach to the Berlin crisis has not been grasped. The point is that the planned effort to strengthen the NATO forces in Europe is no mere empty gesture.

Three to six American divisions are to be sent to Western Europe, not for show, but to fight an infantry battle if worst comes to worst. For the same purpose, the German Government has been asked — and has promised — to bring its forces in NATO up to maximum strength. And the other Western allies are also being pressed to follow suit, insofar as they can. The idea of a conventional infantry engagement of the approaches to Berlin is hard to grasp, simply because Western military thinking fell into such grave decay in the period of American nuclear monopoly. It became an accepted notion that Western armies, and especially American armies, could never again submit to the danger and discomfort of non-nuclear combat. This notion was sanctified and made official doctrine, when the "New Look" strategy was imposed upon the Pentagon, for strictly budgetary reasons, in the autumn of 1953.

BUT THE "NEW LOOK," always bitterly opposed by the President's military adviser, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, has now been roundly rejected by Kennedy himself. The critical moment occurred, as already reported, when a scheme was presented at the White House for sending a few trucks down the autobahn towards Berlin, and then blithely pushing the button for a thermonuclear war if the trucks were halted.

It must be understood, however, that the new doctrine which has now replaced the "New Look" most emphatically does not rule out the use of the ultimate weapons if no alternative remains. The Berlin plan is most emphatically not based on the expectation that the existing NATO forces can take on the huge Soviet Army, if NATO is just strengthened by a few American, German, and other divisions.

The new doctrine instead calls for a really serious, reasonably protracted test with conventional forces, before the ultimate weapons are brought into play. That is why additional divisions are needed in Western Europe. Unless NATO is fairly substantially strengthened, a serious and reasonably protracted test cannot be attempted.

OBVIOUSLY, the hope is that the test can be limited. The hope is, in fact, that the Kremlin will be persuaded that the United States means business, if the proof is given in combat, and not by empty show. But if the test is not enough, it is recognized that there can be no escape from the last terrible resort. The ultimate weapons will then come into play. This is the second key fact. A limited reinforcement of NATO is thought to be sufficient, because the test, though deadly serious, is also limited at a limited test.

The aim, in sum, is to create an intermediate alternative between the two deeply awful alternatives imposed by the "New Look" strategy.

And despite this aim's novelty, the attempt will be applauded by those who dislike the stark choice between immediate surrender and immediate thermonuclear war.

Latin America Resents U.S. Intervention

By J. M. ROBERTS

The United States, making a new try at the Uruguay conference for Latin-American support in applying the Monroe Doctrine to Cuba, asks little more than she asks of most of her allies around the world, but asks it in an area where opinion is conditioned against her.

Soviet encroachment on northwestern America was one of the original issues which produced the doctrine, although it was pointed directly at European colonialism. Establishment of a base for Soviet Communist expansion in the Western Hemisphere is a major issue today.

But U.S. assumption and expression of responsibility for the Western Hemisphere has never sat well with the Latin Americans who, since the ouster of Spain, have faced many interventions by Britain, France, Germany and the United States.

And, by trying not to appear too pushing, the United States has frequently — handcuffed — herself.

She has never convinced a large portion of Latin-American thought that her altruism exceeds her selfish interests, and especially her selfish business interests.

One historical episode in 1916 stands as a lasting example of how this works.

Francisco Pancho Villa was in revolt against the Mexican Government, which finally drove him from control of Mexico City and so achieved diplomatic recognition by the United States. Enraged, Villa set fire to Columbus, N.M., and killed 16 U.S. citizens.

President Wilson sent Gen. John J. Pershing and an expeditionary force to clean up Villa. Anyone would have thought President Carranza, Villa's arch enemy, might have been pleased.

But Carranza resented the invasion, wanted no U.S. forces in Mexico for any purpose, and demanded their withdrawal.

The United States withdrew after nearly three months of frustration, and Mexico suffered from Villa's guerrillas for four more years.

This attitude toward North American intervention is still displayed by politically important Latin-American factions against political and commercial intervention.

WHEN THE TEXT of President Kennedy's Berlin speech was given to newsmen two hours before the broadcast, it did not contain his "I need your prayers" closing message. The President wrote that in longhand, after dinner, and brought it with him to his office. Just before airtime, a secretary type it up. Note: Kennedy, who normally likes company for dinner, that night dined alone in the White House.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY isn't saying so out loud, but is quite prepared to play down his domestic program now that the Berlin situation has made higher military demands on the budget. Republican leaders who have seen him privately in the past few days came away with a strong feeling that efforts to cut domestic spending would now have less resistance from the White House.

Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.), is brooding over a letter from Harris M. Elmore, of West Islip, N.Y., a "lifelong Republican" who offers a plan for the party to "regain the public confidence and the vote of the American male." It is to develop a new deplatory discovered at Rutgers University "so that man will never have to shave again." This, Elmore feels, provides "a golden opportunity for America to be first for a change."

To insure this, Elmore suggests "that you sponsor a crash program at Rutgers and request the appropriation of $1 billion to further this project." He adds that he has some "interesting theories" on how to raise the money. Case, a Rutgers alumnus, is pondering an answer to the effect that he's interested in the fundraising theories, and hopes the idea can be fulfilled without a $1 billion appropriation.

FBI Seizure For Hidden

LOUISVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Spearheaded by an armored car, more than 100 policemen and FBI agents smashed their way into an estate Friday and seized religious leader John R. Harrell, 16 of his followers, and a young Marine deserter he had granted refuge.

No shots were fired in the pre-dawn raid, which came after two days of unsuccessful efforts to talk the Marine into returning to Camp Lejeune, N. C. He was declared a deserter May 29.

Officers confiscated rifles, side arms and ammunition on the carefully groomed, 100-acre estate of Harrell, silver-haired founder of a religious sect and an anti-Communist school.

Harrell and his small band were charged with harboring a deserter from the Marine Corps — slightly built Dion Davis, 18.

They were to be arraigned before

New Wesley Foundation Head Picked

The Rev. George W. Paterson, pastor of the Churdan Methodist Church since 1959, has been appointed director of the SUI Wesley Foundation, effective Sept. 1.

He succeeds the Rev. William Van Valkenburgh, who has received a Danforth Foundation grant for further study.

A native of Perry, the Rev. Paterson was graduated summa cum

Good Listening — Today On WSUI

By LARRY BARRETT

A MAN SPEAKING HIS MIND is a comforting sound in these days of conformity and the expectation thereof. WSUI will carry several broadcast appearances today of the man who spoke his mind last Tuesday evening in Macbride Auditorium.

His name is Willem Oltmans, and his hard observations on the world-as-she-really-are run smack up against the wishful thinking (if any) of those of us who find the truth everlastingly disconcerting. That is not to say that Oltmans had all the answers; far from it. But he has some of the dandiest questions this side of final exams. His talk will be heard at 1 p.m.; a two-part interview will precede it at 12:15 this morning. Pay attention, in particular, to Oltmans' estimate of our various allies, his characterizations of certain world leaders, and his castigation of the American press; you won't be assured you won't be bored (and, in turn, you may find it much harder to rest assured).

"THE FINAL SOLUTION", in case you missed it, was the program produced at WSUI which drew its theme from Hitler's aim for the Third Reich: a "final solution" of the disposition of Jews in Europe. A synoptic version of the original was sent to the National Association of Broadcasters for distribution to other educational stations. The short "solution" (nonetheless "final") will be heard this afternoon at 2:30.

IF YOU KNOW "DOWNBEAT" (the musicians' magazine) like Tom Koehler knows Downbeat, you won't be at all surprised to find that the last Tea Time Special for awhile is to be devoted to the latest winners in the annual Downbeat Poll. Tom has gathered together representative samples of work by the vari-lucky musicians selected, and the whole thing should make a splendid survey of contemporary American jazz music.

"AMERICAN INVENTIONS" will be the first subject undertaken by this season's show at Kaleidoscopic Radio next Monday. For music we had planned to use the two and three-part inventions of Bach; but he's not an American, is he?

FBI Seize Religious Leader For Hiding Marine Deserter

LOUISVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Spearheaded by an armored car, more than 100 policemen and FBI agents smashed their way into an estate Friday and seized religious leader John R. Harrell, 16 of his followers, and a young Marine deserter he had granted refuge.

A U.S. commissioner in East St. Louis, Ill., 90 miles to the West. Harrell, 38, and Davis, son of a Greenville, Pa., grocery chain manager, talked freely with reporters while awaiting arraignment.

Harrell, gaudily dressed in cowboy boots, khaki trousers and a lavender sport shirt, reiterated he gave sanctuary to Davis after the lad told him tales of immorality, debauchery and atheism in the Marine Corps.

"We want the world to see what is happening in our training camps," said Harrell, whose hair cascades almost to his shoulders. "The conditions in our training camps are no better than what we are being sent to fight."

Hotel Chain Operation Is Now Bankrupt

DES MOINES (AP) — The Fields Iowa Corp., operators of four Iowa hotels, Friday was declared bankrupt by Gibson Holliday, federal referee in bankruptcy.

Holliday said he declared the firm insolvent after it failed to show cause to creditors that it should not be declared bankrupt.

The firm operates the Tall Corn Hotel in Marshalltown, the Chieftan Hotel in Council Bluffs and the Clinton and Lafayette Hotels in Clinton, in addition to seven other hotels in Nebraska and Missouri.

Holliday said the Fields Nebraska Corp. has already been declared bankrupt and that a hearing on involuntary bankruptcy proceedings for the Fields Missouri Corp. will be held Monday in Kansas City.

The three separate corporations operate the Madison Hotel in Norfolk, Neb.; the Lincoln and Capitol hotels in Lincoln, Neb.; the Evans Hotel in Columbus, Neb.; and the Lincoln Hotel in Scottsbluff, Neb.

In Missouri, the corporation operates the Elms and the Oaks hotels at Excelsior Springs.

SUI To Conduct Business Survey in 15 Communities

What do you think of parking meters? Trading stamps? What night would you like to have Iowa City stores open late?

They will also be asked general questions such as, "How do you rate the facilities of Iowa City and surrounding towns."

About three to five per cent of the Iowa City residents and up to 10 per cent of persons in the surrounding area will be queried, an official of the Chamber of Commerce said.

From this information, maps will be made up showing the Iowa City trade area.

About 25 Iowa City organizations will also participate in the survey. They will be asked to describe community facilities or make recommendations for improvements.

Results of the survey will be available to local firms. The Chamber's redevelopment committee, which has been studying location of businesses in Iowa City, is also expected to study the results of the survey.

The SUI Bureau has made six other business surveys for Iowa communities and is making surveys now in six other cities.

Independent Unit Starts Thursday

Independent Study Unit registration for graduate and law students will close Wednesday.

The session will run Thursday to Sept. 6. Students register for one to four weeks and receive one to four credits.

Arrangements are made between instructors and students. Usually reading, research, instructor-student conferences and writing papers occupy a student's time. There are no regular classes.

Two Iowa Bank Tellers Admit Embezzling Savings

DES MOINES (AP) — Two Iowa bank tellers were fined Friday after pleading guilty to charges of embezzling bank funds.

Wayne Alvin Meyer, 29, former teller at the Bettendorf Bank and Trust Co. who admitted embezzling $1,323 since Aug. 19, 1960, was fined $1,000 and placed on probation for one year by U.S. District Judge Roy L. Stephenson.

Melvin Dilworth Chaplin, 22, a former teller at the People's Trust and Savings Bank at Indianapolis, was fined $500 after he admitted taking $750 from the bank since early in 1960.

Judge Stephenson told Meyer "you are just a thief, and you threw suspicion on your fellow employees."

Meyer told the FBI in a signed statement "I was short of money and needed money for current expenses."

U. S. Dist. Atty. Roy Meadows said Meyer has admitted taking money from four other tellers' cages since Aug. 29, 1960, but has not admitted taking $815 which is missing.

Meyer was employed at the bank from the date the shortages started until April of this year.

Meadows said Meyer spent about $700 of the money and had $600 left when the shortage was found. He has repaid the $600 and promises to make full restitution.

Meyer is married and has two children. He is now employed by a supermarket in Davenport as a truck dispatcher.

Meadows said the Indianola bank had shortages of $1,390 in 1959 and $1,114 in 1960. Chaplin was specifically charged with embezzling "money in excess of $100" on June 4.

Meadows said Chaplin has admitted his responsibility for the $750 shortage which occurred while he worked at the bank and attended Simpson College.

Meadows said Chaplin would take money from other tellers' cages by changing a $5 bill and taking $10 in change.

Chaplin told the court "I'm very sorry to have done this thing and I would like to have an opportunity to make good."

Meadows said the $750 has been repaid the bank.

Air Hostesses Frown On Eye-Catching Slit Skirts

LONDON (AP) — British airline stewardesses complain that Oriental girls with eye-catching slit skirts have an unfair advantage over the Western sisters on the airways.

"We feel we're being left out in the cold," said a spokesman for the Western girls. "We have to wear colorless nail varnish and regular uniform skirts, while the Oriental girls can wear slit skirts, colored nails, earrings and even stiletto heels."

The girls work for the British Overseas Airways Corporation. The spokesman for the Western girls said they are afraid that — because of the popularity of the Oriental stewardesses — BOAC may try to hire more Oriental girls at the expense of Occidental stewardesses.

In a formal protest to BOAC, the Western stewardesses said the girls with the cheongsams — Chinese sheath-like slit-skirt dresses — are being introduced on the Pacific routes to the United States and flights between India and the Far East.

The stewardesses are also afraid that BOAC may use the Eastern girls on flights between the American coasts.

Capt. Frank Wilson, chairman of a stewards and stewardesses panel told newsmen a decision is possible by BOAC on the complaint next week.

A spokesman for BOAC said the Oriental girls can wear slit skirts, earrings and painted nails if these are a part of their native dress.

As for spike heels, the airlines man explained: "These are out. No stewardesses of any kind can wear them on duty in airliners."

BOAC said Oriental girls were trained in London and began working on its planes about three years ago.

Heavy Rainstorm Hits I.C. Area

A heavy rainstorm, mixed with hail, resulted in trees and tree limbs being blown over and several electrical outages in the Iowa City area Friday night.

The storm started around 10:30 p.m., and had partially subsided by 11.

The Iowa City Police Department reported that trees were down on Clinton, Burlington and River Streets, Park Road, and Morningside Drive. A branch struck cars in front of Schaeffer Hall, on Clinton Street, causing slight damage.

The Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. reported several power failures in the area. The outages were quickly restored.

At the corner of Johnson and Church Streets, children were reported swimming in four feet of water at 11:20 p.m.

Eagles Smash Stars 28-14

Tom McDonald Makes Three Sensational TD Catches

CHICAGO (AP) — Tommy McDonald made three spectacular catches of touchdown passes Friday night as the Philadelphia Eagles overwhelmed the college All-Stars 28-14 in the 28th annual All-Star football game before 65,000 in Soldier Field.

Only the brilliant passes of Bill Kilmer of UCLA and Norman Snead of Wake Forest kept the All-Stars in the game.

In the final minutes Kilmer passed 18 yards to Lynn Gregory of Southern Methodist for a touchdown. With only seconds left Dick Green of Ohio U., intercepted a pass and ran 57 yards for the college's second and last touchdown.

Joe Bellino, Navy's All-American, suffered a pulled leg muscle warming up for the game and was unable to play.

The Eagles, National Football League champions, alternated King Hill and Sonny Jurgensen on quarterback. There was little to choose between them.

In the first period Jurgensen threw 27 yards to McDonald who caught the ball in the end zone with a jump that put him flat on his back. In the second period Hill tossed 24 yards to McDonald who dove for the ball and caught it at the goal line. Finally McDonald made a leaping catch of a 24 yard pass from Jurgensen in the last period for a touchdown, and Jurgensen also passed 25 to Pete Retzlaff in the first to score.

The All-Stars opened the game with a bang. Bill Brown of Illinois returned the first kickoff 39 yards to the All-Star 46. Norman Snead of Wake Forest passed 42 yards to Aaron Thomas of Oregon State on the Eagles 12. But two plays later Brown fumbled and the All-Star hopes were dashed.

The Eagles switched mostly to a ground attack in the second half and the tempo of the game slowed down.

Tempers flared several times during the game, particularly at the end of the first half when the Eagle coaching staff helped restore order.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ken Venturi, battling wind and rain five holes from home, stormed through Friday to hold the lead halfway through the 72-hole Eastern Open Golf Tournament with a score of 137, seven strokes below par.

The 30-year-old from San Francisco clipped three strokes off par through 13 holes before a deluge fell on the Pine Ridge course.

He conquered tricky winds and a muddy course to equal par the rest of the way for a 69 behind Thursday's opening 68.

Venturi's steady finish enabled him to slide a stroke in front of defending champion Gene Littler, Gay Brewer Jr. and Doug Sanders.

Brewer and Sanders, went around in 66 the second time while Littler took 68, two better than his initial round.

Have We Had It?

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma told the Football Writers' Association Friday that "if physical fitness is a joke, this country has had it."

Wilkinson, the President's adviser on youth fitness, outlined a four-point program which he hopes to set in motion in public and private schools:

1. Each school has the responsibility to make a health appraisal of every child.
2. Schools through simple tests should identify the underdeveloped child who then should be required to participate in a remedial program.
3. Every child should have 15 minutes of vigorous exercise every day.
4. Schools should have physical education programs based on testing at the start of each term and again at the end so each child knows where he stands.

Iowans Out In National Golf Meet

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — The last of Iowa's entries in the National Junior golf tournament were ousted in the second round Friday.

Tom Iverson of Clinton was beaten 4 and 3 by Elwin Fanning of Seattle, Wash., and Gary Gottschalk of Dubuque was defeated 2-up by Tim Haap of Cucamonga, Calif.

Iowa's other two entries, Bruce Fischer of Manning and Paul Widener III of Sioux City, were ousted in Thursday's first round.

George Boutell of Phoenix, Ariz., joined Byron Wood, the Jaycee hero of Manning and Oregon, Friday in a march through two rounds of the U.S. Golf Association's 14th Junior Championship.

Boutell, a four-time competitor in this event and junior champion of Arizona when he was 14, knocked over National medalist Jamie Gough III of Arlington, Va., 5 and 4, in the third round.

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer Friday remained the general favorite to knock back the challenge of knockout specialist Florentino Fernandez, but the Cuban invader was given a puncher's chance to score an upset.

The 15-round bout goes on tonight in Ogden Stadium, rain or shine, with a national television audience tuned in via ABC at 9 o'clock, (C.D.T.).

The fight has its international aspects and Fullmer's manager, Marv Jensen, declared: "It is not incorrect to say Gene is fighting for the free world."

The 25-year-old Cuban left-hander has signed a stipulation that he will not leave the United States for at least 90 days in the event he wins the title, staying on to give the West Jordan, Utah, mauler a chance to regain the National Boxing Association portion of the title.

This will be 30-year-old Gene's sixth defense of the crown he won from Carmen Basilio in San Francisco Aug. 28, 1950.

Cincy Edges Bucs, 5-4

CINCINNATI (AP) — Frank Robinson doubled to center in the ninth inning Friday night to break a 4-4 tie and keep the Cincinnati Reds on top of the National League with a 5-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates jumped to an early lead in the first when Bill Virdon singled and scored on Bob Skinner's one-bagger after advancing on a ground-out.

Outfielder Frank Robinson of Cincinnati, who reached a slugging peak in July, Friday was chosen the National League's player of the month by the greatest margin in the history of the award.

The 40 writers and broadcasters who ballot gave Robinson 32 votes after a month in which he batted .409 in 30 games, drove in 34 runs and walloped 13 homers.

Rocky Nelson drew a walk, Dick Schofield ran for Nelson and scored when Wally Post dropped Virdon's long drive.

Virdon reached second on the error and went to third on a sacrifice. Then Dick Stuart hit his 17th homer to make it 4-2.

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Blanchard crashed a tenth inning home run with two mates aboard to give the New York Yankees a 8-5 victory over Minnesota Friday night after Harmon Killebrew's three-run homer in the eighth had forced the game into extra innings.

Bill Pleis, in relief of starter Camilo Pascual, was on the mound when Blanchard connected for his 14th home run of the season with two out. Blanchard never should have come to bat in the tenth, but a mental lapse by Twins infielder Ted Lepcio gave the Yankees a lift.

After Pleis had retired the first two batters, he walked Mickey Ruth's Daughter Says . . .

Babe Wanted His Record Broken

Babe and Dorothy

By The Associated Press

Dorothy was nine years old when she sat on the knee of her famous father Babe Ruth, in the picture above, as he read to her at home in New York in 1930.

Today, Dorothy, now Mrs. Dorothy Pirone, 40, of Wallingford, Conn., said she thought the late home run slammer would like to see his record broken.

She was commenting on the New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris and their threat to Ruth's 1927 record of 60 home runs.

Her view is opposite to that of Ruth's widow, Mrs. Clair Ruth, who said this week she hoped his record never would be broken.

New York Yankee sluggers Mantle and Maris currently lead Ruth's pace by 16 games.

Wright Has Solid Lead

WATERLOO (AP) — Mickey Wright, co-medalist, shot a 2-under par 70 Friday to take undisputed lead in the Women's Waterloo Open golf tournament.

The 26-year-old Dallas, Tex., professional, seeking to add this meet to her string of five victories this season, finished the half-way point of the 72-hole tourney in 69-70—139 for a two-stroke edge over Kathy Whitworth, of Jal, N.M.

Miss Whitworth, 21-year-old who lost the Waterloo Open title to Wiffi Smith in a playoff last year, couldn't get her putter working satisfactory on the back nine, bogeyed No. 17 and dropped into second with 69-72—141.

Sioux City's Judy Kimball blew up for an 82 in the second round and ended far down the list with 160.

Titov Makes Space Flight In 25 Hours

Soviet's Newest Air Traveler To Receive Reception in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Maj. Gherman Stepanovich Titov, the newest Soviet space traveler, returned safely from a 25-hour flight around the earth, the Soviet Union announced — and this feat, in effect, gave man a flight ticket to the moon.

"I feel very well," the 26-year-old air force pilot told Premier Khrushchev by telephone. He covered roughly the distance of a trip to the moon and return in 17 orbits of the earth, the Soviets said.

Khrushchev promised Titov a hero's reception on his arrival in Moscow from somewhere in the interior.

"We shall give you a worthy welcome in Moscow, as a whole people, as a whole country," he said.

Titov returned 25 hours and 18 minutes after he blasted off Sunday morning on a journey of about 435,000 miles, the announcement said.

He was reported to have eaten, slept, and manually operated the

Space Flight Plan Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress today voted $1,671,755,000 for the U.S. space flight program, including $471,750,000 for the manned moon shot effort.

The money was carried in a compromise measure providing a total of $8,762,350,000 to finance 20 different government agencies in the fiscal year which began July 1.

The bill sailed through both the House and Senate by voice votes.

The over-all amount is $337 million more than President Kennedy asked.

five-ton space craft Vostok II as he whizzed at about 300 miles a minute at an altitude ranging from 110.0 to 159.59 miles above the earth.

Moscow radio said Titov came down from the landing site of the first Soviet spaceman, Maj. Yuri Gagarin, Gagarin is thought to have landed about 450 miles southeast of Moscow on his return from a single trip around the earth April 12.

There were no details and no indication whether the ship landed intact. The Russians said Gagarin's Vostok I landed without damage.

Titov told Khrushchev he had successfully completed his task, had been given a big reception on the ground, had a drink of water, and felt fine.

The Soviet Communist Party and Government proclaimed that Titov's flight showed manned spacehips will soon "blaze space routes to the moon, Mars and Venus."

In a joint statement they praised "the new tremendous achievement of the Soviet Union, our science and technology, the entire national economy and the great advantages of the Socialist social system which is the most progressive in the world."

In London, Kenneth Gatland, vice president of the British Interplanetary Society, said it was likely the Russians would put a man on the moon in 1966 or 1967, with a reconnaissance flight much sooner.

"What is so interesting about this latest Russian success," he said, "is that Vostok II had enough air and food provisions in it for a round - the - moon reconnaissance flight which would last for about five to eight days."

The flight kept much of the world on edge for a day and night. The pilot's series of radio messages — he called himself "the eagle" — were often spiced with a cool touch of bravado.
