

GM-UAW Attempt New Strike Talks

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union and General Motors made slow progress Friday in joint efforts to speed strike settlement.

UAW officials and GM labor relations representatives met with leaders from more than a score of local unions blocking a return-to-work movement at all of GM's 12 U.S. plants.

Leaders of locals at 24 plants were summoned to Detroit by UAW President Walter P. Reuther.

UAW leaders appeared to be making headway in quelling a revolt at the Fisher body stamping plant in Pittsburgh.

John McCarrell, president of the UAW local at Pittsburgh, challenged both the UAW leadership and GM when he showed up at GM Friday morning.

But after a forenoon session with GM staff people and UAW Vice President Pat Greathouse, the stocky, barrel-chested McCarrell cooled off and told newsmen:

"We feel that General Motors and our union together can iron out this problem and when the higher echelon of GM gives us the OK we'll go back to work."

The UAW and GM completed agreement Wednesday on a national contract covering wages and working conditions. The UAW's National GM Council accepted the contract but in a surprise move sought to continue the strike because of lack of local agreements at 24 plants. The UAW executive board rejected the demand for a national strike and ordered a return to work at plants where settlements had been made.

INVITES YURI
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Soviet spaceman Yuri Gagarin is flying to New Delhi Oct. 10 for a four-day visit to India as a state guest. A spokesman said Soviet spaceman No. 2, Maj. Gherman Titov, also has been invited and will be coming later.

Kennedy Offers To Run 'Peace Race'

World Hears Fresh Plan on Disarmament

Calls for Treaty Now; Asks Russia To Match U.S. Step-for-Step

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States gave the United Nations a broad new disarmament plan Monday with a new idea — that the atomic powers agree at the outset not to shift control of any atomic weapons to any other countries.

President Kennedy outlined the plan to the General Assembly in a wide-ranging 38-minute speech. The U.S. delegation handed the details to the U.N. secretariat to be passed around to the 99 countries in the assembly and on the Disarmament Commission.

Kennedy proposed that disarmament negotiations, broken off by the Soviet Union 15 months ago, should "resume promptly and continue without interruption until an entire program for general and complete disarmament has not only been agreed upon but actually achieved." He suggested they work on the new U.S. plan.

The President said the plan would proceed gradually under international inspection "until it has abolished all armies and all weapons except those needed for internal order and a new U.N. peace force." "And," he added, "it starts that process now, today, even as the talks begin."

He challenged the Soviet Union "to advance with us step by step" to full disarmament. He said the new program included these proposals:

"First, signing the test-ban treaty, by all nations. This can be done now. Tests ban negotiations need not and should not await general disarmament talks.

Second, stopping the production of fissionable materials for use in weapons, and preventing their transfer to any nation now lacking nuclear weapons.

"Third, prohibiting the transfer of control over nuclear weapons to states that do not now own them.

"Fourth, keeping nuclear weapons from seeding new battlegrounds in outer space.

"Fifth, gradually destroying existing nuclear weapons and converting their materials to peaceful uses; and

"Finally, halting the unlimited testing and production of strategic nuclear delivery weapons, and gradually destroying them as well."

These points were elaborated in a 2,700-word "declaration on disarmament" containing a three-stage U.S. outline program for "general and complete disarmament in a peaceful world" — the bulk of the documentation submitted for U.N. distribution.

The third point had never been proposed formally before. It would bar the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France from handing control over any nuclear weapons to countries now without them.

U.S. sources said that whereas the United States had previously put forward each stage of its disarmament proposals as a package on a basis of take it all or leave it, that government now is willing to single out the part about no nuclear weapon transfers, or any other part, and sign a separate agreement on that. One of them said the new disarmament plan is "one of the boldest, one of the most far-reaching, one of the most comprehensive" ever advanced anywhere.

The new plan dropped two ideas in the 1960 plan — that of progressively reducing military budgets and that of setting up a zone of aerial and ground inspection in an area including the United States and the Soviet Union.

Union Board Applications Due

Union Board sub-committee applications are now available at the Union Information Desk.

The various areas of sub-committee work include social, recreation, education and culture, and publicity.

Applications have been sent to presidents of housing units and resident advisors. They must be turned in to the Union Information Desk Friday at 5 p.m.

Student Senate's First Meeting Wednesday Features Open House

By JOAN ANDERSON
Staff Writer

Marge Kelley, A2, Osage, last year's inter-dorm queen, and Spencer Page, A3, Spencer, chairman of Central Party Committee, will act as hostess and host of the Student Senate open house, Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Senate Chamber of the Old Capitol.

The Senate legislative body will hold its first regular meeting of the year at that time and will use it as an opportunity to acquaint students with Senate work. All meetings are open to the public but Wednesday's meeting will give students a chance to meet their individual representatives.

After the legislative session, coffee and cookies will be served in the lobby while Senate members and their constituents get together. All senate commissioners and committee members should be present to answer any questions which might arise concerning their groups.

One of the principal topics of discussion for the meeting will be the Project AID (Assist Iowa Development) initiated last year by Senate President John Niemyer. Project AID will be a scholarship fund set up by the Senate for needy students. It has arisen as an attempt at partial solution to the problem of the rising cost of a college education.

Student Senate meetings will be held every second Wednesday in the Senate Chamber of the Old Capitol.

The Senate legislative body is composed of 22 persons elected from their housing units. Those electorates represented on the senate are the women's dormitories — Burge, Currier and Westlawn; the men's dormitories — Hillcrest, Quadrangle, and South Quadrangle; Panhellenic Association, the Inter-Fraternity Council, Town Women, Town Men, and Married Students.

Membership on the Senate is apportioned on the basis of the population of the various electorates.

DI Starts Full Delivery

Today's edition of The Daily Iowan marks the beginning of full-scale home delivery for the fall semester. More than 8,300 copies were distributed by route carriers and the mail to each student-occupied house, fraternity and sorority house, dormitories and married-student units.

The beginning of home delivery — accomplished a day earlier this year than last — climaxes a huge sorting and accounting job that could not begin until registration had ended. Registration cards were compiled by the University's Statistical Service Friday, then sorted into proper routes by Iowan circulation employees over the weekend.

The cards were then returned to Statistical Service, where they were printed into route lists. The lists were tabulated to determine the number of papers for each address, distributed to the Iowan's 45 carrier boys who began home delivery this morning.

During this period, the Iowan has been available — free of charge — at four city bookstores and the Iowan Memorial Union. Dormitory, fraternity and sorority and married student housing home delivery began during Rush Week.

If a student does not get his paper each morning, it is probably because he (1) registered late (2) gave an incorrect or incomplete address at registration or (3) was the victim of a clerical error somewhere along the line. In any event, he is urged to phone The Daily Iowan office (7-4191) before 5 p.m. to correct the situation.

The Iowan is distributed on this basis: One copy for each student-occupied room or apartment; one for every three students living in a fraternity or sorority house; one for every married-student couple.

Des Moines Voters Reject Housing Proposal

DES MOINES (AP) — A proposal to participate in low-rent federal public housing was rejected Monday by Des Moines voters.

The vote was 19,711 against and 18,359 for. A majority of 60 per cent had been needed for passage. The election marked the first effort of an Iowa city to participate in the federal housing program since state enabling legislation was passed last spring by the Iowa Legislature.

Gibson Suggests 'Terminal Student' Program for Iowa

NEWTON (AP) — A noted educator appealed Monday for both private and public colleges of Iowa to unite in a "grand design" to meet the needs of higher education in the next decade.

Dr. Raymond Gibson, professor of higher education at Indiana University, stressed the need for what he called a "terminal student" program designed for students who withdraw from college before obtaining their degrees.

Dr. Gibson, author of the so-called Gibson Report on Higher Education that was presented to the 1961 Iowa Legislature, addressed the annual meeting of the Association of Iowa College Presidents.

He advocated establishment of a statewide system of community colleges — with the same status as junior colleges — as a means of "obtaining results rather than more expansion of the state's four-year institutions."

If such a program is set up, he said, he urged that four-year institutions act as "godfathers" in the development of both policies and facilities for the new schools.

He said both private and tax-supported institutions should be responsible for this sponsorship.

About 100 college presidents, deans, junior college and other officials attended Monday's session.

Senate Makes Another Try For Adjournment Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders clutched vainly for adjournment Monday on the congressional merry-go-round. They drew an unwanted brass ring giving them another day's ride at the least.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana announced today's session will start one hour earlier in hopes of winding up the session tonight.

Mansfield gave up any thought of adjourning Monday night after he was blocked in an effort to speed action on the last big bill awaiting disposition — a $1-billion supplemental appropriation measure.

aneous Government programs. Sen. Winston L. Prout (R-Vt.) objected when Mansfield asked for unanimous consent to waive the rules and bring the bill up immediately. Under the rules the bill could not be considered until today.

Under the schedule adjournment late today would be the best the leadership could aim for.

While the supplemental money bill held the key to adjournment, there were other items remaining to be disposed of.

One of these was the foreign aid appropriation bill which has passed both the Senate and House but

Committee on Student Life Applications Due

New student representatives to the Committee on Student Life will be named in the near future by SUI President Virgil M. Hancher.

The committee is undergoing a partial face-lifting, which includes the appointment of additional student members. In previous years there were only two students on the committee.

Miss Helen Reich, assistant director of student affairs, said applications for the positions are available at the Union Information Desk and the Office of Student Affairs and must be submitted by 5 p.m., Sept. 29.

Applicants must be of junior standing or above. They will be screened by Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa, who will recommend six men and six women for the positions. Final selections will be made by President Hancher.

Worth the Wait
Long lines of students waited through early morning hours to get tickets to the Iowa-California game Saturday. Some, like these in front of the Field House, were dampened by a slow drizzle. Tickets may again be picked up today at both the Field House and the Iowa Memorial Union. Students with I.D. numbers between 114001 and 129000 may pick them up from 7 a.m. to noon. Tickets for students with numbers from 129001 and up will be available from noon to 6 p.m. I.D. cards and the Certificate of Registration are required for each ticket. The I.D. card and the ticket must be presented for admittance to the stadium Saturday. —Daily Iowan Photo by Larry Rapoport

Address to U.N. Notes Critical Age

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Kennedy solemnly challenged the Soviet Union to a "peace race" Monday and warned the 99 United Nations that unless men now quickly learn to control their weapons and their quarrels they may shortly destroy themselves.

The next 10 months are crucial for the future of the world, he said.

He laid out a six-point disarmament plan, challenging the Soviet Union, he said, "not to an arms race but to a peace race."

Kennedy sought, too, to rally the smaller nations of the world to a campaign to save the United Nations from what he considers Soviet wrecking tactics.

The President was greeted with a standing ovation when he entered the assembly hall, and was given a 40-second ovation at the end. Assembly President Mongi Slim said just before the President left that he was sure the message would be studied by all delegations "with the attention and seriousness it warrants."

After the General Assembly session ended Kennedy talked informally and privately with a group including Gromyko and Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon. What they discussed was not disclosed.

The success of the speech will be judged eventually by how the neutralist nations like India and Ghana line up on critical issues such as selection of a successor to the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold. What Kennedy tried to hammer home to them was that everything they do must have the most fateful consequences.

"The events and decisions of the next 10 months," Kennedy declared, "may well decide the fate of man for the next ten thousand years."

Perhaps no leader of a major nation had ever before raised such a doomsday cry in such a great international forum. It supplied the main theme for everything he said about specific problems:

He proposed a six-point U.S. disarmament program and called on the Russians to help get negotiations started promptly.

—He pressed Russia to sign with the United States and Britain immediately a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests under international controls.

—He recommended that all U.N. member nations start ear-marking and training forces for a U.N. "peace-keeping" force, a kind of world police force. The President also said the peace-commitments of the U.N. Charter should be extended to outer space before the cold war gets there.

Kennedy devoted more space to disarmament than any other single subject. He introduced changes in the timing of disarmament steps which Kennedy aides said were very significant. He also underscored the determination of the West to fight for Berlin, if necessary.

In most of his speech Kennedy refrained from attacking the Communists directly, but in talking about colonialism, always a popular issue with the new Asian and African nations, Kennedy spotlighted his target exactly as the "Communist empire." He said the Western powers have freed or are freeing their colonial territories and the United States as a former colony supports self-determination.

He drew applause when he added: "Let us debate colonialism in full and apply the principle of free choice and the practice of free plebiscites in every part of the globe."

Kennedy also pulled his punches less when he summoned the non-aligned nations to reject Russia's demand to replace Hammarskjold with a three-man board, on which each of the members, including the Soviet, would have a veto. This is known as the troika proposal from a Russian word meaning any group of three and particularly a three-horse sleigh.

Kennedy remarked, "It can better be filled by one man than by three. Even the three horses of the troika did not have three drivers, they had only one — and so must the U.N. executive."

When he came to discuss the subject of Berlin, Kennedy rejected sharply Soviet claims that the United States is threatening war to stop Khrushchev from signing a peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

He said the Western Allies "are not concerned with any paper arrangement" and that no such arrangements can affect their rights or responsibilities in Berlin.

The dangerous crisis arises, Kennedy said, because of threats against the vital interests of the West and the freedom of the West Berliners.

"This generation," said Kennedy, learned from bitter experience that either brandishing or yielding to threats can only lead to war. But firmness and reason can lead to the kind of peaceful solution in which my country profoundly believes."

Most Nations Applaud Talk

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Britain and West Germany promptly endorsed Monday night the new U.S. disarmament plan President Kennedy presented to the U.N. General Assembly while challenging the Soviet Union to a "peace race."

Moscow radio and the official Soviet news agency Tass reported initially without comment only that Kennedy had addressed the 99-nation assembly and "dwelt on the activity of the United Nations, the question of disarmament, the so-called Berlin crisis and the question of colonialism."

A British Foreign Office statement in London said the U.S. plan for gradual and inspected steps toward complete and general disarmament had Britain's "full and enthusiastic approval."

In Bonn, a West German Government statement said: "The plan represents a realistic and practicable basis for negotiations. The Government of West Germany, although it is not a member of the United Nations, stands ready to use all its powers to support the American proposal."

The British and West German Governments limited their immediate official statements to disarmament.

But British officials privately hailed Kennedy's speech as an outstanding combination of realism and vision, conciliation and firmness.

The British especially warmed to Kennedy's statement that he considers a peaceful settlement to the Berlin crisis is possible even if the Soviet Union and Communist East Germany sign a separate peace treaty.

The British stand firmly behind Kennedy's call for a single Secretary-General to replace Dag Hammarskjold. They also oppose the Soviet Union's so-called troika proposal to replace the Secretary-General with a three-man directorate on which each would have veto power.

U.N. OKs China Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U. N. General Assembly agreed Monday night to a full debate on the question of seating Red China. This is the first time in 10 years that the issue had not been shelved.

The China representation question was one of 91 items placed on the agenda of the current session of the 99-nation assembly. The Steering Committee had recommended inclusion of all the items last week.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union backed the China debate, although each supported a different formulation of the question. The assembly agreed to list both items — one sponsored by New Zealand and the other by the Soviet Union.

The assembly overrode Soviet opposition and included items on alleged suppression of human rights in Tibet and on the situation in Hungary.

Card Section Will Practice Wednesday

Card Section practice will be held on Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the stadium according to Pep Club President, Larry Prybil, A4, Iowa City. Stunts to be used for the California game will be practiced. Mandatory attendance requires that both seats must be filled at practice and game or alternates will be used. Tickets for Saturday's games will be passed out at the end of practice upon the presentation of two I.D. cards. Prybil reminds all card sectioners to be in their seats at 4 p.m. so practice can start on time.

City Council's Changes On Daylight Time

Apparently the side which shouts the loudest gets the votes as far as the Iowa City City Council is concerned. At least, that has been the case in regard to the daylight savings time issue in this city.

In its latest change of mind, the Council voted three to two last week to repeal a resolution approved in 1960 that placed the city on daylight savings time during the summer months. The Council had, before the summer began, voted for the second straight year to continue operation under daylight time.

Members of the Council voting for a return to standard time claim that when the resolution to create daylight time was passed in 1960, the public opinion was about three to one in favor of the measure. This summer, the work of a group — the Committee for Standard Time — apparently showed that the public opinion tables were wrong, and now Council members feel Iowa Citizens stand against daylight time four to one. Thus, once again as "public opinion" dictated, the daylight time resolution was repealed.

The Council's move and the entire city's reactions all summer are nearly carbon copies of a similar situation in 1954. At that time, the Council, confronted with a petition bearing 900 names for daylight time, and with a number of surrounding communities doing the same, voted unanimously June 13 to go on daylight time.

But less than a month had passed before the opposition — mostly farmers and businessmen — began to rally their forces to form a Citizens Committee for the Return to Central Standard Time. That group gathered some 3,100 signatures on an anti-DST petition and presented them to the City Council July 27. The Council, once more "listening to the people," voted to return to standard time. The issue remained closed until 1960 when the cycle was begun all over again.

It appears that in the history of dealing with the daylight time issue, the City Council has almost always been too willing to make decisions due to a "change in public opinion" without apparently considering what that "change" really is.

Certainly, it is true that our system of democracy demands representatives nearly always vote as they believe the people themselves want them to. But it is also nearly always true that when a vote is upcoming, persons on the side that is in the minority are by necessity apt to do much more "shouting" while those on the side which has the upper hand remain relatively quiet.

The minority sometimes is loud enough to appear to be the majority.

In the daylight issue, when standard time was a rule, daylight time persons were able to gather enough backing to swing the Council's decision. And whenever daylight time stood on top, its proponents settled back and the standard time committee went to work. Each time it appeared as though the public opinion was switching. Each time the Council interpreted this as a "change in public opinion" and altered its own decision.

However in actuality it appears that the side best organized and clanging loudest had the Council believing the tide was turning. Perhaps at no time at all has the City Council received — to the fullest extent — an example of the real representation of feeling on the issue.

This summer, we stated that the fairest way to handle the issue — so that a more thorough cross-section of opinion could be offered — would be to have an election in which all citizens might vote for or against daylight time. The Council in turn, could vote on the issue with the outcome of the election guiding its decision.

Last week, the city attorney ruled that the expenditure of public funds for such an election would be illegal. The election, however, could be held if it were sponsored by some other group, the Chamber of Commerce seeming to be the most likely sponsor.

We still believe that an election is the answer to the ticklish daylight time problem, and we suggest that such a group-sponsored election take place.

With such an election, persons on the "status quo" side would realize that they must register their opinion as well as those on the "shouting" side, else the "status quo" side be defeated. Thus, when the final results were in, the Council would have a much more accurate total of "how many feel what way."

Following such an election, the City Council's vote could indeed be influenced by public opinion. But it would be an opinion which would be much more representative than just one side screeching at the top of its lungs.

Who Are These Guys Maris and Mantle?

U. S. Cannot Instill Fear Of Herself as Russia Does

By ERIC SEVAREID
 LONDON — In Berkeley Square the first of the crisp, yellow oak leaves are sailing across the streets, tinkling against the showcase of the Rolls Royce salesroom and the windows of the old house where Clive of India lived. Grouse and partridge, shot this week in the heather and stubble, hang in the open markets. The morning air is cool to the lungs. This reporter is leaving the muted tones of old Europe in the loveliest of autumns for the hard colors, the thrust and vitality of his homeland and not without some pang.

I suppose Americans who love not only their own land but their civilization, their heritage, will always feel this way, their hearts always pulled a little, eastward and westward, as they cross and recross the Atlantic. You want to be among your compatriots whose will and drive and competence you really trust, in the land that is more than ever the "last, best hope" of man. But somehow we have become the guardians, the trustees at long distance of the cultural homeplace, this Europe, this garden of the senses, this translucent meadow of grace and custom and continuity. You feel responsible, even when you leave.

ALL THE ARTS OF LIVING are accumulated here and life in Europe is very good. You feel the beautiful complexity of this marvelous work of man on this "extension of Asia." And then you see that porcine Russian face squinting over his brick wall, cemented by human blood, enclosing the social pigery called "East Germany." You hear the ranting voice that everything on this side of the wall is decaying illusion, that the true garden of progress is over there to the East, where live the "peace loving" in the true brotherhood of man.

East time he speaks you have a sense of madness loose at last; You feel almost paralyzed with incredulity as when Adolf Hitler roared of the master race from the sportsplatz in old Berlin.

Arguments rush to clog the angry brain; They do not know how to live in Russia and they will never learn so long as that monstrously unnecessary system prevails. Successful, they call it. Any system can be made to work after a fashion if all opposition to it is destroyed long enough, and 45 years is long enough.

VIRTUALLY EVERYTHING was copied from the West; All Russia sweats to have precisely what the West already has, and yet we are told that the West is all wrong, unworkable by the laws of Marx and history. Russia has made a "remarkable recovery" from war's devastation under Communism — but one thinks of West Germany or Italy, both smashed even worse proportionately and now providing a higher average standard of life than the Soviet Union. Surely, free choice has something to do with this. The whole debate is a joke, but only the gods can laugh.

On the facts, the argument is closed. But we have entered a weird and frightening passage of history where facts are not of consequence. Khrushchev knows the facts and their existence explains much of his rage. Communism as a doctrine is finished. It cannot advance another foot

Kennedy's U.N. Speech Discussed

By J. M. ROBERTS
 Associated Press News Analyst
 On a day when he admitted that the very life of the United Nations is at stake, President Kennedy challenged the General Assembly to take new action and new responsibility for the future.

He virtually promised, if it would do so, to turn over to some of the programs by which the United States has been acting more or less unilaterally to produce the kind of world in which she wants to live.

Here was Kennedy at his inspirational best, an earnest young man, recognizing cold realities, unwilling to be Red rather than dead, but looking "across this world of threats to the world of peace."

He was attempting to revive the faith of the United Nations in its own future, laying directly upon it the choice of a world living in peace instead of dying in its own flames.

He proposed that disarmament control and inspection be placed under the United Nations.

He gave strong indication that the United States will one day consider surrendering its foreign economic and technical aid program to the United Nations so that "development can become a cooperative instead of a competitive enterprise." This is a highly controversial idea which many objective students of world affairs have supported for years. He proposed an official U.N. "Decade of Development."

He reiterated United States proposals for a U.N. peace force and an extension of U.N. fact-finding and mediation powers in international disputes. He advocated U.N. control of space as neutral area, of space communications, of weather study, and eventual control.

In the next 10 months, he said, the United Nations may determine the fate of man for 10,000 years.

He promised, in the tone of a man who makes his vow to his God, the dedication of the United States to the aims of the charter.

The ordinarily reserved assembly applauded when he said that "weapons must be abolished before they abolish us." When he said we would never negotiate out of fear and never fear to negotiate the applause lasted six seconds. When he spoke of self-determination and free choice, and of the firm intent to defend Berlin, there was more.

And at the end, the applause continued for a full minute before the adjournment announcement, and then continued until he passed from the hall.

He sounded just like an American, steeped in traditional ideals, facing unhesitatingly into the winds of trouble, apprehensive yet unafraid, believing that there is a future for the highest aspirations of man.

Roscoe Drummond Reports— German Elections Raise New Doubts

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND
 The results of the German election are substantially reassuring to the West.

But they do raise some anxious questions about the future.

The central consequence of the voting was that it ended the 12 years of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's unchallenged supremacy as the leader of postwar Germany. It opened a new era in West German politics.

Even if the 65-year-old Adenauer continues for a period as head of a coalition, his dominance of the political scene is over and new forces will be shaping the policies and mood of the Bonn government.

Having watched the German political campaign at first-hand both four years ago and this fall, I am impressed by the maturity and sophistication of the German voters.

They voted in larger numbers than in most Western Democracies and it is obvious that they were stamped neither by events — the Berlin crisis — nor by "campaign oratory."

IN LIGHT OF the returns the credit side of the ledger of German politics as it affects the West emerges as follows:

In substance the German electorate expressed its disapproval of Chancellor Adenauer's personal leadership but registered substantial approval of both his domestic and foreign policies.

Although Mayor Brandt, of the new national leader of the Social Democratic Party, succeeded in wrenching his party from its neutral, anti-NATO position of four years ago and giving it a pro-Western image, the voters showed a certain mistrust of whether Brandt could carry his party with him if he were Chancellor.

In effect, they put Brandt and the SPD on trial in order to see if the changes in party policy, which he had managed, could be made to stick. Thus the SPD gained only moderately in the total popular vote (31.8 to 36.3 per cent) and Bundestag seats (168 to 190).

THE VOTERS gave the decisive balance of power to the third party, the Free Democrats, since they had promised not to help the Socialists to form a government and to cooperate with the Adenauer party, the Christian Democratic Union, but not with Adenauer as Chancellor.

The new German government, which will emerge in some form of coalition between the C.D.U. (241 seats) and the Free Democrats (66 seats) in the next few weeks, will be strongly wedded to the free-enterprise policies which have brought the German people such great prosperity during the past four years, Eric Mende, the leader of the Free Democrats, is a kind of Robert Taft of German politics, a strong supporter of the conservative Economics Minister, Ludwig Erhardt, and one who would like to call a halt on the expanding social welfare measures of the Adenauer regime.

The majority of the German people and the majority in the new Bundestag remain pro-Western in sympathy and in purpose. But it is wrong to say that no foreign policy doubts arise from Adenauer's loss of control of the Bundestag.

THE DAWNING END of the Adenauer era raises question marks. The coming months will be critical as the Soviet Union seeks to coerce and cajole the Bonn government into turning from its Western ties as the only means of bringing about a unified Germany. In the past both Mayor Brandt and Erich Mende have been sympathetic to some form of disengagement in central Europe.

Privately Adenauer is deeply worried lest the forthcoming East-West negotiations over Berlin may produce impulsive nationalist reactions which will dilute and impair West Germany's heretofore unwavering allegiance to the Western alliance.

It may not work out that way, but the long-range outcome is uncertain.

THAT MERCURY spaceship with the robot astronaut survived its once-around-the-world trip through space in excellent shape, but it didn't quite fare as well with the Navy. Returned to Cape Canaveral after being fished out of the sea by a destroyer, it was missing two bolts and one of the many "shingles" that made up its outer skin. Best theory to explain their disappearance: Souvenir hunters among the sailors.

COMMERCE SECRETARY Hodges isn't saying so publicly but he has decided against trying to replace the Business Advisory Council. The group, headed by U.S. Steel Corp. Board Chairman Roger Blough, broke with the Department last summer and set up shop as an independent business council. Hodges figures that organizing a new committee would antagonize an increasingly unfriendly business community.

By JACK HANDB Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Maris and the New York Yankees return to Yankee Stadium tonight for the last five games of the season with Maris still looking for that magic No. 60 in the home run race. Maris hit his 59th last Wednesday in Baltimore.

Although Babe Ruth's all-time record of 60 set in 1927 is safe through edict of baseball Commissioner Ford Frick because Maris failed to tie or break it in 154 decisions, he still can set a mark for the longer schedule. Because of the expansion to 10 clubs, the American League is playing 162 games this year.

Baltimore will provide the opposition tonight and Wednesday afternoon. After an off day Thursday, the Yanks will finish up at home with Boston Friday night and single day games Saturday and Sunday.

Manager Ralph Houk gave the team a day off Monday before they start tuning up for the World Series opening Wednesday, Oct. 4, at the Stadium, presumably against Cincinnati.

Maris still is feeling the pressure of the home run race. Day by day his chances of becoming the first man since Ruth to hit 60 homers grow slimmer and slimmer.

"The way things are going, I don't even think I'll hit 60 by the end of the season," he said Monday. "Right now, I'd have to say the odds are against me, even though I've got five games left, all in New York. My only hope, it seems, is to wait for them pitchers to make a mistake. But can I? I just don't know."

"They're not giving me anything to hit. They're more concerned with getting me to go after a bad pitch than in getting me out. But I've got to keep swinging. I'd rather go down swinging than go out walking."

"Normally I should have a better chance at Yankee Stadium. That is, if they pitched to me. But the same thing will happen. They'll pitch me outside."

Reds Face Pirates, Cubs In Final Drive for Flag

CINCINNATI (AP) — If the Cincinnati Reds win the National League championship on their own, they'll have to do it against the two clubs that have caused them the most trouble this season.

The Reds, who have the "magic number" of two — Cincinnati victories and Los Angeles defeats — to clinch the pennant, will meet the Chicago Cubs at Chicago today and they will close out the season with three games at Pittsburgh Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Meanwhile the Dodgers have six games remaining with Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and Chicago.

The Cubs, although buried deep in seventh place, hold a 12-9 margin over Cincinnati for the season. The Reds finally squeezed ahead of Pittsburgh on the season series last week when they swept a pair of games with the dethroned champs, but the margin is only 10-9.

Hutchinson bemoaned a seige of wildness Reds hurlers had in losing two of three to San Francisco. They walked 16 men in the three games and nine of the walks were converted into runs.

Club officials also disclosed that if the Reds clinch the pennant today, the team will come home for a victory celebration. If the pennant isn't clinched, the team will go direct to Pittsburgh to wait out the two days of rest.

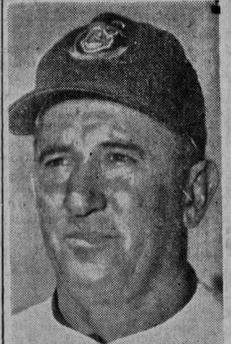

As the season moved into its last week, only two Cincinnati players were ailing to any extent. Third baseman Gene Freese still has a bit of trouble with a jammed ankle, and outfielder Vada Pinson has a sore hand.

Pinson has stayed in the lineup but Freese sat out one of the Giant games and also was relieved late in Sunday's contest.

CERV LOST FOR SERIES

NEW YORK (AP) — Outfielder Bob Cerv was lost Monday to the New York Yankees for the World Series due to an impending operation, and he was replaced by Jack Reed on the Yanks' list of series eligibles.

Cerv re-injured a cartilage in his right knee Saturday just before he hit a pinch homer in Boston. Due to a previous injury he had planned to have an operation this winter, but the re-injury changed that plan.

AL LOPEZ Signs for $50,000

Mickey Mantle, who has 54 homers, pointed out that the pitchers, too, have a big stake in the home run derby.

"Don't you think pitchers have feelings just the same as hitters?" he asked. "Do you think they haven't been bearing down on Maris the last week more so than ever before?"

"It's true. None of them wants to be the guy who goes down in the book as the one who served up the 60th home run."

Braves Win, 2-1, In Battle for 4th

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves strengthened their hold on fourth place by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 Monday night before a chilled crowd of 4,689, the smallest turnout in County Stadium history.

Carl Willey, with ninth-inning relief from Don McMahon, earned his sixth victory in 18 decisions as the Braves moved two games ahead of the Cardinals in the battle for a share of world series money.

Hank Aaron hit his 34th homer in the first inning and the Braves added another run in the fourth on a single by Joe Adcock, Joe Torre's double to deep center, and a balk by rookie Ray Washburn.

Willey was replaced by McMahon after Julian Javier opened the ninth with a walk. Javier moved to third on a double by Ken Boyer and scored on an infield out by Stan Musial.

Shaw Hurls Three-Hitter

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Veteran right-hander Bob Shaw of the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Detroit Tigers 6-3 Monday night on a 3-hitter. Bubba Morton spoiled his bid for a no-hitter with a line single to center in the 9th inning.

Detroit won the first game 6-4. Going into the 9th Shaw had retired 24 Detroit batters, 5 by strikeouts, walked 3 and hit 1 with a pitched ball.

Shortstop Dick McAuliffe of the Tigers bounced to A's shortstop Dick Howser but Howser's throw to first was wide and McAuliffe was safe on the error.

Morton then got his single and the runners advanced on an infield out. George Alusik scored McAuliffe with a sacrifice fly and Larry Osborne hit a home run over the right field fence.

Detroit's third hit was by Jake Wood.

The first-game victory clinched second place in the American League for the Tigers.

Wood, who had driven in Detroit's first run with a triple in the second inning, also drove in the second with a single in the eighth and scored himself on a pinch triple by Al Kaline.

Lopez Signs with Sox; Hints Trades for '62

By JOE MOOSHIL Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Al Lopez signed Monday to pilot the Chicago White Sox for another year, despite having one of the worst seasons of his managerial career.

His salary was unannounced, but reportedly it is near $50,000.

Until the Sox finished third last year, Lopez never had managed a team lower than second place. This year the Sox will finish fourth.

But this doesn't dishearten Lopez. "Sure, I'm disappointed in say that, but I think we have good trading material."

Lopez, the only manager to crack New York Yankee superiority since 1949 with pennant winners at Cleveland in 1954 and Chicago in 1959, is going to shoot for the flag in 1962.

"Why not?" says the patient senior. "We have an excellent nucleus."

Three strong-armed pitchers, several proven stars, and a few youngsters comprise the nucleus which Lopez and recently-named General Manager Ed Shott believe will put the Sox back into pennant contention.

The pitchers are left-handers Juan Pizarro, 24, Frank Baumann, 28, and right-hander Ray Herbert, 31. The proven stars are shortstop Luis Aparicio and center fielder Jim Landis, and the youngsters are outfielder Floyd Robinson, infielder J. C. Martin, and catcher Camilo Carreon.

This means that such veterans as outfielder Minnie Minoso, first baseman Roy Sievers, catcher Sherm Lollar, and even second baseman Nellie Fox, and possibly infielder-outfielder Al Smith could be put up as trade bait. Of this group, only Smith has had a good year.

Reed Asks NCAA To Lift Ban on Indiana

CHICAGO (AP) — Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed expressed hope Monday that the NCAA would lift its ban against Indiana University, permitting the Hoosiers to compete in NCAA championship meets.

Indiana drew a four-year ban from the NCAA last year for recruiting violations. Three years of the penalty, which affects all sports, remain to be served.

The Big Ten barred the Hoosiers from the conference football title race last season, but now has restored them to good graces.

Reed, addressing the Chicago American Quarterback Club, said: "I have written the NCAA stating that Indiana is in complete compliance with conference and NCAA rules and that reforms in its administration have fully satisfied the conference. I hope by inference the NCAA penalty can be lifted at the present time."

Frick Apologizes to Mehl, Finley Says, 'Withdraw It'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, has asked baseball Commissioner Ford Frick to withdraw an apology Frick made to Ernie Mehl, sports editor of the Kansas City Star, "both personally and in the name of baseball."

Finley made the request in a 20-page letter addressed to Frick and dated Sept. 5. The Athletics office said Monday that copies of the letter were distributed to season ticket holders and people on a mailing list supplied by the Chamber of Commerce.

Finley accused Frick of failing to investigate before making the apology and suggested that under the Major League Agreement the commissioner should have taken action against Mehl.

FORD FRICK "Stunt in Bad Taste"

The apology stemmed from Finley's action in publicly making a "poison pen award" to Mehl after the sports editor had written several articles criticizing Finley's handling of the baseball club.

The incident occurred at the start of a doubleheader at Municipal Stadium here Aug. 20.

On Aug. 23 Frick told the Associated Press in New York: "Such things do not belong in baseball, and I called Mehl this morning and apologized to him, both personally and in the name of baseball."

Frick said he had asked Finley for a full report on the incident.

In a covering letter sent to season ticket holders and members of the Chamber of Commerce mailing list, and dated Sept. 21, Finley said: "I met last Thursday with Mr. Frick for two hours in Chicago, at which time he stated to me that he did not apologize personally to Mr. Mehl. . . . Mr. Frick further stated that since the press had quoted him as apologizing personally to Mr. Mehl, that he would take steps to correct this misunderstanding."

Finley wrote Frick: "If any damage was done to baseball it was done by Mr. Mehl attacking the character, reputation, integrity, veracity and general ability of a major league club owner. May I suggest the thought that the appropriate action in this situation might well have been dictated by the Major League Agreement, which clearly permits the commissioner to take steps against persons other than league members and players whose conduct adversely affects the game of baseball. . . .

"If any 'apology' is due, it should come to me, because I have done no moral wrong but have myself been the victim of one of the most 'scurrilous' attacks in baseball history."

In New York, Frick refused to comment on whether he had apologized to Mehl. Regarding his talk with Finley, the commissioner said: "I told him it was all right to tell his side of the story to Kansas City but that the stunt at the ballpark was in bad taste and not to be condoned."

"I'll pitch Jim O'Toole, Joey Jay, and Purkey in Pittsburgh," he added.

Although Purkey has been one of the three top pitchers on the Reds' roster, he never has had a lot of success against Chicago. He has dropped two of three decisions to the Bruins this year and has a lifetime record of only 9-11 against

Giants Trip Phils, 10-2

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rookie John Orsino smacked two home runs to pace an 18-hit attack Monday night as the San Francisco Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 10-2.

Orsino added a single to his two homers while Orlando Cepeda had four hits and four runs batted in.

Cepeda's three singles and a double gave him 16 hits in his last 25 times at bat.

The Giants rocked starter Don Ferrarese for three runs in the first two innings, then tore into John Buzhardt for five in the next three innings.

THREE BIG UPSETS, one a small black eye for Big Ten prestige, figured in the first big football Saturday of the year.

The black eye was dealt by Kansas State who spanked Indiana 14-8. The Wildcats, 1-9 last year and tabbed as doormats for bigger, more powerful conference brothers, were two-point underdogs to the Hoosiers, adjudged top candidates for the Big Ten basement.

Kansas State won the game, but the Hoosiers weren't entirely humiliated. They counted 21 first downs to the Wildcats' 13 and led in rushing yardage, 230-114.

Yet Big Eight fans and especially Kansans may take delight in the fact that this was the first invasion of Kansas by a Big Ten school.

Wildcat supporters may also remember their teams' brutal treatment by the Big Ten's Iowa in 1959. The Hawks, 5-4 that year, pummeled the Wildcats 53-0 in Iowa City.

This year other Big Ten teams won't have a crack at Big Eight members, and some may be scoffing the Hoosiers for their weak performance Saturday.

But Big Ten squads scheduled to play Indiana ought to remember that Indiana may suddenly catch fire in future weeks and surprise the entire country. In 1958 the Hoosiers, 0-6 the year before, were predicted to finish last. That year, so-called "weak" Indiana finished

NEWARK, N.J. — Ralph Blount, a 17-year-old football player for West Side High School, died Sunday night, 24 hours after he collapsed following a game Saturday afternoon.

Authorities at Beth Israel Hospital said Blount suffered a burst blood vessel in the brain. He died at 6 p.m.

A physician at the hospital said it was probable there was a congenital weakness in the blood vessel which could have caused it to burst at any time. He said it also was possible Blount suffered heat exhaustion. He doubted, however, that the blood vessel had burst as the result of any physical contact in the game.

The game was played in 90-degree heat.

Blount, a 6-foot, 210-pound senior tackle, collapsed shortly after the team returned by bus from the field where the game was played.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. — David Coughling, a 17-year-old Swampscott High School football player, died Monday in Lynn Hospital.

Cause of death was not given. When the youngster was admitted Saturday, he was listed as suffering heat prostration.

The boy became ill while returning from Andover where his team defeated Andover 14-8. Coughling was a 190-pound guard.

SWIMMERS REPORT

All varsity and freshman swimmers are asked to report to Coach Bob Allen in the field house pool Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. Allen said that workouts would start at once.

U.S. Netmen Face India On Gravel

NEW DELHI, India — The United States Davis Cup tennis team, after trying out gravel courts on which they will play India in the inter-zone finals, said the surface was irregular and slippery.

The matches this weekend are to be played on gravel because the unusually long monsoon rain season left the grass courts in poor shape.

David Freed, the U.S. non-playing captain, said the choice of gravel rather than grass would not hurt the Americans. The big advantage the Indian team will have is playing at home where the conditions are familiar and their stomachs are adjusted to the food, Freed said.

The last member of the squad to reach New Delhi was Chuck McKinley, who arrived Monday. The other team members — Whitney Reed, Donald Dell, and Martin Riessen — arrived Sunday.

They spent two hours working out and then met the Indian team on the courts.

The Indians are Wimbledon semifinalist, Ramanathan Krishnan, Naresh Kumar, Premjit Lal, and Jaideep Mukherjee.

Hawks' Scouts Respect Potential of California

Coach Jerry Burns Monday moved his Hawkeye squad into its "eleventh hour" of preparation before the season's opener against California here Saturday.

"Our scouts report that California is a team of far greater potential than it showed in the loss to Texas last Saturday. We are apprehensive about this game because we think California, with the experience of a game, can 'jell' quickly," said Coach Jerry Burns.

The Iowa coach went on to say that the halftime score of the Texas-California game, 7-3, was more of an indication of the Golden Bear team's potential. The coast squad, thin in spots, weakened in the final quarter, so the final score was 28-3.

Burns said that practices this week will be closed as the squad concentrates on final offense polishing and additional preparations for a defensive stand against the Bears.

He said he was more pleased with the second unit's defense than with its attack. Until this unit matures further, it will be used defensively but the coach hopes that its work on offense will bring quick development.

"I am happy that the second unit shows toughness and desire to play because the performance of this outfit is an important key in our plans. We have confidence that the team will respond to the challenge," Burns declared.

Archie Kodros, assistant coach who scouted California along with "Whitey" Piro last Saturday, said that the coast team appeared to have potential to give anyone a rough afternoon.

"Cal's No. 1 quarterback and fine passer, Randy Gold, did not play because of a wrenched knee sustained in practice Wednesday. California missed him although his successor, Larry Balliett, was adequate," Kodros said.

"Overall speed is above average and they have a fine fullback in George Pierovich and a good running halfback in Captain Jim Burgess. Texas did well on ball control."

Coach Klotz Calls Tennis Prospects

SUI tennis coach Don Klotz has issued a call for varsity and freshmen tennis candidates who have not reported yet to contact him immediately.

Klotz said that most tennis activity this fall would be in the form of voluntary workouts, but he encourages any boy interested to come out as much as possible.

Klotz's office is located in the Field House. The Hawkeye netmen have been practicing on the varsity courts, west of the Field House.

MIKE MENNEN and the UNLIKED-LIFEGUARD CAPER

WENT SOUTH FOR REST. BEACH SO CROWDED I COULDN'T GET ANY. HEARD SCREAM. THEN ANOTHER. AFTER THIRD SCREAM I GOT SUSPICIOUS. STARTED TO INVESTIGATE.

IT WAS LIFEGUARD. HE'D TRIED TO RESCUE DROWNING WOMAN. BUT SHE STUCK A HATPIN IN HIS INNER TUBE.

LIFEGUARD TOLD ME THIS WAS TO ATTEMPT TO KILL HIM. FROM THIS EVIDENCE I CONCLUDED HE WASN'T VERY POPULAR. STARTED LOOKING FOR CLUES. FOUND A WOMAN'S ROLL-ON PEODORANT IN HIS BEACH BAG.

IT WAS HIS. NO WONDER HE WAS UNPOPULAR. GAVE HIM BOTTLE OF MENNEN SPRAY PEODORANT... HARDEST-WORKING, LONGEST-LASTING SPRAY A MAN CAN USE. GETS THROUGH TO THE SKIN. WORKS ALL DAY. AFTER THAT, I GOT PLENTY OF REST.

BACK IN OFFICE. PHONE RANG. IT WAS LIFEGUARD. SINCE USING MENNEN SPRAY HE'D HAD TO RESCUE 407 DROWNING WOMEN. WANTED TO COME NORTH FOR A REST.

what comes after the wheel? ford motor company's educated guess

Frankly, there is no practical substitute for the wheel today. But at Ford Motor Company, our scientists and engineers refuse to give "no" for an answer. They are tackling, among others, the problem of wheelless vehicles for tomorrow.

Is "tomorrow" really far off? Not according to the men at Ford. Already they've developed the Levacar as one possibility. It replaces the wheel with levapads, perforated discs which emit powerful air jets to support the vehicle. Air suspension—if you will—of an advanced degree. Imagine traveling swiftly, safely at up to 500 mph, riding on a tissue-thin film of air. Guided unerringly by a system of rails. Powered by powerful turboprops. This is the Levacar.

Meanwhile we've still got the wheel. And the job of building better cars for today. So we hope you won't mind riding on wheels just a little longer while we concentrate on both tasks.

LBJ Warns Reds: Don't Misjudge U.S.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said Monday night Soviet leaders will "blunder into an irreparable catastrophe" if they misjudge the United States' willingness to defend Berlin.

Johnson said in a speech prepared for the annual Southern Governors Conference, "We are not paying any blackmail. We are not desiring our obligations to West Berlin."

The vice president praised President Kennedy's speech earlier in the day before the United Nations in which Kennedy told the General Assembly the United States has both the will and the weapons to resist Communist aggression.

Johnson said he hopes the Soviets make no mistake about this point.

"We challenge no one," he said, "but we never surrender under threats. The path of reason, of diplomacy, of negotiation, of honorable settlement is open. We want to take it."

"We seek peace but we shun appeasement because we know it is surrender on the installment plan and the signal for ultimate war. Our power is a pledge of peace, not an incitement of conflict."

Johnson said the Soviet Union is trying to destroy the work of the late Dag Hammarskjold because the U.N. secretary-general made it possible "for the United Nations to take executive action to defend world peace."

"This certainly is a new reality in world affairs. It is a development which may yet shape the future and defeat the ambitions of dictators," the vice president said.

"Today the United Nations can place troops in the field, under its own authority, even when all the Communist-led nations are opposed to such an action. A new principle has been established and has been put to work in the Gaza Strip in the Middle East and in the confused anxieties of the Congo."

"No one pretends that this new experiment in collective action has been conducted without mistakes and without friction. But a brave beginning has been made, and on the success which has already been achieved it will be possible for the United Nations to build stronger securities for peace."

Johnson called for selection of an interim secretary-general.

Johnson predicted that U.N. debate will show that Red China "is unworthy of membership in the United Nations because it fails to meet the peace-loving standards established in the charter."

"Our alliance with Nationalist China is firm, is constant, and is a commitment that we intend fully to honor," he said. "We have no intention of handing over the people on Formosa to the Peking Government, nor will we weaken our commitment to defend Formosa as part of our mutual security system in the Pacific."

ROTC Picks New Officers

Cadet Michael J. Arganbright, E3, Guthrie Center, has been named commander of the Reserve Officers Training Corps at SUU, according to an announcement made by Colonel Michael N. Mikulak, professor of air science.

Arganbright's executive officer will be Cadet Joseph D. Kennedy, A4, Iowa City. Cadet Kennedy will hold the rank of lieutenant colonel. The Cadet Corps is made up of all Army and Air Force ROTC students at the University.

Cadet Larry D. Prybil, A4, Iowa City, will assume the position of Air Force wing commander with the rank of cadet colonel. The Wing consists of 24 seniors, 32 juniors, 87 sophomores and 571 freshmen.

Cadets are selected for their positions on the basis of cadet performance reports, academic achievement and summer training unit reports.

College students who complete four years of ROTC training are commissioned second lieutenants in the Air Force or Army upon graduation.

Tshombe Blames U.N.

President Moise Tshombe of Katanga lists before a portrait of himself to conduct a press conference in his Elisabethville capital. Tshombe charged a violation of last week's ceasefire pact with the United Nations by the latter's movement of troops into Elisabethville. Fighting had broken out there between U.N. soldiers and forces of Tshombe's secessionist province of the Congo.

Official Says Dag OK'd Action of U.N. Troops

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — A U.N. official said Monday Dag Hammarskjold approved the recent military operation against secessionist Katanga and the troops' orders came from U.N. headquarters in Leopoldville, not from the Congo Government.

"It would be wrong to assume that we acted in Katanga without the approval of the Secretary-General," Michel Tombelaine told a news conference. "There were so many cables at the time that I could not say who signed the actual go-ahead."

Tombelaine, a Frenchman, is second in command to Conor Cruise O'Brien, an Irishman, in the civilian U.N. setup in Elisabethville, Katanga's capital. He denied that O'Brien, whom Katanga President Moise Tshombe has accused of trickery, was personally responsible for the U.N. troop movements Sept. 13 that set off an eight-day war.

Hammarskjold arrived in the Congo that day.

An aide who traveled with him told newsmen at Leopoldville Airport the U.N. chief had heard of the fighting when his plane reached Accra, Ghana. Hammarskjold died in a plane crash on a peace mission five days later.

The French U.N. official reported that on the civilian side the plan to take over key points in Elisabethville and expel Katanga's white mercenaries was first cleared with the U.N.'s Leopoldville headquarters — "I suppose with Khitari and Dr. Linner."

Tunisian diplomat Mahmoud Khitari, head of U.N. civilian operations in the Congo, negotiated with Tshombe for the cease-fire that went into effect last Wednesday midnight. Dr. Sture Linner, a Swede, is chief of all U.N. activities in the Congo.

Tombelaine claimed the United Nations acted within the framework of the Security Council's

'57 SUI Grad Dies; Burial Was Thursday

Funeral services for Dr. Douglas Follingstad, 30, a 1957 graduate of the SUI School of Medicine, were held last Thursday in Tohle chapel, Chicago. Interment was in Acacia Park cemetery, Chicago.

Dr. Follingstad was found dead at his desk in his medical offices in Richfield, Utah, Friday. An autopsy disclosed that he died about midnight of a heart attack.

The young doctor was an intern in St. Luke's hospital, Cedar Rapids, and served with the air force before setting up his medical practice in Richfield in 1959.

Bids on 4 Projects Will Be Accepted

Bids will be accepted until Oct. 10 on four projects at SUI to cost an estimated $100,000.

Nearly a mile of water lines will be laid in one project to help with fire protection on the west campus. In other projects, additions will be constructed to three University buildings — the Student Infirmary, Dey House and the materials testing laboratory.

Bids will be taken until 1:30 p.m. Oct. 10 at the office of George L. Horner, Superintendent of Planning and Construction. A public hearing will be held at 1 p.m. that day, with bids to be opened at 2 p.m.

The new water system is the first phase of a project to improve the SUI water distribution system. Total cost of the long-range project is estimated at about $250,000. Horner said that this first phase will provide additional fire protection for the new Law Center, University Hospital, the Medical Laboratories, the Chemistry Building, University Library and Westlawn, dormitory and office building for the College of Nursing.

Quick switching of water from one area to another in case of a breakdown will be possible after the system is improved.

A 16-foot space to be enclosed at the materials and testing laboratory between the laboratory and the Engineering Building will provide more engineering laboratory space, a conference room and two offices.

The Division of Special Services will be provided with additional storage space at the Dey House, which houses Institute of Public Affairs. The two-story addition on the west side of the building will be 18 by 38 feet in size.

Another project will add work and storage space at Children's Hospital. A first-floor porch area at the Northwest corner will be enclosed, providing a pair of examining rooms, a staff room and a passageway.

McCarty Tells of Visit To Soviet Universities

On-the-spot observations of several phases of Russian education have been brought back to SUI by Professor Harold McCarty, chairman of the Geography Department at SUI. Professor McCarty was one of five members of a delegation from the Association of American Geographers which returned recently from a four-week tour of the Soviet Union.

The purpose of the tour, which took the delegates through universities, institutes, collective farms and various industries in such cities as Yalta, Leningrad and Moscow, was to investigate methods of research and instruction in geography in Soviet universities.

According to Professor McCarty, the Soviet curriculum for geography is based on a five-year program, the last year of which is devoted to research. A heavier class load is required, says Professor McCarty — approximately 30 hours per semester as compared to 15 or 18 hours required at most American institutions. Also, in contrast to our system, the Soviet institutions award their doctor's degree on the basis of publication of articles and papers by the candidate, rather than on attendance and course work.

The delegation, which left the United States on Aug. 15 and returned Sept. 13, included Professor Edward Espenshade of Northwest

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. offered the United Auto Workers Monday virtually the same economic package on which the union settled with General Motors.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther declined to discuss the details with which he was unhappy, but said: "There are several things the Ford offer can do, ought to do, and we insist they must do."

With final wrapping up of the agreement Sunday night, the union reiterated it expected an improvement from Ford, and it has a national Executive Board ready to strike if demands are not met.

The Ford offer — second in a Big Three 1961 negotiations — came Monday after GM slowly picked up headgear production after a two-week strike.

The strike, based on local issues, closed virtually the entire operation of the world's largest manufacturing firm, employing 50,000 persons.

UAW Threatening Ford; Says Offer 'Unsatisfactory'

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. offered the United Auto Workers Monday virtually the same economic package on which the union settled with General Motors Corp. UAW President Walter P. Reuther conceded Ford's offer follows broad outlines of the GM settlement, but added: "the details are not satisfactory."

Reuther declined to discuss specific details with which he was unhappy, but said: "There are several things the Ford Motor Co. can do, ought to do, and we will insist they must do."

With final wrapping up of a GM agreement Sunday night, the union reiterated it expected an improved offer from Ford, and it has International Executive Board authority to strike if demands are not met.

The Ford offer — second in the Big Three 1961 negotiations in the auto industry — came Monday as the GM slowly picked up headway in its production after a crippling two-week strike.

The strike, based on local plant issues, closed virtually the entire operation of the world's biggest manufacturing firm, employing 50,000 persons.

Chrysler has yet to make an offer to the UAW.

Ford's offer, covering 165,000 hourly paid workers in 85 plants, was made to a union negotiating team headed by UAW President Walter P. Reuther.

The UAW estimates its package deal with General Motors gives workers more than 12 cents an hour in additional take-home pay. The auto industry average pay has been $2.80 an hour.

Malcolm L. Denise, Ford vice-president-labor relations, presented the company's proposal in documented form.

In an accompanying letter, Ford made its offer contingent upon "peaceful conclusion of new agreements — national and local — within the next two weeks and ratification within a mutually agreed upon time thereafter." The union's rank-and-file membership votes on all its contracts.

Ford offered to keep in effect the current agreement with the UAW which expired Aug. 21 but has in kept effective since.

Ford, in line with the GM settlement, offered to continue the annual wage improvement factor and cost-of-living allowance.

Ford, also like GM, offered to pay in full for hospital-medical insurance and to improve pensions as well as to accept the GM short work-week arrangement.

Under the short work-week plan employees get at least 35 per cent of their straight time pay for each hour less than 40 in any week in which they are scheduled to work less than 40 hours.

Ford also offered to increase maximum weekly benefits under supplemental unemployment benefits from $30 to $40. The duration would be extended from 39 weeks to 52 weeks.

Denise said he thinks an agreement can be reached within two weeks without either a national or local strike.

The UAW International Executive Board gave its Ford department strike authorization Sunday night at the meeting from which came an earlier order to all GM strikers to return to work.

SUI Testing Service Cites Improvements

A "new dimension" has been added to the service given by SUI this year during its annual Fall Testing Program for Iowa High Schools, now under way.

More than 153,000 students from 495 school systems are participating in the program this fall. This is 24,000 more than have ever been enrolled in the program before.

Featuring the Iowa Tests of Educational Development (ITED), the program is under the direction of Leonard Feldt.

The "new dimension" to the service is the compilation of system-wide local norms for school systems consisting of more than one building. Heretofore such local norms have been supplied for each building individually. In addition, averages for each grade of the entire system are computed. This means that the superintendent of schools can see how his school system ranks as a whole and discover any areas where adjustments in the curriculum may be necessary.

This service, added to last year's offering of a compilation of tables used to find each student's comparative standing within his own school building, is another example of the University Testing Service's constant effort to increase the usefulness of the tests.

These new local rankings are of considerable value to the local school authorities, Feldt reports. Though many schools formerly tabulated their own students' rank for each test and grade, and formulated a comparison of the schools within their system, it was a complicated and time-consuming job.

With the addition of a new IBM 7070 computer at SUI, it is now possible for the SUI test-processing centers to produce local ranking tables within thirty seconds after the completion of the individual reports, says Feldt.

Because of the favorable response to the addition of a field consultant last year, the service will be offered again this year, Feldt says. The field consultant is available to any of the school systems participating in the Iowa Testing Program to discuss the test results and their meaning.

The ITED tests have a two-fold purpose — providing for high school teachers and counselors dependable measures of the educational growth and development of each pupil and giving the school administrator a dependable and objective basis for evaluating the educational offering of his school. Included in the test battery are comprehensive examinations in these areas: understanding of basic social concepts, general background in the natural sciences, correctness and appropriateness of expression, quantitative thinking, interpretation of reading materials in the natural sciences, general vocabulary and use of information sources.

Even with the additional services, Feldt says, it has been possible to keep the cost for the tests at 35 cents per pupil. This is done by restricting the program to a single standard schedule of services for all participating schools and using "assembly line" methods of processing, he adds.

Lasansky Art On Exhibit In Japan

Prints by Professor Mauricio Lasansky of the SUI art faculty will be among works of a few American artists to be exhibited in Japan during 1962 and 1963.

The works of Lasansky, who teaches printmaking at SUI, will be shown in the 30th Anniversary International Exhibition, sponsored by the Japan Print Association. To commemorate its 30th anniversary, the association invited 50 artists from 18 nations to exhibit works in the special show, which will be presented first at the Tokyo Metropolitan Museum in April, 1962, and then in ten principal cities in Japan during the following one-year period.

Works of a number of contemporary artists of other countries have been introduced in Japan through the annual exhibitions sponsored by the Japan Print Association.

Pharmacy Group To Hold Meeting

Pharmacy and pre-pharmacy students will have the opportunity to hear Joseph Burt, dean of the College of Pharmacy at the University of Nebraska, speak at the first meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Association (A.P.A.) Thursday night.

Burt will speak on "International Horizons of the Pharmacist." The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in 300 Chemistry-Pharmacy-Botany Building.

Burt is past president of the A.P.A., and has also been president of the International Pharmaceutical Association.

Wendle Kerr, SUI pharmacist, explained that the purposes of the student branch of the A.P.A. are to foster and sponsor interest in the profession and various aspects of the profession. It also is a means for pharmacy students to become acquainted with one another.

Luebke Tells Clay: Germans Still Confident

BERLIN (AP) — President Heinrich Luebke was reported to have told Gen. Lucius D. Clay Monday that the German people have full confidence in the firmness of their Western Allies on Berlin and Germany.

At the same time, informants in the West German capital of Bonn said Soviet Premier Khrushchev has indicated he may not rush through his separate peace treaty with East Germany.

Bonn informants said Khrushchev told Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak in Moscow last Tuesday he is not committed to sign a treaty before the year runs out.

Bonn officials received this news with surprise. Khrushchev previously had stated many times he would sign such a treaty by the end of the year.

But in this connection political observers in Berlin noted that the East German propaganda machine no longer refers to any date in demanding conclusion of a German peace treaty and the turning of Berlin into a free demilitarized city.

A Bonn Foreign Office spokesman said the West German Government has not been informed by the United States of any change in its policy on Berlin and the future of Germany.

The spokesman recalled an article of the 1954 agreement ending the occupation of West Germany, in which the Western powers assumed the obligation "to achieve, by peaceful means, their common aim of a reunified Germany enjoying a liberal-democratic constitution like that of the Federal Republic."

The West German public was alarmed last weekend by reports of a change in U.S. policy toward Germany, and the press warned against concessions to the Communists.

The Luebke-Clay talks were confidential. Neither German nor U.S. officials would officially disclose what was discussed at Bellevue Castle, Luebke's Berlin residence.

U.S. Authorities Feel Khrushchev Not Letting Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Authoritative U.S. sources said Monday Soviet Premier Khrushchev's recent talk with Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak has shown nothing either new or encouraging on the Berlin crisis.

This was the consensus of U.S. policymakers after a study of reports of Spaak's discussion with Khrushchev in Moscow last Tuesday.

Spaak, former North Atlantic Treaty Organization secretary-general, gave his account of the meeting to the NATO Council Thursday.

Some have interpreted Khrushchev's views as expressed to Spaak as an abandonment of the Soviet Premier's early stand that an East German peace treaty must be signed by the end of this year.

U.S. authorities said it is true that Khrushchev did not speak of any specific treaty time limit but in the U.S. view, Khrushchev's failure to specify any deadline did not mean an abandonment in his position. Rather, it was believed here, Khrushchev just did not happen to repeat something which he has said many times before.

Informants said Khrushchev did repeat his contention that the peace treaty question is urgent and that it cannot be allowed to go unacted upon for an indefinite period.

Gromyko Meets Newsmen

Andrei Gromyko, Soviet foreign minister, is interviewed by newsmen outside the Soviet U.N. mission office in New York Monday. He appeared following a one hour conference with Lord Home, British foreign secretary. On President Kennedy's speech before the U.N. General Assembly, Gromyko said, "Some aspects do not meet our objections regarding the possibility of negotiations on Germany."

Ike, 3 Top GOPs Huddle; Hear Kennedy; Plot for '62

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower and three top Republican politicians listened to President Kennedy's speech to the United Nations and then talked over ways of beating the Democrats in the 1962 congressional election.

Gathered around the radio in the office of the former president on the campus of Gettysburg College were Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, and Rep. Bob Wilson of California.

They came out of their meeting with carefully measured praise of Kennedy's address and predictions that the Republicans are going to make definite inroads next year on Democratic majorities in the Senate and House.

Goldwater is chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, as well as the leading conservative prospect at this point as GOP presidential timber in 1964. Miller is Republican national chairman. Wilson heads the House Republican Campaign Committee.

Both Eisenhower and Miller have been jabbing lately at Kennedy's foreign policy. But all those present Monday agreed, they said, that the President bespoke the aspirations of all Americans. Kennedy called for a truce to terror and a point-by-point plan for world disarmament, beginning with a controlled ban on nuclear tests. Eisenhower and Miller both said that Kennedy was on the same grounds that the American Government has stood upon — they meant in the Eisenhower administration.

Standing on the front steps of the red brick house where he has his headquarters, Eisenhower told reporters who sought his reaction to the Kennedy speech: "As Chairman Miller expressed it, we found he was summing up and expressing very eloquently the aspirations of the American people for the last years."

Asked whether he agrees with some critics that Kennedy does not have the will to use nuclear weapons if need be, Eisenhower said he is not going to speculate on motivation and can only go on what he can see. He said he is impressed very deeply that "the President said there is no additional security in merely pursuing a spiral of arms racing. He saw clearly that there could be a weakening. We saw here a definite desire to protect our country."

The Republican quartet spent about an hour and a half together using some 35 minutes listening to the entire Kennedy address.

In addition to that, Eisenhower said, they talked over methods, plans and programs they intend to pursue in electing a Republican House next year.

The Republicans are outnumbered 174 to 262 right now in the House. There is one vacancy.

Under Goldwater's leadership, Eisenhower said, the Republicans "expect to make some substantial gains" in the Senate. The present lineup there is 36 Republicans, 64 Democrats.

Adenauer Thinks He May Retire

LONDON (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, 85, told a British TV audience Monday night he is thinking of retiring. "I have no intention of having four more years. I have had enough," said the West German leader. The chancellor was featured briefly in the TV news program "Panorama," broadcast weekly to a British audience of millions.

He made his reference to retirement after being asked how long he would stay in office if re-elected chancellor.

(THE ADVENTURE)

'Hotel Paradiso' Begins At U. Theatre Oct. 26

"Hotel Paradiso," a bedroom farce of the late '80's, will be presented by the University Theatre Oct. 26-28 and Nov. 1-4.

The play, described by one critic as "an exceedingly French French farce," was written by Maurice Desvalliers and Georges Feydeau, "the father of French farce."

It revolves around the philandering of Boniface, a builder who, though married to a terrible battle-ax, gets out from under her thumb long enough to dally with a beautiful blonde. In due course Boniface, the blonde, and a great many other people wind up in a Paris "flea-bag," dashing upstairs and downstairs and in and out of windows until the gedarmes arrive in time for the second act curtain.

A modern production in London starred Alec Guinness; the Broadway version was produced in 1957 with Bert Lahr and Angela Lansbury. The play will be directed for SU by James Goussieff, instructor of dramatic art.

Tickets for the SU production will be available beginning Oct. 2 at the East Lobby Desk of the Iowa Memorial Union. Reserved seats may be obtained by SU students upon presentation of their ID card. Individual admission for others is $1.25.

Members of the "Hotel Paradiso" cast include: Anthony Bourgois, A4; Campbell, Ohio; Barbara Peeters, A2.

400 Youths Hold Algerian Police at Bay

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — About 400 youths held police at bay for more than three hours in the center of Algiers Monday night, blocking traffic, stoning police and military trucks and tearing up sidewalks.

It was a battle of maneuver and the mood of the participants varied from jocular to serious. Several times riot police and soldiers charged the demonstrators and sent them scotching up side streets. But each time the mob reformed to taunt the police. Massive traffic jams built up along busy arteries.
