Mayor — Iowa City, Iowa

Staff Writer

Spurred by the Iowa City Quarterback Club, local merchants have begun a "Beat Minnesota" campaign which threatens to outdo any student initiated pep campaign.

The Quarterback Club is a group of SUI athletic fans who try to raise the city's interest in University sports. It was at their request that Mayor Thelma Lewis proclaimed this "Beat Minnesota Week."

The club also printed and issued yellow "Beat Minnesota — Go Hawks" badges that may be seen on so many coat collars this week. At first only 1,000 such badges were printed but the demand was so great more had to be made. They were distributed by the local merchants and club members.

The Quarterback Club also plans to hang a large "Beat Minnesota" banner in the downtown area.

"The team that wants to win must win," said Pat Foster, a member of the Quarterback Club. "The mental aspect is very important."

After two defeats, the Iowa team is "sagging mentally," he said. The merchants' campaign is to boost their morale and build their desire, he added.

The merchants do not think the students show the team enough spirit. "The Pep Club should get the students enthused," said Jean Reddick of Reddick's Shoe Store. He suggests the students paint local merchants' windows. The merchants wouldn't mind, he said, and the football team would enjoy the show of spirit.

Many merchants now paint their own windows before each football game. Richard's Delicatessen this week has a sign advertising "Gopher sandwiches — 35¢."

"Just as soon as we get the "Gophers" skinned Saturday, we'll have the sandwiches," is the answer to anyone ordering this delicacy, owner Glenn Richards said.

"Sign up and boost the Hawks," says the large sign in front of Bremer's. Graced with the signatures of Iowa fans, it adds, "Get that Hog."

The Minnesota game Saturday evokes an even greater response than usual. All SUIowans hope for the victory that will bring home Floyd of Rosedale, a bronze replica of a championship pig presented each year to the winner of the Iowa-Minnesota clash.

The Gophers now have possession of Floyd following last year's 27-10 victory. Floyd, however, has been known to make the trip between Iowa City and Minneapolis many times.

Minnesota has had Floyd 15 times and Iowa only 10. The tradition was started in 1935 when the governors of Iowa and Minnesota bet a live champion pig on the outcome of the football game.

Minnesota won the game and its governor, the bet. He commissioned a sculptor to create a replica of the prize. Thus was born Floyd of Rosedale.

Students will have a chance to prove their spirit to the local merchants at a pep rally Friday night on the east side of Old Capitol at 7:30.

The rally will also feature the presentation of SUI's Dad of the Year.

Play Review—
Interpretation
Is Wrong
In 'Lady'
By BRYAN REDDICK
Reviewed for The Daily Iowan

The fantastic charm of Christopher Fry's drama dissolved last night in a flood of attempted realism as surely as if it had been attacked by solvent reason.

An overall look at the production can only yield comments which may lead all involved in the Studio Theatre's first production this year to give in to the despair they have tried to dispel. "The Lady's Not for Burning" was slow and uninteresting.

The action takes place in the home of a small market town mayor, in the year 1400, "either more or less or exactly." Tom, a discharged soldier, appears demanding his own execution, claiming he has murdered not one, but two town citizens. Tom has become convinced that the world is too absurd to cause him anything but pain, and therefore seeks the escape of death — in this case a public execution.

MID ALL SORTS of comic confusion such as the proposed wedding of a former nun to one of the mayor's rather strange young nephews and a chaplain who seems to adore a violin, the townsfolk chase a lovely young lass into the mayor's humble abode, believing her to be a witch. Jennet, the lass, does not particularly care to be burned (ah, the title), but the mayor pronounces such a sentence.

Yes indeed, Tom finds Jennet, and Jennet finds Tom (the ex-nun finds the mayor's assistant, and the chaplain finds his viol). Love wins out after all! (surprise!) (Tom's will to die has apparently been converted to a will to live... with the witch, of course. And, since all the men about the place, including his honor Mr. Mayor, have fallen for the charm of Jennet, she is allowed to quietly slip from town.)

Fry does, indeed, appear to have a pretty nice little comedy going for him. It is definitely humorous (despite the production's tendency to hide that fact) at practically every turn. However, the victory of love over despair cannot be regarded as very convincing (alack, Mr. Fry) because neither position is really presented completely. In fact, by the end of the drama we find that Tom has been acting all along in an attempt to divert attention from the witch-burning!

HOWEVER, FRY HAS chosen a vital problem, the apparent absurdity of living. It is unfortunate that his few failures have been in the most important areas of its development.

However, if the play were judged by its opening performance last night, it would look quite a bit worse.

The basic problem (and there was only a few really important ones) seemed to lie in a general interpretation of the seriousness of the play.

Early in Act I it became obvious that Tom's slow brooding did not fit into either the lines he said or the action around him. Fry has presented the romantic despair — the emotional realization of the world's absurdity — so very broadly, in so flourishing language that he cannot be serious. Tom's lines

78 Recruits Killed In Virginia Air Crash

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — A southbound Imperial Airlines plane with 23 persons aboard — 7 Army recruits and a crew of five — crashed in a ravine and burned just south of Richmond Wednesday night. Police said apparently only two persons survived.

Officials at Byrd Airport said the big plane came down in woods while making the final approach for an emergency landing, then exploded and burst into flames that lit up the sky for miles around.

The captain of the plane, Ronald Conway, 29, of West Hollywood, Fla., was one of the survivors.

He said the plane was carrying 78 recruits to Ft. Jackson, S.C., Newark, N.J.; Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Baltimore, Md., from where the Constellation had taken off late.

Witnesses at Byrd Field said moments before it crashed the big four-engine plane — apparently with two of its engines out — zoomed over the airport at a height of only 700 to 800 feet, then began to settle down into the trees southeast of the field, very slowly, as if it were stalling.

"It's a hell of a mess," said one of them.

A. P. Webb, customer service agent for Eastern Air Lines at Byrd Field, said he was on the ramp at the airport when the aircraft limped over.

"I watched it come over the tarmac and turn on its final leg for landing," Webb said. It started to settle down into the trees southeast of the field, very slowly, as if it were stalling.

"I saw it disappear behind the trees. Suddenly, the horizon lit up.

"After the pinkish glow died down, a great ball of flames came up."

Webb and three Eastern Air Lines employees immediately left for the crash scene, in the mistaken belief it was an EAL plane. It took them 15 minutes to get there.

Berlin Near?

Air Force Fires—and Arosemena Is President

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Ecuador's air force attacked Quito with jet fighters Wednesday and forced the army to accept the leftward-leaning Vice President, Carlos Juárez Arosemena, as President of the crisis-ridden nation.

The second phase of the Intrastate drama was supposed to be very much more. Washington was supposed to announce the end of official visits to East Berlin. Washington was also supposed to announce the simultaneous suspension of the talks in the ground that the not choose to engage in negotiation, including a preliminary kind of neutral, while under duress.

According to report, during the fight when the tanks so-called faced each other at the Charlie, Secretary of State Rusk assured the U.S. personal representative, General Lucius D. Clay, second phase of the would be activated the next if this did not happen in again according to recause of British protests.

BRITISH FOREIGN Office opposes any break in the talks or other development which may sharpen the issue. The Foreign Office has in quite significant Americaners, apparently including U.S. Embassy in Moscow. The Friedrichstrasse drama would in the same way described. The Soviets had agreed to admit the puppet of the East German checkpoint. But they so permitted to swallow a slice of salami.

It was the first such air attack in Quito's history. No damage or casualties were reported.

As soon as Gallegos' resignation was announced, army tanks and troops withdrew from the palace.

Col. Aurelio Narario of the Ministry of National Defense said the army in Quito has accepted Arosemena as President in recognition of popular demands that he succeed Velasco Ibarra.

Luis Maldonado, a member of Quito's city government, went to the legislative palace and handed Gallegos' resignation to Arosemena against a background of wild cheering and applause.

Crowds gathered in the city's main square as Arosemena was called to take over the presidential palace, where his opponent had been holed up.

Arosemena, 42, is the youngest president in Ecuador's history. He was elected Vice President on the Velasco Ibarra ticket in elections of June 5, 1960.

An air of calm settled over the city with the pullback of the troops.

Hours before the jet attack was launched, air force Col. Jacinto Ochoa, commander of Taura air base, warned the army to recognize Arosemena as legitimate president or face attack. All the nation's planes were reported concentrated at the base.

In announcing for Gallegos the army had declared it was making itself responsible for public order and claimed backing of the powerful national police force.

Prior to the air attack, students shouting anti-army slogans demonstrated in the streets for Arosemena. Reports of other demonstrations in his favor filtered in from the provinces.

Velasco Ibarra, four times elected president and now ousted for the third time before completion of the term, took refuge in the Mexican Embassy.

Need More Homes for Aged —

SUI Alumnus Sees I.C. as Site for Gerontology Center

By JUDY SULECKI
Staff Writer

"Iowa City could become a world center for gerontology," Karl Hoffman, 1916 SUI alumnus, predicted yesterday discussing his plans to develop a retirement home for elderly persons here.

In evaluating the Iowa City nursing home situation, Hoffman said that we have all the "administrative procedures at our disposal that will achieve the same purpose."

Intrigued by the idea back in 1949 of establishing an SUI home for the aged, Hoffman has been actively engaged, outside of his insurance business in Washington, D.C., to sell people on the importance of preparing for the later years in life. Hoffman has talked to the Council of Churches and the Real Estate Board about his idea. This week he will confer with the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce Committee to discuss the problems of senior citizens.

"The greatest need for Iowa City as far as I can see," Hoffman said, "is one huge enterprise to care for the aged or several homes that the University necessary for study and that these could be applied to care for our senior citizens."

Hoffman, a businessman, civic leader and philanthropist, has been one of SUI's most loyal boosters. In Washington he has been president of the Iowa State Society, the Big Ten Round-Up and the board of trustees of his church.

In his plan to help others for the period after retirement, Hoffman, president of the Iowa City City High School Class of 1911 turned to his alma mater. At the 50th reunion held in Iowa City, June 1, Hoffman urged the "Living in the Future" concept.

Children will be evacuated from the school at 11:30 a.m. and will follow assigned routes to their homes. A maximum of 30 minutes will be allowed for the children to get to their homes.

The drill is a joint undertaking of school and city authorities and the volunteer fire department.

There should be a community counseling service set up where older persons could share their valuable experience in all of life's activities with young students and others — knowledge nowhere else obtainable except by the "hard row of experience" Hoffman stressed.

That the Iowa City community should develop a retirement home for older persons was the "most interesting" point brought up again

"By 1970," he continued, "experts have said that two-thirds of our national population, that is the young and the old, will be dependent on one-third of our population. It is time something be done about this."

While Karl Hoffman continues his fight to win people's attitudes toward preparing for old age, he says his life is too full of activity to even think of his own retirement.

While pondering the future of people in his own age group, Hoffman can only say of his intense activity — "so much to do, but so little time . . ."

Demos Rejoice after Election —

Kennedy Is Pleased

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The election of Democratic candidates in New York, New Jersey and Texas made President Kennedy happy, he said Wednesday, because if they had lost "it would have been interpreted as a stunning setback for this Administration."

Referring specifically to Gov.-elect Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, Mayor-elect Robert E. Wagner of New York, and Rep.-elect Henry G. Gonzalez of Texas, Kennedy told his news conference:

"The fact that they all won constitutes a source of satisfaction to us. They won because they were effective candidates. But they all ran as Democrats."

The President added he believed their election indicates the American people believe the candidates and the parties in those areas, locally as well as nationally, "are committed to progress."

Even before Kennedy spoke out, the White House acclaimed the Democratic victories as an endorsement of his Administration.

Republican National Chairman William E. Miller pointed to GOP wins in less spectacular areas and said these "clearly show a tide is running in our favor."

Democrat Hughes' feat in capturing the New Jersey governorship from Republican former Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell brought this earlier comment from Kennedy:

"That was a good trip to New Jersey."

He referred to the campaign trip he made into the state last week to speak in behalf of the underdog candidate Hughes, who beat Mitchell by a scant 400,000-vote margin in more than two million votes cast.

The New Jersey contest, which also brought former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman into the state for personal appearances, was the first major test of strength between the Democrats and Republicans since Kennedy took office last January.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy also was extremely pleased by the outcome in New York City, where Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner easily won re-election over determined Republican opposition by State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz.

"There is no question these results show support for the President's programs and policies," Salinger said.

The Democratic national chairman, John M. Bailey, said the New Jersey voters' response to Kennedy's brief campaign appearance tells more than any statement I might make about the strength of the President and our party on national issues."

In a statement on the New York outcome, Bailey said "Democrats all over the nation will be cheered" by the success.

Wagner polled 51 per cent of the vote against 34.7 per cent for his Republican opponent. This showing by Lefkowitz was better than that made by any Republican mayoral candidate in New York in years.

Jack Nicklaus Announces He Will Turn Pro

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, generally regarded as golf's foremost amateur since Bob Jones, announced Wednesday he is turning professional.

The two-time national amateur champion 1959 and 1961 said at a news conference in his home that "I wrote my letter to Joe Dey of the U.S. Golf Association yesterday."

The 21-year-old Ohio State University student said:

"I've made my decision to turn pro, but I have no commitments at this time. Due to several sources of income available to me at the professional level, it would be unfair to my family not to accept. I hope to start my pro career where I ended as an amateur."

That would be at the top.

Besides his two U.S. amateur triumphs, he has set an all-time amateur record in the National Open 22 strokes in 1960, just two behind winner Arnold Palmer, and has been a dominant figure in international competition.

Nicklaus is married and his wife recently bore him a son.

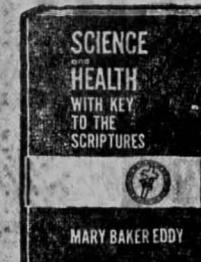

Cougar Standout Retains Lead in Pass Receiving

NEW YORK (AP) — Hugh Campbell, Washington State's pass-catching end, is threatening a run-away defense of his title as the top receiver in major college football.

Statistics from the NCAA Service Bureau Wednesday show Campbell — who set five national records last year as a sophomore — with 42 receptions and 568 yards gained in seven games.

Runner-up to Campbell is Bill Miller of Miami, Fla., who has grabbed 26 passes in seven games. Oscar Donahue of San Jose State also has caught 26, but in eight games — one more than Miller.

Yanks' Whitey Ford Wins Cy Young Pitching Award

BOSTON (AP) — Whitey Ford, the first American League pitcher in a dozen years to win 25 games, was named 23-9 slate for the Tigers.

One writer from the 18 major league cities failed to vote.

"It's a big thrill," Ford said at his home in Lake Success, N.Y.

"When Bob Turley won the award several years ago I wondered whether I'd ever be lucky enough to get it. It sure was worth waiting for."

Ford, a left-hander, had a 25-4 record while helping the Yankees to the American League pennant.

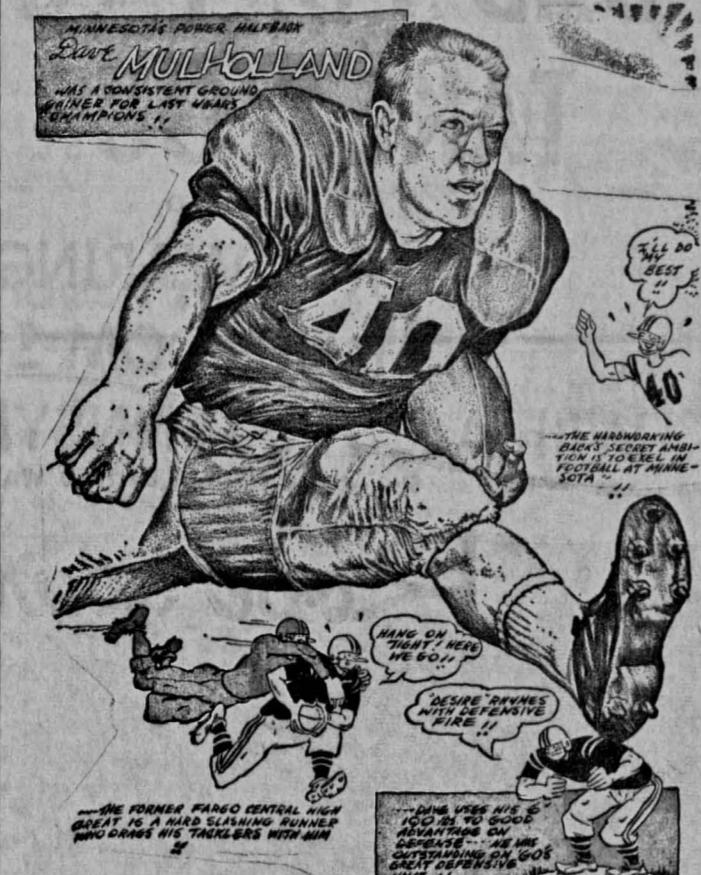

He added nine points to his total in the scoring battle with the Colts and now has 111-39 more than Baltimore's Lenny Moore.

End Jim Phillips of Los Angeles continued to lead the pass receivers with 40 for 677 yards followed by Tommy Macdonald of Philadelphia with 40 for 628 yards.

Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves, who brought his lifetime victories to 309 last season, received six votes in second place.

Spahn was the 1957 winner.

Detroit's Frank Lary was third with two votes. Lary compiled a

Forecasters Sees Letdown By Gophers, Surge for Iowa

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — College football teams are like a yo-yo — up and down — and the trick is to guess when one is hitting the bottom of the string. Minnesota, up last week, should suffer a letdown and Iowa, after two losses, should be on the rebound.

Pitt is always up for Notre Dame and Michigan State probably will be in the doldrums against Purdue. That's the way it goes — but not always, as last week when the score was 39-16 for .709.

IOWA 18, MINNESOTA 10: Coach Murray Warmath is whistling past the graveyard when he says his Gophers are still high for this one. PURDUE 22, MICHIGAN STATE 14: It's going to be tough to get much fight out of the Spartans this week.

PITTSBURGH 21, NOTRE DAME 8: Jim Traficant tosses more vinegar into the Fighting Irish's open wounds.

NAVY 17, DUKE 14: Greg Maher's errorless field goal kicking may cook the Blue Devil's oyster in the Oyster Bowl.

TEXAS 31, BAYLOR 7: The Longhorns have been averaging 31-plus a game, and they're busting new buttons as the nation's No. 1.

OHIO STATE 28, INDIANA 0: If Iowa can't stop the great Bob Ferguson, what makes the Hoosiers think they can?

COLORADO 27, UTAH 6: The Buffaloes already are sniffing Miami's orange blossoms.

GEORGIA TECH 19, TENNESSEE 7: Tech's Bobby Dodd returns to the scene of his undergraduate triumphs — in triumph.

LOUISIANA STATE 14, NORTH CAROLINA 7: The Tarheels are high after beating Tennessee, but the Tiger still is feasting on raw meat.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA 23, STANFORD 7: The Trojans, tied last week, are fit to be tied, this week.

CALIFORNIA 18, AIR FORCE 0: The "O" stands for ozone for the Air Force fly boys; the Golden Bears are getting more muscle.

Johnny Unitas Shakes Finger Trouble; Fires 4 TD Passes

NEW YORK (AP) — The question of what's wrong with Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts has been answered — by Johnny Unitas.

The answer is nothing that a healthy middle finger on his passing hand won't cure. Unitas proved as much Sunday.

He tossed four touchdown passes for the seventh time in his six-year National Football League career and completed 22 of 35 tosses, in Baltimore's 45-21 triumph over the Western Conference leading Green Bay Packers, who had joisted the Colts 45-7 earlier.

Unitas had struggled through the first half of the season with a bruised middle finger on his passing hand.

Unitas' performance Sunday lifted him from sixth to fourth among the league's passers, according to figures released Wednesday by NFL headquarters.

He now trails Sonny Jurgenson of Philadelphia's Eastern Conference passers; Bart Starr of Green Bay and Milt Plum of Cleveland.

Cleveland's Jimmy Brown, meanwhile, moved ahead of Green Bay's Jim Taylor as the No. 1 ground gainer in rushing.

Brown, the league rushing champion the past four years, has picked up 720 yards on 171 carries and Taylor 711 yards on 123.

Paul Hornung of Green Bay, scheduled for Army induction after Sunday's game with Chicago, added nine points to his total in the scoring battle with the Colts and now has 111-39 more than Baltimore's Lenny Moore.

End Jim Phillips of Los Angeles continued to lead the pass receivers with 40 for 677 yards followed by Tommy Macdonald of Philadelphia with 40 for 628 yards.

Meanwhile, at Minneapolis Coach Murray Warmath worked his squad hard in its final full drill before meeting the Hawks.

Newsmen were told at the gate that "nobody at all" beyond team and coaching personnel would be admitted, except Athletic Director Forest Eavashvili and Dr. Virgil M. Hancher, university president.

Cyclones Polish Offense For Nebraska Game

AMES (AP) — Iowa State concentrated on passing Wednesday in polishing up the offense and defense for Saturday's game with Nebraska.

For the second day in a row chilly weather forced the Cyclones inside after working one hour outside.

In the passing drills Dave Hoppmann, Dave Hoover and John Cooper did the throwing and ends Dick Limerick and Larry Montre were the receivers. The Cyclones will be at top physical shape Saturday, Trainer Ray Bickerstaff said.

Likes Playing Guard —

Hawkeye McQuiston Finally Fulfilling Coaches' Hopes

Earl McQuiston is finally living up to expectations, and playing guard for Iowa just as his coaches knew he could.

Earl was an All-American in high school, and was one of the highly touted boys who enrolled at SUI two years ago. But his play last year wasn't what was hoped, and McQuiston knew it.

There may have been a reason for it. McQuiston was a high school guard, but he was switched to tackle during his sophomore season. He played only one game at his old position during Iowa's 1960 of the toughest positions on the team to play, and takes a special kind of man to do it.

"You have to be fast, powerful and be able to think who to block when you get out ahead of the ball-carrier," Earl said. "I think we pull on about every other play."

Line Coach Bob Flora thinks McQuiston is doing a good job at his guard position, and is coming along well.

"He's putting in more and more of an effort each week," Bob said. "We shifted him around quite a bit last year. At the end of the season we realized he hadn't played a lot, even though he was one of the finest linemen we had. So we decided this year to put him at guard, and leave him there."

McQuiston played a good deal against Oregon State in his first game as a Hawk last year.

"I did poorly," the soft-spoken Keokuk lad said, "and I didn't play again till the Purdue game. Then Williams got hurt, just after the second half started, and I went in. I didn't do great, but good enough to prove to myself that I could play Big Ten football."

The 20-year-old junior is 6-2 and weighs 221. He's a versatile ball player and can play in the line or at linebacker on defense. It takes an adaptable individual to play these positions with all the intricate defensive patterns used by the Iowa team, but the shift doesn't seem to bother him. His mobility has been a great asset to Iowa this fall.

"With Sherwyn Thorson, we have a pair of fine guards," Flora said. "They both have good size, speed, agility and strength. With his size, you can play Earl several places and it won't hamper the defense."

"Some teams have used various formations on us in the past to take advantage of a small man in our defense. But Earl can play on equal terms with opposing ends if he draws that assignment," Flora added.

McQuiston has a great deal of scholastic potential, and is now majoring in economics. He'd like to take a shot at the pro league after he graduates next year, and then work for the government as an economist. He rooms with Gus Kasapis, the left tackle. Earl said he plans to go out for baseball this spring (he was a catcher in high school).

He and Thorson are the only Iowans on the Hawkeye starting unit. But he almost went to Missouri to school instead.

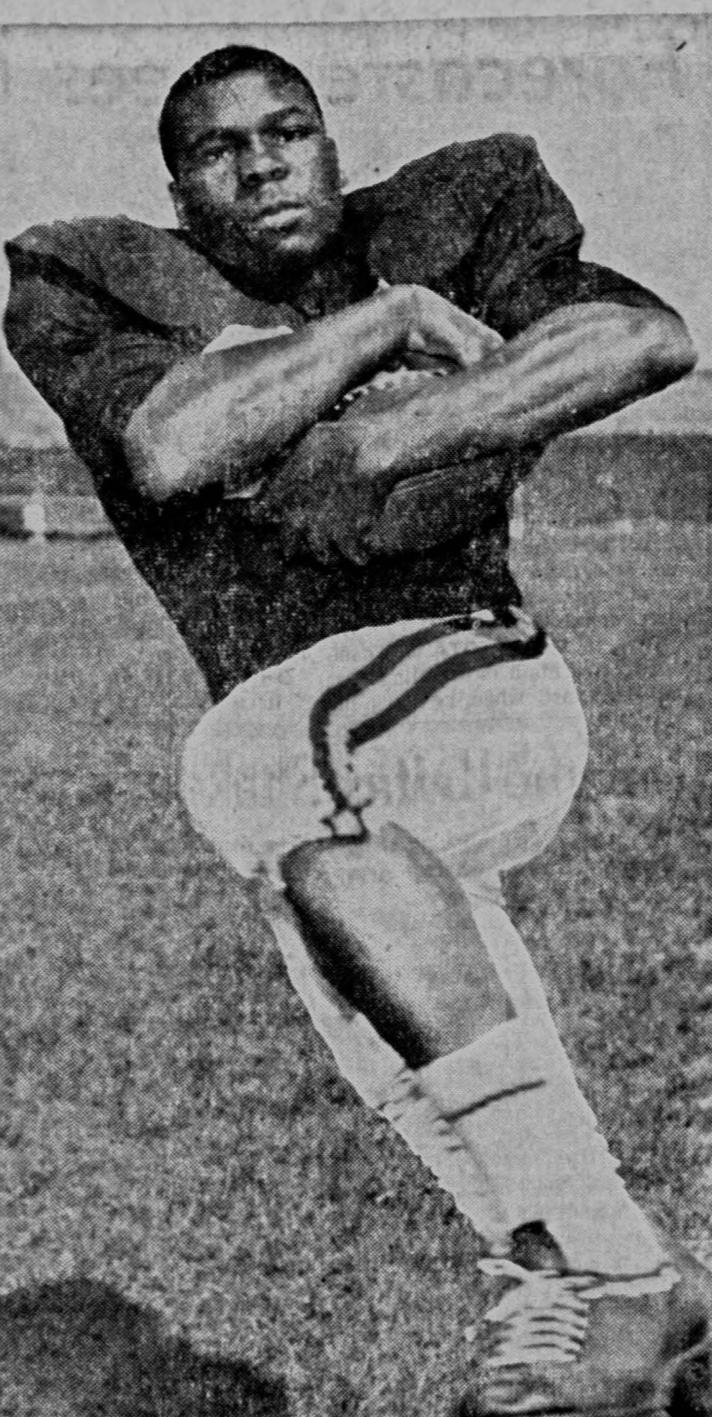

"I got kind of homesick before I even left for Missouri. I wanted to play in the Big Ten and for Iowa, so I came here," he said.

"I think the biggest thrill I ever had was when I ran into the Iowa Stadium for the first time as a Hawkeye. I feel it every time," McQuiston said.

"It's just something you can't explain."

OLD SHEP QUALITIES

GAPTOOTH GULCH, Tenn. — Irving Finster's stellar coon dog, Old Shep, qualified Wednesday for the final runoffs in the Gaptooth Gulch Memorial Coon Dog Championship to be held here today.

Gopher Threat

MINNESOTA Fullback Judge (Big Judd) Dickson, 6-2 and 210, ranks as a star on offense and defense. Before this season the hard-hitting senior had never been thrown for a loss. This year he's lost six yards while gaining 237 for a 3.4 yard average.

Outlook Good for Gymnasts

By GARY SPURGEON
Staff Writer

Iowa gymnastics coach Dick Holzaepfel has a slight hint of optimism in his voice when he talks about his team's chances for success in the coming season, which begins in three weeks.

Holzaepfel feels the eight returnees from last year's squad will give his team more balance than it has had in recent years. He points out, however, that there are many things that could wreck his team's chances, especially scholastic inabilities.

The Hawkeye coach would be most prevalent in free exercise, the high bar, and the trampoline. These three events are looked upon as being the strongest events. On the other hand, the sidehorse and the parallel bars seem to be the team's weakest events.

Individually, Holzaepfel has a quite an array of outstanding performers. Leading this list are George Hery, Roger Gedney, and Jon Cada. The Iowa coach predicts that these three will be the team's leading scorers.

Hery, a sophomore, is the top all-around performer. Gedney stands out as one of the Big Ten's top tumblers, but also excels in the high bar. Hery's specialty, likewise, is tumbling.

Cada is also an all-around competitor with possibly the still rings as his best event. He finished tenth in that event in last spring's NCAA meet at Champaign, Illinois.

Russ Porterfield is another superb performer who will bear a heavy burden. Porterfield finished ninth in the high bar at the NCAA meet and will be trying to add more medals to his collection this year.

Others returning from last year's squad are Jon Boulton, Hans Burhardt, Jim Liddell, Drew Mawhinney, and Bob Schmidt. Lee Davis, Al Snopek and Keith Spaulding were also prominently mentioned by Holzaepfel.

In addition, Larry Snyder, one of the best trampolinists in America, has returned after having dropped out of school last year. Snyder will be eligible for duty at the beginning of the second semester.

The Hawkeyes open their season Dec. 1 with the Midwest Open Gymnastics meet at Chicago. This is followed by a meet with Mankato State before the Hawks open up Big Ten competition against Minnesota, Jan. 6.

Holzaepfel looks for the toughest meets to come with Illinois, Michigan and Michigan State of the Big Ten. The coach also pointed to a meet with small Southern Illinois as being a real tough one.

SNEAD CO-FAVORITE

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and defending champion Howie Johnson of Cop Hill, Ill., were installed Wednesday as co-favorites in the 17th Mexican National Golf Tournament, starting today.

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Coach Bill Jennings sent his Nebraska footballers through a short contact drill Wednesday, including some offensive and defensive scrimmages, in preparation for a game Saturday against Iowa State.

Lineman Lynd Voss was absent with influenza, and backs Warren Powers and Willie Ross were out of action to give their bruises a chance to heal. All three should be available Saturday, Jennings said.

Small-Sized Texas Tailback Voted AP Back of the Week

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — James Saxon came to the University of Texas in 1958 as a scrawny freshman thinking he'd never see action in a football game.

Wednesday, the flashy speedster was named Back of the Week by The Associated Press and is considered a contender for All-America honors.

"I never thought I'd play a down of football in college," the 165-pound tailback said. As a high school senior, Saxon's highest playing weight was about 145.

"I thought I was too light for college football. But Coach Darrel Royal told me, 'James, we'll give you a chance to prove yourself,' " he'll play pro ball next year only if he can sign with a Texas team.

All three Texas professional clubs at Palestine High School, although he weighed only 115 pounds his first season.

Last Saturday against Southern Methodist Saxon made a 79-yard touchdown run in the Cotton Bowl.

Other backfielders mentioned in the back of the week poll were Jerry Stoval, Louisiana State; the spindly-legged back has Sandy Stephens and Bill Munsey gained 535 yards on the ground in Minnesota; Dick Shiner, Maryland, 62 carries for an average of 8.6. Ernie Davis, Syracuse; Eddie Wil-Yards.

son, Arizona; Bob Ferguson, Ohio. He has set the all-time Longhorn State; Bobby Smith, UCLA; Butch Rushing record and now leads all Blume, Rice; Mel Renfro, Oregon; conference backs in rushing.

The Boys Were All Smiles—Even the Officer

The boys were all smiles as they watch the girls Tuesday evening during the height of a demonstration in the girls' dormitory area. The crowd gave an I-O-W-A cheer at Burge Hall and followed it with P-A-N-T-I-E-S. The cheer brought blinking lights and scattered cheers and jeers from inside the dorm. The scene soon shifted to Currier

Hall where there was more yelling and blinking of lights. The demonstration apparently started in the Quadrangle dormitory where a group of men attempted to "stuff" a room.

'But Officer, I . . .

An unidentified University policeman stands duty in the girls' dormitory area. About all the policemen could do was stand and watch the girls and boys wave at each other.

Old Gold Singers Among Features Set for Dad's Day

A troupe of 30 SUI students, the Old Gold Singers, will present a program at the annual SUI Dad's Day Association luncheon Saturday.

The luncheon meeting will be held as part of the Dad's Day weekend activities at 11 a.m. in the North Gym of the Field House.

One highlight of the Old Gold Singers' program will be their presentation of "Hawkeye Hymn." Copyrighted by the SUI Alumni Association, the hymn was written by Gene R. Mills, Houston, Tex., who received his B.S. degree in Electrical Engineering at SUI in 1947.

The two giant carriers, both facing deficits for 1961, said their aim was financial retrenchment to ward off the threat of a slide into government scholarship.

Professor Bezzon said, "The Sutherland Dows scholarship will fill a great need in making it possible to accept students of the best talent recommended to us by internationally-known composers."

Such composers as Aaron Copland, William Schuman, Wallingford Riegger, and Darius Milhaud have been guests on the SUI campus during the past few years.

Professor Bezzon added that establishment of the scholarship is especially noteworthy because it underscores the growing support which Iowa industry is extending to the arts. Last year the Iowa Industries Fellowships in creative writing were established at SUL. Scholarship applicants will submit letters of recommendation from composers and teachers and music scores they have written to Professor Bezzon. Winner of the scholarship beginning in the fall, 1962, will be announced about April 1. The scholarship will continue over a period of years.

Up and Over, but Not In

Eager SUI males jump over the front wall of Currier Hall and hurry to join the snake dance that formed in the girls' dormitory area Tuesday night. A crowd of SUI men estimated at about 800 at its peak staged a demonstration earlier. The demonstration, which started out as a serenade party, turned into a traveling party.

Jackie Postpones Trip to Pakistan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy has decided on a two-month postponement of her cultural trip to India and Pakistan. She now will go in January.

The White House, announcing the change Wednesday, said India's visiting Prime Minister Nehru had persuaded the First Lady "to make a more leisurely visit" and be on hand for celebration of India's Republic Day Jan. 26. Also, the White House said, the delay will permit a less hurried and more comprehensive trip to Pakistan as well.

Last Friday, it was announced Mrs. Kennedy would leave about Nov. 20 for a visit of about two weeks to India and Pakistan to see art treasures and educational and research centers.

The trip was to be "in a private and personal capacity" at Mrs. Kennedy's expense.

The timing, however, would have meant Mrs. Kennedy would be out of the country for Thanksgiving and the birthdays of her two children. Caroline will be Nov. 27, John Jr., on Nov. 25.

Africans Attack U.S. Portuguese Arms Aid

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — African nations leveled a strong attack Wednesday on U.S. policy in Angola. They centered their fire on alleged use of U.S. arms by Portuguese troops against rebels in the big African territory.

Delegates from Liberia, Mali, Ghana and Guinea expressed dissatisfaction with a U.S. statement in the Assembly's Trusteeship Committee that the allegations were unwarranted.

Thomas Weeks, Liberia, said his country had expected the United States to express regret "that U.S. arms were being diverted to the massacre of the people of Angola."

"All we ask is that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) powers, including the United States, take steps so that NATO supplies and ammunition do not reach Angola."

He supported demands of Ghana and Guinea that the United States announce publicly that it intends to prevent U.S. arms from reaching Portuguese troops in Angola.

In other U.N. bodies, the Soviet Union joined in attacking U.S. policy on racial and colonial issues of special concern to African nations. It appeared part of a Soviet strategy to pin a colonial label on the United States, and to knock down in advance countercharges that the Soviet Union is guilty of installing its own brand of colonialism on Eastern Europe.

General Assembly OKs East-West Bomb Party

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly Wednesday night gave overwhelming approval to a U.S.-British proposal calling for an immediate resumption of East-West negotiations on a treaty banning nuclear bomb tests.

The action was vigorously opposed by the Soviet Union which asserted in advance that such talks never will take place.

The vote in the 103-nation assembly was 71-11 with 15 abstaining. Only the 10 Soviet-bloc countries and Cuba voted against the resolution. Six countries were absent.

He said that the United States is "unequivocally opposed to the use of U.S.-supplied military equipment in Africa, and has so advised the government of Portugal."

Dames Meet Friday

The SUI Dames homemaking group will meet Friday at 7:45 p.m. in the East Lobby Conference Room of the Union.

Mrs. Mary Ipsen, will demonstrate poineetta-making from wood fiber.

100 Register

More than 100 pharmacists have registered in advance to attend the Ninth Annual Pharmacy Seminar at the SUI Center for Continuation Study.

Dean Louis C. Zopf of the SUI College of Pharmacy will welcome the group to the campus at the opening session of the seminar Friday at 9:30 a.m. Gail A. Wiese, associate professor of pharmacy at SUI, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the two-day program.

The pharmacists will hear talks on recent findings of researchers in such areas as polio immunization, drugs used in emotional states, the use of penicillin and the shelf "life" of pharmaceuticals.

Schwengel To Speak

U.S. Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Davenport) will talk with constituents and SUI officials in Iowa City Nov. 15 and 16, it was announced Wednesday, by Chan F. Coulter, county Republican chairwoman.

Coulter said individuals or groups may meet with Schwengel on Nov. 16 by making an appointment with Coulter, 440 Grand Ave. 3-8111.

Schwengel will talk to two SUI political science classes on Nov. 15.

Application Approved

The U.S. Public Health Service has approved an application from the State Board of Regents for a $1,013,000 grant for a minimal care unit in the University hospital area, U.S. Rep. Fred Schwengel of Iowa's First District, said Wednesday.

He said the 256-bed unit will cost $4,039,000. The Board of Regents meeting in Iowa City on Oct. 30 approved a USPH grant of $471,000 for the unit.

At the same meeting, it was reported that the governor's hospital advisory committee had approved SUI's application for the $1,013,000 grant.

SUI Prof Speaks

Dr. Robert E. Silha, an assistant professor in the SUI College of Dentistry, spoke Wednesday in Hot Springs, S.D., at a joint meeting of the Veterans Administration Center staff and the Black Hills Dental Society.

The SUI dental professor appeared on the day's program twice speaking at both morning and afternoon sessions.

Six Accounting Seniors Named to Honorary Group

Six SUI seniors have been initiated into Beta Alpha Psi, honorary accounting fraternity.

To be nominated for the fraternity, students must have a 2.5 all-college grade-point average and an average of 3 in accounting, with at least 12 semester-hours of accounting courses completed.

New members of the SUI chapter are Raymond G. Arkmachet, Iowa City; Richard L. Hicks, Boone; Karl A. Obrecht, Cedar Rapids; Carl W. Roths, Rock Rapids; and Richard E. Shinofield and Kermit D. Larson, both of Fort Dodge.

Jerry N. Ellis, Oskaloosa, president of the SUI chapter of the fraternity, was awarded a $1,000 scholarship this week by the Haskins and Sells Foundation. The annual grant is to assist a qualified instructor in accounting while he is pursuing a higher academic degree in preparation for a career as an accounting teacher.

Obrecht was the recipient of $500 from Haskins and Sells as the top SUI undergraduate accounting student.

Selection is made from five students possessing the highest academic averages in the field. The award winner must have other qualifications indicative of future success in public accounting.

Adrian Cummings, Moline, Ill., representative of the Haskins and Sells Foundation, presented the awards during a banquet in Homestead. The initiation ceremony was held in the House Chamber of Old Capitol on the SUI campus.

HUNGER! HUNGER!
BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—More than two thousand unemployed workers stood outside the glittering presidential palace in this new capital Tuesday chanting: "Hunger is in our homes."

After a demonstration of about an hour, a chief aide to President Joao Goulart invited them into the palace and said he was authorized by Goulart to say the Government would do all it could to find work for them.

Unofficial estimates say about 10,000 workers have lost their jobs in this capital, still under construction.

The new government, trying to stave off financial crisis, has ordered a cutback in new work projects.

At the same meeting, it was reported that the governor's hospital advisory committee had approved SUI's application for the $1,013,000 grant.

Good Listening—Today on WSUI

By LARRY BARRETT
Written for the Daily Iowan

FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD come the materials for programming at Broadcasting House; and today's schedule provides an excellent example of the international character of WSUI.

NEWS, OF COURSE, is international—especially if it is carefully selected. Frankly, I think WSUI-News does an outstanding job when one considers the fare offered on most Iowa newscasts. The important news in this world (one would think it was obvious by now) is being made in Moscow, Paris, Latin America, Washington and other places far removed from "A local man, Lester P. Farquhar, was seriously injured today when his TV dinner slipped off a tray into his lap and scalded him."

THE VIENNA FESTIVAL ought to be international enough, too, to suit anybody. Tonight's music from Austria (at 6) will include a work by a German (Richard Strauss) played by a Russian orchestra (Soviet State Symphony); it was flown to us by an Air France jet piloted by an Algerian rebel.

THE BRITISH BROADCASTING CORPORATION is pretty darned international, if you want to know, and tonight's theatre presentation originated right there on Fleet Street where all the other radio stations are. Two short dramatic works from England will be heard, one at a time, beginning at 8 p.m.

SEX IS INTERNATIONAL and so is James Thurber. They are combined these days in The Bookshelf reading: "Is (it) Necessary?"

75% Turnout in Coralville Election

More than 75 per cent of Coralville's 1,200 eligible voters went to the polls Tuesday to elect candidates backed by the People's ticket to all the city's administrative posts.

Dan Fesler, leading the People's ticket, was elected mayor. The new councilmen are Dean Carpenter, Herbert Cochran, Virgil G. Mortensen, Dr. Robert G. Schreiber, and Clarence H. Wilson. Mrs. Bruce Bundy was elected city treasurer.

A special proposition to change the terms of office of city officers was defeated 405-369.

The Coralville election generated great interest with the entry of three full slates of candidates into the race. Only two of the 21 candidates were incumbent.

Review

are filled with imagery of planetary systems juxtaposed to metaphors about yawning and the like. But our Tom, Barry Witham, seemed to take himself very seriously.

BY THE SECOND act's conclusion it became apparent that not only Witham but perhaps director Bill Larson (perhaps merely the rest of the cast) had also made the error. The play was not allowed to flow quickly, fantastically, charmingly, leaving the serious message (Fry's intention) to come from the work as whole. Instead, much of the humor was suppressed for the sake of careful enunciation, attempted realism (frequent backs to audience, many lines lost in general confusion): all intended perhaps to bring to the audience's attention the significance of the drama. That this was not intended can be pointed out by the fact that many of the character reversals in the final scenes can have little meaning if the portrayals have been quite serious from the beginning. For instance, we cannot appreciate Tom's final explosion, his declaration of love for Jennet, his true sincerity if he has appeared just as sincere declaiming the wretchedness of his soul . . . which was all a hoax anyway.

For Fry's charm, which is after all his most cogent tool in this play (rather shaky weapon, it is true), to come through, his characters must be allowed to be wonderfully absurd . . . except for one or two brief, unsatisfactory instants. Last night's performance, then, was neither charming nor convincing.

COMPLIMENTS MUST be paid however, to Pete Tunison, the captain, and Kenneth Wood, one of the Mayor's nephews, who both caught the real spirit of the play. James Buss's performance as the other nephew was only marred by an unconvincing final scene. Holly Michaels was a charming exile from a convent, though a bit slow.

Atomic Protection, Fallout Discussed By Local Panel

A panel on "Fallout Protection Shelters" attempted to clear up a "fallout" of confusion, misinformation and doubts concerning atomic protection, Tuesday night.

The panelists, who met at Iver A. Opstad Auditorium at City High School, were Richard T. Feddersen, auto dealer; Dr. E. W. Paulus, city health officer; and Richard Larew, Iowa City homebuilder. Atty. Ansel Chapman was moderator.

Feddersen said that if Iowa City didn't get an excess dose of fallout in an atomic blast, it could expect refugees to be pouring in and it must be prepared to assist them.

Feddersen has completed a senior officer's nuclear weapons employment course and observed the aftermath of the nuclear detonation at Hiroshima, Japan. He said the biggest impression he carried away from Hiroshima wasn't the result of the blast on the city but the spirit and dedication of the people in reconstruction.

Larew said that people today aren't ashamed of building shelters now as they have been in the past. He outlined some of the equipment needed in the shelter and stressed the inspection of the food, water and medical supplies at regular intervals.

People stocking shelters must include special medical supplies for persons taking regular medications such as diabetes and asthma sufferers. Paulus suggested anyone requiring special drugs maintain a stock to last for several weeks.

Larew stressed that those persons hiring firms to build their shelters, deal with responsible businesses. Those building shelters on their own should have their plans checked and must get a building permit. "Also, be sure that the company supplying your building materials knows what you are doing," Larew said. "This will assure that you get the best quality materials available for the job."

Larew suggested that organized group shelter programs be initiated. The group shelters would be privately financed at a cost per person cheaper than that for a basement shelter with minimum fallout protection. The group shelters could be constructed to afford maximum protection.

Yocum, Maas Miss Post Election Council MeetingBy BARB BUTLER
Assistant City Editor

Iowa City's two councilmen-elect, Max Yocum and William Maas, named in the Tuesday municipal election, failed to turn out for the Wednesday afternoon city council meeting.

Continuing councilman Dorr Hudson said he had hoped the two councilmen would appear to discuss water control and arrangements.

Hudson was referring to negotiations with the University Heights and Coralville city councils which must be completed before the bonds for improvement of the water system can be issued.

Mayor Mrs. Thelma Lewis said she had contacted Maas and it was her understanding he would be at the meeting. "However I was unable to contact Mr. Yocum," she said.

Hudson told the board, "It is my understanding that the two have no obligation to attend any meetings till Jan. 2, but I should think they would want to be present to help with whatever policies are made."

The council at the motion of Fred Dodder moved to extend a courtesy invitation to Yocum and Maas to all future meetings.

Councilmen made plans to hold a meeting about the water program later in the week when the two councilmen-elect could attend.

In other action the council made official the returns from Tuesday's municipal election. The councilmen formally declared William Maas and Max Yocum winners of the two four year terms, and Mayor Lewis in the two-year term bid, and Robert Loranzo, park commissioner. The defeat of the special bond proposal also was confirmed.

The official canvass of the vote showed no changes in previous complete but unofficial totals for the election.

In other action the council accepted the low bid of the Carleton D. Bey Company of Des Moines for $75,000 of bridge bonds issued for work on the Burlington Street bridge. Interest rate on the bid, 3.22541 per cent will amount to $26,900 in interest payments.

The council awarded the contract for the purchase of a brush chipper to the Wright Tree Service Company of Des Moines for a $3650 bid.

KENNEDY, NEHRU DIFFER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said Wednesday he has differed with India's Prime Minister Nehru on questions of policy.

"But I am sure it is possible for us to disagree in the framework of not charging each other with bad faith," Kennedy told his news conference.

The President did not spell out the areas in which he said he had disagreed with the 71-year-old Indian leader, but the most obvious issue was on a nuclear test moratorium. Nehru has urged a voluntary ban on testing while Kennedy insists on safeguards.

The President declared his high regard for Nehru, with whom he has been discussing cold war.

Gain Control Of California's Raging Fires

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Firemen battled to keep control of two big and still-dangerous brush fires Wednesday and announced that the toll of homes destroyed — some of the city's finest — had reached 375.

The count was incomplete, and some homes that had escaped so far were still threatened.

Wednesday the Bel-Air blaze, which had raced with incredible swiftness through brush-choked canyons of the Santa Monica Mountains, was described as contained.

The Topanga Canyon fire, which destroyed only nine homes but burned off thousands of acres of precious watershed, was 80 per cent contained. Along its southern front, where the fire line was solid, it was about half a mile from the nearest homes in the seaside community of Pacific Palisades. None was in immediate peril.

There was no estimate when the Topanga fire might be fully contained.

All but nine of the houses known to be destroyed by the flames were in the plush Bel-Air and Brentwood districts, the homes of millionaires and movie stars. The nine exceptions were in Topanga Canyon, an area of modest residences.

Firemen were credited with saving 7,500 homes in the path of the fires, which broke out Monday.

The Bel-Air-Brentwood fire, which left such film stars as Zsa Zsa Gabor and Burt Lancaster homeless, covered 5,750 acres after breaking out near the crest of the Santa Monica range Monday morning.

The Topanga Canyon fire covered 7,400 acres.

Begin Probe Of Virginia Plane Crash

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Federal aviation authorities began the detailed investigation Thursday for cause of engine failure that downed an Imperial Airlines Constellation to a flaming crash in a Virginia marshland Wednesday night.

Investigators disclosed the plane was damaged seconds before the crash as it pulled away from a planned emergency landing.

The plane began a nosedive and had regained about 700 feet altitude when it settled into the marshy woods in the southeast.

The flight was a nonscheduled contract operation by Imperial which bid for the transport. The plane — one of a two-seat flight — picked up the passengers in Newark, Wilkes-Barre and Baltimore — and was on the last leg of its trip to an Army post at Columbia, S.C., when it began to fail.

It was the contract carrier's second fatal accident involving military personnel, Federal Aviation Agency records disclosed.

Najeeb E. Halaby, FAA administrator, and Alan S. Boyd, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, flew to Richmond to take part in the investigation.

The FAA chief said information he had received was that Conair and his copilot were both qualified commercial pilots. He said at the stage of the investigation he seen no signs of airline negligence.

How do the policemen themselves feel about the problems department faces?

Many of the patrolmen said they were dissatisfied because of a lack of pay and not enough opportunity for doing needed police work.

Iowa City Police Chief John Evans said he would not comment whether his men were generally dissatisfied. He said there were discontented members on the police staff, but he said he thought there would be dissatisfaction no matter how well off the men actually were.
