Motion Denied For New Stump Trial

DES MOINES (AP) — District Judge C. Edwin Moore Friday denied motions to set aside a second-degree murder conviction and grant a new trial to Ronald M. Stump.

Stump, 22, SU1 honor graduate from Keokuk, was convicted of second-degree murder last Nov. 4 for the fatal shooting of Michael Daly, 22, of Des Moines, the night of last June 9.

In ruling on the motions filed by Defense Attorney J. Riley McManus, Judge Moore said Stump had received a fair trial and that the jury's verdict should be allowed to stand.

Stump is to be sentenced by Judge Moore at 9 a.m. Monday.

A second-degree murder conviction carries a prison term of 10 years to life.

McManus had filed motions listing 63 points why he believed Stump should be given a new trial.

Accompanying the motions were several affidavits, including one from a woman juror, Mrs. Nora Christensen, saying that she had made a mistake in voting for conviction and that the verdict represented a "compromise verdict."

Judge Moore, in a 24-page decision in which he spanned much of the evidence presented in the case said:

"It clearly appears the verdict was not a compromise and that the verdict was arrived at after many hours of fair, complete expression of opinion on the part of each and every juror.

"It is clear that no juror was guilty of any misconduct in the jury room . . . Moore said.

Judge Moore said there was no showing by the defense that the prosecutor, Assistant County Attorney Lee Gaudineer, was guilty of misconduct in asking questions beyond the scope of direct examination.

In reply to the defense's contention that the jury verdict of second degree murder was not supported by evidence, Judge Moore said:

"This court and no other persons or person has, under the law, the right to substitute or attempt to substitute his or her judgment as to the facts in the case, as said facts are entirely left for the determination of the jury."

Referring to defense objections over the $50,000 bail set for Stump Judge Moore said the matter was wholly unrelated to the trial and was within the discretion of the bench.

Judge Moore denied a defense contention that he made a television broadcast that allegedly discredited a public campaign to raise attorney fees for the Stump family.

Stump himself remained impassive — as he had through his trial and subsequent deliberations — at Friday's proceedings. None of his family was in court Friday.

U.S. Public Slowly Losing Its Liberty

Rep. Bromwell Calls on Republicans For Alternatives
 By KATHIE SWIFT
 Staff Writer

Congressman James E. Bromwell, (R-2nd District), said Friday that the two long-term effects of the first session of the 87th Congress were of a fiscal and constitutional nature.

Bromwell, speaking at a meeting of the Johnson County Council of Republican Women, said that a probable deficit of 10 billion dollars was deliberately legislated by the Congress. And he said, "This is an inflationary deficit."

Bromwell said that before the 87th Congress convened, President Kennedy announced that he wanted a great deal of legislation but that there was nothing in the bills that would unbalance the budget.

However, the present tax rates and levies are not sufficient to raise the legislated sums so that the money Congress will spend will probably result in a 10 billion dollar deficit.

Bromwell warned that this deficit represents an attitude of fiscal irresponsibility which people should be wary of. He said that the budget for the fiscal year 1963 is balanced at about 92 billion dollars, which is 10 billion dollars higher than in 1961.

Thus revenues must be increased or taxes be raised unless the country wants a deficit which usually leads to inflation.

The second long term effect of the Congress was constitutional, involving a transfer of power. Bromwell said that the first session of the 87th Congress "was responsible for perhaps the greatest shift in power in the history of the U.S., from the people to the government and from the legislative to the executive branch."

He said that every bill passed had two price tags: one of money and one of transfer of power. Of 100 public laws Bromwell studied, 57 of them involved a transfer of power from the people to the government. Thus the public lost some of its "hard won liberty."

Bromwell also criticized what he called "back door spending." He said that 20 billion dollars and 27 government agencies were financed outside the process of appropriation.

Bromwell criticized presidential advisors who have an "intuitive, not elective position. He said that the Cabinet chamber was "gathering dust" because of so few Cabinet meetings, while the President receives advice from persons not subject to Senate approval.

I.C. Phone Books To Be Reprinted

Due to the misplacing of 275 names, the Iowa City branch of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company is reprinting approximately 22,000 telephone books.

The 1962 telephone books were completely distributed in late November before the mistake was discovered.

The error involves the names between Nancy Hawkins and Hilltop Mobile Home Park. These names were placed at the end of the H's on pages 36 and 37 instead of in their proper alphabetical position on page 34.

The revised versions should be ready for distribution in late December.

Communists Plead Innocent

Warns About Reds In South Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States said Friday there is a "clear and present danger of Communist conquest" in South Viet Nam and urged other nations to help the country defend itself from guerrilla attacks.

The double-barreled U.S. policy statements were contained in a 155-page documentary report on Communist guerrilla actions and in remarks by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

So far the United States has carried the brunt of the load in bolstering South Vietnamese efforts to fight the guerrilla war. But Rusk told a news conference that the Communist campaign has accelerated sharply in recent months.

Therefore, he said, "It is our hope that other nations will join us in providing assistance to South Viet Nam until such time as the Communists have halted their acts of violence and terror."

What is needed, he said, is economic and technical assistance, administrative help, and aid "to improve the effectiveness of South Vietnamese Armed Forces."

The documentary report, issued before Rusk's news conference, was published by the State Department for distribution to members of the United Nations.

It charged that hundreds of guerrilla officers and men have been moving from Communist North Viet Nam to the south each month. There, it said, they raid villages, military installations, hospitals and schools.

The report included captured Communist North Vietnamese documents, including diaries, mess-hall reports, records of supply shipments and inventories of medical supplies made in Hungary, Bulgaria and Communist China.

The diaries of guerrilla soldiers recorded troop movements from North to South Viet Nam, often through Communist-held areas of Laos. Captured mess hall reports at a guerrilla station on a road to the south showed that 1,840 North Vietnamese troops passed through there between Oct. 1960 and March, 1961.

Rusk said the question of additional assistance is being "actively discussed" with a number of other nations, but he declined to identify the Allied countries involved.

Kennedy Call By Freshman Really 'Hoax'

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — "Operator, get me President Kennedy. Collect."

And with that, a University of Houston freshman from New York got himself into the center of a cross-country hoax. The freshman, Michael Schipper, 19, confessed it all Friday.

The truth was, he said, that he got scared and hung up the telephone without ever finding out who was at the other end of the line. It wasn't the President. The President wasn't even in Washington.

Schipper said he made up the following conversation:

"This is President Kennedy, Mr. Schipper. What can I do for you?"

"Well . . . yessir . . . Mr. President, I ah . . . I am a student at the University of Houston . . . and I ah . . . just called . . . ah . . . to wish you a Merry Christmas."

"Oh, well, I wish the same to you. Kind of you to call."

What actually happened, Schipper confessed, was this:

He and other students, including Michael Emmittie of Houston, got into an argument Tuesday night about the accessibility of the palace.

Schipper took the stand that the President is completely inaccessible to the people and to prove it, he offered to telephone Kennedy collect.

He and Emmittie went to a pay telephone in a hall of their dormitory, where they placed a collect call to the White House.

They got through to what sounded like a secretary. Schipper handed the telephone to Emmittie. Emmittie said "Hello," talked a minute and handed the telephone back with the joking remark: "The President is on the line."

Schipper took the phone and hung it up.

But a story that Schipper had talked to the White House started to spread. It was discussed on Wednesday in a political science class. It kept growing and growing.

"My close friends knew the real story," Schipper said. "But it had gotten so far out of hand by then I couldn't deny it."

Plans Reservists' Release Next Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army tentatively plans to start releasing early next year the reservists called to active duty in the Berlin crisis — and they will be returned to civilian life by June 30, it was learned Friday.

The Navy and Air Force, however, presently plan to hold their mobilized reservists on active duty for a full one-year tour, which will expire Oct. 1 in most cases.

The release of Army reservists was expected to ease their gripes, which have centered on lack of equipment and poor food, lodging and clothing. Some reservists also have complained about being taken away from their families and careers in peacetime.

The Army has mobilized 119,500 members of the national guard and organized reserve. Tentative plans call for returning the first of these troops to civilian life, early in 1962, possibly next month, as trained draftees become available to take their places.

The pace of the releases will increase until all the Army reservists are out by June 30.

The Navy has called up 8,357 reservists and the Air Force has summoned 28,000 Air National Guard and Air Force reserve members.

Army plans for early releases are in the formative stages and must have administrative approval.

President Kennedy told a news conference last week that he hoped the reservists could be mustered out before the 12-month active duty limit set by Congress.

The News In Brief

ELISABETHVILLE — U.S. Air Force Globemasters escorted by United Nations jet fighters resumed their massive airlift, flying in 400 U.N. troop reinforcements and heavy equipment to the Elisabethville battle zone. Meanwhile President Moise Tshombe returned here from Paris to direct his troops.

NEW DELHI — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru refused to agree to a demand in Parliament that the Indian Army invade the Portuguese enclave of GOA next month and claim it for India.

LONDON — Britain announced it would supply bombs to the United Nations Air Force in the Congo, but only for use against certain "pirate aircraft and airstrips from which they are operating."

MOSCOW — The Soviet parliament unanimously approved a record "budget of peace and creative labor" which included a 45 per cent increase in military spending.

U.N. Reports Some Gains In Katanga

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — A U.N. spokesman reported some gains Friday by U.N. forces battling Katangan troops in Elisabethville. He described the situation in the Katanga capital as good.

Katanga forces of President Moise Tshombe hold only two main strongpoints — the Lido Hotel and Tshombe's presidential palace. There is no indication U.N. troops plan to attack either position. The Katangans hold other unspecified positions, but not as important as the hotel or palace.

U.N. mortars "silenced" a Katanga gendarmerie post near the palace.

After a night of desultory sniper and mortar fire, U.N. forces went ahead with the task of cleaning up the outskirts of Elisabethville. No Katanga-manned roadblocks exist in the city itself.

Acting Secretary-General Thant said the United Nations had accepted an offer from Britain of 24 half-ton bombs to be used by the U.N. forces only for defense against attacking forces. Thant was described as "very pleased" with the arrangements for strengthening the U.N. arsenal in the Congo.

Court Sets Historic Trial For Feb. 1

Pleads Innocence To Federal Charges Of Not Registering
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Communist party pleaded innocent before a federal judge Friday to charges that it failed to register as an arm of Soviet subversion. The historic trial was set for Feb. 1.

Communist party leader Gus Hall came from New York to attend the proceeding. He was arraigned before chief Judge Matthew F. McGuire of the Federal District Court.

The party has been indicted on charges of failing to register with the Justice Department by Nov. 20 as required by the Internal Security Act of 1950. It faces possible fines of $10,000 for each day it fails to register.

The innocent plea was made by Washington attorney Joseph Forer. The Government was represented by Justice Department attorney F. Kirk Maddrix of the Internal Security Division.

Hall declined to say anything to reporters. However, he handed out a two-page statement which said the case was "the first time in American history that a political party has been summoned into a criminal court."

"For years the slander that the Communist party is an agent of a foreign power has been peddled by political bigots," the statement said. "At no time were they able to prove this charge in open court."

The legal maneuvers began Nov. 22, 1950, when then Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath asked the subversive activities control board to order the Communist party in this country to register as a Communist-action group.

On June 5, 1961, the Supreme Court upheld the board's registration order.

Friday's arraignment applied to the party itself and not to Hall and other Communist party leaders who defied a Nov. 30 registration deadline. The case against the leaders could be more complicated and the Government has not sought indictments against them yet.

Individual party members are under Government orders to register by Dec. 20.

Young Girl Here Hit, Run Victim

Police are looking for the driver who apparently hit a 14-month-old girl in the parking lot of an E. Bloomington St. automatic laundry Thursday.

The girl, Kelley Aldeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Aldeman of 308 N. Linn St., suffered a slight skull fracture. She has deep cuts in back of her right ear and on the right side of her face. She also suffered scratches and bruises.

The little girl left the laundromat a little before her, Mrs. Aldeman said, and when she got to the parking lot she found Kelley lying on the ground.

Mrs. Aldeman said that a man got out of a car, and walked towards her saying he didn't think his car hit the girl.

She said she took the girl straight to the hospital and did not think to get the man's name. Witnesses said he left right afterwards.

Mrs. Aldeman described him as being tall, in his 30's with black hair and wearing tweed clothing. She said he was driving a late-model Ford, she didn't know what color it was.

The girl is at home now.

Burge Hall Fire Causes Little Damage

A lamp shade and a blanket were the only casualties in a fire which broke out in the south end of Burge Hall around 1:30 Friday afternoon.

The fire started when Charlotte A. White, A1, Corpus Christie, Tex., who lives in room 1225, lit a cigarette and started a chain reaction. The match flame ignited pom-poms decorating a desk lamp, which in turn set the lamp on fire.

Miss White said she threw the lamp on the floor, smothered it with her blanket, and had nearly extinguished the fire "in about two minutes." "Then," she said, "I stepped out into the hall, because there was so much smoke."

"I just yelled," she reported, "and everybody came — advisers, maids — everybody."

The second floor adviser, Carol Nelson, who lives just two doors from Miss Nelson arrived on the scene almost immediately, called the Burge Information Desk, and desk personnel summoned Burge janitors.

By the time the janitors had arrived, Miss Nelson said, the fire was completely out, but the room was still filled with smoke.

Miss Nelson explained that she did not call the fire department because the fire was confined to just one room and was completely under control in a few minutes.

A small fire, which started in a steam tunnel, damaged a door in University Hall early Friday morning.

Fire department authorities called the damage "slight," and said the blaze was probably started by a cigarette which dropped through a crack in the sidewalk and fell into the steam tunnel leading to University Hall.

Lecture Overseas For SU1's Porter

A lecture delivered by Prof. William E. Porter of the SU1 School of Journalism is to be broadcast to overseas listeners Feb. 25 as part of the United States Information Service series of weekly programs.

Professor Porter presented the speech, "Political Education and Control of the Mind," at the University of California Medical School symposium on "Man and Civilization: Control of the Mind" in January, 1961.

Others appearing on the symposium included Aldous Huxley, Harold Lasswell and Arthur Koestler. USIS is broadcasting portions of the symposium each week over its basic English language programs to foreign countries.

AID Auction Nets $366; Odd Items Attract 300

By DOUG CARLSON
 Staff Writer

The Project AID Auction, held last night in the Iowa Memorial Union, took in a total of $366.10, according to Chuck Pelton, A4, Clinton, the projects publicity chairman.

Items sold at the auction, attended by approximately 300 people, ranged from twist lessons to a page in the Hawkeye Yearbook.

One of the big items that has attracted attention for months was the $200 scholarship donated by the Philip Morris Cigarette Company. The scholarship was bought by Phi Kappa Sigma social fraternity for 7,000 cigarette packages. The fraternity had been saving the packages for two years, according to one of the members, waiting for any occasion that might arise.

The Inter-Fraternity Council flag was sold for $25 to the Hillcrest Association. According to a spokesman for Hillcrest, they were prepared to pay $132 for the flag. He added that the flag will hang in the Hillcrest coffee shop "beside the menus."

Twist lessons, given by the Kappa Alpha Theta social sorority, were bought by Alpha Epsilon Pi social fraternity for $25.25. The lessons are to be given for as long as is necessary until the dance is learned by the fraternity men, which will probably be a long time. The dance was demonstrated by three Thetas to enhance the bidding.

Among the people bidding for items was Max Yecum, City Councilman-elect. He bought a week's houseboy services and snow-shoveling for the first snowfall to be done by the Zeta Tau Alpha pledge class. After he had won the bidding, Yecum said,

Just sign me a contract.

Ruth Wardell House of Burge bought a page in the Hawkeye for $36. A page sells normally for $50.

Winners of the door prizes which were dates with three SU1 queens were: Byron Bork, A1, Ogden, a date with Miss SU1 Ann Lorack, A2, Mendota, Ill.; Richard Hoberman, G, Newell, a date with Miss Perfect Profile Pam Shannon, A1, Davenport; and Al Okamura, A2, Kealahou, Hawaii, a date with Dolphin Queen Jan Curtis, A2, Albert City.

Other items auctioned were these:

A football autographed by all the members of the 1961 SU1 football team was sold for $20 to Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority.

A television set was bought by Phi Kappa Sigma for $16.

A crutch once used by Nile Kinnick, winner of the Heisman Trophy in 1939 as the nation's best football player when he played for SU1, was sold for $4.

The Delta Delta Delta pledge class donated their services as houseboys for two nights and the service was bought by Beta Theta Pi.

A $10 certificate from Joe's Place was sold for $6.50.

Among the other items that were sold were decks of cards, shirts and sweaters, beer signs, snow shoes, ten bowling pins from Mickey Mantle's bowling alley, a black book of dates, 800 1959 Rose Bowl badges, and numerous other items.

Auctioneers Ronald Andersen, A3, Dike, and Robert Hines, A3, Harlan, proved to be professional in their work and kept the crowd lively in its bidding.

Helping To Understand Why They Are There

Remember last summer when the Berlin crisis was moving toward a crescendo of tenseness? At the same time, it was apparent that a whole series of crises were shaping up in other distant areas of the globe.

This was the setting when President Kennedy delivered his television address to the nation on the evening of July 25. Much of the nation waited expectantly to hear what action the President would propose to blunt the Communist threat. Perhaps the most intrepid listeners were men of the college age group.

If you happened to be in the television lounge of the Union to listen to his speech, you no doubt sensed the air of silent suspense among the viewers.

Except for occasional muffled whispers, this silence was not broken until the President outlined his plan: "Draft calls would be doubled and tripled in the coming months." "Some reservists and reserve units would be ordered to active duty."

As he spoke these words, a simultaneous - almost electric - murmur arose from the viewers. The murmur increased until it became almost a chatter. These men were well aware how this message could affect many of their lives for the next two or three years. No doubt, many of their college careers would be interrupted. Others might have to postpone their professional careers.

And in the following months, many of them were called up. Most had no desire to leave, but few registered any deep-rooted resentment or grumblings. Had not the President said, "With your help, and the help of all free men, this crisis can be surmounted?"

Now, nearly five months after Kennedy's appeal, murmurs again have arisen - this time in the military camps. Congressmen have received letters from these reservists and draftees on duty who can not seem to grasp the justification for their call-up. Ill-equipped and with little to do, they cannot understand how they are contributing to the nation's defense.

It is not too difficult to understand their grievances. They undoubtedly did not expect to encounter actual battlefield experience, but they did expect to have some active role. Now that many of the apparent crises did not materialize or else have waned, these men can not visualize just what that role can be.

But, perhaps, they are one of the reasons why the crises have waned and why the Communists have softened their outspoken, belligerent threats. They prove to the Kremlin just how baseless Mikoyan's impression of the "soft Americans" was. By accepting the call to duty, they have illustrated just how quickly and firmly the U.S. can and will react to a threat to this nation's freedom.

As President Kennedy, in response to reports of discontent among the reservists, has said, "... the servicemen sitting in a camp, no matter how unsatisfactory it may be ... is contributing to the security of his family in the most direct way."

If these servicemen are not now needed or are undergoing undue hardships, then it is up to the Government to correct the situation. We, at home, can do little in this regard. But, on the other hand, there is something that we might do to help.

Corrective action, such as release from active duty of the excess men, would take time; and it is fairly certain that it could not be completed before the holiday season. This could prove to be a very blue and lonely Christmas for many of those discontented GIs.

How can we help? A short note and maybe a Christmas card to a friend in service would put a little of the "Merry" back into Christmas for him. Who knows? It might even revive in him an understanding of why he has been called to service: "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

Man on Horseback

Hancher To Receive Daily Iowan Study Report after Christmas

By BRYAN REDDICK Staff Writer

In a letter to Leslie G. Moeller, head of the School of Journalism, on March 23, Virgil M. Hancher, SUI President, said in part: "... It would seem desirable to take this occasion as the starting point for an examination of the functions and place of Student Publications, Inc. - an examination of the sort which, as perhaps you know, has been carried on from time to time in various areas of the University, as we attempt to make long range plans for the crowded decades of the '60s and '70s. Such examinations have involved the functions of the division or area, its activities and its organizational structure, and such a program of reappraisal might now well be carried on for the work of Student Publications, Inc."

Hancher further explained that he planned to name a committee "to carry out such a study of Student Publications, Inc., considering such matters as the role and function of The Daily Iowan and of the Hawkeye, their places within the University, their places in the educational program, their organizational structure, the service role of The Daily Iowan and of the Hawkeye, and such other related matters as seem necessary."

On June 26, the President's office released a statement naming the members of the committee: chairman, John Haefner, head of social studies at University High School; Donald C. Bryant, professor of speech; Gilbert Maynard, head of the accounting department; Ted McCarrel, executive dean of student services; Ray B. Mossman, SUI Business Manager; William T. Reid, head of the math department; and Allan D. Vestal, professor of law. The group was then officially named a "Study Committee on the Place and Relationships of a Campus Newspaper in a Complex University."

Pointing out the increasing importance of a newspaper in any community, President Hancher explained that there are two possibilities for a campus newspaper: (1) It could be completely outside the University - "It should own its own plant, perpetuate its own student staff, fill all of its key positions with students, secure its own subscriptions, sell its own advertising, and have no other or closer relationship to the University than that of any other independent community newspaper;" and (2) The campus newspaper could be a laboratory "or teaching instrument of the School of Journalism, ... its chief posts should be filled by University staff, and ... such students as are recruited will be recruited only for subordinate assignments under faculty direction, ... it serves the University faculty, staff, and students in a special way, and, therefore, it can be underwritten or supported in whole or in part by educational funds in return for those services."

Most universities, however, have varying combinations of the two suggestions. "In such mixed situations," President Hancher's statement reads, "many unresolved questions ... arise."

A further paragraph states, "The relationships between the University and The Daily Iowan have grown like Topsy over the years and are now far from clear." Presumably, it is the duty of the committee appointed to answer some of the unresolved questions and clarify the confused relationship.

In an article in The Daily Iowan on Oct. 23, Haefner was reported to have said that two or three more interviewing sessions were necessary before the committee would turn its attention to preparing its final report. "About Dec. 1," the article read, "the committee will evaluate the information and draw up conclusions with possible recommendations to the president. Hancher will decide if the report will be made public."

Chairman Haefner said this week that the committee is now in the process of drawing up its final recommendations, hoping to be able to present them to President Hancher shortly after the Christmas recess. He said that since mid-July, when the committee began its investigation, interviews have been held with students, members of the journalism faculty, other faculty members, one faculty member from another university, and one professional Iowa journalist.

How the report is used, he said, depends entirely upon Hancher. Haefner does expect that the report will contain recommendations for some changes in the present structure.

It would seem, furthermore, that because Hancher holds the

What Real Value?

To the Editor: Since Joseph P. Lippincott, in his letter in the Dec. 1 issue of The Daily Iowan, brought up the subject of "misguided brawn at the expense of scholarly endeavor," we think more should be said about it.

We wholeheartedly agree that a sensible balance between study and recreation, both mental and physical, is desirable, but we would like to inquire what real recreational value is gained from merely watching "big-time," over-emphasized football games? Of course, some benefit may be derived from lifting a beer can to one's lips, but this can hardly be of any spiritual value.

You see, Joe, we, too, are from Pennsylvania, but unfortunately, we do not share your enthusiasm about "paying twice the tuition that Iowa students pay, and helping to subsidize, directly or indirectly, the 'out-of-stater' sponging off the Iowa taxpayer."

By the way, Joe, what made you decide to pay twice the tuition in order to matriculate here at Iowa? Obviously you didn't come here to revel in the academic atmosphere. Perhaps the football teams aren't good enough back home in Pennsylvania? On the other hand, the academic standards back there might be a bit too high for you. Of course, their press boxes can't come near ours.

Employers coming to the campus want to see all graduates regardless of military status.

Harrison went on to mention that while at SUI he detected a "hostility to curiosity ... in many areas, and in none more overtly than those relating to public information. This hostility is reflected, too, in the strange concept of responsibility as something which can be injected into the student intravenously, and that when he has been shot full of enough of it, he can be turned loose and expected to act as a free man. Responsibility comes only with the exercise of freedom and is without meaning when imposed from the outside. A university ought, above all things, to be a place where freedom in the examination and discussion of ideas is encouraged, not looked on with suspicion and hostility."

The letter of resignation praised recent progress in regard particularly to The Daily Iowan. The organization which governs The Daily Iowan directly, and to which Harrison was responsible in his capacity as publisher, is the Board of Trustees of Student Publications, Inc. The board is composed of five students elected by the SUI student body, and four faculty members appointed by President Hancher.

Michael Maduff, presently serving a two-year term after his election to SPI last spring, has denied emphatically that the Board of Trustees has been the object of any pressure from the administration of the School of Journalism. He further stated that the Board has not been influenced by pressure from the University Administration.

Fred M. Pownall, publisher of The Daily Iowan appointed by the Board to fill the position vacated by Harrison has explained that "the publisher, editor, and other executive officers of The Daily Iowan are appointed by and are responsible to the corporation board. This is the nature and the extent of the control. There are no other pressures except the normal influence of professional ethics and the acceptance of a newspaper's responsibility to the community it serves."

Try for a Foothold?

By J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst
The broad general picture in Southeast Asia remains the same, but the American White Paper Friday serves to intensify the colors.
What was described last summer as a gathering of Communist force of strategic proportions north of South Viet Nam and Laos has been followed by pinpointed operations in increasing strength. The time of showdown is approaching, and along with it the danger of a war not only for South Viet Nam, but for all of Southeast Asia.
One interesting question is whether the Soviet Union will be satisfied to let Red China try for the loot, or whether her airlift to the Communists in Laos means she will try to establish a foothold, or at least a share in the foothold, for herself? That could mean world war.

Staff Action Saves Lives—

Hospital Fire Claims 15

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A fire spawned in a trash chute swept through two upper floors of the 13-story Hartford Hospital on Friday, killing at least 15 persons. Many others were saved when a "human chain" of nurses and orderlies led patients to safety through a blinding wall of smoke.

Hundreds of persons, including bed-ridden patients who had been under oxygen tents, were removed from the smoke-choked floors. Many of the dead were believed to have been victims of smoke rather than flames.

Police Capt. Thomas J. Hankard in charge of a temporary morgue set up on the seared eighth floor of the hospital, put the death toll at 15. As the fire was brought under control, however, firemen probed through the burned out halls and wards looking for more possible victims.

The fire started in a trash chute. An explosion sent flames shooting to the top of an incinerator stack which reached to the eighth floor level of the main hospital building. High winds sent the flames into the eighth and ninth floors.

Patients and hospital personnel alike leaned from windows screaming for help as the flames and smoke billowed through the corridors. But quickly the nurses, doctors and orderlies, trained for such an emergency began evacuation of the floors, leading or carrying patients in chairs or beds to safer sections of the building. Many were removed to other hospitals by a hastily summoned ambulance brigade.

Robert Maher, 21, an orderly, emerged as a hero of the fire. He slammed a fire door on the ninth floor possibly saving many lives.

Oxygen tents were disconnected quickly to prevent casualties from explosions as fire equipment converged on the scene.

Aerial fire ladders reached only the eighth floor, hampering the firemen in their efforts to bring the flames under control.

The public address system went on the air throughout the hospital during the fire advising of the danger. A hospital spokesman said the removal was "very orderly."

Nurse Eileen Gormley told a graphic tale of the tragedy. She said that when she saw smoke curling along the ceiling on the ninth floor, "someone came running down the hall and smoke followed him. I think it was a male aide. He someone closed the fire door. The smoke got so black you couldn't see anybody, even though we formed a human chain to get people out."

Orderly Maher said it was he who shut the fire door.

He said he was just getting off the elevator on the ninth floor when someone yelled "there is smoke in the center."

He said "I saw the fire door was open. I ran over and shut it. Then I started moving patients to the lower floors."

Gov. John Dempsey made available every facility of the state and called it "a terrible tragedy. I extend my sympathy to the families of patients lost in this disaster."

Most of those who perished were on the ninth floor of the building which is one of the most modern hospitals in the region. Firemen found the bodies after the fire had been controlled and they were able to search the floor which was more than ankle deep with water.

Those who were rescued from the two floors seared by the flames were temporarily cared for in other parts of the hospital. Other hospitals threw open their doors to accommodate them, and ambulances arrived in the city from miles around to take the transfers.

Venezuelan Violence Erupts Over Kennedy's Planned Visit

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Violence erupted again Friday in Caracas a few hours after police broke up a leftist demonstration against President Kennedy's visit next week. Leaflets calling for demonstrations against the President on his arrival were passed around in the streets.

Authorities said three unidentified men killed a policeman and wounded another, apparently in a terrorist campaign. Three other unidentified men tried to set fire to a gasoline station.

Several persons were hurt and more than 20 Anti-government demonstrators were arrested in Thursday night's disorder.

The leaflets, unsigned but printed in the same type used for Communist party pamphlets here, said "Caracas cannot receive Kennedy peacefully. Caracas must receive Kennedy as it received Nixon."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon was stoned on a visit here some time ago.

Seasonal Spirit Already Started—

Hospital Staff Plans Gifts, Decorations for Yuletide

By JOE GEHRINGER Staff Writer

Christmas activity will be in full swing next week at University Hospitals, according to Robert M. Holmes, administrative assistant and chairman of the University Hospitals Christmas committee.

The contribution of gifts has increased during the past two weeks and the Christmas committee will soon be able to determine whether it will have enough gifts to present one to each person. "We never have too many gifts," Holmes said. The gifts are donated by fraternal, civic, and church groups and by persons who were once Christmas patients themselves, he said. Holmes said anyone wishing to send gifts should address them:

Christmas Committee, University Hospital, Iowa City, Iowa.

He advised donors not to wrap presents, because they must be inspected before they are used. They are then wrapped by volunteers.

In the past, gifts have included toys, handkerchiefs, stationery, and stamps, pipes, tobacco, fancy handiwork, stockings, scarves, books, leather kits, billfolds and knitting materials, Holmes said.

He said that food should not be sent because of the hospital's dietary restrictions.

Persons wishing to send money with which to buy presents should address it to: University Christmas Committee, making checks and money orders payable to the Committee.

Wednesday will be a special day at the hospital, as the trimming of Christmas trees begins.

Student nurses will also present their annual caroling program and concert.

Thirty-six trees and about 80 wreaths, purchased from the Iowa City Optimist Club, will decorate the hospital, according to Russell Parks, director of housekeeping.

He said the decorating will be a community effort on the part of the staff. The trees first go to the spray shop where they are fireproofed; then to carpentry where wooden stands are built.

The trees are taken to their pre-assigned wards, where the staffs decorate them, Parks said.

Decorations must be restricted to bulbs, tinsel and whatever ornaments the staff invents, Parks said.

Lights may not be used on most of them because of the danger of fire, he said.

However, the six trees that go in the lobbies and one giant tree at the lower entrance will be lighted, he said.

The wreaths will be placed in the lobbies and ward entrances, Parks said.

Between 150 and 200 student nurses will begin their program about 7:30 p.m. said Mary Portlock, N4, Westlawn Chorus director.

Following an hour of caroling they will assemble in the Medical Amphitheatre for their concert, which will consist of the reading of the Christmas story, a program of traditional carols, several skits, and a community sing.

SUJ Newman Club and Our Redeemer Walter League will erect their Nativity scenes Thursday, Holmes said.

TO EXCHANGE RINGS ATHENS (UPI) — Spanish Prince Juan Carlos de Bourbon and Princess Sphe of Greece will formally exchange engagement rings before a royal audience next week, it was announced Friday.

The ceremony will be held before 38 princes and guests attending the 60th birthday observance Thursday of King Paul of Greece. The wedding date for the prince and the 23-year-old Spaniard, who one day may sit on his country's throne, has not been set.

SUI Singer Happy; Hits Big Time

By WOODY WALLACE Staff Writer

From SUJ's Old Gold Singers to a professional career has not been a rough road for Jim Hammond, an August '61 graduate.

The big break came for him a few days ago, when he received an offer to join the Mello-Lark group in New York on Jan. 2.

After Hammond joins them, the group will appear in the Latin Quarter in New York, and the Riviera in Las Vegas.

Hammond said, "I was so excited I didn't pay much attention to the schedule they showed me, but we will be playing three-week stopovers in every Playboy Club around the country, I remember that."

Hammond, who is originally from Waterloo, started singing with the Peter Palmer Singers in August.

Hammond said he would like ultimately to become part of a group such as the Four Freshmen, but he added this present chance is a big jump and brings him close to the top of the entertainment field.

Old Gold Singers director, Marvin Genuchi said, "Jim has a high tenor voice and an easy relaxed style that makes for both easy listening and pleasant watching. He is a real pro. He wanted this so much."

Freeman Sets Sugar Market

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman Friday authorized the marketing of 4,044,391 tons of sugar in the United States during the first six months of 1962.

The authorization consisted of 3,175,378 tons under established quotas for domestic areas and foreign countries other than Cuba, and 869,013 tons of non-quota sugar.

Freeman also determined the U.S. sugar marketing quota for all of 1962 at 9,500,000 tons. The quota for 1961 set last December was 10 million tons, but was subsequently adjusted to 9,820,000 tons.

Hawks Face Miami in First Home Game

Injury to Roach May Cause Lineup Change

By JERRY ELSEA
Sports Editor

Iowa's basketball team goes for its first win of the young season when it faces defense-minded Miami of Ohio in the Field House tonight at 7:30.

The game is the Hawks' first at home and second of the season. Iowa lost its opener last week to Evansville 65-59.

But the Hawks will probably be without the services of starting sophomore forward Dave Roach who suffered a deep muscle bruise just above the left knee in practice Thursday.

Coach Sharm Scheuerman announced Friday that Roach would not start, and it is extremely doubtful he will be able to play at all.

Roach will be replaced by either junior guard Tom Purcell, 6-2, or sophomore backcourt man, Andy Hankins, 6-0. The change calls for either Purcell or Hankins to play the "wing" spot outside.

Iowa trainer Arnie Buntrock reported that it isn't known if Roach will play in Monday night's game here against South Dakota State. "If he is able to play," said Buntrock, "it will be at half speed."

Reserved seat tickets will be on sale for $2.00 in the Field House lobby. Tickets for high school students will be sold for the first time at 50 cents each.

The rest of the Iowa lineup will remain unchanged with high scoring forward Don Nelson and rapidly improving Dick Shaw playing up front.

In last week's 65-59 loss to Evansville, Nelson grabbed 10 rebounds while Shaw, still feeling the effects of an influenza attack, picked off eight.

The "two Joes," Novak and Reddington, will handle the guard positions, trying to give scoring help to Nelson, who pitched in 29 against Evansville last week.

Novak has been nursing a bruised hand suffered at Evansville, and the injury may hinder his passing and shooting.

The Hawks this week have stressed rebounding and outside shooting to keep the opponents from sagging on Nelson.

As a part of his victory plan, Scheuerman has moved Hankins from a "point" to a wing guard, hoping to get better shooting from outside.

Scheuerman reported that the team has been more aggressive in practice and has made fewer mistakes. Against Evansville, the Hawks lost the ball 27 times, without getting a shot.

"We're going to try to run in the ball game and we hope we can get quite a few boys into the game," said Scheuerman Friday.

Other Hawkeyes slated for action are sophomore front court men, Doug Mehhaus, 6-8; Jerry Messick, 6-8; and Bill Skeca, 6-9.

Forward and guard Matt Szykowny, who finished football two weeks ago, has been working out with the squad but is taking a honeymoon after being married.

Hawklets Win Over Central

Iowa City High took a 42-40 lead over Davenport Central with two minutes to go and managed to win 47-40 here Friday night.

The game was a close one all the way with the lead changing hands several times throughout the rough battle. City High led 10-8 at the end of the first period of play but trailed by a field goal at halftime, 21-19. At the close of the third quarter, Davenport held a 32-31 lead.

Early in the fourth period, Iowa City took a 37-34 lead, but Davenport came back to tie the score at 38 and again at 40 with 2:30 remaining to be played. Iowa City had control of the ball throughout the last two minutes, capitalizing on Davenport fouls and mistakes.

John Rhoades was high for the Little Hawks' win. Hester of Davenport also scored 16.

U-High Defeats Mt. Vernon 68-40

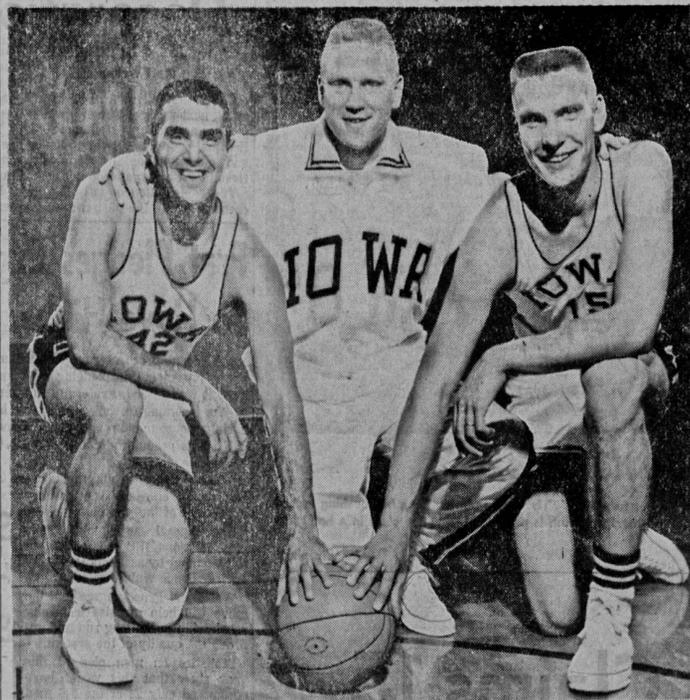

U-High won its first game of the season here Friday night, a 68-40 conquest over the Mt. Vernon Mustangs. The game was an Eastern Iowa Hawkeye conference tilt.

The Blues were led by John Spitzer with 19 points. The only other U-High player to hit in double figures was center Dave Dennis with 11. High man for the Mustangs was Larry Petrick with 16.

The Blues raced to a 20-10 first period lead and continued increasing the lead throughout the game. They led 34-20 at the half.

U-High also won the preliminary tilt, 56-38, with Bruce Dunlap scoring 22 for the winners.

Score by quarters:
U-High 20 16 15 17-68
Mt. Vernon 10 10 10 10-40

Hawkeye Cage Leaders

Iowa co-captain Don Nelson (right), Coach Sharm Scheuerman (center) and co-captain Joe Novak form the leadership core of the 1961-62 Hawkeye basketball team. The Hawks play in their first home game tonight against Miami of Ohio at 7:30.

Thursday. He will not suit up tonight, but will be in uniform for Monday night's game, Scheuerman said.

Discussing the Miami of Ohio Redskins, Scheuerman said, "They've lost two games, but to real good clubs (Kentucky and Cincinnati). It's really too early in the year to tell anything from the scouting reports."

"We're more concerned about getting back on the track after losing to Evansville and with doing the job we want to do."

The Redskins drubbed Otterbein of Westerville, Ohio 87-58 in their opener but were soundly trounced by Kentucky 93-61 and by national champion Cincinnati 63-30.

Coach Dick Shrider has an experienced team and doesn't have a big pivot man. His only regulars from a year ago are guard LaVern Benson and center Dave Mack.

Lettermen Ralph Wright, 6-0, and Gerry Saunders, 6-2, will start at forward and guard respectively, with 6-5½ Bob Moon at the other forward.

Wright is Miami's leading rebounder with 10 grabs a game, and Benson is the leading scorer with a 17.7 average, but he was held to seven points against Cincinnati Tuesday.

Pittsburgh Signs Ohio's Ferguson

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Steelers announced on Friday the signing of Ohio State fullback Bob Ferguson, a barrel-chested All-America who in his college career has been thrown for a loss only three times for a total of six yards.

The Steelers did not announce on what terms they had signed Ferguson, twice the Big Ten's scoring and rushing leader who scored four touchdowns in games against Illinois and Michigan during the past season.

Big Ten Votes To Negotiate To Renew Rose Bowl Pact

Associated Press Sports Writer CHICAGO — The Big Ten officially voted to negotiate with the West Coast's Big Five for a Rose Bowl football contract Friday and now has a rare role to play — that of humility.

The powerful conference is in the position of approaching the Big Five with hat in hand, making all the overtures for a new pact that heretofore had been made by the West Coast.

Probably never before in Big Ten history has the conference been in such a spot as wanting something so much that it is forced to take the initiative in trying to get it. It's usually the other way around.

This is the way it got stuck: From 1947 through the 1960 New Year's Day game in Pasadena, the Big Ten and now defunct Pacific Coast Conference operated on a Rose Bowl contract. With the Big Five of Stanford, UCLA, Southern California, California and Washington being formed, a new pact was in order.

However, Ohio State, always favorable towards the tie-up, switched its vote, creating a 5-3 stalemate that killed off a contract renewal by the Big Ten. This, undoubtedly, could have been taken by the West Coast as a snub. It left them on quite a limb.

With the contract gone, there still remained a Big Ten loophole that permitted a team to exercise an option of going to the Rose Bowl on its own if invited.

This is how Minnesota went last year, losing to Washington 17-7. That is how the Gophers are returning to face UCLA in the 1962 game, accepting the invitation as Big Ten runner-up after champion Ohio State's faculty senate rejected a feeble bid.

In negotiating for a contract, the Big Ten is fully aware that the Big Five may prefer to "play the field" in attempting to get the best available team in the nation instead of being tied to a contract.

The formal vote for the required majority was 6-4, with Ohio State, Wisconsin, Illinois and Northwestern against it and Michigan, Michigan State, Purdue, Indiana, Iowa and Minnesota for it.

The two conferences had such an agreement for 15 years, but it fell apart two years ago when Ohio State joined with four other Big Ten schools to vote against renewing the contract. Since then, individual Big Ten schools can decide whether to go to the Rose Bowl if invited.

Last week the Ohio State University Faculty Council voted against sending the Buckeye Big Ten champion team to the Rose Bowl, a decision which touched off bitter controversy and student demonstrations.

Fuller Urges Big Ten Bowl

COLUMBUS (UPI)—Ohio State Alumni Secretary John B. Fuller suggested Friday night that if the Big Ten wanted a post-season football game, it should sponsor a Big Ten Bowl which he said would usually determine the national champion.

Fuller, an outspoken opponent of the Rose Bowl, said the Pasadena classic was unworthy of the great universities it exploits.

He said that while he was personally opposed to post-season games, he felt that if the Big Ten wanted such, it should sponsor its own bowl game which would be played on a college campus.

"Then we would have a college sponsored game instead of a promoter-sponsored game," he said.

Fuller said the Big Ten Bowl would be played on the Saturday after the season ends. This would not disrupt school, he said, by extending the season to New Year's Day when the Rose Bowl is played.

He said the Bowl would be played at different Big Ten stadiums, and suggested that the Columbus Chamber of Commerce should take note of the fact that it would sometimes be played at Ohio State whose stadium seats 82,000.

Big Ten officials, meeting in Chicago Friday, agreed to resume negotiations with the Big Five Conference of the west coast under which the two conferences would send their champions to the annual New Year's Day event at Pasadena.

Six Bowl Games Today; Utah State Plays Baylor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Utah State and Baylor headline the action today as post-season college football makes its first big splurge with six bowl games.

Utah State's Aggies and the Baylor Bears match their contrasting styles in the first Gotham Bowl at New York's Polo Grounds. This one will be carried on network television ABC, 12:15 p.m., and with a good weather forecast, could attract a crowd of 20,000.

Also on today's bowl schedule — New Mexico (6-4) vs. Western Michigan (5-3-1) in the Aviation Bowl at Dayton, Ohio; Pittsburgh (Kan.) State (10-0) vs. Linfield (Ore.), (10-0) for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics

Favor Fullmer In Title Bout

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Busy Gene Fullmer makes a record-breaking eighth middleweight title defense against welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret in Convention Hall tonight.

When bull-shouldered Gene of West Jordan, Utah, risks the National Boxing Association's version of the 160-pound 15-round, he will be bettering the high mark of seven defenses shared by the late Harry Greb, Sugar Ray Robinson, and himself.

That it will be a successful defense is indicated by the lopsided betting price favoring Fullmer at 4-1, despite the fact that this is the first fight since Gene's recovery from a fractured right elbow.

Gene, 30, suffered the elbow injury in his seventh defense on Aug. 5 at Ogden, Utah, where he won a split decision over slugger Florentino Fernandez. Handicapped by the injury, Fullmer narrowly escaped a knockout in the 14th and 15th rounds.

Paret, 24, will not be risking his undisputed world welterweight crown because both he and Fullmer will be weighing well over the 147-pound welter limit. Benny expects to scale 156½; Fullmer, about 159 — just one pound under the middleweight limit.

Their fight will be televised nationally to homes over the ABC network at 9 p.m. CST. The promoters hope for 6,500 fans and $75,000.

Chairman Jim Deskin of the Nevada State Athletic Commission announced that if Paret scores an upset victory over Fullmer, the commission will recognize the former Cuban sugar-cane worker as a double champion of both the middleweight and welterweight divisions.

"The two-year repeater clause is something I don't think the Big Ten can back down on," said Commissioned Bill Reed. "It is something the conference has considered in reaching agreement for a new contract."

"I am highly pleased with the vote to enter negotiations, for I think a contract is a very good thing for both conferences. But in negotiating we are assuming nothing. We must take the initiative. We think the West Coast is interested in us because it has been in the past. We now have to make the overtures."

"In terms of money, the Big Ten realizes a net of $300,000 from its Rose Bowl appearance. This is split into $25,000 shares, two going to the participating schools, one each to the other Big Ten schools and one to the commissioner's office.

Big 10 Rejects Another Year For Wil Hollis

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Big Ten faculty representatives Friday rejected an Iowa appeal to have Hawkeye quarterback Wilburn Hollis given an additional year of eligibility. Hollis was injured in Iowa's second game of the season.

Utah State won nine games and played a 6-6 tie with Wyoming during the regular season, gaining the Skyline Conference co-championship with Wyoming. The Aggies show impressive credentials both on attack and defense, with a massive line led by All-America tackle Merlin Olsen, 6-foot-4, 265, and a nimble offense sparked by half-back Tommy Larscheid.

Baylor, hobbled by injuries through most of the season but sound now, won five and lost five. The Bears will pit their typical hell-for-leather Southwest Conference play against Utah State's ball-control game. Ron Bull, a quick and powerful 190-pound halfback, is Baylor's standout.

New Mexico and Western Michigan also promise a battle of opposites in the Aviation Bowl. The Lobos have a strong running game paced by Bob Santiago and Bob Morgan, while Western Michigan relies heavily on the passing of Ed Chlebech.

Pittsburgh finished as the nation's top small college team and Linfield ranked seventh. Both won playoffs to gain the NAIA title game.

Ft. Eustis will be out for revenge as well as the armed forces title against Quantico. The Marines beat the soldiers during the regular season 9-7 on a disputed touchdown. Former Miami (Fla.) star Fran Curci quarterbacked the Ft. Eustis squad.

9-Game Schedule For Big Ten Teams in 1969

In addition to voting to negotiate new Rose Bowl ties, the Big Ten also voted Friday to require each member to play eight conference games in 1967 and 1968.

This schedule requirement also will force the conference members to play a complete round-robin schedule of nine league games in 1969 and each year thereafter.

The conference also endorsed an appeal expected from Indiana to the NCAA for relief from its probationary status.

In other action, the conference set Nov. 12, 1962, as the date of next year's cross-country meet, which will be held at Iowa City.

2 SUI Professors In Current Math Visiting Program

Professors H. T. Mulhy and W. Wall of the SUI Math Department will participate in a visiting mathematicians program during the 1961-62 academic year.

Under this program Mulhy will visit various colleges in Iowa, giving lectures and conferring informally with students and faculty.

The program is administered by the Mathematical Association of America and supported by National Science Foundation.

It has been organized in order to strengthen and stimulate mathematics programs of colleges, and to provide a wide range of opportunity for mathematics majors to have personal contact with an off-campus mathematician, and to provide a means for college students to consider careers in mathematics, and create stronger ties between undergraduate colleges and graduate schools.

Mulhy received his Ph.D. degree at Johns Hopkins University. Prior to joining the SUI faculty in 1950, he was mathematics instructor at Johns Hopkins and associate professor of mathematics at the Naval Academy.

Wall joined the SUI faculty in 1960 as associate professor of mathematics. He received his M.S. degrees at Tulane University and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Michigan. He is joining the faculty at SUI as assistant professor at University of North Carolina.

Hollis has been drafted by three pro teams — St. Louis of the National Football League, New York of the American Football League and Winnipeg of the Canadian League.

It's felt that Hollis, a standout 220-pound running quarterback, probably would be shifted to a halfback post in the pros.

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Big Ten faculty representatives Friday rejected an Iowa appeal to have Hawkeye quarterback Wilburn Hollis given an additional year of eligibility. Hollis was injured in Iowa's second game of the season.

WILBURN HOLLIS
Iowa Career Ends

The Big Ten usually grants another year of eligibility if a player is injured in the first game or in the next week of practice after that game. This was the case with Iowa halfback Larry Ferguson, who was granted another year of eligibility by the faculty representatives Thursday.

Ferguson was injured in the first quarter of the season opener against California. However, Hollis, a standout from Boys Town, Nebraska, injured his right wrist in the second game with Southern California, and actually completed the game.

Hollis has been drafted by three pro teams — St. Louis of the National Football League, New York of the American Football League and Winnipeg of the Canadian League.

A lack of religious commitment and a vague teaching of moral standards in the home are the main causes of a breakdown in morality standards for the freshman student.

This is the opinion of panel members exploring current campus trends in student morality and maturity on a new series of panel discussions for WSUI called Quest. fl

Panel members John Niemeier, L.I. Elkader, Jolley Ann Conn, A2, Iowa City, and Ron Resch, A4, Independence, Mo. were given the question, "Is Maturity Morality?" for the first panel meeting. Rabbi Sheldon Edwards, director of Hillel Foundation, acted as moderator.

Resch began the discussion by defining a moral problem as having to make a decision between two values, both of which are of value. "In choosing one value, the other is rejected," Resch said.

"I feel that the student must base his moral standard and judgment on an understanding of why it is right or wrong," Resch continued, "not on a yes or no standard."

Resch went on to point out that when the student comes to a campus as a freshman, he is unprepared to face new problems of adjusting to a moral standard acceptable to his background.

Miss Conn, discussing the problems faced by freshman women, said that there is a constant push toward conformity. "The student wants to be popular," Miss Conn said, "and to be popular and accepted they must conform with the majority, and its code of standards."

"Because of the trend to conform with the majority, the student asserts a new set of standards. A breakdown will result if there has been a vague background in the standards established in the home."

"I think the fall of moral standards is a result of standards in the home," Miss Conn pointed out. "The moral outlook in the home is very limited, and when the student comes to a cosmopolitan campus, she is presented with a variety of standards."

"The student is confused, because she simply doesn't know how to choose a set of standards, for she has nothing on which to base her judgments."

Niemeier felt that the breakdown in standards goes directly to the roots in contemporary society. "Changed conditions pose problems," Niemeier continued, "for beliefs held for centuries are no longer acceptable today."

"I feel that we are riding in a backwash of outdated standards, which have endured the situation for some time."

"However we cannot rely on current norms," Niemeier said, "for they won't stand up in a crisis."

Rabbi Edwards said that irresponsibility of the press and articles by so called experts on modern society have destroyed confidence in the children of today.

"When parents lose confidence in the child, then children lose confidence in themselves," Edwards said.

Rabbi Edwards then raised the question as to why students no longer practice the religious affiliation that they demonstrated at registration.

"I think that there is a superficial religious point of view," Niemeier said. "The student follows it because he has no other reason not to."

"Most students classify themselves because of family heritage. Their actions aren't actually based on religious affiliation."

"Because of this there must be a re-examination of this basis on what standards are built," Resch

U.S. Public Health Sponsor Seminar; Slated for SUI

A seminar on the utilization of research findings in the areas of mental health and behavioral science will be held at SUI Monday and Tuesday under the sponsorship of the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH) of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Organized by the NIMH, the seminar is designed to bring together a group of persons with appropriate knowledge and experiences to consider ways to facilitate and speed up the use of behavioral science research findings in what is taught in schools and in mental health service and research programs.

Professor Ralph H. Ojemann, professor at the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station and director of the SUI Preventive Psychiatry Research Program, will serve as chairman of the two-day seminar, which will be held at Iowa Memorial Union.

The seminar is an outgrowth of interest by NIMH staff members in the experimental work of the SUI Preventive Psychiatry Research Program, which involves teaching children a more rational or scientific approach to their social environment.

Curriculum materials which use of research findings on the various forces which cause behavior have been developed and are being tried out in the SUI Preventive Psychiatry Research Program.

Participants in the seminar will include six staff members of the NIMH, and representatives of the U.S. Office of Education; the Department of Health, Education and Welfare office in Kansas City; the Minnesota State Department of Public Welfare; The Smithsonian Institute; Ginn and Company; Western Reserve University; the publication Psychological Abstracts, and SUI.

City Theatre Tryouts Monday

Tryouts for the Iowa City Community Theatre's production of "Charley's Aunt" will be held Monday and Tuesday between 7 and 10 p.m. in the Episcopal Church. Brendon Thomas' famous comedy will be presented in the round Feb. 22-24 in Montgomery Hall at the Iowa City fairgrounds.

Richard Blum, of the SUI Audio-Visual Department, is director of the play. His assistant is Mrs. Hood Gardner, 21 E. Bloomington.

The script calls for six men and four women. Rehearsals will begin after the holidays.

"Charley's Aunt" was first presented in 1892 during Commemoration Week at Oxford. Action centers around the confusing and amusing antics of three undergraduates at St. Olde College. One of the boys impersonates Charley's aunt when the woman fails to appear as chaperone for the group.

Anyone interested in trying out for a part or being on the crew who can not attend the tryouts can phone Blum at 8-5913 or Mrs. Gardner at 8-1369.

Kennedy Keeps Trip Plans Despite Anti-American Riots

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy is sticking with his promise to make a good-will trip to Venezuela next weekend despite anti-U.S. demonstrations in Caracas.

Acting White House press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher told newsmen Friday that, "Nothing has happened in the past 48 hours, specifically the demonstrations, which would deter the President from continuing with his plans to visit Latin America."

Caracas was the scene of a rock-throwing attack on former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in 1958.

Hatcher termed published accounts of Thursday's demonstrations "slightly exaggerated." He said White House aides had been in touch with the U.S. Embassy in Caracas, capital of Venezuela.

The President and Mrs. Kennedy are scheduled to be in Caracas a week from Saturday. They expect to leave Washington Dec. 15 on a four-day journey that will take them to Puerto Rico en route to Venezuela and Colombia.

Gerald Behn, head of the White House Secret Service detail; press secretary Pierre Salinger; Capt. Tazewell Shepard, the President's naval aide, and other White House assistants were in Caracas on a survey of places the Kennedys will visit.

Such surveys are normal in advance of a presidential trip. Hatcher said the group would determine what has happened in Caracas and make arrangements for the Kennedys' stay there and at Bogota, capital of Colombia.

High school students and others hurled stones, set fire to cars and distributed pro-Castro and anti-Kennedy leaflets at Caracas before riot police moved in. Earlier this week a party of U.S. senators was stoned on the way from the airport into Caracas.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower canceled a scheduled trip to Tokyo last year after an outbreak of riots against the Japanese Government as well as the United States.

The President attended holy day Mass observing the Feast of the Immaculate Conception at St. Edward's church Friday morning, then returned to his parents' ocean front home for an afternoon of work and relaxation.

Kennedy plans to return to Washington Saturday afternoon.

Toy Train Exhibit Causes Congressional Attention

HURON, S.D. (UPI) — A controversy over two toy trains — one that was wrecked and one that rolled merrily on its way — highballed toward a possible congressional investigation Friday.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, (R-Ill.), said he would ask the Senate Agriculture Committee to look into the toy train exhibit at the South Dakota State Fair last September.

Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church, (R-Ill.), said she hoped that "an independent investigation by non-governmental sources" would fix responsibility for the exhibit which reportedly "mocked" former President Eisenhower's GOP farm program.

The South Dakota Stock Growers Assn. demanded that the persons responsible for the toy train display be fired.

Hickenlooper said in Des Moines, Iowa, that Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman was investigating. The Iowa Republican called it "a direct attack on the free enterprise system."

Hickenlooper showed newsmen a photograph of the exhibit. It showed a wrecked toy train, representing the Eisenhower farm program, with a placard reading: "Free enterprise wrecked this train." Another sign read, "Don't let farm program opponents sidetrack you into a dead end."

The smoothly operating train, representing President Kennedy's farm program, carried banners favoring federal farm supports, farm granary loans and the wheat marketing program.

Officials of the sponsoring Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) said "the offensive sign" was planted in the exhibit by someone who wanted to put the ASCS in a bad light."

ASCS Administrator Alfred Johnson, Huron, said he had approved a sign that read, "Opponents of the farm program wrecked this train."

Find Crazy Slayer of 5 In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An escaped madman, wanted in the wild bayonet massacre of his brother-in-law's family in New York, has been seized by chance while roving the Florida Keys in a rowboat. He was posing as a Cuban refugee.

The fugitive was using the name Mario Levi. At first he claimed to have gone to Cuba from his native Trieste, on the Italian-Yugoslavian border. Authorities speculated that he hoped for quick deportation to Trieste before it could be discovered that he was wanted in New York.

The man, Mate (Mike) Ivanov, 37, a stocky, dark-haired Yugoslav immigrant, is accused in a New York warrant of running amok Nov. 25 in the modest Long Island home of the brother-in-law who had given him haven in this country a year ago.

When police came upon the scene the next day, they found all five members of the Peter Gregov family stabbed and slashed to death. A French bayonet found on the premises was identified as the murder weapon.

Even the Gregov's pet poodle was slain with 17 stab wounds during the orgy.

A clue to the motive was contained in a note signed by Ivanov and found in the Gregov home. Written in Croatian, it read in part:

"They put me for lifetime in the crazy house. I begged all of them that I should be helped and they should let me free of the crazy house. Nobody helped me and therefore I am sentenced to death in the crazy house."

"So before my death I have to get even."

Domestic difficulties between Ivanov and his wife, Tomica, 35, led to the intervention of the wife's brother, Gregov. The upshot was that Ivanov was committed last June 12 to the Central Islip State Hospital on Long Island. He escaped Nov. 15.

The hospital called him a victim of chronic mental illness but said he was not regarded as dangerous. However, a man who had employed Ivanov as a busboy found him arrogant and bad-tempered. And relatives said he frequently mistreated his wife.

Ivanov, 5 feet 9 and weighing 190 pounds, was known as a judo expert, a man of considerable strength.

Nassau County police claimed "irrefutable evidence" that Ivanov was on the scene of the massacre at Mineola, N.Y. They obtained a first-degree murder warrant against him and sent out a 13-state alarm.

People claiming to know Ivanov reported seeing him in the metropolitan New York area as late as Dec. 2.

However, on Dec. 5, a purported Cuban refugee was taken into custody near Marathon in the Florida Keys.

Children's Unit Dedicated

About 200 persons gathered in the Medical Amphitheater of University Hospital for the dedication speeches, marking the opening of a new Child Psychiatry Unit at SUI Friday afternoon.

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher opened the ceremonies. Speaking briefly, he said that the new unit should contribute to greater and more complete service to the state.

Dr. Norman B. Nelson, Dean of the College of Medicine, praised the work of Dr. Paul E. Huston, professor of pediatrics and director of the Psychiatric Hospital, has done at the Hospital.

He said that under Dr. Huston's direction the Hospital has made more progress in the past five years than it had in the past twenty-five.

Significant in this progress is the increase of psychiatric interns from five to seventeen in the past several years, Dr. Nelson said.

He said the new unit should be regarded as a symbol of progress and as an educational unit.

He continued that it is a place where members of all the professions may practice their art.

John Lewis, representing Governor Norman Erbe, expressed Erbe's vital interest in the Iowa mental health program and conveyed congratulations to the staff and builders of the unit.

Mrs. Jane De Lay of Cedar Rapids said she represented "the sign, symbol and voice of Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen of Iowa" in getting the program started.

A group of persons interested in the mental difficulties of children formed a committee to investigate the problem in 1952, she said.

Their investigation revealed a need for facilities to treat children with mental problems.

The group began a campaign to acquaint the public with the problem and in 1955 the Iowa Legislature granted them $170,000 to build a new children's unit. The United States Public Health Service later added a grant of $58,000.

Mrs. DeLay said this was a "gratifying, red letter day" for those involved in the program.

Dr. J. Franklin Robinson, director of Children's Service Center of Wyoming Valley, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., said that Iowa had always been a leader in the field of research and that it was fitting the new unit should be at SUI.

He said that the value of the new unit being associated with the College of Medicine should be stressed, because such a combination permits practice and the development of research.

Progress that develops out of practice will be sound, he asserted.

There is also a value in having a resident program, he said, because the public realizes children may be stricken with mental as well as physical illness.

But Dr. Jenkins and his staff will need the support, sympathy and patience of the community, Dr. Robinson said.

Dr. Huston presided at the ceremonies.

The Rev. Robert Michaelsen, director of the SUI School of Religion, closed the ceremonies with the benediction.

A tour of the new three-story building followed the dedication speeches. The ground floor of the building has a library, four offices, a playroom and six rooms for examinations, interviews and observations. A reception room, two offices, a waiting room, a classroom, and a living, dining and kitchen area are on the first floor. Patient care rooms for 27 children, a nurses' station and a utility room are located on the second floor.

Only 10 children will be admitted initially because of a lack of operating funds in this biennium.
