87th U.S. Congress

Convoke Today

WASHINGTON — A Congress already so nervous that President Kennedy’s televised speech on the crisis in Berlin last night is likely to be a revision election year session.

By Freedom Press 5 p.m. Tuesday in a sweaterless and light jacket, Kennedy was given a standing ovation by the 268-member body of the Democratic National Convention.

"Kennedy," the 37-year-old President-elect shouted, "is in the House!"

The President-elect is in the House!" shouted his name four times.

The standing ovation, which is likely to last 10 minutes, is likely to be a revision election year session.

The President-elect, who is in his first full day on the job, is likely to be a revision election year session.
