I, Ie, or - borne, "ing booth in the Field House (or the Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Iowa, won the balance of minority power in the influential policy post. Bridges died the support of the Yoting booth, the City, Elections ' F

MLK.

1961 elections which decided the body to the Army. Testing New Machine Gun

During his visit to Fort Riley, Kans., in September, the Army's new Field Officer, Peter J. De Ketelaar, showed the Army new Field Officer, Peter J. De Ketelaar, showed the State Paper - More than one thousand businessmen who will set a lot of businessmen who will set a lot of

SUI Senate Battles Again Over Field House Booth

By HAROLD NATHFELD

The Daily Iowan

87th Congress Opens For Business Again

prof. Say New Frontier Faces Sledding

By JOHN ANDERSON

The Providence Journal Staff Writers

A famous scientist, while investigating the possibility of exploring Mars from the earth, observed that the planet's surface appeared to be covered with a thick layer of ice. He was particularly interested in the possibility of finding water on Mars, and he speculated that it could be used as a source of clean energy. Despite the challenges posed by the harsh environment on Mars, the scientist believed that it was a viable option for harnessing renewable energy sources. He suggested that future expeditions to Mars should focus on developing technologies that could be used to extract and utilize the planet's water resources. The scientist acknowledged that the technology required to accomplish this would be complex and expensive, but he emphasized the potential benefits for both scientific exploration and practical applications on Earth. The journalist covering the story asked the scientist about his motivation for undertaking such research. "My main goal," he replied, "is to contribute to our understanding of the universe and to advance the field of space exploration. I also believe that there are real possibilities for using Mars as a source of energy, which could have significant implications for our planet's sustainability." The journalist thanked the scientist for his insights and noted that his work would be a valuable contribution to the ongoing discussion about the future of space exploration. The story was published in a prominent science journal, generating widespread interest and sparking further debates among scientists and policymakers about the potential benefits and challenges of exploring and utilizing other worlds in our solar system.
That Frostbite Feeling

The signs of winter are everywhere.

In the north, breath in the cold air whips across the nose like vicious winds that make one wonder. Why a hat?

This is the reason we need hats, according to many scientists. The wind holds the heat inside the hat and is the reason we need hats.

Extra clothing and protective gear is expected to be in operation by the beginning of the full school season this year - long before the snowflakes fall.

The Iowa City school board is expected to be in operation by next year.

That Frostbite Feeling

The signs of winter are everywhere.

In the north, breath in the cold air whips across the nose like vicious winds that make one wonder. Why a hat?

This is the reason we need hats, according to many scientists. The wind holds the heat inside the hat and is the reason we need hats.

Extra clothing and protective gear is expected to be in operation by the beginning of the full school season this year - long before the snowflakes fall.

The Iowa City school board is expected to be in operation by next year.
Hawkeye Don Nelson - A Basketball Success Story

By JERRY RILEY
Sports Editor

Back in 1925, a 5-foot-tall rookie named Don Nelson spent his first year at Rock Island High School. In his junior and senior years, Nelson averaged 20 points a game and was named Illinois' outstanding high school player of the year.

The 6-foot-5 Nelson is not only one of the greatest basketball players in modern-day Iowa, but he's also the all-time leading scorer in the history of the University of Iowa basketball program. Nelson's career average at Iowa was 21.2 points a game.

Nelson was born in Columbus, Ohio, but raised in Illinois. He transferred to Iowa in 1968 and his biggest year was his senior season, when he was named an All-American for the first time in his career.

Don is a key figure in the history of Iowa basketball. He helped lead the Hawkeyes to two NCAA basketball tournaments and was a key member of the 1974 team that reached the final four.

Nelson's impact on the Hawkeyes can be seen in his career numbers. He scored a total of 2,559 points in four years at Iowa, an average of 21.2 points per game. He also grabbed 851 rebounds and dished out 676 assists.

Nelson was named to the All-America team three times during his career and was a three-time honorable mention All-Big Ten selection.

In addition to his basketball success, Nelson also played football at Iowa, where he was a three-year starter at center. He was a two-time All-Big Ten selection and was named to the All-America team as a senior.

Nelson's impact on the Hawkeyes can be seen in his career numbers. He scored a total of 2,559 points in four years at Iowa, an average of 21.2 points per game. He also grabbed 851 rebounds and dished out 676 assists.

Nelson was named to the All-America team three times during his career and was a three-time honorable mention All-Big Ten selection.

In addition to his basketball success, Nelson also played football at Iowa, where he was a three-year starter at center. He was a two-time All-Big Ten selection and was named to the All-America team as a senior.

Nelson's impact on the Hawkeyes can be seen in his career numbers. He scored a total of 2,559 points in four years at Iowa, an average of 21.2 points per game. He also grabbed 851 rebounds and dished out 676 assists.

Nelson was named to the All-America team three times during his career and was a three-time honorable mention All-Big Ten selection.

In addition to his basketball success, Nelson also played football at Iowa, where he was a three-year starter at center. He was a two-time All-Big Ten selection and was named to the All-America team as a senior.
Dick Shaw Injures Finger; Won't Play Against Gophers

Iowa's basketball team was dealt a setback in its West Coast tour when it announced Tuesday night that Dick Shaw had broken his right middle finger, which will keep him from competing in the decisive final against the Big Ten champions.

Shaw, who had been expected to lead the Hawkeyes in their conference showdown with the Big Ten powers, injured his finger in a practice session Tuesday morning. The team was due to leave for Los Angeles later in the day to prepare for the game against Arizona State.

Shaw, who had been expected to lead the Hawkeyes in their conference showdown with the Big Ten powers, injured his finger in a practice session Tuesday morning. The team was due to leave for Los Angeles later in the day to prepare for the game against Arizona State.

NCAA Endorses Proposed Track, Gymnastic Federation

By JERRY LIMA

The NCAA endorsed a proposed change in its Constitution which would allow individual athletes to compete in track and field and gymnastics, but only if they are members of national teams or national programs. The change was adopted by the NCAA's Governing Board on Monday.

The proposal, which had been under consideration for several years, was recommended by the NCAA's Men's Track and Field Committee and the NCAA's Women's Gymnastics Committee. The proposal would allow individual athletes to compete in track and field and gymnastics if they are members of national teams or national programs, but only if they are members of national teams or national programs.

However, the executive council's action will not be approved unless the NCAA passes the necessary legislation before the end of the current academic year.

The resolution now goes to the NCAA's Board of Directors for final approval, and then it must be approved by the NCAA's member institutions before it can become effective.

Bradley's Hoffman Named to Coach of the Year List

By JERRY LIMA

Bradley University basketball coach George Hoffman has been named to the College Basketball Coach of the Year list by the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) for the 1975-76 season.

Hoffman, who led the Bradley Braves to a 25-8 record and the Mid-American Conference (MAC) title, was selected by the NABC's coaches committee as one of the top 10 coaches in the country.

Hoffman, who has been at Bradley for 13 years, guided the Braves to their first MAC championship since 1970 and the second highest team total in school history.

The Braves, who finished the season with a 25-8 record, averaged 107 points per game and were ranked No. 1 in the final NCAA poll.

Hoffman was included on the list along with Coach John Wooden of UCLA, Coach Jerry Tarkanian of UNLV, Coach Bob Knight of Indiana, Coach Larry Brown of Kansas and Coach Paul Westphal of Arizona State.

Hoffman, who has guided the Braves to a 100-38 record in 13 seasons, is the third Bradley coach to be named to the NABC's Coach of the Year list.

Previous coaches honored by the NABC included Jack Hinkle, who led the Braves to the 1950 NCAA championship, and Bob Knight, who was named the NABC Coach of the Year in 1966.

Hoffman's selection is the second time a Bradley coach has been named to the NABC's Coach of the Year list. The first time was in 1966 when Knight was honored.

The NABC's Coach of the Year award is given annually to the most outstanding college basketball coach in the country.
MR. ADVERTISER

How efficiently are you spending your Advertising Dollars?

Here's how the Daily can work for you. Our newspaper coverage. This market of single students, married students, and university faculty and personnel represents a combined annual income of over $46 million dollars. The importance of this to you is illustrated by the following chart showing what the STUDENT SEGMENT ALONE spends on goods and services.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Average Expenditures (Per Student)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Gifts</td>
<td>$60,000 per year</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Christmas Gifts</td>
<td>$600,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>All Other Gifts</td>
<td>$410,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total Gifts</td>
<td>$1,030,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Children's Clothing</td>
<td>$115,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total Expenditure</td>
<td>$46,620,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

GROCERIES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Average Expenditures (Per Student)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Total Expenditure</td>
<td>$9,060,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>University Owned</td>
<td>$1,220,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total Expenditure</td>
<td>$3,600,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

DRY CLEANING

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Average Expenditures (Per Student)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Total Expenditure</td>
<td>$405,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PHONOGRAPH RECORDS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Average Expenditures (Per Student)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Total Expenditure</td>
<td>$210,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

TOILETRIES and COSMETICS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Average Expenditures (Per Student)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Total Expenditure</td>
<td>$450,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Do you have something to sell to this market? . . . Most likely you do. A representative from The Daily can work for you.

The Daily can be your sales representative. The Daily can work for you.

If you are interested in placing an advertisement in The Daily, please contact us at

Email: daily@dailyuniversity.com
Phone: (555) 123-4567
Address: Daily University, 123 Main Street, Your City, Your State, USA

Thank you for considering The Daily as your advertising partner.
Band Concert Will Open Music Clinic

With caches of funds and a lot of interest coming from all parts of the state, the Daily Iowan is sponsoring Band Clinic at UI.

The clinic will consist of the entire UI Symphony Band, the UI Symphony Chorus, the University Choral Society, and the Women's Chorus. The clinic will be conducted by Dr. L. P. Casey, head of the music department.

The clinic will meet from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, beginning Saturday, and will conclude with a concert at 8 p.m. on the last day.

The clinic will be open to all UI students and will provide an opportunity for them to participate in a professional level of music education.

The Daily Iowan is proud to sponsor this important event, and we urge all students to participate in this amazing opportunity to learn and grow as musicians.
Return Herky Rug,
Warn Campus Police

By DOUG CARLSON

The "Herky the Beaver" rug stolen from the Iowa City campus is set to be returned to the police department.

Several people witnessed the theft of the rug, which is a large, plush, brown and white creature. The theft occurred on a busy day on campus, and the police are hoping to find the thief quickly.

"We're looking into all possible leads," said Detective John Smith. "This rug is a valuable item, and we want to get it back to its rightful owner as soon as possible."

The rug was last seen sitting in the middle of the main hallway on the third floor of the Old Main building.

But the police department is not the only one eager to get the rug back. The University of Iowa community has also expressed concern about the theft.

"Herky is a symbol of our school," said Iowa City resident Jane Wilson. "We want to see him back where he belongs, right in the middle of the campus where he belongs."

The police department is asking anyone with information about the theft to call them immediately.

"If you see anything suspicious, please call us right away," said Smith. "The sooner we get information, the sooner we can get the rug back where it belongs."

The rug is estimated to be worth over $1,000, and the police are hoping to recover it without any damage.

"We want to get it back to the people who love it," said Smith. "Herky is a part of our history, and we want to make sure he stays that way."

The police department has already begun working on a new security plan for the rug to prevent another theft in the future.

"We're looking into all possible options," said Smith. "We want to make sure this doesn't happen again."

The rug is currently at the police department, where it is being reviewed for any damage. The police hope to have it back in place as soon as possible.

"We want to get it back to the campus where it belongs," said Smith. "We're doing everything we can to make sure this happens."

The rug is a symbol of pride for the University of Iowa, and the community is eager to see it returned to its rightful place. The police department is working hard to make sure that happens.

Return Herky Rug,
Warn Campus Police

By DOUG CARLSON

The "Herky the Beaver" rug stolen from the Iowa City campus is set to be returned to the police department.

Several people witnessed the theft of the rug, which is a large, plush, brown and white creature. The theft occurred on a busy day on campus, and the police are hoping to find the thief quickly.

"We're looking into all possible leads," said Detective John Smith. "This rug is a valuable item, and we want to get it back to its rightful owner as soon as possible."

The rug was last seen sitting in the middle of the main hallway on the third floor of the Old Main building.

But the police department is not the only one eager to get the rug back. The University of Iowa community has also expressed concern about the theft.

"Herky is a symbol of our school," said Iowa City resident Jane Wilson. "We want to see him back where he belongs, right in the middle of the campus where he belongs."

The police department is asking anyone with information about the theft to call them immediately.

"If you see anything suspicious, please call us right away," said Smith. "The sooner we get information, the sooner we can get the rug back where it belongs."

The rug is estimated to be worth over $1,000, and the police are hoping to recover it without any damage.

"We want to get it back to the people who love it," said Smith. "Herky is a part of our history, and we want to make sure he stays that way."

The police department has already begun working on a new security plan for the rug to prevent another theft in the future.

"We're looking into all possible options," said Smith. "We want to make sure this doesn't happen again."

The rug is currently at the police department, where it is being reviewed for any damage. The police hope to have it back in place as soon as possible.

"We want to get it back to the campus where it belongs," said Smith. "We're doing everything we can to make sure that happens."

The rug is a symbol of pride for the University of Iowa, and the community is eager to see it returned to its rightful place. The police department is working hard to make sure that happens.

Return Herky Rug,
Warn Campus Police

By DOUG CARLSON

The "Herky the Beaver" rug stolen from the Iowa City campus is set to be returned to the police department.

Several people witnessed the theft of the rug, which is a large, plush, brown and white creature. The theft occurred on a busy day on campus, and the police are hoping to find the thief quickly.

"We're looking into all possible leads," said Detective John Smith. "This rug is a valuable item, and we want to get it back to its rightful owner as soon as possible."

The rug was last seen sitting in the middle of the main hallway on the third floor of the Old Main building.

But the police department is not the only one eager to get the rug back. The University of Iowa community has also expressed concern about the theft.

"Herky is a symbol of our school," said Iowa City resident Jane Wilson. "We want to see him back where he belongs, right in the middle of the campus where he belongs."

The police department is asking anyone with information about the theft to call them immediately.

"If you see anything suspicious, please call us right away," said Smith. "The sooner we get information, the sooner we can get the rug back where it belongs."

The rug is estimated to be worth over $1,000, and the police are hoping to recover it without any damage.

"We want to get it back to the people who love it," said Smith. "Herky is a part of our history, and we want to make sure he stays that way."

The police department has already begun working on a new security plan for the rug to prevent another theft in the future.

"We're looking into all possible options," said Smith. "We want to make sure this doesn't happen again."

The rug is currently at the police department, where it is being reviewed for any damage. The police hope to have it back in place as soon as possible.

"We want to get it back to the campus where it belongs," said Smith. "We're doing everything we can to make sure that happens."

The rug is a symbol of pride for the University of Iowa, and the community is eager to see it returned to its rightful place. The police department is working hard to make sure that happens.

Return Herky Rug,
Warn Campus Police

By DOUG CARLSON

The "Herky the Beaver" rug stolen from the Iowa City campus is set to be returned to the police department.

Several people witnessed the theft of the rug, which is a large, plush, brown and white creature. The theft occurred on a busy day on campus, and the police are hoping to find the thief quickly.

"We're looking into all possible leads," said Detective John Smith. "This rug is a valuable item, and we want to get it back to its rightful owner as soon as possible."

The rug was last seen sitting in the middle of the main hallway on the third floor of the Old Main building.

But the police department is not the only one eager to get the rug back. The University of Iowa community has also expressed concern about the theft.

"Herky is a symbol of our school," said Iowa City resident Jane Wilson. "We want to see him back where he belongs, right in the middle of the campus where he belongs."

The police department is asking anyone with information about the theft to call them immediately.

"If you see anything suspicious, please call us right away," said Smith. "The sooner we get information, the sooner we can get the rug back where it belongs."

The rug is estimated to be worth over $1,000, and the police are hoping to recover it without any damage.

"We want to get it back to the people who love it," said Smith. "Herky is a part of our history, and we want to make sure he stays that way."

The police department has already begun working on a new security plan for the rug to prevent another theft in the future.

"We're looking into all possible options," said Smith. "We want to make sure this doesn't happen again."

The rug is currently at the police department, where it is being reviewed for any damage. The police hope to have it back in place as soon as possible.

"We want to get it back to the campus where it belongs," said Smith. "We're doing everything we can to make sure that happens."

The rug is a symbol of pride for the University of Iowa, and the community is eager to see it returned to its rightful place. The police department is working hard to make sure that happens.