Enthusiasm For Warfield's Concert Here

By THOMAS HIGGINS
Reviewed for The Daily Iowan
The bass-baritone William Warfield was heard in recital Wednesday night by an enthusiastic audience which filled the Main Lounge of the Union to capacity.

Because there is a text to be projected as well as musical sound, a good part of successful singing consists in the acting. Here Mr. Warfield was splendid, not only in the group of moving spirituals that closed the formal part of the program but also in the more demanding first half. It was a particular pleasure to me to hear the Latin words "delectator in Domino" sung with delight and "in Deo Jesu meo" with reverent intimacy, and not in the too often heard deadpan recitation accorded to words in a dead language.

It is said that Goethe was displeased with Schubert's setting of his Erlking partly because he didn't approve of different music for each stanza, and wasn't impressed the first time he heard the song. Certainly that first singer didn't bring the characters of the father, son, and elf alive as Mr. Warfield did. If his voice wasn't as strong and sure in the upper register in these first groups as it was to become later in the evening no one seemed to mind.

MOST OF THE music after the intermission was devoted to spirituals and other selections to which the presence of a fine Negro artist lends a particular poignancy, and also a particular and wonderful humor. His audience was eager to request two famous songs from Gershwin's Porgy and Bess, and an old English folk song celebrating the contrariness of women for which Mr. Warfield dismissed his excellent accompanist of the evening, Willard Straight, and played his own. The recital ended with the traditional favorite, Old Man River.

SPU Pursues ROTC Attack

The SUI Student Peace Union (SPU) decided Wednesday night to initiate a letter-writing campaign to all persons who could be instrumental in abolishing compulsory ROTC at SUI.

Letters will be sent to members of the State Board of Regents, the University's educational policy committees, and President Virgil M. Hancher.

One year in ROTC is required for SUI male students. The SPU since its organization last year has been working toward abolishing compulsory ROTC. The requirement, formerly two years, was dropped to one this summer.

The Board of Regents has the power to change the compulsory program to a voluntary one. The SPU also voted to support the ROTC abolition plank in the platform of a new political party at SUI, the Independent Student Party, still in the development stage. Its tentative platform includes an improved civil rights program, a plan for lowering student costs, and eliminating compulsory ROTC.

SPU President Richard Talcott, A1, Des Moines, reported that the recent Pause for Peace plan in Iowa City was nationally covered by newspapers, including the New York Times. The SPU members worked in the peace booth in downtown Iowa City during the Pause for Peace campaign.

Reporters Still Seek Powers

BELLEVUE, Md. (AP) — The cat-and-mouse game of trying to find Francis Gary Powers grew warmer Wednesday but reporters still couldn't say positively where the former U2 spy pilot is.

A striking similarity in the background of two pictures, however, led many to believe that Powers hid away at nearby Ashford Farms after he returned to the United States Saturday after 21 months in a Soviet prison.

Powers apparently isn't at the farm now and the hide-and-seek continues.

One of the pictures, taken before the house at Ashford Farms was sold to the Government, shows unusual colonial hinges, a peep hole in the door and distinctive designs on the draperies.

Detailed Look at Athletic Aid Scholarships

By NORM ROLLINS
Staff Writer

Widespread attention has been focused on athletic scholarship requirements in the Big Ten Conference and SUI as a result of the much publicized entrance test scores of Connie Hawkins.

However, the entrance of the so-called "dumb" athlete has become decidedly more difficult at SUI and in the Big Ten Conference because of recently stiffened academic requirements.

The academic requirements were raised as a result of a new Big Ten Conference ruling passed in December. The ruling, which was initiated by SUI officials, has set new requirements that must be met in order for the prospective and varsity athlete to receive financial aid and to compete in varsity sports.

Under the new ruling, athletes are admitted to a university under the same basis as all new students, but they must meet a grade point average of 1.7 to be eligible for scholarships and varsity competition.

Donald E. Rhodes, Director of Admissions and Registrar, pointing out the present admission procedures for all new students to SUI, said that the student must be considered on his merit.

The prospective applicants for admission are considered on the basis of over-all academic potential. This includes rank in the high school graduating class, the cumulative grade point average, secondary school curriculum, available objective test data, recommendations from counselors and high school principals, and the progress report of a student in his junior and senior years in high school.

"All areas of the student's academic potential are carefully considered," Rhodes said, "and equal weight is given in each area. If we feel that the prospective student shows academic potential, we'll give him some chance."

"On the other hand, if we think that the student will have difficulty at SUI, we'll recommend a smaller school."

Rhodes said that today the marginal student can be given a chance, although in a few years, with the expanding population, the marginal student will have more difficulty in entering SUI.

A student who is not in the upper one-half of his graduating class may be required to take special examinations and may, after a review of his entire record and at the discretion of the admissions officer, be admitted under one of the following conditions: unconditionally, on probation, or be required to enroll for a tryout period during a preceding summer session, or be denied admission.

Rhodes said that the present requirements were adopted by the State Board of Regents, and are used in the three state schools.

Connie Hawkins, a freshman at SUI in 1960, ranked scholastically in the lowest one per cent of the entering freshman class. His placement scores were in the bottom one per cent in English, mathematics, and social studies. Hawkins ranked in the lowest two per cent in natural science.

Ted McCarrel, dean of student services, who was registrar at the time of Hawkins' admittance, said that Hawkins had shown some signs of academic improvement in his senior year. The letter said that Hawkins came from an environment that was extremely

The Weather

Sunshine predicted for Iowa failed to materialize Wednesday. It was another day of cloudy skies and mild temperatures.

The local forecast for today calls for continued mild temperatures into Friday. Highs Thursday should be in the upper 30s.

Glenn Won't Go Until Friday, Now

BULLETIN!

CAPE CANAVERAL — Bad down-range weather conditions forced the second postponement in 48 hours of U.S.'s space shot shortly before 1 a.m. this morning.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — We try again Thursday, weather permitting.

That was the official word Wednesday night from space agency officials who wrestled all day with weather forecasts and finally decided to try to rocket John H. Glenn Jr. around the earth some time after 6:30 a.m. today.

Weather prospects were still not hopeful, but they were likely to get worse after noon today. So for the ninth time in almost two months the Marine astronaut was given another date with the cosmos.

The situation was this, in the words of Walter C. Williams, Mercury Project director: "The weather is not really good enough to proceed with great confidence, but not bad enough to be the basis for the postponement decision at this time."

Another weather briefing was scheduled for midnight, just before the final countdown was to resume.

The on-again, off-again situation apparently had failed to unsettle Glenn. He was described by space officials as still calm and taking the fluctuating situation well.

His only recent mishap was a tooth chipped slightly Tuesday from unknown causes. An Air Force dentist polished off the rough edge and the astronaut's molars were pronounced fit for orbit.

It was clear both at Canaveral and Washington that the Government was determined to get Glenn off just as soon as conditions would safely permit.

At his news conference Wednesday President Kennedy said a delay until spring would "slow our whole space program down at a time when we are making a concentrated effort."

But the President made it clear that he was not interfering in any way; that the decision to launch or not launch would be left entirely with space officials at Canaveral.

The 5 p.m. advisory today from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration also said: "The stormy weather now along part of the Mercury track in the central Atlantic is expected to improve slowly."

"A storm currently developing off the East Coast of the United States will move out to sea Wednesday night threatening to cause more stormy conditions near some recovery areas in the western Atlantic today."

SUI Senators Approve Anti-Discrimination Plan

Would Strengthen University Off-Campus Housing Policy

By HAROLD HATFIELD
City Editor

SUI's Student Senate voted Wednesday night to tighten University policies concerning discrimination in a sweeping 10-part civil rights resolution.

The resolution was presented by John Niemeyer, Student Senate president.

The move, if approved by the Committee on Student Life (SCL) would require all Iowa City householders seeking University approval for student housing to sign a pledge stating they will not discriminate on the basis of race, color, or religion.

Present University policies provide that householders who have been added to the University-approved housing list after Sept. 1, 1961, must sign the pledge.

Punishment for a proven violation of the pledge would be removal from the University housing list.

The resolution also recommends to the Board of Student Publications, Inc., that householders advertising housing for rent in the Cabinet status, would be set up to insure fair judicial treatment for students charged with violations of University regulations. In another resolution, the Senate recommended that a special committee of students be named to review the entire student judiciary system.

A 10-point Student Bill-of-Rights was tabled for further study.

Conservative's Speech Tonight

Russel Kirk, author of "The Conservative Mind," will speak on "Ritualistic Liberalism in Foreign Policy" tonight at 7:30 in the House Chamber of Old Capitol.

Kirk's speech is sponsored by the SUI Iowa Conservatives. He is research professor of political science at C. W. Post College of Long Island University. Kirk has spoken on nearly 150 American campuses on themes of conservative thought, educational theory, and literary criticism.

"The Conservative Mind" is a book on political theory. It has appeared in London, Madrid, Zurich, and Rome editions.

Robert Boynton, associate professor of the SUI political science department, said that this book has done more "to stimulate a revival of interest in intellectual conservatism in this country than any similar books."

Boynton also said that perhaps the main contention of conservatism is "a need for order and liberty with a minimum of government regulation and maximum of individualism."

A private luncheon will be held at noon today to honor Kirk. Guests include Prof. Vernon Van Dyke, head of the SUI political science department; John Schmidhauser, professor of political science; Lane Davis, associate professor of political science; Robert Boynton, associate professor of political science; and Prof. Robert G. Caldwell, professor of sociology, advisor to the Iowa Conservatives.

Also, Dr. Richard Lloyd-Jones, assistant professor of English, advisor to the SUI Young Republicans; Marshall Getscher, L2, Hamburg, Conservatives' vice-president; John Niemeyer, L1, Elkader, Student Senate president; and Sarah Slavim, A3, Las Vegas, Nev., president of the Iowa Conservatives.

Kirk is also the founder of the "Modern Age," a young conservatives' magazine. He was formerly a professor at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, and holds six academic degrees.

SCOUT EXPOSITION SET
The date for Iowa City's annual Boy Scout Exposition has been set for April 27 and 28. The date was announced at a meeting Tuesday night of the Wauhawk district committee.

Ralph Oxford, Route 4, Iowa City, was named chairman of the exposition.

Kennedy's News Conference—

Rejects Immediate Summit; Calls Powers 'Free Agent'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy told Nikita Khrushchev Wednesday he is "quite ready" to confer at the summit if next month's disarmament talks make progress. But he rejected the Soviet premier's bid for an immediate heads-of-government meeting.

In a polite but firm letter coordinated with a similar reply from British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Kennedy turned down Khrushchev's proposal that the March 14 Geneva conference open at the summit level. He said a top-level meeting at the outset of the 18-nation talks might retard the cause of arms control.

Discussing the matter at length at his news conference later, the President said he would be glad to "climb to the summit" if and when negotiations by lower-level diplomats indicate progress toward an effective disarmament agreement.

"If we are moving ahead . . . and my presence at a meeting in Geneva would advance that cause, of course, I would go," he told a questioner. "Every head of state would want to go."

On the face, Kennedy's conditions seemed to make chances of a summit slim. He raised other possible obstacles by telling his news conference Red China would have to be a party to any effective arms control pact and by reiterating his insistence on inspections against cheating.

But it was considered possible that Kennedy might agree to meet Khrushchev even if there was only a slight movement toward a disarmament agreement.

Also, U.S. officials said a major consideration behind U.S. summit policy was to give Khrushchev every opportunity to draw closer to the West as his troubles with Red China increase.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said Wednesday U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers will be free to talk to Congress and the press after he concludes "important interviews" with Government interrogators.

Kennedy emphasized at a news conference that Powers is a "free agent" and is "cooperating voluntarily" with Government officials who have been questioning him at a secret location since his release from a Soviet prison.

The President's statement removed any question of Powers' being held in custody, and also made clear that no attempt will be made to keep Congress from quizzing him about the ill-fated photo reconnaissance flight over Russia which landed Powers in a Russian jail in May, 1960.

Russia released Powers and an American student, Frederic Pryor, last Saturday in exchange for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

In a statement which he volunteered at the start of his televised news conference, the President expressed gratification at the release of the two Americans, and added: "I shall be deeply pleased if their release turns out to be a sign of possible significant progress in the lessening of world tensions."

He said he was not prepared to disclose Powers' whereabouts, but "can state that he is in this country, that he has seen his father and mother, and that his wife is with him."

"He is undergoing important interviews by appropriate officials of this Government," Kennedy said. "The information derived from these interviews will be made available to appropriate committees of the Congress, and Mr. Powers will be free to testify before the Congress, should the Congress so wish."

The News In Brief

(From Leased Wires)

PITTSBURGH — Formal negotiations to reach a new labor contract in the basic steel industry got off to an early and amicable start Wednesday with word some measure of agreement already had been achieved.

R. Conrad Cooper of U.S. Steel Corp. chief industry negotiator, said the joint industry-union Human Relations Committee, which had been holding stepped-up talks in recent months, was ready with some recommendations.

MEXICO CITY — A spectacular fire raged from 1 1/2 hours Wednesday night through the new $4-million U.S. Embassy under construction here and collapsed the steel girder work.

Officials said no one was hurt despite the fact that some 400 construction workers were there when the fire erupted about 5:10 p.m.

STORM LAKE — A Buena Vista College student who authorities said has admitted sending an explosive package to the college dean of women as a prank, waived preliminary hearing in Buena Vista County District Court Wednesday.

Steven Prescott, 19, of Storm Lake, was bound over to the April term court. He remains free on $6,000 bond. He was charged with causing injury with explosives.

JOGJAKARTA, Indonesia — A welcome with a warmth to match the temperature met the Robert F. Kennedys at this old Javanese city Wednesday. The temperature was 90 degrees.

The reception was the biggest received by the U.S. attorney general and his wife, Ethel, since their arrival in Indonesia Monday.

See Soviet Plane In Allied Skyway

BERLIN (UPI) — Following Russian threats to jam West Berlin's air lifelines with military planes, a Soviet fighter suddenly appeared in the Allied flight paths Wednesday and "flew near" Western planes, including an RAF transport carrying British Ambassador Sir Christopher Steel.

The incident appeared to be part of a Russian plan to limit Allied use of the three air corridors between Berlin and West Germany. For the fourth time in a week, the Russians requested the use of most of the corridors for their planes. For the fourth time, the Allies rejected the request and sent planes into the corridors in defiance of the Russians.

Wednesday's incident was the first time a Soviet fighter has approached planes in the corridors since the dispute began. An Allied spokesman denied he had said the British ambassador's plane was buzzed by the Soviet fighter. He said reports of buzzing apparently were an attempt to interpret his statement that the fighter "flew near."

"My statement did not say nor mean that the plane was buzzed," he said. "I do not know if the plane was in fact buzzed. I have issued a statement that was agreed upon and I have no more knowledge about the incident."

The Soviet commandant, Col. Andrei I. Solovyev, visited the Berlin commandant, Maj. Gen. Rohan Delacombe, by speeding across the border to the British sector — a violation of Communist regulations.

The United States had refused to allow Solovyev to enter the American sector for the last several weeks. The American action was in retaliation for a hurdle of red tape the Communists erected to bar the U.S. commandant, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, from East Berlin.

Under the Communists' rules, the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint — in the American sector — is the only one along the East-West wall may use.

Wednesday, frustrated by his attempts to enter through the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint, Solovyev sped through the Invalidenstrasse checkpoint, in the British sector.

American authorities raised no objections to the visit when the British told them it was planned, informed sources said. The subject of Solovyev's one-hour talk with British commandant Maj. Gen. Rohan Delacombe was not disclosed.

Campus Notes

Teachers' Workshop

About 100 administrators and teachers of mentally retarded children in Iowa are expected to attend a Workshop for Teachers of the Trainable Mentally Retarded at SUI Friday and Saturday.

The workshop, sponsored by the Division of Special Education of the State Department of Public Instruction, and the SUI College of Education, will feature Wesley D. White, Superintendent, Wheat Ridge State Home and Training School, Wheat Ridge, Colo., and Gladys Gardner Jenkins, Iowa City, educational psychologist and author.

Dr. White will speak Friday on "Creative Teaching: An Approach to the Trainable Mentally Retarded Child." Mrs. Jenkins will speak Saturday morning on "Developmental Patterns: Their Importance to the Teacher of the Trainable Child."

Zopf Elected President

Louis C. Zopf, Dean of the SUI College of Pharmacy has been elected vice president of the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education. (ACPE)

He will hold the post for two years, when his six year term on the council expires. ACPE is the accrediting body for all colleges of pharmacy in the United States and is composed of representatives of the American Pharmaceutical Association, the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy, the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy and the American Council on Education.

Engineering Wives will meet today at 7:45 p.m. in the East Lobby Conference Room of the Iowa Memorial Union.

SUI in Art Exhibit

The SUI Art department is supplying 12 of the exhibits for the Joslyn Art Museum's seventh Midwest Biennial exhibition opening Sunday in Omaha, Neb.

Exhibits chosen from original paintings, sculpture, prints, drawings and pastels were submitted by: Arthur W. Benson, G. Toledo, Ohio; James Burke, G. Robbinsdale, Minn.; William Ellingson, G. Iowa City; Paul T. Hubinsky, G. Mauricio Lasansky, professor of art; William Lasansky, G. Iowa City; Thomas Majeski, G. Iowa City; Theodore K. Ramsay, instructor in education; Ivan Scheifedecker, G. Fort Madison; Jonathan Waite, A2, Fergus Falls, Minn.; and Virginia Myers.

Chess Finals

The final and deciding game of the Fourth Annual University Chess Championships will be played Saturday in Conference Room 1 in the Union.

The game, between Max Fofes, psychology resident at University Hospitals, and Dr. Leo Raterman, surgical resident at University Hospitals, will start at 1:30 p.m., and is open to the public.

Profs To Conference

Dr. William K. Beasley, assistant professor in the Department of Oral Surgery and Hospital Dentistry at SUI's Medical Center, and the three residents in oral surgery, Drs. Donald S. Dana, Clement R. Jasiek, and James H. McLeran, will attend an oral surgery conference in Chicago Friday and Saturday.

'Caucasian Chalk Circle' Called 'Unusual Theater'

By JUDY SULECKI Staff Writer
"The audience must be prepared for an unusual kind of theatre. They should come with open minds, for they will not see what they expect."
So states director John Terfloth, instructor in dramatic art, in describing "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" which opens tonight at University Theatre at 8.
The Bertolt Brecht work is an epic drama about an abandoned governor's child. After the child is rescued by a peasant girl, he is claimed by two women, his blood mother and the woman who raises him.
The story is based on an old Chinese legend, according to Ter-

Paratroops Aid in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Hundreds of Royal Laotian Army paratroops were reported Wednesday to have been dropped into Nam Tha to bolster the defenders of the northwestern provincial capital against besieging pro-Communist troops.
Reliable sources said royal air force C-47 transports carried more than 300 troops to the beleaguered town in an operation that began Tuesday and continued Wednesday.
The troop reinforcements were reportedly dropped at the western end of the Nam Tha valley after mortar fire from pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels damaged the Nam Tha airstrip.
The sources reported no new infantry clashes along the main defense line at Nam Tha during the past two days.
Laotian rebel neutralist leader Prince Souvanna Phouma, meanwhile, asked King Savang Vathana to grant him an audience in the royal capital of Luang Prabang.
Souvanna informed the monarch in a message that he plans to arrive in the royal capital Friday.
The neutralist leader is to report to the king on what progress, if any, he has made toward forming a coalition government in which his faction would share power with the pro-Western leaders of Prince Boun Oum's Government and with the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.
Souvanna's report to the king is expected to be a gloomy one. Negotiations for a coalition government have been stalled for two weeks because of the rebel attack on Nam Tha.

Free Movie Arrives Here 2 Days Late

"A Farewell to Arms," the Union movie to be shown last Sunday, finally arrived Tuesday — two days late.

Victor Yanchick, P4, Joliet, Ill. co-chairman of movies committee, explained that movies sponsored by Union Board are ordered six months ahead of schedule and are supplied at special prices to universities.

Another movie, "Sayonara," was originally scheduled for showing last Sunday. However, an Iowa City theatre owner also requested the cancellation.

Yanchick said that due to a mix-up, the company cancelled both movies.

Yanchick requested that "A Farewell to Arms" be sent air-mail special delivery. When it did not arrive late Sunday afternoon, sub-committee members called each housing unit to notify them of the cancellation.

However, persons who planned to eat an early Sunday dinner and then attend the movie, missed the notice and found the "Sorry-No-Movie" sign at Macbride Auditorium.

Yanchick said "A Farewell to Arms" cannot be scheduled again for this semester. It will probably be shown during the summer.

The next movie, "Roman Holiday," will be shown Feb. 25 at 7 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium.

Council, VNA Meet Today

The Iowa city council will meet with representatives of the Iowa City Visiting Nurse Association (VNA) today at 3 p.m. to consider the location of future quarters of the association.

The VNA will have to vacate their present quarters in the City Hall which has been sold to the First National Bank. The agency has requested quarters in the new Civic Center where there is some unused floor-space.

Some councilmen think that the VNA, as a public health nursing agency, is entitled to space in city-owned buildings. Other councilmen argue that the agency should not be given any consideration that other groups that serve public needs do not receive.

The VNA receives $5,000 annually from the city to perform its public health nursing duties and operates this phase of its work under the city health physician, Dr. E. W. Paulus.

Today's meeting will be open to the public.

French Threaten Gov't. Crackdown

PARIS (UPI) — The De Gaulle Government underscored reports that Algerian peace talks were at a critical phase Wednesday by warning it would crack down on "rebellious activities" such as last week's Paris riots. The announcement was followed by new violence.

The Government crackdown was announced by spokesman Louis Terrenoire after a three-hour cabinet meeting. The meeting was devoted mainly to last Thursday's Bastille Square rioting, led by Communists and leftists. Eight civilians were killed in those riots.

Terrenoire said Interior Minister Roger Frey, in his internal security report to the cabinet, said street demonstrations opened the way to fascism in Italy and to civil war in Spain.

"The Government had no need to draw these lessons from history to remain very firm in its resolution not to yield to others the exercise of its duties, particularly for the defense of the republic against rebellious activities," he said.

Officials disclosed that Algerian Affairs Minister Louis Joxe and two other officials were still engaged in talks with the Algerian rebel leadership in a secret meeting place.

Informed sources said the talks now are in their final, decisive phase. Some newspapers and the French Government radio reported earlier Wednesday that the talks had broken down, but officials denied this.

The absence from the cabinet meeting of Joxe and his negotiating team, Public Works Minister Robert Buron and Jean de Grogie, secretary of state for Saharan affairs, was another indication that the talks were continuing.

The location of the talks was believed in France, near the Swiss frontier. One report said they were being held in a remote mountain chalet, another said a railroad car.

The key issue was how France can grant Algeria self-determination. One point concerns the future of the 1,100,000 Europeans in Algeria.

The French insist that all who want full Algerian citizenship must be granted it. The rebels want to restrict such rights. France fears that the 10 to 1 Algerian majority could force racial discrimination through such restrictions.

French Fire On Algerians

ALGIERS (UPI) — French troops and riot police Wednesday hurled grenades and fired into mobs of Algerians attempting to invade the European section of Oran after an unprecedented barrage of 44 terrorist bomb explosions rocked Arab quarters of the western port city.

Police said 16 persons, including three Europeans, were killed in the Oran violence Wednesday and 32 persons wounded, five of them French soldiers.

One of the dead was identified as Lt. Philippe Jacquot, son of Gen. Pierre Jacquot, commander-in-chief of NATO allied forces for Central Europe.

Throughout Algeria, 21 persons were killed Wednesday and 42 wounded, raising the 1962 casualty toll to 814 dead and 1,440 injured.

The Oran rioting flared as officials in Paris disclosed that French and Algerian rebel negotiators had reached the final, decisive stage in secret peace talks in France, somewhere near the Swiss frontier.

Soldiers and police first opened fire in Oran when they were in danger of being overwhelmed by a mob of more than 1,000 Algerians infuriated by the rash of plastic bomb attacks that crumpled houses and touched off fires in the Arab quarters.

McGill Striving To Be 'Complete Ballplayer'

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Utah's Billy McGill doesn't want to be known only as one of college basketball's most celebrated scorers.

Being recognized as the most prolific point maker among the collegians this season flatters the modest 6-9 Ute center, but what McGill wants is to be the complete ball player type of all-American.

McGill, the season-long national scoring leader, is currently averaging 36.9 points a game in 20 contests. If he maintains his present pace he can finish with the best single season average since 1954 when Furman's Frank Selvy wound up with a 41.7 average.

The lanky Ute pivotman set a new Skyline Conference record of 53 points last week in a victory against Montana.

However, all the fuss over scoring sort of embarrasses the young man from Los Angeles. McGill's ability to hit the hoop with great accuracy isn't an accident. It's a result of some natural ability, a pair of good hands, great coordination and years of practice.

Scoring seems to come naturally to the player coach Jack Gardner calls "the greatest offensive center in college basketball." But there's more to the game than scoring and McGill is just as proud of some of his other accomplishments. His big ambition is to play professional basketball and he hopes the pro scouts won't overlook his rebounding, passing, speed, defense and dribbling abilities.

McGill, who as a boy idolized Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell, hopes someday to be playing with or against the two superstars of the National Basketball Association.

Gardner believes his prize player has the prerequisites for the pro ranks. "He's the best offensive center in college basketball. Billy has a number of shots and he's got good speed for a big man," the Utah coach explained.

Gardner, who faced the biggest rebuilding job of any coach in the Skyline after losing three regulars last season, has got excellent mileage out of McGill and the others. The Utes are 17-3 for the season — their losses coming to nationally ranked Southern California, Arizona State and Colorado State.

However, the only satisfaction Gardner can get out of this season is to win the Skyline crown. The Utes are barred from NCAA season activity because of a NCAA code violation.

Oklahoma Grappler

Oklahoma's 130-pound wrestler, Mickey Martin, will risk his 4-1 record in this Saturday's 3 p.m. meet in the Iowa Field House when he meets Norm Parker. Martin took third in his class in last year's NCAA meet.

No Monopoly for 'Giants' —

Little Men Play Big Role in Sports

By STEVE SNIDER
United Press International
NEW YORK — A good little man still can make it big on the sports scene.

Jim Beatty (5-6) and Chuck McKinley (5-8) scored impressive victories in different sports last weekend for what might be a dandy lesson for slow-to-sprout youngsters who feel they'll never be big enough to star in major competition.

This is an age of the mobile monster in pro football and basketball but there's plenty of room for a small man in baseball, golf, tennis, college basketball, college football, track and field and, of course, horse-racing for the real peewees.

Beatty, a 27-year-old 128 pounder, raced the first indoor mile under four minutes at Los Angeles Saturday night with a clocking of 3:58.9. McKinley, 21, won the U.S. indoor tennis championship. He's also co-holder of the grass courts doubles and is the chief hope of the U.S. Davis Cup team.

By today's physical standards both Beatty and McKinley are real shorties who don't figure to hold their own in big time competition. But Beatty, a dedicated runner, trains diligently and plans carefully before he steps onto the track for a race. McKinley, dwarfed by most of his tennis opponents, compensated for his lack of size by perfecting a sizzling overhead shot and scoring with 26 of 27 attempts in his winning indoor final against Whitney Reed.

Leading little men in other sports, all under 5-10, include golfers Gary Player, Jerry Barber, Gene Littler, and Billy Maxwell; baseballers Albie Pearson, Elroy Face, Harvey Haddix, Bobby Richardson, Luis Aparicio and Nellie Fox; football star Galen Hall of Penn State and a flock of candidates for the "Small America" basketball team led by Larry Armstrong (5-9) of Arizona State U.

Player, Masters champion and pro golfer's leading money winner last year, is only 5-7 and weighs 150. Still, he's a husky compared to PGA champ Jerry Barber, who stands only 5-5 and weighs 137.

Littler, former Amateur champ now U.S. Open titleholder, is 5-9. Butch Baird, a corner, is 5-8 and weighs 150. Jackie Cupit, 1961 rookie of the year on the golf circuit is 5-9. Ted Kroil is 5-8 and so is veteran Billy Maxwell.

Arnold Palmer, the mostest on any golf course, isn't exactly a giant as athletes go — 175 pounds on a 5-10½-inch frame. The Pirates have baseball's mightiest pitching mites — Face (5-8, 155 pounds) and Haddix (5-9, 160) — and the White Sox have the niftiest small-man second base combination in Fox (5-9, 162) and Aparicio (5-8, 155).

Pearson, who had a fine year with a .288 average for the new Los Angeles Angels last season, is the smallest major leaguer at 5-5 and 141 pounds.

White Sox rookie outfielder Floyd

Robinson, Yankee second baseman Bobby Richardson, Met infielders Don Zimmer and Ello Chacon and Bubba Phillips of the Indians are all 5-9. So is Penn State's ace quarterback, Galen Hall, who was rated "too small" for the pros until he starred in two post-season games and was signed promptly by Washington. Sports Patrol—Reg. U.S. Pat. Mississippi St. May Reject NCAA Basketball Tourney

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Mississippi State's basketball team faced the prospect Wednesday of having to turn down another bid to the NCAA playoffs because of a racial policy.

A situation is shaping up similar to those experienced by state in 1959 and 1961. Both years it won the Southeastern Conference championship and the right to represent the SEC in the national playoffs.

And each time it stayed out of the competition because of an unwritten but strong policy formed by persons in the state Government against state supported teams playing teams with Negro members.

"I feel certain the outcome will be the same this year," said Mississippi State Athletic Director Wade Walker.

State's basketball team, with a 19-1 record, defeated third-ranked Kentucky, 49-44, on the Kentucky court Monday to emerge as the team most likely to get the SEC's bid to play for the national crown. The Bulldogs have five games remaining, but all will be at home against teams with poorer records.

State and Kentucky have identical SEC records but, if both teams win the rest of their games, State will get the initial invitation because it has defeated Kentucky. If State turns down the bid, Kentucky will represent the league.

The ban against inter-racial competition was formed about 1955. It is in the form of an unwritten agreement between legislative leaders and officials of the state college board and the universities. College officials have feared violations of the rule would result in smaller appropriations from the legislature.

To Perform Tonight

Willie Mosconi will present an exhibition of his cue skill today and Friday in the River Room of the Union. Mosconi is currently a member of the Brunswick Advisory Staff.

Willie Mosconi To Give Billiards Exhibition Here

Willie Mosconi, world's pocket billiard champion, will give a free exhibition of his skill today and Friday in the River Room of the Union.

Mosconi was originally scheduled for two performances today but because of transportation difficulties he will limit his program to an exhibition at 8 p.m.

However, he will present three programs Friday, at 1 p.m., 4 p.m. and at 8 p.m.

He will demonstrate billiard fundamentals and several trick shots. Mosconi has held the world's title for 15 of the last 18 years. He holds many records, the most spectacular of which is his score of 528 to establish a new world's exhibition record. One of Mosconi's tricks is a "machegun shot" — a force-follow with side English which caroms the cue ball off each of 15 balls before hitting the corner pocket.

Mosconi was technical director of the movie "The Hustler," starring Paul Newman.

The exhibition is sponsored by the games committee of Union Board.

Russia May Not Attend Hockey Championships

MOSCOW (AP) — A top Soviet sports official indicated Wednesday the Soviet hockey team would refuse to take part in the world championship at Colorado Springs, Colo., if the East German team fails to get travel papers.

"I think that under those conditions we will not take part," said Mikhail Peslyak, deputy chairman of the Central Council of the Sports Society of the U.S.S.R.

Aaron Wagman Indicted Again in Fixing Scandal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Aaron Wagman, accused of offering money to shave points in basketball games, was indicted Wednesday by a grand jury after the appearance of three former college players.

Eight of nine counts accused Wagman of fixing several games. The other count charged conspiracy.

Players appearing before the grand jury were John Egan and Frank Majewski of St. Joseph's and Edward Bowler of LaSalle.

The trio was named as participants in the basketball game fixes last April 27. On that day, the Very Rev. J. Joseph Guett, president of St. Joseph's College, announced the expulsion of Egan, Vincent Kempton and Majewski, and Brother Daniel Bernian, president of LaSalle College, announced Bowler's suspension.

The three St. Joseph's players were accused of receiving $2,750 each for their part in fixing three games. Bowler was reported to have accepted $2,000 for controlling two games.

Wagman currently is in jail in New York, awaiting sentencing on March 14 after having pleaded guilty to 33 counts of conspiracy and bribery in connection with the basketball scandals. He also has been indicted in an investigation into alleged North Carolina cage scandals.

AAU Rejects Plan for New Governing Group in Athletics

HIGH POINT, N. C. (AP) — The Amateur Athletic Union Wednesday flatly rejected an indirect invitation by the NCAA to help organize new federations to govern amateur athletics in the United States.

Louis J. Fisher, AAU president and High Point lawyer, said NCAA proposals made at a meeting in Chicago earlier this week would have meant "complete surrender" by the AAU.

Fisher said Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, who sponsored the reconciliation meeting between the two athletic associations in Chicago, hopes to hold another meeting in three or four weeks. Fisher said the AAU will attend.

The NCAA has called a meeting of its own forces in Chicago March 4-5 to organize new federations in track and field and gymnastics. It already has launched a basketball federation.

Fisher said the NCAA had re-

Bradley Star Dropped Due To Discipline

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Bradley University announced Wednesday that sophomore basketball star Joe Strawder of Belle Glade, Fla., and two freshmen players, Ed Moore and Ray Banks, had been dismissed from school.

They were dismissed, the announcement said for reasons and actions not in the best interest of Bradley University.

Bradley's basketball team is currently ranked fifth in the Associated Press national college poll.

The university said the dismissals had nothing to do with the Bradley basketball program.

The loss of Strawder was a blow to Bradley's hopes of winning the Missouri Valley Conference title and a possible bid to the NCAA tournament.

Bradley plays at Cincinnati Monday night in a contest billed as a title game. Bradley leads the conference with a 9-1 record, with Cincinnati a game behind.

Palmer Out of Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — The race for the seventh crown of the 1962 golf season opens today when competition gets underway in the $20,000 Tucson open tournament.

But with Arnold Palmer, winner of the last two events, sitting this one out, it's a wide open race.

National open champion Gene Littler, who won at San Francisco but finished in a tie for 35th at Phoenix last week, moved up among the favorites.

The others with him are former Masters champion Art Wall, PGA champion Jerry Barber, defending champion Dave Hill, former PGA king Bob Rosburg and young Bob McCallister, who tied for second at Phoenix.

The El Rio course is short at 6,400 yards and even on the long par four holes it's a drive and a short iron to the green.

"Therefore you can see it is going to take a man with a solid approaching game," says the 24-year-old Hill.

Mistake Damages U.S. Skate Hopes

OSLO, Norway (AP) — A colossal snafu involving three U.S. skaters and the parent American Amateur Speedskating Union may have crippled American chances in the world speedskating championships starting Sunday in Moscow.

The sources here said that two of the three U.S. team members, Gordon Rudolph of Northbrook, Ill., and Paul Nelson of Minneapolis, had left the team because the parent body failed to give them backing. Only Rudolph's brother, Eddie, would represent the U.S. in the Lenin Stadium rink against the world's best speedskaters, the source said.

Last Monday, Phil O. Krumm of Milwaukee, secretary-treasurer of the organization, said that Ed Rudolph and Nelson would represent the U.S. in the world meet. He did not mention Gordon Rudolph.

SUI To Hold Business Meet

More than 40 leading businessmen — many of whom will travel hundreds of miles to attend — will acquaint students with business opportunities at the Business Careers Conference at SUI Feb. 20 and 21. Pre-business students are requested to register for conference materials at the Careers Conference desk on the second floor of University Hall today or Friday.

Prof. Charles Gordon, assistant dean in business administration and adviser for the conference, said the "primary purpose of the conference is to acquaint pre-business administration students with business opportunities in business and industry."

It is designed to help upperclassmen choose a career and to aid freshmen and sophomores in choosing a major, Gordon said.

The 19-session conference is planned by the SUI Collegiate Chamber of Commerce and the College of Business Administration. Chairman is Gene Trenary, 34, Rolfe.

Among the events planned is a panel on commercial banking, to be headed by Robert A. Krans of Iowa-Des Moines National Bank, Des Moines.

James Austad of the Maytag Company, Newton, and John Wensberg, retail bureau secretary of the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce, will take part in a panel on "Views of Recent Graduates."

Speaking on investments will be Martin A. McDevitt of A. C. Allyn & Co., Waterloo. J. D. Cox of the Maytag Company will speak on office management.

J. Trevor Davies of Bankers Life Company, Des Moines, will moderate a panel on insurance. Merle W. Wood, of the Des Moines Public Schools, will speak on business education.

A panel on sales will include John S. Rath of Rath Packing Co., Waterloo.

Classes on Tuesday and Wednesday will be suspended in undergraduate business courses to let business administration students attend the conference.

Tickets for the conference luncheons Tuesday and Wednesday will be on sale until Monday at the second floor desk of University Hall.

"RED CHINA: Third Greatest Power?" is the topic for discussion in the second of the programs in the series Great Decisions — 1962 to be aired today at 2 p.m. The broadcasts are related to the Foreign Policy Association's nationwide effort to interest the citizenry in group meetings on specific subjects of international import. Already, in the Iowa City area, three such groups have been formed, and their total number (about 50) will be expected to have heard today's broadcast when the groups assemble next week. Anyone desiring information about the schedule and location of meetings should contact Mrs. Max Dresden or Mrs. Anthony Costantino (or both, if you just enjoy having lots of contacts).

THE FIRST CLASS in the new series "Man and Meaning in Contemporary Jewish Literature" has met with Professor Schwarz, was recorded and will be broadcast today at 11 a.m. Direct from a student in the class we have heard that it is a very promising outline that has been laid down, and there is a challenging reading list with it. These are available to listeners if they will write to WSUI requesting them.

Cold Vaccine 'Not in Sight'

Sneezing and sniffing will continue to be the miseries of the common cold, despite some promising research done in the past two years, according to a noted English research physician.

Dr. David A. J. Tyrrell, made his remarks before about 200 doctors and medical students in the Medical Amphitheatre at University Hospitals Monday.

Scientists have isolated six viruses that cause the common cold, he said, but there may be 30 or 40, making the possibility of a reported universal vaccine out of the question now.

Earlier, he said, scientists felt that "the" common cold was caused by "the" common virus, but research revealed that viruses varied in intensity, causing ailments ranging from colds to influenza.

Heart Fund Drive Will Open Sunday

The Johnson County Heart Fund will open its 1962 fund raising drive with a meeting for volunteer workers Sunday, at 2 p.m. in the Medical Amphitheatre of University Hospitals.

Dr. George S. Anderson, 922 River and Donald Stephenson, 520 Brown, president and fund raising chairman of the Johnson County Heart Fund, will outline the plans for Heart Sunday, to be held Feb. 25.

The meeting will be highlighted by two movies and a discussion demonstrating equipment now being used in the treatment of heart diseases.

Castro Out Of Agrarian Reform Group

HAVANA (UPI) — Communist leader Carlos Rafael Rodriguez Wednesday replaced Premier Fidel Castro as president of the all-powerful Cuban Agrarian Reform Institute.

The significance of the change was not immediately apparent, but it created a sensation. It was announced without fanfare by the cabinet in a brief statement published in the official press.

Much of Castro's power has stemmed from the all-embracing authority vested in him as head of the institute.

Institute employees appeared surprised, admitting that Rodriguez was "replacing Fidel." Castro drafted the legal machinery for the institute in 1959 while still campaigning as a mountain guerrilla. He has been its president since.

The institute controls agriculture, the pillar of the Cuban economy. It is an autonomous government body with unlimited powers. Its decisions cannot be challenged.

Political observers speculated whether the change represented an open Government takeover by increasingly powerful Communists or, perhaps, official recognition of Rodriguez' work in transforming the Cuban economy from a capitalist to a socialist base.

Rodriguez is one of the top five men in the Communist hierarchy in Cuba. He replaced Argentine Communist Ernesto Che Guevara as economic czar last year. That was when he was appointed head of the Central Planning Commission and the integrated revolutionary organizations.

Rodriguez, in his late 40's, has been an openly avowed Communist since the middle 1930's.

Since the triumph of the Castro revolution, Rodriguez has held several jobs, the Communist publication of Hoy, the Communist publication and a professor of political culture at the University of Havana.

Cuba Walks Out of OAS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba walked out of the Organization of American States Wednesday moments after the OAS council took formal notice of the exclusion of Fidel Castro's Communist Government from the inter-American system.

The council had met to implement the exclusion resolution adopted last month at Punta del Este, Uruguay. Cuba's walkout makes further action merely symbolic. However, some more formalities may be necessary to exclude Cuba from various OAS activities.

Formal notice of the Punta del Este declaration was taken by the council president, Alberto Zuleta Angel of Colombia. He referred any further action in the matter to the council's general committee for urgent study.

Then Cuba's ambassador, Carlos M. Lechuga, started to speak. He was rebuffed by the chairman, who told him he had not been given the floor. But Lechuga continued.

Angrily, he told the council that the chairman's action was illegal but "We are going to retire."

Then the Cuban ambassador stalked down a short hallway to the OAS press room to make a final statement to reporters, declaring "This final phase of the OAS proceedings has been shameful" and violated the OAS charter. He said he would return to Cuba immediately.

Eisenhower Says Muzzling Belittles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, in a letter to Senate investigators made public Wednesday, called the uninhibited censoring of top-level officials' speeches "something belittling."

His letter, placed in evidence by the special Armed Services investigating subcommittee, elaborated on one he had written previously suggesting that "top-level" Pentagon personnel be permitted to use their own best judgment in phrasing their speeches and be held responsible for their words.

His original letter acknowledged that this was a switch from the policy he had followed as President, that speech clearance was mandatory.

The subcommittee had asked the former President to explain whom he meant by "top-level" personnel.

His new letter, dated Jan. 30, listed the secretary and deputy secretary of defense, the secretaries and undersecretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force and the five members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Love Is Big Business

Ross Davis, 21, of nearby Lake Oswego, Ore., proclaims his love in this 25-foot-long billboard which cost him about a $100 for a week. Ginger is Vergenia Eileen Pohlman, 22, a dental nurse, who saw the sign while driving to work Wednesday. "I just love it," was her reaction.

Sharm: 'Might Be a Blessing'

lacking in cultural and social advantages.

At the end of the fall semester last year, Frank Allen, Dave Maher, Ron Zager and Tom Harris were declared ineligible to play basketball in the second semester. They had all failed at least one course.

Under the old Big Ten rules, an athlete could not fail a course and be eligible for varsity action.

Sharm Scheuerman, head basketball coach, said at that time that these failures might be a blessing in disguise as a lesson to future Iowa athletes.

"The new conference requirements are based on basic intelligence in the classroom," Forest Evashevski, SUI athletic director said. "Financial aid is no longer based on need, but on the ability to do college work. I think that this is the only fair criterion."

Under the new ruling, freshman athletes are eligible for financial aid on the basis of two things: the grade point average in their first year, and their athletic experience and ability.

Robert F. Ray, dean of special services, said the grade point, which must be at least a 1.7, is based on rank in the high school graduating class computed with scores from national college placement exams.

To be eligible for varsity competition and financial aid in his sophomore year, an athlete must have met the 1.7 minimum grade point average in his freshman year. In his sophomore year, the athlete must maintain a 1.8; his junior year, a 1.9; and a 2.00 in his senior year.

Evashevski said that a possible weakness to the new ruling is that there has been such a short period of time to gather information on the new rankings. There were only about 3,000 students tested in the Conference.

He expressed confidence, however, that the predictions will become more accurate as the program develops.

Both Evashevski and Ray agreed that the new ruling won't affect the quality of competition in the Big Ten. "There is already a vast majority of students who qualify under the new ruling, and who are now competing in varsity athletics," Evashevski said.

"With the new ruling, a Big Ten university does not need to fear losing a good athlete, but a poor student, to another Big Ten school. If an athlete does not qualify for competition in any other school in the conference," Evashevski said.

"There is a second important phase of the new program that is often overlooked," Evashevski pointed out, "and that is if the student athlete does not qualify for financial aid, yet enters a university, he is not eligible to go out for varsity athletics until he reaches the grade point requirement."

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa Highway Patrol is getting away from the standard black colored patrol car, at least on an experimental basis.

State Safety Commissioner Carl Pesch said Wednesday the patrol now has about 65 cars of a different color than black.

He said he feels it will result in better resale value of the vehicles and that the cars would aid in better law enforcement since they are less easily noticed.

The cars still bear the patrol insignia and flashing lights.

DES MOINES (AP) — Gov. Norman Erbe rejected permanently Wednesday any plans for Iowa to participate in a Midwest exhibit at the 1964 New York World's Fair.

The governor said that the estimated cost to Iowa for participation would range from $125,000 to a maximum of $175,000.

Candidates Announced

Political activity picked up in Iowa Wednesday with three candidates announcing for major office.

On the congressional front, Edward J. Peters Jr., 34, announced at Denison he will seek the Democratic nomination for Congress from the state's new 7th District.

Peters resigned as administrative assistant to Rep. Merwin Coad (D-Iowa) last summer after the congressman had obtained a quickie divorce in Alabama and later married Peters' former wife Carol.

And at Bancroft, farmer-grain dealer Donald W. Murray, 38, said he will seek the Democratic nomination for Congress from the new 6th District. Murray is Kossuth County Democratic chairman.

Lt. Gov. William Mooty, (R-Grundy Center, said he will seek re-election.
