Heller has written six books and many articles.

IN THE CITY—

Iowa City retailers will meet at 9 Tuesday morning at the Hotel Jefferson to compile a list of frequent writers of bad checks.

The meeting was called by the Retail Trade Committee of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce. Niles H. Rough, 730 Keokuk Ct., heads the committee.

With the help of law enforcement officers, the committee last year initiated a check warning system which has been praised by retailers and law enforcement officials.

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI) — A Titan I intercontinental ballistic missile was launched Friday, but fell into the ocean within 200 miles of this Pacific missile range base because of a technical failure.

The Air Force also Friday had planned to fire an Atlas ICBM from this West Coast base, but indefinitely postponed the shot for technical reasons seconds before launch time.

MOSCOW — The Soviet newspaper Izvestia said the United States rejected Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's latest bid for a summit conference before President Kennedy had a chance to study it thoroughly. The Communist party newspaper Pravda said U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers had confirmed to "doubting Thomases in Washington" that Russia has rockets capable of knocking down planes flying at 68,000 feet.

LEOPOLDVILLE — The United Nations accused Katanga President Moise Tshombe of breaking the cease-fire in the Congo and said U.N. troops would move immediately to take over the city of Kongolo from Katangese police.

BOMBAY — Local leaders of India's ruling congress party said Friday that Communists had taken over the election campaign of Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon. In a message to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, they said the Communists had moved in and left local congress party campaign workers with nothing to do.

Thousands Cheer Bobby in Berlin

(Combined from Leased Wires)

BERLIN — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy whirled through a second day of visits and speeches in West Berlin Friday and assured its citizens the United States will fly planes to this isolated city no matter what Soviet opposition develops.

He made the declaration on a TV news panel program.

Asked what the United States will do if the Soviet Union closes the three 20-mile-wide air corridors linking this Red-encircled city with West Germany, President Kennedy's brother said: "We are going to continue to come into Berlin."

He conceded there is little the West can do toward the reunification of Germany as long as the Soviet Union can block such attempts.

"Those are the facts of life," he said.

The program capped a day of separate tours of the divided city by the three members of the visiting Kennedy clan. Younger brother Edward Kennedy took a two-hour turn around East Berlin for the Communist side of the wall.

Robert's wife, Ethel, toured West Berlin in the company of Mayor Willy Brandt's wife.

The Attorney General's second day in the city produced the same sort of mass enthusiasm among West Berliners that greeted him on his arrival.

Thousands lined the route and pressed about him whenever his motorcade stopped.

A moving scene occurred at the Communist wall, where Kennedy laid a wreath "to the victims of Communist tyranny."

But the crowd fell suddenly silent as Kennedy laid a wreath on a wooden cross on the sidewalk commemorating an elderly woman who died when she jumped from her window on the Communist side and fell in the Western sector in a desperate leap for freedom.

On the Red side, as Kennedy stood at the wall, some East Berliners stuck their hands from windows of nearby buildings.

BERLIN (UPI) — Edward Ted Kennedy, youngest brother of the President, paid a spur-of-the-moment visit Friday to Communist East Berlin. By staying longer than planned he created anxiety among officials awaiting his return to West Berlin.

He entered East Berlin by subway with Frank Mehan of the State Department and a Harvard classmate, Claude Hooten of Hous-

HAT IN RING

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (UPI) — Sen. Benjamin A. Smith II, (D-Mass.), announced Friday that he would leave the Senate when his term expires this year. The move might pave the way for a Senate bid by President Kennedy's youngest brother, Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy.

ton, Tex., and walked back across the border to tell the relieved dignitaries, "we just walked around."

Meehan said East Berlin police knew who Kennedy was and that they treated him politely and waived border currency controls. But they made him show his passport, a fact duly noted Friday night by the Communist East German news service ADN.

Asked for comment of the ADN report, in view of the current American-Soviet identification hassle, Hooten told UPI: "I don't know how else we could have gotten in."

Meehan said police knew who young Kennedy was "because I told them" but that East Berliners would not believe he was the President's brother until he produced his passport.

Kennedy entered East Berlin at 3 p.m. and left word behind he would return to the West an hour later. He did not get back until 5:15 p.m. and American officials sat on the edge of their chairs every one of those 75 minutes in fear something might have happened.

Ted was unconcerned by the delay.

Efforts Stepped Up To Avert Strikes At Allis-Chalmers

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Federal mediation efforts have been stepped up to avert the scheduled strike at midnight Monday of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. plants in seven cities across the nation, including Cedar Rapids.

Federal mediator William Rose said Friday that "despite some progress" in negotiations for a new contract between the United Auto Workers and Allis-Chalmers, "both parties remained apart on many issues. I can't predict the outcome of the talks," said Rose.

The UAW informed federal mediators Thursday that it will strike at all plants except Terre Haute, Ind., at midnight Monday if a contract settlement has not been reached. Allis-Chalmers plans to close the Terre Haute plant this summer and no strike notice was served by the local there.

Federal mediation service in Washington named commissioners to all other plant locations Thursday. They include Francis Sheridan, Springfield, Ill.; Sam Johns, Cedar Rapids, Ronald Hagist, La Crosse, Wis.; and Thomas Clelland, La Porte, Ind.

"They likewise met Thursday and Friday, and like us here, will continue the meetings through the weekend," said Rose.

Central negotiations are concerned mainly with details of supplemental unemployment benefits, health and accident and pension provisions of the contract.

Report Kennedy Rejects Summit Conference Bid

(Combined from Leased Wires)

PALM BEACH, Fla. — President Kennedy reportedly approved Friday night his formal reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's renewed proposal — already rejected by the State Department — for starting next month's Geneva disarmament talks with a summit conference.

The answer, expected to reinforce the State Department's informal one, probably reached the Embassy in Moscow sometime late Friday night for delivery to the Soviet Government.

It may be a matter of another day or two before this Government will make it public.

Kennedy had a translation of the Soviet Premier's proposal before him during the day.

Officials here and in London said the Western leaders would reply within the next day or two to a lengthy and somewhat truculent note which they received from Khrushchev Thursday.

In the 2,500-word note, Khrushchev renewed his bid for a March summit meeting, and questioned Kennedy's sincerity in going ahead with disarmament conference plans at a time when, according to press reports, the United States was preparing to resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

Officials made clear that the U.S. and British Governments will reject the new Soviet demand for a top-level meeting, and will stand firm on their previous assertion that the 18-nation disarmament talks in Geneva should begin March 14 on the foreign ministers level, with a summit gathering possible later if progress warrants.

U.S. officials said Khrushchev may be maneuvering to sabotage the entire disarmament conference if President Kennedy, as expected, announces early in March his decision to resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

At the minimum, they said, Khrushchev is trying to build up world pressure against resumption of U.S. testing, and to extract as much propaganda advantage as possible from the expected Kennedy decision.

Kennedy has said that nothing will influence his decision on renewed testing except the results of a study which U.S. experts are now completing of the Soviet nuclear tests last autumn. Officials have said that the Russians made "substantial gains" in the series of atmospheric tests, and that U.S. security requires another round of American shots.

Acting Press Secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said the State Department acted Thursday night after aides had talked to Kennedy by telephone about the Khrushchev message. There has been reports that it was far more argumentative than Russia's earlier proposal to have 18 heads of Government start disarmament talks scheduled to open in Geneva March 14. The United States wants lower-level groundwork to take place first.

Kennedy Awards Astronaut Distinguished Service Medal

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. returned in triumphant homecoming to his jumping-off place Friday and received the fullest homage of a grateful nation from President Kennedy.

The President flew to this sprawling spaceport to praise and pin a medal on the first American to orbit the earth. In presenting the medal, Kennedy hailed Glenn's unflinching courage and outstanding contribution to the advancement of human knowledge.

Kennedy presented an identical award — the Distinguished Service Medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration — to the man who has ramrodded Project Mercury from its conception: Director Robert R. Gilruth.

Earlier, a cheering throng of perhaps 100,000 persons paid respects to the smiling, waving space conqueror as he rode in an open convertible along an 18-mile parade route.

Sharing in his glory was his wife, Anna, who was beside him much of the day; his son David, 16, and daughter Carolyn, 14. Other members of his family and relatives were here for the joyous occasion.

Proudly wearing his new medal, Glenn then went to a circus tent jammed with newsmen and unfolded the story of his three-times-around-the-world flight.

In brief, he told the reporters: — He had a few uneasy moments during a spectacular re-entry from space when he feared his capsule heat shield might be burning up — the fears, due to a faulty electronic signal, proved groundless; — The more than four hours of weightlessness he endured posed no particular problem. It was a pleasant feeling that might even become habit-forming; and — He couldn't ask for more than that his space flight might lead to cooperation between the United States and Soviet Union in the exploration of space.

With President Kennedy by his side, Glenn stopped briefly at Pad 14 — where he started his great adventure — and personally thanked members of the launch crew which had signaled his leap into space just three days, an hour and 36 minutes before.

He shook hands with many of the crew. They in turn presented President Kennedy with a green hard hat — worn for protection by missilemen — and made him an honorary member of the launching crew.

Kennedy, who normally shuns headgear, allowed Glenn to place it on his head briefly, but removed it after five seconds.

Similarly, Glenn visited the Project Mercury control center, thanked those who had tracked his flight around the world and escorted the President on a tour of the complex facility.

Then the motorcade moved to Hangar S — the huge structure where Glenn trained for his flight — for the premiere event of the day, the presentation.

Calling Glenn to his side, the President said it was very appropriate that a Marine should be so honored on this day — the 17th anniversary of the date Marines raised the American flag on Mt. Suribachi on Iwo Jima.

"We also realize that not in the too distant future," Kennedy said,

"a Marine or a Navy man or an Air Force man will put the American flag on the moon."

With both men standing erect, the President attached the large medal to Glenn's coat.

The citation read: "Lt. Col. Glenn's orbital flight made an outstanding contribution to the advancement of human knowledge of space technology and a demonstration of man's capabilities in space flight."

It added that his performance "was marked by his great professional skill, his skill as a test pilot, his unflinching courage, and his extraordinary ability to perform most difficult tasks under conditions of great physical stress and great danger."

Glenn, grinning broadly, stated: "I can't express my appreciation adequately to be here in accepting this when I know how many thousands of people all over the country were involved in helping accomplish what we did last Tuesday."

Glenn Tells About Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Highlights of astronaut John Glenn's description Friday of his three-orbit flight around the earth last Tuesday:

"I don't know what you can say about a day in which you see four beautiful sunsets in one day — three in orbit and one on the recovery ship . . ."

"There was just no effect at all from zero G (weightlessness) in space. It was just very pleasant. It was a very pleasant experience all the way through. Someone told me they think I may be an addict to it. I probably am."

"As long as food is solid and you can hold on to it long enough to get it into your mouth, there's no problem."

"We can probably go on some future flights with considerably less automation, but we want to review a lot of the data much more thoroughly than we have so far. We've really hardly scratched the surface. Our efforts really haven't gotten us very far into space, if you think about it."

"That parachute on reentry was the prettiest little old sight you ever saw in your life. The capsule was pretty warm after reentry — very hot, in fact."

"I was sweating very profusely when I came down, so I remained very still to add as little heat load to it as I could."

"Obviously, I'd like to make another trip. You can become addicted to it rather rapidly."

SUI Founder's Day Brings Memories of 115 Years Ago

By NORM ROLLINS
Staff Writer

Registration was a breeze, costs were low, and classes small when the first regular session took up at SUI over 100 years ago.

The University Sunday marks Founder's Day, commemorating the charter creating the University Feb. 25, 1847. The first General Assembly of Iowa granted the charter about two months after Iowa had officially become a state.

However, classes at SUI, first called Iowa State University, didn't start until eight years later — March 5, 1855.

Registration was a very simple procedure at that time. The student, arriving on the campus, was interviewed by the President, who made sure the new student had a respectable room if he came from outside Iowa City.

Some areas of registration were still the same, however. The student was required to pay a fee before he could attend classes. The money bought a ticket admitting him to classes and concluded his registration.

Admission requirements included an age standard — 15 for boys and 14 for girls, plus an agreement that the student be present at his graduation.

Expenses ranged from $100 to $300 for the first students, depending upon how much he worked for his support. Tuition fees were $10 and room rent $3 a month.

Students formed clubs to reduce living expenses. The most popular of the early clubs was the Syntrapazone, with a membership of about 40. The club members split chores such as cutting fire wood, hauling water, and setting tables.

Dexter Edison Smith was the first graduate from SUI. He received a B.S. degree in 1858, the only graduate in his class. However, by 1887 the student body numbered 571.

Women were excluded from admission for instruction in the University for a short time during the last half of the 1850's. They were allowed to attend lectures, but could not get class credit.

The first Founder's Day wasn't celebrated until 1917, the 70th year of the University. Prof. Benjamin F. Shambaugh, head of the political science department and superintendent of the State Historical Society, was chairman of the celebration.

W. L. Harding, then Iowa Governor, and SUI President W. A. Jessup gave addresses.

Other early Founder's Day celebrations were held in the assembly room of the Liberal Arts Building, now Schaeffer Hall. No observances are planned for the 1962 Day.

Prowse Guarded Following Breakup

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Network guards were posted around NBC rehearsal stage Friday where Juliet Prowse prepared for her first TV appearance since her marriage to Frank Sinatra was called off.

A spokesman for the network said, "we've placed guards at all entrances and exits to protect Miss Prowse from photographers and newsmen."

Sinatra made no further comment about cancelling his marriage plans.

"A conflict in career interests led us to make this decision. We both feel it is wiser to make this move now rather than later," was dry-eyed.

Miss Prowse, according to friends, was dry-eyed and cheerful as she rehearsed dance scenes for a TV special to be aired late next month.

One Lesson Learned From Powers Incident

With the return of Francis Gary Powers the United States ended one of the most embarrassing episodes in its diplomatic history.

Our faces were red, not so much because we were caught spying, that is accepted, though not admitted, practice of all nations. Rather we were on the spot because we first lied about the flight, saying it was a weather reconnaissance mission, and then reversed that stand and admitted Powers was gathering intelligence data.

The reason for the mix-up was evident lack of judgment by at least two Government departments and publicity officers.

The first statement about the downed plane was issued, in good faith, by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and said an American weather observation plane had apparently gone astray near the Turkish-Soviet border. This was on May 5 after Premier Khrushchev had already identified the U-2 as a spy plane.

The State Department, on the same day, supported NASA's release, but the White House refused to comment. On May 6 Lincoln White, State Department Press Officer, was quoted as saying "there was no deliberate attempt to violate Soviet air space, there never has been."

The next day the stand was changed when the State Department admitted, in a statement cleared with President Eisenhower, that one of this country's planes equipped for intelligence purposes had "probably" flown over Soviet territory. When asked whether the pilot had been on a flight for the space agency, one State Department official said, "apparently not."

An obvious fact in the whole story, other than some high Government officials did not know about, or would not admit what they should have known about, is that the first NASA statement was premature. Even if the agency did not know its planes were spying or flying over Russian soil, wouldn't it be logical and safer, on receiving a report that one was down in Russia, to confer with the State Department whose job it is to handle such affairs?

And why did the State Department support NASA's statement when it evidently knew, after four years of the flights, that the U-2 was a spy craft, that we were caught, and there would be unquestionable evidence of spying? Simply, why did not the State Department refuse to comment until some definite policy and "line" had been established?

The incident is history now — Khrushchev has had his day, Powers is back home, and the United States has recovered from the embarrassment. Certainly everybody makes mistakes, but let us hope that responsible Government officials have learned from this one of the ill effects of releasing information before verification, without adequate knowledge of the subject, or that which is not true.

Forgot His Own

According to a recent report from Tokyo, Japanese people generally were deeply impressed by Robert Kennedy's self-possessing, untimid attitude when a Japanese leftist student heckled him and took over the stage at a meeting for Kennedy at Waseda University.

"Most of the Japanese people watched — with the feeling of appraisal — television news which showed President Kennedy's brother holding a microphone without any fear or timidity of the leftist student," a letter from Tokyo said. "The student looked like nothing but a fool or a madman."

The letter also said that editorials in Japanese papers the day after the incident mostly praised Kennedy for his confident attitude.

Although the incident may have left a bad aftertaste for Kennedy, it offered a good chance for him to show his bravery to Japanese people.

From ancient times, self-possession has been regarded as one of the most important virtues among Japanese people. Therefore, it is no wonder that Japanese applauded Kennedy for his self-possessing attitude.

The student lost the game because he forgot his own people's nature and tradition.

Outer Space a Pathway Toward a Better Peace

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND
The orbital flights around the world by Gagarin, Titov, and Glenn open unlimited vistas for science and man in far outer space.

However, the anxious and unanswered question is whether the road to the other planets — now so clearly at hand — is to be used for peaceful travel alone or to become the extended battleground for the arms race on earth.

Cosmonaut John Glenn's flawless orbit will be a boon to all mankind.

But if the Soviet Union will not soon agree with the United States and other nations to put a self-denying "no trespassing" sign on outer space, forbidding its uses for weapons of destruction, then these flights may well be the bane of all mankind.

The scientists now know that we can go anywhere. What we do not yet know is whether the men of earth are going to insist upon taking their weapons with them — or sending them on ahead.

CONCEIVABLY Glenn's magnificent performance and that of his ship will persuade the Soviet Union that the achievements of both our countries in space are sufficiently near each other now and in potential, so that the time has come to join in a permanent disarming of outer space.

Here, broadly, is where our two countries stand:
The Soviet Union — though the world has never been allowed to witness any of its launchings — is first and farthest in outer space.

The United States, with the whole world free to watch both failures and successes, is far in the lead in launching earth-orbiting space vehicles and in gathering new scientific knowledge valuable in many directions.

SINCE SPUTNIK went up on Oct. 4, 1957, the Soviets have launched 13 earth satellites. One of them circled the moon. Today only one of them remains in orbit and none is transmitting messages. Russia has landed a spacecraft on the moon.

The first U.S. earth satellite went into orbit Jan. 31, 1958. It is still in orbit. Altogether we have launched 69 earth-orbiting space vehicles. Thirty-three remain in orbit (we have three circling the sun) and many of them are still transmitting useful messages. We have also launched two "artificial" planetoids in orbit around the sun — as has the Soviet Union.

TITOV'S 10,000-POUND capsule orbited the earth 17 times in 25 hours and 18 minutes.

Col. Glenn's 3,000-pound capsule orbited the earth three times in 4 hours and 50 minutes.

There is no doubt that the way to the galaxies is finally going to be open to the men of earth. What is in doubt is whether we are going to be able to make outer space the common ground of peaceful men — or a battle ground for the cold war.

So far the Soviet Union has been reluctant, apparently much opposed to reserving outer space for exclusively peaceful purposes, to undertake any joint outer space explorations with other countries, and to sharing broadly the scientific data it gathers.

FIVE YEARS AGO the United States first put to the U.N. its proposal that all weapons be ruled off the course in all the outer space. We have offered a total sharing of all scientific knowledge. And in the 1960 legislation creating the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Congress specifically invited all countries to make common cause in space exploration.

These proposals have been repeated in recent months. Ambassador Stevenson has cited them at the U.N. Ambassador Thompson has discussed them with Foreign Minister Gromyko. Thus far the Soviets have kept saying no.

But there is still time and the decision is still open.

THE POTENTIAL of outer space exploration is staggering, breath-taking. A recent White House task force stated that interplanetary travel could now be taken for granted and boldly added that "planetary exploration may lead to the discovery of extra-terrestrial forms of life, and that this clearly would be one of the greatest achievements of all time."

But on this planet what a lift it would be to all people of all countries if Russia would join the United States in making outer space one pathway to a better peace.

How To Boost SUI's Cause

To the Editor:
It was unfortunate that many SUIowans were unable to hear President Hancher speak at the Wednesday evening meeting of Young Democrats and Young Republicans.

Dr. Hancher's 22 years of experience in manipulating SUI's fate gives him a rare insight into the multiplicity of vexing problems which face the University on campus and in its dealings with the State Legislature.

It would be well for all students to familiarize themselves with the University's history in regard to its role as a major state-supported institution. And it is indeed necessary to be aware of broadening needs — maintenance of high salary standards and an immense physical expansion in light of foreseeable enrollments of 20- to 30-thousand.

Already political leaders in Iowa are seriously discussing future tax levies and expenditures as though a firm line must be held on both. In fact expenditures, they say, may have to be lessened because of the dwindling surplus which was greatly absorbed by the 59th General Assembly appropriations. However, a highly competitive situation among large state universities allows for no cut in appropriations at this institution. Indeed, it demands nothing less than a great increase. Thus, legislators must be convinced to enlarge SUI's share of the pie, if a line on taxes seems imperative to them.

Students, as individuals and in campus groups, should be well prepared to aid in making known the story for higher education in Iowa. Student lobbying, presented in a competent and mature fashion, could make the difference.

One Scheme For Space

To the Editor:
In this day of resurgent and insurgent strict adherence to the idea of equality of opportunity regardless of race, creed and religion, let me suggest that we train more women to go up into space and allow them to do so now.

It would certainly be refreshing not only to the United Nations but also the whole world this organization represents to see all countries cooperating during this venturing age. The arrangement might be one of "its your turn go ahead, I had mine, or will have mine soon."

May I further add that perhaps a system of who goes first could be arrived at. For instance, one man, one woman, one Asian, one Englishman, one Buddhist, one Anglican, one Russian, one American could be the scheme. All this would probably be best to be on an alternating basis. Perhaps the one first year could be second or last the next year.

In this way it would seem as though the people of this planet could work towards the one big happy family concept and most of all cooperate for the future happiness and safety of all us earthlings.

Pedestrian Lights For Iowa Avenue

To the Editor:
The quickest means of fulfilling the need for a safe means of crossing Iowa Avenue at the east end of the bridge is to install a crosswalk with school stop lights to halt the traffic. The stop lights should be of the type which flash an amber light constantly except when a pedestrian desires to cross. By pushing a button the amber flash stop and the red light comes on, remaining on until the pedestrian has time to cross the street.

Pedestrian lanes would be painted across the street and warning signs erected at the proper distances. Although the lights would be flashing 24 hours a day, for the first several months police support would be necessary to break drivers of their dragstrip habits. This might seem like too many stoplights in the short distance, however, the distance between would be approximately the same as that downtown where traffic is much slower.
Petitions should be circulated among the users of the crosswalk with the purpose of obtaining the stoplights from the University and City.

Mountaineers Film

The Iowa Mountaineers will sponsor a travelogue, "Quest for Adventure," Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in Machride Auditorium. The film, narrated by Dr. Harold Murphy, well-known in yachting circles, is the story of a 10 month, 14,000 mile trip he and his crew took on a 65-foot yawl through the Panama Canal, across the Atlantic and into the Mediterranean.

Med Lecture Monday

Dr. George Day, an English physician and writer, will present a College of Medicine Lecture at SUI at 4:10 p.m. Monday in the Medical Amphitheatre.

"Pneuma: The Interplay of Mind, Body and Spirit" will be the title of the lecture. Dr. Day has been one of the notable exponents of the important inter-relationships of mind, body and spirit, or as it is sometimes called in this country, "psychosomatic medicine."

Classics Prof Wins

Peter D. Arnott, associate professor of classics at SUI, has won this year's national playwriting competition sponsored by the Drama Department of San Diego State College, San Diego, Calif.

A three-act tragedy-comedy set in a monastery in the Dark Ages, the play is titled "The Devil My Brother." It will open Mar. 8 at San Diego State College.

SUI Film on TV

Early realistic works of Pablo Picasso, filmed by SUI students, will be featured over television station KCRG (channel 9) Cedar Rapids, Monday, at 6 p.m.

The film, titled "Picasso: The Eyes of the Master," was made last year by speech students at the University's Television Center. Arthur Kibby, 1961 SUI graduate, conceived and directed the film, and music was improvised and performed by Dale Thomas, also a 1961 SUI graduate.

Sees Algerian Peace Soon

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle held emergency talks Friday with commanding generals of France's nine military regions in an apparent review of security precautions to frustrate any attempt at armed revolt when an Algerian cease-fire is proclaimed.

De Gaulle also met with his defense council, France's highest military body, and scheduled talks Saturday with nine Navy and Air Force regional commanders.

The government stepped up its security build-up as violence in Algeria hit a new peak, with a new victim of terrorist attacks falling dead every 20 minutes.

In Tripoli, the Algerian rebel national council debated in the second day of a fateful meeting on whether to ratify a cease-fire agreement negotiated with the French and already ratified by De Gaulle's Government.

The rebel council meeting was expected to last until Sunday night. French officials were confident that it would endorse the accord and that a cease-fire to end the seven-year-old war in Algeria might be proclaimed as early as next Wednesday or Thursday.

Rioting Moslems Attack Europeans

ALGIERS (UPI) — A mob of hundreds of Algerians threw up a road block in an Oran suburb Friday, ambushing and killing occupants of European cars. Thousands of police and soldiers clamped a daylight curfew on Arab suburbs to halt the outbreak of violence.

The ambushing caused a wave of fury among Europeans in the west Algerian port city.

"TAKE ME ALONG" wasn't the greatest musical comedy (by a clear and considerable margin) to hit the Broadway stage, but it had one or two distinctions. It was the vehicle which brought Robert Morse to attention prior to the stardom he now enjoys in "How To Succeed in Business Without Really Trying". It also had Walter Pidgeon singing (like a bird), Jackie Gleason and Una Merkel, old vaudevillians, and an occasional tune or two by Robert Merrill (not the Metropolitan tenor). As you may have guessed, "Take Me Along" will be The Musical today at 9 a.m.

RIGHT FROM THE HEART comes today's CUE at 10 a.m. For its three-hour duration, CUE will be devoted largely to activities in behalf of the Heart Fund.

YWCA Sale Nets $230

The YWCA auction of articles from India this week sold out early and netted $230.

Articles for the sale, sponsored by the YWCA Nation and World Committee, were donated by villages in India. The proceeds will be returned to the villages.

Due to the response there may be a similar sale arranged during Thanksgiving this year. Articles for the exhibition were received from the Whiting India Guilds Inc.

Silver and ivory work, as well as brass decorative pieces sold well. Other items were dolls dressed in native Indian costumes, two printed spreads, scarves and a hand-loom skirt.

Turkey Calm Following Vest-Pocket Rebellion

(Combined from Leased Wires)

ANKARA, Turkey — Calm returned to Turkey Friday after loyal Armed Forces snuffed out a vest-pocket rebellion by teen-age military cadets. Premier Ismet Inonu told the nation his Government was "in full control."

Inonu received a standing ovation from Parliament. The white-haired, 78-year-old Premier rose and nodded quietly to the more than 400 deputies from all political parties. They cheered him for more than three minutes.

The onetime general had stubbornly refused to give in to demands from mutinous army units that he step down and clear the way for a new military Government in Turkey.

A Government announcement

Friday said some 8,000 military cadets returned to the war school after regular army troops surrounded them and arrested the school commandant, Col. Talat Aydemir and other alleged revolt leaders.

Unofficial reports said at least 75 officers were arrested and that a high military court would be set up to try leaders of the rebellion. But most of the rebels were teenagers of 18 to 20.

The armed cadets and their school officers had marched from the college Thursday night with demands for changes in the constitution, dismissal of 200 parliament members and revocation of orders issued for the transfer of some officers at the school, including Aydemir.

Candidates Take Papers

DES MOINES — State Rep. Scott Swisher and Bruce E. Mahan, Iowa City Democrats, requested nomination papers Friday as candidates for the Iowa House.

Swisher and Mahan, former dean of the SUI Extension Service, had announced their candidacies earlier. Johnson County will have two representatives in the next legislature.

Swisher, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor, is an incumbent and Mahan is running for the first time.

Also requesting papers Friday was Robert Maggett, state superintendent of buildings and grounds, who plans to run for the state Senate from the 4th District. Maggett is an Afton Republican.

Iowa Seeks Revenge Against Wolverines

By HARRIETT HINDMAN
Staff Writer

Iowa's Hawkeyes, seeking revenge for the 56-55 last second loss at Ann Arbor Jan. 15, meet the Michigan Wolverines on the Field House court tonight at 7:30.

The Iowa foe is an unpredictable team. Its season record of 5-14, including 3-6 in the conference, is quite unimpressive, taken at face value. However, two of the three Big Ten wins were over Wisconsin, the only conference losses which the Badgers have suffered this season.

In the first Iowa-Michigan contest, the Hawkeyes led throughout the game, at times by a comfortable margin. But the Wolverines managed to come from behind and forward Tom Cole sank a free throw with one second remaining to give the underdogs the one point victory.

Iowa coach Sharm Scheuerman said Friday, "When we played Michigan last time, we had just played a real fine game against Minnesota on Saturday. Michigan hadn't won many games, and it's harder to get ready for Monday games anyway."

"I feel that the boys are up for this game, and will be ready to make amends tonight."

Michigan's 1-2-2 zone defense will be one of Iowa's major problems. The zone bothered Wisconsin and is especially effective if a team isn't hitting from the outside.

"We definitely expect Michigan to come out in a zone against us," stated Scheuerman. "We have been working against the zone at practice this week, and we feel we're ready for it."

"The basic purpose of the zone is to get better rebounding and to force a team to shoot from the outside. We realize that and that we'll do Saturday if the zone forces us to do so."

The outside shooting problem has hampered the Hawkeyes all season. But the situation has been somewhat improved as Matt Szykowny's and Joe Reddington's jump shots have started to drop. The Iowa guards played outstanding ball, both offensive and defensive, against Michigan State Monday. Szykowny had 14 points and Reddington 12.

High scoring Iowa center Don Nelson may be called on for some outside shooting. Nelson collected 20 points in the last Wolverine battle, only seven in the second half.

Tonight, Reddington will defend Bob Cantrell, whom Coach Scheuerman cited as an outstanding Wolverine. Cantrell, averaging 11.8 points, is a good outside shooter. Unlike most present day Big Ten teams, Michigan boasts a balanced offensive attack. Four men have averages in double figures, ranging from 12-15 points per game.

Starting for Michigan will be forwards Bob Brown and Tom Cole, center John Harris, an aggressive rebounder and a good shooter, and guards Cantrell and captain Jon Hall.

John Oosterbann, Michigan's leading scorer, will not be starting. Oosterbann is still a threat, however, as he came off the bench to score his average, 15 points, against Wisconsin.

Iowa will start the same five that started Monday. Co-captain Joel Novak and Doug Mehlihus will hold down the forward spots, Nelson will be at center, and Szykowny and Reddington at the guard positions. Dave Roach is expected to be one of Iowa's first substitutes.

Monday night Iowa fans will have a chance to see the Hawks battle Ohio State, the top team in the nation. Game time is 7:30 p.m. at the Field House.

The Buckeyes, featuring All-American Jerry Lucas, rolled past the Hawkeyes 89-63 at Columbus Feb. 5. Coach Scheuerman declined comment on the forthcoming game and said "We are hoping the fellows are not overlooking the Michigan game for Ohio State."

Ohio State, with an unblemished record of 20-0, will be trying for its twenty-seventh consecutive Big Ten victory when the Buckeyes meet Illinois in a regionally telecast game today.

Fencers Meet Chicago; OSU

The Hawkeye fencers will try to improve on their 1-6 season mark today when they cross blades with the University of Chicago and Ohio State at Chicago.

Last week the Hawks dropped three meets to Detroit University, Illinois and Wayne State at Detroit.

"We went into a fencing stronghold at Detroit," said Iowa Coach Achilles Nickles. "I think this week will be a different story. It should be a good tuneup for the Big Ten meet March 3."

Nickles will take two fencers from each weapon class to the conference championships to be held at Champaign, Ill.

Hawkeyes fencing in Chicago today and their weapon classes are: Lance Hellman, John Anderson, Fred Rugger foil; Larry Stoltenberg, Jared Tinklenberg, and Theon Baily — sabre; and Bob Peterson, Steve Melgaard, Steve Bryan — epee.

The Buckeyes have a .500 record so far and nothing is known about the Chicago U. squad.

AAU Contest Loses Uelses

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National AAU indoor track championships, already shorn of Ron Delany and Parry O'Brien, lost still another star attraction Friday when 16-foot pole vaulter John Uelses withdrew because he is not fully recovered from a bout with flu.

Delany, who had been scheduled to duel with Jim Beatty in the mile run, withdrew from the meet Thursday because of an injured Achilles tendon. O'Brien cancelled out a clash with new shot put record holder Gary Gubner of NYU because of a hand injury.

Up and Over

Tom Hertzberg, Iowa pole vaulter, made it over the 13 feet, 4 inches in the track meet at the Field House Friday night. But that wasn't high enough. Both Hawkeye pole vaulters fell out of the competition after clearing that height, and Gopher Dick Morrow set a Field House and meet record at 14 feet, 1 1/4 inches.

Iowa Tankers Lose 66-33 At Indiana

Powerful Indiana defeated Iowa 66-33 in a dual swimming meet at Bloomington Friday. The Hoosiers won 10 of 11 events. The only Hawkeye winner was Bill Meyerhoff in the 100-yard freestyle.

Indiana's Cary Tremewan, sophomore from Oakland, Calif., was the only double winner with victories in the 200-yard individual medley and 200-yard breaststroke.

In an exhibition swim during the meet, Mike Troy of Indiana, Olympic butterfly record holder, set an American citizen's record in the 400-yard freestyle. Troy's 4:21.9 compared with the record 4:22.1 set by Bill Chase of Yale in a NCAA meet last year.

Elgin Valley Out; New Girls State Champ Assured

Defending state champion Elgin Valley was eliminated Friday night in girls district basketball tournament action, assuring a new champion for 1962.

Elgin Valley was ousted 41-37 in a second-round game at Manchester by Monticello Sacred Heart, which led all the way.

Guthrie Center, one of last year's state finalists, rolled to its 21st victory in 23 games with a 69-55 conquest of East Union.

Bennett, top-ranked girls team in Iowa, smashed Olin 78-59 for its 25th straight victory in a headliner at Davenport. Olin's loss was only its third in 22 games.

KLUSZEWSKI SIGNS CINCINNATI (UPI) — Former Cincinnati Reds slugger Ted Kluszewski has been hired to the Crosley Broadcasting Corp. sports staff.

John T. Murphy, vice president in charge of television for Crosley stations, said Kluszewski's exact job will be determined later.

Kluszewski, Cincinnati restaurant owner, retired from baseball last year after a season with the Los Angeles Angels. He also played with the Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago White Sox after leaving the Reds in 1958.

Hawk Track Team Defeats Minnesota; Relay Record Set

By JERRY ELSEA
Sports Editor

Iowa's track team, led by distance ace Jim Tucker and a record-breaking mile-relay team, ran away from Minnesota's Gophers, 67-47, in a Big Ten dual meet in Iowa's Field House Friday night.

The Hawkeyes ran up the victory margin by winning seven of eight running events after the visitors dominated the field events.

Although the Hawkeyes already had the win by the time the mile relay was run, the foursome of Tom Egbert, Gary Hollingsworth, Jim Frazier and Roger Kerr supplied the high point for Iowa fans, turning in a 3:19.4 clocking.

The old Field House mark was 3:21.6 by Iowa's 1935 relay squad and the previous meet record was 3:21.2 by the 1959 Hawkeye squad.

Tucker, unbeaten in the mile and two-mile this season, was Iowa's high point scorer with 10 points. The lanky senior from Hampton won both events, but fell short of breaking the Field House mile record of 4:14.5. Tucker's Friday night time was a good 4:15.2.

Gary Fischer, who set up the pace for Tucker, placed second, a scant two-yards behind his teammate.

In the two-mile, Tucker and teammate Larry Kramer were challenged by Minnesota's Rod Lazorki but both Hawkeyes finished the 16-lap race well in front.

In the pole vault, Minnesota's Dick Morrow cleared the bar at 14-1 1/4, a meet and Field House record. The highest mark previously posted was 14-1 by Iowa's Gardner Van Dyke in 1957.

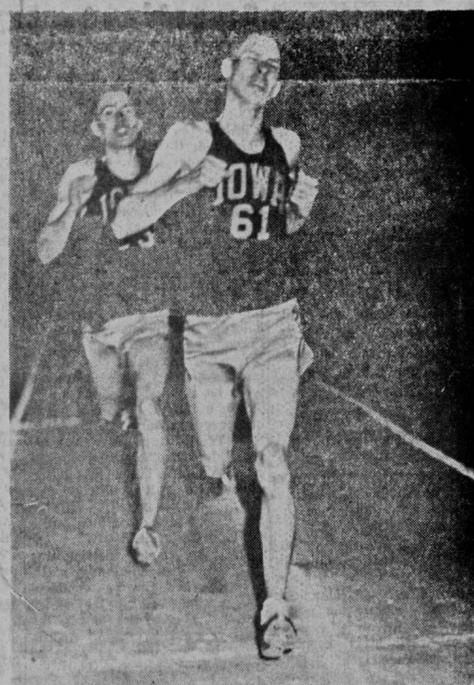

Hawkeyes Tom Hertzberg and Jim Eddins tied for third in the pole vault at 13-4.

Iowa's turning point in the meet came when the Hawkeye hurdlers won both the high and lows.

Hawkeye sophomore Bob Sherman ran the 70-yard highs in :08.7, which tied the meet record set by Minnesota's Dave Odegaard in 1960. Senior Jerry Williams was second with :08.8.

Hawkeye Roger Kerr supplied a minor upset in the 440 by beating Gopher Jim Fischer with a :49.7 clocking. Fischer, the outdoor Big Ten champ, had run under :49 in doors but turned in a :50.7 Friday night.

Iowa's Gary Fischer won as expected in the 800 but didn't top his Iowa indoor record of 1:54.9 set in 1961. Fischer's Friday night time was 1:55.5. Ralph Trimble, recov-

Tucker Wins Again

Iowa's Jim Tucker breaks the tape after the mile run in the Minnesota-Iowa track meet. Tucker's time was 4:15.2. Finishing second is Hawkeye Gary Fischer (left), whose time was 4:15.7. Cross-country All-American Tucker also won the two-mile run in 9:27.4, and was high point man for the meet with 10 points.

TAKES LOSING HARD

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Losing can become particularly hard in Indiana basketball.

After Selma lost to Harrison Township 65-44 in the annual high school sectional tournament Thursday night, Selma regular Larry Joe Wright was seen trudging along the highway to Selma, head down. Offered a ride by fellow students, Wright replied:

"No thanks. I played such a lousy game I'm going to walk home."

Gymnasts Face Indiana In Final Dual Meet

By GARY SPURGEON
Staff Writer

Iowa's gymnastics team winds up its dual meet portion of the schedule today against Indiana at 2:00 in the north gym of the Field House.

The Hawkeyes, who are 4-4 for the season, will be favored to raise their record above the :500 mark. Iowa coach Dick Holzhaefer said, "If we get some help from the injured men, we could win."

He was referring to George Hery and Roger Gedney. The two men have been sidelined the last two weeks with injuries. Hery, the team's leading scorer, has recovered from his chest injury and will compete against the Hoosiers.

Gedney, on the other hand, is still a doubtful performer. The Hawkeye senior has been plagued with a leg injury, which is still bothering him. Holzhaefer said that Gedney's availability would make a big difference, since he usually competes in four events.

In addition to Hery and Gedney, two other Hawkeyes may miss the meet. Jon Cada has been ill this week and his condition is still in doubt. Jon Boulton is temporarily ineligible and he may have to miss the meet.

Discussing Indiana, Holzhaefer said, "They have some good men, but I don't think they have the depth to be a real strong team. They have real good men in free exercise, the trampoline, and on the high bar." The Iowa mentor emphasized that these men were much better than average performers.

The Hoosiers have a mediocre 4-8 record, but Indiana coach Otto Ryser considers this the best team he has had since 1947. Ryser has already predicted that his team will place as high as fifth in the upcoming Big Ten meet.

Leading the Hoosiers is Jim Woodward, Woodward, a junior, was the team's leading scorer as a sophomore. He competes in free exercise, trampoline, still rings and tumbling.

In last Saturday's 75-37 loss to Michigan, Woodward was the only Hoosier to place among the top three places in any event. This included a first, two seconds, and a third.

John Burkel is another top notch performer on the Indiana squad. The 5-11 senior excels in the side horse and the horizontal bar. Before the season opened, Ryser called Burkel the best horizontal bar man in Indiana history.

Holzhaefer will have a 12 man squad on hand to face the Hoosiers. The squad includes Hery, Gedney, Boulton, Joe Roos, Hans Burchardt, Larry Snyder, Jim Liddell, Jon Cada, Russ Porterfield, Bob Schmidt, Ed Wilson, Drew Mawhinney and Keith Spaulding.

Following the Indiana meet, Holzhaefer will prepare his team for next week's Big Ten meet at Ohio State.
