Had Served On Council For 3 Years

City Officials Express Their Regret; Funeral Arrangements Pending

By KATHY SWIFT
Staff Writer

Dorr Hudson, Iowa City mayor, died at 7:42 p.m. Tuesday in University Hospital after suffering an acute cerebral hemorrhage at his home Tuesday morning.

Hudson, 52, was taken to Mercy Hospital at 8 a.m. Tuesday after he was stricken. Consultation by neurologists from University Hospital revealed that his condition was too grave for surgery at that time. He was transferred to University Hospital at 3 p.m.

Hudson had served as mayor since Jan. 2, when he was unanimously elected by the Council.

Several prominent Iowa Cityans expressed their regret at Hudson's death.

Mrs. Thelma Lewis, former mayor and present council member, said, "I can hardly express my personal regret and my sympathy for his family at the loss of Mayor Hudson. I am sure these are the feelings of all those in the city government who have worked with him.

"He was always patient, hard-working, conscientious, and cooperative as a councilman and in his brief term as mayor. The city has lost an able official and we have all lost a friend."

SUI President Virgil Hancher said, "I am deeply distressed to learn of the death of Mayor Hudson. He was a fine citizen of the community and an excellent friend of the University. He was a most sincere and competent councilman and mayor, and his death is a tragic loss to both the University and the community. I have enjoyed a personal friendship with Mayor Hudson since returning to Iowa City, and I consider this a deep personal loss as well as a loss to the University and community."

Fred Doderer, a councilman, was appointed mayor pro-tempore by Hudson two weeks ago.

"The Iowa City community has suffered a severe loss in the untimely death of Mayor Dorr Hudson. Mr. Hudson worked hard and seriously at the business of making Iowa City a better place to live and work," Doderer said.

"Each of us mourns the loss of a truly fine gentleman and a loyal friend of Iowa City."
"Mayor Dorr Hudson's death is a tragic loss to this community. His devotion to the community, his untiring work for its betterment and his wise judgment and counsel will be sorely missed," City Manager Peter Roan said.

City Councilman Max Yocum said, "I am terribly sorry to hear of this tragedy. I feel Mr. Hudson was doing a good job as mayor. I wish to extend my sympathy to his family."

Edward Lucas, former city attorney, said the remaining council of four will appoint a member to fill the vacancy left by Hudson's death. The five-member City Council will then elect a new mayor.

Hudson was elected mayor at the council's organization meeting Jan. 2. He was in the third year of a four-year council term to which he was elected in 1959. He took his seat on the council, the following January.

Hudson, a partner in the Hudson Insurance Agency here, received a degree in business administration and studied law at SUI.

Hudson served as president of both the Iowa City and the Iowa Associations of Independent Insurance Agents. He was past president of the Iowa City Rotary Club.

Hudson is survived by his wife, Madlyn, and two children, a son, Robert, and a daughter, Nancy. The family home is at 216 Lowell St.

Funeral arrangements are being made by Beckman's funeral home.

Senate OKs Anti-Poll Tax Amendment

Southern Split Ends 2-Week Tie-up; Bill Now Goes to House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, in a burst of speed, approved Tuesday a proposed constitutional amendment to outlaw the poll tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections.

The 77-16 vote, more than the required two-thirds majority, brought an abrupt end to a fight that had tied up the Senate for nearly two weeks.

Southern senators, usually united in opposition to civil rights measures, were split over the poll tax issue and did not undertake a full-scale filibuster to block action.

For 10 days, however, during which the Senate met for extra hours and virtually closed down its committee work, some of them had resisted preliminary motions with a barrage of lengthy speeches. But they called a halt late Monday.

The proposed constitutional amendment, one of two civil rights measures urged by President Kennedy, now goes to the House.

If approved there, it will have to be ratified by three-fourths of the 50 states to become effective. Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) was its chief sponsor in the Senate.

Two years ago the Senate approved the anti-poll tax amendment by a 72-16 vote as part of a package of three constitutional amendments, but the House took no action on it.

Only five states — Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia — still require voters to pay a poll tax in federal elections.

Before approving Holland's amendment, the Senate tabled and then killed by a 59-34 vote a move by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) to outlaw the poll tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections by legislation, rather than by constitutional amendment.

Holland's amendment first was substituted for a resolution that would make the former New York City dwelling of Alexander Hamilton a national monument.

This was done by voice vote, despite the objections southerners originally had raised to calling up the monument bill as a vehicle for getting the anti-poll tax amendment before the Senate.

Senate leaders resorted to this roundabout procedure because Holland's constitutional amendment had become stymied in the Senate Judiciary Committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.).

On the final vote, 15 Democrats and one Republican, Sen. John G. Tower of Texas, voted against the proposed amendment.

The Senate began to move after Southern senators subsided late Monday after conducting a 10-day talkfest against bringing up the proposal.

That's the view of John Schmidhauser, professor of political science and a member of the Johnson County Committee for Fair Representation. He disputed statements of others that Iowa is not affected by the high court decision.

Schmidhauser, a Democrat, indicated that legal action was considered to "challenge the inequities presently built into the Iowa Constitution as violating the equal protection of the laws clause of the federal Constitution."

He said that final enactment of the Shaff plan adopted by the 1961 legislature "would make more serious the inequities in the lower house of the General Assembly."

Schmidhauser's committee is successor to the Citizens Committee for Constitutional Convention.

He said city people should not take seriously any claims that the Supreme Court decision will not affect Iowa. That ruling held that complaints against unfair representations can be carried to the federal courts.

SUIowans Vote Today In All-Campus Election

Schantz, Critz Answer Attack On Platforms

By NORM ROLLINS
Staff Writer

Speaking before an unruly and noisy joint meeting of the Socialist Discussion Club and the Student Association for Racial Equality, two candidates in today's All-Campus elections answered charges leveled against their platforms.

Mark Schantz, student body presidential candidate, and Boyd Critz, vice-presidential candidate with Quentin Miller, answered charges that they haven't said anything during the last few weeks. At times the candidates couldn't be heard over the audience and were forced to stop speaking.

Schantz said "saying something" doesn't, in his mind, mean mud-slinging and sensationalism. "There are those who argue it's a part of campaigning, but it's not as far as I'm concerned."

"There are people who charge that I'm a candidate of a well-oiled machine," Schantz said. "I am not supported by John Niemeyer's friends, nor by the Des Moines Register, but there are various groups on campus that do support me."

Schantz said if organized support constitutes a "machine," then he's all for it. He cited various people in the dormitories and fraternities who were backing his campaign.

Answering a charge that he was a product of committees, Schantz said he has served on various committees, including the Committee on Student Life. He said he was in favor of forming some new committees, including a president's council and a lobbying group for the state legislature.

"There have also been charges that my platform doesn't say anything," Schantz said. "I think it covers the issues we could foresee at the time it was drawn up, and contains goals that can be accomplished."

Schantz said he didn't have the advantage of looking at the other platforms, because his was the first to be published. "I'm sure Quentin's father would be quite proud of his platform," Schantz said, "for it is really humorous."

Explaining his stand on discrimination, Schantz said he was against the classification clause which requires organizations to be classified according to discrimination policies.

"I want to make sure that any fraternity is free from all external pressures in pledging. And, if a fraternity has the desire to pledge a Negro or a member of any other minority group, they can without pressure from the national fraternity."

Schantz said one local fraternity cannot exert enough pressure on a national, but if fraternities within the Big Ten and Big Eight Conference joined in the effort, it would be a powerful voice.

Critz said the married students' issue was important because of so much disinterest in the Senate toward the married students.

"Niemeyer hasn't done anything about creating more interest in the married students. I asked him why, and he said, 'you know, Boyd, how I feel about resolutions not introduced to the Senate by myself.'"

ENDS SEGREGATION
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Six years after he declared segregation "morally wrong and sinful," Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel ordered Tuesday an end to segregation in all Roman Catholic schools in the vast New Orleans Archdiocese effective next fall.

LARRY FANE

Larry Fane-Chuck Coulter:

1. Founding of a married student's organization to deal with problems of high costs, low-quality University furniture, and University policies for married students.

2. Call for a more liberal University stand on discrimination, including a Senate Commission on Student Rights, minority group participation in Senate work, and constructive action against organizations which practice racial or religious discrimination.

3. To work with and lobby at the state legislature when University matters are considered.

4. Establishment of a freshman forum to focus on problems and ideas peculiar to freshmen.

5. Bid for the fall conference of the Big Ten Student Body Presidents' Conference and to raise for discussion regional problems.

6. Enforcement of University standards for off-campus housing.

7. Regular meetings for the Committee on Student Life with Student Senate members eligible for membership.

8. Revision of the Orientation program.

9. Support a Congressional bill concerning ROTC.

10. Continuation of the new Senate committee on the Peace Corps.

11. Organization of Project AID under a top-level planning group.

QUENTIN MILLER

Quentin Miller-Boyd Critz:

1. Move President Hancher into 5 So. Johnson, using the President's residence as a cultural center.

2. In lieu of a Union addition, invest money being spent on legal problems for new and adequate married student housing.

3. Hire Max Yocum to move the men's dorms to a point mid-way between the Pentacrest and the women's dorms.

4. Build parking lots on pontoons across the Iowa River and plant weeping willows along the banks for privacy.

5. Require four years of compulsory ROTC for women.

6. Union coffee at five cents a cup.

7. Formation of an SUI Twisting Society.

8. Decreases in married student housing rent.

9. Remove snow from streets in Married Student Housing, to be melted down for drinking water.

10. If victorious, have Ron Anderson push Miller to Cedar Rapids in a wheelchair, proceeds of $5 per mile to Project AID.

11. Coffee and coke machines in the library.

12. Splash-rail on the Iowa Avenue Bridge.

13. Undiscriminate against anti-discrimination discrimination.

14. Abolition of women's hours.

15. A campus humor magazine.

16. Student Government is a farce. Let's keep it that way.

17. Abolish Winter. There is a California.

MARK SCHANTZ

Mark Schantz-Larry Seufferer:

1. Executive leadership in achieving an effective united All-University Student Government.

2. Establishment of an All-University President's Council.

3. Give the student body an active voice in administrative, financial, and academic decisions concerning SUI.

4. Constructive action in eliminating discriminatory practices in fraternities, sororities, off-campus housing, and businesses.

5. Expansion of Project AID, with a goal of $25,000 by June 1, 1963.

6. Extended Union hours.

7. An expanded and more comprehensive orientation program.

8. Against compulsory ROTC.

9. Against any infringements on Academic Freedom.

10. Against inconsistencies in grading practices.

11. Against assigned letter grades for required physical education.

12. Splash-rail on the Iowa Avenue Bridge.

13. Undiscriminate against anti-discrimination discrimination.

14. Abolition of women's hours.

15. A campus humor magazine.

16. Student Government is a farce. Let's keep it that way.

17. Abolish Winter. There is a California.

To Elect Campus Officers, President

By NORM ROLLINS
Staff Writer

SUI students go to the polls today to elect a new student body president and vice president, and 25 other campus officers.

The polls will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and are located in 12 different areas on campus.

Polling places are in University Hall, the Field House, the Union, Medical Labs, Chemistry-Pharmacy-Botany Building, East Hall, east side of Old Capitol (weather permitting), Law Building, Schaeffer Hall, and Macbride Hall.

Three students will be at each poll to check ID's, issue ballots, and punch the registration certificate. It is essential that a voter present his identification card and registration certificate in order to vote.

The Statistical Service will be counting the ballots throughout the day, Chuck Miller, elections committee chairman said, and the results should be known early this evening.

The election this year is different from past elections. The presidential and vice presidential candidates are running on the same ticket. In past years, the vice president was elected from the Student Senate.

Four town men Senate representatives will be elected. Town women are eligible to elect two representatives, but only one candidate filed. Linda Davies, A3, Iowa City, is automatically elected.

Married students, entitled to four representatives, have only one candidate for the Senate, Michael Kelley, A3, Iowa City.

"The procedure for filling the remaining Senate seats will be by applications to the newly-elected Senate president," Miller said, "and the president will appoint the new representatives with the approval of the Senate."

Campus housing units set up their own slate of candidates, and elect Senate representatives in individual elections.

The elections will also fill vacated positions in Associated Women Students, Womens' Recreation Association, Board of Student Publications, Inc., Senior Class Officers, and Union Board.

Students eligible to vote for candidates are: undergraduate women for Associated Women Students' officers; juniors for senior class officers; liberal arts students for six Union Board members; Business Administration majors for two Union Board members; and all students for student body president and vice president.

Any girl who has participated at any time in a Womens' Recreation Association activity is eligible to vote for WRA officer candidates; town men for Senate representatives; and all students for Board of Student Publications trustees.

Ballots can be marked with either a pen or pencil, but only one ballot can be issued. If a student ruins a ballot he will not be given a second one. Write-in candidates will not disqualify the entire ballot, but they will not be considered.

Where there is more than one candidate for office, a voter cannot vote for more than the specified number, but he may vote for less than the specified number.

Campaigning today is at the candidates' discretion, but they must not campaign within buildings which house polling places, or within 50 feet of the buildings' entrances. All posted campaign materials must be removed by 4:30 p.m. tomorrow.

SUI President Virgil Hancher addressed the dinner. Daily Iowan Editor Phil Currie, A4, Mason City spoke for the students.

Former District Judge Shannon B. Charlton of Manchester, one of those present at the first Finkbine dinner in 1917, was an honored guest.

New Polio Vaccine Extends Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service announced Tuesday the licensing of Type III oral polio vaccine, the last of the series needed for protection against all three types of polio.

Types I and II were licensed last year, but were not recommended for general use because without the Type III vaccine they did not offer complete protection.

The newer vaccines are taken by mouth, rather than being injected by needle as is the Salk vaccine in general use.

Licenses for manufacture of the Type III vaccine were issued to two manufacturers.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry said the companies are Pfizer, Ltd., Sandwich, England, and Lederle Laboratories, Pearl River, N.Y.

Terry also announced that Public Health Service recommendations for use of the oral vaccine during 1962 will be made public shortly.

The Weather

Fair south, partly cloudy north today with some light drizzle likely extreme north this morning. Partly cloudy tonight with occasional drizzle northeast. Warmer over east and north but turning cooler tonight north and west. High 45 north to 70s south. Outlook for Thursday — mostly cloudy and colder.

Wednesday, March 28, 1962, Iowa City, Ia.

90 Honored At Finkbine Dinner Here

Ninty out-standing SUI male students were honored Tuesday night at the annual Finkbine dinner at the Iowa Memorial Union.

The students, chosen by heads of the University departments as most likely to succeed, joined 100 members of Omicron Delta Kappa national collegiate leadership fraternity, and men who had been honored in the past.

SUI President Virgil Hancher addressed the dinner. Daily Iowan Editor Phil Currie, A4, Mason City spoke for the students.

Polling Places

SUIowans will be able to vote at the following places in today's all-campus elections:

1. Schaeffer Hall, at the north and south ends of the floor numbered 100.
2. Macbride Hall, between the staircases of the floor numbered 100.
3. The New Law Building, across from the library.
4. The east side of Old Capitol — outside weather permitting.
5. East Hall, near the main entrance.
6. Chemistry-Pharmacy-Botany Building, immediately inside the main entrance.
7. The Medical Laboratories, across from the library.
8. The Iowa Memorial Union, in front of the Gold Feather Room.
9. The Field House, in the lower lobby by the trophy cases.
10. University Hall, across from the Office of Student Affairs.

An Endorsement For Mark Schantz

In a campaign almost totally lacking any really controversial issues, Schantz appears to have the most sound plans of action.

Schantz platform calls for "constructive action in eliminating discriminatory practices in fraternities, sororities, off-campus housing, and businesses." We feel the time for effective action by the Student Senate in this field has long been overdue. Schantz' plan has greater merit than the other two candidates' proposals.

Specifically, Schantz has said he is against the classification of fraternities and sororities on the basis of whether they have a discriminatory clause and whether the organization is doing anything about existing clauses. He is also against the proposed 1963 deadline for elimination of any discriminatory clauses.

A far more logical approach to the problem of discrimination in Greek housing units has been advocated by Schantz in his campaign. He proposes to work with Greek organizations and student governments on other Big Ten and possibly Big Eight campuses to present a united front against national Greek organizations which do have discriminatory clauses.

The Daily Iowan thinks this plan would be effective in eliminating the clauses in national constitutions and stands wholeheartedly behind Schantz in working to realize this goal.

Quentin Miller, in his campaign, has called for action by the University to grant individual fraternities local autonomy in cases where the national organization retains its discriminatory clause. We would point out that many fraternities and sororities at SUI could not survive financially without support from the national organization. We believe the mere granting of local autonomy could destroy a local organization here and would constitute an important loss to the University.

The third candidate, Larry Fane, suggested that writing national fraternities, and sending referendums to fraternities on other campuses would be a step in the right direction to eliminate discrimination. The proposal has some merit, but we feel united opposition from strong houses and student governments in the Big Ten and Big Eight, which Schantz proposes, would be more effective. The voice of the student government on just one campus would be much less effective.

Schantz's proposal for the expansion of Project AID to $25,000 by June 1, 1963 also has considerable merit. Critics of this proposal have pointed out that the proposed sum is astronomical compared to what has been done in the first year of Project AID. We feel with more cooperation between Greeks and Independents, the goal can be more nearly realized. With an Independent as a running mate, added to his determination to bridge factional splits within the Senate and the University, Schantz has a broad base from which to work towards the $25,000 goal.

We endorse his plan for an all-university Presidents Council. Such a council could eliminate many of the problems of communications now existing among the multitude of campus organizations. The council could provide an effective sounding board for disagreements among certain organizations and also would help create a closer unity among all organizations. Such a council could also be a strong voice behind the Senate in matters of student-administration disputes.

Schantz has also proven his practical approach to problems in the area of lobbying the State Legislature. Before proposing any sort of lobby, he discussed the matter with one of the legislators — Verne Lisle, who has been House Majority Leader. The fact that Schantz took the initiative in arranging this meeting and his subsequent proposals for exerting local pressure on individual legislators speaks for itself. We feel continuous work and cooperation with the members of the Legislature is a much more realistic approach to the problem than a one day lobbying trip to Des Moines.

We agree with Schantz on his stand against any infringements on academic freedom at SUI. We feel the Student Senate and other organizations should work to bring speakers such as Robert Welch and Danny Rubin to SUI more often. These speakers should be accorded the same privileges and facilities as any other speaker. We would also oppose any infringement by the university administration on the rights of SUI faculty members to state views contrary to University policy or on any controversial subject.

Schantz has been Orientation General Chairman, a member of the Committee on Student Life, and active in various other areas of student government. We feel his qualifications from the standpoint of experience cannot be challenged. He also has the respect and has had the cooperation of many other student leaders. This will give the student government at SUI a degree of unity it has been lacking, and will make the Senate much more effective.

As one of the candidates has stated, student government is a farce. But it need not be a farce. It can serve an effective, responsible, and powerful function on this campus. The Daily Iowan feels that under the leadership of Mark Schantz and with the cooperation of the Student body, SUI's student government can move rapidly towards the position it should rightfully fill. —The Daily Iowan

Vision of De Gaulle Saving France, Western Alliance

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The architect of the Algerian peace — and of the end to the civil war which has bled France and Algeria alike for seven years — is Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

So great a feat is the Algerian settlement that some want to call it a miracle.

Unless Gen. de Gaulle is himself a miracle, the Algerian peace is no miracle. It is President De Gaulle's gift to the Republic of France, to all the Algerian people, and to the free world.

IT WOULD NOT have been possible without his vision and his courage and his mystical confidence that most Frenchmen were prepared to march with the tide of history — and not resist it.

It could not have been negotiated without De Gaulle. It could not be implemented without De Gaulle. He is the chosen instrument of history, and the French people chose him at the right time to do the right thing in the only way possible. The Secret Army Organization, that group of the French military which would be willing to bury the Fifth Republic in order to preserve French domination of Algeria a little longer, can add more bloodshed. But I am convinced it is on the losing side.

The vision of De Gaulle is not only saving France, it is saving the whole Western alliance.

For France to have failed to bring peace to Algeria would have split the heart of the Western defense community. It would have torn France apart and torn NATO apart.

IT WOULD HAVE done more. It would have enhanced the power of Communism in France; it would have given birth to a Moscow-directed "common front" with French Leftists, which in turn would have begot a Fascist response. French democracy would have been ground in the middle.

De Gaulle has always lived in times when the worst is near at hand. He is continuing to prevent it and the end is in sight.

It is ironic that De Gaulle is doing today what he least wishes.

If he really could have his own way, he would not be liquidating the French empire. And he would not be a co-builder of a developing United States of Europe. In the last analysis Gen. de Gaulle is ruled by his reason more than by tradition or instinct. He knows that in doing both of these things he is walking with history — and that if he does not walk, history will march on, leaving him and France behind.

THE ECONOMIC consequences of the West's rapid abandonment of empire since the end of World War II constitutes one of the paradoxes of history. They also constitute an additional disproof of one of Lenin's favorite "scientific theories."

Lenin was not alone in his theory; Cecil Rhodes held the same view — that if the imperial powers gave up their vast far-flung colonies, willingly or unwillingly, the mother countries would be ruined, that the capitalist system would be unable to survive.

What has happened? The empires of the Western powers are gone. And today Britain, France, the Netherlands, West Germany, Italy are more prosperous than they were at the peak of empire. The capitalist system is stronger than it has ever been. The standard of living of the people enjoying competitive enterprise is higher than it has ever been.

MARX AND LENIN have thus been proved wrong again, and victims of Soviet imperialism must hope that the Russian colonialists will catch up with reality.

One of the incentives which may well help persuade the Algerian people to retain their voluntary association with France is the pull of the European Common Market. Algeria needs to be inside the Common Market where it can reap the economic benefits of intra-European trade.

"If we want our independent Algeria to be financially sound," Information Minister Mohammed Yazid remarked recently, "we had better arrange to get inside it."

This is additional evidence that the European Common Market is a momentous initiative for the free world.

Beware If California's Wrath Is Incurred

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The "No California" campaign has since been discontinued by the Iowa Outdoor Advertising Association, but before it was, the (Little Rock) Arkansas Gazette published this sparkling comment on the campaign.)

"I-o-way, I-o-way, "That's where the tall corn grows. "On the theory that the corn grows even lusher in the copy-writing purities of Hollywood Boulevard, the Iowa Outdoor Advertising Association now has adopted a banner with the brave device — "THERE IS NO CALIFORNIA. STAY IN IOWA!"

A spokesman explained that the "adjective-count" in California advertising is so high that the Iowa Association finally came to the conclusion that such a place couldn't be for real.

No California? It is an intriguing thought, but one that is no more in touch with the realities of life than was the New York Sun's Francis Pharcellus Church when he wrote his celebrated "Yes, Virginia" answer to the little girl who wanted to know whether there really was a Santa Claus.

No, California exists all right, and while the Iowans' efforts to prove the contrary appear doomed to failure, we know of no one better equipped to try.

Iowa is a citadel of the old pioneer Middle Western virtues, the home of Bourke B. Hickenlooper, of the frugal Amana sect and (until he moved to California) Herbert Clark Hoover.

Iowa, moreover, has had plenty of provocation for attempting to turn the worm. Long before the first Okie or Arkie moved to California with John Steinbeck, emigrants from Iowa provided the principal targets for jest by second-generation Californians "pretending to more or less direct descent from Father Junipero Serra, or at the least, from the early hidalgos.

Indeed, if California weren't so anxious to take over the nation's population lead at the earliest possible date, we shouldn't be at all surprised to see its skilled publicists counter the Iowa canon with an equally blunt billboard campaign built around the theme, "HAWKEYE, GO HOME!"

Mr. Hoover accepted, naturally. —Arkansas Gazette

On Other Campuses

By ERIC ZOECKLER Staff Writer

The town of Albuquerque and the entire state of New Mexico has been seething in controversy the past two weeks over a decision by the University of New Mexico faculty senate to urge repeal of the National Defense Education Act Disclaimer Affidavit.

In short, the UM faculty is against the idea of the grantees of NDEA loans being forced to sign a loyalty oath which reads:

"I do not believe in and am not a member of and do not support any organization that believes in or teaches the overthrow of the United States Government by force or violence or by any illegal or unconstitutional means."

Editorially the New Mexico Lobo, UM's campus newspaper, ZOECKLER said the disclaimer affidavit "is not merely a relic of McCarthyism . . . it is symptomatic of a paranoid disease sapping the soul and will of the American people."

But the New Mexico Board of Regents, Governor and Albuquerque's Tribune and Journal think differently.

Gov. Edwin L. Mechem said in a public statement that he supports the stand of the Board of Regents favoring the disclaimer.

The two town newspapers were subtly accused by the Lobo of gearing its news stories in support of its editorial views. However, in reporting Gov. Mechem's stand, the Lobo itself told the story in two paragraphs and then devoted the rest of the column in listing various leaders who oppose the disclaimer, as does the Lobo.

Sound confusing and maybe a little ridiculous? Well, the controversy still reigns down there with no concrete moves made by the University. Wonder if it will come to Iowa?

IF YOU'RE SICK of writing Letters to the Editor and want to extend your sphere of influence, think about this new creation at the University of California, Berkeley.

The executive committee of the student government there has approved the use of the Student Union plaza to be used as an open forum for speaking, in the tradition of New York's Hyde Park.

Any faculty member, student or University employe is free to bring his soap box down to the plaza at any time, get up and argue or plea as loud and as much as he likes — on any subject. Hyde Park, in Greenwich Village of New York City, has been used this way for many years.

The forum was wanted so badly that the California Daily, in a front page editorial, commended all those who had a part in the passage of the motion.

EVERYONE THINKS Iowans are a "little old fashioned" when it comes to the liquor by the drink question.

Just for the record, University of Nebraska's Student Council defeated a resolution favoring liquor by the drink in Lincoln, 29-1. Again, for the record, we're not the only ones.

UNCLE SAM HAS set up a new recruiting office at the University of Missouri. It's a bar, and works this way:

Under-age students found guilty of attempting to buy liquor with a falsified draft card will probably get a one-way ticket to boot camp.

Officials believe that "if a boy is smart enough to be in college and foolish enough to use a falsified card, he is ready for immediate induction."

WANT TO BUY a college campus?

Texas Wesleyan is for sale at $1 per square inch. The sale is being conducted to raise money for a new building. But the deeds you'll receive don't carry any real title rights.

SUIOWANS PAID $2.50 to see a fine concert by the Lighthouse at the Iowa Memorial Union recently.

Friday Iowa State students will see the same group, singing the same music, etc., but for only 75 cents a ticket.

UNIVERSITY OF Oklahoma was Green for a Week.

Four editions of the Oklahoma Daily, light bulbs, shirts and flags, all of greenish hue marked the observance of Engineer's Week there. Pledges of Sigma Tau, engineering honorary fraternity, sparked the celebrations by placing green light bulbs in every light fixture on one side of the campus.

There was no mention of a bargey stone or beads, however.

Minneapolis Symphony — Ended Too Soon — A Vivid Performance

By JUDY SULECKI Written for The Daily Iowan

To the delight of an enthusiastic, receptive audience in the Iowa Memorial Union Monday evening, Stanislaw Skrowaczewski — a conductor of vivid projection — led the spirited Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra in three works.

Skrowaczewski, who directs with an incisive sense of style, is a flexible conductor. He handled the varied compositions with notable sensitivity and intensity. The concert is memorable for his flexible, penetrating management of this polished orchestra.

THE PROGRAM OPENED with the Overture, "The Roman Carnival" by Berlioz. The strings responded with fine tone, clear execution, and deft shadings. The solo passage by the English horn in the beginning of the composition was moving for its exactness and interpretation. The instrumentation in this high-powered overture was handled with judicious taste, and the spirited finish displayed the skill of the orchestra as well as the conductor.

Skrowaczewski, an individualistic conductor is the sixth music director of the orchestra. He carries on the tradition of former great conductors of this outstanding symphony. The qualities of his magnetic personality are captured in the use of his hand. The unrelenting intensity and explosive drive of this symphony orchestra is controlled at all times by his conducting. As the evening progressed, it was evident that he could handle the most demanding piece with flawless skill.

THE ORCHESTRA demonstrated its capability of producing tones of rapture and sadness in Lutoslawski's Concerto for Orchestra. The work, which was first performed in 1954, may have sounded dissonant at times to listeners; however, the myriad of sounds displayed the interplay of the sections and solo instruments of the orchestra.

In the Capriccio, the rippling of the woodwinds was accentuated by the flutter-tonguing of the flutes. In the third movement, consisting of several tempos, the listener was drawn into a forest of sounds. Different sections of the orchestra, disembodied from the whole, displayed the performers' ability to handle difficult passages. This was notable in the first violins' technique in the highest register of the instrument.

BRAHMS' "SYMPHONY No. 4 in E Minor" proved to be the highlight of the evening's concert. The exceptional skill of Skrowaczewski and the experienced playing of the orchestra was evident. The symphony is marked by a style of searching expressiveness and phrasing. Under the baton of Skrowaczewski, the ornamented thematic material was heightened by a forceful interpretation.

The warmth and gentleness of the slower movement was balanced against the energetic third movement. The melodies flowed as the stringed instruments weaved phrases. The woodwinds replied in clear, sonorous tones.

THE CONCLUSION CAME too swiftly for the attentive audience Monday evening, as the demand for encores resounded throughout the hall. Skrowaczewski, who is adept at conducting and has molded the symphony into a unified, rich body, responded with a selection from Prokofiev's "Romeo and Juliet."

The effortless technique and variety of instrumental tone color by the Minneapolis Symphony was coupled with Skrowaczewski's magnetic conducting. Skrowaczewski, who directs with innate feeling, and long experience, brings a fresh interpretation to familiar as well as new compositions. It was an evening long to be remembered.

Unchallenged Long Enough

Farmers account for 14 million out of the 185 million population in the United States. That's 8 percent. We have food overabundance.

More than half of Russia's total labor force is engaged in food production — and there is a pronounced scarcity. The Russians aren't starving but they're living on a poor diet.

These figures should be called to the attention of those who are inclined to believe that Communism has something that should be copied by the free world. That claim has gone unchallenged for too long.

Do You Want To Entertain Formally or Informally?

Follow your own wishes here. Both kinds of entertaining are perfectly acceptable. If anything, there is a trend toward informal dining. Dansk designs will serve you well in all three ways. They are extremely versatile. These "Flamestone" pieces, for example, can look as classic as Greek culture on a formal table. Yet take them out to the patio, and they seem to soak up the relaxed, outdoor feeling.

U.S. Summary Discloses Cuba Military Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba has been converted into one of Latin America's most formidable military powers with an estimated $100 million in aid from the Soviet Union and other Communist nations, the United States said Tuesday.

But Cuba apparently has no missiles and no Communist-supplied bombers.

A State Department summary on Cuba's military progress, issued in response to requests, stated the Cubans now have some high performance MIG 19 Soviet fighters and a 300,000-man ground force with armored power that includes heavy tanks and antitank equipment.

The report noted that antitank weapons were "virtually unknown to other Latin-American countries in the Caribbean area."

The estimate of Communist arms delivered in the last 18 months included:

Fifty to 75 MIG jets; 150 to 250 medium and heavy tanks, 50 to 100 assault guns, 500 to 1,000 field artillery pieces, 500 to 1,000 anti-aircraft artillery guns, 500 mortars, 200,000 small arms, some patrol vessels and motor torpedo boats.

But the statement added, "There is no evidence that the Soviet Union has supplied Cuba with missiles, or that missile bases are under construction." No known Soviet bombers have been delivered either, it said.

The military deliveries have come primarily from the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia. They began arriving after the visit of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan to Cuba in February 1960, the State Department said.

REDS STUDY NICKEL

HAVANA (AP) — Soviet engineers have arrived to study sites for two nickel ore processing plants costing about $259 million, the newspaper Revolution reported Tuesday.

Town Men Candidate Platforms

Below are platforms of the candidates for SUI Town Men representatives.

LARRY DICK:

1. Solving the integration problem by enforcement of present rules and regulations.
2. Reach a solution on student parking problems and attempt to improve union parking facilities.
3. Plan a vacation of some length during the second semester of each school year.
4. Abolish compulsory ROTC.
5. Strengthen intramural activities to promote general physical fitness.
6. Establish new, more effective methods of allocating football tickets.
7. Allow freedom of hours for women over 21 if a satisfactory plan can be worked out with the housing units.

SEYMOUR GRAY JR.:

1. Lower student costs by raising pay for student employees, working for a more effective student book exchange, and establishing co-operative housing units.
2. Work to abolish racial and religious discrimination and include the establishment of a committee to annually investigate the university off-campus housing situation and to investigate reports of discrimination. Allow no organization, which has in its constitution any clause that discriminates on the basis of race or religion, to be sanctioned by the university.

3. Removal of faculty members from the Board of Student Publication, Inc. Also establishment of a daily column in which student opinion or various topics could be discussed.

4. Complete abolishment of compulsory ROTC.
5. Abolishment of the right of campus police to enter student unapproved off-campus housing to search for liquor.
6. Lowering parking tickets to a $4 standard fine.
7. Continuance of project AID.

JIM KELLEY:

1. Promotion of stronger and more effective student government.
2. Creation of an active and effective Town Men's Association.
3. Study and take positive action to get benefits for peacetime veterans.

4. Obtain more reasonable and less costly parking privileges for off-campus students.

5. Eliminate letter grades in physical education and ROTC.
6. A survey and revision of the judicial set-up at SUI to relieve the SUI Administration of disciplinary tasks, and to make procedures and punishments uniform.
7. Establishment of an efficient lobby to the state legislature.
8. Obtain better seating for students at University athletic events.

CHUCK PELTON:

1. Institution of a Senate-City Council to discuss problems of students — especially those living off campus — with city councilmen. The Committee would include three students, one a Senate member, and would attend the meetings of both governing bodies.
2. Student Senators be allowed a maximum of three regular Senate meeting cuts without an alternate, and not more than three cuts with an alternate per year or action will be taken for replacement.

3. Investigate the possibilities of starting the academic year earlier and ending it earlier, and having a spring vacation by shortening Christmas vacation and adding these days to an Easter vacation.

4. Recognize that Chapter III, Section IX of the Code of Student Life went out in effect when the 21st Amendment to the U.S. Constitution came in. Particular reference is made to unapproved off-campus and married student housing.
5. Continue informal Senate meetings and consider Committee of the Whole meetings.

6. Support the Union addition — opposition to this proposed structure is a block to Iowa's progress.

7. See about getting a traveling Herky Hawk Pep Wagon built that will accompany our football team to other campuses.
8. Establish a Student Safety Committee to investigate and propose remedies for automobile and pedestrian hazards; and investigate safety conditions in all off-campus housing, rate the housing, and force minimum standards.

JAMES ROGERS:

1. If elected, establish a "polling procedure" among the Town Men to better ascertain their wishes, and to use this method so that I might more effectively represent my constituency.
2. Re-establishment of a Town Men's Organization to serve as a forceful spokesman for them on campus.

3. Improve the delivery of The Daily Iowan in off-campus areas, including the establishment of a system for delivering misses.

4. Abolish the regulation that allows the University to inspect unapproved off-campus housing for intoxicating beverages.
5. Abolition of all regulations that restrict who may live in unapproved housing.
6. Ask that the policy of requiring "A" stickers for all student cars and the ensuing regulation fee be eliminated.
7. A reduction of Union prices and an improvement of its services, particularly the food section.
8. Publication of the final exam schedule prior to registration.
9. Better student seating at football games.
10. Addition of coke and coffee machines in the Library lounge.
11. Re-establishment of late minutes within the present system of women's hours, and the elimination of hours for all women over 21.
12. The abolition of grades in required physical education and ROTC courses.
13. Improve the student book exchange to help lower student costs.
14. Establish a student lobby in Des Moines through the offices of Mr. Hickerson of the alumni and Representative Scott Swisher of Iowa City.
15. Place a time limit on consideration by the administration of resolutions passed by the Student Senate so that the student voice is not lost in administrative delays.
16. Investigate the possibilities of enlarging the Student Senate to about 30 members in order to procure fairer representation for all the electorate.
17. Generally, to promote student welfare, particularly the interests of Town Men, through the outlined program and by acting as directed throughout the year on any new issues that might arise.

9. Shortening of Christmas break, to be compensated for by the establishment of a spring recess.

10. Obtain lower food prices at the Union.

RICHARD L. PALMER:

1. Extension of women's hours, and a more realistic and universal judicial code concerning their enforcement.
2. Strict legislation and enforcement of anti-discrimination policies on or off-campus.
3. Search for a solution to lower the high rents charged for apartments in Iowa City.
4. Improvement and enlargement of Project AID.
5. Better cooperation between the Senate and the Office of Student Affairs.
6. Abolishment of compulsory ROTC.
7. A real spring vacation at Easter, instead of just a long weekend.

STEVE SPIKER:

1. An enforced policy concerning higher standards of facilities in off-campus housing and enforcement of policies concerning discrimination therein.
2. An investigation of student parking problems.
3. Installing the former policy of late minutes while retaining the present women's hours. Also, no hours for women over 21.
4. An investigation of high prices of food in the Union.
5. A grading system that would act as an incentive for higher achievement and as a reward for this achievement better than our present system. This could be accomplished by the use of plus and minus grades.

ROYCE TOMSON:

1. Back proposals to have the University abolish all off-campus discrimination, both in private housing and fraternities. The University should not list or support any segregated housing and such housing should not be advertised in The Daily Iowan.
2. Abolish compulsory ROTC as has been done at Iowa State University.
3. Abolish hours for all women over 21, no matter where they live.
4. No University entrance into an apartment unless by the occupant's consent. This applies to approved and unapproved apartments, since all these students are over 21.
5. More free Union movies on Sunday night.
6. Resist administration attempts to control The Daily Iowan as may happen when the administration concludes its report on the newspaper.
7. Have the Student Senate have more influence on the Code of Student Life. Raise student representation on the Committee on Student Life.
8. Investigate the possibility of lowering prices of food and recreation at the Union.

Kid Paret Shows 'Very Slight Improvement' — Still Critical

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press International

NEW YORK — Doctors at Roosevelt Hospital announced Tuesday night that there is a "very slight improvement" in the condition of Benny (Kid) Paret, who is in critical condition after last Saturday night's savage beating at the hands of Emile Griffith in their welterweight title fight.

Harold G. Petersen, a spokesman for Roosevelt Hospital where Paret has been in a coma since Saturday night, said, however, that the 25-year old Cuban boxer "still remains critical."

"His coma has lessened," said Petersen. "Paret is making purposeful movements with his arms. It was the first official statement from a hospital official that Paret might survive the brain injuries which he received when he was battered into a helpless hulk at 2:09 of the 12th round of their scheduled 15-round title bout at Madison Square Garden."

Earlier in the day, the New York state Athletic Commission released a report that cleared referee Ruby Goldstein of all guilt. Goldstein had been accused by the Paret camp of letting Paret take an unnecessary beating.

But the commission report said that Goldstein acted "in good judgment in stopping this contest when he did."

The commission also declared that physical examinations had shown Paret to be "in excellent physical condition for this contest."

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who had demanded the report from the commission, released it to the press in Albany, N.Y., and commented fully. "I and my staff are giving full consideration to the report."

Although middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, who gave Paret a severe beating in a bout three months ago, has stated Paret must have been in a weakened condition after that fight, the New York commission reported:

"As it appears from the report of our medical department and our physician, Benny Paret was in excellent physical condition for this contest."

The commission defended its selection of the veteran Goldstein as referee, pointing out he "has had over 30 years of experience in boxing, including 20 years of experience as a professional referee, and he has officiated at a great many world championship professional boxing contests."

The report said, "his reputation, ability, and integrity are above reproach."

Goldstein's actions were defended in the report by both judges of the fight, Frank Forbes and Tony Rossi. Forbes said that, until the sudden explosive moment of the knockout, there "had been no indication until that moment that Paret had been unable to defend himself."

Rossi said, "I think the referee jumped in at the right time to stop the fight when Paret could not defend himself."

Dr. Alexander Schiff, ring physician, also said there had been no indication earlier in the bout that Paret was hurt.

Goldstein said he had his eyes "glued on the action."

"I soon got the feeling that Paret would be unable or was unable to defend himself and at that very moment I yelled out once or possibly twice, 'Hold it, hold it.' This is just simultaneously with my throwing my arms around Emile Griffith and restraining him from throwing further punches."

Campaigns To Abolish Boxing Develop in California, N.Y.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund Brown attacked professional boxing as a "dirty, rotten, brutalizing" sport Tuesday and said he would like to see it abolished.

Brown made the statement in the wake of the Benny (Kid) Paret-Emile Griffith world welterweight championship fight in which Paret was critically injured in New York.

But the governor had two versions of what should be done: — He told reporters in San Francisco that he expected there would be introduced in the 1963 state legislature a measure to abolish the sport.

— And later he issued a statement from his Sacramento office saying: "I have no plans at this time to ask for the abolition of boxing in California, where I think the sport is handled as well as it can be."

After Brown was quoted as saying he would seek legislative action in 1963 to abolish boxing, Jack Urch, executive officer of the state Athletic Commission, pointed out that the legislature could not abolish boxing.

Urch said that the sport was legalized in 1924 by a vote of the people on an initiative measure and it would take a people's ballot to abolish the sport again.

Brown said he would not place the subject of professional boxing on special call before the current budget session of the legislature. He also said he did not intend to ask for the abolition of amateur boxing.

There was one death in California boxing in 1960. That was Harry Campbell of San Jose State, an Olympic games star, who died after a bout in San Francisco.

Boxing men immediately came to the defense of their sport.

At Los Angeles, the venerable boxing figure, Archie Moore, preparing for a bout Friday night with Alejandro Lavante, declared: "A boxer who is properly conditioned and knows how to defend himself is in a lot less danger of getting hurt than persons in many other sports. Boxing has given a lot of deserving youngsters a chance to make something of themselves and provide for their families."

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A new effort to outlaw boxing in New York state was launched Tuesday night in the legislature, where a plan to establish a welfare fund for needy boxers and wrestlers had received Assembly approval earlier in the day.

Sen. Thomas J. Mackell (D-Queens) submitted a bill to abolish what he termed "the unwholesome, revolting and harmful profession" of boxing.

The developments came as Benny Paret lay near death from injuries suffered in a welterweight championship fight Saturday night.

The welfare plan, approved in the Assembly 85-61 and sent to the Senate, would provide up to $500 to pay for medical and other expenses — including funeral services.

The fund would be financed through a 1 per cent assessment on net proceeds of all fighting and wrestling exhibitions, and on the purses won by participants.

Meanwhile, in Tacoma, Wash., Dr. Charles P. Larson, president of the National Boxing Association, said that boxing, "the only true international sport," must not be annihilated because of the Benny Paret tragedy.

The Tacoma pathologist noted that "throughout the world the panic button has been pushed" because of the serious injury Paret suffered in his fight with Griffith.

"Boxing is sick, to be sure," he said, "but to kill the patient because he is sick is certainly wrong. A major airplane crash does not call for condemnation of the whole industry."

"A cure is possible with patience. I hope we can now get along with the job to the end that the only true international sport is preserved from emotional annihilation."

Larson noted that only a month ago the Boxing Education and Research Foundation was incorporated to thoroughly study and arrive at solutions for boxing's ills.

He said a uniform safety code involving all aspects of health and safety for fighters has been given a top priority.

Bud Davis Offered Colorado Job; Players Threaten Revolt

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Young William E. (Bud) Davis pondered Tuesday whether to accept an offer to coach the Colorado University football team in face of a threatened players' revolt over his appointment.

The 33-year-old Davis, a former high school coach with no college experience, was chosen to head his alma mater's strife-torn football program by a 5-1 vote of the Board of Regents in a tumultuous open meeting Tuesday. Davis has headed the alumni office for the past two years.

"I want to have an opportunity to talk to some of the leaders on the team, the team itself and students on the campus," Davis said.

"When I'm satisfied I've got enough support from these groups, I'll make my decision," Davis said. He expected to know in several days.

But football team captain Ken Blair interrupted the Regents' meeting just before it adjourned with an emotional outburst, after which he and three other players walked out.

"You got yourself a new coach — now get yourself a new football team," said Blair.

He calmed down later, and was seen muddling with University President Quigg Newton. Asked if he thought the players would support the new coach, Blair said they were going to meet and "they can decide what they want to do."

Tackle Bill Frank, one of the four who walked out of the Denver meeting, earlier requested that Newton read a telegram from "the football squad," Newton complied.

It stated that the team considered end coach Bob Ghiotti, an assistant under the recently-fired Everett (Sonny) Grandelius, as the most qualified for the job. Grandelius was fired March 17 for alleged recruiting violations, and the University faces probable NCAA probation.

The telegram said, in part: "Just what political moves can switch the minds of intelligent men from one of the best proven coaches in the country to one unknown, inexperienced and unqualified handshaker?"

Prof. Storm Bull, head of the faculty committee that recommended Davis, said Ghiotti was removed from consideration because, "We had to take into account that he was seriously involved in the systematic cheating that took place."

But the regents never accused Ghiotti publicly at the time Grandelius was fired — nor did they accuse him Tuesday.

"I have kept faith with the University in every respect," Ghiotti said later Tuesday. Neither Ghiotti nor Davis attended the regent meeting.

Jerry West Voted To NBA All-Stars; Cousy 2nd Team

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers was chosen Tuesday on the National Basketball Association annual All-Star team for the first time while Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics missed first-team selection for the first time since he joined the league.

The four repeaters from last year's All-Star team were: Bill Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors at center; Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles and Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks at forwards; and Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals in the backcourt with West.

The team was selected by basketball writers and broadcasters in the nine league cities.

No rookie was named to the first team for the first time in four years. However, Walt Bellamy of the Chicago Packers was a run-away choice for 1962 rookie-of-the-year.

In addition to Cousy, the second team was made up of: Bill Russell of the Celtics at center; Tom Heinsohn of the Celtics and Jack Twyman of Cincinnati at forwards; and Richie Guerin of the New York Knickerbockers at guard.

Choir To Present 'Easter Te Deum'

Daniel Moe, assistant professor of music, will direct the SUI Choir in a concert this evening at 8:15 at the First Methodist Church. The concert, originally scheduled to be given in Macbride Auditorium, will be presented in the church in order to use the church organ in presenting a cantata by Benjamin Britten. The program will feature Moe's "Easter Te Deum." Composed for full choir, it premiered in Denver in 1956. Gerhard Krapf, professor of music, will accompany the choir on the organ for the Britten cantata, "Rejoice in the Lamb." The words of the cantata are taken from a poem by Christopher Smart, a deeply religious 18th century poet. "Rejoice in the Lamb" was written while Smart was in an asylum. Though it is chaotic in form, it illustrates the poet's genius. Theme of the cantata is the worship of God in various ways by all created beings and things. The public is invited.

TV Program To Feature Sea Biologist

The tidepools of California's Pacific Coast will serve as the classroom on the "Meet the Professor" program Sunday at 1:30 p.m. over KCRG-TV, Cedar Rapids. Eugene C. Haderlie, professor at Monterey Peninsula Junior College, will be shown at work with his students in the peninsula tidepools which are ideal for field work in marine biology. Haderlie, a nationally recognized marine biologist, regularly uses the tidepools as a natural laboratory. Author of "Parasites of the Fresh-Water Fishes of California," Haderlie holds membership in Sigma Xi, national research society; The American Society of Parasitologists, and the Western Society of Naturalists. "Meet the Professor" is a cooperative production of the Public Affairs Office of ABC News and the Association for Higher Education, NEA.

Glenn Wants Shop Talk with Reds

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Astronaut John Glenn said Tuesday at a briefing on the next phase of the U.S. space program that he would like to swap spaceman's shop talk with the two Russians who preceded him in orbital flight. Speaking to newsmen during a 24-hour briefing on the "Gemini" program to put two men in orbit for a rendezvous with an unmanned capsule, the Marine lieutenant colonel said more details of his epochal space flight would be released at a technical conference in Washington April 6. The conference will give further details on his speeds in orbital flight and will "draw some conclusions" about the flight, he said. He pointed out that all American space flights have been made with no secrecy. "We had nothing to hide and we conducted the space flights with all the world watching us," he said. The orbital flights of Soviet cosmonauts Yuri Gagarin and Gherman Titov were made in secret, with no advance notice. Soviet scientists have given few details of what they learned. "I would be happy to exchange information with the Russian space pilots if such a thing could be arranged," Glenn said.

Booklet Erbe Dropped Now Called 'Essential'

DES MOINES (UPI) — The proposed "Visit Iowa" booklet which Gov. Norman A. Erbe abandoned in the face of "political gimmick" charges is considered "absolutely essential if we are to attract tourists to the state," an official of the Iowa Tourism Promotion Council said Tuesday. Earl H. Revell, Des Moines, named president-elect of the council at a meeting Monday, said methods of financing the publication would be discussed at a meeting of the council's directors Wednesday afternoon. The council, formerly the Governor's Tourism Committee, voted at its Monday meeting to adopt the new name and file articles of incorporation as a non-profit corporation, Revell said. Revell said the council would also "plan future moves" in its campaign to encourage travelers from east and west to visit Iowa's historic, scenic and recreation areas. He said it was "suggested" at Monday's meeting that the council renew Erbe's bid to the legislature's Interim Committee for about $43,000 in state funds to publish the 26-page booklet. Erbe obtained the committee's approval for printing 500,000 copies of the brochure to be paid for from various state funds. The governor, however, dropped plans for the booklet and charged that objectors were attempting a "political smear." Revell said the Tourism Promotion Council was considering a fund-raising campaign. Contributors to the promotion drive would be given certificates — "Shares in Iowa," acknowledging their gifts, he said.

Fry: City May Lose Elms Unless Program Adopted

Iowa City is in danger of losing most of its elm trees if an effective program is not adopted, according to Billy M. Fry, city forester. Fry said Tuesday that about 50 per cent of the trees in Iowa City are elms. Dutch elm disease, spread by bark beetles, runs in a ten-year cycle, he said, and during this period 95 per cent of the trees could die. About 1500 trees had been sprayed by the forestry crew by 5 p.m. Monday. Mechanical trouble was encountered with the machine and no spraying was done Monday night or Tuesday. Fry said about 3000 trees on city property haven't been sprayed. These will be sprayed as soon as the machine is in running order, he said. He explained that the trees must be sprayed before they begin leafing in mid April. Fry said spraying is more easily done at night because the air is more still and a light on the spray rig enables the operator to see where the spray is going. Cars hit by the spray, a 12 per cent DDT solution, should be washed as soon as possible, but the spray will not harm car finishes, Fry said. Fry said the cost of the operation, about $5,000, is about the same as that of removing the trees, but with a good tree program the city could still have the trees.

Union Directors Speak

The director and associate director of the Iowa Memorial Union will appear on the program of the 39th annual Association of College Unions international conference at Purdue University April 1-4.

Dr. Earl E. Harper, SUI Union director, will give the keynote address at the opening session Monday. His talk is titled "The Administrative Process."

IMU Associate Director George F. Stevens will speak on games areas in activities programs Monday afternoon.

Nearly 500 colleges in the U.S., Canada, England, Australia, Japan, Mexico, Puerto Rico, South America, and the Philippines are members of the Association of College Unions.

Physics Lecture Set

Dr. Fritz Rohlich, professor of physics, will lecture at Mississippi College, Clinton, Miss., April 10-11. His visit is sponsored by the American Association of Physics Teachers and the American Institute of Physics. Rohlich will also hold informal meeting with students and assist faculty members with curriculum and research projects.

French Horn Recital

Wesley Flala, A4, Mason City, will present a French horn recital Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in North Music Hall.

Flala will play numbers by Beethoven, Jean Francaix and Pierre Gabaye. He will be accompanied on the piano by Judy Wolfe, A4, Davenport, and assisted by Gene Vandekop, A4, Denver, Colo., trumpet, and Gordon Hallberg, G, Moline, Ill., trombone.

Nurses Convention

Members of the SUI College of Nursing faculty who are attending a convention this week in Williamsburg, Va., are Dean Mary Mulane and Professors Florence Sherbon, Faye Kubichek, Emma La Monaca, Anna Overland, and Ann Whidden and Constance Cottingham, instructor in nursing.

'Life in Nigeria'

Dr. Lawrence Den Besten, a resident in surgery in the College of Medicine, will present a slide talk, "Life in Nigeria," before the SUI Residents and Interns Club at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Club Room of the Union.

Sponsor of the program is Mrs. L. W. Knapp. Tea chairman is Mrs. John Sinning. Nominations for new officers will also be accepted.

House May Want Wisconsin U. Film

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Labor and Education Committee investigators may want to question people connected with a University of Wisconsin film on housing discrimination, a spokesman said Tuesday.

Committee Chairman Adam Clayton Powell had asked the university to send him the controversial film, made with hidden cameras and microphones, by Monday night.

A spokesman for the committee investigative staff said Tuesday "in the event the chairman sees fit to subpoena it, he will do so." He said investigators wanted to view the film and then possibly interview all persons connected with it.

UW President Conrad Elvehjem's reply that the request would be taken up by the board of regents next week had not been received by the congressman Tuesday noon. Elvehjem offered to send a typewritten script of the 13 incidents of discrimination against Negroes seeking housing in Madison.

Lloyd Barbee, president of the Wisconsin chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had advised Powell of the dispute which arose when the university decided to re-make the film to protect the privacy of the subjects.

JFK: U.S. Would Strike First — If Russians Attacked Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy made it clear Tuesday the United States would strike first with nuclear weapons if they were needed to prevent a massive, conventional Soviet attack from overrunning Europe.

A statement issued by White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said that all available means would be used to turn back such an assault.

The statement did not mention use of nuclear arms in these circumstances, but they are a major pillar of U.S. defense and would be embraced in the term "all available means."

The White House comments were prepared to answer an article by Stewart Alsop in the Saturday Evening Post. It quoted the President as saying that in some instances the United States must be prepared to take the initiative in using nuclear weapons and cited an attack on Western Europe as an example.

Alsop's article, based on a White House interview with the President five or six weeks ago, also attributed these points to the President:

- That America's big postwar edge in air and nuclear power began to fade in 1953 or 1959 with the advent of missiles, bringing a drastic change in the balance of power.

• That Kennedy's strategy is to have sufficient arms flexibility to be able to choose the response to Soviet thrusts, rather than have the choice forced on the nation.

• That two basic nuclear doctrines of the past have been discarded: That anything bigger than a brush fire war would be a nuclear war and that the United States would never strike first with nuclear arms.

Salinger did not specifically verify any of the remarks attributed to Kennedy by Alsop. But he was prepared for questions about the article and read this statement to newsmen:

"The quotation given in the Alsop article must be read in total context. The President's statements represent no change in American policy.

"It has always been clear that in such a contest as a massive, conventional attack on Europe by the Soviet Union, which would put Europe in danger of being overrun, the West would have to prevent such an event by all available means. This has been United States policy since the late 1940s, and it represents no change.

"The real change, as Mr. Alsop points out elsewhere in the article, is in the strengthening of our defensive alternatives to nuclear warfare."

Alsop's article said, "The President's clear determination to risk nuclear war rather than tamely surrender Berlin has saved Berlin so far."

It also quoted the President as saying: "I don't think most Americans realize the way the situation has changed. I don't think many people really understand the change.

"As late as 1954 the balance in air power, in the nuclear weapons, was all on our side. The change began about 1958 or 1959 with the missiles.

"Now we have got to realize that both sides have these annihilating weapons, and that changes the problem.

"Of course in some circumstances we must be prepared to use the nuclear weapon at the start, come what may — a clear attack on Western Europe, for example.

"But what is important is that if you use these weapons you have to control their use. What you need is control, flexibility, a choice."

"Kennedy inherited two basic doctrines on nuclear warfare. One was that any war bigger than a brush fire war would be a nuclear war from the outset. The other was that the United States would never strike with the nuclear weapon. Under the Kennedy grand strategy, both doctrines have been quietly discarded.

COLLEGE STUDENTS IN THE VACATION RIOTS

What touches off the vicious vacation riots in resort towns from coast to coast? What madness causes the drunkenness, open immorality, violent battles with police? What sudden mob impulse can motivate a crowd of 30,000 educated young men and women into a rampage of destruction? Perhaps it's a new way to "let off steam" . . . a savage kind of self-expression. But why are so many college students—presumably the nation's most "adult" and sophisticated young people—involved? Why do they knowingly risk their futures, even their lives for a few hours of wild abandon? In the new April McCall's, don't miss the unbelievable, yet true, report on the spread of this insane activity . . . the terrible price you may have to pay if you're involved . . . and how you can help stop the insanity.

JIM MORRISON

One-Year Term

1. To insure that SUI makes The Daily Iowan a newspaper of and for SUI students, autonomous of Administration wishes. Regular student opinion polls would be helpful in this respect.

2. To give the student editor full authority and responsibility for editorials with faculty acting in an advisory rather than an approval relationship.

3. To continue The Daily Iowan Magazine supplement on a regular basis.

4. To have syndicated columns on the fine arts, etc., in accordance with student wishes.

5. To elect faculty members to SPI by a representative body of the faculty rather than present appointments by President Hancher.

LARRY PRYBIL

One-Year Term

1. To insure fair and complete presentation of both sides of campus issues, free from outside influence and to insure editorial interpretation of these issues, including guest editorials.

2. If elected to SPI, I pledge my efforts to obtain the best possible features, columns, etc. for The Daily Iowan. The desirability of obtaining these features has often been expressed, as well as the difficulties of doing so. However, this is apparently where efforts have halted. Acknowledging the present control by the Des Moines Register over many worthwhile features, SPI should attempt to work with the Register in order to gain access to such features as "Peanuts", "Pogo", Lippmann, Reardon and the New York Times wire service.

3. To work with the School of Journalism toward a revision of journalism curriculum which would enable journalism students to have two years of liberal arts work, then devote at least two consecutive semesters of concentrated work on the student publications in their junior year. This would prepare senior journalism students to take positions of responsibility equipped with a solid liberal arts background and practical experience.

4. To insure student publications have the best in modern equipment including a new press for The Daily Iowan, and moving the shop to the Communications Center where original planning had it placed.

UNIVERSITY FOR FORMOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — A new university financed by Chinese living abroad will be established in suburban Taipei in 1963 at a cost of $10 million, the government announced Tuesday. It will have colleges of arts, sciences, engineering and medicine, with an enrollment of 1,500.

DENNIS W. BINNING

Two-Year Term

1. Consistently enforce the SPI philosophy that The Daily Iowan should be a "well documented, responsible and precisely written" paper in the tradition of quality professional dailies.

2. SPI as a buffer organization should try to crack the present "iron curtain" of silence now surrounding Administration officials so that reporters have access to the men with direct information of importance to students — instead of having to accept pat handouts.

3. Agitation should be increased to get funds for a new fourth floor on the Communications Center in which to house a new press for which SPI has nearly $100,000 in a University account.

4. Under no circumstances should student publications become an administration tool, but should remain under joint student-faculty control that reflects student opinions and interests.

5. Attempt to promote a humor magazine on campus.

6. Encourage wider contributions to the DI from outside the School of Journalism.

JULIE FILBERT

Two-Year Term

1. Continuation of policy that no faculty members or group of faculty members exercise control or censorship over the contents of The Daily Iowan.

2. The Daily Iowan should be allowed to take an editorial stand on campus issues while continuing to cover all views in the news pages.

3. Encourage non-journalism majors to take an active part in The Daily Iowan by contributing articles and essays.

4. Reorganization of the magazine supplement to make it a constructive and comprehensive addition to The Daily Iowan.

JIM GEBBIE

Two-Year Term

1. Uphold the original objectives of The Daily Iowan by printing more University news and fewer wire service articles.

2. Send daily issues of The Daily Iowan to various high school libraries to promote high school interest in the University.

3. Use The Daily Iowan to investigate the University's inconsistencies of admitting athletes who are academically ineligible.

DENNIS MCKINNEY

Two-Year Term

1. I will resist all attempts to encroach upon the independence of The Daily Iowan editors by the Administration or SPI, while keeping in mind an independent paper must also be responsible.

2. I think the chairman of the board of trustees should be elected for a one-year term by the board. He is now appointed for an indefinite term by the Administration.

3. I will demand the highest professional qualifications for the editors of The Daily Iowan and the Hawkeye, and make sure they represent no particular interest group.

4. I will insist that sound business practices govern The Daily Iowan and Hawkeye so that their equipment may be kept as up-to-date as possible, with an eye toward the expansion of the University.

5. SPI's proceedings, functions, and responsibilities to the student body should be made public, since it is a quasi-public corporation and its decisions affect the student body.

NANCY SHINN

Two-Year Term

1. A system should be set up whereby the validity of facts and sources of items printed in The Daily Iowan could be checked.

2. The editorial staff of The Daily Iowan should take a more firm stand on controversial University issues instead of their present "middle of the road" stand.

3. I feel there should be student reporters' analysis of wire service articles rather than the article being printed verbatim as is now the case.

LEE THEISEN

Two-Year Term

1. Give more emphasis to campus news and less material from the wire services, thereby making the paper more oriented to campus activities.

2. Higher salaries for The Daily Iowan staff, so that there will be less loss of good personnel.

3. Establish a clearer line of communication between SPI, The Daily Iowan and the University, making SPI more aware of the needs of The Daily Iowan and the Hawkeye.

4. Encourage a policy of comments and articles by professors on current events and issues pertaining to the University.

5. Encourage various departments within the University (such as ROTC, political science, etc.) to make up a detailed calendar of their events for the coming year, at the beginning of each semester, thus making it easier for The Daily Iowan to prepare stories and provide adequate space with this advance notice.

6. Increase the remuneration of the Hawkeye staff and increase those on salary, thereby giving just compensation for the time and effort devoted to it.

LUCKY STRIKE presents: LUCKY STUFFERS "SPRING MADNESS"

"O.K., girls. When they reach the third floor, we let go with the fire hose."

"You guys go wherever you want. I'm going where the girls are."

"When I was a freshman, the seniors won. When I was a sophomore, the seniors won. When I was a junior, the seniors won. Now this."

GO NEAR THE WATER. Spring is the time when students start thinking about water fun. We say: Splash up a storm. Have a lark. But please be careful. Each year, a few careless students get water on their Luckies. Imagine their remorse! Imagine yours if you were to spoil a Lucky—that great cigarette that college students smoke more of than any other regular. So have a swell time at your favorite watering hole this spring. And keep your Luckies dry.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!
