Traffic Accident Kills Another SUI Student

A traffic accident Wednesday night took the life of the third SUI student to be killed in auto accidents in four days. Marvin Kent Peterson, A1, Dayton, was fatally injured at 11:30 p.m. when the car in which he was riding missed a curve and overturned in a shallow ditch 1 1/2 miles south of North Liberty.

Listed in very good condition at Student Health Infirmary Thursday were Rodney Reimer, A1, Granville, driver of the car and John Szaton, A1, Tinley Park, Ill. Reimer suffered multiple bruises and Szaton was treated for scalp cuts and bruises. Both may be released from the infirmary today.

All three students were residents of Quadrangle Dormitory. Highway Patrolman Howard Shapcott said the three students were thrown from Reimer's 1955 model car. Peterson was taken to University Hospitals, where he died at 12:35 a.m. of a ruptured liver and spleen. Charges against Reimer are pending.

The death was Johnson County's sixth traffic fatality this year — three of them occurring this week. Eleanor Firzlaff, A4, Dubuque, died Monday morning at University Hospitals of injuries received in an automobile accident Sunday night. Miss Firzlaff suffered head injuries when the car in which she was riding crashed into a tree on Bowery street. The 1961 Corvette was driven by Allen Bower, A4, Glen Ely, Ill. Another SUI student, Kenneth Quirk, A1, Alta, died Tuesday night after a car crashed into the back of a motor scooter on which he was riding on Highway 6 in Coralville.

Discrimination Report Released

Federal Charges—

Gmoser Admits Stealing Weapons

Aloysius G. Gmoser, A1, Hinsdale, Ill., appeared before a United States Commissioner in Des Moines Thursday on a charge of stealing Federal property.

Gmoser, 19, has admitted stealing weapons worth more than $1,400 from the reserve training center here last Saturday morning.

He was ordered held to the May term of the grand jury on $1,000 bond. The youth's father indicated he would try to raise the bond by today.

Gmoser was bound over to Federal Court in Des Moines by Iowa City authorities who were holding him in connection with the theft of a $7,500 television camera from the Iowa Field House March 21. This charge, grand larceny, is pending in Iowa City Police Court.

The Federal charge carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison, a $10,000 fine or both. The grand larceny charge has a maximum penalty of five years in prison.

Gmoser was given a lie detector test in Iowa City regarding the recent arson cases in Iowa City. The results were "inconclusive."

Gmoser was arrested Wednesday after an anonymous telephone call from a person suspicious of his behavior. Gmoser, who lived at the Quadrangle Dormitory, kept the stolen weapons in his room. Included were 10 automatic pistols, a carbine and bazooka.

Police say they have recovered all the loot except for a small detonator which Gmoser says he threw in the Iowa River near the Union. Police said it was harmless and is probably buried deep in the river bottom by now.

A second student, unnamed, has been questioned. He has admitted helping Gmoser transport some of the weapons to the dormitory. Detectives say no charges have been filed against him yet.

Gmoser woke the second student early Saturday morning because he had a car which Gmoser needed for a second trip to the reserve center. He could not carry all the stolen goods and left half of them outside the building.

On the way back to the dormitory, the auto developed engine trouble, and two hours were spent by the students at a service station while repairs were made.

Then, they returned to the dormitory with the stolen items. Police could give no reason for the second student's action except "friendship."

Gmoser told police he had been drinking heavily before the theft and felt "the urge" to steal something. He said he gets these urges "occasionally."

The stolen camera was owned by WOIT-TV, Ames, and was being used during the Iowa boys high school basketball tournament. Gmoser hid it under a trap door at the Quadrangle and hadn't been back to look at it since he stole it. Gmoser's father, Al Gmoser, of Hinsdale, Ill., said his son had been offered a four-year scholarship at

Another Major Political Crisis Hits Argentina

Cabinet Shakeup Appears Inevitable; Guido Is Helpless

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The Argentine Armed Forces Thursday demanded that the Government act immediately to annul Peronist election victories and ban the party from further political activity. The virtual ultimatum plunged the country into another major political crisis.

A Senate source said all cabinet members had presented their resignations to President Jose M. Guido. It was reported he had asked them to hold off their resignations momentarily pending a new effort to talk the military out of its determination to use force, if necessary, to eliminate the Communist-Peronist threat to the country.

A cabinet shakeup, partial if not total, appeared inevitable. There was little hope Guido could persuade the Armed Forces leaders to listen to reason.

Troops poured into Buenos Aires to shore up the Federal capital's defenses against any hostile Peronist reaction to a move against them. Police raided Communist, Peronist and socialist quarters throughout the nation to round up the radical leaders who could or would spearhead militant resistance to the imminent "purge" of their ranks.

A Government decree canceling the March 18 election results in which the Peronists won 11 governorships and 43 congressional seats was expected.

The Government, yielding to military pressure, also was expected to announce federal "intervention," or seizure, of civil power in all of Argentina's 22 provinces.

Six Stolen Money Bags Located

Six money bags stolen in the burglary at Benner's Towncrest supermarket last Saturday night were found Wednesday on Highway 6, half a mile west of Atalissa. Atalissa is about 25 miles east of Iowa City.

The bags were empty except for a few checks. They were found by an employee of the Iowa highway commission.

Police believe the burglar, probably four of them, threw the bags out of a moving auto.

The money bags were in a safe containing $5,542 in cash and checks.

Almost, But Not Quite

These five SUI students enact a dilemma which confronted many home-bound SUlowans Thursday — how to get all that baggage into such a small trunk. Fred Odendahl, A1, and Dick Harrison, A1, both of Moline, Ill.; Dennis Ricketts, A1, Davenport; and Mary Lou Veys, G, and Steve Combs, A3, both of Moline, just about succeeded with all the bags, golf clubs, and dirty laundry. Big Week in Space Ahead

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States hopes to take a giant stride in space exploration during the coming week with a quartet of the most advanced rocket and spacecraft launchings ever attempted.

The assault is scheduled to start Friday when scientists will make another attempt to fire America's new high-energy "Centaur" rocket.

Then, in quick succession, they will attempt to send a U.S. probe to the moon, put the free world's most powerful booster rocket — Saturn — through its second flight test, and rocket the world's first international satellite into orbit around the earth.

Some U.S. space officials indicated privately that they believe Russia also may be readying another space spectacular, timed to fall on May 1, a Communist holiday.

These sources said the Russians this time may attempt to launch a spaceship full of animals around the moon, or a two-man "Vostok" craft into orbit around the earth.

But any such Russian effort would lose at least a little of its luster should the United States succeed in bringing off its series of experiments.

Russians Launch 11th Hour Plan To Block Testing

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union launched an 11th-hour campaign Thursday to block projected U.S. atmospheric nuclear tests in the Pacific. Their maneuvers, foiled at the outset, may keep the 17-nation disarmament conference in session through the Easter weekend.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin tried various procedural devices to get a Western promise to hold off the test series.

"Fruitful negotiations on cessation of tests cannot be conducted along with the thunder of nuclear test explosions," he said.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean accepted an unpolished moratorium on testing under any circumstances — not even during the Easter recess.

"We will not be burned twice by the same fire," he said, referring to the Soviet Union's violation of a gentleman's agreement with a series of tests last fall.

Both Dean and British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber told Zorin the test series will go ahead unless the Soviet Union promptly accepts an internationally controlled test ban treaty providing for compulsory on-site inspections.

The tests, on Christmas and Johnston islands in the Pacific, are expected to begin next week.

Research Team Adds 2 More

Two SUI students have been added to the legislative research team of Iowa Representative Fred Schwengel (R-1st District) and Republican Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper.

The students are Lee Theisen, A4, Sioux City, and William Burger, L2, Tipton.

Schwengel has employed the research team, recently expanded from three to five members, as an adjunct to his office since 1955.

The team consists of law students at SUI.

Schwengel said Hickenlooper has assumed co-sponsorship of the group.

Two veteran members of the team are Ivan Ackerman, L2, Allison and Robert Downer, L2, Newton. One vacancy exists which will be filled in May.

The team has been doing research on watershed development, gasoline tax refunds and small business problems. New projects will be explored by mutual consent of the sponsors with duplicate reports to each.

New subjects will be explored by the team with mutual consent of the sponsors.

Huit Describes New Complaint Procedure

By JIM SEDA
Managing Editor

A new procedure to follow up investigation of complaints of racial discrimination in the future was announced Wednesday by M. L. Huit, dean of students.

The procedure is one of the results of an investigation of 10 cases of alleged discrimination in off-campus housing just completed by the Office of Student Affairs. Details of the investigation were released to The Daily Iowan by Huit Wednesday.

Two other outcomes of the investigation, Huit said, involved the removal of two Iowa City householders from the University approved off-campus housing listing. One of these was voluntary, Huit said, and there was no evidence of discrimination on his part.

The other was not on the basis of evidence, he said, but on the basis of stated intent. This householder, Huit said, stated she does not wish to rent to Negroes because of pressures placed upon her by her son.

Speaking of the results of the investigation, Huit said, "In no case could we find clear-cut evidence which might be used as proof of discrimination. Two of the cases were pretty much automatically excluded, because the telephone conversations were not with the householder, but with other persons who happened to be in the house at the time."

The investigation was the result of 10 charges of racial discrimination in off-campus approved housing brought by The Daily Iowan in late February.

Huit said that in one of these cases a daughter of the housekeeper answered the phone. A housekeeper talked to the Iowan reporter in the other case, he said.

"None had authority to speak for the householder in our opinion," he added.

The new procedure to be followed in future investigations, Huit said, include three steps:

(1.) Complaint must be in writing, and it must provide complete and factual information surrounding the allegation.

(2.) There must have been involved a personal and direct confrontation between student and householder. Telephone communications shall not be considered, in and of itself, sufficient grounds for instituting an investigation.

(3.) Complainant must file this complaint with the Office of Student Affairs at the earliest possible moment following the alleged violation, and within two days after the violation.

More detailed information on this procedure will be worked out later with the staff of the Office of Student Affairs, he added.

"Our office wants to encourage any student who feels without question that he has been discriminated against to report the alleged violation to our office," he said.

"We're concerned with the sincere case of the sincere student who has been deprived of housing because of discriminatory practices."

Huit said the householder who stated she does not wish to rent to Negroes will be removed from the off-campus housing list. This, in effect, deprives her of the privilege of listing her facility as available for renting in our office, he said.

Statement On Picketing

In releasing the report of the investigation of 10 cases of alleged discrimination, M. L. Huit, dean of students had this to say about the recent picketing of Old Capitol:

"As Dean of Students, I would want to make it quite clear that we defend the right of students to engage in this means of expression so long as it is within the bounds or orderly processes and decency.

"This is by no means the most effective way, however, to transmit concerns, which in terms of representative student interests might be more effectively coordinated through channels of student government, or through direct consultation with University officials such as personnel and the Office of Student Affairs.

"Students need to be concerned about these problems and issues if there is to be hope for a better world tomorrow. I personally would much prefer seeing them engage in an activity which is meaningful to them and their relationship to society than to participate in an insane activity such as a party raid which is reflective of student immaturity and has serious potential for the endangering of life and property.

"The student of 10 years ago was described as apathetic and unconcerned. Many of today's students have real concern about not only local issues, but world issues, and in a climate of academic and intellectual stimulation, they should have the freedom to express their views, their ideas and their thinking as a vital part of their learning experiences.

"Such freedom also invokes a responsibility for the student to approach problems objectively and rationally.

"We have a responsibility to uphold the right to express his concerns in all areas of academic and extracurricular life.

"The role of students, faculty and Administration on this campus, it seems to me, is the development of a kind of climate which encourages student self-reliance, independent thinking, mature expression and responsible citizenship.

"We facilitate the creating of such a climate by setting high levels of expectancy of students in all phases of their lives as students, whether in or out of the classroom, and doing this in an atmosphere that shelters basic student freedom and their orderly processes for expression."

The News In Brief

(Combined from Leased Wires)

WASHINGTON — Major Gherman S. Titov, Soviet cosmonaut who orbited the earth 17 times, is expected to come to the United States at the end of the month, it was learned Thursday night.

EUREKA, Utah — Shepherders in the hills south of here were questioned by deputies and Air Force police officers Thursday about a giant ball of fire seen from California to Kansas on Wednesday night.

WASHINGTON — The Army Thursday suspended Maj. Arch E. Roberts from his military duties after he asserted that Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles has a "Communist background."

WATERLOO, Iowa — The conviction and death sentence of Victor Feguer for the 1960 kidnaping of a prominent Dubuque physician will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, his attorneys said Thursday.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — A B52 jet bomber fired a Skybolt ballistic missile from an aerial launching platform high above the Atlantic Ocean Thursday. The initial test of the newest U.S. weapon was termed successful even though there was a second-stage malfunction.

Reservists Give Money To Pay Private's Fine

FT. POLK, La. (UPI) — Pfc. Bernis Owen, freed by presidential clemency from a six-month sentence for ridiculing the ban on GI "we want out" demonstrations, said Thursday that sympathetic reservists had chipped in to pay the fine he also incurred.

Owen, a 23-year-old college student reservist from Seadrift, Tex., said "I am very grateful to President Kennedy for my freedom."

The President Thursday said that "in the spirit of Easter week," he was remitting the remainder of Owen's court martial sentence of six months imprisonment and loss of $50 per month of his pay. Owen served 22 days of the sentence.

"Let's Get Organized"

Van Allen: Why Don't We Get Organized?

By GARY GERLACH
News Editor

Educationally, Iowa is a second rate state and it's about time somebody did something about it.

That, in sum, seems to be the opinion of two of Iowa's most respected citizens: SUI President Virgil M. Hancher and James Van Allen, head of the SUI Physics Department.

Hancher aired his opinion in his State of the University speech on January 31 by charging that "second-ratism is a luxury that Iowa cannot afford."

More recently, Van Allen posed his challenge to the Hawkeye state and made embarrassing queries like the following:

"Is Iowa in the stream of modern civilization?"

"Why don't we find out what we are doing, what we need to do, and then go about doing it? Are we afraid of finding out what we are not doing?

"In the days ahead shall we not need education . . . education above all as our first and greatest resource, to supplement the common sense of the common man?"

"Are we afraid of risking $100,000 against $10 million?"

"and, 'We have the wits and resources to do a spectacular job, why don't we get organized?'"

As President Hancher has said, "Iowa has allowed three-fourths of the 20th Century to pass without developing a master plan for entering into the main stream of American thought and action."

This "Master Plan" for Iowa may have come fourth last week.

The man who presented it was Van Allen. He suggested a "five-year plan or a ten-year plan" that would lead in forming some artificial goals that might eventually hold the key to solving Iowa's problems of higher education.

Van Allen made his suggestion at the annual banquet session of the Iowa Press Association in Des Moines last Friday night.

The Van Allen plan in essence is that the Legislature should authorize appointment by the governor of a professional commission that would be paid to work full time on such a project.

What he seems to be saying is just this: with a little investment and planning we can make real educational mileage by developing brain power.

He told the editors and publishers that the state appropriation of some $38 million a year for Iowa's three schools (State College of Iowa, Iowa State University and SUI) is "a small segment" of the $190 million appropriated for all state agencies and departments.

He stressed his organization point hard.

"It is the largest business operated on off-hand snipping," he said whimsically snipping at Iowa's disorganization.

To support his point, Van Allen cited the Soviet Union and how it

PRESIDENT HANCHER
"A Time for Action"

Tribute to a True Professional Educator

We would like to pin a posey on Dr. Rudolph W. Edmund, 52, of Rock Island, Ill.

We are proud of Dr. Edmund because he is a former SUIowan. And we are proud of what he has done.

Dr. Edmund has returned to teaching, giving up a high-salaried executive job in an Oklahoma oil industry. He admits that his pay cut was "more than half."

He apparently has no qualms about the money he is missing. He says he is quite happy as a teacher; in fact, he explains that he has always wanted to be one and intends to remain in teaching.

Dr. Edmund is currently chairman of the Division of Science and head of the Department of Geology at Augustana College.

He was graduated from Augustana in 1934 and later entered SUI to earn a doctorate in geology.

"I enjoy working with students," he says. It is a privilege to see them develop. I think it is important that people who have been in industry get back where they can advise students on what the outside is like."

In an age when disappearing instructors and educators, presumably to industry for higher pay, is such a lively topic on this campus, it is indeed refreshing to know that there are some who remain dedicated to the teaching profession.

Dr. Edmund is a true professional. —Gary Gerlach

Sportsmanship

Word comes that Kennedy is easing the punitive assault on steel. He had better. It would not go down well for the White House to be vindictive.

The other side yielded. Under fierce pressure, to be sure, but it yielded. More one cannot require. Yet for a while the posse went on picking up speed and it looked as if big steel was to be pilloried.

We are glad to see the President, even several days after the match is over, acting the sportsman.

'Ah, Yes, Comrade—We Have Had Some Great Natural Calamities'

Foresees Violence if Red China's Down Spiral Stays

By JOSEPH ALSOP
HONG KONG — "The brigade leader called the whole village together to lecture us about being 'selfish with manure.' But what do you expect? When the ration is so low, and life itself depends on what we grow on our private plots, who will give fertilizer to the fields belonging to the commune?"

The speaker was a Chinese farmer. He was workman at 35 years old, but he was also one of the shrewdest and least hunger-deadened of the 40-odd newly arrived refugees from the Communist mainland whom I have now interrogated here and in Macao.

It will seem inauspiciously odd to most Westerners, but it is also a fact that the fate of the most numerous nation on earth may perhaps depend on the peculiar problem this farmer so bluntly summed up.

The plain truth is that the Chinese peasants themselves are, and have always been, the main source of fertilizer for the Chinese land. Their "selfishness with manure" — certainly hard to prevent, even for an iron police state — can be desperately damaging.

The establishments of the farm communes plunged the Chinese countryside into such misery that the almighty state was finally forced to concede private plots to the peasantry. The purpose of giving each peasant a few square yards of the poorer land to till on his own time was to supplement the perulously low rural diet.

EVEN SO, as already reported in this space, the level of nourishment of the Chinese masses still remains frightfully low. An undoubtedly reliable and scientific computation of refugee evidence gives 1300 to 1600 calories per day, according to labor category, as the total average food intake of Chinese workers at the present time. This includes the produce of the private plots.

As the officially provided ration is so inadequate, it is natural for the peasants to be "selfish with manure," in order to expand production on their tiny private plots to the very utmost. But persistent peasant "selfishness with mature" is highly likely to lead to a further drop in the already unsatisfactory output of the far more important commune-land.

If output on this commune-land drops for this reason, the ration must also be reduced. A net drop in the masses' food intake will then result from the conception of China's immemorially most valuable fertilizer on these private plots, which were originally intended to bolster food intake. We have here, in short, the quite probable beginning of a vicious circle.

IGNORANT PEOPLE may be amused or shocked by this solemn disquisition on the allocation of human manure in China. But anyone with the smallest acquaintance with the Chinese countryside will recognize the deadly seriousness of the problem. It is one of several problems that suggest the possibility already mentioned in this space, that Communist China is now caught in a remorseless, descending spiral.

The point cannot be finally proven. Yet on the face of the known facts, it is logical to suppose that the physical condition of the rural population has more to do with the poor harvests of the last three years than the natural calamities" blamed by the Peking leadership. In truth, the sole clearly identifiable natural calamity in this whole three-year period was the bad weather which cut in half the north Chinese winter wheat harvest of 1961.

BUT IF THE poor physical condition of the rural population was a main cause of these three poor harvests, what of the crucial harvest this year? A shrinking number of the expert China watchers continue to say, "Give them one bumper crop, and then see what the Chinese Communists can do." But even if nature is generous, will a bumper crop be produced by hunger-weakened peasants with no incentive to work hard, except on their little private plots?

Wherever the many chinks in the bamboo curtain permit a clear view of Chinese Communist realities, you find that the realities are desperately harsh. Communist China today combines a shocking-low level of nourishment for the masses, with persistently poor agricultural production and an acute industrial breakdown.

SUCH IS THE result to date of Mao Tse-tung's attempt to carry out the rapid forced industrialization of China by the industrial method successfully used by Joseph Stalin in Russia. No wonder Nikita S. Khrushchev flagrantly intervened in Mao's internal party affairs in 1959, in order to secure an early reversal of the "great leap forward" policy.

Khrushchev's tailed and Mao's policy produced the existing, potentially catastrophic state of affairs in China. In this reporter's opinion, the odds are therefore at least 5 to 1 that Communist China today in indeed caught in a descending spiral. But such a spiral cannot go downwards indefinitely without producing a violent result. Thus the question for China today is: which of the possible kinds of violent result is now the most likely?

Five short weeks until finals and who gives a damn? No Mercy Day, but Memorial Day we got. Enjoy your, two days of spring vacation. Maybe by 1965, we will get longer. At least the students are looking ahead. But then, is the Administration supposed to look ahead? From past actions, I would say no.

COMMENTS ON THE WORLD SCENE: Kennedy threatens steel companies with taking away defense contracts. Next he'll threaten Tito with taking away our planes and training. And a New Orleans woman asks God to forgive her Archbishop because he doesn't know the Bible advocates segregation. Nothing like a hysterical female to make a mockery of religion, the Bible, and herself.

And in Hollywood they're offering a prize to the child with the most parents at the PTA meeting. Wonder what happened to old Liz. And if the industry ever matches the low of "Journey to the Seventh Planet," I'm going to picket Hollywood.

The city council unanimously selects a new member, waits a week, then makes him mayor (again unanimously). Councilmen then blurt out pious little statements like: "This should show everyone we are not a divided council." It's too bad Gov. Rockefeller is here to hurl charges of political fakery.

Last week, I mentioned that Cornell College had established hours for men. Not true. That information was printed in the April Fool issue of the college paper and was delivered to me by the editor of The Daily Iowan, a former Cornellian. But he wasn't the only one fooled. The fake issue also said tuition would be lowered $100. The President of the college had to issue a statement denying it when several Cornell parents expressed their gratitude.

President Hancher crosses the picket line in front of his headquarters but has no comment. President Kennedy crossed some bigger lines last week and even stepped on some toes, but he was talking all the way.

A MASTERFUL PIECE of timing (not from the student view) was the issuing of delinquents right before vacation. There will be many students heading for places other than home even though they do have only four days.

A pocket size fallout detector is now on the market. Smaller than most transistor radios, the gadget will give minute readings of the amount of radioactive material in the atmosphere. Gamblers have them, and in the case of nuclear war, they will have instant odds for survival.

A new Twist record is out. It's called the "John Birch Twist." The lyrics are "You twist to the right, then twist to the right, then twist to the right, etc." Republicans couldn't care less about Dutch Elm disease, but they're kinda worried about the Birch kind.

SUI as a university has some strange things about it. For instance, what other school has a profit-making pool hall and bowling alley, but doesn't have an auditorium with a stage for ballet, opera, etc.? And what other university has a finer press box while they put a world renowned space scientist in a small basement?

BEST MOVIE OF THE WEEK: "The Horizontal Lieutenant." WORST MOVIE: "Hey, Let's Twist" and "Journey to the Seventh Planet." This latter jewel was even held over! Wonderful! (P.S. "West Side Story" now showing in Des Moines is booked up until May 10. But don't despair, you can see it in Iowa City when you return in four years for Homecoming weekend.)

FINK OF THE WEEK: One last fink. The "mind" who devised the four-day Easter break for SUI.

Or So They Say

By printing dollar bills on a new paper containing a plastic resin that resists water and the natural oils secreted by the fingertips, the United States Treasury has extended the life expectancy of the dollar bill from 12 to 17 months. THOMAS JAMES COBDEN-SANDERSON
Selections From His Writings and including a Portion of An Hitherto Unpublished Notebook, Edited and Prefaced by Gerald M. Stevenson, Jr. Gara Press: Iowa City, M.C.M. LXI

Mar. 16:
A few minutes ago, reading the final sentence of a Thomas's one hour sentence of a journal's Cobden-Sanderson's writings, I let my eye grace the last of the printer's fleurons, the remaining scatterings of shoulder notes, and the second tipped-in engraving (a fully-bearded — reminiscent of James Ruskin, William Morris, and King Edward — fin de siècle Cobden-Sanderson, fulfilling the initial engraving of a beautifully jeweled, clean-shaven Thomas James Sanderson) and turned the page. I turned another to the colophon:

Hand set and printed by Gerald McMonies Stevenson, Jr. as a part of Special Projects in Typography in the School of Journalism at the University of Iowa. This is 180 of 190 copies printed on Curtis Rag.

Astride the lift of my enthusiasm, I called Gerald Stevenson to ask if we might not arrange an appointment. What I had just read, what my eye had seen and my hand felt needed to be talked about. Through words and example, I had been given a look into a way of life in which devotion and pride in work had carried a worship of the austere arrangement of blacks and whites on the printed page to the heights of art. I had been given contact with a man's mystique founded in the work to which he set his hand each day, and I wanted to know more.

He said, Fine.
Mar. 17, a.m.:
Punctually at 11, I banged on Gerald Stevenson's door at 16 W. College St. He let me into a room made long by a work table on which were stacked a hundred, odd m.s. envelopes holding the viscera of copies of THOMAS JAMES COBDEN-SANDERSON, waiting for the binder.

Talking our way out, down the steps and around, we went through a door into a cellar that contained: A mammoth Washington handpress that weighed the wooden building down with more than a ton of iron; several galleys of type set neatly into the outside wall; job work stacked on the press; and waste from the last job done on the small treadle press against the inside wall. Except for the overhead bulb, not an electric wire or motor around.

The Washington handpress dominated the room and conversation. It looked like a three way cross: a giant iron cradle with a gravestone for some Iron Age deity; these with Vulvan's forge. It also looked like the stoutest anchor for any man's life. A sculptor's albatross of stone and bronze is diminished by the weight of this. A writer's eternal life burden of typewriter seems no more than an extra finger.

Leaving the cellar, we talked about Harry Duncan who came u-hauling the press from a school in Massachusetts in 1955 (the machine for the Cummington Press) and about the Sisyphusian task Kim Merker, Jerry and friends undertook moving the press from Kim's after he had done his superb job on THE COLLECTED POEMS OF WELDON KEEBS, published in 1960. The press was with us up the hill and around the corner to Ted's Coffee Shop. On such a press, Thomas James Cobden-Sanderson, fifty years earlier, must have produced the Book Beautiful. I thought of the Feb. 9, 1909 entry in the Journals, set in excerpt on page 23 of the Qara Press edition:

It is my wish that the Doves Press type shall never be subjected to the use of machine other than the human hand, in composition, or to a press pulled otherwise than by the hand and arm of man or woman.

I thought of the demonstration Jerry had made a few minutes before: hand cranking the bed rack, raising the tympan and frisket by hand and laying it to rest on a length of clothes-line rope tied to a ceiling beam (the mat itself reinforced by layers of sheet paper for the exact printing pressure, the mat cut out and patched — also by hand), and applying ink by hand-roller, and finally, rolling the type under the platen and bringing over a large two-handed handle, worn by many grippings.

Over breakfast eggs, home-fries, milk and coffee, I expressed an interest in learning more about the man who prefixed his wife's name, "Cobden," to his last, "Sanderson," with a hyphen (the punctuation mark which Cobden-Sanderson once took so much pride in eliminating from his printing). I was curious about an act that might reveal as much of Thomas James Sanderson's sense for the useful thing (the Cobdens were prominent) as of his affection for his wife. I wondered, also, about a man who, in letters to Sydney Carlyle Cockerell (1909, 2nd and 8th of June) expressed so much petulant pique against Emery Walker, his printer and partner, from whom his way had recently parted. I wondered about a man who planned and finally, in spite of an agreement entered into through a lawyer, on the night of the 31st of August, 1916, carried out the destruction of Doves Press, recorded in detail:

I threw three pages into the Thames from Hammersmith Bridge. . . . I will now go on until I have destroyed the whole of it. . . . A few minutes later, Jerry and I were outside the Saturday-closed printing room of the Journalism building for a glimpse of the proof press (not a Washington handpress) on which he had printed his class project, THOMAS JAMES COBDEN-SANDERSON.

What is most immediately impressive about the Qara Press edition, THOMAS JAMES COBDEN-SANDERSON, is that it's a book done by an amateur (in the essential meaning of the term) on, perhaps, the most starry-eyed of all amateurs in the world of book-binding and printing. The love, the devotion that must have been put into the production of this work seems to prismaticize the austere sense of the heavens, captured in blacks and whites, which characterizes the subject's relationship with his craft. Material is carefully selected. Cobden-Sanderson's delicately romantic nature is revealed in a reproduced letter on the first page:

My Dear Ambassador. . . . Perhaps when I shall have rescued myself from the necessity thus incessantly to work, I may emerge and like a new-born butterfly sun my wings and gather hither in the beautiful valleys of life. . . . Cobden-Sanderson, in May of 1865, seems very much a young man of his age. Later, however, following his marriage to "the poor child, my Hebe," his "darling" and after he fixes upon book-binding (then printing, as his his way of life, in keeping with a suggestion by the William Morris') the aesthete seems (with ink stains) to have come to know the words:

3rd Sept., 1885—
The word 'success' has been the bane of my life, and I could wish to be quit of the thought of it, and yet to succeed. . . . finally coming full circle, through the shaping discipline of arranging blacks and whites on a page, into the hard austere beauty which characterizes both the heavens and all classical art:

17 Jan., 1906—
I have not sought in my work to satisfy the instincts or exclusiveness of collectors, but rather to impart that sense of order and still serenity of beauty which is excited by the contemplation of the universe itself, or of some part of its isolated scenes. . . . The vision of the amateur ripens into the selfless devotion, always mindful of the extent and limitations of craft and material, of the artist:

The Ideal Book—
The whole duty of Typography, as of Calligraphy, is to communicate to the imagination, without loss by the way, the thought or image intended to be communicated by the Author. . . . The above may serve a more knowing eye than mine with a standard to measure the achievement of this tour d'amoire. The simple cover, pasted with handsome blue-grey Moriki paper, the simple but sturdy Curtis Rag on which the arranged blacks and whites of Garamond type is suggestive of a fitting asterid (the wide margins at the sides and the traditional beautiful book generous margin at the bottom are all restful and pleasing to the eye.

Of course, the ideal book on Cobden-Sanderson would be printed in Doves Type: a book beautiful on the author of The Book Beautiful, set in the Type Beautiful. But this would require the prior services of a deep-riper diver to supplement those of a fine-printer.

German Command Recalled

May Ease Berlin Crisis

MOSCOW (UPI) — Marshal Ivan Konev, the tough and unyielding army commander sent to East Germany to back the Communist Berlin wall with a force of 20 divisions, was recalled Thursday in a possible move to ease the Berlin crisis.

Konev, 64-year-old Red army hero of World War II, is returning to his old job in the defense ministry. He is being replaced as commander of Russian forces in East Germany by Col. Gen. Ivan Jakubovski, the man he succeeded Aug. 10, three days before the wall went up.

His departure announced Thursday by the Tass news agency followed the disclosure that retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's personal representative in West Berlin, is returning to the United States. It coincided with renewed U.S.-Russian Berlin probing talks in Washington.

Konev's sudden appearance in East Germany last fall after retiring as commander of Warsaw Pact forces in 1960 because of illness puzzled and worried Western observers. He is a flint hard marshal known as "The Tank" because of his stocky build, and his dispatch to Berlin appeared to harden the Soviet position.

Konev arrived in Berlin when the regime of East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht seemed headed for collapse unless the flood of refugees to West Berlin — then 5,000 a day — could be stopped.

The Communists began building the wall on Sunday, Aug. 13 and it appeared Konev was sent there because the Kremlin was willing to fight if the Allies tried to tear it down. At one point American and Soviet tanks faced each other across the wall in one of the tensest moments of the cold war.

Konev is considered one of the Soviet's greatest ground warfare strategists. He was famous in World War II for destroying Nazi concentrations by cutting their supply and escape routes — a tactic aptly suited for isolated Berlin.

Allied observers doubted Konev gave the order to build the wall. That apparently was decided when Ulbricht went to Moscow for talks with Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev. But Konev was sent in to show the Communists meant business.

He is credited with influencing the Western decision not to knock down the wall by a series of military moves he took. He moved one Red division into East Berlin and on Aug. 13 ordered the 20th Russian guard army, mostly tanks and mechanized forces, to surround all Berlin. At the same time he put the 24th Russian air army MIG jet fighter squadrons in a state of standing alarm.

Last fall, Konev commanded the largest postwar maneuvers ever held in Soviet-occupied Germany, coordinating Russian and East German forces with troops of most of the Warsaw Pact powers.

When Gen. Clay ordered American tanks to the West Berlin border at Friedrich Strasse Konev sent Russian tanks to confront them.

Konev's recall to the defense ministry was the latest in a series of events indicating the Russians might be trying to ease Berlin tensions.

The Soviet ended six-week harassment of the Berlin air lanes late last month.

There have been no major incidents on the autobahns linking Berlin to the west for months. Russian checks of allied troops transiting the 110-mile route have been unusually fast.

TYPHOON SEASON
TOKYO (AP) — Typhoon Georgia, an early seasonal storm with 115-mile center winds, was spotted 195 miles west of Guam Thursday night, churning along at 12 miles per hour, U.S. Air Force weathermen in Tokyo reported.

hence, she alters her decision and is willing to file a statement of agreement with our office," he said. "her facility will be reinstated."

"If this decision is not altered within this period, at the end of a calendar year, we will be obliged to remove her name from the off-campus registry."

Huit said that his office was not satisfied with the way in which the information for these 10 cases was originally obtained and presented as evidence.

But he said, "We profited by the opportunity for direct personal contacts with the householder in trying to obtain insights about their thinking."

He said his office was interested in having some kind of information which would provide some basis for speaking directly with householders.

The investigation was conducted by Huit and Dirck Brown, counselor of men. Huit interviewed eight of the householders, and Brown interviewed two.

He said two persons investigated to assure that office that an unbiased impression was being obtained.

He said they had three purposes in mind in conducting the investigation:

(1) To determine householder attitudes about this area of social concern without a ny motivation whatsoever to penalize or chastize at that stage.

(2) To restate the University's policy in connection with discriminatory practices.

(3) To determine the potential for changing any attitudes of bias which might exist.

Huit said he regretted implications made that the delay in reporting his findings was a stalling tactic. The reason for the delay, he said, is that the press of his regular responsibilities and duties and out-of-town commitments made it impossible to present it earlier.

In speaking of the University's policy on discrimination, he said, "Opposition to any kind of discrimination or biases because of race, creed or color is a fundamental policy of the University, which has been supported and encouraged by student government, faculty and administration."

"There is no question in my mind about disagreement on our general aims or goals in this respect since we are all striving, or should be, for a climate of no discrimination."

He added that he felt the real problem has been to determine how best to achieve this goal.

would hope we all believe that education is the primary and ultimate solution to this problem," he said. Although there was no concrete evidence of bias in the few situations investigated, Huit said, they did find attitudes reflecting some degree of doubt about the householder's true feelings.

"It is our judgment that the attitudes expressed are not nearly so stark and arbitrary as to be unamenable to change," he added. He feels that the University's position in the area of education has been an enlightened one, he said. The progress which has been made through the years toward our ultimate goals have been significant, he added.

The designation of color was removed from dormitory application forms in 1959, he said, although this had not been a consideration for admission to dorms for many years.

Sometime prior to this removal in 1959, he said, the Student Council conducted a survey of student attitudes in connection with non-discriminatory assignment.

"The recommendation of the Council at that time was that such a policy might well be delayed for two years," he added, "by reason of a general feeling that dorm residents were not generally ready to accept it at that time."

Huit said that the majority of householders involved in the recent investigation have rented to students five to ten years. One has rented for one year, and one for 18 years.

He said that an extremely interesting fact, if true, was that at least five householders had never had a Negro student come to his or her door to inquire about a room.

The householder who had rented to students for 18 years told him that only one Negro had applied in all that time, he said.

Says GOP Brass Asked His Help In Unifying Party

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — State Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell said Thursday high ranking Republicans asked him if he would help unify the state party should former Vice President Richard Nixon win the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

Shell, who has strong backing of the conservatives and is Nixon's major opponent for the GOP nomination, said several national and state party leaders fear Nixon cannot defeat Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown in the November election without conservative votes.

"They asked me if I would help rally the Republican conservatives to support Nixon should Nixon win the nomination," Shell said.

"There were no secret meetings or deals. There have been several discussions in recent weeks with several party figures. But I have never been asked to drop out of the race."

Shell said he was told that if he lent such support to Nixon, he would be given a high post in Nixon's state administration.

VA Hospital To Recognize Volunteers

The Veterans Administration Hospital in Iowa City will honor 75 volunteer workers for their contribution of service to the hospital during 1961 on "Volunteer Day," April 24.

The volunteer workers being honored contributed over 58,000 hours of service to the hospital during 1961. Awards and special recognition will be given volunteers for the specific number of hours they have contributed.

Thirty-three volunteer workers will be honored for service since the hospital came into operation ten years ago.

In the period 1952-1962, 1,828 volunteer workers have contributed over 426,000 hours of service. This represents over $500,000.

Volunteers at the Veterans Administration Hospital represent 37 communities surrounding Iowa City.

The program for Volunteer Day will start at 9 a.m. with registration in the main lobby of the hospital. Awards will be made at a noon luncheon at the Mayflower Inn.

Dr. J. Gordon Spendlove, hospital director, will deliver the main address.

Board Urges Teaching of Communism

DES MOINES (AP) — Some members of the State Board of Public Instruction indicated Thursday they felt the teaching of democracy vs. Communism should be part of the history and social studies programs of Iowa schools.

Americans would be better able to further the democratic way of life if they thoroughly understood Communism, President Harry Reed said at a board meeting.

Paul Johnston, state superintendent of public instruction, noted that many state boards of public instruction are issuing policy statements urging schools to stress the teaching of Communism.

He suggested that Iowa board members give some thought to the matter.

GOP Congressional Leaders Blast Kennedy Steel Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican Congressional leaders accused President Kennedy Thursday of an unprecedented "display of naked political power" similar to police state methods in his price hike battle with big steel.

House and Senate Republican leaders issued a formal statement charging that Kennedy "directed or supported a series of governmental actions that imperiled basic American rights, went far beyond the law and were more characteristic of a police state than a free government."

The GOP statement cited nine actions, ranging from the launching of a grand jury investigation to announcement of twin Congressional inquiries, as evidence of what it branded "massive retaliation by the federal government."

"Taken cumulatively these nine actions amount to a display of naked political power never seen before in this nation," they said.

"Taken singly these nine actions are punitive, heavy-handed and frightening."

The Republican blast followed a week of semi-silence on the part of many Republicans concerning Kennedy's moves to get the major steel firms to call off the $6 per ton steel price hike he deemed inflationary and a threat to the nation's economy.

When the increase was rescinded, he was credited by many with a major political victory.

"Temporarily President Kennedy may have won a political victory," the Republicans said, "but at the cost of doing violence to the fundamental precepts of a free society."

"This nation must realize that we have passed within the shadow of police state methods. We hope that we never again step into those dark regions whatever the controversy of the moment, be it economic or political."

The leadership organization includes Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen, (Ill.), House Leader Charles A. Halleck, (Ind.), Rep. William E. Miller, (N.Y.), the national GOP chairman; and six other chairmen or ranking members of party committees.

They held that a "fundamental issue has been raised: should a president of the United States use the enormous powers of the federal government to blackjack any segment of our free society into line with his personal judgment without regard to law?"

"If big government can be used to extra-legally reverse the economic decisions of one industry in a free economy," they said, "then it can be used to reverse the decision of any business, big or small, of labor, of farmers, in fact of any citizen."

The Republicans said that "most disturbing" was the use of the FBI in "routing newspapermen out of bed at 3 a.m." to check on a statement attributed to Bethlehem Steel Corporation's president.

"Since the days of our founding fathers, this land has been the haven of millions who fled from the feared knock on the door in the night," they declared.

"We condone nothing in the actions of the steel companies except their right to make an economic judgment without massive retaliation by the Federal Government."

Drive Gives $400 To Salvation Army

The Salvation Army has received $400 from the Iowa City Community Giving fund drive made last fall, it was announced by the Salvation Army service extension department last week.

A portion of this contribution is being returned to the service unit of the Salvation Army in Iowa City. The balance is being retained by state headquarters for its regional program.

The Salvation Army Service program in Iowa includes the Booth Memorial Home and Hospital for unwed mothers, located in Des Moines, and a summer camp maintained for deserving children and mothers, aged people and blind and deaf people in the state.

The Salvation Army also works extensively for the spiritual welfare of inmates in Iowa's correctional institutes.

In periods of disaster, the Salvation Army has two well-equipped emergency canteens ready for immediate service. These canteens are located in Waterloo and Des Moines.

Musial Now 2nd in Total Bases; Cards Whip Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Musial drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Curt Flood cracked four hits including a homer as the unbeaten St. Louis Cardinals inflicted the seventh straight defeat (9-4) upon the winless New York Mets Thursday.

Ken Boyer also homered, his third in two games here for the Cardinals, who collected 14 hits off three Mets pitchers for their sixth successive win.

The Mets' losing streak is two games short of the modern National League record of nine at the start of a season, by the 1918 Brooklyn Dodgers and the 1919 Boston Braves. The major league mark is 13, set by Washington in 1904 and tied by Detroit in 1920.

Musial's two hits, both singles, tied him with Babe Ruth for second place in the all-time standings in total bases at 5,793. Ty Cobb is the leader with 5,863.

Rookie right-hander Ray Washburn pitched the first eight innings for the Cardinals, permitting six hits, walking five and striking out four for his first win. All of the Mets' runs came as a result of home runs. Frank Thomas hit two, both with the bases empty, to raise his total to four. Ed Bouchee, starting his first game at first base, had half of the Mets' hits, including a two-run homer in the fourth.

Yanks Beat Orioles, 3-1

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Mickey Mantle's home run and triple, Johnny Blanchard's tie-breaking double and Ralph Terry's six-hit pitching gave the New York Yankees a 3-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Thursday night.

Terry, gaining his third win without defeat, was the first Yankee pitcher to go the distance this season as he struck out 10.

Blanchard broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning when he doubled inside first base to score Tom Tresh, who had doubled to open the inning. The Yankees scored their third run in the ninth when Mantle tripped and scored on Elston Howard's infield out.

Mantle got the Yankees off in front in the second inning powering losing pitcher Chuck Estrada's first pitch over the 390-foot sign in right-center for his second home run of the season.

Baltimore tied the score when Jackie Brandt led off the second inning with a single, stole second and scored on Jerry Adair's two-out double over Mantle's head.

8th in Row For Pirates

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National League-leading Pittsburgh Pirates defeated Philadelphia 6-3 Thursday night for their eighth straight victory without a loss. Bill Mazeroski homered for the second night in a row, this time with Don Leppert on base. The homer, Mazeroski's third of the season, came after Phillies' starter Art Mahaffey hit Leppert with a pitched ball to open the fourth inning. Mahaffey was the first of five pitchers the Phillies used.

The Pirates wasted no time scoring. Bill Virdon, first man up in the game, doubled and came home on John Callison's poor throw-in from right field after Dick Groat had singled.

Pittsburgh got two runs in the third and added another in the ninth on Don Hoak's single and Leppert's double.

Homer by Snider Beats Reds 4-3

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Ron Peranoski rescued Sandy Koufax in the eighth inning Thursday night by striking out Gordon Coleman with two men on base to preserve the Los Angeles Dodgers' 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Duke Snider provided Koufax with the margin of victory, his second in three decisions, by hitting a home run into the right field bleachers in the fourth inning. Willie Davis also homered for Los Angeles.

With two out in the eighth and a man on first, Koufax walked Frank Robinson and gave a run-scoring single to Wally Post that cut the Dodger margin to one run. Los Angeles . . . 120 100 000—4 9 0

Early Release Possible For Player-Reservists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army said Thursday prospects are bright that some — possibly all — of the 20 major league baseball players summoned to duty as military Reservists may be able to rejoin their teams in May on grounds they hold seasonal jobs.

The proviso made such stars as New York Yankee shortstop Tony Kubek, Baltimore pitching ace Steve Barber and Cleveland hurler Jim (Mudcat) Grant eligible for possible release ahead of the August date set for Reservists generally by President Kennedy.

The 90-day early release of baseball players could quickly change the complexion of the 1962 American and National League pennant races.

An Army spokesman said professional baseball players fall in the same category as other seasonal employees such as school teachers and farm workers. Defense policy is that whenever possible such Reservists be given the 90-day ahead-of-time release.

An Army spokesman cautioned, however, that each individual case is determined on its own merits. There is no guarantee that applications for release in May will be granted. The American League lists 10 players on the national defense list. They are Barber, shortstop Ron Hansen and outfielder Barry Shetrone of the Baltimore Orioles; Kubek of the Yankees; Grant and pitcher Wynn Hawkins of the Cleveland Indians; infielder Deron Johnson of the Kansas City A's and outfielder George Thomas, infielder Gene Leek and pitcher Ron Moeller of the Los Angeles Angels.

The 10 National League players on the defense list are catcher Dick Bertell and outfielder Jim McAnany of the Chicago Cubs; pitcher Dick Drott and infielder George Williams of the Houston Colts; pitcher Charlie Spell of the Los Angeles Dodgers; catcher Bob Taylor of the Milwaukee Braves; catcher Jim Coker of the Philadelphia Phillies, and catcher John Orsino and pitchers Roger Sinner and Verle Tiefenthaler of the San Francisco Giants.

Giants Defeat Braves, 7-6 On 5th Inning 5-Run Rally

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants rallied for five runs in the fifth inning Thursday, to move ahead of Milwaukee and finish with a 7-6 victory.

Juan Marichal, who got off to a shaky start by giving up a three-run homer to Eddie Mathews in the first inning, went all the way for his second win of the season without a loss. Mathews also hit a two-run homer in the ninth in a futile effort to get the Braves back in the game.

Lew Burdette, the first of four Milwaukee pitchers, was charged with his second loss against no wins.

Jim Davenport led off the fifth with a solo home run and Burdette collapsed, allowing the next four batters to get on base with a single and three walks before being pulled.

One of Burdette's pitches went wild to score a run. Reliever Ron Piche sent home another run with a walk and Jose Pagan's single drove in two more runs.

The Giants came up with what proved to be their margin of victory in the seventh when Willie Mays led off with a double, and Orlando Cepeda singled.

Felipe Alou's followup single scored Mays and Cepeda came home on Ed Bailey's sacrifice fly. Joe Adcock had a solo home run in the eighth.

Big Ten Baseball Race Opens Today

CHICAGO (UPI) — Defending champion Michigan and seven other 1962 contenders open the Big Ten baseball season this afternoon.

Coach Don Lund's Wolverines, returning from successful forays in Arizona, start the league campaign as hosts to Illinois today and at Purdue for a Saturday doubleheader.

In other singles, today, Wisconsin is at Ohio State, Northwestern at Indiana, and Purdue at Michigan State.

In other Saturday twin-bills Northwestern is at Ohio State, Wisconsin at Indiana and Illinois at Michigan State.

Iowa and Minnesota are scheduled for non-conference action over the weekend. The Hawkeyes play at Bradley once on Friday and twice on Saturday and the Gophers are hosts to Iowa State in a similar three-game weekend.

Ortiz, Brown To Clash For Crown Saturday

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — New York's brash young Carlos Ortiz, who meets world lightweight champion Joe Brown for the title Saturday, predicted Thursday the match would not go the full 15 rounds.

"The way I plan to operate, one of us has got to go out," said 25-year-old Carlos. "I'm ready to start fighting the first minute of the first round and right until the bell sounds.

Landis' 2 Homers Help Dump Twins

ST. PAUL—MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Jim Landis' grand slam home run highlighted a nine-run first inning Thursday as the Chicago White Sox bombed the Minnesota Twins, 10-3, and tied a major league record by leaving no runners on base.

Landis, who also singled in the 31-minute White Sox first inning, blasted his second homer of the game and fourth of the season with the bases empty in the seventh. The grand slam blow was his first in major league play. His three hits produced five runs.

John Buzhardt went the route for Chicago, recording his first win against one loss.

The White Sox jumped on Minnesota starter Jim Kaat for four consecutive singles in the first. Rookie Jim Manning replaced Kaat on the mound and was the victim of two run-producing errors before Camilo Carreon singled in another pair.

Red Sox Beat Chicago, 9-5

BOSTON (AP) — Lu Clinton's grand slam homer in the fifth inning paced Boston to a 9-5 victory over the Detroit Tigers Thursday.

Clinton, replacing Gary Geiger in the Red Sox outfield, tagged a pitch from former Boston hurler Jerry Casale into the left field screen to cap Boston's six-run fifth. It was the 24-year-old Clinton's first major league homer and the second grand slammer of the season for the Sox, their only runtripper to date.

The score was deadlocked at 1-1 when the high-handed Regan gave up a single to Conley with one out in the fifth. And then Regan issued his first three walks of the game, forcing in a run. Regan was replaced by Casale with the bases loaded.

Clinton then belted a 2-2 pitch to give the Red Sox a 7-1 lead. Detroit . . . 000 100 031—5 12 1

Angels Whip A's On Moran's 12th Inning Home Run

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Billy Moran broke a 12th inning tie with the first American League home run ever hit in Chavez Ravine and brought the Los Angeles Angels 6-4 victory over the Kansas City Athletics Thursday.

There were two out and Eddie Yost was aboard with a walk when Moran drove one of Dave Wickersham's pitches 380 feet into the left field pavillion.

The victory went to Red Witt (1-0). It was the fifth victory for the Angels in seven games and kept them one half game behind the league leading Chicago White Sox.

The Angels got a run off starter Art Dittmar in the second on a single by Bob Rodgers, two walks and a double play ball. They made it 2-0 in the third when Joe Koppe doubled and scored on a single by Oee Thomas.

Purdue Beats Iowa Netmen

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — Iowa's tennis team lost its second straight Big Ten dual meet here Thursday, dropping a 5-4 decision to Purdue. The Hawkeyes, who lost 6-2 to Northwestern at Evanston, Ill. Wednesday, will face Wisconsin in another dual meet on Purdue's court today.

Iowa's No. 1 man Steve Wilkinson scored an impressive 6-2, 6-3 victory over the Boilermakers' Ross Helst Thursday, but Purdue took three of the other five singles matches and then won two of the three doubles matches.

Iowa's first home appearance will be three dual meets against Michigan State, Minnesota and Wisconsin in the Field House, April 27 and 28.

Here are the results:

Great Britain Rejects Charge Of Scaring Away Turncoats

LONDON (AP) — The British Government rejected charges Thursday it was scaring away turncoat diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean through fear of a fresh probe into the 11-year mystery of their flight to Moscow. Atty. Gen. Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller denied there had been "muddle and leaks" to prevent the return of Burgess and Maclean from Moscow. He told legislators that Scotland Yard spy catchers were armed with warrants against the renegade diplomats "to increase the chance of securing their arrest should they come to an airport in this country or wherever we have jurisdiction. If they are arrested, they will certainly be prosecuted."

Seattle Enters Final Frenzy for Fair

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Seattle's space-age World's Fair entered the final, frenzied hours of preparation Thursday for Saturday's noon gala opening, to be signaled by President Kennedy. A tap on a gold telegraph key by the President, vacationing in Palm Beach, Fla., and a brief telephoned message from him will get the Century 21 Exposition off on its six-month run. Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges will head the list of dignitaries here for the opening ceremonies. Meantime, the 74-acre grounds at the northern fringe of the Seattle business district was described variously as concentrated confusion, organized chaos or Cape Canaveral at launch time. Carpenters sawed and hammered, painters daubed on a rainbow of colors, pavers spread acres of asphalt, trucks shuffled in and out with materials and supplies, and exhibitors worked on a crash program of final installations. Through it all Ewen C. Dingwall, fair general manager, remained calm and radiated optimism. "The spectacle is set," he said. "With a very few exceptions everything will be operating on time when our first visitors enter the fairgrounds Saturday."

Anti-Castro Group Denies Invasion Plan

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The anti-Castro underground organization, People's Revolutionary Movement (MRP) disassociated itself Thursday from reported plans for an early invasion of Cuba's Oriente Province. "We have for some time been planning operations against Fidel Castro," said Joaquin Godoy, leader in exile of MRP. "We have been active in underground anti-Castro activity inside Cuba, and still are."

"But I deny that we now are training men for an invasion." It had been reported that 40 officers and 300 volunteers are in training. While persistent reports linked the invasion plans to MRP, Godoy said neither of the two men mentioned as the military leaders belongs to the movement. He referred to Col. Ramon Barquin, of Puerto Rico, and Col. Martin Helena, of Miami. But Ignacio Mendoza, who resigned three months ago as MRP head, declared: "Col. Barquin is an able man. I hope he, as well as the others, succeeds in such an operation."

Mendoza added: "I have noticed quite a number of organizations heading in the same direction against Castro. They don't want to depend on the CIA (U.S. Central Intelligence Agency)."

Police Prevent Moslem Retaliation in Algiers

ALGIERS (UPI) — Thousands of angry Moslems stormed into the streets of an Algiers suburb Thursday in angry protest against Secret Army Organization (OAS) murders but police kept the mob from reaching the point of violent revenge.

The OAS has tried everything in its power to anger the Moslems into mass retaliation which could bring French army intervention and an end to plans for early Algerian independence. The OAS almost succeeded Thursday as the Moslems rebelled for the first time in Algiers.

The OAS carried out a series of murderous terror attacks with pistols, machineguns and bombs which killed 22 persons and wounded 26, nearly all of them Moslems. It brought the toll of dead and wounded since Jan. 1 to nearly 12,000.

The murderous attacks spread to Oran where four Moslems were killed and four wounded by an OAS tommygun blast fired from a speeding car in a Moslem suburb.

The demonstration Thursday broke out in the Moslem section of the Belcourt suburb which recently was the scene of OAS mortar attacks. The Moslems surged onto the street after two men were wounded by European terrorists firing from a speeding car.

Moslems rushed to the scene from narrow streets from the adjoining neighborhoods. Shouting slogans they marched on a local police station brandishing clubs. But security forces moved in and kept the trouble from spreading while helicopters flew low overhead to check on the situation.

Within an hour the angry crowd dispersed without clashing with police. Leaders of the National Liberation Movement (FLN) which won Algerian independence have appealed to the Moslems not to react to the OAS violence but Thursday their patience came almost to an end.

The daylong series of OAS attacks was an apparent bid to embarrass the foreign minister for Algerian affairs, Louis Joxe, who spent all day in conference at the administration headquarters at Rocher Noir, 36 miles outside Algiers.

Moslem members of the provisional executive now ruling Algeria were reported demanding quick formation of the 40,000-man Moslem special force to restore order and crush the OAS.

Nehru Hits Red Moves Into India

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru announced Thursday that Communist Chinese troops have made new incursions into Indian territory. India called the move a "flagrant breach" of Chinese promises to maintain peace in the area.

Nehru has threatened to go to war with China during past border disputes, but said Thursday peaceful means are being used to induce the Chinese to pull back their troops.

Nehru told parliament the Chinese have set up a new outpost six miles west of Sumdo, in India's remote Ladakh territory east of Kashmir along the border with Communist-ruled Tibet.

He said the government is taking the necessary measures for the defense of its territory from "unlawful Chinese occupation."

Nehru's deputy, Mrs. Lakshmi Menon, said the government sent a strong note to Peiping Sunday, charging that the Chinese outpost in Ladakh "has obviously been developed recently and constitutes, needless to say, a flagrant breach of the repeated assurances extended by the Chinese government regarding maintenance of the status quo in the area."

The note urged China to withdraw immediately from its new positions and expressed regret that Peiping should continue its "systematic and deliberate encroachments into Indian territory without proper regard to the grave consequences that these may entail."

Nehru declined to discuss the nature of the government's measures to get the Chinese to withdraw, but said "all peaceful avenues" are being explored.

The flying visit to Algiers of Algerian Affairs Minister Louis Joxe was a key move in the sweeping plan.

The Evian peace agreement called for formation of the group to control the countryside in Algeria but the Moslem-dominated Provisional Executive wants to bring it into the cities where most of the violence has occurred. Joxe was expected to reach a compromise that would still knock out the OAS.

Protestants Invite Attendance Of Segregationist

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Segregationist Mrs. B. J. Gaillot Jr. said Thursday she has received invitations to attend several Protestant churches since her excommunication from the Roman Catholic Church. She said she has not accepted the Protestant invitations, but that she would not attend Catholic Mass again until the excommunication is lifted.

"Sunday will be the first time in my life that I have missed Easter Mass," the 42-year-old Mrs. Gaillot said. She was one of three lifelong Catholics excommunicated Monday for continued and public opposition to Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel's recent order to desegregate all Catholic schools next fall in the archdiocese of New Orleans.

Mrs. Gaillot's husband has asked that he, too, be excommunicated, since he shares his wife's belief that the Bible demands segregation.

Says Public Wants More Entertainment

CHICAGO (UPI) — An executive of the American Broadcasting Co. said Thursday the average American wants more entertainment and sports on television and less discussion and documentary programs.

Sterling C. Quinlan, ABC vice president and general manager of Chicago television station WBKB, warned that replacement of network offerings in large cities with more local programs would have a "deplorable" effect on the television available to smaller communities.

Quinlan testified before a Federal Communications Commission hearing into how well Chicago television stations are meeting their public service responsibilities. The hearing, the first of its kind ever held, has been concentrating on statements by Chicago television executives this week as a sequel to an earlier session when FCC Commissioner Robert E. Lee heard public criticism and praised of the stations.

Quinlan said network profits from such large cities as Chicago make it possible to provide programs of high caliber to the smallest markets in the nation.

"If the financial base of networking was eroded, the whole fabric of network television would change to the ultimate detriment of all communities," he said.

Congress Recesses, Important Work Ahead

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress virtually closed up shop Thursday for the Easter season. When full sessions resume April 30, some of the most important legislation of the session will face the lawmakers.

The House recessed for 10 days. While many senators also headed for home, the Senate officially will be in session next week.

Southerners will be most affected by the Senate leaders' decision not to call a recess, since the administration's voting literacy test bill will be called up for debate early in the week.

The Dixie senators have made it clear they will filibuster against the bill and will be taking turns talking against it. During these drawn out sessions, many senators will slip home.

With no business scheduled Thursday, most House members skipped the last pre-Easter session. The handful of members who showed up heard some oratory and received best wishes from Democratic leader Carl Albert (D-Okla.) for a "happy and blessed Easter."

The speeches consisted mostly of criticism by a couple of Republicans, Reps. Bruce Alger (Tex.) and Thomas Curtis (Mo.) of President Kennedy's role in last week's steel price controversy.

The House faces the toughest phase of its session when it returns. Pending are the trade bill Should your next step be the Peace Corps?

Many college graduates have decided to volunteer for two years of service in the Peace Corps upon the completion of their formal academic training. Their reasons have been both practical and idealistic. Perhaps such a decision would be the right one for you. As a Peace Corps volunteer, you can make a valuable contribution in the world-wide battle against ignorance, poverty, tyranny and disease. By sharing your American skill, knowledge and know-how with the peoples of rising nations, you can do something of importance for human dignity and welfare, for world peace and freedom. And you can do something for yourself as well. Service in the Peace Corps in South America, Asia or Africa is an investment that will add substantially to your professional competence and stature. It can provide an opportunity for experience and responsibility that will pay dividends throughout your career in the years ahead. Teachers, engineers, mathematicians, archeologists, doctors, nurses, agricultural specialists, and liberal arts graduates in many other categories (probably including yours) are now being selected by the Peace Corps. Placement tests (non-competitive) will be given soon. Use the coupon below to receive full information at once.

House-Moving Case Settled for $1,300

Louis Seebeck settled his $18,000 damage suit against Iowa City and three city officials out of court Thursday, after three and one-half days of testimony in Johnson County District Court. Seebeck is to receive $1,300 from the city.

Actions against city manager Peter F. Roan and Roan's administrative assistant, S. W. McAllister Jr., were dismissed earlier by district judge James P. Gaffney.

Gaffney upheld a motion to dismiss the individual cases against Roan and McAllister. The settlement was reached at a conference following the dismissal.

Seebeck, whose house was demolished by city crews as it blocked Magowan Avenue on Dec. 8 and 9, 1959, originally sought $18,000.

The trial closed after questioning of Roan. The trial had been adjourned Wednesday afternoon at the request of Seebeck's attorney, William H. Bartley, who asked for a conference with the defendants' attorneys and the judge before the trial proceeded.

The trial adjourned Wednesday with Roan's attorney cross-examining him about a telephone conversation he had had with the city attorney Dec. 8, 1959.

Roan testified Thursday that all action he took concerning the house was with the advice of Edward W. Lucas, who was then city attorney.

Roan's defense was that he had taken all action in the best interest of the city and that he was not liable for his actions.

McAllister said he was acting under expressed orders from Roan when he ordered the house demolished.

Bartley and Adam Kreuter, Cedar Rapids, representing Seebeck, contended a hearing should have been held before Seebeck's permit to move the house was revoked.

According to testimony, neither the permit nor the license were removed.

Roan told Attorney William L. Meardon, who defended McAllister that all McAllister's actions were taken as his (Roan's) assistant.

McAllister testified Wednesday that Roan told him of the situation and that house would have to be moved.

McAllister said he conferred with city attorney Lucas before he took final action.

The city said the house stalled on Magowan because property owners would not consent to having their trees trimmed.

Costs of the action will be paid by the city.

Honor Groups To Initiate 56 Students

Fifty-six outstanding students at SUI will be initiated Wednesday into freshman honor societies.

Alpha Lambda Delta will initiate 36 coeds who have earned a 3.5 grade average or better in their first semester in college. Phi Eta Sigma will initiate 20 men who became eligible by maintaining a 3.5 academic average or better in their first semester or first two semesters at the University.

George Forell, professor of Religion will speak at a banquet honoring initiates of both groups at 6 p.m. Wednesday in the River Room of Iowa Memorial Union. His topic will be "Education in Europe and America."

Twenty-two SUI seniors who became members of the honor groups as freshmen and have maintained a 3.5 scholastic average throughout their college years will be special guests at the banquet.

Cognie Maxwell, A2, Kewanee, Ill., president of Alpha Lambda Delta, is in charge of the coeds' initiation at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol. Charles Dick Jr., A2, Hampton, Phi Eta Sigma president, will preside at the ceremony for the men at 5 p.m. Wednesday in Danforth Chapel.

Record Crowd at Holy Week Mass

VATICAN CITY — The biggest Holy Week crowd in St. Peter's Basilica in recent years pressed shoulder to shoulder around the gold-and-bronze altar for Mass on Holy Thursday.

Paolo Cardinal Marella, member of the Vatican Curia, mounted the carpeted altar steps above the crypt where St. Peter was buried. Later he removed his gold-embroidered outer vestment and put on a white apron to wash the feet of 12 student priests — commemorating Christ's action at the Last Supper.

The ritual — a highlight of Holy Thursday ceremonies opening the three-day period before Easter — was repeated in many other churches throughout Rome.

Pope John XXIII, who had washed the feet of seminarians the past three years, did not take part in the ritual in St. Peter's this year. He consecrated 12 cardinals as bishops earlier in the day in another Holy Thursday service at the basilica of St. John Lateran, his see as bishop of Rome.

In homily during that service, he traced the growth and development of the College of Cardinals through the centuries.

UN Troops Force Tshombe's Release At Congo Airport

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Katanga President Moise Tshombe flew home from Leopoldville Thursday after a dramatic pre-dawn getaway and publicly praised the United Nations for protecting him in defiance of Congolese effort to prevent his departure.

Tshombe was escorted through Elisabethville's main street and then told a cheering crowd of some 5,000 persons in the Square of National Heroes.

"The United Nations has fought all night to keep its word . . . we must pay tribute to the United Nations for all they have done for my protection."

The United Nations managed to get Tshombe's plane off the ground at Leopoldville airport after more than 16 hours effort by Central government officials to keep the Katanga leader from leaving the capital. The Congolese had grounded all aircraft to block Tshombe's departure.

U.N. Security officials in Leopoldville said that Nigerian U.N. troops had "used force" to clear the runway which the Congolese had tried to block with airport fire trucks.

The Nigerians were in full control of the Leopoldville airport control tower at the time Tshombe's plane took off.

Average U.S. Income Up

WASHINGTON — The average family income in the United States increased by $180 last year to $7,020. The gain was smaller than in 1960.

The Commerce Department, announcing these figures Thursday said that if increased living costs are taken into account, real income rose by $90 in 1961. The income gain a year earlier was $230, or $140 after making allowances for inflation.

Since 1947, the average family income has risen by $2,890 or 70 per cent. The advance amounts to $1,590, or about 30 per cent, if allowance is made for rising living costs.

During the 14 years the rise in average buying power was reflected in the upward shift of families and unattached individuals into higher income brackets.

In terms of 1961 purchasing power the proportion with incomes below $2,000 dropped from 16 to 12 per cent. The proportion with incomes between $2,000 and $3,999 declined from 28 to 19 per cent.

There was a marked rise, on the other hand, from 47 to 52 per cent in the number at the middle income level of $4,000 to $10,000.

Van Allen Plan — (Continued from Page One)

plans on what it is going to do and "then goes about" doing it.

He outlined a step that was neither too big nor too small. He said a program of action should be both "forward looking" and "within our capabilities."

And in passing he called the State Board of Regents a "bright spot" in the Iowa educational picture. His plan is for a "larger, professional, regular staff" to supplement the Regents' activities.

There is considerable research and planning being done now, and also in the past, by the Regents and administrators of Iowa's higher educational institutions. Studies have been done on many academic problems, on curriculum duplication in the institutions, on salary needs on operating costs and on the possibility of more efficient use of classroom facilities.

But Van Allen wants more study. To date, there has been little action on the Van Allen proposal. Several newspapers have endorsed the plan editorially, but there seems to be little other excitement.

Hancher expressed a ready argument for those who claim that Iowa has no potential, and is only a vast wasteland of ignorance and cold winters.

His answer: "New York City centered upon an island of solid rock — Los Angeles, set upon a desert — and Chicago, erected upon a swamp — show that the talent and the will and the vision of a people are greater assets than material goods."

"Greatness is not achieved by waiting for something to turr up," Hancher said in closing his State of the University message in January; "the time for action is at hand."

International Debate

Debaters from University College, Dublin, Ireland, will challenge two SUI students Thursday in an International Debate on the subject "Shall We March on Cuba?"

Norman Oberstein, A4, Des Moines, and John Niemeyer, L1, Elkader, will represent SUI in the debate against Dublin students Louis Bernard D. Courtney, a medical student, and Charles Edward Mathew Lysaght, a law student.

The debate will be at 8 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium and will be open to the public free of charge.

Oberstein is vice-president of the SUI chapter of Delta Sigma Rho, forensic honorary group, and president of the Iowa Forensic Association. Niemeyer is 1961-62 SUI student body president.

Comic Operas Scheduled

SUI's Opera Workshop will present two one-act comic operas May 5 at 8 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium.

The program will include "The Impresario" by Mozart and "Gianni Schicchi" by Puccini.

Accompaniment to both operas will be provided by a chamber orchestra under the direction of Paul Olefsky, associate professor of music at SUI.

The performance, open to the public free of charge, will be the last of four programs of the Opera Workshop this year.

SUI Prints in Show

Prints by three SUI artists have been chosen for a traveling show from works shown in the 24th Annual Exhibit of the Society of Washington Printmakers, held at the Smithsonian Institute recently.

The prints selected are "Libera Me" by Keith Achepong, instructor in printmaking; "Hive No. IV" by Charles Klabunde, G, Omaha, Neb.; and "Portrait of an Artist" by Mauricio Lasansky, professor of printmaking. The traveling show of 30 prints will be exhibited in schools and colleges in the Middle Atlantic area during the coming year.

The Society of Washington Printmakers exhibition consisted of 165 prints selected from 1,027 entries. The work of nine SUI artists was included in the show.

Lasansky's "Portrait of an Artist," a color intaglio print, was selected for the permanent collection of the Library of Congress from this exhibition.

Humanities Talk on Sinai

"Fifty Days on Sinai" will be the topic for a Humanities Society Lecture April 26 by Professor Ihor Sevcenko of Columbia University.

He will give the illustrated talk at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Art Building.

Sevcenko, the Byzantinist in the Department of History at Columbia, will report on an expedition conducted on Sinai in 1960 by University of Michigan, Princeton and Columbia historians. His lecture will cover the architecture, iconography, manuscripts, and inscriptions studied by the expedition.

Observatory Open

The SUI Observatory on top of the Physics Building is open to the public every Monday from 8 to 10 p.m. when skies are clear.

It is also open to private groups Friday evenings. To reserve the Observatory, phone Satoshi Matsu-shima, associate professor of physical astronomy, x4485, 318 Physics Building.

The moon will be visible for viewing April 9, 13 and 16, May 11 and 14, and June 8 and 11.

Visible during April and May are Uranus, the Orion Nebula, Double Cluster, Prosepe, Alcor and Mizar, Pleiades, and the Crab Nebula.

Portrait for Sale

LONDON (AP) — Rembrandt's portrait of St. Bartholomew, one of the few important works by the Dutch master still in private hands, will be sold at a London auction on June 27.

The portrait, dated 1661, is being who lives in downtown Castle near Ludlow.

The painting, brought to England in the late 18th century, has belonged to the Lennox family for 150 years. It is 34 inches high and 29 1/2 inches wide.

A GARLAND OF MUSIC will grace this day from 8:30 a.m., when a potpourri of short, seasonal works will fill the hour until The Bookshelf, through a performance of the St. Matthew Passion by Bach at 7 p.m. In between you'll find these attractions:

A MEDITATION ON THE PASSION, a production of the BBC featuring actress Flora Robson, will be aired at 10 a.m. A non-Bach "Passion of St. John" is that by Schutz which is scheduled for 11 a.m. In place of the classroom broadcast usually heard at 2 p.m., there will be a performance of The Great Service by William Byrd. Magnificats by Schutz and Buxtehude will appear at 2:50 just before The Sacred Service (Avodath Hakodesh) by Ernest Bloch. There will be a bit of Easter poetry mixed with the music of Evening Concert at 6 when the last of Couperin's Lessons of the Tenebrae is heard.

"MESSIAH" EASTER MUSIC will be brought to the air on Saturday at about 7 p.m. It will be preceded by music which would ordinarily be played on Easter Sunday — when WSUI and KSUI-FM are off the air. For the most part, Saturday will be much like any other Saturday at WSUI: The Musical at 9 a.m., CUE at 10, Saturday Supplement (holiday oriented, no doubt) at 1 p.m.

Erbe To Lead Protest Against Guard Change

DES MOINES (UPI) — Iowa Governor Norman A. Erbe will head a delegation of governors in a personal protest to President Kennedy over what Erbe terms the planned "piecemeal destruction" of the National Guard and Army Reserve, it was announced Thursday.

Erbe said he will urge the governors to present a strong and factual protest to the President over the proposed realignment and cut-back in Guard and Reserve strength announced recently. "My fear is that his first announcement of slashing Guard and Reserve strength is only the beginning," Erbe said. "It's my feeling now that the national administration has marked the Guard and Reserve for piecemeal destruction."

Erbe said, "Tossing trained manpower and tradition into discard at a time when we live in perpetual crisis is an amazing contradiction in our defense effort."

Erbe has been an outspoken

Prof Urges Citizen Exchange Between United States, Russia

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Imagine an invasion of the Soviet Union by 200,000 Americans — not soldiers, but ordinary citizens armed only with ideas and on a 10-day visit in an exchange program that would bring a like number of Russians to this country.

That, in essence, is the "open cities" plan proposed by Edmund Zawacki, a University of Wisconsin professor of Slavic languages.

Zawacki says 12 American communities have formally notified Secretary of State Dean Rusk they are ready to exchange delegations with Soviet communities of comparable size.

The list includes eight communities in Wisconsin where in the last four years the 54-year-old professor has lectured on the idea, plus Waverly and Tripoli, Iowa; Northampton, Mass., where Zawacki was born, and its neighbor, Easthampton. The Wisconsin communities are Jefferson, Belleville, Appleton, Verona, Shorewood, Birnamwood, Perry in Dane County, and Madison.

Zawacki claims several congressmen of both parties are familiar with the idea and interested in it.

Main arguments raised against it by State Department officials, he says, were the cost, the prospect of Soviet resistance and allegations inside the USSR are foreseeable.

There are some 20,000 cities and villages in the United States — about the same number as in the USSR. The plan calls for an exchange of representative delegations from each city with the host government paying expenses.

Lion Talk

BURLINGTON — Farmer Ray Creelman has a two-way radio to keep in touch with home while working, and he jumped a bit when he heard talk of a mountain lion being stalked.

Instead of his wife back at the house, Creelman had picked up a conversation between two hunters in the mountains of Colorado.

He never did find out if they made their kill, however, because atmospheric conditions changed and the Colorado signal faded out.

To Manage Campaign

DES MOINES — Clem Smith of New Hampton was named Thursday as campaign manager for Harold E. Hughes, candidate for Democratic nomination for governor.

Smith, former Chickasaw County attorney and chairman of the board of Investors Life Insurance Co. of Cedar Rapids, served as a campaign aide to former Gov. Herschel Lovelless.

Hughes of Ida Grove is a member of the Iowa Commerce Commission.

Takes Cab to Robbery

KEOKUK — Charles Buckler, 51, who police said hired a cab to ride to and from the place he burglarized, was bound over to a grand jury Thursday on a charge of breaking and entering.

Police said that Buckler of Keokuk rode by cab to the residence of Neil McManus, brother of former Lt. Gov. Edward J. McManus, Saturday night.

Buckler asked the driver to wait, entered the house and ransacked it, police said. Only a small amount of money was taken.

Buckler was held in the Lee County jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Self-Inflicted Injuries?

DES MOINES — Detective Chief Edward J. McCarthy said Thursday "there is a strong possibility that the injuries suffered by John Dixon Shenk were self-inflicted and that his claims of twice being beaten up are hoaxes."

Shenk was a central figure in a Teamsters Union drive to organize six employees at Jobbers Supply Co. here. By a vote of 4-2 Tuesday the employees rejected the union.
