10 Receive First Grants From NASA

3-Year Space Project Training Program To Open Here in Fall

Recipients of the first National Aeronautics and Space Administration training grants for SUI graduate students were announced Friday by Dean John C. Weaver, vice president for research.

The 10 grants were made in a three-year program to begin in September under a $169,500 grant from NASA to SUI. The fields of chemistry, engineering, physics, physiology, and psychology are represented in the initial awards.

Recipients for 1962-63 are: Louis A. Frank, Fort Madison; R. Walker Fillius, Washington, D.C.; H. Kent Hills, Mount Pleasant; Walter C. Nodan, Omaha; John W. Freeman, Madison, Wis.; and David M. Rust, Providence, R.I., all in physics;

Gerald D. Tharp, Wahoo, Neb., physiology; Eugene A. Lovelace, Trumansburg, N.Y.; psychology; Ronald Steiger, Potosi, Wis., chemistry; and James B. Trecek, Stamford, Conn., engineering.

The annual stipend is $2,400 per individual plus tuition, and a special family allowance of up to $1,000 is made for married students. While grants are made for one year only, renewals may be made if the trainee maintains qualifications at a level acceptable to the University, Dean Weaver said.

Projects either proposed or now under way by the trainees include analysis and interpretation of data from SUI earth satellite radiation detectors, a study of biological factors under simulated space travel conditions, high temperature studies related to space capsule re-entry, and water purification in space capsules.

Frank will be engaged in basic experimental research with earth satellite instruments now being designed. He will also do analysis of data from previous satellites.

Fillius will continue his work on design of radiation detectors for satellites, and will take course work toward a Ph.D. degree in the cosmic ray branch of physics.

Analysis and interpretation of data received from the TRAAC-I satellite, which carries two SUI detectors, will be done by Hills.

Freeman will pursue analysis of the proton energy spectrum of the inner Van Allen radiation zone from SUI satellite data.

Tharp will study the effects of simulated space flight on biological rhythms observed in monkeys.

Lovelace will continue his work on the conditions necessary for learning to take place, with special attention to the role of verbal communication in the learning process. Verbal learning is related to certain problem areas of communication and decision process — which are of special interest to space scientists.

High temperature studies and the effect of extreme heat on various materials will be studied by Steiger. Results of this work could have application in solving problems of capsule re-entry into the atmosphere after space flight.

Trecek will conduct research into water purification techniques. Methods of converting impure water into a usable state through a "freezing dry" process are under study in hope of finding a way to reduce the amount of pure water needed on a space craft during extended flights.

Nodan and Rust, who will study physics, will be new students at SUI. All other recipients are presently enrolled.

Dean Weaver pointed out that individuals receiving the NASA support incur no obligation to the Government. Purpose of the program is to increase the supply of scientists and engineers in space-related science and technology.

Marilyn Monroe Cuts Herself Out of Picture

HOLLYWOOD — Twentieth Century-Fox studio removed Marilyn Monroe from the cast of her current film Friday, saying she had repeatedly breached her contract by absences from the studio during production.

She was replaced by blonde actress Lee Remick.

Miss Monroe claimed that illness prevented her from appearing on the set, but studio sources said she frequently appeared in Hollywood night spots. The studio said she appeared on the set on only 12 of 32 days during production so far,

Marshall Helped Estes, Says Texan

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said Friday "that there is no doubt in my mind that Henry H. Marshall aided Billie Sol Estes in his operations."

Marshall, a federal agriculture official who was found shot five times June 3, 1961, had been looking into the Estes', cotton allotment dealings. Marshall's death was ruled a suicide by a justice of the peace. Later a grand jury investigation was called to attempt to determine whether Marshall was murdered or took his own life. The body was exhumed and a pathologist has said he believes Marshall was murdered. The grand jury is still studying the case.

Agriculture Aides Get Estes Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — An ousted Agriculture Department employee testified Friday he and his aide received $400 from Billie Sol Estes and used it to buy Democratic dinner tickets for the now indicted Texas financier.

James T. Ralph, former assistant secretary of agriculture, told the House Intergovernmental Relations subcommittee that two $100 money orders were sent to him and two to his aide, William E. Morris, early this year. Ralph said there was no accompanying letter from Estes, whose multi-million-dollar empire collapsed when he was indicted on fraud charges last March.

Outside the hearings, reporters were told by the subcommittee's discharged Republican counsel that Estes sent money orders to many congressmen and at least one high Administration official.

The lawyer, Robert E. Mammel, was fired as the subcommittee's minority counsel Thursday for releasing a confidential report.

Ted Kennedy Endorsed in Massachusetts

McCormack to Enter September Primary In Senatorial Race

BULLETIN
SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, brother of the President, early this morning won endorsement of the Massachusetts Democratic convention for U.S. senator.

His rival, Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., conceded the nomination at about the halfway point in the balloting when Kennedy was heading for a runaway victory.

As McCormack came to the platform, 24 districts had been polled and Kennedy had 691 votes to 360 for McCormack.

McCormack had carried only two districts, neither by much margin.

It was 12:25 a.m., when McCormack was presented by the convention chairman, Sen. John F. Powers.

McCormack was cheered wildly after a minute of the applause he asked:

"With this enthusiasm, how did I lose?"

"I will now take my case to the people," he said.

That means McCormack will enter the September primary against Kennedy.

"I want to thank all those who had the courage to stand up and be counted in my behalf," he said.

When McCormack withdrew the hall was crowded with delegates. Many had left their seats earlier to seek cooler air outside the crowded building.

Rep. Edward P. Boland (D-Mass.), nominated Kennedy as a man who "does not have to run on his name or on the accomplishments of his family, brilliant and lustrous as they may be."

Alumni Day Program

Friday was the day for new SUI graduates, but today is the long awaited time for all the returning SUIIowans — Alumni Day.

A full day's schedule is planned, with an all-alumni luncheon at the Union at 12:30.

There will be guided bus tours of the campus and city from 10 to 10:50 a.m. and again at 2:30 to 3:20.

A Golden Jubilee Dinner, honoring all graduates of 1912, will be held in the south dining room in Burge Hall tonight. A noon luncheon in the Union will honor the law class of 1917, and there will be a reception from 2:30 to 5 for the class of 1952 in the Union.

The College of Nursing will hold a coffee hour in the Westlawn Parlors at 9 a.m.

Registration for returning alumni started Thursday and will continue through today until 3:30 in the east lobby of the Union — Alumni Headquarters.

Group Raises White House Military Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee sided with the Air Force against President Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on Friday in voting the biggest military money bill in peacetime history.

The committee sent to the Senate for expected floor action next Tuesday a bill that would provide the full $491 million requested by Air Force chief Gen. Curtis E. LeMay to speed development of the 2,000-mile-an-hour RS70 reconnaissance strike airplane.

Kennedy's budget called for only $171 million to continue development of a prototype or experimental plane and McNamara turned a deaf ear to LeMay's appeal for more funds to speed up the work.

Grads Told Of War for Men's Minds

Commencement Talk Says Society Which Serves Best Will Win

America's way of life will not be preserved merely by the absence of global war, nor can it be insured by diplomatic agreements, actions of Congress, court decisions, or a retreat by Russia on the Berlin issue, Herman B. Wells told some 1,200 State University of Iowa graduates Friday morning.

Speaking at the University's spring Commencement exercises in the Iowa Field House, the president of Indiana University declared that even though guns are silent and rockets are used for peaceful purposes, the war of the minds of men will continue and accelerate.

"In my judgment the Communist philosophy cannot win the battle for men's minds except by our default," Dr. Wells said.

He continued, "In the long run that society and system that serves best will survive. The sure way to victory is to make each of our communities a model of democracy in action."

The two rival systems — those of the United States and the U.S.S.R. — search in very different ways for solutions to the world's problems, said Dr. Wells. And, four major facts are determining the mood of the world, he added.

FIRST is the fact of rising population of all five continents, President Wells said. World population has increased from about 1.5 billion in 1900 to approximately 3 billion today and is expected to be almost 3.5 billion by 1975.

SECOND is the fact of rising aspirations, he continued. Men and women everywhere aspire to a larger portion of the material goods and services which an age of science and technological abundance has created for a better life.

THIRD is the fact of rising demand for education, he said. As people awaken into a world new in hope and promise, they find in education the means to give reality to their dreams.

In some lands the new demand is for fundamental education to enable illiterate masses to read, to write, and to improve personal health and habits. In other countries, the rising demand is for wider opportunities for secondary education, collegiate education, or for the highest, most specialized professional training, he said.

"Everywhere the school house, be it a crude and clumsy cottage or a modern research institute, is the sign pointing the way to progress," Dr. Wells said.

FOURTH is the fact of rising recognition of worldwide interdependence, concluded Dr. Wells. People become ever more aware that their own personal fortunes are tied to the fortunes of their neighbors — their neighbors on the next farm, across the border, or on the other shore of the sea.

"Poverty or prosperity, insecurity or safety, war or peace know ever less national or even continental boundaries," Wells told the SUI graduates.

Traffic Jam Delays Opening of Program

Graduating SUIIowans and their parents spent many long minutes waiting in a traffic tie-up Friday morning before graduation ceremonies at the Field House. Commencement exercises were delayed for about 15 minutes.

The traffic jam occurred on Burlington Street, from the Field House to Madison Street. Bruce Parker, campus police chief, said many cars unloading passengers stopped traffic long enough to add a few more cars to the other end of the line.

The usual parking problem also added to the traffic jam. Parking space was limited because of wet fields behind the Field House and construction.

'Muzzling' Claims End With Sharp Word Clash

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nearly nine-month-long probe into allegations that the Pentagon had muzzled military men ended Friday with sharp exchanges between Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.) and Pentagon information chief Arthur Sylvester.

Thurmond told Sylvester he had been "taken in" by antimilitary propaganda.

Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, replied softly, but his face flushed, that this was a "gratuitous insult." He told Thurmond: "I see no ground for your comment."

The medal is one of the top awards the Department of the Army can give to a civilian.

Berlin Hijackers Sail to Freedom

BERLIN (AP) — A hijack crew led by the ship's cook knocked out the captain with liquor and a blow on the head and rammed an East Berlin excursion boat to freedom Friday amid a barrage of machine-gun bullets.

Fourteen refugees, including a 14-month-old baby, reached shore unhurt after the 386-ton vessel slammed across the River Spree into a canal bank in the American sector.

"Pinch me so I realize I'm alive and out of Communism," shouted the cook, Joerg Lindner, 22, after the perilous and spectacular dash.

The white double-deck boat was riddled by more than 200 bullets fired by East German guards as it swung off course and churned up a wake a top speed toward the West.

West Berlin police fired at least 10 shots at East Berlin guards when Communist bullets began ripping into apartment houses on the Western side.

With Lindner on the boat Friedrich Wolf were seven men and five women, among them Lindner's friend Jutta, 17, and her baby.

It was the second attempt the group had made in a week to escape. A previous attempt on another river excursion boat had to be abandoned when a passing barge blocked the way into the Landwehr Canal in Western territory at the critical moment.

The presence Thursday night of two visiting mechanics provided an excuse for the second try and a drinking party with the captain and engineer, both loyal Communists.

The plotters poured most of four bottles of brandy, a bottle of wine and 12 pints of beer into the captain and engineer, but only pretended to drink themselves.

Reds Threaten Direct Move Into Situation

Western Powers Get Various Accusations Of Causing Incidents

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union, apparently stung by continued spectacular escapes of East Germans from Communist East Berlin, threatened Friday to step directly into the explosive Berlin crisis.

The Russians accused the Western powers of provoking incidents along the Berlin wall and declared they will not permit West Berlin to continue as a base for what they called revenge-seekers and militarists.

The statement — strongest the Russians have made recently on Berlin — was contained in notes to the United States, Britain and France.

The statement picked out a number of incidents along the East-West Berlin border without mentioning that most of the trouble involved East German guards firing on escaping refugees.

Western diplomats here said the notes clearly implied the Soviet Union might bolster East German forces in the Berlin area with its own troops.

They said this was not so much a matter of tactical necessity as of confronting the Western powers with the threat of a direct conflict with the Soviet Union instead of East Germany.

The Soviet note to Britain, released by the Tass news agency, declared in reference to the border incidents: "It is absolutely obvious that such actions could not have taken place at all if the British and other occupation organs in West Berlin did not encourage the provocators."

"The Soviet Government," it added, "will not be an indifferent onlooker and in case of need will be compelled to take appropriate steps to fulfill its commitments with regard to the German Democratic Republic (East Germany) which is an ally of the U.S.S.R."

"The intensified intrigues of the revengists and militarists in West Berlin prove once more how ripe is the task of normalizing the situation in West Berlin and for elimination there of the occupation regime," the note said — meaning withdrawal of the garrisons of the Western powers.

Issuance of the notes followed lengthy conferences here between Premier Khrushchev and East German Communist chief, Walter Ulbricht.

Leading the list of incidents which the Soviet Union complained about was a shooting affray May 23 between West Berlin police and East German guards in which one East German was killed.

West Berlin police said they were fired upon when they were helping a wounded boy who escaped from East Berlin, out of the water.

On the basis of preliminary accounts, U.S. officials in Washington saw the note as a tough-sounding propaganda blast.

These officials privately described the note as an effort to cover up brutal shootings by East German police of refugees trying to escape to freedom. State Department press officer Lincoln White, declined official comment, however, until the full text is received.

In London, the Foreign Office said the communication is under close study, but withheld comment.

In Bonn, a West German Foreign Ministry spokesman suggested the notes indicated the Soviet Union had returned to the viewpoint that the four powers are responsible for Berlin.

The spokesman said that in a memorandum Dec. 27, 1961, the Soviet Union had proposed that West Germany abandon the Western Allied front and enter into talks with Moscow aimed at reaching agreement on Berlin and German unification.

A Special Graduation — Congratulations

June is the month of the Graduate. And Iowa City, with three high schools and a university all holding commencement exercises this month, might well be the "Graduation City of Iowa." Or even the United States . . .

The Daily Iowan congratulates all those who have been graduated here in the past few weeks. Whether you received the high school diploma or the Ph. D. degree, it is yours and you have earned it.

Among the hundreds of graduates, there is one who we feel deserves a special congratulations. He is James E. Lee of Farnville, Prince Edward county, Va., who graduated from Iowa City high school Thursday evening.

James Lee is a 19-year-old Negro who finished his last two years of education in Iowa City after schools in his home county closed over the de-segregation issue.

Prince Edward county public schools have been closed the last three years rather than allow Negroes and whites to attend the same classes.

James Lee's stay here was made possible by the Sponsors for Equal Education. That group has financed his stay here and has offered him a $400 stipend to help pay for his first year of college. He will enter Virginia State College next fall.

Those persons responsible for bringing James and other Negroes to Iowa City and giving them an opportunity to continue their education are also to be congratulated. Their efforts and successes have added a special glow to this year's graduation ceremonies.

And to James, who is known to his fellow students, faculty members, and others who know him as a good scholar and fine citizen, we extend our most sincere congratulations and wish you the best of luck in continuing your education. —Larry Hatfield

Hancher: 'Keep Educating Self; May Do Impossible'

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the text of President Virgil M. Hancher's Charge to the Graduating Class of 1962.

As one alumnus to another, let me be the first to congratulate you on your newly conferred degree. It is a great and goodly company — whose members are to be found in every state and in many foreign lands. We look to you to measure up to the high standards which they have set.

Now that you have your degree the long awaited day has arrived when you can take on the world and tell it what to do. Of course the world may have other views on this matter, and it will be interesting to observe what happens when your irresistible force meets that relatively immovable body.

But be of good courage. You have not yet learned that things cannot be done. Therefore, you may accomplish the impossible! In any event you enter upon your tasks with good credentials — you have been certified to have an informed and disciplined mind, capable of understanding the complexities of human relationships and possessing insights as to the way in which the world's work is done. Hopefully you have the will and the stamina to do it.

If this University has taught you how to keep on educating yourself, it has taught you its most important lesson. A University — particularly one of our type — is a place of intellectual activity — a place of ideas, of analysis, of discovery. In the long run these may change our whole civilization. But in the short run the day's work must be done. And you are about to venture forth and help in the doing of it.

The ringing editorial, the clever senate speech of yesterday may seem slightly less clear, slightly less over-powering, in this larger, and perhaps less attentive, forum. It is even possible that there may be elders so stubborn and short-sighted as to resist making way for youth. You may notice a certain change in climate — a slight drop in the temperature — as you move from here to there. But be patient. Time and youth are on your side.

Time and youth — and the recollection of this, your intellectual home. Here in this valley — where October's golden glow fades into the harsh beauty of winter and winter awakens to the lush and exuberant loveliness of spring — you have learned from test tubes, from books, from faculty, from your fellow students. And in that process of learning you have in some mysterious fashion become the sons and daughters of SUU. You may not know it now — to some it comes early, to others late — but the day will come when you will know this University as your Alma Mater — your cherishing and nourishing Mother — and you her sons and daughters.

In a few moments you will scatter to the four winds: some to this state, some to other states, some as strangers to distant lands and homes unseen for many years. But wherever you are, wherever you go, keep in your heart the memory of this University. Treasure the truth and beauty and goodness for which it stands — and ever and always: "May the Lord watch between me and thee while we are absent one from the other."

Youth Waits for Discovery — 'Have Voice, Will Sing'

By JOHN CROSBY

Paul Anka is roughly the size of a mushroom; he's just 20 years old and he earns over a million dollars a year (give or take a hundred thou), and he'll tell you with a straight face: "I live with my family in Tenafly, New Jersey, but even if there isn't a little girl friend there for me to help with her homework, I've got a normal life for this business. I wanted things that way. I didn't want to wait until I was 30 to get started. Everybody is 30!"

(Editor's note: OUCH!) TALKING TO ANKA is a fairly unsettling experience unless you're 20 and earn over a million dollars a year, too. (Isn't everyone? Doesn't everyone?) His tiny body houses an enormous and astounding him to discover that half of the women of the world are still in love with Cary Grant. "This is the time for youth," he'll tell you earnestly and the awful thing is it's probably true. "Never before has show business belonged so much to the young. It works in cycles. A few years ago there were only three record companies. And about five male singers who were big. Now there are over 1,000 record companies and about 500 singers. They've been pulling kids out of grocery stores and making them singers." This might go down as one of the great revealing cracks about life in the '60s. In the '30s they discovered Lana Turner in a drugstore. In the '60s, they dredge the singers out of the corner grocery store. The place of discovery is different and so is the kind of person discovered and so are his dreams of glory.

Anka has been very hot stuff for four or five years. He's a Canadian and still talks a little like one. (Says "bean" instead of "bin.") Besides singing he also writes songs for younger kids and takes his song writing just as seriously as his singing. He's written the theme music for "The Longest Day," the picture about D-Day which Darryl Zanuck has made in Europe.

"ZANUCK DIDN'T want any music in the picture, but I wrote a song, recorded it, and sent it to Paris and he bought it. In fact he sent me a cable that said simply, 'You've got it.'"

Anka is the first young rock 'n' roll singer to make it big in nightclubs. He was the first of his kind to be booked into the Copacabana, the high temple of the nightclub art, and he got the call when he was 18. He's back now for the third time.

"When I do a nightclub act, it's entirely different from what I do on personal appearance tours. (Anka has knocked them dead on personal appearance tours from Spain to Japan. He's one of the whole new breed of international stars who's as at home in Rio as on 45th Street, singing the international language of rock 'n' roll, which is no more senseless in Portuguese than in English.)

"This business needs youth and there aren't any 47-year-old idols going to be left in a few years. There are no more idols being made today. We've got enough. From now, it's the survival of the fittest."

You don't have to talk to Anka long to find out he's among the fittest and he knows it.

Nixon had the bad luck, in the Field poll, the Harris private polls, and in all the other soundings, to start out enormously far ahead of Brown, and then to slip slowly but inexorably until the last Field poll actually gave Brown a slight edge. The trouble here was where Nixon began — much too far ahead — and not where he ended, with percentages sensibly suggesting a close race.

A CLOSE RACE was always the kind of race to expect in California. Despite his national stature, Nixon has innate weaknesses in his contest for the Governorship, and Brown has certain solid advantages.

Brown has made his mistakes, but by all accounts he has given California a much better than average state administration. He is also the sort of politician, moderate in views and tone, almost aggressively amiable, with a personality totally lacking sharp angles, that California voters seem to like best.

NIXON, COMPLEX and moody, has also been absent from the state during most of his political life. He lacks any very good issue to use against Brown. He has never been at home, anyway, with the kind of issues that are important to state politics. Add to these difficulties the fact that Nixon must now get all the Republican votes and a lot of Democratic votes as well, yet may have a lot of trouble persuading the Shell-Birch enthusiasts to transfer their support to him.

Matter of Fact— Polls Don't Tell Whole Nixon Story

By JOSEPH ALSOP

For the student of politics, the California primary won by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon has one very special feature. Public opinion polls have never before had so much influence upon the course, and even on the reporting, of any political fight.

To begin with a most recent example, the reports from the simple, however, Nixon, a great "triumph" because he won the Republican gubernatorial nomination from a rich but previously obscure John Birchite, Joseph Shell, by a two to one margin. This is puzzling. If you think about it in cold blood, it is not exactly a triumph for the titular leader of the Republican party to get this kind of majority in his own state against a novice politician.

THE ANSWER to the puzzle is Shell was duly held to below poll-user, discovered from his pollers that Shell was likely to get just about the vote he did. With considerable prescience, the Nixon camp therefore put the word out, even in Washington, that Nixon would be doing very well if he held the Shell vote below 35 per cent of the Republican total. Shell was duly held to below 35 per cent. Hence Nixon is well credited with doing very well. But has he in fact done so well?

In the impartial and usually dependable California-based Field poll, Shell began the primary fight with only about 7 per cent of the Republican votes. He rose to 14 per cent only a month ago. He has now got over twice that percentage.

THIS PROBLEM NIXON has to face is also, in some measure, a poll-created problem. Originally, the former Vice President hoped to avoid an open run with the extreme right of his own party. But President Kennedy's poller, Louis Harris, intervened with soundings showing that the great majority of California voters both disapproved of the Birchite approach to the Communist problem, and very sharply disapproved of the whole extreme right-wing movement.

ON THE BASIS of the Harris soundings, President Kennedy himself pressed Nixon's Democratic opponent, California Gov. Pat Brown, to challenge Nixon briskly to disavow the Birch Society. Gov. Brown, thought not normally given to briskeness, thereupon proceeded to say Nixon would wear the Birch label unless he disavowed Birch.

In addition, the polls have done much to deprive the Nixon candidacy of the aura of confidence and coming success that a candidate like Nixon needs particularly badly. It even seems a reasonable guess that the polls have affected Nixon's own confidence and nerve, leading him into such mis-steps as his attack on the President of the United States as a carpebagger — a doubly foolish move, because of Kennedy's great current popularity, and because of the unhappy choice of language.

Nixon had the bad luck, in the Field poll, the Harris private polls, and in all the other soundings, to start out enormously far ahead of Brown, and then to slip slowly but inexorably until the last Field poll actually gave Brown a slight edge. The trouble here was where Nixon began — much too far ahead — and not where he ended, with percentages sensibly suggesting a close race.

A CLOSE RACE was always the kind of race to expect in California. Despite his national stature, Nixon has innate weaknesses in his contest for the Governorship, and Brown has certain solid advantages.

Brown has made his mistakes, but by all accounts he has given California a much better than average state administration. He is also the sort of politician, moderate in views and tone, almost aggressively amiable, with a personality totally lacking sharp angles, that California voters seem to like best.

NIXON, COMPLEX and moody, has also been absent from the state during most of his political life. He lacks any very good issue to use against Brown. He has never been at home, anyway, with the kind of issues that are important to state politics. Add to these difficulties the fact that Nixon must now get all the Republican votes and a lot of Democratic votes as well, yet may have a lot of trouble persuading the Shell-Birch enthusiasts to transfer their support to him.

It can be seen why a close race is natural. But the first post-primary opinion poll is just as likely as not to show Nixon leading Brown again; for such is the nature of politics.

Public Should Be Told

A 14-man scientific advisory committee has advised the U.S. surgeon general of serious deficiencies in the U.S. Public Health Service's activities in determining and recording radiation.

The health service is the chief U.S. agency concerned with checking on radiation and its effects. The scientific advisers reported "important gaps" in the service's system for determining radiation levels. Public health service measures for combatting excessive radiation were termed "inadequately developed." Budgeted funds for research and other health protection measures were described as "much too little," "undesirably small" and "inadequate."

The curious thing about the report is that it should be described by the New York Times as the "long-secret report" of the scientific advisers. The report was released by Surgeon General Luther Terry after a representative of a private testing organization voiced similar criticisms of the health service's program before a congressional committee.

The effectiveness of a government health program is a proper matter of public concern. The public is entitled to have official information about it. It is disturbing that a secrecy label should have been attached to a report that does no more than point out shortcomings in a government program. —The Des Moines Tribune

Nobody Likes Weather

Damn the weather!

In a world of independents, the one element that must be the most independent is the weather. There is never a conference to decide what should be done and when it should be done. If it wants to rain, it will — and does.

For a subject which is the most universal topic of discussion, the weather is probably the least respected. Nobody ever says anything nice about it. It is either too hot or too cold. Too wet or too dry. It's always too windy or too still. Everybody hates it.

There have been proposals in the past to control the weather. Taxes control the taxpayer. Unions control labor. Kennedy wants to control medicine. Why can't someone control the weather?

But look what would happen if someone finally was able to determine when it would rain and so on. Neighbors would divide, friends would no longer be friends, everybody would be fighting. And the weather still would not be satisfactory.

Damn the weather.

To Exchange Homes, Cars, Even Hedge Clippers—

Belding To Trade Teaching With English Prof for Year

By LIZ BROOKS Staff Writer

PROF. BELDING Off to Nottingham

Exchanging an American college professor for an English professor for a school year sounds like a fairly simple operation; but SUI's Robert E. Belding, associate professor of education, can attest to the complications involved in such an exchange.

Belding and Robert B. Grove, lecturer in education at the University of Nottingham in England, have entered into an exchange contract for the coming school year that involves position, salary, homes, cars and on down to power mowers and hedge clippers.

Belding and his family plan to be in Nottingham by late August, in time for the annual Sheriff's archery contest honoring the memory of Robin Hood of nearby Sherwood Forest.

Belding has traveled and studied in Europe before, but the exchange in America for the Grove family. The two families have corresponded for weeks to inform each other of professional and personal matters.

A matter of professional concern to both men is the difference in examination procedure between the two teaching systems. In England, the professor does not make up the examination for the class he teaches. Grove will have his first experience in making up examinations and Belding will teach classes that are given "external exams" usually prepared by a professor in another college.

Besides his duties at the University of Nottingham, Belding hopes to do some research in sociological education, especially concerning the status of teachers. He expects to make some trips to the continent to study new ideas for education in France.

Belding intends to carry on personal interviews in his research as he did in 1956 when he visited schools in the Scandinavian countries, Germany, Switzerland, France, Holland and England. He visited schools in Russia in 1960 as one of 50 members of the Comparative Education Society.

As a result of these professional travels, Belding has published two volumes, "Students Speak Around the World," a book of contemporary cases, based on student interviews, was published in 1960. "Personal School Reports from the Past," a book of historical "interviews" was published in 1961.

Belding received a diploma d'etudes from the University of Paris, an A.B. degree from Hiram College in Ohio with a major in foreign language, the M.Ed. degree from Boston University in counseling and guidance and a Ph.D. from Western Reserve University in Cleveland in education and philosophy. He joined the SUI faculty in 1959.

Summer Courses In Music Offered To Area Students

The SUI Department of Music will again offer a summer course in music for students from schools in Iowa City and nearby cities. Instruction in band and orchestral instruments, piano and voice will be given by members of the SUI music faculty.

Fees will be $10 for one one-hour private lesson weekly or $20 for two a week. Fees will also permit private pupils to take part in ensemble rehearsals.

Registration will take place Monday in South Music Hall. No guarantee can be given that students will be admitted after that date.

Tuition will be payable at registration. Students who will not be able to register Monday may register in advance by contacting Stanley Cobb or Fred Palmer of Iowa City High School or Roland Anfinson of University High School.

Faculty Recital To Be Wednesday

A faculty recital will be presented at SUI Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in North Music Hall.

The performers for the Wednesday evening program will include Thomas Ayres, associate professor of music, clarinet; Charles Treger, associate professor of music, violin; John Ferrell, assistant professor of music, violin; Camilla Doppmann, a former member of the faculty at Grinnell College, cello, and William Doppmann, associate professor of music, piano.

The faculty group will play "Trio in E-flat major, Op. 1, No. 1 for Piano, Violin and Cello."

Real Estate Supervisor In Des Moines Resigns

DES MOINES (AP) — John W. Wilton, the city assessor's real estate supervisor, resigned Friday after disclosures that three buildings he assessed contained more square feet than indicated in the records.

In a letter to City Assessor Vincent L. Browner, Wilton said he has not been guilty of any misconduct and is not afraid of any investigation being made. He added that he has never made an assessment "but what I thought was just and equitable."

Pupil-Grouping Questioned In SUI Study

Grouping grade school pupils by ability — so that those rated above average are in one class and those rated below average students are in another — does not seem to increase the achievement of either group, an SUI study indicates.

Bradley Loomer, G. Mason City, has completed a study of 500 pupils in 22 classes, some grouped by ability and some in regular classes. The results of his study were submitted this month in partial fulfillment of a Ph.D. degree in education at SUI.

Loomer studied children in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. Part of the classes were grouped according to IQ, age, sex, reading ability and teacher's appraisal. They were given the Iowa Tests of Basic Skills in February, 1961, and February, 1962.

The results of these tests of reading, language, vocabulary, work study, and arithmetic "do not support the claimed advantage of grouping as opposed to no grouping," says Loomer.

The fact that the classes grouped by ability did not achieve higher does not automatically rule out any advantages to the grouping procedure, Loomer points out.

"It may well be that the instructional task was made easier by having the extremely bright in one room and the extremely low in another room," according to Loomer.

One disadvantage of grouping has been that slow pupils need the presence of the able pupils to stimulate them and encourage them, he says.

Loomer also points out that certain authorities claim ability grouping produces a stigma, attached to the low sections, which tends to operate as a discouraging factor upon the pupils in these sections. The evidence from the data presented in this study gave no clear indication that low sections reacted in this manner, he said.

Loomer adds, "The key to good education of children evidently rests with good teaching. The claim that the mechanical process of grouping will automatically produce better teaching and more skilled pupils is not supported by the evidence within this study."

Sulowan's Documentary To Be Aired

A 30-minute documentary on the problems faced by a teen-age boy planning a career as a farmer, written by a journalism graduate student at SUI, will be broadcast on station KCRG-TV, Cedar Rapids, Monday at 6 p.m.

Richard G. Newcomer, Pitts- burgh, Pa., wrote and filmed the program, "The Far Field," as a semester project in the course Television News Workshop. It was supervised by E. Joseph Beni, instructor in television journalism.

Kyl To Speak At West Branch 'Heritage Day'

John Kyl, Congressman from the Fourth District of Iowa, will be the speaker for the "Heritage Day" planned at West Branch, Hoover Park, Sunday.

The Republican Women of the First District are sponsoring the all-day affair beginning at 11:30 a.m. (CST). An old-fashioned basket dinner, a patriotic program, supervised games and a tour of the several historic places of interest at the park, including the birthplace of Herbert Hoover, the old blacksmith shop and the original Quaker Meeting House will be some of the things included on the agenda.

Kyl will speak during the afternoon program scheduled for 2 p.m. Registration for the day will begin at 11:30 a.m. in the south side of the park. Picnic tables will be set up for each county.

Mrs. Kathryn Meardon, chairman of local arrangements, said that many Republican candidates will be there.

Engineering Groups Honor Prof. Kurtz

Edwin B. Kurtz, professor-emeritus of the SUI College of Engineering, was honored recently by the Iowa-Illinois Section (Cedar-Valley Subsection) and the SUI Student Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers (AIEE).

Now living in Tucson, Ariz., Dr. Kurtz was presented, in absentia, with a bell bearing the inscription, "Commemorating Dr. Edwin B. Kurtz, 31 Years as AIEE Student Counselor." The bell will be used to call to order the weekly Electrical Engineering Professional Seminar meetings.

The presentation was made by Gerald Vandevort, engineering senior at SUI, and accepted by Jack Hicks, Student Chairman of the Cedar-Valley Subsection, acting in the place of Dr. Kurtz.

Professor Kurtz joined the faculty at SUI in 1929 as professor and head of the Electrical Engineering Department. Author of such books as "Substation Operation," "The Lineman's Handbook," and "Fundamentals of Electrical Engineering," Professor Kurtz also served as national president of Eta Kappa Nu, honorary electrical engineering fraternity, and as president of the North Midwest Section of the American Association for Engineering Education.

Prof. Johnson To Speak At Duluth Conference

Wendell Johnson, professor of speech pathology, will participate in a conference Monday and Tuesday on education and the control of human behavior.

The conference at the University of Minnesota, Duluth branch, will feature an exchange of views by Dr. B. F. Skinner, Harvard University, and Dr. Carl Rogers, University of Wisconsin.

Johnson will serve on a panel to develop discussion with Rogers and Skinner.

Prof. Johnson will lecture today at the University of Illinois on the general problem of learning to learn.

Good Listening— Today on WSUI

BROADWAY MUSIC through the years is what you'll hear today on The Musical at 9 a.m. Instead of a cast recording of some present-day item of questionable quality, we shall hark back to the vintage years of Victor Herbert, stop for a symphonic version of 1930's great Gershwin tune, "I Got Rhythm," and sample some of the musical delights of the post-World War II era.

Snead Cops Classic Lead; Palmer II Strokes Back

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Sam Snead, who has been winning tournaments for a quarter of a century, found a formula of youth in his brass-headed putter Friday and shot into the halfway lead of the $100,000 Golf Classic with a 36-hole score of 136, eight under par.

He had a 2-stroke lead over the field and 11 over the distressed pre-tournament favorite, Arnold Palmer.

"I'd like to withdraw and go to Oakmont tonight," said the gloomy Palmer after adding a 74 to a previous 73 over the par 72 upper Montclair Country Club course. "But they'd hang me from the nearest tree if I did."

Oakmont, Pa., is the site of the 62nd U.S. Open Championship, starting next Thursday.

It's one of the jewels in Palmer's bid for a professional grand slam and a tournament Snead never has won.

Snead — just turned 50 — fired a 6-under-par 66 on his second tour of the 7,055-yard layout by one-putting 11 greens and chipping in from off the green on another. He used only 24 putts — with 36 representing par — in his fabulous round. He three-putted the ninth green.

In second place at 138, going into the final 36 holes Saturday and Sunday, were the 1961 U.S. Open champion, Gene Littler, who shot 71, 28-year-old Dave Marr, with a brace of 69s, and Earl Stewart of Dallas, with a 71.

Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., shot a 68 for 139.

Gray Brewer, the first round leader at 66, skied to a 74 and shared sixth place with Dow Finsterwald.

Mets Split with Cubs; End Losses

CHICAGO (AP) — The victory-starved New York Mets snapped a 17-game losing streak with a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday but dropped the second game of the doubleheader 3-2. The second game was called because of darkness in the last of the eighth.

Charley Neal's sacrifice fly in the ninth inning chased home an unearned run and gave the Mets their first taste of victory since May 20 when they defeated Milwaukee twice.

Right-hander Jay Hook, who halted a nine-game losing streak early in the season, was the starter and winner for New York although Craig Anderson worked the ninth inning. Hook (4-6) has defeated the Cubs three times this year.

Jim Hickman led off the ninth with a single and the Mets loaded the bases with none out as the Cubs botched a pair of sacrifice bunts before Neal delivered his game winning blow.

Ron Santo's two-run single in the seventh inning proved to be the winning hit in the nightcap. The Mets scored in the first inning on a single by Elio Chacon, a stolen base and a single by Neal. The Cubs tied it in the fourth on George Altman's run-scoring single.

Met starter Bob Miller had a two-hitter going into the seventh when the Cubs loaded the bases on a double by Lou Block and a pair of walks. Santo then came up with his big single.

Essegian Finds Home With Tribe

NEW YORK (AP) — Chuck Essegian has a ready answer whenever he's asked why after five years in the major leagues he suddenly has become one of the most dangerous hitters in the American League.

"For the first time since I've come up to the big leagues," said the slugging Cleveland outfielder just before leaving for Boston. "I've been given an opportunity to play regularly."

Since Manager Mel McGaha decided to give the dark-haired former ace fullback at Stamford a real shot at the left field job, 30-year-old Essegian has been one of the leading hitters in the league.

Although currently in the midst of a slight slump, he is still batting .338 with 13 home runs and 24 runs batted in. He leads the club in hitting, home runs and is second to John Romano in runs batted in.

Since he came into organized baseball in 1953, Essegian has played with 19 clubs, and never has been with the same club two full seasons in succession. His major league trail has carried him from Philadelphia to St. Louis to Los Angeles to Baltimore to Kansas City and finally to Cleveland. The Indians purchased him from the Athletics last May.

In the 1959 World Series, he hit two pinch-hit homers for the Dodgers but the next year, he was sold to the Orioles.

"I thought after what I did in the World Series, the Dodgers would give me an opportunity to play a little more. But it was just another in a series of many disappointments."

W. Illinois, Spray Cop NAIA Team, Individual Honors

DAVENPORT (AP) — Western Illinois captured the team title and Steve Spray of Eastern New Mexico won the individual crown Friday in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics golf tournament.

Western Illinois, who failed to place a player among the top five individuals but had three in the first 10, had a team total of 300 Friday for a 72-hole low of 1,210 strokes.

That was six strokes better than the total carded by Texas Wesleyan, the runnerup.

Leading Western Illinois were Len Viocca with a 72-hole total of 300, Pete Cimballo with a 302 and Roy Barnhart with a 303.

Spray, who led throughout the tournament and is a native of Indiana, fired a 73 on the last round today for a total of 290.

Thursday's runnerup, Austin Adams of Appalachian State, missed a chance to overtake Spray when he also shot a 73 for 293 and dropped to third when Tomas Maas of the University of Minnesota at Duluth finished with a 70 for 292 and second place.

Wightman Cup Team Named

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. Wightman Cup team was named Friday and includes four of the same players who last year defeated the cream of Britain's women tennis players 6-1 in the annual matches at Wimbledon.

Selected to the team again are Mrs. Margaret Osborne duPont of Joseph, Ore., who for the second straight year will be playing captain for the matches with the British at Wimbledon June 15 and 16; Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of Chula Vista, Calif.; and Margaret Varner of Wilmington, Del.

The others are Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., and Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex.

The selection committee ignored Justina Bricka of St. Louis, a member of the team last year and America's fifth-ranked woman player, and Carole Caldwell, 18-year-old coed from Santa Monica, Calif., both of whom have played spectacularly in the current Northern Lawn Tennis Championships at Manchester, England.

Yanks Blank Orioles, 1-0

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees hopped on knuckle-baller Hoyt Wilhelm for the game's only run in the eighth inning and beat Baltimore 1-0 Friday night for their third straight shutout victory.

Right-hander Jim Coates blanked the Orioles on one hit over the last eight innings after replacing Whitey Ford, who retired with recurring shoulder pains after pitching the first. Ford gave up one hit.

Chuck Estrada allowed only two Yankee hits through seven innings, but left with a pulled elbow muscle and Wilhelm took over in the eighth. Tom Tresh rapped his first pitch for a single after Coates, faking a bunt, sent a high-bouncing single up the middle for his first hit of the season. Cleve Boyer ramed into a force play, but Bobby Richardson singled in the run that broke the scoreless tie.

Johnny Temple collected both Baltimore singles, off Ford leading off the first with a pop fly that landed between Johnny Blanchard and Richardson in short right field and off Coates in the sixth. Temple also drew one of the two Oriole walks.

Phillies Hand Cincinnati 5th Straight Loss

CINCINNATI (AP) — Young Dennis Bennett limited the Cincinnati Reds to four hits Friday night while his Philadelphia teammates went on a five-run scoring spree in the fifth to give him his second major league victory, 10-3. Bennett is now 2-1.

Roy Sievers and Bennett himself tapped out two-run singles that inched as loser Johnny Klippstein (1-1) and Moe Drabowsky kept filling the bases by giving up walks and singles. The fifth tally came on John Callison's single to center.

Pinch hitter Joe Gaines drove in the Reds' first runs the same inning when he homered with one on. Another Cincinnati run came on a fielder's choice in the sixth.

Tony Taylor homered for the Phils' first run in the third. Callison then drew a walk, advanced on a single and scored on a sacrifice fly to make it 2-0.

Back-to-back doubles by Don Demeter and Sievers accounted for the Phils' final run in the ninth. They got a total of 11 hits off four Red hurlers as Cincinnati lost its fifth straight game.

Minnesota Whips White Sox, 2-1

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Reserve first baseman Don Mincher lined a single past second base in the last of the eighth to break up a pitcher's duel and give the Minnesota Twins a 2-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the opener of a four-game series Friday night.

Mincher's blow, his first hit of the game after grounding out three straight times to second baseman Nellie Fox, settled a duel between the Twins' Jack Kralick and the Sox' John Buzhardt. It scored Lenry Green, who had walked earlier, from third.

The win enabled the Twins to remain one game behind New York.

Kralick allowed but six hits in making his record 5-4. Buzhardt now 6-5, scattered nine hits.

St. Ambrose, Dubuque Out

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Singles and doubles competitors from St. Ambrose and Dubuque all were eliminated in the first and second rounds of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tennis tournament here Friday.

Ray Baladad of St. Ambrose scored a first-round singles victory over Arley Knight of Quachita, 6-1, 5-7, 6-2, but then was ousted 6-2, 6-1 by Jerry Wortelberg of Pan American College of Edinburg, Tex., the defending team champion.

In the doubles, Baladad and Gene McCabe of St. Ambrose lost in the first round to John Wohlforth and L. E. Eckles of Washington, 6-4, 6-3.

Another St. Ambrose doubles team, Dave Killian and Bill Underwood, won by default when their first-round opponents failed to appear but were beaten in the second round 6-0, 6-1, by John Hunter and Ken Lang of Pan American College.

Stenhouse Hurls Washington to Split with Detroit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dave Stenhouse handed Detroit its first shut-out of the season Friday night, 1-0, to give the Washington Senators a split in a two-night doubleheader. The Tigers won the first game 7-6 in 10 innings.

The Senators' second game run was scored in the eighth when Ken Hamlin singled, went to second on Stenhouse's sacrifice, and scored on Chuck Hinton's single to center.

Don Mossi pitched a six-hitter for the Tigers in the second game. The first game was a wild, 3-hour and 39-minute affair in which 12 pitchers were among the 38 players used. The fifth hurler for each team, Ron Nischwitz for the Tigers and Carl Bouldin for the Senators, were the winner and loser. Bouldin reported from Syracuse earlier in the day.

Ken Retzer's fourth home run of the season with two on and Joe Hicks' two-run single helped the Senators to a 6-1 lead.

But the Tigers tied it in the ninth and won in the tenth when Billy Bruton walked, went to third on Bubba Morton's single, and scored on Rocky Colavito's sacrifice fly to left.

Mays Hits 20th But Giants Fall To Cards, 8-4

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Boyer and Bill White each drove in three runs and Lindy McDaniel provided perfect relief Friday night as the Cardinals downed the San Francisco Giants, 8-4, for their fourth straight victory.

The setback was the Giants' third in a row, matching their longest losing streak this season.

McDaniel retired the last eight Giants in order after relieving winner Bob Gibson in a two-on situation in the seventh.

Boyer's three-run homer, his eighth, off loser Juan Marichal broke a 3-3 tie and capped a four-run fifth inning.

In the seventh, McDaniel retired Willie Mays and Willie McCovey. Each had homered off Gibson in the third, Mays getting his 20th, with a man on, and McCovey following with his eighth.

3 Cleveland Homers Beat Red Sox, 15-9

BOSTON (AP) — Willie Kirkland's homer touched off a six-run Cleveland 13th inning and a 15-9 victory over Boston Friday night, snapping a four-game losing streak after a near-record marathon.

Kirkland smashed his two-run blast off loser Hal Kolstead deep into the center field bleachers. Before the uprising was over, 10 Indians went to bat.

The game itself lasted four hours, 48 minutes. The league record is 4:58 set by Baltimore and Boston in 17 innings in 1954.

Tito Francona and Boston rookie Bob Tillman joined Kirkland, a .189 hitter, with four runs batted in apiece. But it was Red Sox shortstop Eddie Bressoud who extended the action.
