GOP Says Get Tough on Cuba

State Demands Death Penalty for Gayno

Plea Changed To 'Guilty' For 5 Killings

Will Be Sentenced Today; Attorney Asks For Life Imprisonment

SIGOURNEY (Ia) — Charging that Gayno Gilbert Smith, 24, "attempted to exterminate an entire family," the state Wednesday demanded the death penalty for him in the massacre of his five relatives.

The spectacled young man sat impassively in Keokuk County District Court throughout a day-long hearing to determine his degree of guilt.

The hearing began after Smith — in a surprise move — pleaded guilty of the fatal shootings of an aunt and uncle and three of their four children last May 26.

Smith previously had pleaded innocent. His attorney, Stephen Gerard, said the decision to change the plea was made by Gayno.

"He has been wanting to confess these murders for a long time, but I tried to talk him out of it," Gerard said.

After the state asked for the death penalty, Gerard pleaded for the court's mercy and leniency for his client who declined to speak on his own behalf.

Judge L. R. Carson of Oskaloosa said he would rule on the degree of guilt at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Both Gerard and County Attorney Leo Martin said they expected Judge Carson to hand down the sentence at that time.

A sixth murder for which Smith is charged was not mentioned in Wednesday's proceedings. Gayno has pleaded innocent of the fatal beating of his stepmother, Mrs. Juanita Smith, 46, and no change of plea was entered on this count.

Before asking for the death penalty, Martin said he believes a first degree murder ruling should be made by the court.

Patsy Lou McBeth, 15, a survivor of the macabre game of hide and seek on her parents' farm near Martinsburg, provided the most dramatic testimony.

In a quiet voice, the neatly dressed girl testified for 18 minutes about the happenings the night her parents, two sisters and a brother were methodically gunned down and she was wounded before fleeing in terror into the darkness.

Slain were Andrew McBeth, 51, his wife, Nora, 42, twins Amos and Anna, 19, and Mrs. Donna Jean Kellogg, 17. Gayno had lived with the McBets for some time. Mrs. McBeth was his father's sister.

When Martin asked that he pay the supreme penalty for the murders, Gayno never changed expression and did not move. After Gerard pleaded for mercy, Judge Carson asked Gayno if he wished to speak or make a statement.

"No statement, your honor," Gayno said in a low voice.

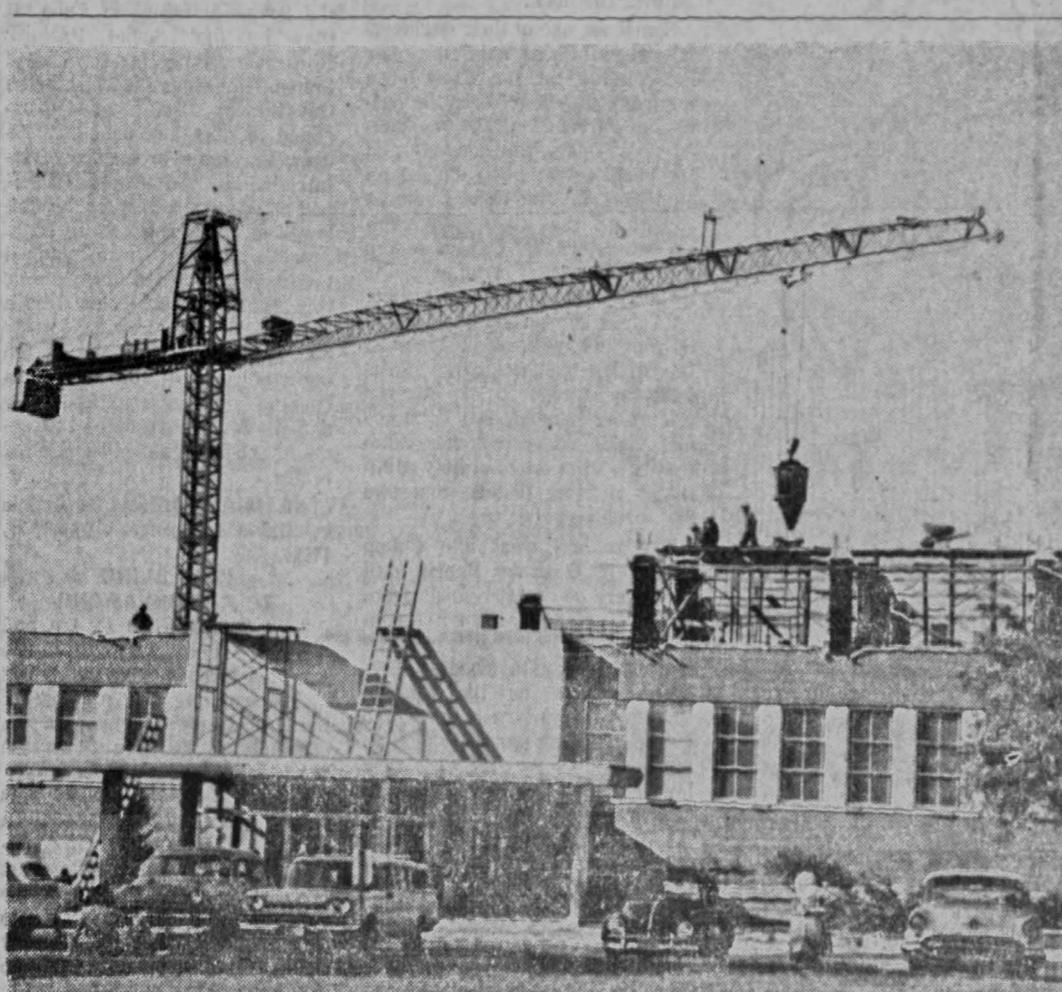

Neither of Gayno's parents was in court. His father, Andrew Smith, operates a poolroom at Fremont, Iowa. His mother, Mrs. Ada Marie Johnson, lives in Denver.

The state called 11 witnesses. They described the scene of the shootings and the capture of Gayno near Unionville, Iowa, May 30 after a four-day manhunt. However, no light was shed on the motive for the slayings.

Gerard called no witnesses and only twice asked questions of the state's witnesses. Summing up his defense, Gerard said the state has no more right to take a life than an individual.

"The state maintains it is murder in the first degree, and demands the death penalty," Gerard said. "The law provides the alternative of life imprisonment. We ask the court's mercy and leniency."

Richard Peter Carmichael, special agent for the State Bureau of Investigation, testified, "Gayno could give me no reason whatsoever for the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. McBeth. When I asked him if he killed the children to cover up for the deaths of their parents, he replied, 'I might have.'"

Steel Head Explains Refusal To Submit Production Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators demanding cost production figures from the nation's big steel firms were urged Wednesday not to insist. To provide the figures, a steel company spokesman said, would make matters worse for an industry beset by dwindling earnings because of competition.

Thomas F. Patton, president of Republic Steel, spoke for the industry before the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is considering whether to support a contempt of Congress move against executives of four firms that refused to supply the data.

Patton said there was never any intention by the steel executives to defy the Senate or the Antitrust subcommittee.

For one thing, he said, they believe the subcommittee subpoenas may be invalid because "they are so burdensome as to constitute an unreasonable search and seizure" in violation of the Constitution.

Aside from the validity of the subpoenas, Patton said, "We are sincerely convinced, however, that the furnishing of the material which has been subpoenaed would seriously harm not only us, but our country."

Patton said foreign competitors still would have enough clues to pattern their sales campaigns.

The figures also, he said, would have a serious domestic impact by handicapping steel's ability to compete with producers of aluminum, plastic, glass and other materials.

Patton gave a gloomy picture of steel's problems in both his prepared testimony and under questioning by Kefauver.

Kefauver remarked at one point that he believes Republic Steel, Patton's company, was the only one which had been forced to reduce its dividends because of falling earnings.

"No, sir," Patton replied, adding that Wheeling Steel, Lukens

Contempt of Congress Defendants Alter Pleas

NEW YORK (AP) — Three steel companies accused of price-fixing sought federal court permission Wednesday to change their pleas from innocent to no contest.

The firms are U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Co. and the Erie Forge and Steel Corp. of Erie, Pa.

They were indicted April 26 along with four other steel companies on charges of conspiring between 1948 and 1961 to fix prices and rig bids in sales of steel forgings to the Army, Navy and various companies.

A plea of no contest is made with the court's permission and permits imposition of a penalty without an admission of guilt by the defendant.

Emil Lang, board chairman of Erie Forge, and Homer Lackey, the firm's president, also made a similar request for a change of each company.

plea. Both are individual defendants.

Maximum penalty is a $50,000 fine for the firms and one year imprisonment and a $5,000 fine for the individual defendants.

Other defendants in the case, all of whom pleaded innocent, are: Midvale-Heppenstall Co. of Philadelphia; Open Die Forgings Institute, Inc., a New York City trade organization; Erb Gurney and Robert S. Barnes, Bethlehem executives, and R. B. Heppenstall, Sr., president of Midvale-Heppenstall.

WAR CLAIM BILL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, by voice vote, passed a bill Wednesday to expand the categories of losses for which World War II damage claims can be made.

NFO Still Confident; Retail Prices Soaring

CORNING (AP) — The president of the National Farmers Organization said Wednesday fluctuating livestock receipts were to be expected because the farm group's holding action was still in "a shake out period."

Oren Lee Staley spoke as reports filtered in of increased hog receipts in major markets for the second day in a row.

The NFO is holding livestock from the marketplace in an effort to force processors to sign contracts guaranteeing higher price levels.

Earlier, the NFO completed arrangements with a Kansas facility for the storage of up to 1.2 million bushels of grain.

The day also brought reports of numerous acts of violence in northern and eastern Missouri, the first arrests in connection with the holding action and substantial price rises in the St. Louis area.

Hog receipts at Chicago, Kansas City and Omaha were higher Wednesday.

Officials at the Oscar Mayer Co. meat packing plant in Davenport said production was near normal Wednesday, with a full kill scheduled on the heaviest hog receipts since the NFO action began Sept. 1.

Staley said NFO leaders were confident of victory in the long run.

"Our leaders are reporting from all areas," he said, "that the shake out period is nearing its end. Our confidence is based on the fact that production now ready for sale is getting into stronger hands."

Staley said the NFO figured on a shake out period of two to three weeks when farmers would sell for financial or other reasons.

"After the shake out," Staley said, "we will get down to the real core of the holding action."

Staley made public a three-year contract signed by NFO on Sept. 7 between NFO and the Triplett Grain Co.

"The first grain was delivered to the Chanute, Kan., elevator Tuesday and we already have pledges for a half million bushels to be delivered there," Staley said.

The contract makes the Chanute storage facility available to NFO members on a first-come first-served basis. Charges will be based on a per cent of capacity utilization. For 60 per cent or over the charge will be .033 cents per bushel per day and for less than 60 per cent .047 cents. The NFO has until Jan. 1, 1963, to reach the 60 per cent capacity.

The three-year contract is automatically extended another three years unless 120-day termination notice is given by either party.

For one thing, he said, they believe the subcommittee subpoenas may be invalid because "they are so burdensome as to constitute an unreasonable search and seizure" in violation of the Constitution.

Aside from the validity of the subpoenas, Patton said, "We are sincerely convinced, however, that the furnishing of the material which has been subpoenaed would seriously harm not only us, but our country."

Patton said foreign competitors still would have enough clues to pattern their sales campaigns.

The figures also, he said, would have a serious domestic impact by handicapping steel's ability to compete with producers of aluminum, plastic, glass and other materials.

Titan Scores 3rd Success

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP) — Titan 2, America's most potent military rocket and intended booster for future manned space missions, scored its third success in five test flights Wednesday on a 5,000-mile strike down the Atlantic range.

The Titan 2 met all test goals on the half-hour flight to a target area near Ascension Island in the South Atlantic.

The flight strengthened the United States' military and space potential.

When Titan 2 becomes operational, hopefully next year, it will be capable of boosting nuclear warheads more than halfway around the world. The missile is designed for firing swiftly from blastproof underground launching pits.

Topping the towering 103-foot tall vehicle Wednesday was the largest nose cone ever carried by a U.S. rocket. Weighing more than three tons, the cone, made by General Electric, was packed with flight recording instruments in place of the nuclear charge which would be blown in combat.

Continuing Progress' In Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief mediator Francis A. O'Neill Jr. reported continuing progress Wednesday in efforts to settle the 14-day-old telegraphers' strike against the Chicago & North Western Railway.

The AFL-CIO Telegraphers' Union is demanding a voice in arranging any future layoffs.

About 600 telegraphers have been discharged by the C & NW in recent years, leaving about 1,000 who are now on strike. The walkout has cramped the economy of nine midwestern states, including Iowa.

South Dakota sugar beet growers wired President Kennedy Wednesday they intend to march on the White House unless the strike is halted. The sugar beet crop in the South Dakota Black Hills area is ready to move to market.

"Harvest must begin immediately," they wired Kennedy. "We are completely dependent on rail facilities. Action is urgently needed. If the strike is not terminated, we intend to march on the White House."

O'Neill, member of the National Mediation Board, called more negotiating sessions Wednesday night. He reported progress in morning and afternoon sessions but added that "right now we still can't see the end."

Nixon began his day in Pomona, starting point for his successful campaign in 1946 for Congress, 1950 for the Senate and 1952 for vice president. His voice was hoarse from a slight cold as he spoke to a partisan turnout at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds.

Cheers greeted telegram from Eisenhower expressing "my full confidence in you as a person, as a candidate and as admirably equipped to be the next governor of California." Eisenhower plans to speak at a $100-a-plate dinner for Nixon in San Francisco on Oct. 8.

Demand Enforcement Of Monroe Doctrine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans pressed Wednesday to hand President Kennedy powers he hasn't asked for to act against Communism in Cuba and elsewhere.

These efforts threatened to touch off a floor fight over authority. The President has asked for standby authority to call up 150,000 reserves.

Kennedy requested the authority last week so that he might act promptly while Congress is not in session to meet any sudden emergency in Cuba, or anywhere else in the world.

Confronted by the unexpected Republican amendments, Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) Senate majority leader, suddenly sidetracked the call-up resolution temporarily to survey the situation.

Instead of making it the first order of business Thursday, he scheduled instead the $500-million mass transportation bill as the opening business. This would give him time to see if a procedure could be agreed upon for leaving the call-up legislation uncluttered by amendments. He said he still hoped to call the later up before the Senate quits Thursday.

The Senate Armed Services Committee voted unanimous approval of the bill Monday.

Republican senators offered amendments to the bill Wednesday:

1. Directing Kennedy to enforce the Monroe Doctrine to counter the buildup of Soviet power in Cuba.

2. Stating that the United States "has the right and obligation" to end Communist domination of Cuba, with or without the cooperation of other Western Hemisphere nations.

3. Authorizing Kennedy to use troops against Communist aggression anywhere in the world.

It was not clear that passage would come with little or no debate until Republican Sens. Jack Miller of Iowa, Prescott Bush of Connecticut and Winston L. Prouty of Vermont introduced amendments which appear certain to be fought by the Administration.

There was no immediate reaction from Administration sources.

Prouty's proposal would authorize the President, in order to protect the peace and security of the United States and the free world to employ the armed forces of the United States as he deems necessary."

Edwin M. Martin, assistant secretary of state for Latin American Affairs, was quoted by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) as saying that "Cuba is no military threat to the United States or any other Latin American country."

Morse, speaking after Martin briefed the Senate Latin American Affairs subcommittee he heads, said senators were told the military buildup in Cuba is defensive, rather than offensive in nature.

The senator said Martin reported there is no evidence that any ground-to-ground missiles have been delivered to Cuba by the U.S.S.R.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told House members the Administration would not tolerate Cuba becoming a base for offensive action against the United States or any American country.

Rusk's comments came in a secret 2½-hour briefing to a rare joint session of the House Foreign Affairs and Armed Services committees.

Members who attended the meeting said Rusk also stressed the administration view that the time for action would be when the military buildup in Cuba went beyond the present defensive stage.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) said Wednesday he may offer soon a formal resolution to put the Senate on record in favor of the establishment of a Cuban government-in-exile.

"I have been advocating this country's recognition of a government-in-exile for a long time, and have made such a proposal to Secretary of State Dean Rusk," Smathers said.

"I have been considering following this up by asking adoption of a resolution saying it is 'the sense of the Senate' that our government should recognize a Cuban government-in-exile."

But, he said, he may delay offering it to await the outcome of a proposed meeting of Rusk with foreign ministers of Latin-American nations. Rusk has proposed such a meeting in Washington in advance of the opening of the U.N. General Assembly session in New York Sept. 18.

Here's How the Pennant Races Shape Up In Majors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The feeling becomes stronger each day that another National League pennant playoff may be in the offing.

San Francisco Manager Alvin Dark apparently is thinking of just such a possibility. Tuesday, after his Giants had beaten Pittsburgh for their seventh consecutive triumph and moved into a temporary first place tie with Los Angeles, he said:

"Wouldn't it be something if there is a playoff and we get another crack at the Dodgers?"

The Dodgers regained their half-game lead Tuesday night, defeating the Chicago Cubs, 3-1.

The Dodgers and Giants do not play each other again during the regular season. They split the 18 games between them but the Giants won six of the last seven.

"I'd like it if we had three more games with them," Dark said.

"There's no question in my mind we could take them again."

Wills Set to 'Steal' Ty's Base Record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Baseball's greatest base thief since the great Ty Cobb took his burglary act on the road Wednesday for the final time this season.

Mauri Wills of the Los Angeles Dodgers is the gentleman in question, or as rival pitchers and catchers prefer, the rogue and villain of the base paths.

And sometime between Wednesday night in Houston, where the Dodgers were slated to meet the Colts and the return of the club to Dodger Stadium Sept. 25, the mighty little one seems certain to break one of the game's most sacred records, one that seemed as secure as Babe Ruth's 60 home runs until Roger Maris eclipsed it last year.

That would be the 96 bases stolen in 1915 by Cobb, the immortal Georgia Peach.

Wills got No. 90 Tuesday night, his 14th in six games and 30th in the last 25 games.

He is quite aware of the Cobb record. And he seems embarrassed when the Cobb record is emphasized or obvious comparisons with Cobb are made.

"No," Wills insists, "I am not pointing toward Cobb's record, or any particular number of bases stolen. My only aim is to help the club in the pennant race."

"If a record comes — well, it just will. But my real aim is to help the ball club win the games, and if we can, win the pennant in the National League."

Cheney Sets New Major Mark

Nat Fans 21 Batters

BALTIMORE (AP) — Tom Cheney of the Washington Senators struck out 21 batters for an all-time major league record and defeated the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 Wednesday night on Bud Zipfel's 16th inning homer.

Zipfel's sixth homer of the season, off Dick Hall, broke up a 1-1 tie which had existed since the seventh inning.

Cheney, a 27-year-old right-hander, entered the game with a 5-8 record. He had hurled only three previous complete games this season — and all were shutouts.

His 16-inning performance was the longest pitching stint of the season, topping the 15 innings hurled by Al Jackson of the New York Mets in a losing effort.

Cheney topped a record of 19, set back in 1884, and the modern mark of 18 — performed six times since 1906 by four different pitchers. Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers reached the 18 mark — in nine innings — for the second time on April 24 this season.

Washington scored its first run of the game in the first inning on Ron Stillwell's infield hit, a double by Chuck Hinton and an infield out by Zipfel.

The Orioles tied it in the seventh on a double by Marv Breeding and a pinch single by Charley Lau, who batted for Oriole starter Milt Pappas.

Mantle's 27th Homer Lifts Yanks; Tribe Out of Race

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mickey Mantle hit a three-run homer Wednesday night to power the New York Yankees to a 5-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians into the final game of the season between the two teams.

The defeat mathematically eliminated the Indians from a chance of overtaking the Yankees in the American League pennant race.

Despite the 90-degree heat, the Hawks were fully clad in pads during the afternoon drill, but ran in shorts and T-shirts in the morning.

Burns termed the scrimmage a success as far as the first and second units were concerned, but cautioned: "The reserves are not strong enough to permit a full appraisal of the team."

Big Cloyd Webb rejoined the squad at his No. 1 right end slot after recuperating from a touch of the stomach flu.

But reserve right end Marlin Wiese, sophomore right end from Tama, complained of dizziness and was sidelined.

Jim Robshaw continued to exercise his strained foot in order to return to his No. 2 center position as soon as possible.

No. 1 Hawk End—

Lyon Slightly Injured

By ERIC ZEECKLER

Just when it seemed that Coach Jerry Burns' luck had gone to the dogs, a flash of good news Wednesday evening made the Hawkeye football picture a bit brighter.

No. 1 left end Lynn Lyon, who suffered an elbow injury in Wednesday's defensive scrimmage, should be back with the Hawks in one to three days, Dr. W. D. Paul, team physician, said last night.

The doctor described the injury as a muscle sprain in the right elbow. How well Lyon responds for treatment will determine when he returns to the line-up.

The 189-pounder from Clinton, who achieved the No. 1 rank when the ineligibility of Felton Rogers was announced, had done fine work in the scrimmage, making three tackles single handedly before he was injured.

Burns announced after the drill that junior Bill Niedbala would replace Lyon temporarily at the left end post.

The big end's injury marked the second incurred by the Hawk team in two days. Bob LeZotte, No. 3 right halfback, is currently sidelined by a shoulder injury and is expected back in one week, Burns announced.

Despite the 90-degree heat, the Hawks were fully clad in pads during the afternoon drill, but ran in shorts and T-shirts in the morning.

Burns termed the scrimmage a success as far as the first and second units were concerned, but cautioned: "The reserves are not strong enough to permit a full appraisal of the team."

Of more importance was the fact and three against Houston, they have four games in Pittsburgh, two in St. Louis and three in Houston after leaving Cincinnati. The Giants' road record is only 38-32 as compared to 55-20 at home.

The Dodgers, also on the road, open a 10-game safari with a single contest in Houston. Then they play three in Chicago, three in Milwaukee and three in St. Louis before returning to Los Angeles for three with the Colts and three with the Cards. The Dodgers' road record is 43-28.

OVER IN THE AMERICAN LEAGUE, the managers of the Los Angeles Angels and Minnesota Twins apparently agree on one thing — nothing short of a miracle will enable them to overtake the New York Yankees in the American League pennant race.

Neither manager said so outright Wednesday but their words left little room for doubt as to their meaning.

After his Angels had wrested second place from the Twins, Los Angeles Manager Billy Rigney was asked if he still was confident of overtaking the Yankees, whom the Angels trail by four games. His reply was "why not?"

But jokingly he admitted: "It would be the biggest steal since the Brinks robbery."

Manager Sam Mele of the Twins who dropped into third place 4½ games behind following their second straight shutout defeat by the Angels, was even more dubious.

"We're just about at the end of the rope," he said. "We certainly can't be losing like this. We can't afford to lose — not at all."

The Twins have 15 games left to play, 11 at home. However, they have three against Detroit and six against Baltimore, each of whom is battling for a first division finish.

The Angels have 16 games left, 10 at home, but five are against the Tigers, who hold a 7-6 edge over them.

The Yankees have 14 games left, only five at home. Their toughest opposition may come from the Chicago White Sox, whom they are scheduled to meet six times, three at home and three on the road.

Rickover May Fill Education Post

WASHINGTON — One of President Kennedy's closest advisers is urging that Vice Adm. H. G. Rickover, a slashing critic of American schools, be named U. S. commissioner of education, it was learned Wednesday.

The report drew a unanimous "it couldn't happen" reaction from Rickover's friend and foes alike, despite at least some indications that it really could.

A reliable source said the admiral's appointment was urged on Kennedy "soon after" Sterling M. McMurrin announced his resignation from the post in late July.

Although the resignation has not yet been formally accepted by the White House, McMurrin left Washington last Saturday to resume his professorial duties at the University of Utah and enroll his five children in Salt Lake City schools.

Rickover, known as the father of the atomic submarine, has been jolting American educators for years with his blunt and persistent charges that American schools are too soft, too full of frills, and lag too far behind European and Soviet schools in academic achievement.

For this reason alone, the possibility that he would be named to the government's top education job and be asked to work with these same educators might seem remote. Moreover, the appointment has never gone to anyone outside the field of education.

On the other hand, Kennedy had great trouble finding a man for the job last year before McMurrin was named, and seems to be having the same difficulty now.

Some of the nation's top men in education have been offered the appointment and turned it down. Rickover might well walk in where other men have preferred not to tread.

A case in point is James E. Allen Jr., state commissioner of education in New York. Allen was offered the post last year and declined because, he said later, the federal post offered too little freedom of action.

According to one prominent educator in Washington, a three-man committee appointed by Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze has been shuffling names for nearly six weeks in an effort to find a successor to McMurrin.

The Office of Education is part of Celebrezze's Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The committee, it was reported, has Rickover under consideration, as well as Francis Keppel, dean of education at Harvard; Warren G. Hill, state commissioner of education in Maine, and a number of big-city school superintendents.

U.S. Grants To SUI Total $809,569

The U.S. Public Health Service (PHS) has granted SUI more than three-quarters of a million dollars for 24 student training programs in 17 departments of the University during the coming academic year.

The complex of grants totaling $809,569 will be used to continue and to expand programs conducted in 12 departments last year, and to establish similar programs in 11 other areas of study at SUI.

The University received $344,045 from the Public Health Service for student training programs last year.

The funds will be used to increase the intensity and scope of instruction and research for SUI advanced students in such study areas as allergies, infectious diseases, diabetes, arthritis, psychiatry, dentistry, psychology, social work, medical cardiology, and metabolic diseases.

To accomplish this, the grants will be used to provide compensation for services and tuition for students, to purchase research equipment and supplies, to pay expenses of scientists from other institutions invited to give special lectures, and to give support to professors who devote time to the more intensive instruction and training of these students.

The funds were accepted for the University by the finance committee of the State Board of Regents. The PHS student training grants to SUI for the 1962-63 school year

Chicago Leader Gives Money To Save Music

CHICAGO, Ill., — W. Clement Stone, Chicago civic leader and insurance executive, has stepped forth to help save one of the nation's greatest cultural organizations—the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

"We are certain that Chicagoans will come forth in large numbers with contributions to reach the goal of $164,000 almost immediately and in time to save the orchestra," said Stone.

"Chicago cannot afford to lose its great symphony orchestra. The orchestra not only fulfills a vital cultural need in the Chicago area and the midwest, but it also serves as an important symbol of our city in the eyes of our nation and the world."

The newspaper's goal, which Stone is certain will be attained, is to raise an extra $164,000 which would make for settlement of the dispute and assure the performance of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra for the 1962-63 season.

To start the fund raising campaign, Stone made an initial contribution of $10,000. He was joined immediately in the "Save-The-Chi-

Macmillan Holds Fast To Common Market

LONDON — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan held fast Wednesday to his plan to take Britain into the European Common Market despite sweeping Commonwealth criticism of his policy.

The British government will continue the negotiations for Common Market membership and stand by the agreements already hammered out in Brussels, Macmillan's aides said.

Macmillan sat unsmiling through another day of the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference. Again he heard speakers hammer on the theme that the 16-member Commonwealth will never be the same once Britain ties up with the European Economic Community, the official name of the Common Market.

But even Welensky had reservations about the course pursued by Macmillan. He said if the British join the Common Market they may find they need to keep a great deal of capital at home to modernize their plants.

In that case, Welensky said, the flow of British capital to underdeveloped countries would be diminished for time.

Sir William Alexander Bustamante, the prime minister of Jamaica, voiced the basic fear that the Commonwealth itself will fall apart once Britain goes into Europe.

The Cabinet is expected to meet Thursday to consider the Commonwealth attacks and see what changes can be made in Britain's negotiating posture in Brussels as a result.

Some sources believed the Commonwealth criticisms may enable the British negotiating team to advance stronger arguments for better terms from the Common Market six—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Cattle Buyer's Car Window Shattered; Officials Investigate

ELDORA — The Hardin County sheriff's office said Wednesday it was investigating a rock-throwing incident at Iowa Falls involving the car of a buyer for the Dubuque Packing Co.

Ben Mossman told the sheriff's office he was traveling west on Highway 20 in Iowa Falls Tuesday when a rock shattered the windshield of the car. Mossman, his son and another passenger suffered small cuts from flying glass fragments.

Signs painted on both sides of the car identified it as belonging to the packing firm, Mossman said.

Cedar Rapids Firm To Host SUIowans

Two SUI professors and two students have accepted an invitation from a Cedar Rapids electronic firm to attend an Industrial Engineering Seminar Saturday in Cedar Rapids.

They are J. W. Deegan, chairman of the Department of Mechanical Engineering; W. R. Hudson, professor of mechanical engineering; Charles Dore, E4, Iowa City, and Tom Suzuki, E4, Lahaina Maui, Hawaii.

In recent years, visits by outstanding musicians and musical organizations from the United States to Russia have created a very favorable impression in the communist world of the culture of the United States. To permit the Chicago Symphony Orchestra to sink into oblivion would be comparable to drawing an iron curtain over this image that the United States has been successful in creating in the eyes of communism Russia."

Stone, who is president of the Combined American Insurance Company, Dallas; the First National Casualty Company, Fond du Lac, Wis., and the Hearthstone Insurance Company of Massachusetts, Boston, is a well known philanthropist. Among his recent gifts have been a 1 million dollar pledge to Evanston hospital, $17,000 to the Bridewell for a wardrobe fund for inmates, and $30,000 to New York's teen-age Evangelism program. In addition, Stone has pledged and contributed nearly a million dollars to Michigan's National Music Camp and Interlochen Arts Center.

The committee will examine and clarify the functions of the national organization's council and sections.

AFL-CIO Sees Need Of More Iowa Industry

SIOUX CITY — Delegates to the Iowa Federation of Labor AFL-CIO convention here Wednesday heard a report of shrinking membership and a proposed plan to gain more industry, and thus more union members, in Iowa.

A. Jack Lewis, secretary and treasurer of the federation, said membership stands at 75,871—nearly 5,000 below a year ago.

Major factors in the decrease are automation and depression employment conditions, he said. Membership was listed at 100,000 a few years ago.

The Polk County delegation introduced a resolution calling for a statewide committee to promote new industry. The measure would authorize the committee to make a study and recommend action by the 1963 convention.

Politicians took much of the time at Wednesday's sessions. Speakers included Gov. Norman Erbe, a Republican; his Democratic opponent, Harold E. Hughes; E. B. Smith, Democratic U. S. Senate member; and Herschel Loveless, a Democrat and Erbe's predecessor as governor.

In introducing Loveless, Federation President Charles L. Davis of Des Moines said:

"It's my feeling that we haven't had a governor since you went back to Washington, D.C."

Loveless, Iowa's chief executive from 1957 to 1961, is a member of the Federal Renegotiation Board in Washington, D.C.
