Cuba Quarantine Starts Today; Pentagon Extends Enlistments

U.S., Russia Counter With Arms Proposals

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United States Tuesday urged the U.N. Security Council to approve a resolution calling for dismantling and withdrawal of Soviet-supplied missile bases from Cuba under U.N. supervision.

Russia countered with a resolution for withdrawal of a U.S. arms blockade of Cuba. It called for the United States, Cuba and the Soviet Union to "enter into negotiations with the purpose of normalizing the situation and of removing thus the threat of war."

Cuba said that it would not accept U.N. observers on its soil as proposed by the United States.

The Security Council later adjourned until 9 a.m. (EDT) Wednesday without taking action on the resolutions.

Ambassador Adlai Stevenson told the 11-member council in introducing the U.S. resolution that Cuba under Fidel Castro had opened up a bridgehead to bring expansionist Communism into the western hemisphere, and the United States did not intend to retreat before it.

He said the United States had only "contempt for blackmail" by the Soviet Union in trying to force it to stand idly by while Cuba made an "invasion" of the Americas.

Russia's Valerian Zorin, introducing a resolution which also would have the Security Council condemn the arms blockade by the United States, said that "no self-respecting state will permit its shipping to be tampered with."

"This small and heroic country of Cuba will not remain alone in this difficult hour," Zorin said. "Cuba is not alone. She has many friends not only in Latin America but in the whole world. Among them is the Soviet Union."

"Cuba, as clearly stated by Chairman Khrushchev, can always count on support and assistance from the Soviet people."

Zorin charged that the United States was committing "unconcealed piracy" in its naval blockade, using the Soviet arms buildup as an excuse to bring Cuba down.

He said it was "false and slanderous" to say there are Soviet "aggressive" rockets in Cuba, but he did not deny there were missiles there.

Stevenson made no apologies for the decision by President Kennedy to quarantine Cuba and halt ships bringing in offensive arms. He called upon the Council to approve a resolution that would demand the "immediate dismantling and withdrawal" of missiles under U.N. supervision.

Cuba's answer was made by its Ambassador, Dr. Mario Garcia Inchaustegui, who also called for the council meeting and branded the U.S. action an "act of war."

"We reject as false and dishonest all the accusations by the President of the United States here repeated by his representative to the United Nations," he said.

This referred to President Kennedy's charge that medium-range missile bases already exist in Cuba and intermediate-range bases are being constructed that could strike into the heartland of the United States.

Inchaustegui asked that the council use its influence to bring about the immediate withdrawal of the American forces around Cuba and cease its blockade.

Russia was considered certain to veto the U.S. resolution, in which case Stevenson was expected to take it to the General Assembly. Russia's Valerian Zorin, currently President of the Council, seized advantage of his role as chairman to plunge immediately into the dispute although Stevenson had been scheduled as the first speaker.

"The raising by the United States of the question of an alleged threat to the security of the United States and the western hemisphere by Cuba is completely false," he said.

Stevenson spoke at length and eloquently.

"The foremost objection of the states of the Americas to the Castro regime is not because it is revolutionary, not because it is socialistic, not because it is dictatorial, not even because Dr. Castro perverted a noble revolution in the interests of a squalid totalitarianism," he said.

Stevenson said people at the United Nations seem to believe that the cold war is a private struggle between two great superpowers.

"It isn't a private struggle; it is a world civil war — a contest between the pluralistic world and the monolithic world — a contest between the world of the charter and the world of communist conformity," he said.

"Every nation that is now independent and wants to remain independent is involved, whether they want it or not."

SUI Professor Blasts U.S. For 'Piracy on the Seas'

By JANICE SURASKY

"I only hope that now that America has lost its head about Cuba, the Russians will keep theirs," said Patrick J. Alston, assistant professor of history, Tuesday.

Alston, who spoke on "Cuba: Opportunity or Trap" at the first Spotlight Series this year, is now a permanent member of the Series panel.

He attacked the policy of the United States toward Cuba by saying, "Our loss is that a government, whose officials are elected by free democratic processes, has acted in an arbitrary, high-handed, panicky manner. Like Red China, the United States has behaved as if it were a law unto itself."

"Now everyone in the world is hoping that the Russian leaders, who are not freely elected or dependant on mandates of the people, will behave in a cautious, moderate manner and save the peace."

Alston said he felt that the Administration had worked itself into a desperate situation. This it did, he said, when it abandoned Cuba, to all intensive purposes, with a solemn announcement by President Kennedy that we would take no action in that island.

"This demonstrated American impotence to the world," stated Alston. "It caused pressure on the President to mount until the decision on Cuba had to be made."

Another reason which Alston gave for the decision in Cuba was the forthcoming Congressional elections and the eventual Presidential election. The decision on Cuba has caused it to be removed now as a campaign issue, he said.

"All Congressional election leaders, such as Rockefeller and Nixon,

Peiping Seeks To End Fight; Asks Meeting

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Communist China, its troops driving daily deeper into Indian territory, called suddenly Tuesday for an end of the border fighting and a meeting of the Chinese and Indian Heads of State to seek a peaceful settlement of their bloody dispute.

The Red Chinese proposal for negotiations was contained in a Peiping Radio broadcast in the Chinese language. Shortly afterward the Communist New China News Agency carried it in an English language broadcast.

In making the proposal, the Chinese Government said it was "inconceivable" that the border dispute can be settled by force alone.

It proposed that the forces of each side withdraw 20 kilometers — 12.5 miles — from the line of actual control "and disengage."

The Communist statement said India has rejected three previous Chinese proposals for negotiations. It noted that "fierce fighting is now going on" all along the border. The occurrence of this grave situation pains the Chinese Government and disturbs the Asian and African countries and people.

China proposed a meeting between Premier Jawaharlal Nehru of India and Premier Chou En-Lai

Senate Clears Obstacle to AID Awards

By LARRY HATFIELD
Managing Editor

The Student Senate unanimously passed a constitutional amendment Tuesday night, eliminating the last obstacle to the official awarding of the first two Project AID scholarships.

The two $200 scholarships will be awarded Monday afternoon at 2:30 by President Virgil M. Hancher. The announcement will be made in a special ceremony in the President's office, according to Ron Andersen, A4, Dike, Project AID commissioner.

In other action, the Senate was presented another constitutional amendment; argued briefly over a special report which would set up "roving" Senate meetings; and established a special committee to study student housing costs.

The recipients of the AID scholarships were chosen from "literally hundreds" of applicants. Selection was made from scholarship applications on file in the Office of Student Affairs.

Project AID was established in the 1961 spring semester for raising scholarship funds to assist deserving students.

No scholarships have yet been awarded.

Award of scholarships has been held up this year because of a Project AID constitutional provision which required that scholarships be awarded only from the interest on Project AID principal.

The amendment approved by the Senate amounted to an enabling act releasing part of the original principal for the first two scholarships.

After considerable discussion the Senate agreed to set up a Housing Cost Committee to "investigate and make legislative recommendations on the subject of housing costs." The committee will compare SUI student living costs with living costs at other schools of similar size.

Senate President Mark Schantz urged the committee to present a report on its findings "at the earliest possible moment."

The special report created a minor skirmish among Senate members. The report would provide that every other Senate meeting be held in a housing unit or the Iowa Memorial Union.

Several members felt that the Senate should be invited to a specific housing unit before a formal schedule was set up. Chairman of the special committee, Roger Wiley, A3, Sioux City, said the committee "expected to be invited" before the Senate moved the location of its meetings. Presently, the Senate meets in Old Capitol.

Stevenson Urges Halt To Red Arms Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy tonight ordered Tuesday night that a blockade be clamped on deliveries of offensive arms to Cuba effective at 10 a.m. (EDT) today.

Soviet vessels bound for the Communist-ruled island steamed toward a U.S. armada posted to enforce the quarantine — and a possible cold war showdown on the high seas.

Kennedy said in the proclamation that he acted because:

"The peace of the world and the security of the United States and of all American states are endangered by reason of the establishment of an offensive military capability in Cuba, including bases for ballistic missiles with a potential range covering most of North and South America."

The Pentagon moved swiftly to bolster the Navy and Marines, extending enlistments and tours of duty.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said the action was necessary to provide manpower to sustain the blockade and reinforce the U.S. Naval base at Guantanamo Bay, on Cuba's eastern tip.

No figures were available at once on the number of men affected by the order.

However, the Pentagon estimated that as a result of the freeze, personnel would increase approximately 10,000 a month in the Navy. About 10 per cent of that total are officers. The freeze will increase the Marine Corps at a rate of 2,400 per month, of which 8 or 9 per cent are officers.

McNamara said he could not estimate when the first Soviet vessels might run up against blockaders.

The defense secretary told a news conference about 25 Russian ships now are moving toward Cuba, some of them close to island ports. Another 10 or 12 are in port, he said, and about 25 are steaming away from Cuba.

He said it would be a "fair presumption" that some of the ships are carrying offensive weapons.

"We have no reason to believe," McNamara added in reply to questions, that any Soviet vessels have changed course since Monday night — when Kennedy put the world on notice that the United States would move to seal off offensive weapons shipments to Cuba.

The proclamation put these weapons on the blockade embargo list:

Surface - to - surface missiles; bombers, bombs, air-to-surface rockets and guided missiles; warheads for such weapons; mechanical or electronic support equipment; and any other weapons which may later be designated by McNamara "for the purpose of effectuating this proclamation."

Kennedy said that in carrying out the order, "force shall not be used except in case of failure or refusal to comply with directions, or with regulations or directives of the secretary of defense issued hereunder, after reasonable efforts have been made to communicate them to the vessel or craft, or in case of self-defense. In any case, force shall be used only to the extent necessary."

As to how vessels will be inter-

BULLETIN

CANBERRA, Australia, (UPI) — A Soviet embassy spokesman here early this morning issued and then withdrew a statement that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev would reply at 12:30 a.m. to President Kennedy's announcement of a naval blockade of Cuba.

The spokesman, who said he was press attaché for the embassy but would not give his name, said "I was told earlier that Tass News Agency said such a reply would be made this afternoon (Australian Time). I myself know nothing about it."

Tass had not carried any such report.

Accepted, Kennedy put it in this language:

"Any vessel or craft which may be proceeding toward Cuba may be intercepted and may be directed to identify itself, its cargo, equipment and stores and its port of call, to stop, to lie to, to submit to visit and search, or to proceed as directed. Any vessel or craft which fails or refuses to respond to or comply with directions shall be subject to being taken into custody."

"Any vessel or craft which it is believed en route to Cuba and may be carrying prohibited material or may itself constitute such material shall, wherever possible, be directed to proceed to another destination of its own choice and shall be taken into custody if it fails or refuses to obey such directions. All vessels or craft taken into custody shall be sent into a port of the United States for appropriate disposition."

In the United Nations, U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson urged the Security Council to halt the Communist arms buildup, calling it part of a vast Soviet plan to win the world for communism by "piecemeal aggression."

The Kremlin alerted its armed forces and those of its Warsaw Pact allies, and denounced as "hypocrisy" the U.S. charge that offensive weapons had been sent to Cuba.

Backing for Kennedy at home came from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. In a speech at his hometown, Gettysburg, Pa., Eisenhower called on all Americans to support the chief executive on the Cuba question.

Kennedy set up a special committee of the National Security Council to meet with him daily for the duration of the crisis. A first session today lasted an hour and 20 minutes.

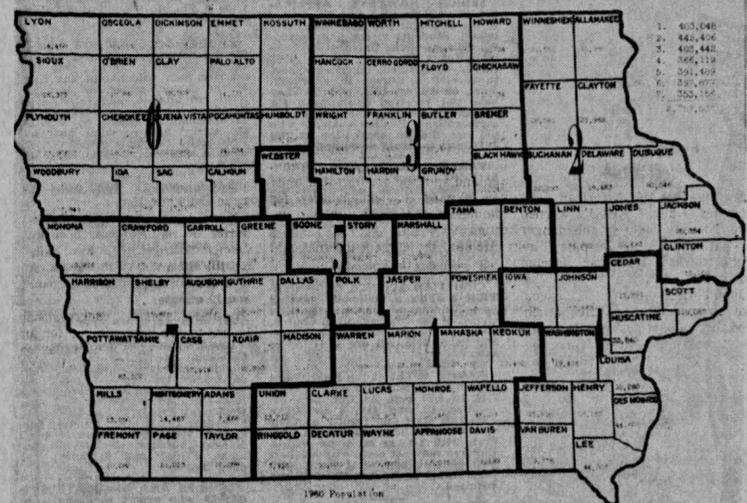

He also summoned congressional leaders to the White House for an extensive review on Wednesday of world reaction to the quarantine order.

Outside the hemisphere, the stoutest support for Kennedy's forceful action came from Britain and West Germany. Prime Minister Harold A. Macmillan's government accused the Russians of deception in bringing about the crisis by placing offensive nuclear weapons in Cuba.

Even though there was strong expectation that Soviet Premier Khrushchev would order a countermove against West Berlin, the citizens there expressed satisfaction with the U.S. decision. But they began hoarding food supplies in fear of a counter-blockade.

Ballot Includes Roster, 5 Issues—

SUIowans To Vote in Mock Election

Congressional Districts

These are Iowa's seven congressional districts. One representative from each will be selected today in the mock election at SUI. In the first district, including Johnson County, Democrat Harold Stephens is opposing Republican Fred Schwengel.

In a mock election today SUIowans will decide whether to endorse or oppose U.S. military intervention in Cuba. The question is one of five included on the ballot to determine campus views on state, national and international problems.

Listed on the ballot will be the candidates for U.S. Senate from Iowa, U.S. Congress from all seven Iowa districts, governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, secretary of agriculture, state auditor, and attorney general. A sample ballot appears on page three of today's paper. A map of congressional districts is on page one.

In the voting, students will have an opportunity to approve or disapprove the questions of liquor by the drink in Iowa, President Kennedy's medicare program, the N.F.O. withholding action, and the Schaff plan for reapportionment.

Voting on these issues and for Miss SUI will be at booths in Schaeffer Hall, Law Building, Medical Laboratories, Chemistry Building, and the entrance to the Gold Feather Room of the Union.

Polling places are open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. All SUIowans, 21 or not, are eligible to vote.

Results of the political election will be announced in Thursday's Daily Iowan. The election is sponsored by the Student Senate.

Miss SUI will be announced at the pep rally Friday night.

Best Time To Shale A Stick at The Bear

Monday evening President Kennedy announced that the United States was imposing a quarantine on Cuba because that nation has constructed offensive weapons — short and medium range missiles which are capable of delivering a nuclear warhead — on that island.

This Cuban danger cannot be the primary incentive for Kennedy's powerful move. The United States has long been a target of Soviet missiles based on both the Soviet mainland and in submarines which faithfully patrol this nation's seacoasts. The only difference Cuban installations have made is a reduction in the number of minutes it would take to deliver a blow to the United States.

Kennedy and his advisers have evidently decided that this is the opportune time and place to make a stand against the world-wide Communist encroachment tactics the Soviet Union has practiced since World War II.

It is certainly time for such a firm move. Since World War II the Communists have been "nibbling" away at the free nations of the world using guerrilla warfare as a means of takeover.

The United States, committed to helping such nations as Laos, South Viet Nam and the Congo, has operated at a great disadvantage in combatting the guerilla warfare which the Communists sponsored in these areas.

The United States was unfamiliar with the fighting techniques and the military equipment needed to win such battles. The countries involved were always remote, causing a serious logistics problem. Often the people in these countries were not familiar with the weapons we supplied or simply would not fight. And the guerrilla actions were not supported in the U.S.

Khrushchev has said that he does not believe the U.S. has the determination to defend itself and its allies. He applied pressure in Berlin last winter to test a determined Western stand. Diplomatic reports emanating from Moscow and other European listening posts conclude that Khrushchev will again escalate tension in that city, hoping that as he tightens the screws, this nation will back out.

Thus, knowing Khrushchev's aims and recognizing that he respects only force, it was inevitable that the United States confront the Red Tide with the awesome power at its command. It was not a question of whether to use force if necessary, but when and where to use it.

The Cuban situation has given Kennedy an opportunity to use the Caribbean as a potential battlefield — an excellent choice.

It affords us with the advantages which the Soviets have been accustomed to enjoying. They must now face our old problems if they wish to contest our Cuban quarantine.

They must contend with a very distant battlefield, isolated in an unfriendly continent. The cause is not overly popular.

If a show of military strength will make Khrushchev sit up and take notice of U.S. determination, then Kennedy could not have picked a more favorable stage. If Khrushchev panics and a holocaust is loosed, the distance death comes from will matter little.

For the first time in this Cold War the United States has dictated the battleground — we have taken the initiative, the next move is up to a hopefully prudent Khrushchev.

—John Klein

Vote in Mock Election

All SUI students have the opportunity to vote in the Student Senate sponsored mock election today, which is being held in conjunction with balloting for Miss SUI.

Students — whether they are 21 or not — will be allowed to vote on state and congressional candidates and also to express approval or disapproval on questions involving American Cuban policy, Kennedy's Medicare program, the NFO holding action, liquor-by-the-drink in Iowa and the Shaff plan for reapportionment of the Iowa legislature.

The results of this election will be widely disseminated throughout Iowa. SU Iowans should take this advantage to let the rest of the state know what they think as to the choice of our administrators and the policy decisions with which they will be charged.

Our state is as great as, and probably greater than anyone else's in those choices.

Reminiscent of Korea—

Just-Short-of-War Tactics Typical of Soviet Union

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

For many years now the Soviet Union has been taking advantage of a universal fear of nuclear war to advance, by measures just short of world war, the objectives of expansionist Communism.

Once before she made a mistake — in Korea. The United States moved swiftly and, to the Kremlin, unexpectedly. The Soviet-sponsored and Chinese-executed aggression was stopped cold.

For three years now the Soviet Union has been sponsoring, through Cuba, a concerted attempt to penetrate the Western Hemisphere.

Again the United States has called her hand, cold, and she's crying.

THE SOVIET STATEMENT makes a repetitive effort, as the Communists always do and as they did with regard to North Korea, to make President Kennedy's policy appear primarily as a threat to Cuba and to establish Cuba, not the Soviet Union, as the prime mover in fear of the United States.

But what Kennedy said was that, if a Soviet missile was fired from Cuba against a country of the Americas, the retaliation would be against the Soviet Union as the prime mover. This is in keeping with the great sympathy for the Cuban people felt in the United States, a sympathy which fed the fire of the Spanish-American War.

THE U.S.S.R. warns of the risk of thermonuclear war involved in the revived American policy of massive retaliation and of naval blockade.

This is a risk which President Kennedy recognized. It is a calculated risk upon which the nation's leaders already had passed judgment. And it is the willingness to take this risk which is the greatest warning and the greatest meaning of the entire position.

The Soviet statement refers to the right of all countries to lead their own lives. Apparently the Kremlin expects everyone to forget what happened in Hungary just six years ago. Then, after recognizing a Government which had revolted against Communist rule, Soviet Premier Khrushchev took advantage of Allied trouble over Suez to send his troops and tanks rolling back into the country, over the bodies of the brainwashed revolutionaries who refused to remain brainwashed.

The United States policy always has been to keep the way open at all times for self-determination of peoples, without permitting any imposed tyranny or one misguided popular action to close the door against freedom forever.

Today, U.N. Day, groups will be meeting in many areas to reemphasize the valuable work carried on by this organization. It is incumbent upon each of us to offer our moral support to the U.N. and encourage continued government support.

Legality, Integrity Of SUI Pageant Board Questioned

To the Editor:

I question the integrity and legality of the Miss SUI Pageant Board in conjunction with the so-called "board of experts."

It is my belief that any outside incidents and/or conflicts concerning the nomination of the original candidates, should be withheld from these "experts." It is my opinion that information used in determining the ten finalists by the experts should be that which is obtained through the personal interviews and pageant presentations only.

It is apparent in this last so-called "selection of the ten most qualified," that one of the original 24 candidates, deemed by a multitude to be one of the best, was overlooked. The general consensus is that these experts were told of the conflict between certain "loyal" nominating group and their nominee. (To this group who boasted that they would remove their candidate if it is "the last thing we do" — CONGRATULATIONS!) I hope that these narrow minded independents are satisfied.

Crooked politics is certainly nothing new, but what is new is that finally we may realize that there are certain "leaders" here at SUI who manage, come hell or high water, to get their own way. Good luck in the future! (You "leaders" no doubt already have the queen picked, why keep us in suspense?)

Moral Support Of U.N. Incumbent On All Americans

To the Editor:

During a visit to the United States in 1912, Abdu'l-Baha, a great Persian Sage, stated to a gathering in California that he hoped "the first flag of international peace" would be raised in that state. This prophesy became a reality Dec. 10, 1945, when 50 nations met to work out the charter for the United Nations Organization dedicated toward advancing the inherent and equal rights of all members of the human family.

In an article which appeared in The Des Moines Register Oct. 17 by Sydney Harris, "Trying to Be Human Tough Job", he states "what is profoundly and basically different from animals is that becoming human beings is not natural to us; it is a lifelong task, requiring constant diligence, practice, and sacrifice. It means surmounting ourselves."

He continues "wars, tyrannies, persecutions, corruptions — these are the traditional ways in which societies as a group resist humanization." Through the agencies of the United Nations, UNESCO which exchanges information on a world wide basis in the areas of education, science and culture, UNICEF established to better conditions for children, WHO offering medical services and exchange of medical knowledge to governments and peoples throughout the world.

Today, U.N. Day, groups will be meeting in many areas to reemphasize the valuable work carried on by this organization. It is incumbent upon each of us to offer our moral support to the U.N. and encourage continued government support.

U.S. Stand Is Clear; Now It's Up to Russia

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The United States challenge to the Soviet Union was direct and unequivocal.

At 7 p.m., Monday the world entered a state of crisis unequalled since the start of World War II, and as the hours pass there is no diminishing of the tension.

It is up to the Russians now whether the next few hours or days would see the start of a nuclear war.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY stated it clearly:—Any Soviet vessel attempting to run additional weapons to Cuba through the United States blockade will be seized or sunk.

—Missiles and their bases already in Cuba and capable of hitting either the United States or any Latin American nation will be removed by whatever means are necessary.

—Any missile fired from Cuba against any nation in the American hemisphere would be regarded as an attack by Russia upon the United States and military retaliation would be directed square upon Russia.

It was a United States decision alone and it caught the world, including the Russians, by surprise.

THE UNWAVERING FORCE of the announcement was designed to remove any last lingering doubt Soviet Premier Khrushchev might have about U.S. determination, whether it be aggression in this hemisphere or against Berlin or any other of the United States' allies.

Britain quickly joined the United States in accusing the Soviets of lying when they said Soviet Arms in Cuba were strictly of a defensive nature. Britain, Australia and the Philippines were among the first to pledge support to the United States in the United Nations.

There were indications that Mexico might change its mind about non-intervention in Cuba if it were proven that the Soviet weapons in Cuba were for offensive purposes.

The United States said it had plenty of proof in pictures taken by its high altitude planes.

West Germans who might bear the early brunt of Soviet retaliation also endorsed the U.S. action.

French reaction was slow.

THE SOVIETS reacted with accustomed bluster but screened their final intentions.

On Sept. 11, the Soviet News Agency Tass stated as an official Soviet position that an attack on Cuba or upon Soviet ships bound for Cuba would mean war.

The Soviets said then it was "No business" of the United States what Russia shipped to Cuba.

On Tuesday they called a meeting of Warsaw Pact leaders and ordered the "United Armed Forces" of the Communist Defense Alliance to increase their troop and naval preparedness.

Tass reported cancellation of all military leaves and postponement of scheduled discharges of some rocket troops, anti-aircraft personnel and sailors of the submarine fleet.

The Russians said that "if the aggressors unleash war the Soviet Union will deliver the mightiest retaliatory blow."

But they did not say whether they would or would not attempt to run the blockade.

THE U.S. CHALLENGE placed the Soviet Union in a position of limited alternatives.

Short of war, the Soviet Union could expel the United States ambassador from Moscow and withdraw its own representative in Washington.

Such a course would render difficult, if not impossible, any further direct talks between the two nations. On this point, the President seemed to leave the door slightly ajar when he said:

"This nation is prepared to present its case against this Soviet threat to peace, and our own proposals for a peaceful world, at any time and in any forum — in the OAS, in the United Nations, or in any other meeting that could be useful — without limiting our freedom of action."

ANOTHER POSSIBILITY, also noted by the President, could be an attack upon Berlin or in some other quarter. In this event, he warned, the United States would live up to its obligations. If there is to be maneuvering, a certainty would seem to be a Soviet demand for dismantling of foreign bases everywhere. This would include such U.S. bases as those in Turkey.

It is noteworthy that nowhere in the announcement of the Cuban quarantine did the president mention the Monroe Doctrine, long-time keystone of U.S. hemispheric policy.

Rather, he chose to base his action on the 1947 Treaty of Rio binding all the American republics.

Soviet Army, Navy Alerted As U.S. Quarantines Cuba

MOSCOW (AP) — Denouncing the U.S. arms quarantine against Cuba as a step toward world thermonuclear war, the Soviet Union on Tuesday ordered its armed forces into a state of combat readiness. Forces of the Warsaw Pact — Communist counterpart of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — followed suit.

The orders for military preparedness came after the Soviet government issued "a warning" over the action ordered by President Kennedy against Cuba.

The Soviet Defense Ministry halted discharges of servicemen or the senior age groups in the strategic rocket forces, anti-aircraft defense units and the submarine fleet. It ordered all military leaves canceled.

A government statement said it "resolutely rejected" President Kennedy's announcement that American naval forces now patrolling the Caribbean would stop and search ships, including Soviet, bound for Cuba. It did not say clearly, however, that the Soviet Union would continue sending ships to Cuba.

But two things which were not in the statement persuaded some official and unofficial observers that the Soviets had taken a moderate line, despite some of the harsh words directed at President Kennedy and the United States.

First, while President Kennedy said the United States would be prepared to defend its position in the Berlin area, the Soviet statement didn't even mention Berlin or Germany.

Second, the Soviet government did not outline any of the possible specific actions it might have ordered in reply to the American proposal to search ships to stop "offensive" types of arms reaching Cuba.

There was no action against the Berlin corridor, nor any indication, as yet, that the Soviet government might convey its supply ships to Cuba and thus put the American fleet face to face with Soviet warships.

Bruckner Society Names Voxman As a Director

Professor Himie Voxman, head of the Department of Music, has been elected a director of the Bruckner Society of America.

This organization, with headquarters in New York City, has done much in the last quarter century to further the performance of the compositions of Anton Bruckner and Gustav Mahler in the United States by recognizing through awards those conductors who have shown special interest in the works of these men.

The late Professor Philip G. Clapp, former head of SUI's Music Department, received the society's Bruckner and Mahler Medals of Honor. Professor James Dixon, director of the SUI Symphony, is an honorary member of the organization.

Test Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 24-hour delay in a high-altitude nuclear test shot in the Pacific testing area was announced Tuesday. It was rescheduled for 2:30 a.m. EST Thursday.

The announcement relayed from Joint Task Force 8 in Honolulu blamed technical difficulties for the delay. The Atomic Energy Commission made the announcement here.

A second shot scheduled for next Friday night, Hawaiian time, also was delayed 24 hours.

Kennedy's announcement, the Russian nation learned for the first time of the U.S. quarantine against Cuba and the charge that Soviet missiles capable of hitting the United States, Canada, Central America and South America were now being installed on the island 90 miles from U.S. shores.

The statement denounced the quarantine as cynical, hypocritical and dangerous.

But the reaction among diplomats here was one of calm. Some diplomats said the Soviet statement was not as bad as they had expected.

To President Kennedy's charge that the Soviets had started an offensive buildup in Cuba, the Soviet government statement replied that its shipments of arms to Cuba was only for defensive purposes.

It made no clearcut denial, however, that missile bases capable of launching rockets were being installed in Cuba.

The Soviet Union puts its own brand on the American decision to stop and search ships to prevent a further arms buildup in Cuba.

"The people of all countries must be clearly aware," the statement said, "that undertaking such a gamble, the United States of America is taking a step along the road of unleashing a thermonuclear world war."

"Cynically flouting international standards of conduct of states and the principles of the charter of the United Nations, the United States usurped the right, and announced this, to attack ships of other states on the high seas, i.e., to engage in piracy."

Those Russians who knew before the release of the statement of the new American position were worried and concerned about getting into a bad row with America over Cuba.

The Cuban rebellion is popular here, but at no time has the Soviet public been told how seriously the United States considers the Soviet intervention in Cuba.

Brazilian Pianist Opens SUI Concert Series

Guiomar Novaes, Brazilian concert pianist, will open the SUI Concert Series for 1962-63 with an appearance in Iowa Memorial Union Oct. 31 at 8 p.m.

Madam Novaes, who has performed under such world-renowned conductors as Leopold Stokowski, has been internationally praised since she was a girl of 13 for her "stirring rhythms" and "luscious singing tones infused with great strength and tenderness."

Tickets for her concert at SUI will be available to SUI students, faculty and staff members beginning Friday at 9 a.m. at the East Lobby Desk of the Union. SUI students may secure tickets free of charge upon presentation of their identification cards. The price of admission to others is $1.50. Any tickets remaining Tuesday, Oct. 30, will also be available to the public.

Many contemporary composers have been so moved by the artistry of Madame Novaes' playing, that they have singled her out to interpret their works. One of these artists was the late Serge Prokofiev, whose compositions are often included in her American recital programs.

Born into a family of artists, Madame Novaes made her official debut at 15 in Queens Hall in London under Sir Henry Woods. From the beginning she was hailed as one of the very great artists. Critics praised her for brilliant technique and for her depth and maturity as an artist.

Recitals in London, Paris, Berlin, Geneva, Lausanne and Milan were capped with a New York debut. Of the New York performance, the New York Times critic remarked, "Not every generation hears a Guiomar Novaes."

Since that time, Madame Novaes has made many concert tours in Europe, South America and the United States and has won a large following in each country she has visited. Today she is known as one of the foremost woman pianists of our time.

She has been the recipient of many tributes, both in this country and Europe as well as in her native Brazil. She wears the ribbon of the French Legion of Honor and the Order of Merit given to her by the President of the Brazilian Republic.

An award called the Guiomar Novaes Prize was founded by the late Octavio Pinto, husband of the artist. It is an exchange scholarship between the United States and Brazil.

Whips Fullmer for Middleweight Crown—

Tiger Pounds Out Decision

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dick Tiger of Nigeria ripped cuts over both of Gene Fullmer's eyes Tuesday night while pounding out a unanimous 15-round decision to capture the World Boxing Association middleweight championship.

In a bruising battle, the 159-pound Tiger used sharper punching to lift the title that his 160-pound foe from West Jordan, Utah, had held since 1959.

Texas, 'Bama 1-2 in Poll; Wildcats Third

Texas and Alabama continued to run neck-and-neck in the Associated Press' college football poll with Coach Darrell Royal's Longhorns holding the lead for the second straight week.

Another tight battle is expected this week for both of the leaders are matched with non-ranked clubs.

Texas, half way home to a perfect season after edging Arkansas 7-3, has Rice as its next opponent Saturday night. Rice, a non-winner, had one big plus mark to its credit, a 6-6 tie with powerful Louisiana State.

Alabama, also 5-0 for the year after a 27-7 romp over Tennessee, took on Tulsa 3-2, which had lost to Arkansas and Oklahoma State.

Northwestern surged into third place on the strength of its 18-14 decision over Ohio State. Next on the list for the Wildcats is Notre Dame, an old foe which has been having its troubles with a 1-3 record.

Southern California polished off California 32-6 for its fourth straight and moved against a weak Illinois club which had lost all four starts to Washington, Northwestern, Ohio State and Minnesota.

Wisconsin, No. 5, faced a rugged challenge in an Ohio State team which still smarted under that defeat by Northwestern, on top of a loss to UCLA. For the first time in years Ohio State was unranked.

LSU, winner of four but tied once by Rice, might be looking ahead to its Nov. 3 date with Mississippi but it can't afford to treat Florida (3-2) lightly. Mississippi, on the other hand, appeared to have no problems in Vanderbilt, a team that had lost all five starts.

Washington (4-0-1) could be in for a rugged afternoon against Oregon (4-1), a team that lost only to Texas 25-13, in its opener. The Huskies can't afford to hold

Although the Fullmer corner kept the cuts fairly well controlled and Gene battled back gamely, the Nigerian found the range consistently, keeping the Mormon batter in trouble.

Reeferee Frankie Carter scored the bout 10-1. Judge Jack Downey 9-5, and Judge Vern Bybee 7-5 — all for Tiger.

A crowd of about 12,500 in Candlestick Park roared approval of the slugging brawl between Fullmer, 33, and Tiger, 33. The bout was televised to 48 cities across the country on a closed circuit.

When the decision was announced, a group of Nigerians in colorful native robes lifted Tiger to their shoulders and did an impromptu dance in the ring.

Fullmer had not lost in his last 17 fights and seven times had successfully defended the crown he won by beating Carmen Basilio here Aug. 28, 1959. But Tuesday night, Tiger, whose true name is Iketu, had too much ammunition for the Utah strong boy.

The challenger built up an early lead while beating Fullmer to the punch.

Fullmer alternately boxed and blasted to the body to stay in contention, until the big ninth came for Tiger.

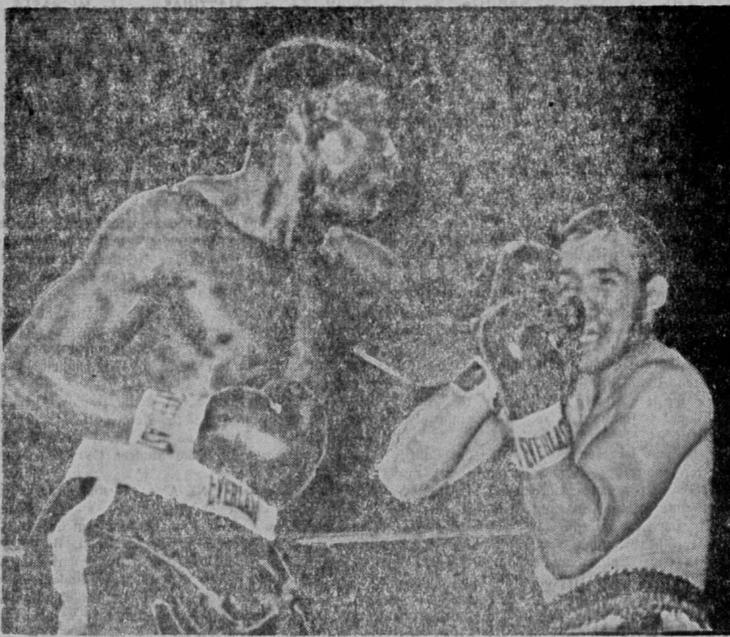

As the two battled on the ropes, Fullmer came away from a vicious exchange with an inch and a half cut over the left eye. By the end of the next round, he was bleeding from both eyes, the nose and mouth.

Fullmer drew a warning from Referee Carter in the fourth to keep his punches up and in the eighth to "watch your head."

There were no knockdowns, although Fullmer twice slipped to the canvas and in the 14th was wrestled down.

During the late rounds, Fullmer went more to a boxing style to protect his eyes and both finished with far more caution than they had at the start.

Tiger, who holds the British Empire 160-pound title, now owns half of the world championship. Massachusetts, New York and Europe, including the British Boxing Board of Control, recognize Paul Pender

Hayes Promises Reed Apology for Attack

CHICAGO (AP) — Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed said Tuesday he demanded a written apology from Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes for public statements criticizing officiating in the Buckeyes' loss to Northwestern Saturday.

Reed added that Hayes had agreed to send him such an apology.

On a TV program in Columbus, Ohio, Sunday Hayes showed films of the game, repeating one part three times in which he said officials made an error in a key play involving pass interference. Hayes indicated that the error cost Ohio State the game.

"The apology is to be made to me only because I represent the conference," Reed said. "I think Woody's public statements were a very serious thing because of three points:

1. They reflect on Woody himself and do not do him any credit as a coach.
2. They do serious discredit to the game between these two fine teams, which was excellently played — it was like throwing mud on a fine painting.
3. It violated a conference coaches agreement not to use game films to dispute or discredit officials.

"I considered all this very distressing. We always back up officials' judgment. They must make split second decisions and we consider such public statements as Hayes' as undermining this effort."

Reed made the announcement at the Chicago Football Writers' Association meeting.

Tigers Have Two Halfbacks Absent

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The University of Missouri football squad, its injury problems easing a trifle, worked hard Tuesday in preparation for its Big Eight Conference engagement with Iowa State here Saturday.

Daryl Krugman, defensive quarterback and punter, was back on limited duty, but Bill Tobin and Carl Crawford, the two top right halfbacks, were still absent. Coach Dan Devine said he didn't know whether any of the three would be able to play against the Cyclones.

GETS WINNING HABIT

DENVER (AP) — In three years Cheer, a 4-year-old filly, hadn't won a race until she captured the final event on a Friday program at Centennial Track. Less than 24 hours later she came back to win the second race on Saturday. She paid $27.40 for $2 win ticket on Friday, but only $6.80 the next day.

coach, told the group by telephone that "there may be over-officiating in the area of pass interference."

"But generally," he added in response to questions, "I think the big change in Big Ten officiating this season is the more strict calls for piling on and other roughness."

Blackout!

Can't See Nags Run 'Cause of Thick Fog

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Spotting which horse held the lead was no means the big problem at Golden Gate Fields Monday. The big question: where are any of them?

The fog was so dense that after the first race started announcer Joe Hernandez quickly added, "The horses have disappeared from view."

For the next four races, Joe couldn't even see the start. He had to be told by starter Sid Swansen via telephone that the race actually was under way.

In the stands, the more than 7,000 race fans twiddled thumbs until the horses finally came into view the last sixteenth of a mile. Appropriately, Fleet Ghost won the fifth — and paid $26.40 for $2.

Then the sun burst through and everyone could see the final four races — from start to finish.

Crisler Wants Head Blocking Ruled Illegal

NEW YORK (AP) — Blocking with the head in college football may be ruled illegal because of the increasing number of head and neck injuries, Herbert O. "Fritz" Crisler, chairman of the National Football Rules Committee, predicted Monday.

"One of two things will happen," said Crisler, athletic director at the University of Michigan. "My guess is we will get a different piece of headgear or that the rules committee will pass legislation that blocking with the head will be illegal."

Crisler, speaking on the problem of high school football injuries in general and football head injuries in particular, said the injury problem will be widely discussed at the annual rules committee meeting set for Jan. 12-14 in Los Angeles.

"There is really nothing wrong with the manufacturing of any helmets," said Crisler, "but many coaches have their players using their heads in a spearing and goring manner. We ought to get something in the rules about blocking with the head."

With the advent of the chin strap and face mask on headgear, Crisler said "a new technique has developed. This is the mechanics of blocking with the head. Many coaches want their players to use their head. That's permissible under present rules."

'Floating T' Prime Objective During Boilermaker Drill

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue's varsity concentrated on Iowa's "Floater" offense Tuesday in a drill with a combined squad of reserves and freshmen.

Main objective of the practice, Coach Jack Mollenkopf said, was to find a way to stop the Hawkeye aerial attack.

Sophomore tackle Ron Richnafsky was out with a sprained ankle and right halfback Dave Miller engaged in his first contact since a shoulder injury sidelined him before the Michigan game.

Purdue Coach Says—

'Iowa Has Best Defense in Years'

By ERIC ZOECKLER Sports Editor

When anyone mentions the Iowa football team around the Purdue football camp these days, you won't find many snickering, especially Coach Jack Mollenkopf.

Jack, whose up-and-down Boilermakers are preparing for an invasion of Iowa City Saturday, cautions, "Although Wisconsin scored 42 points against them, the Hawkeyes have the best defense in years."

"Sometimes a score cannot be used to measure it. Offensively Iowa's strongest points are over-all backfield speed and the passing of Matt Szykowny."

The Purdue squad, which was blasted from the national grid rankings by a 10-7 defeat by little Miami of Ohio then bounced back to tag Michigan 37-0, was told by Assistant Coach Don Fuoss:

"Iowa has a potentially explosive, potent offense. The use of multiple formations with a deceptive 'Floater' offense poses unusual defensive problems."

He backed up Mollenkopf's comments about Szykowny and added a little more praise while talking about Cloyd Webb and Larry Ferguson.

"Undoubtedly, the Boilermakers are aware that the Hawks have failed to click and probably will be up for Saturday's Homecoming contest, when Iowa teams are traditionally at their best. Mollenkopf is sold on his powerful fullback, Roy Walker, who he cited as 'typical of the all-out individual effort of every individual' in the Michigan bombing attack."

Although Ron DeGravio has the top edge at the position, his chief competition, Gary Hogan sports a better passing percentage.

IT SHOULD be like old home week when the Boilermakers arrive here Saturday morning.

Bob Wallace, No. 2 Hawks signalcaller, will renew two old acquaintances with No. 1 fullback Chuck King and No. 2 right end Sam Longmire of Purdue, both who hail from Wallace's alma mater, Alliance, (Ohio) High School.

The "good old times" at East St. Louis (Ill.) High probably will be relished by The Hawks' Cloyd Webb and No. 1 left end Don Brooks, both who were 1960 graduates there. Maybe Coach Jerry Burns and Mollenkopf were in cahoots when assigning lineup positions, because right end Webb will line up opposite Brooks when play begins.

Although third string quarterback Jim Brush was just a silly frosh when Matt Szykowny was ripping things up at North Catholic High School in Pittsburgh, Pa., chances are they'll get together before the game, too.

IF YOU think Iowa had trouble last Saturday with Ron VanderKalen, who quarterbacked the Badgers in victory, they'll be up against a double-barreled combo Saturday.

Although Ron DeGravio has the top edge at the position, his chief competition, Gary Hogan sports a better passing percentage.

'Ole Swami Liska Picks Boilermakers To Nip Iowa, 21-13

CHICAGO (AP) — After two successive clean sweeps in Midwest football predicting, the Swami is looking for a larger turban.

We're now batting .759 on 22-7, but the touchdown trail still is fraught in peril.

Purdue 21, Iowa 13 — Despite that stunning 10-7 loss to Miami of Ohio two weeks ago, Purdue still is a definite Big Ten title contender. The Boilermakers should make their conference mark 2-0 against Iowa which is learning that the "floating T" needs more than air currents, especially when the Hawkeyes have to go on defense.

Ohio State 19, Wisconsin 14 — Triumphant in four straight home appearances, Wisconsin will be greeted by the deafening silence of 34,000 Buckeye fans. Most of them never saw a Wisconsin victory in Columbus, for it was in 1918 the Badgers last won there. Wisconsin's walk over Iowa was easy, but it was after a 9-7 upset by UCLA, the Buckeyes stomped Illinois 51-15. Woody Hayes will be replaying last Saturday's game which he figures his Buckeyes definitely did not lose to Northwestern, despite the scoreboard.

Minnesota 14, Michigan 12 — Minnesota also has played four successive home games and makes its first road appearance in the traditional battle for the Little Brown Jug. The Gophers' tough defense should prevail, although Michigan will be "up" for the Jug.

Michigan State 21, Indiana 7 — Michigan State seems to get touchdowns in clusters from a different guy every week. But the Spartan hat-trick man, if any, won't find the Hoosiers cooperative at all.

Northwestern 20, Notre Dame 13 — The cloud-riding Wildcats are ripe for an upset and this has been a torrid rivalry in recent years. However, the Irish have proved vulnerable to speed and passing — and the undefeated Wildcats have plenty of both.

Southern California 24, Illinois 13 — Southern California's unbeaten Trojans seek their fifth successive triumph against the wireless Illini. The Illini could spring a great upset, especially if the Trojans are thinking only of next week's big clash with Washington.

ISU's Hoppmann, Walton Stricken by Flu Bug

AMES (AP) — Dave Hoppmann, Iowa State's leading runner and passer, and first team guard Dick Walton were in the university hospital Tuesday.

Roy Bickerstaff, team trainer, said both players were stricken with intestinal flu but would be available for duty Saturday in the football game at Missouri. But he said Hoppmann and Walton probably would not be at full strength.

Coach Clay Stapleton told the squad, "We are meeting the toughest team on our schedule Saturday so we had better be used to head knocking. You started hitting right against Colorado but you will have to be even more aggressive against Missouri."

The Cyclones worked on pass offense and team defense in two scrimmage sessions. Quarterbacks Dave Switzer and Ken Bunte, both sophomores, handled the passing in the absence of Hoppmann.

BURNS SETS OBJECTIVES
Coach Jerry Burns has varied objectives for the Iowa football team in this week's workouts. They include: (1) improvement on play execution; (2) better pass-catching (too many good ones have been dropped); (3) stronger blocking; (4) further development of the running game; (5) how to cope physically with the "brute strength" employed by Purdue.

Cyclone Gridder In Jail in Lieu Of $1,000 Bond

AMES (AP) — George Crayton, reserve quarterback on the Iowa State University football team, pleaded innocent to larceny Tuesday in the theft of articles from campus dormitory rooms.

He waived preliminary hearing when arraigned in Municipal Court and was bound over to the grand jury. He was returned to the county jail at nearby Nevada when he was unable to post $1,000 bond.

Crayton, 19, of Highland Park, Mich., was arrested last week after students complained of personal possessions being missing. Police said they found some of the articles in Crayton's dormitory room.

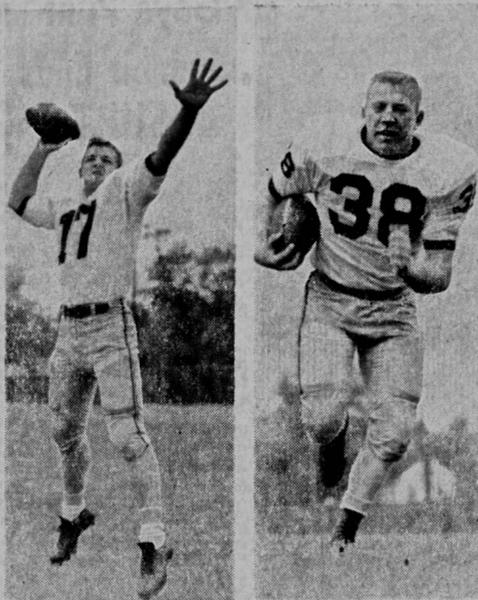

British Yachters Hurt by Decision On America's Cup

LONDON (AP) — British yachtsmen silently hid their disappointment Tuesday at the refusal of the New York Yacht Club to race for the America's Cup before 1964.

Officials of the Royal Thames Yacht Club, which wanted to challenge for the trophy next year, refused to comment for the moment on the Americans' decision.

The New York Yacht Club accepted a British challenge for 1964 after talks Monday with Major Charles Ball, Royal Thames vice-commander, in New York. The Americans have said they wanted a rest from 12-meter racing next year.

The American yacht Weatherly retained the cup for the United States last month by defeating Australia's Gretel four times in five races.

Double Threat

Ron DiGravio, left, quarterback for Purdue's Boilermakers and fullback Roy Walker will lead their team into Iowa Stadium for Saturday's homecoming game. DiGravio is an outstanding passer and has the poise of a true Big Ten veteran.

Pittsburgh Rens Drop Out of ABL

PITTSBURGH (AP) — President Lenny Litman of the Pittsburgh Rens said Tuesday night the Rens are dropping out of the American Basketball League because of financial difficulties.

Litman, who heads the Pittsburgh Sports Corp., the official name of the team owners, told newsmen:

"At the end of last season all funds of the Pittsburgh Sports Corp. were depleted. The board of commissioners of the league said it would put up the necessary money to continue operations here. "The money was not forthcoming. Abe Saperstein the ABL commissioner told me today it would be okay to fold up and send the players home. It would be financially impossible to continue right now."

The Rens have had 17 players working out at McKeesport the past two days in preparation for the coming ABL season.

The Rens roster includes two former University of Iowa players — Connie Hawkins, who was voted the ABL's most valuable player in the league's first season in 1961-62, and Hank Whitney, one of the top-rebounders in the ABL.

Robin Roberts Named AL's Comeback Star

NEW YORK (AP) — Robin Roberts, who showed flashes of the excellence the past season that made him one of the National League's outstanding pitchers, was named the American League comeback player of the year Tuesday in the annual Associated Press poll.

Roberts received 81 of the 106 votes in the balloting by members of the Baseball Writer's Association. Dick Donovan of Cleveland was second with nine votes, followed by Hank Aguirre, Detroit, and Billy Moran of the Los Angeles Angels, three each.

Cast off by the Philadelphia Phillies and New York Yankees, Roberts won 10 games and lost nine for the Baltimore Orioles while compiling the second lowest earned run average in the circuit, 2.77. In 1961, the veteran right-hander won only one game and lost 10.

In 14 seasons with the Phillies, Roberts won 234 games. Donovan won 20 games for the first time in 16 professional seasons, eight in the major leagues. Obtained a year ago from Washington, where he was 10-10, the right-hander posted five shutouts for the Indians while walking only 47 and striking out 93 in 250 2/3 innings.

Aguirre, a reliever in 1961 when he had a 4-4 mark, made the grade as a Tiger starting pitcher. He paced the AL in earned run average with 2.21 and won 16 games while losing eight.

Lyon's Aggressive on Field, in Classroom

By HARRIETT HINDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

The contention that good college athletes can not measure up in the classroom can hardly be proven with Lynn Lyon, Hawkeye end, as an example.

Lyon, a senior from Clinton, was valedictorian of his graduating high school class of 315 students, and now sports an impressive 3.3 grade point in pre-med at SU. Lynn cites organic chemistry as his most difficult course this semester.

The 6-5, 190-pound blond is a Nile Kinnick scholar at SU. The Kinnick scholarships are awarded to five athlete-scholars at Iowa each year in memory of the late Nile Kinnick, who won all-America honors during the late 1930's and was graduated Phi Beta Kappa.

Lyon participated in basketball, football, and track at Clinton High, and earned all-state grid honors as an end his senior year. He was a welcome addition to the Hawkeye end squad, and became particularly valuable this fall when Felton Rogers was lost to the team through ineligibility. Lyon was running at No. 1 left end when the season started, but was setback with an elbow injury. Now running at the No. 2 spot, he has seen considerable action on defense.

Asked about his greatest thrill in sports, Lynn said he would have to generalize and just say "playing for Iowa."

"I considered going to Michigan and also the University of Washington in St. Louis because of their excellent medical schools," Lynn commented, "but the Kinnick scholarship and Iowa's football program changed my mind."

Commenting on this year's Iowa team, the end said, "I think we have a lot better ball club than we have shown. The Wisconsin game was just one of those days when it was real hard for us to do anything."

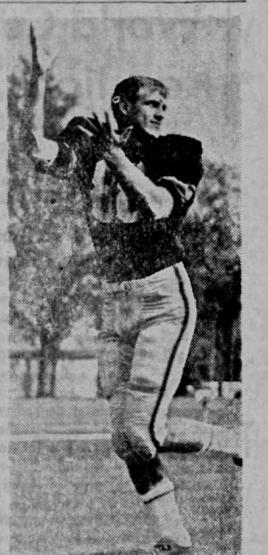

"Although all games are tough, we have three real tough ones coming up against Purdue, Ohio State, and Minnesota and this Purdue game is one we have to get."

Asked about the new "floating T" offense and how it has affected his position, Lyon explained, "The end that Tony Giacobazzi and I are playing is used as a tackle spot, and there have been a few changes in our assignments on pass protection, but other than that the blocking assignments remain almost the same. Also, we are not always eligible receivers."

Lynn, who is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity, enjoys skiing, water skiing, and music in the off-season.

The big end is the oldest in a family of four boys. Terry, a junior who transferred to SU from Wyoming, is now out for basketball; Kim is a freshman in high school and Peter is in third grade. Lynn's father is a dentist in Clinton.

Petitions for Will Probate Are Denied to Cardinal Owner's Son

CHICAGO (AP) — The Probate Court dismissed Monday three petitions filed by the adopted sons of Mrs. Violet Bidwill Wolfner, late owner of the St. Louis Football Cardinals, in a contest over her estate.

Judge Robert J. Dunne denied the petitions because an appeal on probating the will is pending in the Illinois Supreme Court. Mrs. Wolfner, whose first husband was the late Charles Bidwill, sportsman and printing magnate, left an estate of $3 million.

In one petition the sons, Charles Jr. and William, sought to restrain their mother's widow, Walter Wolfner, from proceeding with a suit in St. Louis to have a receiver appointed to manage the Cardinals.

In the other two petitions the sons asked for more time to file a new inventory of the estate and to have the courts grant them leave to sell a $100,000 home and personal property in Wilmette.

Wolfner is disputing bequests. Mrs. Wolfner left Wolfner only the trust income from five oil wells, and her sons the rest of the estate.

Mrs. Wolfner, 62, died in Miami Beach Jan. 29.

Attendance Figures Up 31 Per Cent in AFL

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Attendance in the American Football League is up 31 per cent over last year and some of the clubs are drawing well enough to make money.

Twenty-six league games this year have pulled in 591,000 spectators for an average of 22,780 per contest.

To further complicate an already complicated situation, New York State is not recognizing the Pender-Torres fight as for the championship.

The triumph was the eighth straight for Tiger, who lives in Amaibo Orlu, Nigeria, and put his record at 46-12-2. It was only the fifth loss for Fullmer in a career that includes 55 victories. Twice since winning the crown from Basilio.

World Capitals Issue Reactions to Situation

LONDON (UPI) — World Capitals Tuesday considered the Cuban blockade as a test of strength between the United States and the Soviet Union which posed the question of war or peace.

Here, in detail, is America's "image" around the world in the 24 hours after President Kennedy spoke:

The European Allies

- WEST GERMANY was the first to give a flat endorsement of the blockade. A Bonn spokesman said the Government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer (who was informed before the American People as were other major leaders) "welcomes the determination" to meet the Soviet "danger."
- THE BRITISH Foreign Office immediately acknowledged the shock of Kennedy's disclosures. Prime Minister Harold Macmillan summoned a cabinet meeting. Afterward a very carefully drafted statement expressed "support" of the "American Request to the Security Council that they should make recommendations to end this danger." But there was no immediate support of the blockade, which violated Britain's long-standing position on freedom of the seas and stood directly in the path of British ships trading with Cuba.
- FRANCE delayed any official comment for hours but officials said privately the De Gaulle Government stands with the United States. France enforced its own blockade during the Algerian war.

The Kremlin

● MOSCOW radio and the Official Tass News Agency were silent during the night. Tuesday morning the news agency, possibly indicating the Kremlin had no expectation of firm action in Washington, distributed a first comment which went no farther than accusing Kennedy of "crude anti-Soviet attacks."

Tuesday afternoon (Moscow time) came another tentative rejoinder: The Foreign Minister handed U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler a statement. It said: "In this alarming hour, the Soviet Government considers it its duty to issue a warning to the United States, that in implementing these measures the United States takes on itself the responsibility of the consequences." The statement repeated past Soviet assertions that arms shipments to Cuba are "defensive." It termed the blockade "a provocation, and a challenge to all people."

But there was no indication of the Kremlin's intentions. However, the Government cancelled all military leaves and halted discharges of personnel who had completed regular terms of service. Marshal Andrei Grechko, Commander of the Warsaw Pact Forces, summoned officers of the member nations and ordered an increase in military and naval readiness.

Kennedy's statement received banner headlines throughout Latin America. Official statements of support were voiced immediately by the Central American Governments and Venezuela.

● IN MANILA, perhaps the most encouraging sign of all for U.S. officials, was the statement attributed to Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos: "If the defensive nature of Cuba's weaponry change, Mexico's attitude will change."

In South America

- MEXICO has been the champion of a "hands-off" policy on Cuba.
- BRAZIL, the other major defender of Cuba from collective action in the organization of American states, was concerned that the blockade might cause cancellation of President Kennedy's Nov. 12-14 state visit. The Brazilian Cabinet met to discuss Kennedy's speech. Foreign Minister Hermes Lima said his Government "considers the international situation with the greatest gravity."
- IN VENEZUELA, there were anonymous phone-call threats of violence against American nationals. A Nicaraguan radio station which textually broadcast Kennedy's speech in Spanish was threatened with arson by an unidentified caller.
- CHILE, one of five nations still maintaining relations with Cuba and Fidel Castro's largest Latin American trade partner, maintained discreet silence as President Jorge Alessandri called a special cabinet session.
- Foreign Minister Marcos Falcon Briceño said Venezuela will support and aid the use of force against Cuba if necessary, since it feels itself imperiled by missiles. Police were alerted for expected leftist demonstrations.
- ARGENTINA, although beset by her own internal political problems, declared solidarity with the United States. Foreign Minister Carlos Muniz said the Argentine Navy is available for any measure deemed necessary for continental defense.

Canada

Premier John Diefenbaker's cabinet met two hours without announcing any action. Canada had withdrawn the privilege it gave Russia of refueling Cuba-bound planes. Canadian trade ties with Havana are a bigger problem.

The Far East

- COMMUNIST CHINA'S official news agency said that President Kennedy is "deploying troops for a blockade of Cuba in an effort to step up world tension."
- The charge by the New China news agency prefaced a lengthy account of U.S. troop movements in the Caribbean, and diplomatic moves in Washington.
- A short time earlier the agency issued its first report of Kennedy's blockade decision.
- It said that the U.S. President's concern about Soviet missiles in Cuba "is in complete disregard of the fact that the U.S. was committing aggression against Cuba."
- INDIA, with troubles of its own, was jolted by the blockade decision. Most Government officials were afraid trouble in Cuba might influence the Soviet attitude on the Indian conflict with Communist China. So far, Moscow had kept its hands off.

Embassy Mobbed in London; 2,000 Cry 'Hands Off Cuba'

LONDON (UPI) — More than 2,000 demonstrators broke through police barriers outside the U.S. Embassy here Tuesday, battling police, waving placards and chanting: "Hands Off Cuba."

At one point, the demonstrators rushed the doors of the Embassy and fighting broke out on the Embassy steps. The demonstrators finally were pushed back by four rows of police.

Later police said about 40 demonstrators were arrested. There were numerous scuffles between the crowd and police but no injuries were reported. At times the police increased to six the number of rows of men in which they moved against the crowd.

The demonstration was organized by "The Committee of 100," a group advocating unilateral disarmament.

Ninety minutes after they first arrived, more than 1,500 demonstrators still besieged the modern U.S. Embassy building.

Police charged the crowd at 9:25 p.m. and the demonstrators merely sat down. Police clambered over their prostrate bodies to make arrests.

Several of the sit-down demonstrators were arrested, including one who was dragged by his hair across the street.

At 10 p.m. more than 500 police massed on the Embassy steps trying to disperse the crowd.

Other demonstrators marched on U.S. consulates throughout Britain today, carrying placards protesting against the U.S. decision to blockade Cuba.

In Paris, anti-Castro Cubans staged demonstrations outside the Cuban Embassy but were quickly dispersed by a reinforced guard of policemen.

The Paris demonstrators briefly invaded the lawns of the Embassy building on the elegant Avenue Foch. They shouted anti-Castro slogans and tied placards to the railing saying: "We Cubans Say No to Russian Imperialism" and "Death to the Traitors Fidel-Khrushchev."

Before the riotous demonstrations broke out in front of the U.S. Embassy on Grosvenor Square in London, demonstrators had delivered a petition to Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at Admiralty House asking the British leader to intervene against the blockade. The petition was received by the Prime Minister's butler.

There were demonstrations at U.S. consulates in Leeds, Liverpool, Manchester and Glasgow. The demonstrations outside of London were generally quiet and orderly. The demonstrators carried placards with such slogans as "Hands Off British Ships," "Can Cuba Threaten the U.S.—?" and "One More Step to War."

The Scottish Peace Council cabled President Kennedy from Glasgow saying: "The American fear of foreign bases would engender more sympathy if you removed the Polaris Base from Scotland."

At the Polaris Base, on Scotland's Holy Loch, it was learned the nuclear submarine depot ship, Proteus, had sailed.

Squadron Commander Capt. Francis Dubois said the Proteus was on normal exercise but added: "Like all other U.S. forces, we have been placed on an increased state of readiness. But we have not stopped leave as yet."

Goya Print Exhibit Ends At SUI Today

An exhibition of more than 120 prints by the Spanish artist Francisco Goya being shown since the last week of September at SUI will close this evening.

The exhibition will be open to the public from 10-11 a.m., 3-5 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. in the New Gallery of the Art Building.

An early edition of "Los Disparates," a series of 18 prints which provide a pictorial and poetic treatment of Goya's dreams and convictions, was loaned for the exhibition by Prof. and Mrs. Mauricio Lasansky of SUI. Completed when the artist was past 70, these prints were the last he made.

Lasansky calls them "the most powerful" of the sets which Goya created, noting that they are not so involved with descriptive details as works in the "Disasters of War" series.

This is the first time "Los Disparates" has been shown in Iowa, Lasansky believes. It took 15 years of searching to find a complete set, which he purchased in England.

Featured in the exhibition are 80 prints in Goya's famous series "The Disasters of War," presented to the SUI Art Department through the Old Gold Development Fund. Goya prints from the collection of Owen and Leone Elliott of Cedar Rapids are also being shown.

The "Disasters of War" series is a strong pacifist statement, since it shows forcefully that no one gains through war, Lasansky said.

University Theatre Opens Thursday with Wilde Play

The University Theatre will open its 42nd season Thursday at 8 p.m. with a play considered one of the comic masterpieces of the English language.

"The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar O'Flahertie Wilde, is a curious and not easily definable blend of high comedy and farce which serves as a fine foil for Wilde's wit.

Kronenberg was probably right in suggesting that the play "stands very nearly by itself on the English stage through combining sheer nonsense and drawing room comedy."

The University production will run Oct. 25, 26, 27 and 31, and Nov. 1, 2, and 3. Tickets can be obtained at the theatre ticket desk in the Union.

SUI AFROTC To Coordinate Parade Entries

For the fifth straight year the SUI Air Force ROTC Advanced Corps will coordinate all entries and movements of the 1962 Homecoming Parade which begins at 7 p.m. Friday.

Operating in conjunction with Donald Sinek, chairman of the Homecoming parade organization committee, the 52-man Advanced Corps will be under the direction of Lt. Col. Carl W. Stucki, parade coordinator. Assisting Col. Stucki will be Cadet Major Merwyn Schug, assistant parade coordinator.

The Corps has been organized so that members will aid entries in forming into their respective order and maintaining order throughout the parade and along its route.

After being advised by four group coordinators as to the readiness of their respective sections, Col. Stucki will signal the sounding of the salute bombs which will start the parade. He and Cadet Schug will be stationed at the starting point.

Working in conjunction with the AFROTC group will be the Iowa City Police Department and the University Campus Police force. Five Cadets manned with two-way walkie-talkies will keep in contact with the starting point.

The parade, which will feature SUI President Virgil M. Hancher and other SUI officials, along with numerous floats, the SUI Marching Band and numerous high school marching bands, will begin at Iowa Avenue and Gilbert Street.

The formation will then turn right onto Dubuque Street, then left onto Jefferson Street, turning left onto Clinton Street. It will then pass the reviewing stand at Iowa and Clinton Streets and will proceed down Clinton to College Street.

Cuban Jitters Sends Stocks Sharply Down

NEW YORK (AP) — The Stock Market apparently took its worst beating in four months Tuesday in a bad case of Cuban crisis jitters.

The ticker tape was 23 minutes late at the close and the market turned sharply down. Even the aerospace issues lost many early gains and so did rails. Some steels held gains but the others saw them fade away.

Sales totaled 6,110,000 shares. In all 1,316 issues were traded. Of these 154 advanced, 1,015 declined, and 147 remained unchanged.

Castro Terms Blockade Action 'A Pirate Act'

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro said Tuesday night the American Naval blockade of Cuba "is the most dangerous adventure since the end of World War II." He warned that the United States "may rest assured" its arms quarantine "will very soon have repercussions."

In a one hour and 23-minute television address to the nation Castro called President Kennedy's proclamation of the blockade "a pirate act." He said the blockade is intended as a cover for a surprise attack. Cuba's armed forces, already on a war footing, are ready to meet it, he added.

All of the reasons given by Kennedy for the blockade are absolutely without foundation," Castro said.

He declared Cuba will not permit the United Nations or anyone else to inspect its bases or armaments.

"Anyone who plans an inspection in Cuba had better come ready to fight," he said.

"To blockade this country against all law and against international relations and the most elemental rights of peoples is a violation of our sovereignty and that of other countries sending ships to Cuba," he said.

OAS Endorses Quarantine By Almost Unanimous Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Acting nearly unanimously, the Organization of American States (OAS) today endorsed President Kennedy's decision to throw an armed blockade around Fidel Castro's Cuba.

The vote on the U.S. quarantine resolution was 19-0. Uruguay abstained because up to the time of voting it had not received instructions from its government. It was considered possible Uruguay later would make the resolution unanimous.

This was the first time the OAS has pronounced itself on the possible use of military force to deal with a hemispheric problem. In effect, its vote gave a legal sanction to the quarantine ordered by Kennedy Monday night.

The Resolution also called for the dismantlement of Soviet missile already in Cuba.

Fourteen votes were needed for approval of the resolution, personally presented by Secretary of State Dean Rusk who was making a rare appearance before the council.

But the members present took to heart Rusk's warning that U.S. cities were not the only strategic targets for the Soviet missiles which have been placed in Cuba.

Have Reservations

Mexico, Brazil and Chile expressed reservations as to the possible use of military force to meet the Communist threat in Cuba. But they did so only because of limitations of their executive power.

Unlike the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the OAS does not have a military force. Therefore it cannot carry out a collective military action to help blockade Cuba.

But its action today in effect permits the United States and any other Latin American government that wishes to do so to take all measures, "individually or collectively, including the use of armed force," to back up the Cuban blockade.

The United States had been prepared to go it alone if necessary to carry out the arms blockade.

This is no longer necessary. In effect, the OAS vote was similar to the U.N. General Assembly's action sanctioning former President Harry S. Truman's police action in Korea.

The final vote was preceded by more than one hour of argument about style and grammar of the official Spanish text of Rusk's resolution.

Colombia's Ambassador Alberto Zuleta Angel was in the chair, sitting directly beneath a huge metal emblem which displayed the 21 flags of the old OAS, as it was before Cuba was expelled last January. The Cuban flag could be plainly seen in the emblem.

Chair for Cuba

A place for Cuba was maintained at the table, an empty chair to the left of the raised podium for the chairman, Rusk, trying not to look impatient, sat to the chairman's right, between Guatemala, which was saved by an American blockade in 1954 from a Communist military buildup, and Ecuador.

The Brazilian delegation requested a paragraph-by-paragraph vote of the substantive parts of the American resolution.

The vote on a paragraph calling for "the immediate dismantling and withdrawal from Cuba of all missiles and other weapons with any offensive capability" was 19-0, and with one abstention, that of Uruguay.

The next section recommended that members "take all measures, individually and collectively including the use of armed force, which they may deem necessary to ensure that the government of Cuba cannot continue to receive from the Sino-Soviet powers military material and related supplies which may threaten the peace and security of the continent." It was approved by a vote of 17 to 0. Mexico, Uruguay and Bolivia abstained.

An additional phrase which recommended the members "prevent the missiles in Cuba with offensive capability from ever becoming an active threat to the peace and security of the continent," was approved by 16 to 0.

The four abstentions were Brazil, Mexico, Uruguay and Bolivia.

Brazilian Ambassador Ilmar Penna Marinho explained he was instructed to abstain on this portion because no explanation on this passage had been given by the United States.

Supports Full Text

But he added he had been instructed to support the resolution "in its totality."

A last-minute amendment by the United States expressing the hope that the U.N. security council will dispatch U.N. observers to Cuba at the earliest moment also was approved by a vote of 19 to 0. Uruguay again abstained because of its lack of instructions.

In January, Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia, Chile, Ecuador and Mexico abstained in a vote to expel Cuba from the OAS. All of these today supported the American quarantine of Cuba, although Brazil, Bolivia, Chile and Mexico still maintain diplomatic relations with the Castro regime.

In a tense morning session, the delegates gave almost unanimous approval to Secretary of State Dean Rusk's blunt warning that the offensive capabilities of Cuba were a threat to all of the Western Hemisphere.

Rusk said the significance of the new Soviet Missiles in Cuba is "immediate, direct, and perhaps fatal."

"The immediate character of the nuclear military threat to our peoples from these bases in Cuba is such that we cannot tolerate any further opportunity to add to their capacity," he said in a rare appearance before the council.

Real Danger

He said "we are convinced that the evidence presented can leave no doubt that the danger is present and real."

Then, assessing the worldwide dangers of the present crisis, and with Moscow in mind, Rusk said:

"May I add that crucial in this present situation will be the judgment of others, some of them far away, about the unity and determination of the nations in this hemisphere. The President made it clear last evening that we should prefer to resolve this problem through peace."

"But if others make a grave mistake, the danger will be greatly increased."

The council then acted and by a 19-0 vote agreed to constitute itself as a special organ of consultation. This is a necessary procedure under the 1947 Rio Treaty.

Even Mexico, which has traditionally resisted U.S. moves against Cuba and maintains relations with the Castro regime, backed this U.S. proposal for an immediate session to deal with new developments in Cuba.

Alston Criticizes Quarantine In Comment on Cuba Tuesday

adopted firm stands on Cuba," Alston noted. This made the Cuban problem a "guts issue," or one in which the American people take an interest and on which opinions are formed.

"It is an axiom of American politics that a politician, to remain in power, must adopt the guts issue of his opponents, and this is what Kennedy did," said Alston.

Alston commented that, "It is now the policy of the President that any power with a big Navy can practice piracy on the seas in the name of defense. The American people will find this hard to live with after the initial excitement wears off."

"If we defend ourselves with missile bases in Istanbul (Turkey), the Russians have a right to defend themselves in Cuba," Alston said.

Alston feels that when the Russians violated the moratorium on nuclear tests a year ago, that was the time to apply the blockade. Then it was an issue of foreign policy.

The same thing should have happened in Berlin when Peter Fechter (who was shot while trying to escape from East Berlin) was allowed to bleed to death in plain view of American border police.

"But," Alston added, "these were not 'guts issues' so no action was taken."

"Foreign policy depends on what excites the people," said Alston.

He feels that Latin Americans will think that this demonstration by America is still a "big stick" policy and the Russians will be sure to remind them of this.

"At the same time as our policy in Cuba was decided this week, Ambassador Stevenson was telling the United Nations not to admit

Cuban Youths Enlist in Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Cuban youths flocked in large numbers to U.S. armed forces recruiting centers Tuesday as exile leaders declared military action must accompany the arms quarantine of Cuba.

Miami's exile colony of 150,000 was astir, with anti-Castro groups in session throughout the city.

The Cuban Revolutionary Council declared after an emergency meeting that the only way to get rid of Fidel Castro was through joint armed action.

The council applauded President Kennedy's decision, but said the blockade must be accompanied by warfare.

For the first time since the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion a year and a half ago, refugees failed to arrive from Cuba.

Airlines canceled flights that had been bringing nearly 1,600 weekly.

of China to work out a settlement. The new Chinese bid came as Chinese Communist troops, under orders from Peiping to ignore the boundaries, drove deeper into India despite stiff resistance from defending Indian forces.

An Indian spokesman admitted that Red forces are threatening Twang, a town of about 25,000, which is about 16 miles south of the McMahon Line on the eastern sector of the broad battle front. He said the situation on the western front in Ladakh was unchanged.

It was officially disclosed that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Indian Prime Minister Nehru had exchanged "communications" since the undeclared border war erupted last week.

A foreign ministry spokesman said Nehru received a letter from Khrushchev last Saturday — the same day the Reds launched the offensive — and Nehru replied on Monday. The content of the letters was not disclosed but reliable sources said it concerned the sino-Indian dispute.

U.S. Ambassador John Kenneth Galbraith called on Nehru Tuesday afternoon to discuss the situation. Details of the conversation were not disclosed.

Gross Backs JFK

WAVERLY (UPI) — Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) said Tuesday he supports President Kennedy's blockade of Cuba.

"I think every American agrees there had to be a showdown on Cuba," Gross said in an interview with radio station KWVY.

"But it is a woefully late decision. It should have been made a year and a half ago, when the invasion of the Bay of Pigs was carried out."

"A settlement at that time would have been far easier," Gross said.

WE WILL NEVER TOLERATE SOVIET BASES IN LATIN AMERICA.

AND WE WILL NEVER TOLERATE U.S. AGGRESSION AGAINST A SOCIALIST ALLY.

LOOK, THIS IS GETTING US NOWHERE. FOR ONCE WHY DON'T WE TRY TO PUT OURSELVES IN EACH OTHER'S PLACE?

I ARGUE YOUR POSITION? YOU ARGUE MINE? IT IS A CLEVER IDEA, BOURGEOIS, BUT CLEVER, YOU FIRST.

CAN IT BE WRONG FOR THE CUBAN GOVT TO INVITE IN SOVIET TECHNICIANS BUT JUSTIFIABLE FOR THE VIET NAM GOVT TO INVITE IN AMERICAN TECHNICIANS?

NO NATION CAN PERMIT ENEMY MISSILE BASES NINETY MILES OFF ITS COAST.

BUT WHAT OF THE AMERICAN MISSILE BASES THAT RUNG THE SOVIET UNION? ARE THEY NOT A THREAT TO OUR SECURITY?

OUR BASES ARE DEFENSIVE! THE SOVIET UNION IS AN AGGRESSIVE POWER. LOOK AT YOUR RECORD IN EASTERN EUROPE!

AND HAS THE U.S. NO RECORD OF INTERFERENCE IN GREECE IN IRAN, IN LAOS, IN GUATEMALA?

YEAH, WHAT ABOUT HUNGARY, FELLA? IT'S JUST SUCH HYPOCRISY THAT WE AMERICANS MUST ARM OURSELVES AGAINST!

BAH! WE WILL NEVER TOLERATE U.S. AGGRESSION AGAINST A SOCIALIST ALLY!

BALONEY! WE WILL NEVER TOLERATE SOVIET BASES IN LATIN AMERICA!

—ER—WE CAN NEVER TOLERATE SOVIET BASES IN LATIN AMERICA.
