More Military Aid To Congo Discussed

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The head of a Congo-bound U.S. military mission said he had a productive meeting Wednesday with Secretary-general U Thant on supplying U.S. military equipment to the U.N. Congo force.

Li Gen. Louis Truman told reporters he would meet here again Thursday with Robert K. A. Gardner, who is Thant's chief officer in the Congo, and Ralph J. Bunche, U.N. undersecretary who specializes in Congo matters.

Asked about reports that the Soviet Union was making a bid for influence in the Congo, Truman replied: "My mission has nothing to do with that whatsoever. It is strictly military."

SUI Faculty Votes To Retain Council

SUI faculty members have voted overwhelmingly to retain the present Faculty Council in one of the largest faculty elections ever held at the University.

Seventy-seven per cent of the 646 faculty members voting indicated a preference for the present Council over the organization which had been proposed to replace it. In 1948 the present council was approved by 95 per cent of the 405 ballots cast.

The present Faculty Council consists of 16 faculty members elected to represent the 10 SUI colleges and the academic ranks. The proposed University Council would have had 80 members of the faculty and administration, with some elected and some appointed. Purpose of the council is to circulate information within the University and to advise the University president.

The final tally, announced today by English Professor Richard Lloyd-Jones, chairman of the Faculty Council, was 149 for the proposed Council and 497 against it.

Commenting on the faculty's decision as expressed through the vote, President Virgil M. Hancher said:

"The relationship between the Faculty Council and the University administration has been a harmonious one and, I believe, has served a very useful purpose in providing communication between the faculty and administration. I shall be happy to see this relationship continue during the remainder of my term as president of the University.

"The proposal to extend the present Faculty Council originated within the Council itself, although the basic document for revision was a joint effort between the Council and the administration. I must commend those with whom I had occasion to work in this joint effort.

"I believe that, on the basis of past experience in working with the Faculty Council, the enlarged University Council would have been an effective forum for the exchange of ideas between faculty and administration. However, as long as there were serious reservations on the part of a large number of faculty members, it is well that the issue was decided in a democratic and decisive manner.

"I should add that I, too, had reservations — reservations as to the propriety of adopting a new plan at this time which would be binding on my successor. I am relieved to have that issue disposed of," President Hancher concluded.

SUI Symphony Band Acclaimed in Chicago

Before the last notes died, shouts of "bravo," accompanied by a standing ovation, rang through the ballroom of the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago Monday night. This was the reaction of 800 college hands and their guests to a concert by the SUI Symphony Band.

The band played for the College Band Directors National Association Convention at the hotel.

The bandmasters, which, according to SUI band director Frederick C. Ebbs, have reputations for being extremely critical, made comments like these after the concert:

Arranger Alfred Reed said that the SUI band was doing a "fabulous" job. The band played his arrangement of "La Procession du Rocio." Reed had not heard the composition since arranging it two years ago.

John Paynter, director of bands at Northwestern University, said "The Iowa band's performance was the greatest combination of musical sensitivity and precision I have ever heard."

Composer Morton Gould praised the musicianship and sensitivity of the band. "The phrasing and response to the director's wishes were amazing."

The concert was one of five presented on a four-day tour that began Saturday. The band also played in Dubuque, and Hobart and Portage, Ind. The fifth concert was a demonstration clinic directed by Gould to demonstrate rehearsal techniques.

Although busy presenting concerts, the band members found time to do sight-seeing and shopping Monday evening and Tuesday afternoon.

I.C. Attorneys No Longer Held in Judicial Distavor

Three Iowa City attorneys listed by Federal Judge Edward J. McManus as having failed to comply with a court order seem to have cleared themselves of judicial distavor.

Attorneys Arthur O. Lef, D. C. Nolan and William M. Tucker, U.S. District Attorney Donald Wine, and 10 other lawyers had been directed by McManus to appear in Federal Court Thursday to explain why they failed to conduct pre-trial conferences as ordered.

Lef said that he and Wine had conducted the pre-trial conference in a highway condemnation case and that his part in the work was completed. He added that the district attorney's office had failed to file the required report with the court.

Nolan has withdrawn as counsel in a wages and hours case. He said that he received an order for a pre-trial conference in a case he was not involved in.

Tucker, involved in a federal highway condemnation case, said that he had never received the order for the pre-trial conference.

The pre-trial conferences had been ordered by McManus in an effort to speed disposition of pending cases.

the U.S. mission going to the Congo with him as specialists in planning, logistics and equipment.

A state department official in Washington said earlier a principal purpose of the mission would be to assess the ability of the 18,000-man Congo force to maintain law and order.

The official said the United States would not be sending troops, but he did not rule out shipment of U.S. arms.

Gen. Truman told reporters one of the principal purposes of the mission will be to see "what useful equipment and military assistance we can give to the Congo." Asked what he meant by assistance, he replied: "Equipment."

Authoritative sources at the United Nations said U.S. air transport was requested. The United States has supplied aircraft during the past three weeks to transport bridge equipment and other stores from Leopoldville to Elisabethville, capital of secessionist Katanga province, the sources added.

There was speculation also that the United States would be asked for equipment to support the 20 or more jet fighters the United Nations expects to have on hand soon to counter any move by Katanga President Moise Tshombe's air force.

One report heard here was that the Soviet ambassador in Leopoldville was furnishing financial aid to leftwingers in an attempt to bring down the government of Prime Minister Cyrille Adoula, regarded by the West as a moderate.

But U.N. sources said there were reports also that Tshombe was doing the same thing and they did not regard the Katanga leader as a likely accomplice of the Soviet Union.

Property Tax For Iowa City Down in '63

Iowa City property owners will find a decrease in their combined local property tax in 1963 for the first time in six years.

The decrease for Iowa City and University Heights taxpayers was announced Wednesday by Dolores A. Rogers, city auditor. Coralville taxpayers, however, will see an increase of 9.9 mills over the rate at which property taxes were paid in 1962.

Iowa Citizens will pay taxes at the rate of $12.142 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. The levies are figured on assessments made this year, but the taxes are actually paid in 1963.

The Iowa City drop is due mainly to an increase in valuations, both in the city and throughout the Iowa City school community school district, said Mrs. Rogers.

The Coralville increase is caused by several reasons. Interstate Highway 80 land condemnations have taken property out of taxation, while increases in the tax levy for municipal debt service and the general school levy were made. The University Heights levy fell 4.99 mills over the 1962 millage rate. The drop restores the Heights' tax levy to almost where it stood for 1961.

The County rural levy is up about 1.3 mills because of increased secondary road expense, institutional costs, and poor fund levy raise. Individual breakdowns for each township and school district in the county won't be available until at least Thursday, Mrs. Rogers said.

Government Says Hoffa Violated Taft-Hartley

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — James R. Hoffa knew the Test Fleet venture violated the Taft-Hartley Act and took precautions to disguise his participation, the government said at his conspiracy trial Wednesday.

"That's what a guilty man would do," added the chief prosecutor, James F. Neal, in summing up the government's case for the U.S. District Court jury.

Neal said Hoffa realized "more than $600 a month for 11 full years" from Test Fleet Corp., a truck-leasing business he said was "set up, financed and operated" for the Teamsters Union president as "insurance for labor peace."

Premier's reply to the ransom offer. His announcement strengthened belief that the talks were on the verge of success. There was one report a U.S. freighter might sail with the first supplies either Friday night or Saturday morning.

The Red Cross said that Pan American World Airways had arranged to shuttle more urgently needed foods and medicines to Cuba and then return the prisoners if this plan is agreed upon in the Donovan-Castro negotiations. But it emphasized that "all ar-

Goldwater Not Candidate For No. 2 Job

Barry Calls Kennedy A Magician; Made LBJ 'Disappear'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said Wednesday night he would not run as a vice presidential candidate on the Republican ticket.

The Arizona Republican was asked in a Phoenix Press Club forum whether he would accept second place on a GOP Presidential slate.

"No," the conservative leader said.

"I don't want to run for the vice presidency and in fact I won't run. I can't see anyone yet I could campaign with."

"After watching the greatest magician in the White House make LBJ (Vice President Lyndon Johnson) disappear, I don't want to become a zero."

Goldwater continued, "I like the Senate. I think the Congress is important and that's what I want to do. I hope to make it."

He said someone had shown him a clipping considered from a national news magazine with speculation the Democrats considered Interior Secretary Stewart Udall as the best candidate against him in 1964.

"I wouldn't miss that fight for anything," Goldwater said. Asked about a statement in which he supposedly said New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was not as liberal as some persons thought, Goldwater explained difficulty lay in distinguishing between the terms "conservative" and "liberal."

Goldwater said he probably would part company with Rockefeller in some areas such as welfare legislation, but he said:

"I could support this man (Rockefeller) even though we disagree in some areas."

The senator told a capacity audience he was a believer in party unity at election time and suggested that the Republican Party might hold a national caucus in some central city such as Chicago to determine what the GOP is talking about.

"I think the so-called split in the Republican Party is not worth worrying about," he said.

Federal Agents Stage Widespread Raids on Pinballs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal tax agents started raids across the nation Wednesday and seized hundreds of pay-off pinball machines.

They swept into bars, amusement halls and lodge rooms in search of more than 600 machines not bearing $250 federal gambling tax stamps.

Reports from Virginia, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Kentucky, Iowa and Indiana and other states indicated considerable success. The Internal Revenue Service said its agents had seized 648 machines and still were not finished. They had hit 448 places in 112 cities in 20 states. A final report on the raids is due Thursday.

The coordinated moves were based on a federal court decision in Kansas last April. It upheld an IRS regulation declaring the mere existence of pinball devices without the $250 stamp violated the law.

Before the ruling the government had to obtain evidence of a payoff.

The specific target was those machines equipped to increase winning odds by the insertion of additional coins and which provide free plays if the player wins. Some establishments pay off the free games in cash.

Tax agents have conducted eight similar raids in the past two years on gambling spots but a revenue official said Wednesday's was the first aimed specifically at payoff pinball machines.

Riots Mar Dominican Republic's Free Vote

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — Rival political groups battled each other with rocks in downtown Santo Domingo Wednesday on the eve of the Dominican Republic's first free and democratic elections in nearly 40 years.

Police dispersed rioting partisans of the Dominican Revolutionary Party (PRD) and the National Civil Union (UCN) by firing shots into the air and heaving noise bombs at the mobs.

No deaths or serious injuries were reported. Spokesmen for each faction blamed the other for the disorders — the third incident involving the two political groups in 24 hours.

There are five candidates for the presidency in today's elections, with the closest race expected between Juan Bosch of the PRD and Viriato A. Fiallo of the UCN.

The caretaker council of state and the armed forces guaranteed a free and fair election. An official communique published in all newspapers and broadcast over radio and television stations said "all necessary measures" had been taken to guarantee order.

A large turnout at the polls is expected from the estimated 1.3-million eligible voters. Months of unrestricted political campaigning has been a new experience for voters accustomed to Trujillo rule.

There is universal and compulsory suffrage for all citizens over 18 years old. About half of the electorate is estimated to be illiterate. Members of the armed forces and the national police are barred from voting.

The presidential candidates have been assured that the victor will get the backing of the United States. Ambassador John Bartlow Martin announced "The U.S. Government will support the winner, whoever he may be."

Control of the nation today in effect will rest in the hands of the National Electoral Board whose president, Emilio Santos, will have authority over the armed forces and police as well as all polling places.

Observing the balloting will be a group of about 24 prominent jurists and leaders of democratic thought from throughout the Americas. They are headed by Jose A. Mora, Secretary General of the Organization of American States. Communist and other extremist

Skybolt Controversy Quickly Takes Spotlight

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan are making progress toward a solution of the Skybolt dispute over Britain's future as a nuclear missile power.

This was announced Wednesday night by a British spokesman at a joint U.S.-British briefing. He said papers dealing with the defense policy problem are now being drawn up.

Asked whether this meant agreement in principle had been reached, the spokesman said he did not think "we can say that at this moment."

But he added: "I think we can say clearly that progress is being made."

Harold Evans, Macmillan's press relations assistant, said the Nassau conference may be extended an additional day beyond Thursday's scheduled windup. But he said this was not yet decided.

The dispute between the two allies arose over an evident U.S. decision to scrap the Skybolt air-to-target missile. Britain had planned to use the Skybolt to maintain its Air Force as a nuclear striking force. The question has become a focus for all the hard feelings now embittering U.S.-British relations.

The day's discussions lasted 4½ hours apart from about 2 hours of talk at a working luncheon and additional time at a dinner meeting Wednesday night.

Evans and White House press secretary Pierre Salinger resisted efforts by newsmen to probe into the nature of a possible Skybolt solution.

Kennedy and Macmillan plan to return to the Skybolt issue today. In addition, Kennedy and Macmillan plan to take up the state of East-West relations as a result of the Cuban crisis, the Indian-Red Chinese conflict, and the European economic problems, centering on British negotiations for membership in the Common Market.

Kennedy and Macmillan — each attended by a panel of experts — met in a seaside villa of this sunny British resort island in mid-morning and grappled with the Skybolt row immediately.

Their discussion spilled over into a working lunch at Macmillan's house and went on into the afternoon.

It knocked out for the time being consideration of the whole range of cold war issues in the aftermath of the Cuban crisis, the Indian military aid program which is a major problem of the Nassau meeting, and the possibility of a new crisis in the Congo.

The President and the prime minister had held an hour-long, man-to-man private talk Tuesday afternoon. Presumably they got on to the Skybolt controversy at that time.

The Skybolt controversy is unusually bitter because the British have appeared to handle it in part as an issue of good faith. American officials dispute this view, but relations between Washington and London have seldom been so disturbed in recent years.

The Skybolt program is the basis

Assembly Says UN Members Are Obligated To Pay

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The General Assembly brushed aside Communist opposition Wednesday and overwhelmingly accepted a World Court opinion that all United Nations members are obligated to pay for the peace-keeping operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

The endorsement of the court advice by a vote of 76-17 was one of several positive steps taken by the 110-nation Assembly and its Budgetary Committee to end the world organization's financial crisis. The Communists objected to virtually all the actions.

The Assembly also agreed to the establishment of a 21-member working group to study the financial problem and devise ways of meeting the high costs of peace operations in the future. The vote was 78-14 with 4 abstentions.

The 110-nation budgetary committee approved resolutions that would authorize Secretary General Thant to continue spending money for the Congo (ONUC) and Middle East (UNEP) operations until June 30, 1963. His present authorization expires in two weeks.

There was no immediate explanation for the explosion.

Polish Airliner Crashes; 33 Dead

WARSAW (UPI) — A Polish Lot Airlines turbo-prop Viscount exploded 450 feet in the air over nearby Okciec Airport and plunged to earth carrying all 33 persons aboard to their death, authorities said.

Airport officials called it the worst disaster in the Polish Airline's history. They said the mangled fuselage of the Viscount fell just off a runway while coming in for a landing and burned before the eyes of horrified friends and relatives waiting for the arrival of 28 passengers from Belgium and East Germany.

U.S. Swings Into Action To Ransom Cubans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America mounted a massive mercy operation Wednesday to pay $53 million worth of food, medical supplies and drugs into Florida to be used as ransom for the 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners held by Fidel Castro.

The unprecedented effort was being directed and coordinated by the American Red Cross.

The Kennedy Administration was lending its support and one conference with an AFL-CIO union was held at the Justice Department to set the time for the sailing of a loaded freighter to Havana.

The overall cost of the operation will be far more than the $53 million in supplies. Labor and transportation will push the price tag well above $70 million.

The first of the supplies will start moving to Cuba if the Red Cross receives word that New York Attorney James B. Donovan has successfully negotiated the release of the prisoners, captured during the abortive invasion in April, 1961.

Donovan said in Havana Wednesday that he would return to Miami immediately with the Cuban strong sense of obligation toward the prisoners because the 1961 invasion attempt was encouraged by the United States.

In this connection, a source close to one group participating in the effort said its leaders were called to the Justice Department "to see what could be worked out."

The source said the group would be making a substantial contribution. Castro's ransom list, it was learned, is about the size of a big city telephone directory. It contains an estimated 10,000 dol-

One of the biggest items on Castro's list was powdered milk. Then followed pharmaceutical goods and medical supplies, including x-ray film and x-ray machines. After that came baby foods.

Those who have seen the list say it was obviously carefully compiled by professionals, and must have taken weeks to do. In some cases, the compilers did not know of some new advances in drugs and asked for old ones. The new ones are substituted by the U.S. suppliers in many cases.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Second baseman Ken Hubbs of the Chicago Cubs and third baseman Bob Aspromonte of Houston, who set records for consecutive errorless games in 1962, each took a back seat in the official National League fielding averages released Wednesday.

Hubbs, who fielded .983, finished behind Milwaukee's Frank Bolling, the leader at .989, and Bill Mazeroski, Pittsburgh, .985.

Aspromonte was the runner-up to Don Hoak of Pittsburgh, the third base pace-setter. Hoak, traded to Philadelphia last month, had a .969 average while Aspromonte wound up at .967.

McClinton Top AFL Rookie

NEW YORK (AP) — Curt McClinton, former Kansas fullback who closed with a rush in his first year of pro ball with the Dallas Texans, Wednesday was named Rookie-of-the-Year in the American Football League by an Associated Press committee of sports writers and broadcasters.

Nine rookies received scattered votes from the 24-man committee. It was real tight between McClinton and his Dallas teammate, safety Bob Hunt. McClinton received five votes, and Hunt, who played his college ball at Auburn, polled four.

Charley Rieves, Oakland linebacker from Houston, Nick Boniconti, Boston linebacker from Notre Dame, and Tom Sestak, Buffalo defensive tackle from McNeese, La., St., each received three votes.

Faulkner Coach Of Year in AFL

DENVER (AP) — "Say, that's great. That's the biggest thrill I've had since I've been coaching," a beaming Jack Faulkner said Wednesday when told he is the American Football League's Coach of the Year.

The head coach and general manager of the Denver Broncos was picked for the honor by a committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the eight league cities.

In his first year as a head coach, the 36-year-old Faulkner piloted Denver to a second place finish in the AFL's Western Division after leading the league for much of the early season. The Broncos finished with a 7-7 record.

"There are a lot of people involved in this honor," Faulkner said in an interview. "We have a fine staff here, with Jim Martin, Mac Speedie, the other fellows, and our kids who did a great job."

Taylor Leads NFL In Scoring, Rushing

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Taylor, Green Bay's driving fullback, has become the third man in the history of the National Football League to double as both rushing champion and scoring leader.

Final statistics released Wednesday show Taylor, who ended Jimmy Brown's five-year reign as rushing champion, ground out 1,474 yards in 272 attempts.

Taylor also set a new NFL record by scoring 19 touchdowns and led the scorers with 114 points. Lou Michaels of Pittsburgh was next on 110 points that included 32 extra points and a record-breaking total of 26 field goals. Paul Hornung of Green Bay, scoring leader for three straight years, was out with injuries, and finished 11th with 74 points.

The only others to make the rushing-scoring double in the NFL were Steve Van Buren of Philadelphia in 1945 and Jimmy Brown of Cleveland in 1958.

Taylor's two titles, Bart Starr's passing supremacy and Willie Wood's feat of leading in interceptions with nine gave the Packers four of the eight individual crowns. Bobby Mitchell, Washington flanker, was the top pass receiver with 72 for 1,384 yards, replacing Jim Phillips of Los Angeles, the 1961 leader, who finished fourth with 60 catches.

None of the New York Giants, who meet the Packers for the league title Dec. 30 at Yankee Stadium, led an individual department but Y. A. Tittle was second in passing.

The passing is figured on a complicated basis with a passer getting one point for each placing in four categories — completion percentage, per cent of interceptions, average yards gained and touchdown passes.

Starr wound up with a total of 15 points by leading in completion percentage (62.5), and per cent of interceptions (3.2), a fourth in average yards per attempt (8.55) and a 12th in TDs (12).

Tittle had 19 points on a first in TDs (33) for a record, and third in average yards (8.60), a sixth in per cent of interceptions (5.3) and a ninth in completion percentage (53.3).

Milwaukee Braves took team and individual defensive honors. Joe Adcock topped the first basemen with .997 and Del Crandall the catchers with .994. Other fielding leaders were shortstop Jose Pagan of San Francisco, .973, outfielder Tony Gonzalez, Philadelphia, 1,000, and pitcher Dallas Green, Philadelphia, who handled 45 chances perfectly.

The Braves fielded a collective .980, edging St. Louis at .979. Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco and Cincinnati finished in a four-way tie for third with .977.

AFL's Attendance Mark Up in '62

DALLAS (AP) — The American Football League showed an increase of 20.3 per cent in attendance — almost 4,000 fans a game more than last year.

The average was 21,481 with the 56 league games drawing 1,202,926 fans as compared to 1,000,216 in 1961. It was an increase of 202,710 — representing over a half-million dollars in revenue.

Six of the eight clubs averaged better than 20,000 for each home game. Houston led with 28,612. Buffalo had 27,922. Denver, 25,059. Dallas 22,143. San Diego 21,992 and Boston 21,518.

The progressive attendance average for league games since the AFL started three seasons ago: 1960 — 16,558, 1961 — 17,857, 1962 — 21,481.

Romps, 106-94 — Loyola Outlasts Hoosiers

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Fourth-ranked Loyola of Chicago topped 100 for the sixth straight time this basketball season but had to pour in 35 points in the last 10 minutes Wednesday night to turn back stubborn Indiana, 106-94.

The unbeaten Ramblers had to come from 11 points back in the first half and never really got the Hoosiers off their backs until the last 9 minutes.

Leslie Hunter led the way with 27 points and 19 rebounds for the Ramblers. Tom Bolyard got 27 points for Indiana and Jimmy Rayl added 26, but half of Rayl's points came in the last 8 minutes and 10 seconds which only helped make the final score closer.

After running up a 24-13 lead with 11:06 to play in the first half, Indiana led the rest of the period, but Loyola cut the margin to two points at 44-42 at halftime. They matched shots for more than 10 minutes of the second half, the Ramblers going ahead for keeps at 52-51 but leading only 69-68 with 11:30 left and 71-69 with 9:21 to play.

The junior division is limited to players in their 18th year and under.

He's 81 Today — Rickey Celebrates Birthday By Looking Ahead to Future

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Branch Rickey, baseball's elder statesman who seems to retire and then take new jobs more often than the New York Yankees win pennants, is back on baseball's active list for his 81st birthday and he's happy about it.

Rickey, "feeling pretty good" on the eve of his birthday today, said his new post as consultant with the St. Louis Cardinals "came as a great surprise to me."

"I didn't have any idea of becoming interested again in any one club," the venerable gentleman explained. "I had retired. I think it will be interesting. I'm happy to be back."

Rickey, long-time official of the Cardinals, Brooklyn and Pittsburgh, said he is working under the "regular staff" that runs the Cards, adding:

"It's really a reference job in the production and development of players. I don't want anything to do with the responsibility for park repairs or concessions or radio or television or signing players to contracts. It's a consultation job."

Head of the once-proposed third major league, the Continental League, Rickey feels the Cardinals are not deep enough to win the 1963 pennant.

"They don't have enough to take care of injury, illness and what not," he offered. "Pitching needs another man and the outfield needs another man. The pitching is not experienced enough to be of pennant caliber."

"Of course, they might have young pitchers come through and win a pennant. You can do that. Pitching can upset everything."

As he enters his fifth score of years, the pioneer of baseball's farm system and Negro players in the majors remains in good health.

"I'm all right," he said. "I'm busy; I'm active; I'm not sick. I think I had a good year. But I don't want to pay much attention to birthdays. I don't care to count them anymore."

LONDON (AP) — A British vs. American heavyweight card, topped by a fight matching undefeated Cassius Clay of Louisville, and Brian London, former British champion, is in the works for Los Angeles in early March, promoter George Parnassus said Wednesday.

The Los Angeles matchmaker-promoter said he also was negotiating to bring over Joe Erskine, veteran Welshman and former British and European champion, and two rookie heavyweights, Billy Walker and Johnny Prescott.

1962 Mark a Record — 21 Million Watch College Football

By United Press International
Attendance at college football games in 1962 rose 2.66 per cent over 1961 to a new record peak of 21,227,162.

Figures compiled by the national collegiate athletic bureau disclose that attendance increased in 12 of the 18 groups of colleges studied. The survey encompassed 610 teams which played 2,679 games in 1962 compared to the 1961 study of 616 teams which played 2,697 games.

The grand total of 21,227,162 admissions was 549,558 more than in 1961, the previous record season.

Average attendance per game increased from 7,667 in 1961 to 7,924 in 1962 — a gain of 3.35 per cent. The average increase per game is slightly higher than the overall 2.66 per cent increase because 18 fewer games were played in 1962.

The greatest increases in attendance were experienced by Rocky Mountain independents (up 37.05 per cent), Southwest independents (up 33.19 per cent) and Southern independents (up 21.18 per cent).

Increases also were reported among Eastern independents and in the Southeastern, Atlantic Coast, Southern, Big Ten, Mid-American, Big Eight, Western and Big Six Conferences.

Decreases were reported among Midwestern and Pacific Coast independents, in the Ivy League and in the Atlantic Coast, Missouri Valley and Southwest Conferences.

The Big Ten and Southeastern Conferences attracted the largest attendances followed by the Southwest, Big Six and Big Eight Conferences.

The Big Ten and Big Eight looked like this: BIG TEN — Conference attendance in this perennial hotbed of football enthusiasm rose 3.38 per cent to 2,691,272 for an average of 56,068 per game. Iowa, Michigan State, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio State and Wisconsin topped the 270,000-mark.

BIG EIGHT — Attendance up a healthy 11.53 per cent to 1,247,936 in 39 games. Iowa State, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma State and Oklahoma up; Colorado and Kansas State down. Missouri led the group with 209,051 in five games for 41,810 average.
