Hughes Plans Liquor Control

New Laws To Be Policed By Special 27-Man Team

DES MOINES (AP) — Gov.-elect Harold Hughes and State Safety Commissioner Carl Pesch are going ahead with plans for strict liquor law enforcement, though Hughes says he thinks most of the problem will be solved by the time he takes office.

Hughes conferred with Pesch Thursday, and told newsmen Friday he believes local authorities will have done 90 per cent of the enforcement work by the time he is inaugurated Jan. 17.

The Democratic governor-elect, who made support of legal liquor by the drink a major campaign plank, said he hopes the legislature will legalize by-the-drink liquor sales within three months. His remarks were interpreted in some quarters as a flat prediction of liquor-by-the-drink within three months, but Hughes denied this.

Meanwhile, Hughes is committed to enforcing existing laws, which permit liquor sales only by the bottle, in state stores.

Pesch said he did NOT consult Hughes before announcing plans several weeks ago to train a special 27-man force in liquor law enforcement. He said the force now is ready, but will go to work only if Hughes calls upon it after he becomes governor.

Hughes said he plans to call on the force soon after taking office.

Pesch told newsmen he is continuing preparation for the task. Agents in the Criminal Bureau of Investigation who are on the liquor squad have been asked to wind up current investigations as rapidly as possible. Lists are being compiled of clubs holding permits to sell beer for on-premises consumption, and of Iowa holders of federal liquor dealers permits.

Hughes said Atty. Gen. Evan Hultman also was invited to the Thursday conference. Hultman's office said he was ill Thursday with a virus infection, but was back at work Friday and was willing to meet with Hughes at any time.

Hughes said he has been assured by local authorities in several areas, including some of the "wettest" counties, that they will begin strict enforcement before he takes office.

Iowa Revenue Group Wants More Taxes

DES MOINES (AP) — A sales tax on services, a new form of state income tax and a higher sales tax rate will be recommended by the Legislative Revenue Study Committee as the chief sources for $80 to $90 million in new state revenue.

These methods of raising money to meet the state's expanding needs were presented to the lawmakers as alternatives which the legislature can tap as it sees fit.

The committee meeting in closed session in Des Moines Friday to put the finishing touches on its report to the 1963 legislature, decided that these sources should receive emphasis in efforts to find money to relieve local property taxes and take care of other state needs.

State Rep. Richard Stephens (R-Ainsworth) committee chairman who has been elected to the State Senate, said it is futile to talk in terms of $30 million a year or so in increased revenue.

"In order to provide real property tax relief and meet expanding needs of state government," he said, "we have to talk in the area of $80 million or $90 million in new revenue."

He emphasized that the major reason the study committee was set up by the 1961 legislature was to find ways of raising money to take some of the burden of local government costs off property.

Most legislators in the 1963 session have indicated they favor increasing state aid to local school districts substantially so that the schools won't have to levy so much in property taxes in order to provide a good educational program.

Stephens said the committee's top priority proposals to raise the needed money include:

1. Extending the sales tax to "every kind of service offered," including doctor bills, attorney fees, hotel and motel bills, various kinds of repair work, barber and beauty shop services and the like. The committee estimates such an extension of the sales tax would produce about $60 million a year.

2. A flat one per cent tax on net individual income before personal deductions. This would be in addition to the present state income tax. Committee members estimated it would bring in $40 million annually.

3. An increase in the present state sales tax from two to three per cent. The committee said this would net around $35 million a year.

Collins Denny, attorney for the Powhatan School Board, said he would appeal Butzner's entire order, including that section prohibiting closing of the schools. Denny has 30 days in which to file his notice of appeal with the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.

In his arguments for a stay, Denny said a delay of the order would cause "no injury or loss to anyone."

Schneider's Trial On Robbery Count Set for Jan. 21

The robbery charge against Robert J. Schneider — one of two charges facing the 18-year-old Oxford youth — will be tried Jan. 21.

District Judge Clair E. Hamilton announced Friday that selection of the jury will begin at 10 a.m. Jan. 21. No date has been set for trying the murder charge against Schneider.

The youth was indicted by the Johnson County Grand Jury last month for the Oct. 6 robbery of Shannon's supper club and the Nov. 10 murder of Edward J. Kriz, Iowa City tavern owner.

Schneider, who will be represented by Iowa City attorney A. C. Cahill, has pleaded innocent to both charges. He faces a maximum 25 year sentence on the robbery charge.

Ralph Neuzil, Johnson County Attorney, said Schneider will be tried for the murder charge following the robbery trial. He said he had no idea when the murder trial would begin.

The robbery charge against Schneider stems from a $700 theft by an armed bandit at Shannon's.

Katangese Prepare To 'Resist Fiercely' Possible U.N. Drive

Thant Asks Probe Of U.N. Shootings

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United Nations said Friday Secretary General Thant had ordered an "immediate investigation" into the deaths of two Belgian women shot by U.N. Indian troops near Jadotville Thursday.

In a separate statement on the military situation in the Congo the U.N. said its forces took over Jadotville only after it had received an appeal for help from the town's mayor and that its forces were not continuing toward Kolwezi.

A U.N. spokesman said Thant and the U.N. commander in the Congo, Robert A. Gardiner of Ghana, "deeply regret this tragic incident" of the shooting and that Thant had so informed Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak.

(A Belgian foreign office statement Friday night said Thant also had informed Belgium that the U.N. forces exceeded their instructions in taking Jadotville.)

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Undersecretary for Special Political Affairs, was hurriedly dispatched to the Congo by Thant Thursday night to determine who ordered the U.N. troops to capture Jadotville.

Thant had called for a "U.N. presence" in both Jadotville and Kolwezi in an ultimatum to Katanga President Moise Tshombe on Dec. 31 but had given him two weeks in which to reply. Since then the U.N. forces have been ordered to stand pat until Tshombe replies.

The U.N. statement recounted the incident in which the two women were killed. The deaths occurred when one of two cars leaving Jadotville speeded up in the direction of the U.N. forces. The U.N. troops opened fire killing two women and injuring a man.

The statement said Jadotville inhabitants who defy the forces of law and order "will be dealt with severely."

Tshombe Says He'll Die For Katanga's Freedom

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Katanga President Moise Tshombe called on the Katangese Friday to prepare for "total war" against United Nations forces regrouping at Jadotville for a possible final assault on his Kolwezi stronghold.

A Katanga communique broadcast by a Tshombe radio station said the secessionist government had decided to "resist fiercely the barbarous U.N. troops by all means at his disposal." It called on the whole Katangese population to stand by for the call to war.

In issuing the call Tshombe defied a demand by the U.S. State Department to end his secessionist activities and to call off the scorched earth policy he has threatened. His statement said the U.N. and the State Department would be responsible for the destruction that ensues.

Another Tshombe communique heard in Brazzaville, across the river from Leopoldville, said he had been in contact with Kasongo Nyembo, a powerful chieftain who has a private army of several hundred men and commands the loyalty of 2,000 warrior tribesmen.

Nyembo fled his headquarters at Kamina last week when U.N. forces overran the town near the big U.N. Kamina air base. He has been fiercely pro-Tshombe in the past.

Tshombe's call for "total war" coincided with an announcement by the Belgian-owned Union Miniere Mining Company that it had closed all its mining operations in Katanga Province including Kolwezi where Tshombe is believed to be operating.

"Our cause is just and we will know final victory," Tshombe told his people. "I shall stay in your midst. If our blood must be shed I am ready to sacrifice my own life."

Shrine Club Gives $1,740 to Hospital

A check for $1,740 for the purchase of hospital equipment was presented to President Virgil M. Hancher Friday afternoon by the Iowa City Shrine Club.

The money is to be given to the University Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children in order to obtain more equipment for the school's equipment pool. The pool includes such items as wheelchairs, braces and crutches, which are loaned to outpatients of the hospital.

The money donation was raised by the Shrine Club through its Shrine Central States Golf Tournament held last July 25-27.

There also were reports of atrocities by U.N. Ethiopian troops but U.N. investigators said if acts of violence occurred they could have been carried out by Katangese.

Still another Tshombe communique heard in Brazzaville said Katangese forces inflicted "heavy losses" on U.N. forces at Tumbwe, about 25 miles from Elisabethville, and destroyed several U.N. armored vehicles. Tshombe expressed condolences to families of civilian victims he said were "wantonly assassinated."

Judge Orders Va. Schools Not To Close

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — A Federal judge Friday gave Powhatan County, Va., time to appeal a school desegregation order, but at the same time made sure Powhatan would not try to follow the lead of its neighbor — Prince Edward County — and abandon public education.

U.S. District Judge John D. Butzner Jr. agreed to stay a section of an order he handed down just Thursday directing the enrollment of three Negroes in the south-central Virginia County's only white school.

He refused, however, to withhold another part of the order which prohibits county officials from taking any steps to close the schools while the order is being appealed.

Prince Edward County closed its public schools three years ago to avoid integration and Negroes in the county have been without classrooms since that time.

Collins Denny, attorney for the Powhatan School Board, said he would appeal Butzner's entire order, including that section prohibiting closing of the schools. Denny has 30 days in which to file his notice of appeal with the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.

In his arguments for a stay, Denny said a delay of the order would cause "no injury or loss to anyone."

'We'll Do Our Best'

Basketball Coach Sharm Scheuerman, speaking at a pep rally in the Main Lounge of the Union Friday, encouraged more pep rallies and stressed the importance of a good cheering section. Scheuerman said the Hawkeyes, who have a 4-5 record in tough non-conference play, will be working hard to represent Iowa in such a way that more students will be interested in the team. Commenting on Iowa's Big Ten opener tonight, when the Hawks meet third-ranked Illinois, Scheuerman, a Rock Island native, said "There is something about the word Illinois which inspires our whole team. We'll be underdogs tonight, but we have been underdogs in many games before and we'll be doing our best." Iowa captain Joe Reddington, B4, Orient, and leading scorer Jimmy Rodgers, A2, Franklin Park, Ill., also spoke.

OKLAHOMA CITY — President Kennedy and other government officials paid tribute Friday at the funeral of Sen. Robert S. Kerr

Jail Escapee Gets 6-Year Sentence

DES MOINES (AP) — One of two men who saved their way out of the Polk County jail last Saturday was sentenced to six years in prison Friday on two federal charges.

U.S. District Judge Roy Stephenson sentenced Cecil Guy Eddins, 27, of Minneapolis to three years on an escape charge and three years for forging government postal money orders stolen from the Elkhart Post Office.

Eddins was being held on the forgery charge when he and Raymond C. Lumadue, 31, of Des Moines broke out of jail.

Lumadue surrendered in Des Moines the night he escaped. Eddins gave himself up Tuesday night to the sheriff at Leon, 67 miles south of Des Moines. Eddins said he walked all the way and spent two nights outdoors in the sub-freezing weather.

Eddins pleaded guilty to both charges. He was sentenced as a federal escapee because he was being held on federal charges when he fled.

Lumadue, who had been awaiting trial on a charge of robbery with aggravation, faces a one-year sentence on a state charge of escape.

Amish Told To Discuss Plight over Weekend

INDEPENDENCE (AP) — Amish parents who have been told they must comply with the Iowa school law were expected to discuss the issue among themselves over the weekend in the face of threatened court action.

J. J. Jorgensen, Buchanan County school superintendent, met Friday with Dan Borntrager, spokesman for members of the religious sect who have been operating their own schools without state certified teachers.

The two planned to meet again Monday. Meanwhile, no steps will be taken by school authorities to bring court action against the parents, they said.

VATICAN CITY — Pope John XXIII, leaving the Vatican for the second time since he was stricken ill in November, took a sentimental journey Friday past Rome's famed Trevi Fountain and visited a little church nearby.

The 81-year-old Pontiff made his unexpected trip in a busy day. He told an audience he still has confidence in the world's "men of goodwill" despite the "inespressible sorrows and worries" he feels at times.

NEW YORK — Scientists sent television images across the Atlantic via the newly-reactivated satellite Telstar today in a scientific feat that meant Americans soon may be seeing Folies Bergere cuties live on their home TV sets again.

Another satellite, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's relay, which like Telstar was "brought to life" yesterday, also beamed television test patterns across the Atlantic this morning for the first time since its launching Dec. 13.

CEDAR RAPIDS — Gov.-elect Harold Hughes, a Democrat, said Friday night he and the Republican-controlled legislature have a mandate to work together for the good of the state. And he said he believes they will.

In a speech prepared for a Democratic fund-raising dinner, Hughes rejected speculation that a Republican legislature and a Democratic governor will dead-lock and fail to produce constructive accomplishments.

Housing Area Barriers Upheld by City Judge

ATLANTA (AP) — A Municipal Court judge upheld Friday the placement of city-erected barriers between Negro and white residential areas in southwest Atlanta.

Judge Robert E. Jones dismissed a petition brought against the city by a group of Negroes and white persons seeking to have the barriers removed. The suit charged that the barricades were a public nuisance.

The wood-and-steel barricades were erected Dec. 18 after Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. and the board of aldermen approved ordinances permitting them.

Jones ruled that the roads ceased to be public streets when the ordinances closing them were approved.

"If it is not a public street then, of course, an obstruction would not be a nuisance," the judge said.

Governors Expected To Back Guard Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army's sweeping reorganization plan for the National Guard is expected to get a heavily qualified go-ahead from the nation's governors this weekend after they confer with Army Secretary Cyrus S. Vance.

The governors are expected to urge strongly that the Army grant what they call greater "flexibility" in recruiting to enable the Guard to maintain its 400,000-man authorized strength, which already has slipped to 375,000. Some states may withhold their approval if the "flexibility" is denied.

They apparently were referring to a ruling by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara that Guard units must observe the same mental and physical fitness standards for recruiting used by the regular army, and that 90 per cent of Guard recruits must have a military specialty.

Vance and Army Undersecretary

Arthur Dean's Resignation Is Accepted

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — President Kennedy Friday formally accepted with "great regret" the resignation of Arthur H. Dean as Chief U.S. Disarmament Negotiator.

Dean, the New York lawyer who has served both Republican and Democratic Administrations as a diplomatic troubleshooter, submitted his resignation Dec. 27.

Kennedy's acceptance, dated Friday, was issued shortly after the chief executive returned here from Oklahoma City where he attended the funeral of Sen. Robert S. Kerr.

Dean also is leaving his other government responsibilities, including membership of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations General Assembly and U.S. representative to the nuclear test ban negotiations.

The departing diplomat gave "urgent personal considerations" as his reasons for resigning the disarmament negotiating post he has held since shortly after the Kennedy administration took office.

The 18-nation disarmament conference at Geneva is now in recess and will resume Jan. 15. There was no word from the White House whether a successor would be named by that time.

Stephen Ailes are to meet at 8:30 a.m. CST Saturday with the governors' seven-member committee on the Guard, headed by retiring Gov. E. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia. The session will be held at the Washington headquarters of the National Guard Association.

The go-ahead, if recommended by the Vandiver committee and approved by the Executive Council of the Governors' Conference, would release the governors from a pledge taken at Hershey, Pa., last July to withhold their approval until after further consultation with the Army.

Individual governors could still veto the plan, but council members believe a release from the pledge would result in acceptance by at least a majority of the governors.

Vance was reported ready to compromise on one of two main objections raised by the states' adjutants-general when the plan was announced. The compromise would permit speedier and more coordinated mechanization of the Army's remaining 23 divisions. Four divisions are being reduced to brigades.

The other objections involve the new regulation prohibiting any Guard unit to exceed its authorized strength. Because some units will be below strength, the adjutants-general and the governors contend that a 400,000-man Guard is impossible unless other units are permitted to exceed authorized totals.

There was no word today that Vance was prepared to compromise on the new regulation, which was issued on McNamara's orders.

In addition to Vandiver, the Guard committee includes the governors of Iowa, Maine, Utah, Missouri, Wyoming and Mississippi.

The Weather

Heavy snow and locally hazardous driving the south today, with some snow elsewhere. Clearing tonight and colder. High during the day in the 20s. Partly cloudy and cold Sunday.

Last year on this date the high was 32 and the low was 26. Two inches of snow fell during the day.

Steady Pressure Toward 'Monopoly'

As of two years ago there were only 61 cities in the United States with two or more daily newspapers in direct competition. That figure probably would be lower now.

This is one measure of the so-called "monopoly press" problem which so often perturbs also-ran politicians and intellectual critics. For reasons that are not readily apparent, criticism of newspaper monopoly usually imputes some vague sort of moral dereliction to the surviving single newspapers which are still in operation in most cities. The implication seems to be that it was wicked of them not to fold up, as their earlier competitors did.

The fact is that in a period of steadily rising publishing costs and arbitrary hobbling of technological advances, few cities can support more than one financially sound daily newspaper. And one of the first obligations of a good newspaper is to remain financially sound, so it can resist economic pressures on its news content.

Those who deplore the trend toward monopoly in the newspaper field might get a better perspective on that trend by studying carefully the present situation in New York City, where a relatively inexperienced union leader on the make has deprived millions of people in that metropolis of their daily papers for almost a month. All he demands is wage and fringe increases that total more than four times the amount for which the Newspaper Guild in New York City recently negotiated an agreement — a package which the publishers figure would boost their costs by about $40 million a year. In the aggregate these newspapers reportedly have been losing $5 million a year, only two of them being highly profitable. There is serious doubt in the industry that at least two of them can survive if the strike lasts much longer. If they don't, the biggest American city of them all will move that much closer to becoming a one-newspaper town like most of the others.

The thing to note is that this narrowing of competition is not something the competing publishers seek and are striving to bring about. On the contrary, they are resisting it as determinedly as they can, but against pressure that proved too much for many other newspapers in recent years.

A Vote for Sharm

Three weeks ago, when Iowa's basketball team was competing against an extremely tough field in the Kentucky Invitational Tournament, a Louisville radio announcer called Hawkeye Coach Sharm Scheuerman "One of the nation's leading coaches, a promising young basketball strategist."

This compliment was paid after the Iowa team had received a 94-67 drubbing by a powerful Kentucky squad. Most announcers would not have bothered to make such a statement after witnessing such an uneven game. After all, the great majority of announcers, writers and spectators judge a coach by the performance of his current team. Under the circumstances at the Kentucky tournament, few people likely regarded Scheuerman as "a promising strategist."

But perhaps the radio announcer remembered back as far as two years ago when Iowa lost four of five starters through eligibility but still finished second in the conference.

So far this season the Iowa team has shown that it may be the weakest Hawkeye team in years. Many of the sideline "experts" agree that Scheuerman's athletes were lucky to finish as high as second in the West Coast Classic at Portland, Ore. last week.

If the Hawkeyes have as bad a time in the Big Ten as most forecasters predict, Scheuerman will be considered for no coaching awards. Indeed, the lustre of being a youthful coach may also wear off. Sharm, now in his fifth year of coaching, is approaching 29 — no longer a "boy wonder."

But in spite of their unimpressive 4-5 record and probability of having a worse record in conference play, the Hawkeyes promise to be an exciting team to watch.

Scheuerman promises no miracles and SUI should not expect them. Nevertheless, we expect some bench jockies to begin second guessing the coach and we predict some critics will even send Scheuerman letters letting him in on the "finer points of coaching."

We encourage local sports followers to sit back and enjoy the games leaving the coaching to the most qualified man. Scheuerman can't guarantee SUI a winning team, but he can assure the University as good a performance as can be expected from the material available.

The Ralph McGill Column—

A Lie To Be Exposed

By RALPH MCGILL

Gov. Ross Barnett's picture, slightly smudged, peered from page six of the paper. The camera had caught him with his head thrown slightly back and a restrained, almost shy smile on his face.

There was a story beneath the picture. It quoted the governor of Mississippi as saying citizens should be allowed to determine "whether or not they want their schools under the control of the Federal Government and the Federal Courts."

This was a surprising statement coming from a man who is governor of a state where a great many citizens have been, and are, denied the right to vote. The hopeful, however, will be encouraged by it. That the governor of Mississippi is asking for citizens to vote is news. (A smaller percentage of people vote in Mississippi than in any state in the Union.) The picture was just a head and shoulders view. It was not possible to see whether the governor had his fingers crossed.

Gov. Barnett's shy little smile was in keeping with the story. His suggestion that the people be allowed to vote whether or not they want the Federal Government to control their schools was, as he must have known, a fraud. It was said either out of ignorance or with a wish to deceive and further inflame a people desperately in need of truth. There are people in Mississippi who know, and serve, the truth. There are thousands more willing to know it. That a governor should issue such a statement lacking in any shred of truth is a sad commentary on him and his state. The Federal Government is not now controlling the University of Mississippi. Nor is it controlling any school, college or university, anywhere in the nation. The Eisenhower Government did not control education in Little Rock. Neither the present Administration, nor any of the future, will wish or seek to control education.

The Government of the United States is not interfering in the slightest in the administration of educational processes of the University of Mississippi — or any other school. The University may hire and dismiss faculty. It may set levels of admission. (Those of the University of Mississippi, because of legislative enactments, are the lowest in the nation.) The University may order its teachers to teach that the world is round, flat or square. It can set any salary limit it wishes. It is in full control.

THE MARSHALS WALK to and from classes with James Meredith. They guard his room. But it is simply a falsehood to say that they in any sense control the university or its educational processes. They do, because of inflamed students and emotions which produced the mob that last September murdered two men at the doors of the University itself, protect a citizen's right to go to the university of the state in which he and his family live.

It is a shameful thing for Gov. Barnett to add to anger, to multiple tensions, when his state, its economy, and its future are in desperate need of truth so that it may proceed to subtract from violence and live up to the Constitution and the pledge to the flag — "One nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

the White Citizens Councils, made it necessary to have federal marshals there to protect the life and constitutional rights of a citizen. The Government certainly would like to withdraw the marshals. The nation pretty well understands this. Millions of people, through the medium of television, have seen and heard the governor, public officials, and students of the school and know that this protection is necessary. They saw and heard, for example, the students say that if James Meredith remained there someone "would get him." The students discussed this possible murder as casually as if they were talking about a football game. "Don't get me wrong," said one. "It won't be my buddy or me, but someone will get him." That this could be said at a state university, in the 20th century, in a nation which boasts of its democracy and its equal rights of all citizens, is a commentary on Gov. Barnett, his associates, and the power structure of his state.

It is a shameful thing for Gov. Barnett to add to anger, to multiple tensions, when his state, its economy, and its future are in desperate need of truth so that it may proceed to subtract from violence and live up to the Constitution and the pledge to the flag — "One nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

On Other Campuses

By JOHN KLEIN
Assistant Managing Editor

The Sigma Nu fraternity at Brown University (Providence, R. I.) is seeking to enlist its fellow chapters in the support of abolishing the discriminatory clauses within the national fraternity.

Brown chapter members hope to impress their views for deletion of the clauses at the 1964 national convention.

Since Dec. 8, when the New York Local of the International Typographical Union walked off the job, New Yorkers have been without the services of all (9) but one of their metropolitan dailies.

That, of course, is the way the Union planned it. However it failed to consider The Columbia

Spectator, a student publication originating from New York City's Columbia University.

That paper, usually content to limit its news coverage and its circulation to the campus, has recently been appearing in downtown New York offering the New Times News Service to new-started New Yorkers.

The Spectator now advertises editorialists James Reston and Russell Baker and sports writers Red Smith and Arthur Daley plus squeezing in some campus coverage from time to time.

Six months ago the Michigan State University Board of Trustees made ROTC (both Army and Air Force) optional. Since that time the enrollments have dropped nearly 70 per cent.

Last year, when two years of ROTC was compulsory, the program embraced 2,500 freshmen. This year, following a five week ROTC orientation program during which all incoming male freshmen were invited to sign up, only 838 students are in the program.

A "dead week," — a week before final exams during which no new assignments or papers would be assigned — is gathering strong support at the University of California.

The move was begun in 1961 following a report from a special student committee which studied the proposal. Shortly afterward, the Student Senate and Student Affairs Committees endorsed the suggestion. The latest move toward adoption of dead week came in December when Chancellor Edward Strong recommended the proposal to University departments.

The dead week proposal will be presented to the California Calendar Committee which will decide if the motion will be adopted. The motion cannot go into effect this year since the University calendar has already been made up.

We are indebted to the University of Kansas student newspaper, The Daily Kansan, and to the unnamed KU student who collaborated in the following penetrating disclosure:

"See the two United Press International reporters? They are undergraduates in the KU School of Journalism. They took the English proficiency examination.

They flunked it. I told them what to do. They didn't listen. They will next time. The exam is all right in principle. We can't have KU grads dropping ungrammatical memos into suggestion boxes. That reflects on the University.

But the two UPI writers flunked the test. Something is wrong. One guy works at UPI 40 hours a week. The other took a leave of absence for school after working there this summer.

Why did they flunk? Maybe they misspelled. Maybe they misspelled modifiers. Maybe they misspelled thought the exam was a dud.

Another person and I gave them the secret English pro exam advice. Don't write anything but simple sentences. That's the advice. Don't use commas. Don't use semi-colons or colons. Avoid compound, complex and compound-complex sentences. Use only the noun-verb object form. You can't go wrong.

I passed the exam the first time. I wrote six, seven, eight, nine and ten-word sentences — just like that one. I passed.

That is not the point. The test supposedly measures written English proficiency. The UPI men are proficient in English. They are professional writers. The journalism professors think so. So does United Press International. UPI maintains standards of proficiency. Those standards might be as high as KU's.

Those UPI writers flunked the English proficiency examination. They'll improve. They learned their lesson. They'll write simple sentences. Bill slugged Tom. Bert slugged Tim.

Write simple sentences. Don't forget a dictionary. That'll do it.

University Bulletin Board

University Bulletin Board notices must be received at The Daily Iowan office, Room 201, Communications Center, by noon of the day of publication. They must be typed and signed by an adviser or officer of the organization being publicized. Purely social functions are not eligible for this section.

SIGMA ALPHA ETA, speech pathology and audiology student organization, will meet January 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Gables Speech Clinic Annex. Three experienced speech correctionists will discuss "Ideas for Public School Speech Correction."

PARENTS COOPERATIVE BABY-SITTING League is in the charge of Mrs. Brelsford. League members wanting sitters or parents who are interested in joining should call 8-927.

STUDENTS who signed for a 1963 Hawkeye and have not yet picked up their books are urged to do so as soon as possible. The books are available daily, except Saturday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., at 201 Communications Center.

BABYSITTERS may be obtained during the week by calling the YWCA office, IMU, at Ext. 2240 during week-day afternoons.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION holds a testimony meeting each Thursday afternoon in the little chapel of the Congregational Church, corner of Clinton and Jefferson Streets at 8:15. All are welcome to attend.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION SKILLS Exemption Tests: Male students wishing to take the exemption tests for Physical Education Skills must register for these tests by Tuesday, January 8 in Room 122, Field House, where additional information concerning these tests may be obtained. Male students who have not registered by January 8 will not be permitted to take the exemption tests in Physical Education Skills during the first semester of the 1962-63 school year.

U.S. Policy in Middle East Assailed by Jordan's Hussein

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—King Hussein of Jordan accused the United States Friday of openly supporting "subversive elements" in the Middle East.

Hussein warned that U.S. policies in this tinder-box area, particularly Washington's "premature" recognition of the new Yemeni republican regime, could lead to "the shattering of the Middle East's stability."

In an interview, the monarch said his nation had been the target of all the Middle East's "trouble-makers" because of its loyalty to the cause of freedom.

Hussein described Washington's Yemen policy as, in effect, "linking Russia, U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser and the United States in competition toward the same end designed to overthrow Yemen's legitimate government."

"This is a strange alliance which shocks, hurts and weakens the United States' friends in the Middle East and provides encouragement for those elements seeking the dangerous objective of the subversion of other legal governments, besides forcing Jordan to waste time and efforts which could otherwise be directed to a better, future Arab world," the King said.

PIANIST TURECK "High Priestess of Bach"

All-Bach Program By Pianist Tonight

Pianist Roslyn Tureck, who has been described as the "high priestess of Bach," will play a recital in Macbride Hall, tonight at 8. Her concert will consist entirely of Bach's music and will include three Preludes and Fugues from the "Well-Tempered Clavier."

Also on the program will be the "English Suite in G minor," the "Aria and Ten Variations in the Italian Style," and the "Italian Concerto."

Her recital is sponsored by the Friends of Music. Tickets may be purchased at Elbe Music Co., Campus Record Shop or West Music Co. for $2.50. Student tickets are $1.50.

Friday's Quartet Concert Features Bezanson Work

The premiere of a composition for string quartet by Professor Philip Bezanson of the SUI music faculty will be a feature of a concert by the Iowa String Quartet Friday at 8 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium.

Bezanson wrote the work during 1962 especially for the Iowa String Quartet at the request of the group. In three movements, it is his first composition for string quartet.

Other numbers on the program will include Mendelssohn's "Quartet in D Major, Opus 44, No. 1," which will also be one of the numbers to be played by the quartet on a program for inauguration ceremonies for Governor-elect Harold Hughes Jan. 17 in the State Capitol in Des Moines.

The closing number of the program Friday evening will be Claude Debussy's "String Quartet."

Tickets will not be required for admission to the concert.

Founded in 1959, the Iowa String Quartet consists of members of The State University of Iowa music faculty. Present members are Charles Treger and John Ferrell, violins; William Preucil, viola, and Camilla Doppmann, cello.

Special Education Undergrad Degree Is Now Available

Undergraduate students in the College of Education are now eligible to receive degrees in the field of special education. The program was formerly limited to graduate students.

The undergraduate major in special education is designed to prepare teachers in the fields of educating the mentally retarded, the physically handicapped, and the deaf.

Admission and dismissal regulations for the new program are identical to those governing the elementary education program.

The University has had a graduate program in special education for the past 15 years. The College of Education formulated the new program in an attempt to provide more teachers to replace former instructors who are now doing supervisory work.

New Postage Rates Begin On Monday

Iowa City postmaster W. J. Barrow urged local citizens to place the correct postage on their letters on Monday, when the new postage rate goes into effect.

Postage rates for first-class will be increased from four to five cents an ounce. Air mail letters will be eight cents instead of seven.

First class post cards will cost four cents instead of three, with air mail cards going from five to six cents.

The extra charge of one cent for stamp booklets containing the five-cent and eight-cent denominations has been dropped. The booklets will be sold at their face value at $1 and $2 respectively.

The new booklets will contain a postage chart on the inside cover. Barrow warned residents that insufficient postage will be collected from the addressee or the letter returned to the sender.

Additional information on the new postage fees is available at the local post office.

Teamsters Lose Inter-Union Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Teamsters Union was defeated Friday night by a 3 to 1 margin in a showdown election with the Communications Workers of America (CWA) to represent 17,200 Westinghouse employees.

The National Labor Relations Board said the CWA won 11,388 votes, while the Teamsters received 4,000.

CWA President Joseph A. Beirne said the vote showed the Westinghouse installers "repudiated the raiding effort of the Teamsters Union under the dubious leadership of James R. Hoffa."

Collide Here Tonight in Big Ten Inaugural

Hint of Scandal Hits National Football Loop

HOLLYWOOD BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The National Football League, which has been without scandal for the past 16 years, admitted Friday that some members of the Chicago Bears and players of "three or four other" league teams have "associated with undesirable types."

But league Commissioner Pete Rozelle insisted that an investigation by an NFL staff of 16 former FBI agents has turned up nothing of "a criminal nature."

"We haven't found any fire," said Rozelle, "but anytime we see any smoke we look fast."

Rozelle disclosed the investigation after George Halas, owner of the Bears, revealed in Chicago that the Commissioner was looking into reports of a possible scandal involving several teams during the last two years.

"There were a couple of things involving the Bears and I told Halas about them," Rozelle said. "I do not feel that this is any more urgent than any of the cases we have had in the past."

Rozelle declined to reveal the names of other teams involved in the rumors.

The NFL has not been touched by public scandal since 1946, when players Frank Filchock and Merle Hapes of the New York Giants were revealed to have received offers of $2,500 each, plus a $1,000 bet on the game, to control the spread of points in the championship game against the Bears.

BILLS' COACH SIGNS

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Coach Lou Saban, whose Buffalo Bills finished the 1962 American Football League season with a 7-6-1 record after losing their first five games, has signed a two-year contract calling for a pay increase.

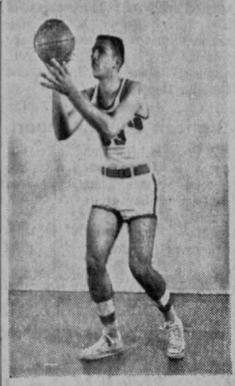

AAU Bans Top U.S. Half-Miler

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Dupree of Southern Illinois University, one of the United States' top half-milers, was suspended by the Amateur Athletic Union Friday for competing in a track meet sanctioned by the United States Track and Field Federation.

Among other things, the suspension makes Dupree ineligible for the Eastern indoor track season, which starts in Boston Jan. 12. Length of the suspension was not specified.

The suspension, announced by AAU executive director Col. Don Hull, was caused by Dupree competing in the USTFF track meet in Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 28.

The meet was one of three in which the AAU made conditional suspension of a number of athletes while making a check of all the facts. The suspension of Dupree is the first of the nationally known athletes by the AAU in its present squabble with the USTFF, an affiliate of the NCAA.

Hawklets Nip Rams, 52-44 For 2nd Win

By GEORGE KAMPLING Staff Writer

The Iowa City Little Hawks, scoring eight straight points in the first minute-and-a-half of the final quarter, hung on to take their first Mississippi Valley Conference tilt, 52-44 over the Dubuque Rams, who have yet to win this year.

Behind 10-8 baskets by John Gough and George Wilkinson gave the Little Hawks a 12-10 first period lead. Seven straight points by Don Rhoades propelled the Hawklets ahead at 19-12 as they held a 22-15 halftime lead.

The Rams' Gary Gottschalk led all scoring with 21 points on seven field goals and seven free throws. Teammate Tom Rusk scored 16 as the two accounted for all but seven of the Rams' points.

Rhoades led the Hawklets with 17, followed by Ken Richard with 10.

The Little Hawks meet C.R. Jefferson there tonight.

The Iowa City sophomore team nudged Dubuque, 56-35.

When Coach Sharm Scheuerman picks up the dope sheet for tonight's Iowa-Illinois game here, he may just feel like sitting down for an old fashioned cry, although some intangibles show all is not lost.

Not since a 1956 Illini contingent invaded Iowa City for the Big Ten title game with the Hawkeyes has an Illini team arrived here with a better set of vital statistics.

Even the Gabor sisters would be put to shame by the third-ranked Illini who tip-off at the Field House at 7:30 tonight to inaugurate the Big Ten cage season which continues on Monday night.

It will be just 48 hours after the Illinois tilt that the Hawks will face another Big Ten contender in Michigan at the Field House. But the Illini provide an awesome first hurdle.

Among other figures, the Illinoisians possess a torrid 92-point average in their last five starts which included winning the Holiday Festival tournament in New York, and being upset 90-88 by tough Notre Dame Monday night.

Four of the starting quintet — Dave Downey, Bill Burwell, Bill Small and Bob Starnes — are averaging in double figures with sophomore guard Tal Brody teetering on the brink with a consistent 9.4 average.

This all figures out to an impressive 8-1 mark, and 88.1 point per game average and a 77.1 average yield to the opposition each which doesn't say much for the Illini's defensive abilities.

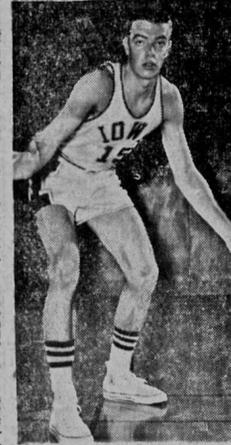

But the Hawkeyes' scoring punch — which is about as tough as a 95-pound weakling — has averaged only 60 points in gaining a 4-5 non-conference record.

The Hawks have only one starter — Jimmy Rodgers — averaging in double figures while the others — Jerry Messick, Andy Hankins, Joe Reddington and Dave Roach — are far behind.

While all five starting Illini have hit over 46 percent on their field goal attempts, including Burwell's .594 mark, Iowa has only one player — reserve Mike Denoma — above that mark with .480.

The taller Illini have the edge in grabbing 482 rebounds to Iowa's 302, with the Hawks' fine defensive mark giving them the only edge on paper.

The Hawks have yielded only 63.4

points each game, but once were sorely stunned 94-69 by a Kentucky team, which ranks as one of the country's best along with Illinois.

But as Scheuerman points out, this Iowa basketball team, though short on ability, has some of the sparkle, spirit and hustle that highlighted 1960's Hustlin' Hawks who ended the season tied for second with Purdue.

It is the sort of team, Sharm says, that can on a given night, harass the best in the nation with sharp defensive work, especially when they least expect it.

But the Hawks definitely will have their work cut out when they meet Downey and company Saturday and Michigan's Bill Buntin and crew Monday eve.

Burwell is close behind Downey, 18.4 game average with his 16.9 mark while Small has a 16.8 figure and Starnes a 16.9.

Buntin, a 6-9 center, has paced his team to an 8-1 non-conference record going into this afternoon's television contest with Northwestern.

The Wolves also sport veterans Bob Cantrell (12.3), John Harris (11.9), Tom Cole (10.1), along with sophomore Doug Herner, who has a 6.2 average.

Michigan is equally as strong on the boards as Illinois having grabbed 495 in compiling an 8-1 record, but have only a 78.8 game average compared to Illinois' 88.1 mark.

Western Conference Opens With Same Plot, New Cast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The preseason script calling for a dramatic race will prevail, but the cast of leading characters will appear changed when the Big Ten basketball campaign opens with a full five-game conference card today.

Defending champion Ohio State and well-balanced Illinois will plunge into the 14-game league title chase still bearing the tag of a formidable contender.

But amazing Michigan has matched both Ohio State and Illinois with an 8-1 tuneup record, and now seems to warrant considerable respect. The Wolverines last season finished eighth in the Big Ten.

On the other hand, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Indiana — previously expected to make a good run for the crown — ranged from fair to indifferent in the December campaign against non-conference rivals.

Today's opening round preseason records in parentheses: Illinois (8-1) at Iowa (4-5); Minnesota (4-6) at Ohio State (8-1); Northwestern (3-7) at Michigan (8-1); Indiana (3-6) at Michigan State (3-6); and Wisconsin (6-3) at Purdue (5-4).

Little Takes 65 For $50,000 LA Open Golf Lead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Methodical Gene Littler carved out an eagle, five birdies, and a lone bogey Friday to lead the way through the first round of the $50,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament with a 6-under-par 65.

The 32-year-old ex-National Open champion, who won this event in 1955, toured the 7,100-yard Rancho Park course under bright skies in 36-29-65. His 29 established a tournament record for the back 9 holes.

Arnold Palmer shot a 35-34-69. He missed at least five putts for birdies.

United States Open champion Jack Nicklaus had a 34-37-71. The American PGA champion, Gary Player, also had a 71, shooting even par figures.

Change Game Parking Plans

Parking in lots adjacent to the Field House will be offered to night and during the home season to Iowa basketball fans, with about 75 per cent of the area available without charge.

For the first time, a $1 charge is being made to park cars on the tennis court area just south of the Field House. The charge is made to help defray expenses, such as snow removal and supervisory officers.

Officials declared that fans desiring to park free are asked to enter the Melrose Avenue gate leading to the football stadium and proceed northward as directed.
