

Cooperation Asked In Hughes' Inaugural

DES MOINES (AP) — Republicans and Democrats hailed Democratic Gov. Harold Hughes' inaugural address Thursday as a sincere offer of cooperation with the Republican-controlled legislature, while at the same time meeting controversial issues head-on.

Leaders of both parties said they will be interested in hearing the new governor spell out details of his proposals on such issues as legalizing liquor by the drink, taxation, school aid and other matters.

IN HIS ADDRESS after being sworn in as Iowa's 35th governor, Hughes asked the legislators to join him in putting aside "divisive partisanship" to work for a sound program for the state.

He called for increased state revenue without mentioning the amount, greater state aid to schools, property tax relief, increased workmen's compensation and unemployment compensation benefits, tax reform and improvements in law enforcement, education and rehabilitation.

He parted company with the Republican majority in the legislature in urging scrapping of the Shaff plan of legislative reapportionment, and repeal of the union shop ban in the state "right to work" law.

Before the joint legislative session started in the flower decked House Chamber, the SUI String Quartet, including Charles Treger, international award winning violinist, played selections as the crowd gathered. Other members of the quartet are John Ferrell, violin; Camilla Doppmann, cello; and William Precup, viola.

THE REPUBLICAN floor leaders of House and Senate, Rep. John Mowry of Marshalltown and Sen. Robert Rigler of New Hampton, said Hughes' recommendations in large measure are the same as those proposed Sunday in a policy statement adopted by GOP legislators.

"I appreciate the tone of cooperation which the new governor expressed in the address," Rigler said. "It is refreshing to see basic agreement on so many things we have recommended."

MOWRY SAID he is eager to hear Hughes' specific recommendations on liquor by-the-drink, including "how much tax, how much revenue, how many licenses, who to license" and whether or not there should be a local option system.

Rep. Scott Swisher, (D-Iowa City) termed the speech "excellent" and added:

"I can hardly wait for the next installment."

He was referring to the governor's budget message which he is required by law to deliver by Feb. 1.

George Nagle of Iowa City, Republican state chairman, said Hughes gave "a very good statement and certainly one with which the Republican party can have little quarrel. We don't agree in all areas, of course, such as his recommendation on the right to work law. But I find he sounded like he had been a Republican all his life — which he has been except for the last few years."

SEN. D. C. NOLAN (R-Iowa City), said, "I think the speech fairly presented the issues and followed generally the outlined issues which the Republican Party already has indicated it will consider during the next months."

Lt. Gov. William Mooty of Grundy Center said he welcomed Hughes' offer of cooperation, but added, "I can see that there will be some wide areas of disagreement" such as on reapportionment and home rule for cities and towns.

Rep. William Denman, (D-Des Moines), said Hughes showed "great courage" in urging the legislature to enact controversial bills.

"I was especially pleased that he came out against the Shaff plan of legislative reapportionment," said Denman. "Those of us from the cities hope the legislature will heed his recommendation. He also showed courage in his proposals in the human relations field, such as abolishing the death penalty, a fair employment practices law, and legalizing the union shop."

JFK's Budget Brings Protest By Congress

Record $98.8 Billion Asked by President; Legislators Grumble

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy submitted to a grumbling Congress on Thursday a national budget that would rocket spending to a record peak approaching $100 billion.

The President wrapped together into a single package a vast $98.8, $92,000,000 spending program and another request for big-scale tax revisions and reductions. He said this financial plan would permit "the efficient and frugal conduct of the public business," boost the economy, and lead in time to balanced budgets.

Various members of Congress, some of them with key roles in federal financial affairs, leaped forward with cries of alarm and dissent. These were tempered by expressions of approval only to a degree that left it certain that Kennedy's budget is slated for a rugged route through the halls of Congress.

The new budget is for the 1964 fiscal year starting next July 1. It holds the line on spending for domestic affairs. But it bulges with record outlays of cash for defense and a space program aimed at the moon and a planet or two. Kennedy cautioned against false economy in these realms and said there is no way to buy security at cut rates.

The budget counts on revenues of only $86.9 billion clinking into the Treasury till. This is $11,902,000,000 short of what it would take to keep government ledgers out of the red.

Kennedy insisted, though, that this huge deficit and others to

The Weather

Cloudy, colder with occasional snow today, highs zero to 10 above. Partly cloudy west, cloudy with occasional snow east tonight, colder south. Further outlook: Partly cloudy Saturday, continued quite cold.

Snow was sweeping northeastward across Iowa Thursday night, with up to two inches of new snow likely by morning in central sections of the state.

Lesser amounts were expected in other parts of Iowa from the snow which had moved into southwestern sections of the state early in the afternoon.

The snow was being whipped by northerly winds of 20 to 30 miles an hour, and drifting was likely.

Niagara River Ice Jam Is Worst in 60 Years

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Sub-freezing temperatures Thursday kept the Niagara river clutched in a gigantic ice jam for the fourth straight day.

Although Weather Bureau warnings of zero and below-zero readings were eased by a warming trend blown in from the Great Lakes, temperatures in the high teens and low 20s failed to budget what has been described as the worst ice mass here in 60 years.

Five Countries Side To Gain British Entry

Hope Based on Effort Of Adenauer To Alter French Opposition

(Combined from Leased Wires) BRUSSELS (UPI) — France urged a suspension of talks on British entry into the European Common Market Thursday in a move that appeared to push the marathon negotiations to the verge of a breakdown.

But Britain's friends fought a furious day-long battle against a French attempt to suspend the talks indefinitely.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, looking tired and annoyed as he emerged from the conference, said ministers of the six member nations would meet today.

Britain's supporters within the economic bloc proposed setting up a committee to review progress so far. But the move was seen as a stopgap measure by France's partners — West Germany, Italy and the Benelux countries — to prolong negotiations beyond next week's scheduled meeting between French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The five apparently were hoping that Adenauer could persuade De Gaulle to modify his opposition.

Although another meeting was scheduled for today Dutch Foreign Minister Joseph Luns said after hearing lengthy speeches from all member delegations:

"I have had enough, gentlemen. I think it is time to go home."

A French spokesman said "The British have said they do not want association, so we must find an alternative solution. We think the talks should be suspended to give time for this solution to be studied."

The closed-door talks apparently failed to resolve the Common Market crisis caused by De Gaulle's criticism of Britain's bid to enter the economic bloc.

Britain's entry appeared to hang on a "yes" or "no" from De Gaulle.

"We are wasting the time of ministers and experts," the French Foreign Minister said. "We have been negotiating for more than a year now and no progress has been made."

The stage for the showdown was set this morning when delegates of the six member nations — France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — met for just five minutes. During the brief formal session France rejected a compromise proposal on the financing of common agricultural policy. The French then called for a secret meeting with their Common Market partners.

In London, meanwhile, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan met with the British Cabinet to discuss the crisis in Britain's efforts to join the Common Market.

In Strasbourg, France, the consultative assembly of the Council of Europe today urged the council's committee of ministers to make an urgent appeal to the Brussels negotiators to reach early agreement on Britain's entry.

De Gaulle's Order: Keep British Out

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle sent his Foreign Minister, Maurice Couve de Morville, to Brussels with orders to end Britain's efforts to enter the Common Market, reliable sources said here Thursday.

The sources said the balky French leader, having publicly slammed the door on Britain's entry, instructed Couve de Morville to take certain action that would finally torpedo the Brussels talks.

The Foreign Minister, the sources said, was told not to break off the negotiations unilaterally, but to use tactics which would leave France's five Common Market partners with only these choices:

To side with France and refuse Britain any terms on which she could possibly enter the market. Adorn the negotiations indefinitely.

Or side with Britain and split the Common Market as it exists wide open.

Tshombe: U.N. To Takeover Stronghold

Combined from Leased Wires LISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo — Katanga President Moise Tshombe Thursday agreed after a four-hour meeting to permit a United Nations takeover of his Kolwezi stronghold by next Monday.

President Moise Tshombe met Thursday night with his old antagonists — U.N. civil and military officials — in what may be a final act of capitulation ending his secession.

Arriving in this capital of Katanga, he said he was here to arrange for the peaceful entry of U.N. forces into Kolwezi, his last stronghold in the province he had fought to keep independent of central Congo rule.

Tshombe also agreed in a communique issued after the meeting to order his gendarmes not to resist and to immediately dismantle all demolition charges in the Kolwezi industrial installations, dams and bridges.

He additionally agreed to disarming the gendarmes and lodging all their arms in one central dump to be guarded by 50 of his troops under control of the United Nations.

All orders to blow up vital installations in Kolwezi have been suspended, he declared. His threat to destroy the copper, cobalt and power facilities had held back U.N. forces from marching on that vital mineral center 150 miles northwest of Elisabethville.

U.N. sources in New York said U.N. units already are moving toward the Tshilombe River, about 20 miles from Kolwezi, in expectation of a go-ahead. They were expected to halt at the river until arrangements for their peaceful entry have been completed.

These informants said U.N. officials expect Kolwezi to be in U.N. hands by Friday — or Saturday at the latest. They said Tshombe probably would be flown to Kolwezi by U.N. planes to make sure there is no hitch in the takeover.

Since he announced Tuesday his willingness to bow to the U.N. plan for Congo unity, Tshombe had remained in Kolwezi. He flew from Kolwezi to nearby Kipushi, then drove to Elisabethville.

Vehicle Deadline Nears

Only two weeks are left to register motor vehicles and obtain license plates without penalty in Johnson County. After Jan. 31 a penalty of five per cent of the cost of the plates will be assessed.

Motor vehicle owners whose 1962 plates are registered in another county must write to that county's treasurer and have registration transferred to Johnson County before trying to get 1963 plates here.

It is expected that 12,000 plates will be issued in Johnson County by the Jan. 31 deadline.

Set Application Deadline

The deadline for filing applications for membership on the executive committee, and sub-committees of the Student Senate People-to-People organization is 5 p.m. Friday.

Applications must be turned into the Student Senate Office in the Union. Additional application blanks are available at the Union Information Desk.

SARE Drive Underway

An extensive drive to collect clothing, food, and money for disaster-stricken Negro sharecroppers in the Mississippi delta is well under way today according to Julie Friedlander, G. Merrick, N.Y., spokesman for the local chapter of the Student Association for Racial Equality (SARE), which is sponsoring the drive.

The Negroes have been denied relief by Mississippi authorities who have refused to distribute Federal surplus food.

Miss Friedlander reported that several bundles of clothing, including sweaters, blankets, and shoes, have been donated, and checks are arriving in the mail.

Several members of SARE are tentatively planning to transport the collected articles to Mississippi by car. If this is not possible, the articles will be sent by bus.

Anyone wishing to have articles picked up may call Mrs. Eva Huriman, A3, Iowa City, 8-5190, or Julie Friedlander, 8-0742. Bundles may be delivered to 111 East Burlington St.

The News In Brief

Compiled From Leased Wires

● DES MOINES — Bills on two of the major issues in the current legislative session — liquor and the death penalty — were introduced in the Iowa House Thursday.

Legislators also tossed in measures to make the State Board of Education appointive, enact an implied consent law, and give Iowa-chartered insurance companies power to create or buy subsidiary firms.

● WASHINGTON — The White House for the third straight day refused comment Thursday on charges that Federal workers were being pressured to buy $100 tickets for a Democratic gala honoring President Kennedy tonight.

● MOSCOW — The Soviet Government and Communist Party spelled out Thursday how they plan to exercise increased control of industry and agriculture at the grass-roots level.

Details were published in the Government newspaper Izvestia which reported that the Party's Central Committee and the Soviet Council of Ministers have approved the "status of the committee of party-state control."

● NEW YORK — The United States and Brazil exchanged messages of goodwill Thursday via Relay, the world's second communication satellite, in the first space communications link between North and South America.

● FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — A thousand life jackets were loaded onto the cargo ship Shirley Lykes Thursday night as the freighter prepared to sail for Havana amid indications that Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro would let more refugees leave.

Officials of the American Red Cross, sponsoring the voyage to deliver Cuban invasion prisoner ransom supplies of food and medicine, would not say why the life jackets were stowed on the 490-foot merchant craft.

● NEW YORK — The Atomic Energy Commission said Thursday radioactive materials leaked from a truck shipment of contaminated precious metals en route from Apollo, Pa., to the AEC's Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island, N.Y.

"The radiation is not hazardous," Charles Yulish of the AEC's New York office said. The shipment was made in two trucks.

Charges Filed Against Amish

INDEPENDENCE (AP) — The Buchanan County Superintendent of Schools said Thursday night he will file charges against Amish parents for failure to send their children to state certified schools.

Thirty-seven Amish children attend two one-room schools near Hazleton.

Superintendent J. J. Jorgensen of Independence said charges will be filed for each offense and will be filed continuously until the Amish children are properly enrolled in schools as required by Iowa law.

Jorgensen said the charges against the Amish parents would be filed as soon as they can be prepared, probably next Monday.

Legislation to permit people of the Amish sect and others with strong religious scruples against insurance to be exempt from the Social Security Old Age and Survivors program was introduced in Congress Thursday.

Senators Bourke B. Hickenlooper and Jack Miller were among those sponsoring the measure.

Khrushchev in Berlin, Visits Wall; Brandt Declines Invitation to Parley

From Combined Leased Wires

BERLIN — Premier Khrushchev visited the Berlin Wall Thursday and then invited Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin to come talk things over with him.

Brandt reluctantly rejected the

rad Adenauer's party, the Christian Democrats.

The Communists have been arguing that West Berlin's government and Senate should deal with them directly on their mutual problems without reference to the Bonn government. Thus Khrushchev's motive in inviting Brandt to East Berlin seemed clear.

But the Christian Democrats told the West Berlin mayor that if he accepted they no longer would participate in the city's coalition government. This would have caused political confusion in advance of next month's West Berlin election.

Brandt is a member of the Social Democrat party.

Brandt said that Chancellor Adenauer told him by telephone from Bonn "if he were in my situation he would conduct the talks."

Western allied officials also said they would have had no objection to the meeting.

Khrushchev extended a similar invitation to Brandt four years ago. At that time, the Allies objected strenuously and Brandt did not go.

Khrushchev, in Berlin for a meeting of the East German Communist party, was at the Wall 15 minutes. His visit in effect confirmed his endorsement of the barrier which bisects Berlin and locks 17 million East Germans off from the West.

It was Khrushchev's first view of the wall. Grinning and looking full of confidence, he saw the spot where American and Soviet tanks stood ominously face to face in October 1961.

He waved airily in the direction of famed Checkpoint Charlie, the Western Allied control point in the U.S. sector.

Khrushchev had come straight from the bleak Werner Seelenbinder Sports Palace in East Berlin. There his Communist supporters from 70 world parties have been wrestling with the problem of a sullen Red Chinese resistance to his cold war policies.

Communist China's official news agency meanwhile issued its first report on the East German Communist Party conference Thursday without giving details of Soviet, East German or Polish speeches denouncing Peking's policies. The China news agency's brief

Education Aid Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The influential American Council on Education proposed Thursday a vast and sweeping program of Federal aid to develop the nation's colleges and universities.

The council declined to put a price tag on its package, but the 11-point program covers everything: buildings, teachers, scholarships, student loans, aid for foreign students.

The council, representing 1,000 institutions of higher education and 175 national, regional and state education organizations, said details of its proposals might be spelled out at a later date.

"This is what we need," a council spokesman said. "It is up to the President and the Congress to determine the scope of these proposals."

The only dollar figure mentioned was $1 billion annually in matching grants and low-interest loans for construction of academic facilities in both public and private institutions.

This is in addition to the present college housing loan program of $300 million a year that runs until 1965, which the council said should be expanded if necessary.

No Fire Inside; But Hillcrest Men Get Cold Outside

Hillcrest residents were turned out into the cold winter weather Thursday night for half an hour.

Three fire trucks answered an alarm about 6:45 p.m. Thursday. No fire was discovered and the alarm was attributed to either a malfunctioning fire alarm system or someone turning in a false fire alarm.

David VanLeeuwen, A4, Rock Rapids, head counselor, said Thursday night, "We really don't know yet" the cause of the alarm.

Evacuated students kept warm by singing and throwing snow balls. One student stood on another's shoulders in an attempt to "organize" the group, but police intervened.

Post-Game Dance

Are you tired, worn out, and discouraged about upcoming finals? Take a break and attend "Flunker's Frolic," a free, post-game dance Saturday from 8:45 until 11:45 p.m. in the River Room of the Union.

Keith Reed and his band will play at the Union-Board sponsored dance.

Dock Strike Not Resolved

NEW YORK (AP) — A three-man presidential board embarked Thursday on the stormy sea of waterfront labor relations, seeking an end to a 26-day, multi-million-dollar East and Gulf Coast dock strike. It has five days to resolve issues that have defied solution for seven long months.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), chairman, led the board into separate meetings with the striking AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, and the New York Shipping Association.

President Kennedy appointed the board Wednesday after Federal mediators gave up efforts to settle the strike. Its mission is to end the costly tieup of more than 550 ships in ports from Maine to Texas, and to get 60,000 striking longshoremen — plus more than 20,000 other idle maritime workers — back to their jobs. The strike already has cost the union and industry $520 million in losses.

The board is empowered either to mediate an agreement, or recommend a settlement. If its findings are ignored, as Morse pointed out, Kennedy faces the necessity of taking the deadlock to Congress, with the possibility of resultant labor legislation to end the strike.

The board tackled a deadlock that has defied solution since last June 13, when the ILA opened contract talks with the shipping industry. With expiration of the old ILA contract, the union struck the docks Oct. 1.

Gaitskell Suffers Complications, Dangerously Ill

LONDON (AP) — Kidney complications posed a new threat to the life of Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell on Thursday night. Doctors planned to use an artificial kidney in their fight to save him.

Earleir, a bulletin from Middlesex Hospital reported the 56-year-old leader — who would be prime minister if his party could unseat the Conservative government — had shown no signs of improvement and that he was dangerously ill.

There had been slight indications during the day that Gaitskell had been rallying.

Thursday night's bulletin — fourth and last of the day — also said the six-man team of doctors treating Gaitskell had been increased by two specialists.

The kidney complication arose Wednesday from the massive doses of antibiotics being used in an effort to halt a virus infection of the lungs. The infection had led to inflammation of the membranes encasing the lungs and heart.

Mississippi, the Law And the Middle Ages

Thousands of Negro sharecroppers, forced out of their marginal living income by an early winter, are starving to death today in the Mississippi Delta. While it is amazing that United States citizens would be faced with mass starvation in a so-called "civilized" 1963, there are several reasons for the anachronistic hardship.

First, officials of that state have refused to offer Federal surplus food to the starving thousands and, second, law enforcement officers in Coahoma County seem bent on thwarting any outside attempts to help the victims of the work stoppage.

A Christmas-time attempt to give at least some aid was partially snuffed out when Clarksdale police jailed two Michigan State University students and confiscated their truckload of food intended for the Negroes. The outsiders, Benjamin Taylor and Ivanhoe Donaldson, were arrested and charged with "unlawful possession of barbiturates." Twenty-four hours later the truck was searched and officers reported that the suspected barbiturates had been found among the supplies.

With the help of Aaron Henry, president of the Mississippi NAACP and resident of Clarksdale, the pair were given lawyers, and, with the aid of a suspicious Justice Department, their bail was lowered from a previous $15,000 to a more reasonable $1,500.

After Taylor and Donaldson were released on bail they were given the truck, minus about one-fourth the food. According to Taylor, most of the clothing had been doused with oil.

Attorneys for Taylor and Donaldson have announced that they may press charges against Police Chief Ben Collins and other officials on claims of "abusive treatment," which includes being held incommunicado, made to stand in the center of their cell, denied the right to talk and being deprived of food for the first of their 11 days in jail.

On its face this travesty of southern hospitality in the Clarksdale jail seems an exaggerated story told by disgruntled prisoners. But a quick look at the history of Coahoma County justice assures us that the treatment encountered by Taylor and Donaldson was very much predictable.

Last June five college students, three of whom attended Coe College in Cedar Rapids, traveled to Mississippi to study race relations. When police discovered the five attending a meeting at which both whites and Negroes were present, the students were thrown into jail without charges and held incommunicado for 20 hours.

Upon releasing the students from jail, the county sheriff reportedly told the northerners, "Don't ever set foot in Coahoma County again . . . if you're stabbed or your throats cut, it's none of my business."

Apparently the Gestapo-style tactics displayed by Coahoma law officers last June and this winter are not isolated cases. The Mississippi Advisory Committee to the Federal Civil Rights Commission recently reported:

"Many and at times unbelievable reports of atrocities and brutalities perpetrated by elected and appointed public officials in the capacity of law enforcement officers and under color of law were received by the Committee . . . very much more needs our attention in this field, particularly in the violation of civil rights by private individuals and in the courts."

The incommunicado arrest of five students last June affected no one other than the students, their families and friends, and possibly the jailhouse cook who may or may not have given the youths some nourishment to tide them over.

But the outrageous confiscation of the truckload of supplies and alleged pillaging by the police deprived the starving sharecroppers of much-needed relief.

As long as Coahoma County police confine their incommunicado arrests to strangers, they can probably retain their system of arbitrary arrest and detention. But if they persist in opposing efforts to help the starving Negroes, their Gestapo tactics should get enough public airing to provide for their undoing.

SUI's chapter of the Student Association for Racial Equality (SARE) is making plans for a concentrated drive of food, clothing and money for the starving sharecroppers. We advise the local chapter and any other groups who send aid to make sure the supplies are channeled into the right hands. Remember, the stricken Negroes live in Coahoma County, the nation's citadel of middle age law enforcement.

Finals are upon us and we are called upon to deliver in perfect prose with unerring form (and in two hours) the sum of our knowledge garnered in a series of stimulating and rewarding classes directed by interested and able intellects. Good grief! That doesn't say much but it would make a helluva essay answer. Or if you are really lucky and in the right classes, you can display your semester's accumulated knowledge by making clever little designs on an IBM sheet — your knowledge will remain untouched by human hands.

COMMENTS ON THE WORLD SCENE: The fat little man in the Kremlin says that his country does not want war because it would be so difficult to build a socialist world if it was atomized. Translation: He doesn't have enough shovels yet. It is somewhat interesting to note similarities in Russia's internal and external policies. They say to the enemy abroad "We will bury you!" They used to say to the malcontents at home, "We will Beria you!" But then they buried Beria.

Before the Nagle Lumber Co. voluntarily removed its trucks from the University Parking Lot (although the University, or at least Kampus Kop bossman Holcomb, said the trucks could stay), many students offered suggestions for solving the student parking problem. One driving student, Bob Hansen, suggested that instead of buying parking stickers, the student should save his money and buy a lumber truck. Then he could park anywhere.

Not satisfied with merely protecting age-old interests of their white folks, Mississippi state and county officials have become blackguards, too. An SUI student recently received a neatly printed card from the Great State. It read: "I have contributed one dollar in your name to the NAACP. You are now an honorary nigger. Printed in Occupied Mississippi." No doubt it was signed, "I'd rather be White than right."

Grumbles from several dorm girls reveal that the Cinderella hour of midnight is strictly enforced. One girl was campused for not coming in at all one night. A few nights later she was 25 seconds late and the penalty was extended. Twice more it happened — once for being 15 seconds late and once for five seconds. The University's mother instinct is working overtime. I can see how a girl might go wrong by not coming in at all (although it's none of the University's business), but I doubt that any girl could lose her chastity in five, 15 or 25 seconds. Even Eve took at least 15 minutes. SUI, however, is preoccupied with the garden of Eden.

The Quadrangle is going to be virtually remade, they say. In attempts to increase the "general liveability," the powers that be are prepared to remove 222 beds from dorm capacity and redistribute through the rest of the building. And as one roommate said to another, "Two's company, three's a Quad."

A couple of letter-writers have criticized my views on HUAC accusing me of trying to do just what the Committee is doing — silencing all speech except one particular brand. Coincidentally, both were from foreign countries. I'm surprised that they could get into this country to write letters-to-the-editor, etc. in view of the McCarran Act, which was conceived in the same spirit HUAC was.

Next Thursday is "Mercy Day." However, several of our instructors are holding classes anyway. Maybe they will show real mercy — and not say anything. The apparent inability of some of our instructors to communicate should insure passing grades for their students. Those who lasted the full semester have already passed the real test.

BEST MOVIE OF THE WEEK: "Manchurian Candidate" (same as last week due to a complete reversal in quality at the local theaters). WORST MOVIE: "Hitler" and "Confessions of an Opium Eater" (these two would be the worst even without the ineptness of the projectionist at the Varsity Theater.) Suggested Reading: "Letting Go" (author: unrecognized, but really he's not such a bad writer . . . sometimes).

Dance Concert Review —

Modern Dance Is Not An Alternative for P.E.

By LLOYD FRERER
Written for The Daily Iowan

Off to the Art Building on Wednesday last to see "Discovery II," designs in dance presented by the Contemporary Dance Club, I was surprised to find a good evening's entertainment in such austere theatrical conditions.

The show opened with a somewhat amateurish piece titled "Hoodown." The performers maintained a look of anguish on their faces throughout, and had a difficult time remaining together in their movement patterns. The latter problem was typical of all the chorus-like group dances with the exception of "Carouselle," "Movement in Three," and "Variations on a Folk Theme."

The first section of the show might have been titled "Studies in Technique," and was rather dull with the single exception of Diana Lyman who demonstrated both strength and grace, if not professional control.

The second section, which I shall call "The Storybook," pleased the audience and, particularly, the little children. "The Wolf at the Door," derived from one of the lesser works of Thurer, was cute though the dancing lacked originality after the opening. "Melodrama" was more of a pantomime than a dance.

"Peter and the Wolf," on the other hand, was excellent. The choreography showed both variety and imagination, the costumes were joyful, and each individual performance was exciting to view, particularly that of Mary Lynne McFae as the bird.

The third section, danced to folk music, began with an interesting group number which was followed by Marcia Thayer's quiet and nicely done "Black if the Color," as well as two other well done pieces.

The fourth and final section of the show was a hodgepodge opening with a chorus line dancing to "Walk on the Wild Side." Rather out of place, though, though I always enjoy watching a chorus line, no matter what they are doing.

The remaining four numbers were well done. "Carouselle" was as delightful as "Peter and the Wolf," and "Force of Compulsion," the serious piece, was interesting.

The final number, "The Pageant of P. T. Barnum," caught the flavor of the best that "Discovery II" offered.

The audience was treated again to the fine dancing of Larry Lubowich. I remember the excellence of his technique from last season, but he has added to the power of his movement in terms of both variety and dramatic intensity.

His single performance in "Honor, Honor" nearly carried me to my feet in kinesthetic empathy, and his love-duet with Marcia Thayer was beyond a doubt the high point of the whole evening. Mrs. Thayer has choreographed such duets before but they usually tend to be somewhat slow and overly sentimental. This duet, titled "Within Two Hearts," demonstrated clear-cut emotion, and was beautifully executed.

According to our University Catalogue, modern dancing is merely the female student's alternative for physical education classes in baseball and heavy-weight boxing. It is a great pleasure to see Mrs. Thayer destroying this fallacy by presenting such an excellent dance concert!

Letters to the Editor —

'Non-Thinking' Frosh Doesn't Fit the Mold

To The Editor:

And now for Graduate Student White's letter to the DI, which was published Thursday. I was one of the three people who actually wrote the letter, and when somebody calls me a non-thinker and a know-nothing, I believe it is time to reply.

I was born in Latvia, which was taken over by the Communists in 1944 by the breakage of a treaty. Nobody tells me that I know nothing about the land where I was born or of its downfall! When our letter mentioned the "Slaughter of the Baltic States," I DID KNOW WHAT I WAS TALKING ABOUT, because my parents almost gave up their lives trying to escape from the Communist tyranny of Russia.

To our graduate student: You tell my relatives who were shot by the Communists and my cousins who died in Siberia that I am a non-thinking freshman. Is SUI's academic atmosphere so highly stratified that it is only meant for graduate students? Can't freshmen breathe without graduate student permission?

Look, dear writer, none of us would be looking forward to secure jobs in the future were it not for the protective agencies of our Government. Our military forces protect us from the external threat of Communism, while HUAC protects us from the internal arm of Communism.

This I agree, the committee's name should be changed from House Un-American Activities Committee to the House Committee on Communist Activities. To believe that the Communists are not planning anything within the United States is a visionary dream, an idealistic and foolish approach.

HUAC does not investigate just anybody. When somebody is brought before the committee there are good reasons for the person being there.

Our congressmen are not idiots. Two years ago they voted for the retention of HUAC, 412 to 6. By the honorable graduate student's reasoning this would mean that 412 congressmen are non-thinkers and that we only have 6 good congressmen in the whole House of Representatives. HOW SAD! HOW RIDICULOUS! HOW NON-THINKING!

My mind is not closed, it is always open, searching for knowledge. It seems to me that the big G who so "eloquently" expressed himself Thursday shows many symptoms of the disease one-track-mindedness. LESSON OF THE DAY. Before you blast anybody else, look who wrote the letter and talk to them before calling them closed-minded non-thinkers. As Mao Tse-Tung would say, "Aah — so, those who speak loudly and carry chopstick are sadly deceived."

Letters to the Editor—

HUAC Satisfies Mutual Desires

To the Editor:

In Mr. Michael L. Kenney's letter advocating destruction of the House Un-American Activities Committee (HUAC) his one valid charge against HUAC is that "individual human rights under the Constitution are violated by HUAC." I submit that if this violation were eliminated, the hypothesis that HUAC "imperils democracy by limiting free expression" would no longer be supported by any evidence. For Mr. Kenney, who has "faith in the American political system," the individual could then either prove or disprove the charges against him, assisted by cross-examination of his accuser.

Mr. Kenney ignores the function of the legislature and its committees. The committee exists to investigate the need for legislation and when the need has been ascertained to write the legislation. At the risk of sounding too pedantic, I would point out that HUAC's purpose appears to be the prevention or control of subversion of our democratic government. Mr. Kenney ignores the manner in which HUAC has fulfilled this function in the form of legislation passed which, in my opinion, has served to satisfy our mutual desires for "preservation of democracy in the United States."

Does Mr. Kenney feel that the laws recommended by HUAC are unnecessary or harmful to "the preservation of democracy in the United States?" If so, why not campaign for repeal or amendment of these laws, instead of abolition of HUAC. Would he prefer the executive or judicial branches to attempt to prevent subversion of the Government by imposing their will through execution decree or judicial re-interpretation? Or would the alternative of no government control of subversion be more acceptable? Maybe no possibility of subversion exists?

I would not care to argue that the end (legislative control of subversion) has justified the means (violation of some rights of some individuals). I would like to point out that abolition of HUAC is a radical, extremist solution which has assumed the same rallying power for liberal extremists that flag waving and "Communists in high places" has for the right wing extremists. If the means to the end are unsatisfactory, let's seek to accomplish the end by other means. Let's campaign for cross examination of accusers before the HUAC.

The similarity between the methods of those who seek abolition of HUAC and the Communist method of destroying other forms of government is striking. The goal of "preserving democracy in the United States" so that the individual's freedom may be preserved is admirable. So too, the Communist goals of work, food, shelter, clothing, medical care, and the elimination of class privileges based on birth, position or race are admirable. However, the Communists actively oppose reform and modification of existing governments even when changed governments would accomplish their goals. Instead they advocate the destruction of all non-Communist governments. I am not implying that Mr. Kenney is either a Communist or a Communist dupe. But does Mr. Kenney oppose reform of the HUAC?

Disputes DI Stand On Sigma Nu Secrecy

To the Editor:

In reference to Mr. Hatfield's editorial concerning Sigma Nu social fraternity which appeared in The Daily Iowan. It seems that Mr. Hatfield has either no conception of the fraternity system or that he has been misinformed as to fraternity procedure. I am sure that local chapter voting records could have been obtained from the National Office of Sigma Nu if Mr. Hatfield was genuinely concerned with accurate information. Since SUI's Sigma Nu chapter received a waiver from the national policies of the national fraternity it would seem obvious that this waiver would void all previous agreement of the so called "loyalty pledge." Consequently the logical conclusion is that the local chapter would not be bound by such agreements. It seems that the entire idea of the fraternity system has been passed over, but it is a bond of brotherhood, which poses certain requirements of secrecy, and the business of the house as long as it does not violate any federal, state or school law or statute is no one's business but the members, and it seems from your editorial that you have no evidence to support any suspicion of what or what not the local Sigma Nu chapter is or is not doing.

After attending this school for almost a semester, I begin to wonder about your definition of the truth, in conjunction with the editorial policies of The Daily Iowan. In this editorial under discussion you begin with an article from The Iowa Defender, which from the definition of the truth would be a questionable beginning for anyone's theory. Based on the article in The Iowa Defender concerning a Sigma Nu chapter at Stanford you begin on a quest for the truth in the name of "we" and "a lot of other people." I will concede that it is your right to extend the editorial "we," to suit your own means. The other part of your statement where you state "and a lot of other people," is rather ambiguous to say the least. Does "and a lot of other people," refer to the entire student body, factions of the student body, or the faculty? Whom have you consulted to make the statement, "and a lot of other people?"

It would seem from the attitude of President Avery that the waiver of a national racial policy was prima facie evidence of the chapter's intentions and in all fairness a more definite "and a lot of other people," might have secured a more cooperative attitude from President Avery.

Using the news media for the furtherance of truth is one of the highest aims of the journalistic profession. In light of the high aims to which I hope you aspire, I would suggest that you equip yourself with the basic facts of a situation before you raise the banner of racial inequality or any other "worthy" cause to which you wish to expound upon.

WIGS NEED CARE

ZURICH, Switzerland — With wigs a big new fashion trend, you never know who is wearing one. Signor Carlo of Coiffeur Ryf demonstrated to the American Women's Club of Zurich. An overflow crowd roared with laughter as member after member of the audience switched from dark brown tresses to platinum shades at the meeting.

On the more serious side, Signor Carlo assured questioners that a wig does not shrink if its owner is caught in a heavy rainstorm — just dry it out on a wig stand, then put it up on curlers, or have it set at a beauty parlor.

AWS: Something For Every Coed

By DEBBIE ZIFFREN
Staff Writer

Coeds, did you know that when you registered last fall, you automatically became a member of the largest extra-curricular organization on the SUI campus?

Upon registration every SUI coed becomes a member of the Associated Women Students (AWS).

During the year AWS officers, chairmen and their committees plan a variety of events for a variety of tastes. The purpose of planning and participating in the activities is to serve the University and community while simultaneously developing the leadership of the women of the future.

Among the events that are sponsored by AWS during a school year are the Spinster's Spree, Mother's Day Weekend, U-Sing and Profile Previews. Continuous events during the year are the Foreign Student dinners and the Red Cross parties at the Veteran's Hospital. In conjunction with Student Senate, AWS coordinates the activities for Orientation Week for the fall and spring semesters. This year AWS will be a co-sponsor with the International Center of the Foreign Student Festival at the Union, March 9 and 10.

To familiarize the freshmen girls with the workings of AWS, the organization has a Freshman Council. One girl from each housing unit comprises the Council. The girls help with the various events, and also have their own projects during the year.

The AWS Executive Council meets weekly before the General Council. Comprising the five members of the Executive Council are Jan Armstrong, A4, Joliet, Ill., president; Lynette Murdy, A4, Newton, vice-president; Barbara Derr, A3, Cedar Rapids, secretary; Cammy Repass, A3, Waterloo, treasurer and Linda Beth Creed, N2, Newton, Freshmen Council sophomore adviser.

General Council meets every Wednesday afternoon. Committee chairmen and housing unit representatives as well as the executive officers are members of the Council.

Miss Helen Focht, Counselor to Women, is the general adviser to AWS. Mrs. Jean Hornbuckle, asstant Counselor to Women, also advises the organization.

It is not often recognized that AWS is linked to a national group, the Intercollegiate Associated Women Students (IAWS). More than 200 colleges and universities in the United States have all-women's organizations which belong to IAWS.

IAWS sponsors national and regional conventions, encourages state meets, and sends out a publication, The IAWS Quarterly.

Even though each group may have a different name on the campuses represented, each one's goals are similar. IAWS gives a sense of unity to national issues facing college women.

The bi-yearly national convention will take place this year on the University of Oklahoma campus in Norman, Okla., March 24-28.

Throughout the school year, applications are available in the women's housing units and at the Office of Student Affairs for positions on AWS committees. Through working with AWS, the organization's purpose of developing the college women for the future nears fulfillment.

WOMEN WERE RIGHT
MINNEAPOLIS — American women became three years younger Jan. 1, as far as the Prudential Insurance company is concerned.

Prudential now deducts three years from their ages in computing their premium rates because, as the senior vice president Alexander Query puts it, "they live longer than men."

Query heads company operations in the seven-state North Central Home Office area.

"It turns out that women have been right all along in lowering their ages," he adds.

Bob Given Named President

Bob Given, B4, Kansas City, Mo., was selected president of the SUI chapter of Sigma Chi fraternity at their elections held earlier this week. He will be assisted in his duties by the newly elected vice-president, Tom Stone, A2, Keokuk.

Other new officers include Russ Prince, 3, Westchester, Ill., recording secretary; G. Brent Smalley, B4, Bakersfield, Calif., treasurer; Bill Stevenson, A2, Iowa City, historian; Ron Towell, A2, Iowa City, corresponding secretary.

Karen Maher, A3, West Branch, standards chairman; Dargy Hamilton, A3, Cedar Falls, scholarship chairman; Heather Brisbin, A3, Mount Vernon, activities chairman; Carol Ingraham, A3, Clinton, house manager and Panhel-lenic.

Darlene Brady, A2, Maquoketa and Jan Burns, A3, Aledo, Ill., co-rush chairmen; Lorna Bennett, A2, Glendale, Calif., judiciary chairman; Linda Parker, D, Moline, Ill., rituals chairman; Kathy Peil, A2, Davenport, song leader; Maryann Ruud, A2, Rock Island, Ill., efficiency chairman.

Matmen Face 2-Headed Monster in Okla.

By GEORGE KAMPLING
Staff Writer

Several years ago a young lad called St. George went out to battle a fierce, monstrous dragon, and according to all historical reports came out the winner.

Tonight and Saturday night the Iowa wrestling team will face the two biggest wrestling monsters in the country when it squares off against the Oklahoma Sooners and the Oklahoma State Cowboys respectively, the two top ranked teams in the nation.

IF THE ODDS-MAKERS in St. George's day were to get together with those of today, St. George probably would still have a much better chance coming out the winner than "McCuskey's Maulers" would have in either one of the dual meets being held in the nation's "Wrestling Capitol."

The Sooners were ranked No. 1 in the nation before last week's 24-6 loss to the Cowboys. The ranking was mainly on the fact the Sooners had three NCAA champions returning while Oklahoma State lost three champions and third place finisher from their 1962 championship team.

One of Oklahoma's champions was probably lost for the season, however, when Mickey Martin broke a collar bone wrestling Kansas State's John Thompson in the finals of a quadrangular meet.

Wayne Baughman and Billy Carter are the other NCAA champions on the Sooner squad. Carter won the 137-pound title last year, and has a 3-0 mark so far this season.

Here's Starting Lineups

IOWA	OKLAHOMA ST.	OKLAHOMA
123 Fuller (2-0) or Bowman (2-0)	McCracken (1-0) or Umezawa (1-0)	Curtis (1-2)
130 Parker (4-0)	Simons (1-0)	Peck (1-2)
137 Huff (4-0)	Reding (0-1)	Carter (3-0)
147 Greenlee (1-2-1)	Brewer (1-0)	Belz (2-1)
157 Kohl (0-4)	Kinyon (1-0)	Perillo (2-1)
167 Combs (4-0)	Zweiacher (1-0)	Davis (0-0)
177 Roberts (0-0-3)	McDaniel (1-0)	Edgar (1-2)
Hwt Schilling (2-1) or Johnson (1-0)	James (1-0)	Baughman (3-0) or Skarzenski (0-1)

His match tonight against Iowa's other against the Pokes' 191-pounder, Everett Knott last week. Baughman finished the 1962 season with an 18-3 mark. Carter had a 13-1-1 this season, with two wins coming

OTHER TOP grapplers on the Sooners squad are Skip Perillo, 11-5-3 a year ago, and Bud Belz, 11-4.

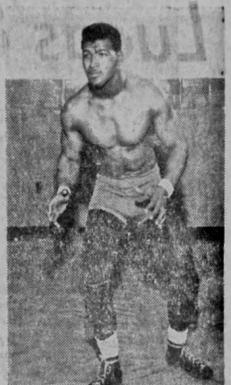

To show Oklahomans can pick up wrestlers anywhere is 177-pounder Tommy Edgar, 1-2 this year and 2-9 in 1962. Edgar was pressed into service two years ago when the Sooners were caught without a 177-pounder. He was student manager at the time, and was also the only Sooner who could make that weight. He never wrestled in high school, instead favoring basketball.

Iowa's best chance for a win will be against the Sooners, because they have been known to lose one on occasion. In 38 years Oklahoma's dual meet mark stands at 178 wins, 95 losses and 12 draws. The Hawks have never beaten

Oklahoma, losing to them eight times, 17-10 a year ago.

The Cowboys of Oklahoma State have lost only 15 dual meets in a 42-year history, winning 272, with just 12 draws. In the last six years under coach Myron Roderick the Pokes have a 56-3-4 mark, and have won the National Collegiate title four times.

In the 32-year history of the NCAA championship meet, Oklahoma State has won it 23 times, the Sooners five. The only teams to break the two school's stranglehold on the national title were Indiana in 1932; Cornell of Iowa in 1947; Iowa Teachers coached by Mc-

Hawkeye wrestler Steve Combs has been named Outstanding Wrestler of the Week by the Big Ten for his performance in a quadrangular meet at Madison, Wis., last week-end.

The 167-pound senior from Moline, Ill., won all three of his matches as he decided Ohio State's Norman Nominee, 11-0, Wisconsin's Paul Mergen, 4-3, and Minnesota's Herb Millington, 9-0. Last year, while wrestling at 157-pounds, Combs won seven of eight dual meet matches before losing to Purdue's Bob Marshall in the Big Ten finals.

Karras Quiet, Pale After Meeting

Has No Comment About Rozelle Meeting, Betting Short Peace Today for NCAA, AAU

From DI Leased Wires

Alex Karras, former All-American at SUI and star tackle for the Detroit Lions, arrived home in Detroit Thursday night looking pale and acting glum and silent after being questioned by National League Football Commissioner Pete Rozelle about NFL game betting.

The 250-pound Karras flew home with teammate Wayne Walker after they conferred with Rozelle at a secret rendezvous near New York. Karras has admitted betting on NFL games in which he has participated.

Walker had only a 10-minute talk with the commissioner, in the latest development of the pro football what he was doing when he consented to appear on that television show.

Walker obviously was referring to his earlier admission that he had met persons of somewhat shady character. But he insisted he had never discussed football with them nor had he ever made a bet on a game.

The players arrived in New York Thursday morning and immediately were whisked off to the secret meeting place with Rozelle and Austin Gussell, NFL treasurer and former FBI man. The meeting place turned out to be a mid-town hotel.

Karras was the first to be called. The quiz lasted from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. Then came Walker's turn. His questioning lasted just 10 minutes.

After a break for lunch, Karras was summoned for another session. "I spent part of the time there talking for Alex," said Walker. "I told them he just didn't know

NEW YORK (AP)—A moratorium on boycotts, suspensions or other disciplinary measures against athletes probably will be declared today when representatives of the warring AAU and NCAA begin arbitration talks with Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"The athletes themselves should not be penalized during this period that we are trying to clean up this MacARTHUR mess," one high-placed spokesman said Thursday. "I imagine one of the first moves of the general will be to get the boys back on the tracks."

At the direction of a concerned President Kennedy, MacArthur will meet with hand-picked representatives of the rival factions in an effort to end the long and bitter conflict for control of amateur sports which is jeopardizing the U.S. performance in the Olympic Games.

"We don't anticipate a quick settlement," said Col. Don Hull, executive director of the AAU. "These talks could drag on for days."

If so, it seems certain that the nation's athletes, collegiate and unattached, will be free to operate without fear of retaliation either from the Amateur Athletic Union or its new rival, the U.S. Track and Field Federation, backed by the NCAA.

"As soon as the arbitration talks begin, we will lift our boycott of AAU's action on meets," said George Shiebler, assistant director of the East College Athletic Conference.

It was the ECAC which recently imposed a blacklist, asking its 90-odd member colleges to shun the indoor meets conducted under the auspices of the AAU.

"We said at the time that as soon as arbitration of the dispute began we would lift the ban," Shiebler said. "We will send out notices immediately to that effect."

No Comment on Meet By SUI's Dr. Ray

SUI Dean Dr. Robert F. Ray, president of the NCAA, said Thursday he preferred not to discuss the issues involved as the AAU and U.S. Track Federation start arbitration talks in New York today.

"I would not want to jeopardize the outcome of the meeting by discussing our side of the question at this time," Dr. Ray said.

"We are hopeful that the efforts of Gen. MacArthur and the officials of the two organizations will reach an agreement satisfactory to both sides," Dr. Ray is dean of special services at SUI.

INFERIORITY CAN BE FUN

The second gravest problem confronting college students today is inferiority feelings. (The first gravest problem is of course, the recent outbreak of moult among sorority house canaries.) Let us today look into the causes of inferiority feelings and their possible cures.

Psychologists divide inferiority feelings into three principal categories:
1. Physical inferiority.
2. Mental inferiority.
3. Financial inferiority.

(A few say there is also a fourth category: ichthyological inferiority—a feeling that other people have prettier fish—but I believe this is common only along the coasts and in the Great Lakes area.)

Let us start with the feeling of physical inferiority, perhaps the easiest to understand. Naturally we are inclined to feel inferior to the brawny football captain or the beautiful homecoming queen. But we should not. Look at all the people, neither brawny nor beautiful, who have made their marks in the world. Look at Napoleon. Look at Socrates. Look at Caesar. Look at Lassie.

We are inclined to feel inferior

What I mean is that you can't always tell what's inside a package by looking at the outside. (Sometimes, of course, you can. Take Marlboro Cigarettes, for example. Just one glance at that jolly red-and-white package—so bright and pert—so neat but not gaudy—so perfectly in place whether you are at a formal dinner or a beach picnic—so invariably correct for any time, climate, or condition—one look, I say, at this paragon of packs and you know it has to contain cigarettes of absolute perfection. And you are right! That pure white Marlboro filter, that fine, flavorful blend of Marlboro tobaccos, will give you a smoke to make the welkin ring, whatever that is. So those of you who have just been sitting and admiring your Marlboro packs since the beginning of the semester, why don't you open a pack and light one? Light a cigarette, I mean—not the package. Then you can settle back and smoke your Marlboro and, at the same time, continue to gaze rapturously at the pack. Thus you will be twice as happy as you are if that is possible.)

But I digress. Let us turn now to the second category—mental inferiority. A lot of people think they are dumber than other people. This is not so. It must be remembered that there are different kinds of intelligence. Take, for instance, the classic case of the Sigafos brothers, Claude and Sturbridge, students at Wake Forest. It was always assumed that Claude was the more intelligent just because he knew more than Sturbridge about the arts, the sciences, the social sciences, the humanities, and like that. Sturbridge, on the other hand, was ten times smarter than Claude when it came to tying granny knots. But no matter; everybody looked down on "Stupid Sturbridge," as they called him and looked up at "Clever Claude," as they called him. But who do you think turned out to be the smart one when their granny almost got loose and ran away? You guessed it—good old Stupid Sturbridge.

We arrive now at the final category, financial inferiority. One way to deal with this condition is to increase your income. You can, for example, become a fence. Or you can pose for a life class, if your college is well heated.

But a better way to handle financial inferiority is to accept it philosophically. Look on the bright side of poverty. True, others may have more money than you have, but look at all the things you have that they don't—debts, for instance, and hunger cramps.

And what about friendship? You don't need money to have friends, and let me tell you something, good people: the older you get the more you will realize that nothing is so precious as friendship, and the richest man in the world is the one with the most money.

HAS POLE, NO VAULTER

'May Take DI Ad To Get One!' Says Cretz
Coach Francis Cretz, whose Iowa indoor track squad is shaping up to be a title contender, has one big problem jeopardizing his objectives. He doesn't have a pole vaulter. "I may have to take an advertisement in The Daily Iowan to find a pole vaulter," Cretz moaned Thursday.

"We certainly can't afford to give up 8 to 9 points every track meet."

Cretz, who has the Big Ten record-holding mile relay team and a number of fine distance men, including the world's eighth-ranked half-miler Bill Frazier, lost Tom Hertzberger through graduation and Jim Eddins by ineligibility this season. Eddins is now working with the team, but ineligible for competition for one year. Thus, Cretz must secure a pole vaulter by Feb. 9 when the Hawkeyes open the conference season against Big Ten champion Wisconsin.

Lucas & Co. Gone, But Ohio To Pose Problems Saturday

By HARRIETT HINDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Last year when Ohio State's Buckeyes invaded Iowa City, the Hawks were faced with stopping Jerry Lucas and John Havlicek which was bad enough. Saturday, when Iowa meets the Buckeyes here in a regionally televised game at 3:30 p.m., the Hawks will face the same problem. Only the names have been changed.

Iowa Freshman Coach Jim Deyo, who scouted Ohio State in its 92-78 loss of Illinois, says the Hawkeyes must stop the scoring of Gary Bradds and Dick Reasbeck if they are to beat the Bucks, ranked sixth in the nation by the Associated Press with an 11-2 record.

"The whole offense is built around Bradds," Deyo observes. They do have some patterns, but they are keyed on Bradds, too. They start with a pattern we understand, but then they give it to Bradds and he takes it the rest of the way one-on-one."

This is possibly the reason he holds a 31-point conference scoring average for three games.

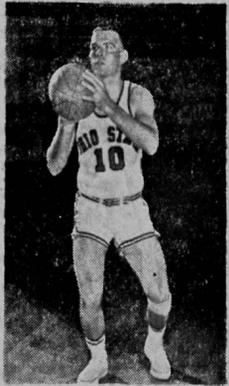

The 6-8 junior had the highest shooting average of any member on the Buckeye team last year, 69.4 per cent. He played in 26 games, but his duty was limited because of Lucas.

Deyo seems impressed with Bradds' moves. "He is probably the quickest 6-8 man you will ever see. He's a very good shot and shoots from anywhere around the key."

Reasbeck, a 6-0 senior, was a starter on last year's Big Ten championship team when he averaged eight points per game. A good outside shot, the experienced guard is also real tough on the boards for his size.

Bradds and Reasbeck were responsible for 55 of the Buckeyes' field goal attempts in the Illinois game, an indication of how important they are to the team's offense.

Two men change off at the other guard spot, sophomore Dick Ricketts and junior Dick Taylor. Ricketts led the Buckeye freshman team last year, averaging 14.5 points per game, and Taylor, while not quite as good a scorer, is a good defensive player and rebounder.

The forward positions are handled by senior James Doughty, 6-4, and veteran starter Doug McDonald, 6-5. "Both Doughty and McDonald are extremely tough on the boards and good drivers," Deyo asserts.

The Buckeyes are a fast-breaking team, their fast break being led by the "do-everything" man, Bradds. They ran the fast break against Illinois in the first half, and held a 39-36 lead at intermission, but the Illini slowed the pace in the second half, according to the Iowa scout.

"Defense is almost always a feature of Ohio State teams and this one is no exception," says Deyo of the man-to-man defense the Hawkeyes will meet.

The Buckeye defense held Michigan's Bill Buntin to 15 points, ten below his average, as Ohio State slipped by the Wolverines, 68-66. In their other Big Ten engagement, the Buckeyes defeated Minnesota, 73-76.

Hawkeyes Low In Goal, Free Throw Stats

Iowa's Hawkeyes are eighth in the Big Ten standings, followed by Northwestern and Purdue, but it's hard to understand how they got there. The Hawks are last in both the field goal and free throw shooting departments.

Statistics released this week show that Iowa has made 100 field goals of 274 attempts for .365 average. Hawkeye cagers have been successful on 66 of 114 attempts from the charity line for .579.

Second place Indiana leads in the field goal department having hit on half of its shots from the field. Top-ranked Illinois paces the conference in free throws with 77 of 92 attempts.

Iowa's Dave Roach, who held ninth place in the scoring race last week, fell to eleventh with his 16.8 average.

Indiana's hot-shooting guard Jimmy Rayl is averaging 34.5 points per game followed by Ohio State's Gary Bradds averaging 31 and Michigan's outstanding sophomore Bill Buntin, who boasts a 25.8 average.

The three national runnersup leading the Pokes are Mark McCracken, 115-pound titlist wrestling at 123; Phil Kinyon, 157 and Joe James, 191-pound titlist a year ago, wrestling at heavyweight. McCracken had a 24-2 record last year; Kinyon 26-2-3 and James, recently named to the U.S. Pan-American squad at 17-2.

Going against Iowa's unbeaten Norm Parker will be Wayne Simons. Simons last year finished second in the Big Eight meet, and had an 8-4 dual meet record for the season. He is a junior this year.

THE COWBOYS ARE riding on a 36-meet winning streak, a continuous string starting with their win over the Hawkeyes in the last dual meet of the 1959 season. Oklahoma State once had a string of 68 from 1922 until 1932.

The unbeaten Hawkeyes, winners of four straight Big Ten dual meets, three of them last week at Madison, will probably wrestle before crowds of three to four thousand people, "something they all like to do," commented McCuskey.

"Down there when Oklahoma-Oklahoma State meet, they always come up with a full house crowd of around 6,500," he said.

"OKLAHOMA IS real good, but Oklahoma State is that much better," said McCuskey. "The morale of our team is real high, and the matches should all be good ones," commented the Iowa mentor.

This is the last action for Iowa until after the semester break when they will face Northwestern here on Feb. 8, the first home meet of the year.

East Trips West in Pro Cage Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Opinions differed Thursday as the talent who performed in the annual East-West All-Star game scattered to resume play in the National Bas-kethball Association campaign. The East, led by defensive star Bill Russell and scoring ace Oscar Robertson, defeated the favored West 115-108 Wednesday night in the Sports Arena before 14,838 fans.

The East scored first and never was collared. Veteran Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks starred for the West and was high point man of the game with 25.

Robertson scored 21 and Russell 19 and the latter was voted the outstanding player award.

Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics, who played his 13th and possibly his last All-Star game, commented:

"We won because we made a minimum of mistakes. As a whole, it was one of the best All-Star performances I've seen by any team."

The West's coach, Fred Schaus of the Los Angeles Lakers, had a contrasting view. "All-around, it was probably the most poorly played All-Star game of all time."

The East's pilot, Red Auerbach of the Celtics, was a satisfied man. He said he suspected his players would go all-out because they had been made the underdogs.

WAGNER SIGNS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Slugging outfielder Leon Wagner came to agreeable but undisclosed terms Thursday and signed to play with the Los Angeles Angels of the American League.

The club made a ceremony out of the occasion for the 28-year-old Wagner, who led the team in home runs with 37, and runs batted in, 107, last year.

Reds Accuse India Budget—

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China Thursday indignantly accused India of failing to show the proper appreciation for the return of captured Indian war materials, including U.S.-made rocket launchers.

The rocket launchers presumably were part of the U.S. emergency arms shipments to India during the height of the Sino-Indian border war. There has been no official announcement from New Delhi thus far that any of the American weapons have been used.

In the list of equipment the Chinese Reds said was returned to the Indians along the Tibetan border between Dec. 6 and 19 were 37 American-made rocket launchers, 522 Canadian-made submachine-guns, more than 2,000 British rifles and 117 trucks.

come would be only temporary — that red ink would turn to black once his program of $13.5 billion in tax cuts, offset by $3.5 billion in tax changes, began to take hold and "release the brake on the economy."

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon figured that on this basis a surplus is two or three years away.

The secretary told newsmen it is unreasonable to expect Congress to enact a tax law before next July 1. Thus the first tax relief, a drop in personal income tax rates, would come sometime this summer at the earliest.

The budget would soar to all sorts of records or near records. In the first place it calls for nearly $4.5 billion more than the government is spending in this fiscal year, and it tops by almost $60 billion the previous high of $66.3 billion in the war year of 1945.

The $55.4 for defense, up $2.7 billion from this year, is a record for peacetime. The $4.2 billion for space projects is a record nearly twice as big as last year's figure, although the space agency director called it an austerity budget.

And the tax cuts, should they ever come through, would be the biggest in all history, both in the total reduction of $13.5 billion and the net of $10 billion.

Kennedy sent the budget to Capitol Hill by messenger along with a message hitting the high spots.

The Senate was squabbling over filibuster rules and didn't bother to listen to a reading of the message.

The House took care of getting the message into the official record. A clerk whizzed through it in 15 minutes. Fewer than a third of the 435 members were in their seats when he started. By the time he was through the ranks had thinned to about 85 — less than one member for every billion dollars.

Nobody got up on the House floor with a kind word for the budget. And Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), chairman of the Appropriations Committee through which all the funds flow, led an assault.

Cannon jumped on the size of the projected deficit and said at least half the items Kennedy wants are nonessential.

"Spending money we do not have for things we could get along without — that is what invariably unbalances our budgets," Cannon said.

Off the Senate and House floors, some of the language was even stronger.

Schwengel Reintroduces Education Bill

A plan to help the parents of the nation's college students meet the costs of higher education through an income tax credit has been reintroduced by Congressman Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa) as his first item of legislative business of the new session of Congress.

Schwengel's new bill combines two of the three phased plan in one bill: (1) a $50 tax credit each year for each child from birth to age 18 or entrance into college whichever is sooner, providing an investment certificate in this amount is purchased at a bank, savings and loan institution or insurance company; and (2) a provision for a $100 tax credit for the student or person underwriting the major burden of student's college expenses while the student is actually in school.

The third phase of the bill, providing for use of the funds accruing under the investment certificate procedure, will be introduced at a later date.

Schwengel estimates that full use of the plan by a family would provide approximately $1800 to help defray college expenses by the time each student had completed his fourth year of college.

Schwengel contends that since the government recognizes the tax relief principle for the business community, it is equally as important that the same type of recognition be given to those who pay for college educations.

First Case For Bobby

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert E. Kennedy, arguing a court case for the first time, started at the top Thursday when he urged the Supreme Court to strike down Georgia's county unit voting system as an "invidious practice."

There were more Kennedys on hand to watch the proceedings than there were judges on the bench. The family gathering included the First Lady.

The 37-year-old brother of the President spent about a half-hour presenting the Government views in opposition to the Georgia voting law. His appearance climaxed arguments by both sides in the case which the high court then took under advisement for a decision later.

The Attorney General told the court that the "invidious" Georgia unit system "strikes at the very heart of the United States."

He said that if the right of every citizen to vote in a fair election is not protected, "the whole fabric of the American way of life is irreparably damaged."

Under the Georgia Democratic primary system, counties are assigned varying unit votes. City voters challenged this on grounds that rural areas are given undue weight in electing candidates.

CARACAS, Venezuela — Defiant Communist-led students threatened new anti-Government action after police searched the Central University but failed to find $660,000 in French art works stolen Wednesday from the National Art Museum. Space Eating Problems Told By Finklestein

What food do astronauts require in outer space and what research is being done in this area?

"The lady who tells the astronauts what to eat," Miss Beatrice Finklestein, discussed those questions for home economic major. Thursday afternoon, in Macbride auditorium.

Now helping to develop food for use in future space vehicles, Miss Finklestein said that food for space feeding must be easily digestible, palatable, contain sufficient calories, and be easy to eat in space. Lack of refrigeration, cooking, and water add to the problems of food in space.

Collapsible feeding tubes have been developed to facilitate consumption in space. They contain dehydrated concentrated food; which the astronaut eats by inserting tubes through the face piece of the helmet.

Bite sized pieces of food have been covered with a special, edible coating for easy eating in space. The casing is provided to keep food confined so that no crumbs which might harm the machine or astronaut will be released in the space vehicle. It also maintains moisture content and helps to prevent spoilage in 70 to 80 degree temperatures.

Food must be used to counteract stresses rather than to add to them, Miss Finklestein said. Diets for the astronauts are approximately 15 per cent protein, 32 per cent fat, and 53 per cent carbohydrates.

The diets are high in carbohydrates in order to maintain good sugar level in the blood. Also, carbohydrates are especially enjoyed by pilots in flight.

Much is being done in the field of food for outer space, Miss Finklestein said, but much more remains to be done in the space effort. Conditions of diet and health of a person or animal are important factors in the affects of radiation, she concluded.

Joint Discrimination Appeal Made by Religious Leaders

CHICAGO (UPI) — Protestant, Catholic and Jewish leaders in an unprecedented joint appeal to the conscience of the American people declared Thursday that racial discrimination and segregation are morally indefensible and "an insult to God."

"Racism is our most serious domestic evil," the nation's religious leaders said. "We must eradicate it with all diligence and speed."

The "appeal to conscience" was issued at the closing session of a four-day national conference on religion and race. The conference was sponsored by the National Council of Churches, the National Catholic Welfare Conference and the Synagogue Council of America.

It marked the first time in U.S. history that all major faiths had spoken with one voice in denouncing segregation as a moral evil that should be totally eliminated from American life.

The conference of 700 churchmen handed churches and synagogues an "action program" to tear down racial barriers in religion, housing, politics, employment and business.

It called for prompt elimination of segregation and discrimination in all religious institutions, including schools and churches, and proposed that religious bodies work diligently to help Negro families obtain homes in white neighborhoods.

The conferees also recommended that religious groups insist on pledges of no job discrimination from builders and other firms, help conduct voter registration drives among southern Negroes and promote opportunities for whites and Negroes to meet "on equal status" and get to know each other as human beings.

The "appeal to conscience" was accompanied by a frank concession that churches and synagogues "have been slow" to enter the struggle for racial justice.

"Even worse," the statement said, "religious institutions have participated in perpetuating segregation" in their own houses of worship, schools, hospitals, welfare institutions and fraternal organizations.

"We repent our failures and ask the forgiveness of God," said the statement. "We ask also the forgiveness of our brothers, whose rights we have ignored and whose dignity we have offended."

Racial discrimination is not a sectional problem, the religious leaders said.

"Patterns of segregation remain entrenched everywhere — north and south, east and west."

Declaring that God is "the giver of human dignity and human rights" and churches and synagogues must "lead not follow" in the transition to an integrated society, they said:

"We call upon all the American people to work, to pray and to act courageously in the cause of human equality and dignity while there is still time, to eliminate racism permanently and decisively."

"We will be in touch with both printers and publishers in an attempt to have another meeting as quickly as possible," he said.

NY Printers, Owners Meet; No Progress

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York newspaper strike went into its 42nd day Thursday with no sign of a break in the deadlock between publishers and printers.

Talks between the two principal parties broke off Wednesday and no new negotiating sessions were scheduled.

The Publishers Association of New York City met Thursday at 1:15 p.m. with photo-engravers and recessed the session at 2:30. No progress was reported.

Stephen I. Schlossberg, chief Federal mediator in the dispute, said he hoped to bring the printers and publishers back to the negotiating table soon.

"We will be in touch with both printers and publishers in an attempt to have another meeting as quickly as possible," he said.

Gen. Norstad Attacks U.S. Nuclear Stand

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gen. Lauris Norstad, former Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, said Thursday it was "wholly reasonable" for all of the 15 member-nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) to have a voice in making decisions on the use of nuclear weapons.

Norstad's position is in opposition to the present U.S. policy, which is that all nuclear weapons now available to NATO are American and final authority on their use rests with the President. Norstad recently was succeeded by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Norstad was honored at a dinner marking Printing Week. He received the 1963 Franklin award for distinguished service from the Printing Industries of metropolitan New York.

A citation which accompanied the award said Norstad had strengthened the NATO alliance and that "his brilliant leadership has blocked Soviet expansion in Europe, preventing the loss of even one square foot of free territory during his command."

In an acceptance address to some 1,400 representatives of the Advertising, Printing and Publishing industries, Norstad said that the use of nuclear power is applied to military use "may well be the heart of the problem of NATO's survival."

"The questions," he said, "are where authority should be placed and how that authority should be exercised."

Kennedy Gets Fanfani Vote Of Confidence

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy won Italy's cautious support Thursday for a NATO nuclear force, and its pledge to back Britain's effort to join the Common Market.

Kennedy and Amintore Fanfani, Italy's Prime Minister, ended two days of talks, Thursday.

The talks began shortly after French President Charles de Gaulle turned down Kennedy's invitation to join the Nassau pact—an agreement between Kennedy and Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to provide NATO with a multinational nuclear force.

De Gaulle made it clear at the same time that he opposes Britain's early entry into the European Common Market.

The Kennedy-Fanfani meeting provided the President with an important ally in his NATO family differences with the French leader, some diplomatic observers noted.

They feel also that by coming out clearly on Kennedy's side, Fanfani made a decisive step toward revitalizing his country's role in the Atlantic community and in isolating De Gaulle.

Kennedy and his guest, the communique said, agreed that increased invigoration of Europe — which means getting Britain and perhaps other Western nations into the Common Market — would bring "greater solidity and prosperity" to Europe.

X15 Shoots to 51 Miles In Experimental Flight

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — X15 pilot Joseph Walker shot 51 miles high Thursday, which was a record for flights with the rocket plane's big bottom fin removed. He later predicted he would be able to go even higher, perhaps to 300,000 feet.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration research plane has started flying without the bottom fin, called the ventral, in an effort to find a way to top its record of 314,750 feet.

The record flight was made with the ventral fin in place, but Air Force Maj. Robert White reported this gave the plane a tendency to roll when it re-entered the atmosphere.

Engineers said Walker hit a speed of 3,716 miles per hour on the way to an altitude of 270,000 feet.
