An Iowa City man was killed early Monday evening when the car he was driving collided with the side of a semi-trailer truck at the intersection of Highway 6 by-pass and Linn St.

Dead on arrival at University Hospital was Ernest Leroy Hartsock, 67, of 1603 Jackson Ave.

Hartsock was driving south on Linn and was attempting to cross the highway when his car struck the truck which was loaded with corn.

After striking the middle of the trailer, the car bounced off the rear wheels and hit the end of the truck. Hartsock was thrown from the car as it spun around. The car came to rest on the west-bound lane of the highway.

The driver of the truck, James Leo Rhinehart, 32, Brooklyn, said he did not see the Hartsock car until it was too late.

Police said no charges would be filed.

SUI Senate Will Discuss Haefner Plan

Discussion of the controversial Haefner Report will be aired at the Student Senate meeting tonight at 7:30 in the House Chamber of the Old Capitol. Introducing a resolution opposing portions of the report, which deals with the relationship between the university and the student newspaper, will be Jim Bennett, A3, Newton and Roger Wiley, A3, Sioux City.

The 7-man President's Committee on the Place and Relationships of a Campus Newspaper in a Complex University was appointed in July, 1961 by President Virgil M. Hancher. Chairman of the committee was John H. Haefner, head of social studies at University High.

Among other things, the committee recommended a reorganization of the governing body of The Daily Iowan and establishment of a policy statement within which The Daily Iowan would operate.

Also on the agenda will be the resumption of a proposed constitutional amendment affecting Senate representation submitted by John Niemeyer, L2, Elkader. The resolution, which was tabled at the last meeting, would establish the entire student body as an additional electorate represented by seven students chosen at large.

In other business, a resolution establishing a committee to collect food, money and clothing for Negro residents of the Clarksdale, Mississippi, area will be submitted by Seymour Gray, A2, Iowa City. The proposal is an outgrowth of the recent refusal by Mississippi authorities to distribute Federal surplus food to Negro sharecroppers in the Mississippi Delta.

Details of the Faculty Evaluation Poll to be conducted at the Field House during second semester registration will be outlined by Quentin Miller, G, Des Moines. The poll will request all students to evaluate their fall semester instructors on the basis of several criteria.

Findings and recommendations resulting from a recent study of general judicial procedures will be presented by Niemeyer.

Student Senate meetings are open to the public.

Bobby Praises Administration's Role in Ole Miss

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Monday the Administration's handling of the integration riots at the University of Mississippi helped prevent violence elsewhere "because it emphasized that the Government intends to enforce the law."

He spoke in an interview shortly before Chief Justice Earl Warren cleared the final path for the admission of a Negro, Harvey B. Gantt, into South Carolina's all-white Clemson College.

In the interview, the Attorney General praised the way South Carolina is handling the situation. The state's responsible leaders, he said, had rejected the "fight-in-the-courts-and-then-in-the-streets" approach and had opened the way for Clemson's peaceful integration.

Schneider Case Opening Pleas Begin Today

Opening statements in the robbery trial of Robert J. Schneider, 18, will be heard at 9:30 this morning in the court room of the Johnson County Court House.

Jury selection was completed Monday afternoon with 14 jurors — 10 men and 4 women — being chosen in the opening day of the trial. Two of the jurors will serve as alternates.

Schneider is accused of the Oct. 6 robbery of Shannon's Supper Club at North Liberty. A masked gunman stole $700 in the robbery.

Schneider, who is also under indictment for the Nov. 10 slaying of Edward J. Kriz, appeared in the court room in a brown suit, white shirt and tie.

Seven of the jurors were selected during the morning session. The court reconvened at 2 p.m. and the selection was completed by late afternoon. Judge Clair E. Hamilton had originally ordered 45 prospective jurors called.

Questioning the jurors were Schneider's attorneys A. C. Cahill and Jerry Lovelace, and County Attorney Ralph Neuzil and his assistant Edward O'Connor.

Cahill asked the prospective jurors if they would be unduly impressed by the testimony of law officers, pointing out they were subject to "frailties of memory."

He also asked them if they were acquainted with Frank Albaugh, owner of Shannon's. He reminded them that the defendant was presumed innocent until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt by the state.

Cahill asked if the prospective jurors had been influenced by reports of the robbery by the mass media.

Jurors selected for duty were:

Lowell M. Edmondson, 225 Lee; Frank Larkin, 335 S. Clinton; Mrs. Patricia Mass, Route 2, Riverside; William Krall, Route 2, Iowa City; Paul C. Suplee, Forrest View Trailer Court; James Nesmith, 256 Magowan Ave.; Charles F. Kent, 220 Richards; Richard Dickens, 631 2nd Ave.; Lillian Vickers, Lone Tree; C. B. Righter, 419 Ferson; Mrs. Cathlene Christie, 1696 Ridge Road; and Henry Hess, 503 S. Clinton. Alternates chosen were James E. Elliott Jr., 629 4th Ave.; and Doris Ruth, Shueville.

Child-Abuse Suit Arising from NFO Incident Opens

MONTEZUMA — Trial of a $10,000 civil suit against two officials in Poweshiek County opened in District Court here Monday and was immediately recessed to Wednesday.

The plaintiff in the action is Harry Kilmer, a farmer near Brooklyn and a member of the National Farmers Organization. He brought the suit against Sheriff William Welsh and the Brooklyn school principal, Herbert Haas.

Kilmer charged his 6-year-old son was held in the school office and questioned about cutting of farm fences and other incidents during the NFO drive to keep farm products from market.

Kilmer charged that the boy's civil rights were violated.

BUDGET TO GET AXE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee began work Monday on President Kennedy's $98.8 billion budget, and Chairman Clarence Cannon told members to cut $12 billion out of it.

Cannon (D-Mo.) told a reporter the committee would "at least" try to balance the record budget, which calls for a $11.9 billion deficit.

But Cannon conceded "it would be a miracle" if Congress actually could cut the fiscal 1964 budget that much.

Wants 3 Annual Checks—

Russia Defers Test Ban Talks Until France Signs Treaty

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said Monday night no nuclear test ban agreement is possible unless France signs it. And, he added, there can be no more than three on-site inspections a year under such a treaty.

"Three, that is enough," he told Western reporters at an Indian Embassy reception. He held up three fingers to make his point. The United States insists on eight to ten but Gromyko said this "cannot be justified."

In the Kennedy-Khrushchev letter exchange released Sunday, the Premier reversed the Soviet policy of refusal to permit on-site inspections, but insisted that two to three a year would suffice.

President Kennedy replied that the United States considers eight to ten inspections a year the minimum necessary for effective enforcement of a test ban treaty.

De Gaulle Opposes Plan

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles De Gaulle has made it clear that France will not go along with any nuclear test ban agreement as long as the United States and Russia maintain their existing stockpiles of weapons.

The United States wants more inspections to guard against cheating. The Soviet Union fears such inspections will be a cover for espionage.

Gromyko declined to discuss the possibility of eventual Chinese Communist emergence as an atomic power.

"Why mention China?" he said. "To bring China in is artificial. There are three nuclear powers

Kennedy Hails End Of Katanga War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy hailed the end of Katanga's secession Monday and pledged full support of U.N. efforts to help the Congo build a "strong and viable federal nation."

He called on all Congolese people to rally behind President Joseph Kasavubu and Prime Minister Cyrille Abduola, who "face a tremendous challenge" in healing the wounds of two and one-half years of internal strife.

Kennedy reaffirmed that the purpose of U.S. policy has been to insure the Congo's self-determination without political instability and the threat of great-power intervention.

the long run France must sign."

He said France is an ally of the United States and Britain and asked "how can we look on this if France tests?"

Diplomats who were at the reception, later said Gromyko had told them that the Soviets were "discouraged" about alleged U.S. plans to resume nuclear testing underground.

The Soviet offer of three on-site inspections per year was the Kremlin's "last word" on the subject, Gromyko said, according to parties privy to the private diplomatic conversations.

Adenauer, De Gaulle Agree Upon Closer Collaboration

PARIS (UPI) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle agreed Monday on a treaty of close cooperation in diplomacy, defense and culture, open to other states of Europe.

Their decision was reached in several hours of conference after West Germany backed away from an exclusive inner alliance with France inside the European and Atlantic communities. It also apparently doomed the French concept of a Continental "third force."

West German and French spokesmen stressed that the accord, to be published Tuesday night or Wednesday noon, would be an open one, not limited to the two countries. This might satisfy such nations as Italy, which has been nervous about a German-French inner alliance and has looked to closer ties with Britain to offset it.

A French spokesman specified that the agreement would be considered a treaty, subject to ratification at least in West Germany and probably also in France. He quoted both De Gaulle and Adenauer as saying they hoped the document would be speedily ratified and put into application.

The significance of this is that the West German Bundestag is hostile to any "third force" scheme. A strong majority in Bonn favors extension of the Common Market to Britain and other European states. Adenauer could scarcely obtain the ratification of anything that violated the expressed views of West Germany's three major parties.

The French spokesman said the Late Afternoon Readings

Monday's frigid, snowy weather, which saw a high temperature of only two degrees, also saw this difference in the readings of Iowa City's downtown temperature signs. The thermometer for the sign in the lower picture is located higher on its building than the other which is why it usually gives a lower reading. Differences or no, SUtowners agreed that it was too cold to argue with either sign.

J-School Head Reflects On South African Tour

By YOHANNES KIFLE
Staff Writer

"There is a high probability of some kind of violent outburst against the system of control in South Africa," said Professor Leslie G. Moeller, Director of the School of Journalism, who returned from a six-week tour of Africa Monday. Professor Moeller was accompanied by his wife on the tour.

The white-dominated South African government is trying to place the Africans in Bantustans, a special reserve for Africans, where they will be divided into different tribes with a limited amount of regional government, Moeller said. The decision-making power will remain in the hands of the National Government, however.

"Some Africans approve of the return to tribal allegiance. A great many others oppose this because they do not feel the tribal orientation is a workable one in the modern world," he said. "Besides, so many of the Africans have broken away from their tribal ties that it is almost impossible to go back," Moeller said.

There is also a great deal of worry in the white population, Moeller said. "Nearly all the houses owned by whites have steel or metal grill work on the windows which is always locked, especially at night."

At the same time extensive efforts are being made to house the Africans, he said. However, the African houses lack running water, indoor toilets, gas for cooking and it would be very unusual to have electricity or a telephone in the house.

The pattern of color barrier which divides the different tribes is also very expensive, Moeller commented. Under this system a member of one tribe cannot go to a school that does not belong to his tribe. Each tribal school is taught in a different dialect. As a result there is very much duplication in education and wasting of money. This system in education also prevents the students from gaining a wide knowledge since there are very few books that are translated into any of the tribal languages.

The National Government, however, favors the system of apartheid and is strongly convinced that this is the only solution to the existing problem.

Other countries visited by the Moellers included Nigeria, Kenya, Mozambique, Ethiopia, the Repub-

'Warm Spell' To End; More Snow Ahead

Storm Threats Given For Adjoining States; Blizzards Expected

Comparative relief from Iowa City's stinging weather was apparently on the way late Monday when most people had long since retreated indoors. However, a new cold wave with more snow is expected today.

The lowest Iowa City temperature reported by the University Physical Plant was a 14 below at 7 a.m. with the temperature becoming more reasonable as the day progressed reaching a high of 13 above around 10 p.m.

Roads in the Iowa City-Cedar Rapids area were light to moderately snow covered with portions from normal to 100 per cent snow covered and becoming snow packed in spots.

Iowa City service station operators, however, found the inclement weather profitable, if not enjoyable. Due to the sub-zero temperatures and poor driving conditions, downtown service stations averaged 30 service calls during the day. One station on the west edge of Iowa City reported answering between 60 and 70 service calls Monday.

The promise of more colder weather can prove advantageous to a number of Iowa City stores who were reportedly completely out of their supply of knee socks Monday but expected a new supply in soon.

Elsewhere in Midwest—

Combined from Leased Wires
A new winter blast packing a near-blizzard punch slammed down across the Northern plains Monday while its immediate predecessor still punished the Midwest with record-breaking cold and swirling snows. The fresh Arctic invasion surged across the Canadian border into Montana and the Dakotas.

It stirred up near-blizzard conditions on the Montana plains, cutting visibility to less than 200 feet and threatening overnight temperature plunges of more than 50 degrees.

Ahead of the huge cold air mass, snow spread over IOWA, Minnesota, and sections of Missouri, Illinois and Wisconsin. IOWA legislators and statehouse workers in DES MOINES hurried home early to avoid a rush-hour traffic snarl.

The Weather

Snow today and tonight, one to three inches likely. Warmer east today, winds becoming northeasterly 20 to 40 miles an hour, blizzard conditions likely locally.

Highs today zero north to 10 to 15 south, with mercury falling west and north. Colder tonight. Further outlook: Mostly cloudy Wednesday, continued quite cold, snow likely late Wednesday.

One year ago the high was 0 and the low was 2 below. There was about four inches of snow on the ground.

The Weather Bureau hoisted blizzard warnings for Montana, South Dakota, Wyoming and Nebraska. Cold wave warnings were up in those states and also in eastern Colorado. The new cold wave came close on the heels of one that dropped temperatures Monday.

The seige of icy weather boosted the toll of weather-blamed deaths to at least 81 as cold weather fires, accidents on slippery highways, freezing and exhaustion claimed lives wholesale.

Indiana counted 18 weather deaths, New England 15, Texas and Illinois 10 each. Oklahoma had 8, Colorado 5, Michigan 4, IOWA 3, and Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri and Montana 2 each.

A 76-year-old man died of a heart attack at Clarion, while shoveling snow in 23-below temperatures.

Washing Away The Mississippi Mud

It now appears that Negro Harvey Gantt will be allowed to enter all-white Clemson University, marking the first racial integration in South Carolina at any educational level. (South Carolina is the only Southern state which still has complete segregation).

Although Clemson and South Carolina officials have battled Gantt's admission for more than a year, it is heartening to note that those officials, now that they have lost, are equally determined to prevent "another Ole Miss."

A Clemson spokesman has said that only accredited newsmen and those connected with the college would be allowed on the campus when Gantt makes his appearance. "We do not intend for the presence of a Negro student . . . to disrupt the educational program of the college or be a vehicle of propaganda for any cause," the spokesman said.

Earlier, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy told a church meeting in Washington that he anticipates no violence when Gantt enrolls. "The responsible leaders of South Carolina have made it clear that they're not going to put up with any violence or disorder," Kennedy stated.

And the students of Clemson apparently aren't going to react to Gantt in the manner University of Mississippi students met James Meredith.

The Clemson student body president, Bill Henrix, has stated, "I have the confidence of the student body in saying that Clemson students will react with the traditional maturity of Clemson men and that there will be no violence connected with the admittance of Harvey Gantt."

Another student said, "Most of us despise the portrait of Uncle Sam standing before the world with Mississippi mud on its face."

Hopefully, their attitude will help wash some of that mud off. —Larry Hatfield

'Twas a Foul Deed

Someone should have blown a whistle at officialdom off the basketball court here Saturday afternoon.

Something less than a sell-out crowd attended the televised Iowa-Ohio State game in the Field House. Some fans moved into vacant courtside seats to boost the Hawks. Attention was concentrated on the game.

During the second half, ticket checkers walked through the south courtside section and asked persons to show their tickets. Those who could not produce a courtside pass were asked to move to their own seats.

What had been a sparsely populated section was further reduced in lung power. If a TV camera was trained on that area, viewers must have wondered where all the cheers were coming from as the Hawks took command of the game.

When a person receives his season ticket, he expects to be able to sit in that seat during games. When he doesn't go to a game, however, he can't care too much about who is sitting in his seat.

Most persons prefer, by habit or personal inclination, to sit in the seats assigned to them. Few of them resent or even give much thought to other people sitting in otherwise empty seats.

The actions of the checkers Saturday embarrassed the "migrants" and at least some of the people around them. Were these actions necessary? We think not. —Ed Bassett

A Needed Experiment

A call is going out to educators to urge congressmen to appropriate funds during the 88th Congress for expanded educational TV.

A law was passed in the 87th Congress providing for $32 million for educational television station construction. It was signed by the President last May, but no funds were provided to initiate the grant program which is to be administered by the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

The action of the last Congress is construed to mean that federal officials recognize the importance of educational TV. State legislators are waiting to see if Congress will make the Educational Television Broadcasting Facilities Law a reality.

Major institutions are represented by the Joint Council on Educational Broadcasting (JCEB) on this issue. JCEB represents the interest of major national education organizations in broadcasting.

Expansion of educational TV is a necessary experiment in higher education. Efforts to expand educational TV to this or any other acceptable campus should be supported. —Ed Bassett

The Labor Party's Dilemma— After Gaitskell... Who?

The Christian Science Monitor
LONDON — While tributes to the late Hugh Gaitskell pour into London from all over the world, the question of his successor as leader of Britain's Labor Party becomes of supreme national importance.

As Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said in his tribute, Mr. Gaitskell had achieved "great political stature." The British people had come to accept Mr. Gaitskell as an alternative prime minister. Now, as Liberal leader Jo Grimond has said, they are faced with the problem of no obvious new figure to fill the gap.

THE NEXT general election could be postponed until the autumn of 1964. But there is the possibility that Mr. Macmillan might decide on an appeal to the nation's electors this year in view of the critical uncertainties over Britain's proposed entry into the European Economic Community.

Therefore the Labor Party must at all costs try to settle down under a new leader in a matter of weeks if it is to consolidate the great opportunity Mr. Gaitskell built up for it of forming the next government of Britain.

The leader of the Conservative Party in Britain is chosen by the elders and the power groups. The leader of the Labor Party is elected by the Labor members of Parliament. George Brown who was Mr. Gaitskell's deputy does not automatically become leader. Other obvious contenders for the position include Harold Wilson and James Callaghan.

BUT WHAT is most worrying to a majority of the party is that the left wing, which Mr. Gaitskell effectively tamed, might use this opportunity to try to reassert itself.

This could revise the old rivalries between left and right which so weakened the Labor Party in the period from 1951 until Mr. Gaitskell achieved his ascendancy in the last two years.

The left wing's most likely candidate for leadership is young, handsome Anthony Greenwood.

But the old hands in the party will strive their utmost to prevent the recurrence of internal rivalry between left and right. They recognize that the British electorate is unlikely to return to power a party which has been unable to resolve its own internal feuding.

Letters to the Editor —

The Truth Can Still Be Found

To the Editor:
 I am sure that your paper has set a new world's record for the two most asinine editorials ever printed on one page. I am referring to the editorials from The Daily Tar Heel and The National Observer; the first explaining why the South has a "strange band of hope" for solving the problem of racial friction and the second discussing the apparent lack of enthusiasm of Vietnamese soldiers to fight "in their own self-interest."

In the first instance I am forced to agree that the brand of hope is strange indeed. The so-called "warmth" felt by the southern white for the Negro is totally dependent on their implicit roles as social superior and social inferior. The phrase "I love my dog but I wouldn't let my daughter marry him" is perhaps already too trite to be worthy of mention here. Indeed such claims of warm feelings are far more hypocritical than anything expressed by Northerners. One has only to observe what happens to these implicit barriers are broken; it explodes into a white heat of hatred and violence unparalleled in the history of the North.

The truth is that the Negro will have to achieve equality by fighting for political equality. He will have to organize his people and assert their rights to vote and to run for office in all 50 states. He can then work by applying political and economic pressure for economic equality. Then, as has traditionally been the case in this country, economic equality will gradually bring an acceptance of his social equality. The fact that this fight will be harder in the South seems to be utterly obvious in view of the fact that the southern Negro is 100 years behind the northern Negro in the achievement of the first step: political equality.

As for the second editorial, it is beneath contempt. It demonstrates a total ignorance of the facts of life in Vietnam. The simple fact is that the South Vietnamese is discovering that it is much more in his self-interest to follow the communists than it is to pay allegiance to Ngo Dinh Diem and his clique, who instead of giving them their land have herded them into concentration camps, murdered their leaders, and stolen virtually all American aid intended for them. This is the same process of awakening that

The Sign Is On The Restroom Door . . .

To the Editor:
 The Daily Tar Heel editorial on racial discrimination was a good choice for publication in Thursday's Daily Iowan. The moderate frankness of the editorial may help to balance some of the sensationalism often found on the second page of our student newspaper. However, despite the conscious frankness found in the article, I believe there is considerable unconscious "hypocrisy" present.

I spent last year in North Carolina in the admitted isolation of a university campus. Nonetheless, I naturally came into verbal contact with a number of Southerners who should be considered among tomorrow's leadership. Such little experience, unfortunately, probably permits me to claim more familiarity with the problem of the Negro in the South than most Northerners. What is more surprising, I learned that many Yankees probably have a broader grasp of the whole situation than the average Southerner. The typical Southern mind is closed on the subject of the Negro. To me, evidence of this is found in the ridiculous reference in the editorial to a hypothetical Northern school inventing excuses for enrolling only three Negro children in a student body of 2,000. To almost any Northerner, this sounds quite foreign, for he knows that most large schools service a larger colored population than three families. But I really fear the writer may have half-believed what he was saying, for the average Southerner has never traveled outside Dixie, nor will he face reality at home.

Contrary to the assertion that no one discusses the Southern "irony" of discrimination alongside warm person-to-person relationships between races, I found the latter fact brought up time and time again as "proof" of the moral purity of the South. Much of this editorial recalls to me the oft-repeated corrupted cliché, "Some of my best friends are colored." The "irony" referred to is really hypocrisy more flagrant than that attested to the North. The sordid side of the problem in the South is not only the "physical" side. Behind the friendly master-to-pet-dog-like relationship, I have always found, without fail, very deep-seated prejudice. A dog on a leash raises few problems. A person demanding equality with his social and political overlords always does. The editorialist admits this by quoting a minister: "The real agony for the South is to preserve . . . warmth for Negroes while shifting it out of the traditional master-servant context into a normal pattern . . ." The reason the North has race troubles is not only because the solution has not been reached, but also because it is actually facing the problem of creating "a normal pattern of human relationships." One need only point to an instance such as the election of a Negro girl at Miss SUI a few years ago to discount the hatred so widely believed to exist in the North.

Left to itself, the South will have no problem for some time; only the contented, impoverished, politically unconscious Negro will have one. No, I am afraid that "in the South things are (not) out in the open." The sign is on the restroom door, but the mind is submerged.

Park in Assigned Lot— Take a Taxi to Work

To the Editor:
 Since there has been some discussion of the reasonableness of the assignment of space in the various parking lots, here is another interesting situation. When the addition to the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children was begun, a considerable portion of the reserved parking area was taken for construction purposes. This left a surplus of people with rather expensive reserve stickers without parking places within a reasonable distance of the building. The campus police solved the problem, without consulting the Hospital-School personnel, by adding a few more spaces back in the restricted area lot.

Now consider the overall picture. The visitor's lot for the General Hospital directly in front of the Hospital-School is so placed that visitors must walk a considerable distance around the Hospital-School when, if they were allowed to park in the area now designated as a restricted

Choice: The Committee Or the Communists

To the Editor:
 In his inaugural address President Kennedy said that the only thing we have to fear is fear itself. Some Americans have plenty to fear, they are afraid to sacrifice for freedom. I am speaking of the group of people who, believing their names may be whispered to the House Un-American Activities Committee, are hoping it be abolished.

From Concord to Lexington, down through all our wars men have sacrificed for this country and all it stands for. They died on the battlefields of Gettysburg, France, Germany, Okinawa, Iwo Jima, and Korea. Everyone should not possess freedom, only those who want it deserve it. A few Americans value secure jobs more than freedom and with this selfish view some of them sure don't want it very much.

What is so terrible if your name is given to the Committee? Would you rather have Communism take over and have your name whispered to the Communist Party? In that case you wouldn't have any fear of being subpoenaed and perhaps losing a job. You're most likely to have a secure job in Siberia or simply lose your life in front of a firing squad.

I'll agree that we Twelve Freshmen are not the most intelligent people in the world, but we believe that HUAC must stay. Those certain graduates who think freshmen are immature and unfamiliar about HUAC should just remember that G does not stand for God.

Open Letter To a Quad Jokester

To the Editor:
 An Open Letter To The Student Who Set Off The False Alarm Friday Morning At The Quadrangle:

At approximately 2:30 Friday morning you succeeded in rousing about six hundred of your fellow students from their sleep and sending them scurrying in various forms of semi-dress to stand in the snow while it was determined that there was no fire. You consider this a joke, or a manifestation of your virility or, possibly, a form of rebellion.

You set off a safety device designed to prevent loss of human life. We responded promptly — at no little personal discomfort — only to find that you had seen fit to impose your sense of humor on a captive audience. I am told that this is not uncommon during exam periods.

Let us, therefore, take this to its logical conclusion. Gradually, the response to fire alarms will become slower and more perfunctory (if any response is made at all). But some day there may actually be a fire. A building like the Quadrangle would not last long. If anyone were hurt or killed in such a fire, you could not help wondering whether the false alarms set by you and others had caused the victim to ignore the alarm. I wouldn't want this on my conscience. I doubt that you would either. I, therefore, hope that in the future you will do everything in your power to keep such a thing from happening.

Iowa Tops Michigan State, 60-59

Hawkeyes Even Big Ten Mark

By ERIC ZOEGLER
Sports Editor

EAST LANSING, Mich. — The new Hawkeyes, looking more and more like the old "Hustling Hawks" of 1961, kept cool, calm and collected when Michigan State's Spartans pulled some surprises here Monday night as Iowa won its third successive Big Ten basketball game, 60-59.

The contest was a rough and tumble affair, almost bad enough to call out Homicide Inc. as both teams waged a fierce battle under the boards to get every scoring opportunity.

The win gave Iowa a 3-3 conference mark, and notched its overall record 7-8.

For only the fourth time this season, the Hawkeyes beat an opponent on rebounds. They recovered 52 shots to the Spartans' 47.

In more ways than one the Spartans have been the surprise team in the Big Ten conference winning their last two games up to this point. But the Hawks weren't fooled by their innovations. For the fourth time in the battle, Michigan State applied a tight zone press on the Hawks with about 1:20 remaining.

Heretofore it had worked, but the Hawks, leading 56-55, weren't going to be stopped. Andy Hankins was fouled bringing the ball down the court and easily put in two free throws to give Iowa a 58-55 lead.

Marcus Sanders, who helped pace a second half State resurgence after the hosts had been down, 25-24, at halftime, drove in for a quick lay-up and it was 58-57, Iowa, with 47 big seconds remaining. Then the fireworks began.

Hankins found himself trapped in the MSU press and down on his belly. He shoved a pass to Jimmy Rodgers who spotted Captain Joe Reddington in the clear. A swift pass to Red Dog and his lay-up iced the hard-fought win for the Iowans.

It was ten below zero here Monday night, but Jenison Field House was warm as an oven in the second half, although the first portion left little to be desired action-wise.

In the first half, Iowa managed to can only 33 per cent of its shots while the Spartans hit only 30 per cent. Rodgers was high man with seven points at that point, but connected on eight more to share Iowa's scoring honors with reserve Hankins, who is slowly establishing himself as a hero in the Iowa camp. His 22-point total paced the Hawks in the surprise 81-74 win over sixth-ranked Ohio State Saturday in Iowa City.

The No. 2 surprise the Spartans pulled on the Hawks was the implementation of a zone defense which indeed caused some problems.

Dave Roach, Iowa's new scoring sensation at forward, was forced outside by the defense as Iowa instituted its single post offense. But the Pinckneyville, Ill., junior canned six beautiful jump shots to take third place among the Iowans with 12 points.

The defensive play of Hawkeyes Jerry Messick and Doug Mehlaus proved very effective against Spartan center Ted Williams, who had a 23-point average in the Spartans two previous conference wins. Williams just became eligible for competition as Michigan State started its winter quarter.

In the first half, Iowa was bothered by the outstanding shooting of Pete Gent, a 6-3 forward, who hit ten points in the first portion but added only four in the second period.

Jack Lamers put in 12 of his 13 points in the second half to pace the hustling Spartans.

The officials called 31 fouls, quite evenly divided between the two contestants, but the game saw two players fall to the hard court after some rough playing under the boards.

State's Bill Schwarz went down in a play which saw Iowa's Mike Denoma incur a foul. Later Roach was forced down, but sprang up to keep in the action. In all, the lead changed hands some 10 times in the contest, but the Hawks proved, as they have in their past three wins, that they are no longer "first half boys."

Loyola Downs Ohio U., 80-72 In Tough Battle

ATHENS, Ohio — Loyola of Chicago, the nation's second-ranked basketball team, found the going a little rough Monday night before defeating a stubborn Ohio University team 80-72. The unbeaten Ramblers picked up their 17th win of the campaign.

The surprising Bobcats stayed with the Chicagoans most of the way, but saw their chances go glimmering when two stalwarts, Stacy Bunton, 6-foot-9 center, and high-scoring Jerry Jackson, were benched most of the second half with four personal fouls.

Ohio tied the score at 52 all with 14 minutes left, but from there Loyola steadily pulled away. The Ramblers held a 39-36 halftime edge.

Jerry Harkness, who went into the contest averaging 21 points a game, led the winners' scoring with 20 while Vic Rouse and Johnny Egan added 17 and 16, respectively. Bunton, a senior from Cincinnati, paced the Ohio scorers with 16 while Don Hill, 6-4 sophomore from Cleveland, had 15. Ohio now is 7-7 for the season.

EAST LANSING, Mich. — To members of the Iowa basketball team, it was like a frightful nightmare abruptly turning into a deeply satisfying dream.

For the past two years the Hawkeyes have been plagued by the recurring play back of Ohio State's come-from-behind victories over the Iowans on their home floor.

Joe Reddington, Tom Purcell and Dick Shaw, the senior members of the Iowa team, certainly are not elated at the recall of the last-second shot of Don Nelson's and Shaw's rebound rolling around the rim and off which meant a 62-61 Buckeye win in 1961, undeniably one of the most hotly contested games in Iowa Field House history.

And ask Reddington, Purcell, Shaw and other junior members of the Hawkeye squad about last year's tussle with Ohio at the Field House. It's not a popular subject when they played on a team which led the nation's No. 1 team at the half, but then failed in the last minutes, to lose, 72-62. And it's no consolation when you remind them that they certainly scared the brutes off the high-flying Bucks.

But Saturday's 81-74 beating of the Bucks ranks among the greatest for most of the Hawkeys who were here Monday night seeking their third successive Big Ten win over Michigan State's surprising Spartans. Reddington called it "our greatest win ever," and was echoed by many of his teammates. Dave Roach, who says he has played in some "real great ones" said Saturday's win "was by far the greatest in my career."

So Iowa finally got revenge from the pesty Buckeyes who had heretofore caused as much trouble as a flu bug in a dormitory.

Andy Hankins, who poured in 22 points to lead a feverish second half spurt, is the sort of guy who reminds you of the kitchen faucet. The junior flash from Waukegan, Ill., can produce some steam-heat scoring one night and be like the cold water tap the next. But when he's on, he certainly makes things interesting.

The victory was not without its casualties, however. Both Fred Riddle and Roach, who hit 19 points, fell in the act of supreme duty, but Mr. Riddle had a visible evidence to prove his valor.

It looked like the doctors had placed a cement block around his nose complete with gauze. For the second consecutive game, Riddle broke his nose, but was expected to play Monday evening.

Roach was floored in the final seconds when Ohio center Gary Bradds failed to bring down a rebound. He was hit in the temple on a play in which a fifth foul sent Buckeye Jim Doughty to the bench. Broken nose and all Riddle came into sink the two free throws awarded on the play.

By that time it was all over for the Bucks and television fans were beating on their machines to see if they were functioning properly. Had Iowa really beaten Ohio State?

That it had, and it couldn't have been a more refreshing victory for Coach Sharm Scheuerman (whose comment "Good Grief!" summed up everything else) and his team. By the way Ohio State has yet to win a sporting event against SUI since the start of this season.

NOTES: (by Eric and Bob) — The Spartans must have been good last year because Santa Claus didn't give them any coal in their stockings. Jenison Field House, where the

LBJ PINNED

WASHINGTON — Four athletes, all hoping to represent the United States in the 1964 Olympic Games, "pinned" Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson Monday as an honorary member of the Amateur Athletic Union.

The four were Jim Bradford, 29, 1952 Olympic weightlifting champion; Robyn Johnson, 17, 1962 National AAU freestyle swimming champion; Dale Barnhard, 15, 1961 national breaststroke swimming champion, and Andy Grinstead, 17, holder of several honor medals won in the National Swimming Pool Institute Championships.

WARD DIVORCED

INDIANAPOLIS — Mrs. Roger Ward was granted a divorce Monday on an adultery complaint against her husband, two-time winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Ward had originally filed for a divorce and said his wife had misappropriated his personal funds. But Special Judge Paul R. Lustgarten said evidence did not substantiate the accusation and upheld Mrs. Ward's cross-complaint.

Ward won the 500-mile race in 1959 and 1962. Mrs. Ward was awarded a $5,000 cash settlement and all stocks owned by the couple except those in Indianapolis Raceway Park and Roger Ward Enterprises.

The 1962 USAC national champion has two children by a previous marriage.

NCAA Withdraws Anti-AAU Plan—

AAU-NCAA Fight Ends

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Eastern college track coaches hailed the AAU-NCAA peace settlement Monday and prepared to send athletes back into the previously blacklisted indoor campaign.

"We are all delighted that this agreement has been achieved by Gen. Douglas MacArthur," said the Army coach, Carl Crowell. "It is great news for the boys. They're anxious to get back into open competition."

Crowell's words were echoed by George Eastment of Manhattan, Artie O'Connor of Fordham, Steve Barthold of St. John's and Howard Bulger of Iona at the weekly track luncheon of Metropolitan Track Writers.

The next big meet is the Toronto Maple Leaf Games Friday, to be followed by the Boston A. A. meet Saturday.

Principals in the long and bitter controversy over control of the nation's amateur sports sat elbow-to-elbow at a midtown restaurant and repeated previous announcements that "all is harmonious."

Asa Bushnell, director of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, said he was mailing a letter Monday to the some 90 member institutions withdrawing a Jan. 3 edict restricting competition.

At that time eastern colleges were asked to shun events which did not have the sanction of the new U.S. Track and Field Federation. This, in effect, blacklisted the entire indoor schedule of the AAU.

Col. Don Hull, executive director of the AAU who was one of the representatives who sat in on the arbitration meetings of Gen. MacArthur last weekend, announced:

"We have started machinery moving to lift all suspensions except those of a purely personal nature. Action should be immediate."

The AAU had suspended nine runners for competing in a federation meet without AAU sanction in November.

They were Jim Dupre, the country's top half-mile; the ex-Hungarian, John Macy; Robert Cooper, Norman Cooper and five Australians who attend the University of Houston — Laurie Elliott, Allan Irwin, Al Lawrence, Greg Robinson and Jeff Walker. They are middle distance and distance runners.

Pincus Sober, counselor for the AAU, clarified some points of the AAU-NCAA agreement, reached Saturday night, and said one of the NACC agreements was that it would immediately drop the four-point anti-AAU resolution adopted at its convention earlier this month in Los Angeles.

The resolution called upon the NCAA's 600 member schools to bar its athletes and facilities to all meets without federation sanction and to pull its representatives off the various AAU committees.

Iowa Foe Loyola 2nd In Ratings, Cincinnati 1st

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cincinnati, which survived its toughest test so far in the season last Thursday with a 52-48 victory over Bradley, was the unanimous choice of the 35-man United Press International major college rating board Monday as the nation's No. 1 basketball team for the fifth straight week.

In all, it was the eighth consecutive week that the unbeaten Bearcats were picked as the nation's top team. The victory over Bradley was the 14th of the season for Cincinnati.

Loyola of Chicago, unbeaten in 16 games, again was picked the second best team, marking the fifth straight week the Ramblers have been chosen for the runner-up spot. Illinois, the Big Ten leader with a 12-1 overall record, remained third but Duke (12-2), the No. 1 team in the tough Atlantic Coast Conference, replaced Arizona State in fourth place, the two teams swapping positions from a week ago.

There was considerable other juggling in the lower half of the top 10 with Mississippi State (12-3) advancing from ninth to seventh behind Georgia Tech (12-1), Wichita (12-4) slipping from seventh to eighth, Stanford (12-3) advancing from 16th to ninth and West Virginia (12-3) from 14th place tie to 10th.

Dropping out of the select group and making way for Stanford and West Virginia's advance were Ohio State and Oregon State. The Buckeyes, named National Champions the last two seasons, dropped an 81-74 decision to Iowa last Saturday for their third loss in 13 starts, while Oregon State defeated Gonzaga, 63-47, for its 10th victory in 14 starts.

Colorado (11-3) moved up one position to head the second 10 grouping, Oregon State was 12th; Ohio State slipped to 13th, UCLA was 14th, Utah State was 15th, Auburn, Colorado State and DePaul tied for 16th and Miami (Fla.) and Niagara tied for 19th.

Loyola whipped Kent State, 96-55, Saturday for its 16th straight win; Arizona State lost to Wyoming, 88-81; Georgia Tech routed Florida State, 70-55; Wichita defeated Drake, 63-60, and Mississippi State downed Mississippi, 78-64, in other games involving the top ten.

Cincinnati faces another tough test this Saturday when it meets Illinois at Chicago Stadium in the top game of the week. Loyola, meanwhile, goes on the road against Ohio University and Santa Clara.

Arizona State and Stanford are idle this week, while Georgia Tech plays Auburn and Tennessee, Mississippi State takes on Memphis State and Wichita meets North Texas State and the Air Force.

VanderKelen Expected To Sign with NFL

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Ron VanderKelen, the University of Wisconsin quarterback who threw himself to fame and fortune in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1, will sign a contract today with the professional team of his choice — and it apparently will be a National Football League club.

Gene Calhoun, Madison attorney and veteran advisor to Badger athletes, said Monday night that the senior sensation who had played only 90 seconds of varsity ball until this year and was undrafted by the NFL, would go to the town of his secret choice and take part in a full scale signing ceremony today.

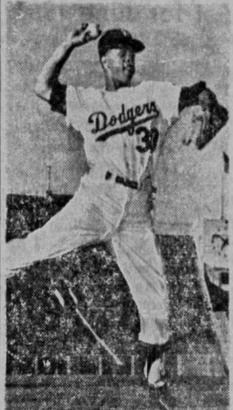

"It'll be some city, somewhere in this country," Calhoun said. "That's all I can tell you."

And in New York, where the Titans hold American Football League draft rights to VanderKelen, President Harry Wismer said he was prepared to offer a four-year contract worth $150,000 but said he had not yet been able to contact the 23-year-old ace.

That left the NFL as VanderKelen's likely employer. And one of the remaining bidders was the world champion Green Bay Packers, from his home town and his sentimental favorites.

Pro Athlete of Year—

Wills Gets Hickok Award

MAURY WILLS
Stole 104 Bases

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Maury Wills romped off with another major trophy Monday night — the S. Rae Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year Award.

The slight, mercury-footed Los Angeles Dodger was named the winner and presented the $10,000 gold-buckled, jeweled belt at the Rochester Press-Radio Club's annual charity dinner.

Wills, a 5-foot-7, 157-pound bundle of base-running lightning, stole a record 104 bases last year. That's one of the major reasons why he was named the National League's Most Valuable Player, The Associated Press, Athlete of the Year and now the Pro Athlete of the Year.

If opposition pitchers and catchers insist that Maury wear his latest trophy on his uniform they may be able to cut down on his unnerving thefts in 1963. The gold buckle alone weighs 2½ pounds.

Wills became the seventh baseball player in 13 years to win the Hickok trophy.

The Dodger shortstop received 56 first place votes from a national panel of 154 sports writers and sportscasters and a total of 231 points. Points were counted on a basis of 3-2-1 for first, second and third.

Wills topped Arnie Palmer, the 1962 Masters and British Open golf champion and 1961 winner of the Pro trophy, by 51 points. Palmer received 41 first place votes and

Junior Athlete To Receive Kinnick Award

The Nile C. Kinnick Scholarship Committee at SUI has approved a proposal to award the Kinnick Scholarship to a junior rather than to incoming freshmen as has been done in the past.

Starting in the spring, a single Kinnick award will be made to the Iowa junior who has demonstrated athletic and academic ability in keeping with the standards set by the famous Iowa scholar and athlete who was killed in a plane crash while serving in the Navy in 1943.

Dean Dewey B. Stuit, chairman of the scholarship committee, said that a principal function of the scholarship established in 1944 has been to bring outstanding Iowa athletes with high scholastic promise to the University of Iowa.

Dean Stuit said this function has become less important in recent years because Iowa is attracting more Iowa athletes.

He said the scholarship will be awarded to a junior in the upper half of his class who has demonstrated good citizenship and who has the recommendation of the director of athletics concerning his athletic ability.

Dean Stuit also said that a rule limiting the scholarship to Iowans has been removed, although Iowa natives still will have preference over students from out of state.

After Kentucky Upset—

Tennessee Cage Coach Off to Good Start

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — That upset basketball victory by Tennessee over Kentucky Saturday night was directed by a man who just a year ago was coaching a high school team in Ohio.

He's Bill Gibbs, a 35-year-old take-charge guy who's practically made the year a success for Volunteer fans with the 78-69 overtime triumph against bitter-rival Kentucky at Lexington.

"This is quite a jump for me."

I-Club Secretary Resigns

It was announced Saturday by the I-Club that E. K. Jones, "I" Club secretary has resigned.

"Due to pressure of other business activities I feel it is impossible to devote the necessary time to the activities of the 'I' Club."

Jones wished to thank all members for past support and expressed the hope that the club will continue to grow and flourish in its efforts to help worthy students obtain an education.

"I" Club dues will continue to be accepted at Iowa Athletic Department, SUI, Iowa City, Iowa.

Lambda Chi's Buy ADPi House for $80,000

Lambda Chi's Move from This . . .

Occupation Date Set for June 1964

The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity has bought the Alpha Delta Pi sorority house for $80,000. The purchase was approved by the Committee on Student Life and the transaction was completed shortly before Christmas.

The Lambda Chi's plan to move in June of 1964. The AD Pi's will build a new house at 115 E. Bloomington and plan to move there in the fall of 1964.

The AD Pi house 22 N. Clinton St., will accommodate approximately 42 and has a dining room capacity of 60-70. The Lambda Chi's will do some remodeling.

Since the Lambda Chi's obtained housing on the SUI campus in 1959 they have lived at 430 N. Clinton St. Last year the fraternity leased an annex at 115 E. Fairchild St.

Iowa Foreign Students To Be Feted on Weekend

Nearly 1,000 foreign students from 90 countries presently studying in Iowa will be invited to the tenth annual Foreign Students' Weekend in Des Moines Feb. 2 and 3.

The program, sponsored by the Iowa Board of International Education, includes free transportation and lodging for faculty members and students at the high school and college levels.

American friends of foreign students are also welcome but must pay $3.25 for meals. Registration blanks are available in the Foreign Student Advisory Office, 111 University Hall. Students from Alaska, Hawaii, or Puerto Rico are invited at no expense.

Staff members and students who wish to participate in the program must fill out the reply sheet. Last year about 40 IOWANs participated.

An "International Evening" will be held Saturday evening at the KRNT Theater featuring national dances and music performed by the visitors.

During a visit to the State Capitol, Gov. Harold Hughes will personally receive all guests.

Each foreign country will have its own booth in Veterans Memorial Auditorium, displaying its special product. Bulletin boards will describe various cultures. Students in national costumes will attend some booths.

A "field of study" luncheon Saturday will provide an opportunity for students studying in the same field to get together. For post-doctoral fellows, staff members from abroad, and other advanced graduate students, an effort will be made to find people of similar backgrounds and interests.

The Iowa Board of International Education is a private, non-governmental agency working to increase international understanding.

SUI Professor To Lead Seminars For Businessmen

Kenneth P. Uhl, assistant professor of marketing, will lead a series of five seminars Wednesday evening on recent trends in retail sales at SUI beginning Feb. 20.

Sponsored by the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, the Small Business Administration and the SUI Bureau of Labor and Management, the seminar program is designed especially for owners, managers and executives of retail firms in eastern Iowa.

Dr. Uhl has had extensive experience as a sales and marketing consultant and as a sales executive. He is the author of several articles on marketing, including "What You Should Know About Pricing" and "Shareowner Brand Preference."

During the five SUI seminars, he will discuss new techniques and specific current problems in retail sales and marketing in Iowa.

GAITSKELL SUCCESSOR
LONDON — The Labor Party's "shadow government" decided to press for speedy selection of a successor to the late Hugh Gaitskell as leader of the main opposition party. It was hoped that quick action would avert a possible power struggle.

SUlowan To Talk At Engineers Club

Donald H. Hase assistant professor of geology at SUI will speak on "Geophysical Investigations in Iowa" at a meeting of the Cedar Rapids Engineers Club at 7:30 tonight in the Sheraton Montrose Hotel, Cedar Rapids.

He will discuss investigations being carried on by the Iowa Geological Survey, which has its headquarters on the SUI campus. He will describe instruments and procedures used in gravity, airborne and ground magnetic surveys, some results of data gathered, and the future of the program.

SUI Among 11 Schools Given Grant for Pooling Resources

SUI and 10 other Midwest universities have received a $100,000 grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York to strengthen their academic programs by joining forces.

The grant to the Committee on Institutional Cooperation (CIC) which includes the Big Ten Universities and the University of Chicago, was announced Monday by John C. Weaver, SUI vice-president for research and dean of the Graduate College. He is SUI's representative on the committee.

Since its establishment in 1958, the CIC has been supported chiefly through an earlier five-year Carnegie grant. The new $100,000 grant is for four years.

Dr. Weaver explained that the CIC is a unique experiment in American higher education in several respects. First, the program has been one of voluntary cooperation extending across institutional and state lines. Second, the universities are among the largest and most comprehensive in the nation, and include both public and private institutions.

"Iowa students and staff as well as those from other cooperating institutions will be the recipients of tremendous benefits as a result of the CIC grant," said Weaver. "They will be able to develop and participate in programs of many kinds which would not normally be available through a single university because of the high cost of the specialized instruction and facilities."

"The full effects of the work of the CIC will not be realized for several years," he continued. "The ground-work for many programs has been laid over the past four years, and this new grant will make it possible to implement some of these and to initiate others. The resources of these powerful Midwestern universities taken in combination are virtually without parallel anywhere in the academic world," concluded Weaver.

Dr. Weaver noted four cooperative efforts currently underway which illustrate the type of programs to be supported by the new Carnegie grant:

1) Twenty-six foreign languages have been identified by the universities as the "most critical" and a plan of cooperative expansion has begun to develop instructional programs in these languages among the eleven institutions.

2) A cooperative CIC Far Eastern Language Teaching and Research Institute will be held this summer at the University of Michigan. Professor Ramon L. Y. Woon of the SUI Chinese and Oriental Studies Center will be one of the instructors at the institute.

3) The universities are planning a broad training program in bioclimatology, the study of the effects weather has on living organisms. Weaver said that a training program of this kind can hardly be achieved within a single institution because of the high costs of the variety of specialized laboratories and field facilities.

4) SUI Dean Louis Zopf and the deans of the seven other Colleges of Pharmacy in the CIC institutions are completing a survey to find ways to share costly, unusual or highly specialized facilities.

Cooperative planning also is underway in geology and geography where joint summer field laboratories were held last summer. Cooperation in producing college-level television courses is now being explored, as well as CIC programs in such fields as landscape architecture, medicine, nursing, oceanography and alumni affairs, Weaver said.

Members of the CIC, in addition to SUI, are Indiana University, University of Illinois, University of Michigan, Michigan State University, University of Minnesota, Northwestern University, Ohio State University, Purdue University, University of Wisconsin and University of Chicago.

I.C. Council Hears Subdivision Plan

Iowa City Council members held an informal meeting with developers, engineers, and attorneys Saturday concerning the proposed new city subdivision ordinance. The measure is still in a preliminary stage, since it has not been introduced for the required three meetings at city Council.

The ordinance is designed to set up procedures and requirements aimed at standardizing city regulations for approving new subdivisions.

Council members and planning and zoning commission members said that, at present, there is no intention of hiring a planner. They also said they doubted that the ordinance would cause delays in plat approvals.

General requirements do not differ appreciably from past ones, Carsten D. Leikvold, City Manager, said. Street widths and continuing utilities to adjacent property will be involved in the proposed ordinance, however.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the proposed ordinance might be in conflict with county zoning ordinances. Further clarification on requirements for subdivisions within a mile of Iowa City were asked for by the developers.

KATANGA'S SECESSION ENDED
KOLWEZI, Katanga, The Congo — United Nations troops occupied President Moise Tshombe's last stronghold, Kolwezi, officially ending Katanga's secession from the Congo. Not a shot was fired, not an installation blown up. The official ceremony of taking over the city came at Tshombe's villa, watched by only a few white residents and his own gendarmierie.

Used Books To Be Sold At Discount

Students who complain of the high cost of textbooks will have the opportunity to buy used books at discount prices at the February Student Senate Book Exchange. Students wishing to sell books may bring them to the Schaeffer Study Hall Jan. 30 from noon to 4:45 p.m. or Jan. 31, Feb. 1, or Feb. 4 from 8:45 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4:45 p.m. The books will be on sale Feb. 4-7 from 8:45 a.m. to 12 and 1 to 4:45 p.m.

A student may ask any price he wishes for his books, but the Senate recommends a price of 80 to 90 per cent of the original cost of the book. The Senate deducts an additional 10 per cent from each sale for operating expenses. On Feb. 8, students may obtain refunds for books they bought which were not used as current texts.

Money and unsold books will be returned Feb. 11-13. Christopher Hagen, A2, Des Moines, is chairman of the Student Book Exchange.

Income Taxes Due By April 15, 30

Two important income tax return dates for SUI students are April 15 and April 30.

On April 15 all federal income tax returns are due at the Internal Revenue Office in the filer's own state. April 30 is the due date for filing income tax returns by Iowa citizens.

Those required to file a federal return must have earned $600 or more during 1962. Also those receiving wages from which they are entitled to withholding tax refunds are required to file a return.

The minimum requirement for an Iowa citizen filing a return is earnings of $1500 or more during 1962. If a married couple files out a joint return, their net earnings must be $2350 or more.

If a person filed a return last year, the Federal and state income tax bureaus will automatically send blank forms to them. If this is the first year the filer has to fill out a form, he may obtain returns at either of the Iowa City banks.

A representative of the Internal Revenue Service is in Iowa City weekly to give free advice on filling out the returns at the Post Office every Friday from 9 to 11:45 a.m. and from 12:30 to 4 p.m.

Peace Corps Exams Set For Saturday

A new battery of Peace Corps Placement tests will be given throughout the nation 8:30 a.m. Saturday. The test will be given in room 3 in the basement of the Iowa City Post Office building.

Peace Corps opportunities cover jobs in fields of education, agriculture, health, construction and community development. Not all positions require technical skills. Those who take the tests Saturday will be considered for new projects in Latin America, Africa, the Far East, the Near East, and South Asia.

Two types of placement tests will be given. One is for men and women who would like to teach in the Peace Corps at the secondary school and college levels. A bachelor's degree is usually required for this. The general examination is for all other Peace Corps assignments.

Applicants must be American citizens who are at least 18. Married couples without dependent children may apply providing both qualify for Peace Corps service.

Pravda Prints Latest Chinese Attack on Russian Policies

MOSCOW (UPI) — The official Communist party newspaper Pravda brought the Sino-Soviet dispute into sharper focus for its readers Monday with publication of the Chinese delegate's denunciations of Kremlin co-existence policies at the East German Communist party congress.

The report on Wu Hsiu-Chuan's speech, while carefully edited, still was the sharpest attack on Soviet policies ever to appear in print here. Publication of Wu's remarks, three days after his speech, was seen as an effort to underscore Peking's stubborn stand in the ideological conflict with Moscow.

The article in Pravda gave readers their clearest picture yet of Peking's harsh criticism of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's "peaceful co-existence" policy. The press occasionally has referred to Chinese criticisms but today's report was the first spelled out in relative detail.

He did not refer by name to the Soviet Union in his speech last week, which touched off booning and catcalls by the delegates to the party congress in East Berlin. But the implication was clear.

In an apparent move to drive home the point, Pravda surrounded the Wu story with reports on other speeches at the congress strongly supporting Moscow.

The newspaper indirectly let readers know that Peking was continuing public attacks on the Kremlin despite Khrushchev's appeal for a "cooling-off" period. It did this by publishing Wu's comments in the form of a Tass News Agency dispatch from Peking.

Pulitzer Prize Winner Defends 'Bad Poetry'

By JERRY DRAISEY
Written for The Daily Iowan
Bad poetry, according to Karl Shapiro, professor of English at the University of Nebraska, is "anti-poetry, vandalism poetry or that which breaks accepted values or standards."

The Pulitzer Prize-winning poet and critic spoke on "In Defense of Bad Poetry" before a large crowd in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol Monday night.

In defending "bad poetry", Shapiro was, in essence, proposing that good poetry — poetry preaching a moral, conforming to arbitrary rade standards, i.e., poetry meant to please — has long outlived its usefulness.

While in the past 50 years, Shapiro said, the novel, such as "Tropic of Cancer," by Henry Miller and paintings such as those created by Picasso have been getting progressively more real and down to earth, the poem, however, has made no such advancements.

The poet needs, Shapiro suggested, to challenge the long established set of standards involving the use of rhyme, meter, and tastefulness in poetry in order to achieve the more real or essential aspects of art.

The rigid set of values of formalistic poetry need not be completely abandoned, Shapiro said, but rather should not be permitted to exist on their own justification.

Shapiro's examples of "bad" or vandalistic poetry included that written by e e cummings and William Earlos Williams. Their poetry, he said, "has demonstrated that a poem can succeed without the sentimental and the moralistic or without catering to the whims of established literary circles."

A phrase from a French poet quoted at the beginning of the program by Shapiro's host, Paul Engle, head of the Writer's Workshop, seems appropriate in summing up Shapiro's view on poetry. "A poem is not a literary act but a holiday of the mind."

Court Refuses To Postpone Gantt's Entry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief Justice Earl Warren refused Monday to delay the court-ordered admission of Negro Harvey B. Gantt to South Carolina's Clemson University by next Monday.

Warren, on behalf of the Supreme Court, turned down an appeal by attorneys for the university that Gantt's entry of the all-white school be blocked until after the high tribunal has heard arguments in the case.

The registration of Gantt in Clemson's school of architecture would mark the first racial integration in South Carolina at any educational level.

Warren acted swiftly and without comment shortly after Clemson attorneys had lost to similar request for delay in the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals in nearby Alexandria, Va. That court after a 15 minute hearing refused to stay its orders that Gantt be admitted to Clemson Jan. 28.

The Clemson attorneys immediately took their plea to Warren who oversees activities in the 4th circuit and is empowered to act as an individual on such appeals.

The school still is entitled to ask Supreme Court review of the case but as the situation now stands, Gantt, a native of Charleston, S. C., is entitled to enter school for the new semester.

In Charleston, Gantt said he was "very pleased" with Monday's developments and will start making plans to enter Clemson next Monday. South Carolina Gov. Donald S. Russell declined comment until after he conferred with Clemson officials and his legal advisers.

Earlier, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy told a church meeting here that he anticipates no violence in the enrollment of Gantt at Clemson.

"The responsible leaders of South Carolina have made it clear that they're not going to put up with any violence or disorder," the President's brother said.

The Attorney General was in charge of the Federal troop crackdown that was ordered when violence broke out last fall on the University of Mississippi campus over enrollment of James Meredith.

Similarly, a Clemson spokesman said that only accredited newsmen and those connected with the college would be allowed on the campus when Gantt makes his appearance.

"We do not intend for the presence of a Negro student . . . to disrupt the educational program of the college or be a vehicle of propaganda for any cause," the spokesman said.

Gantt, 20, sought admission to Clemson last fall but was turned down on grounds he had failed to complete his application.

Willard's CHATTER

All sorts of little quips reach us, and every once in a while we like to pass them on . . . like so!

"A man is like tea. He never knows his real strength until he gets in hot water."

"There is one thing about baldness . . . it's neat."

"Ulcers . . . something you get from mountain-climbing over mole hills."

"Whether or not it is bad luck to meet a black cat depends on whether you are a man or a mouse."

This could go on for some time, but we think this is a nice one to put an end to it, especially since we have to get on with a commercial.

We realize it is still January according to the calendar, but from the merchandise coming in to WILLARD'S it might as well be spring! Apparently, there will be no "new look" as such this spring. Dresses are casual for both day and evening. The sheath, the shift, the under-stated dress with no waistline, only a tie or contour belt placed to flatter your figure, comes in many fabrics.

We like the flannel dress in pale shades, lined, with round neckline which compliments your pin or necklace received for Christmas . . . the perfect little dress for under coats or to wear with furs and priced so reasonably you can have several. only $12.98

You will love the Marie Phillips three-piece knit in pale shades, so smart for luncheons and meetings and so much for so little. $35.00

These are but a few of our favorite things, and we would like nothing better than to have you see them all. The prices are reasonable, and the new styles are not shocking . . . you will find it fun to shop at Willard's in the center of Iowa City.

Rickover Assails PTA's

NEW YORK (UPI) — Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover said today he thinks school teachers should get more money than Senators. He also said that Parent-Teacher Associations (PTA) are an "infernal nuisance" and should be abolished.

Rickover, the man called the "father of the atomic submarine," took part in the opening session of the two-day 10th anniversary convocation of the Fund for the Republic.

"The definition of the educated man is one who understands the basic fundamentals of what makes the world around him intelligible," Rickover said. "The object of education is not salable skills — it's to develop the intellect."

"We must turn education back to the teachers and take it out of the hands of promoters and administrators. It's time the teachers stepped up and started taking charge."

"We must get the best people in the country into the teaching business. I think the teacher should get more money than a Senator — or even an Admiral. I have always said that if we have to, we should take some money out of the military. And I mean that."

Meredith Absent From Math Final

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — Negro James H. Meredith — reportedly in danger of flunking out at the University of Mississippi — failed to show up Monday to take his final exam in algebra.

At about the same time a Federal Grand Jury that investigated the rioting which occurred when Meredith entered the University, concluded its probe without indicting former Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker.

Meredith refused to comment on his decision not to attend math class Monday.

Skipping a final examination usually means that the student fails the course.

The school has what it calls "delayed examinations," which the school handbook explains can be "taken by a student who, for reason satisfactory to both his dean and the instructor concerned, was unable to take a regular examination or test."

There was no indication Meredith had made provision for such an exam.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who keeps close touch on the "Ole Miss" situation, said earlier that chances are good Meredith will leave the University at the end of the semester.

The 29-year-old Negro Air Force veteran has one more semester-end examination tomorrow in English.

Students in Meredith's math class said there have been a total of six examinations this semester, counting Monday's final test. Meredith, they said, did not turn in a paper on the fifth one, and cut class on the day the second exam was given.

Meredith announced Jan. 7 that he had "decided not to register for classes during the next semester at the University of Mississippi unless very definite and positive changes are made to make my situation more conducive to learning."

The Negro student refused to elaborate on the statement at the time, and he said again Monday that he would have nothing further to say on the subject until after the semester ends this week.

Meanwhile, the Federal Grand Jury that failed to indict former Maj. Gen. Walker has been in session about two weeks.

The jury, in its final report, returned only one indictment and said it had decided not to indict five other persons. The lone indictment concerned a stolen car brought across state lines.

Walker and 10 others had been arrested for allegedly taking part in the rioting and were charged by the Government with insurrection and interfering with Federal officers.
