THE GUILD gallery, operated by SUI art students, will open its sixth group showing of the season Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5:30 at 130 1/2 S. Clinton. The works to be shown are by SUI students.

FRED SCHWENGLER, First District Congressman from Iowa, has announced that he will be in Iowa City Thursday to confer with his research team and with University officials.

IN THE STATE—

CRESTON — The state auditor's office said Friday an audit has uncovered an alleged shortage of $8,449 in the office accounts of the Greater Community Hospital of Creston.

Earl Holloway, state supervisor of county audits, said Mrs. Mary Fornker, 35, former office manager and accounts receivable clerk at the hospital, has admitted taking the money.

DES MOINES — Students at Technical High School have a new device for their experiments — a pinball machine.

The device was confiscated last month. Judge Luther Glanton Jr. donated the pinball game to the high school for experiments. The judge did not elaborate on what the experiments would be.

WASHINGTON — An Iowa-born Chicago free lance artist is among 10 finalists in competition for design of a Battle of Gettysburg commemorative postage stamp.

He is Robert Hegeman, 44, who has designed stamps for Ghana, Nigeria and the Maldives Islands. When he was 19 he received an honorable mention for a design for the International Peace Monument.

NEW YORK — Mayor Robert F. Wagner Friday brought disputants in New York's newspaper strike into what he predicted would be a marathon bargaining session.

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department announced Friday that 10,000 men will be drafted for the Army in April — the largest monthly quota since January 1962.

The April quota is 1,000 greater than that for March and compares with 4,000 men called in both January and February.

WASHINGTON — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa and his officers beat by a scant few hours today a Federal deadline for renewed bonding that had threatened to force them out of business.

The union had until noon to come up with $500,000 worth of bonds. Bonding of union officers is required under the Landrum-Griffin Act to protect labor rank and file from misuse of union funds.

GREENVILLE, N. C. — The United States opened a new radio pipeline into living rooms around the world Friday with the dedication of a mammoth new Voice of America transmitter here.

Combined from Leased Wires

WASHINGTON — The United States resumed underground nuclear weapons testing Friday while the nation's top disarmament negotiator looked toward Geneva in a mildly optimistic mood over chances for progress at renewed talks.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced resumption of testing in Nevada with shots in the intermediate range or less — meaning the equivalent of something between 20,000 and a million tons of TNT. The AEC would not say how many blasts were touched off but confirmed there were more than one.

WILLIAM C. FOSTER, chief of the U.S. Disarmament Agency, is to leave early Saturday for the Feb. 12 resumption of the 17-nation disarmament talks at Geneva. U.S. officials said his emphasis will be on first step "confidence-building" agreements looking to a test-ban treaty and he is at least cautiously hopeful of some progress.

State Department sources indicated Foster and his colleagues will concentrate at Geneva on modest aims looking to a test-ban agreement because it is felt there is virtually no chance for any major progress toward general disarmament.

The Geneva parley has made little headway since it got under way in March.

Foster plans to deliver the principal U.S. speech at next week's reopening, represent the

U.S. Resumes Nuclear Testing

United States at atomic test-ban sessions, then return to Washington.

THE KENNEDY Administration is sending Foster to the conference to stress continued U.S. interest in disarmament. U.S. negotiator Charles C. Steele is slated to stay on as acting head of the U.S. delegation.

Authorities summed up the U.S. position on the eve of the reopening of the negotiations this way: Even though the Soviet Union terminated last month's talks, there is some evidence that the Kremlin still is interested in an agreement. Premier Khrushchev's renewed acceptance of the principle of on-site inspection allows hope for an accord, even though the two sides still are far apart on the number of inspections.

SECRETARY OF STATE Dean Rusk said Soviet diplomats had offered to permit two or three annual on-site inspections on a "take-it-or-leave-it" basis. He said he had hoped this issue would be negotiable.

The New York and Washington talks, which Britain joined in later stages, were prompted by disclosure of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's pre-Christmas offer to Kennedy of a concession on the inspection issue.

To facilitate the diplomatic exchange, Kennedy ordered U.S. testing halted.

The Kennedy-Khrushchev exchange of letters raised new hopes of a test ban agreement. It was the first time that the Soviet leader had accepted the principle of international inspection of Soviet soil to verify a test ban.

BUT KHRUSHCHEV agreed to accept only two or three such inspections a year. Kennedy said more would be needed.

Khrushchev also agreed to let "foreign personnel" service automatic seismic detection devices for distinguishing between natural earth tremors and underground nuclear blasts.

BUT KHRUSHCHEV limited the number of such inspectors to three. Kennedy also said this was not enough.

The issue was clouded further by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's demand that France sign any test ban to make it effective. France insists on developing its own national nuclear force and has boycotted the Geneva Conference from the start.

Secondly, the United States will concentrate on measures for reducing the risks of accidental war with prospects for accord comparatively good because of the Cuban brink-of-war experience affecting both sides.

The latest prior test in Nevada was on Dec. 12 and was the 59th one announced for the series which began 17 months ago.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY on Jan. 26 suspended the Nevada testing in an obvious effort to spur the test-ban talks then going on among the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain.

But the Soviet Union on Jan. 31 broke off the New York talks with a request that they be renewed at Geneva this month. The next day, Secretary Rusk announced Kennedy was ordering resumption of the Nevada tests. This was in line with the President's Jan. 26 statement that he would not accept any prolonged, unpoliced moratorium on testing.

'Hot Cargo' Vessel Lost on Gulf Run

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI) — A big grey-hulled tanker loaded with a "hot cargo" of molten sulphur and manned by a crew of 39 was missing Friday night on a run between Texas and Virginia.

An "urgent" broadcast was flashed to surface ships to be on the lookout for the vessel, the 7,240-ton Marine Sulphur Queen, and a two-ocean air search was launched. Coast Guard planes took off from Elizabeth City, N. C., St. Petersburg, Fla., Miami, Fla., and Biloxi, Miss., to scour the sea lanes between here and the Gulf port of Beaumont, Tex.

The 523-foot vessel left Beaumont Saturday night and was due at Norfolk at noon Thursday.

Its Norfolk agent, Hasler & Co., said the ship should have checked in by radio at noon Tuesday and again Wednesday. No word was heard either day.

Following broadcast of the alert, the Coast Guard was kept busy running down reports that the ship had been sighted. All the early reports involved other vessels.

Authorities had few theories on the whereabouts of the ship, but several speculated that perhaps the vessel had detoured to avoid the winter storm that has kicked up heavy seas in the Atlantic in recent days.

This, they said, could result in a delay of a day or two.

The sulphur carried by the tanker was stored in heavily insulated steel tanks. It is kept in a molten state by a series of steam coils that maintain the temperature in the tanks at 265 degrees.

The operators of the ship, Marine Transport Corp., of New York, said the sulphur cargo was no more dangerous than other cargoes, and less dangerous than gasoline.

Most of the crewmen aboard the ship live in the Houston-Galveston-Beaumont area.

Des Moines Art Center Adds Works

Paintings by three former Iowans — one a past instructor at SUI — have been purchased by the Des Moines Art Center.

The artists whose works were purchased are Raymond Parker, New York City; Kyle Morris, New York City; and William Palmer, Utica, N.Y. The paintings are Palmer's "High Bean Field," a landscape; Morris' "July 20, 1960," and Parker's work, a large, untitled abstraction.

Parker, who had 22 works in the exhibition, studied painting here, receiving his B.A. degree in 1946, and an M.F.A. degree in 1948. He subsequently taught here, and later at the University of Minnesota. Since 1955, he has been at Hunter College in New York City.

One-man exhibitions of Parker's works have been numerous since 1950 in all parts of this country as well as in Paris and Milan. His paintings have been included in many group exhibitions in the Midwest and in New York, and have won a number of first prizes. Some museums in which his works have been displayed are Dayton Art Institute, Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, Whitney Museum and Museum of Modern Art.

These paintings were acquired from an exhibition organized by the Center called "Three Former Iowans."

U-High Sports Program For Today is Cancelled

The University High School swimming, gymnastics, and team sports programs for Iowa City children will not be held today. The programs will resume Feb. 16.

Children may swim in the Old Army pool. The gymnastics recreation period is held in the University High gymnasium. Groups meet at 9, 10, and 11 a.m.

Art Exhibits Draw Works Of SUI Prof

Mauricio Lasansky, SUI professor of art, has been invited to show works in two nationally known exhibitions.

An exceptional print will be eligible for a $250 purchase award for the permanent collection of the Birmingham Museum of Art. The exhibition opened Feb. 3 and will continue through Feb. 24.

Professor Lasansky is one of the 50 artists invited to exhibit their work in an exhibition to be presented by the Providence Art Club, Providence, R.I., March 17 through April 3. This is the annual Kane Memorial Exhibition, at which the Kane awards of a $500 first prize and four other cash awards will be made.

World Poets Influenced By C. Darwin

Gerhard Mueller-Schwefe, SUI visiting professor of English, will deliver the eighth Humanities Society Lecture of the 1962-63 season at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the House Chamber of Old Capitol.

In his lecture, which is entitled "Darwin and the Poets," Professor Mueller-Schwefe will discuss the influence of the Darwinian concept of the "evolving" world on European poetry in general and English poetry in particular.

Poets before Darwin were completely subjective in their approach, the SUI professor said. After Darwin, poets felt that they should describe the world as it is and not present it as a pure product of the imagination.

Children's Dance, Fitness Programs Underway Today

Registrations are being accepted for a children's dance class and physical fitness clinic which opens today and will run for eight consecutive Saturdays. Registration will be held in the SUI women's gymnasium.

Both programs are open to children of Iowa City and surrounding communities.

Dance classes for 5-year-olds will be held at 9 a.m.; for 6- and 7-year-olds at 10 a.m. and for 8-year-olds at 11 a.m. Dance classes are for children who have no previous experience.

A dance workshop for girls with previous training will be held at 11 a.m. The fee for the workshop is $8.

The physical fitness clinic, which meets at 10 a.m., is designed for children who need to improve strength, endurance and general stamina but who are otherwise normal physically and mentally. The fee is $4.

ROSS BARNETT
"On His Shoulders"

Court Refuses Try by Barnett To Shift Blame

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The federal appeals court ruled Friday the State of Mississippi can't shoulder the blame for criminal contempt charges against Gov. Ross Barnett.

Then, after a day of complex legal motions, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals took under advisement a number of motions by Barnett's attorneys seeking dismissal of the charges and, that failing, a jury trial in Mississippi.

The court gave no indication when it would rule on the motions and decide whether to move ahead with the charges against Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr.

Neither Barnett nor Johnson, named together in the charges, appeared at the hearing.

The charges grew out of Barnett's and Johnson's effort to block the enrollment of Negro James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi last fall.

This same court held Barnett and Johnson in civil contempt but never has imposed any penalty.

At the outset of the hearing, Garner W. Green, a Mississippi special assistant attorney general, stepped before the bench and pleaded to make the state a party in the case.

"The actions of Barnett and Johnson in the desegregation crisis — were the acts of the state," he said.

Government attorneys argued that only Barnett and Johnson were involved, not the State of Mississippi. "They and they alone are asked to answer," the government contended.

The judges recessed briefly to consider the matter, then turned down the Mississippi request.

Then the court waded into the technicalities of motions put forward by attorneys for Barnett and Johnson.

They sought dismissal of the charges on a number of grounds — that the Sept. 25 court order barring interference with Meredith, which Barnett and Johnson are accused of violating, was not a valid order; that the appeals court lacks jurisdiction; that the charges were not properly prepared.

They asked the court to consider the two men's cases separately.

Then they headed into their arguments that Barnett and Johnson are entitled to have their cases presented to a grand jury and then — if indicted — are entitled to a jury trial in Mississippi.

Iraq Coup Claimed By Military Junta

U.S. Believes Coup in Iraq Is Anti-Red

Rebel Leader Mustafa, Aides Are Dedicated To Arab Unification

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has scant information on Abdel Kerim Mustafa, leader of Friday's revolutionary coup in Iraq, but believes his movement is basically anti-Communist in character.

The U.S. government had no firm news of whether Iraqi premier Abdel Karim Kassem was killed by the rebels, as reported by Baghdad radio.

State Department officials base their early estimate of the revolutionary movement on reports from Baghdad that the rebel command has purged the army of Communist officers, some of whom had been appointed only recently by Kassem.

Otherwise the State Department knows almost nothing about Mustafa and his immediate associates, most of them under the rank of colonel.

It is known, however, that Mustafa and three of his top aides are members of the Ba'ath party, a clandestine nationalist-socialist movement dedicated to Arab unity and supporting Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser as the recognized leader of the Arab world.

The coup was probably touched off by Kassem's action last week in removing 58 nationalist officers and replacing many of them with elements known to be pro-Communist, State Department specialists said.

As far as Washington knows, virtually all major army unit commanders are supporting the coup.

The speculation here is that the rebels may seek closer relations with Nasser, but no formal union between the two countries is expected at this time.

Oil Property is Cause—

U.S. Cuts Off Ceylon Aid

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI) — The Government called off scheduled indemnification negotiations with two expropriated American oil companies Friday because of U.S. action in cutting off all aid to Ceylon.

In a communique following an emergency cabinet session, the Government said it intended to proceed "in strict accordance" with the provisions of the Ceylon Petroleum Corp. Act nationalizing the oil industry.

Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike convened the emergency session following announcements in Washington and here saying U.S. aid was being cut off because of Ceylon's failure to indemnify the oil companies, ESSO and Caltex.

U.S.-Piloted Aircraft Hit Viet Cong in Major Strike

AP BAI LAI, South Viet Nam (AP) — American-piloted fighter-bombers laid down a blanket of fire bombs, rockets and machine gun fire Friday as South Vietnamese ground forces opened a major operation against Communist guerrillas hiding in tinder-dry countryside not far from Saigon.

It was one of the heaviest air strikes in the war against the Viet Cong from North Viet Nam. Dozens of fires were set in the area and columns of smoke towered into the sky.

U.S. Army helicopters carried South Vietnamese troops into the area, laced with canals and covered with dry brush, to engage guerrilla forces which had increased their activity over the past several weeks.

The U.S.-piloted B26s and T28s ripped into concentrations of enemy troops under trees, strafed and bombed up and down the canals and blistered the entire area with napalm fire bombs.

Brush fires spread rapidly for miles over dry rice fields.

Four At-Large Student Senate Seats Approved

The Committee on Student Life Thursday formally approved a resolution providing for the addition of four members-at-large to the SUI Senate. The Senate passed the constitutional amendment Jan. 22.

The four new student senators will be elected by the entire student body at the all-campus elections in March.

The motion passed the Senate with only one dissenting vote. Introduced by John Niemeyer, Commissioner of Student Rights, and Mark Schantz, president of the Student Senate, the original bill provided for seven at-large members. It was amended to four following strong opposition from dormitory representatives.

The amendment will change the number of elective Senate members from 26 to 30.

UAR Extends Its Recognition In New Sweep

Americans There Reported Unhurt In First Report

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iraq's Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, the army officer who rose to power behind revolutionary bullets and ruled in constant fear of his fellow assassins, was reported overthrown and destroyed Friday by military rivals.

The insurgents ordered a crackdown on Communists and named the pro-Nasser former co-leader in Kassem's own revolution to serve as transitional president.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic and its satellite Yemeni Republic immediately announced recognition of the new regime.

However, borders were sealed amid indications that the Iraqi revolutionaries had not established supremacy throughout the oil-rich states.

Abdel Salam Mohammed Aref, once Kassem's deputy premier and later his prisoner after a reported assassination attempt, was appointed transitional chief of state. However, the junta, calling itself the National Council of Revolutionary Command, announced that it will hold supreme powers.

These were said to include the command of the armed forces and all legislative powers, the right to appoint the president and prime minister.

Kassem's fate remained shrouded in mystery.

The rebels said they seized 600 soldiers in Baghdad and overwhelmed the Defense Ministry, which Kassem had converted into a fortress against his long-feared pro-Nasser enemies.

The government in neighboring Iran said its advisers from Baghdad reported the 48-year-old Iraqi premier perished in the Defense Ministry.

But a Beirut man who telephoned Baghdad later said residents of that capital believed Kassem was in hiding.

The announced leader of the uprising is Col. Abdel Kerim Mustafa, 35, described as an old paratrooper commander and Arab nationalist, discharged from the army three years ago for political activities.

Baghdad radio announced creation of a six-officer "National Council of the Revolutionary Command" headed by Mustafa. The council promised to adhere to the U.N. Charter, honor all international agreements, pursue a neutralist foreign policy and practice democracy at home.

Assuring all foreigners their lives and properties would be safe, the communique said: "The new movement will work to increase our financial potential and guarantee abroad."

That oil will continue to flow Kassem had announced he intended to nationalize the Iraq Petroleum Co., controlled by British and U.S. interests. Iraq is the third largest oil producer in the Middle East, with a production of a million barrels daily and reserve of 12 billion barrels.

Reports to Washington and London indicated the 400 Americans and 950 Britons in Iraq were safe.

A Deserving Candidate For Safety Commissioner

CITY ATTORNEY William F. Sueppel, a native Iowa Citian and graduate of the SUI College of Law, looms a possible choice for one of the highest appointive positions in Iowa government.

Sueppel, a Democrat, is being mentioned among those Governor Hughes is believed considering for nomination to the post of Iowa Commissioner of Public Safety.

THE GOVERNOR has yet to announce his choice for the four-year post. Any nomination would be subject to confirmation by the Iowa Senate. However, a governor's nominee usually gets appointed.

The Commissioner heads the vast State Department of Public Safety which includes, in part, the highway patrol, division of criminal investigation, division of fire protection and investigation and the motor vehicle registration division.

Carl H. Pesch, also an SUI alumnus, has held the $11,000 per year job after being appointed to an incomplete term by former Governor Norman Erbe in January, 1961.

HOWEVER, Pesch is a Republican. Since his term will expire on June 30, it is logical to anticipate that Governor Hughes will reach into the ranks of the Democratic Party for the man who will hold the important post after June 30.

From 1960 until 1962, he was Chairman of the Johnson County Democratic Party and is presently a Precinct Committeeman.

THE CONSENSUS of City Council members with whom Sueppel has worked is that he has served Iowa City conscientiously as an efficient, knowledgeable and capable City Attorney. Several council members say they are willing to recommend him for any task.

Active in University and civic affairs, Sueppel has worked with the SUI Old Gold Development Fund and is a member of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Elks and the Knights of Columbus.

We judge that the qualifications of our City Attorney merit careful examination before Governor Hughes announces any nominee for Iowa Commissioner of Public Safety.

An Irresponsible Accusation by Wilkins

RACIAL EQUALITY isn't advanced by the kind of irresponsible accusation made recently by Roy Wilkins, secretary of the NAACP, on a visit to Cedar Rapids. He attacked Bourke Hickenlooper's civil rights record as being no better than that of Senator Russell of Georgia.

That isn't true. It isn't even approximately true. It's an outright prevarication — a complete distortion of the facts.

The misrepresentation is so flagrant that J. B. Morris of the Iowa Bystander, a newspaper published for the state's Negro citizens, felt required to repudiate the NAACP spokesman.

"It is always dangerous," Publisher Morris wrote, "for an outsider to come into a state and attack one of its citizens. So popular a person as the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt tried it with dismal failure."

"The Bystander," Morris added, "has not always agreed with Sen. Hickenlooper's position on civil rights. It has not always agreed with Roy Wilkins. But to say the Hickenlooper record is no better than that of Russell is ridiculous. Wilkins knows it."

With this stated, the Iowan proceeded to tick off the instances in which Hickenlooper proved his devotion to the ideal of racial equality. These included support for the confirmation of Judge Thurgood Marshall and other Negro appointees.

The Iowan, Morris recalled, headed the subcommittee which exposed the intimidation methods against Negroes indulged in by Mississippi's infamous Sen. Bilbo in his last campaign.

In an important and sensitive position such as that occupied by Roy Wilkins, there is special need for fairness and accuracy.

A Harvard administrator has charged business with putting too much emphasis on the college degree.

Delmar Leighton, a 40-year veteran of Harvard, told a Harvard Crimson reporter last week that business firms have created the erroneous idea that young men must attend college to succeed.

There is still a place for the self-made man, asserted Leighton, but "he will have a bit of trouble getting jobs."

Leighton fears many people are entering college as a result of this business-created impression. "The real advantage of going to college is not making more money and getting a better job," he said.

The company that hires only college graduates does a disservice to both the nation's colleges and its people, added Leighton.

A Massachusetts Institute of Technology philosophy professor told Michigan State University students last month that the 20th Century mind can no longer accept the 19th century concept that held the universe to be an orderly and harmonious system (cosmology).

"Twentieth Century science has shattered 18th and 19th Century cosmology," reported Prof. Huston Smith.

"The modern mind of both 18th and 19th Century believed that man's mind could comprehend order in the universe and eventually be able to use it for his own benefit," reported Smith.

But, said Smith, the 20th Century mind is no longer certain that nature is orderly, or if it is orderly, whether man can improve his lot by using it.

Modern science has demonstrated that our senses are bad witnesses and 'post-modern' science is showing us that our imagination is a faulty instrument to explain our world said Smith.

Smith pointed out that it is difficult for the average man to understand the atom or proton, let alone an electron that jumps from one orbit to another without traversing the space between.

Facts like these, disclosed through our modern science, have ruined the confidence philosophers once had in an ordered universe said Smith.

"Thus the post modern mind is the mind which has come to doubt that nature is ordered and that man's mind can lay reason to bear."

As a result of this questioning of the 'ordered universe' theory, there has been a decline in confidence in the traditional arguments for the existence of God, Smith continued.

He said when it comes to the theological questions about life as a whole, they usually end with people being unable to answer them because they can't rely on the arguments that have been used for centuries.

That same day, in neighboring Ohio, Evangelist Billy Graham was telling some 3100 Ohio State University students:

"We are living in a spiritual vacuum that leaves us without a philosophy to live by."

"Our problem is man himself. (He's) trying to destroy the world, not enlighten it. I studied the Stone-Age Indians of South America and saw how they lied and cheated and fought among themselves."

"It seemed to me that these people needed the blessings of the civilization that we have — and then I looked at my own society and I saw the same lying, cheating and fighting that is characteristic of the savages."

Graham said that man's "savagery" was brought about by Original Sin.

He continued, "Each of us is suffering from internal civil wars between good and evil. We need a change which will bring out the good and dissolve the evil."

"This change must come from the inside and the only way it can happen is through Christ."

Following the televised appearance, Graham told the student newspaper, The Lantern, that there is less atheism on campuses today than there was 20 years ago.

Graham, who said he spends about one-third of his time on college campuses, explained that his mission was to cure man's spiritual disease — sin.

'Straighten That Tie!'

A Concert Review and Interview— Jazzman Brubeck Has Words on 'Rotten Culture'

By ERIC ZOECKLER
News Editor

Dave Brubeck, internationally renowned pianist-composer, thinks this country should adopt strict controls over music and the arts.

The 42-year-old jazzman, whose quartet performed before a capacity audience at the Union Thursday evening, said government control would be an excellent way in which "good" music and art would be accepted and "trash" eliminated.

"Why should we be so damn democratic in so many areas in this country," Brubeck asked.

"One in which we should be more dictatorial is in the arts," Brubeck, who has won numerous American and international awards and popularity polls, said.

"Why aren't Bernstein, Darius Milhaud, Eugene Ormandy, Stan Kenton and Duke Ellington named to this board. Why don't we have some say?"

"There's government controls on what you put into your stomach, why not on what you put into your brains?" Brubeck asked.

HE SPOKE in a whisper to a reporter in a conference room behind the main lounge. As he draped his overcoat over his shoulders he said he had been suffering from a deep chest cold for the past week.

What Brubeck had just imparted is a second "goal" which he would like to see accomplished in his lifetime. It took him nearly 20 years to attain his "first love."

"When I started to play jazz seriously at the College of Pacific in 1942, I set out to be accepted by playing what we call 'polytonal and polyrhythmic' jazz."

In accordance with jazz standards, Brubeck was forced to play predominantly in the straight four-count rhythms.

But at present he, Paul Desmond, alto saxophone; Gene Wright, bass and Joe Morrello, on drums are best known for their successful experiments into complex time-signature works. "Take Five" and "Blue Rondo a la Turk," are favorites among the jazz-loving public.

Desmond's solo on "Trolley Song" was an outstanding example of his finesse and technical ability. The altoist, admittedly tired from a flight from Oklahoma City to Iowa City, seemed to start slowly, but finished with an exciting passage on "I'm In a Dancing Mood" which brought the crowd to its feet.

Brubeck's forceful style was excitingly put forth when he soloed during the second movement of "Dialogues for Jazz Combo and Orchestra."

Too Much, Too Long—

Best Barometer: Mississippi Youth

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of articles by Walter Keller, C. Brooklyn, N.Y., describing the situation in Clarksdale, Miss. Keller was one of five SUI students who went to Clarksdale last weekend to deliver a load of food and clothing collected by the Student Association on Racial Equality.

By WALTER R. KELLER
Written for The Daily Iowan

One of the pictures in Wednesday's Daily Iowan showed some Negro men on one of the Clarksdale, Miss. streets. There is something that picture did not show.

I saw many hundreds of jobless Negroes during our short stay in Clarksdale. They do stand around on the streets and walk up and down, but they do not idle aimlessly.

There's an intangible something in their appearance. Perhaps it's in the way they move or in the sound of their voices. At any rate, they seem to have some inkling of direction and hope, even now, when they are being pressed down more than ever before in their lives.

Perhaps the youths of Coahoma County are the best barometer of the tomorrows in Mississippi. An angry, restive group, they are dissatisfied with their grandfathers and parents who they feel have been too willing to stand for too much of the dirt heaped upon them by their white peers.

MISSISSIPPI girls are helping the Council of Federated Organizations activities on a large scale. And, what is most important, they are learning the Mississippi Constitution backward and forward while still in their teens.

Many of them want to go to college. Many of them are going to apply, and apply again, and fight through the courts to get a decent education.

The men of the Delta are realizing the dignity of many labor. Many of them are not going to be willing to accept "No" for an answer when trying for factory jobs, and they'll say "No" at the polls. The Negroes are greatly encouraged by the help they are getting from people in many parts of the country. Some of them are acutely aware of Iowa City's existence now.

We can't hope to be able to help them enough. The letter which I quote in part below should show why. It is from the director of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee voter registration drives in Mississippi. It appeared in the Michigan Daily in early December in answer to a letter from a coed at the University of Michigan asking just how badly aid is needed:

"Just this afternoon, I was sitting reading, having finished a bowl of stew, and a silent hand reached over from behind, mumbled some words of apology and permission, and stumbled up with a neckbone from the plate under the bowl, one which I had discarded, which had consequently some meat on it.

"The hand was back again, five seconds later, groping for the potato I had left in the bowl. I never saw the face. I didn't look. The hand was dark, dry and wind cracked, a man's hand, from the cotton chopping and cotton picking. Lafayette and I got up and walked out. What the hell are you going to do when a man has to pick up a left over potato from a bowl of stew. . . ."

These boys and MISSISSIPPI girls are helping the Council of Federated Organizations activities on a large scale. And, what is most important, they are learning the Mississippi Constitution backward

House Trailer Destroyed In Iowa City Flash Fire

Fire, apparently caused by defective wiring, destroyed a 38-foot house trailer on its site 1,200 feet east of North Dubuque St. early Friday afternoon. No one was injured in the fire.

No estimate of the damage is available.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Alberhasky, owners of the trailer, were at work when the fire started. Their two children, Diane, 2, and Scott, four months, were at the nearby home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Alberhasky, at the time.

Mrs. Bernard Alberhasky said his wife "just happened to look out" and see the trailer house "seem to explode."

By the time firemen arrived, they found the trailer engulfed in flames. Although they soon ran short of water, firemen said they doubted whether the trailer or any of its contents could have been saved even if there had been plenty of water.

The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Coe Students Set Race Talks Here

Two Coe College students who were jailed in Mississippi during the recent racial unrest there will address the congregation of the First Christian Church in Iowa City at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

As part of the church's Race Relations Day service, Bill Schalk, Chicago, Ill., and Philip Ensley, Clarksdale, Miss., will relate their experiences during a summer spent in Negro YMCA and YWCA work. The work was done as part of the Coe College summer service program at Tougaloo Christian College in Mississippi.

Congregation members will have an opportunity to talk informally with the students during a coffee hour at the church following the service.

Judge Halts Accident Suit

The plaintiff in a $26,000 suit cannot sue for injuries resulting from an automobile accident June 2, 1960, because notice to the defendant was improperly filed and the statute of limitation subsequently expired, according to a ruling by Judge Clair E. Hamilton in District Court Thursday.

Vernon J. Sibel had filed suit May 31, 1962, in District Court for $26,000 damages against Jimmy and Fred Slockett of Wellman. Hamilton ruled that when the case

SUI Student Fined On Traffic Count

Robert Hines, A4, Harlan, was fined $300 in Johnson County District Court Wednesday, following an arrest for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated in October, 1961.

Hines was charged after police stopped him when he ran a stop sign at Burlington and Van Buren Streets. Hines pleaded guilty. The charge was carried through several terms of court.

TRACK MEET AT 7:30 P.M.

EVEN THOUGH it has warmed up a bit lately after the record lows we had here last month, most Iowans haven't been thinking too much about track. The thin-clads usually take to the cinder paths in early spring around here, but not the Hawkeye indoor tracksters of coach Francis X. Cretzmeyer.

This year Cretz has his eye on the Big Ten indoor crown currently resting over in Madison in the trophy case of the Wisconsin Badgers. His Hawkeye team has fine balance, with the exception of the pole vault, and should be able to score in many of the events.

Tonight at 7:30 the Hawks open their indoor season with one of their major competitors, the defending champs, Wisconsin. Michigan, the outdoor title winner, is another of the favorites in the conference. Several members of the Badger football team that showed up for the Rose Bowl game will be on hand. Bill Smith, a halfback during the fall, runs the 60 yard dash and 70 yard low hurdles during the indoor season.

Smith was the conference champion in both of these events last year. Lou Holland, another race-horse halfback, also runs the 60 and defeated Smith in the event in Wisconsin's only dual meet thus far. The Badgers defeated annually strong Western Michigan, 73-66 in their opening dual meet. Wisconsin will also field Big Ten champions in the following fields: Larry Howard, high and low hurdles; Don Hendrickson, indoor shot put and Elmer Ezrins, outdoor shot put.

FRANCIS CRETZMEYER
Coach of Indoor Track Team

Ezrins is the man who made the circus catch of a Vanderkelen pass in the Iowa game for a back-breaking touchdown.

Iowa's brilliant high jumper, Wes Sidney, recently declared eligible, will tackle the Wisconsin sophomore Bill Holden (Not the movie star girl) who leaped 6-7 in his first meet.

The Hawkeyes can counter with a star student barrage of their own. Bill Frazier, the long-legged junior from Princeton, has grabbed two titles already, the conference indoor 600 and outdoor 880. Gary Fischer from Dubuque copped the trophy for the 1000 yard run indoors. The Hawkeye mile relay team which uses a combination of the following men: Frazier, Gary Hollingsworth, Gary Richards, team Captain Roger Kerr, and Scott Rocker, may push the Big Ten standard for that distance down a couple of seconds before the season is out.

The Hawks, however, will face strong competition from the Badger mile relay team which features little Elzie Higgenbottom running the anchor lap.

Don Loker of Wisconsin is capable of running a top notch mile race and should give either a good run. Larry Kramer, a top performer for the Hawkeyes in cross-country, will hold down the two-mile slot for Iowa. Speedster Frazier may not be able to run, says Cretzmeyer, because of blister trouble on the soles of his feet. "Bill is a fine competitor, but I wouldn't want him to run if it might make the condition worse," said the Hawkeye coach.

The evenings program will open with the Field Events taking place at 7 p.m. These include shot put, broad jump, high jump and pole vault. Running events will begin at 7:30. They will be (in order) the mile run, the 440 dash, the 70 yard high hurdles, the 1000 yard run, the 60 yard dash, the 600 yard run, the 300 yard run, the 880 yard run, the 70 yard low hurdles and the two. Those waiting to see the mile relay will have to wait until the final program of the evening set for 9:15 p.m.

If Enough Season Tickets Sold—

Kansas City Plans New Home for Dallas Texans

KANSAS CITY — The city council stated its intention late Friday to enlarge Municipal Stadium and erect an office building to make a new home for the Dallas Texans, champions of the American Football League.

T. Lamar Hunt, owner of the Texans, said:

"If we can work out a satisfactory arrangement for use of Municipal Stadium and if Kansas City will sell 25,000 season tickets, we will move the club to Kansas City."

"There doesn't appear to be any major stumbling block on the stadium," Hunt added, "but if they don't sell 25,000 season tickets, the club will stay in Dallas."

The Kansas City Chamber of Commerce agreed to spearhead the ticket sale, beginning April 15. A spokesman expressed confidence the goal can be reached in 30 days.

The football ticket sale will be delayed until April, after the baseball season starts, so the chamber can concentrate first on selling season tickets for the Kansas City Athletics, explained Bill Dauer, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce.

The city council, in a resolution of intent, said it would lease the stadium to the Texans for a seven-year term, with successive six-year options for renewal. Rental would be $1 a year for the first two years, and 5 per cent of net ticket receipts in any year the receipts equal or exceed $1.1 million.

The resolution said the city and football club would share equally in net concession income.

The city would build 3,000 permanent seats behind the right-field fence, and 11,000 removable seats in left field — which would be along the north side of the football field. That would bring the stadium's capacity to about 45,000 seats.

Money for the improvements would come from stadium and outdoor theater bond funds already approved by the voters.

The Texans won the 1962 championship with ten rookies on the roster. One of them was Curtis McClinton, former University of Kansas star, who was fifth in the league in rushing. Quarterback Len Dawson, former Purdue star, led the league in passing, his aeriels accounting for 2,759 yards and 27 touchdowns passes.

Abner Haynes was second in the league in rushing and Chris Burford was one of the AFL's leading pass receivers.

Swimmers Meet Illinois at 2 p.m.

Iowa Swimming Coach Bob Allen expects most of the events to be close when the Hawkeyes go for their first win of the season against Illinois in the Field House pool at 2 p.m. today.

Iowa has lost to Indiana, Nebraska, Michigan State and Minnesota while Illinois is 3-3 for the season. The Illini have posted wins over Macalester, Ohio University and Ohio Wesleyan while losing to Minnesota, Ohio State and Purdue.

Illinois, opening second semester competition, is bolstered by the addition of Phil Karafotas and Martin Klingel. Karafotas holds the Illini record in the 440-yard free style and Klingel, whose versatility is a great asset to the Illini, placed 12th in the Big Ten individual medley two years ago.

"Illinois' power will be with these two men and Jim Spreitzer, a senior from Evansville," Iowa's coach stated.

Spreitzer, not in top condition because of a sore back, was the NCAA 220-yard free style champion last year. He swam the 100-yard free style in :50.8 in a double dual meet last weekend.

"The breaststroke should be an interesting event," Allen predicted, adding, "Ed Kral and Iowa captain Dennis Vokolek should have quite a battle."

"I also look for good races in the individual medley and in the 200-yard free style; in fact, I think all the events will be very close and interesting," the Hawk coach said.

The Hawkeyes' power, according to Allen, will be in the diving competition with Jim Robbins and Mike LeVois. Both have fared well in Iowa's earlier meets.

Other Hawks expected to turn in good performances include Ralph Laughlin, scorer of 19 points in free style races, along with other freestylers Bill Sjostrom and Harvey Schutte.

Along with Spreitzer, Illinois has Dick Dooley in the free-style, Bill Shriner in the backstroke, Fred Spreitzer in the butterfly and three veterans from Illinois record-setting relay teams.

Illinois, Nebraska Tackle Gymnasts

The Iowa gymnastics team will have double duty this afternoon at 3:30 as both Nebraska and Illinois will be on hand to challenge the Hawkeyes in the North Gym of the Field House.

The Hawkeyes are now 3-2 for the dual meet season after last week's upset over Michigan State. However Coach Dick Holzaepfel said his team has yet to hit its stride.

The Hawkeye coach is doubtful his team can attain the performance of last Saturday since Nebraska is a non-conference foe and Illinois is still looking for its first victory.

"Nebraska is a real fine team," Holzaepfel commented. "They could give us a lot of trouble."

The Cornhuskers have two outstanding performers on its six-man squad. Both Francis Allen and Dennis Albers are highly touted as all-around performers.

Illinois has lost three previous outings and only two members of the team are in good shape. One of the healthy Illini is Hal Holmes, national tumbling champion. The other is Max Hackleman, team manager and side horse specialist.

Gavin Blair is rated as a top gymnast, but has been slowed up by injuries. Despite injuries, Blair is second in point scoring.

One change has been made in the Hawkeye lineup. Bob Schmidt will take over on the high bar for Russ Porterfield. Porterfield completed his eligibility at the end of the first semester.

Glenn Gailis continues to lead the team in scoring with 87 points. The small sophomore came into his own last week when he finished in a tie on the still rings with Michigan State's Dale Cooper, national and Big Ten still rings champion.

George Hery follows Gailis in scoring with 85 points. Hery normally competes in four events.

Other Hawkeyes consistently finishing in the top two places are Joe Roos in free exercise, Bill Sayre and Keith Spaulding in tumbling, and Schmidt in the parallel bars.

Hawks Attack Wildcats At Northwestern Tonight

PROBABLE LINEUPS

IOWA	Pos.	N'WESTERN
Riddle	(6-3) F (6-3)	Lopossa
Roach	(6-5) F (6-5)	Keeley
Messick	(6-4) C (6-4)	Woislaw
Reddington	(6-1) G (6-1)	Falk
Rodgers	(6-3) G (6-1)	Riessen

Iowa's cagers, seeking their fourth consecutive Big Ten Win, meet hot-shooting Northwestern at McGaw Hall in Evanston at 8 p.m.

Coach Sharm Scheuerman will start his regular quintet with Fred Riddle and Dave Roach at forwards, Jerry Messick at center, and Joe Reddington and Jimmy Rodgers at guards.

Northwestern, now ninth in the Big Ten standings with a 2-4 mark has fired 50 per cent or better from the floor in its last three games. The Wildcats lead the conference in field goal percentage with a 47 per cent mark.

The Wildcats, who use three different offenses against man-to-man teams such as Iowa, will be led by high scoring guard Richie Falk, 6-0, who is third in the conference scoring race averaging 25 points per game. Falk dumped in 35 in Northwestern's 100-87 victory over Indiana.

Rick Lopossa, 6-3 junior forward, is the Wildcats' leading scorer for the season with a 15-point average. Big 6-9 center Bill Woislaw, who spent part of this season recovering from a knee operation, seems to have regained his form and scored 20 points against the Hoosiers.

Phil Keeley, leading rebounder with 105 for the year, starts at forward with Lopossa and Marty Riessen team up with Falk in the backcourt.

Iowa will be looking for its first win since semester break after losing to second-ranked Loyola of Chicago, 86-68, last Saturday.

Big 10 Race Will Feature Illinois-MSU

By The Associated Press

The Big Ten basketball race Saturday will have its first full five-game conference round since Jan. 5, featuring Michigan State's effort to hand pacesetter Illinois its first league setback.

The host Illini (5-0) also will be risking their No. 4 position in the Associated Press national poll against the Spartans (3-4).

This is an afternoon encounter as will be Wisconsin (2-3) at Ohio State (4-2) in a regionally-televized matinee and Indiana (3-2) at Michigan (3-3).

The two Saturday night tilts include Iowa (3-3) at Northwestern (2-4) and Purdue (1-7) at Minnesota (4-2).

The semester break had interrupted the conference race which now continues at full pace through the 14-game chase ending March 9.

Despite their 1½-game edge over Minnesota and defending champion Ohio State, the Illini are far from a title cinch.

Starting Monday night they have three successive road games — at Wisconsin, Indiana and Purdue — and must tackle Minnesota away on Feb. 25.

The Illini own the Big Ten's top scoring average, 92.6 points, and have two individuals among the first 10 point-makers — seventh-place Dave Downey with a 20-point average and ninth-place Bill Small with 18.

As Ohio State seeks to avenge its only Big Ten loss last season against Wisconsin, the Buckeyes will be led by the No. 1 conference scorer, Gary Bradds, with a 32-point average.

McCuskey's Maulers Whip Northwestern, 18-9

Iowa's wrestling team, winning four matches, and drawing in three others, won their fifth straight conference dual meet here Friday night defeating Northwestern 18-9 before an estimated 1,500 fans.

The Wildcats, hampered by illness and going with a revised lineup, were able to win only the first match of the night when Dave Kreider outpointed Bill Fuller, 4-2.

Unbeaten 130-pounder, Norm Parker took his seventh win of the season defeating George Shartle, 7-2. Norm scored on a takedown in the first period, a reversal in the second, a predicament in the third and picked up riding time for the extra point.

Tom Huff won his sixth match in seven starts defeating Ron Risner, 8-1. The all-American ace scored on a takedown in the first round, and in the second escaped and scored on another takedown. Risner escaped early in the final round, but another takedown, predicament, and riding time gave Huff his margin of victory.

Steve Combs, Hawkeye 167-pounder, won by the largest score of the night as he did everything but pin Mike Allen on his way to a 14-1 win. The Moline, Illinois senior took a 6-0 first period lead on a takedown and twice scoring predicament points. In the second round he increased his margin to 13-0 picking up points on a reversal, near fall, and another predicament. He was unable to roll Allen into a pin position the final round, and Allen managed to escape with 26 seconds left, though Steve picked up a riding time point.

Roger Schilling, moving down from the heavyweight class, scored a 6-2 win over the Wildcats' Duff Brace. Schilling, now 3-2 for the season, scored a takedown with 31 seconds left in the first period. He escaped in five seconds of the final round, taking a 3-0 lead, but Duff narrowed it to 3-2 with a takedown. With only 25 seconds left in the match Schilling reversed Brace, and added riding time.

In what could be termed as the upset of the night, Iowa heavyweight Ken Johnson scored a takedown against former 191-pound conference champion Al Jaklich to force a 3-3 draw. After a scoreless first round, Johnson escaped for a 1-0 second period lead. Jaklich escaped with just 7 seconds of the final period gone, and it looked as if he was going to have a riding time 2-1 win before Johnson's takedown with 23 seconds remaining in the match.

Joe Greenlee was given a 3-2 win on the mat, however an error in timing on riding time was discovered, and his match with John Huffman was declared a draw, 3-3. Both wrestlers scored on reversals, with Greenlee picking up an escape point and Huffman riding time.

Iowa 157-pounder Dave Kohl scored a takedown against Bill Breece, but Breece escaped twice with their match also ending in a draw, 2-2.

The Hawkeyes put their 5-2 record on the line here Monday night against Minnesota.

WILLS SIGNS
LOS ANGELES — Maury Wills, Los Angeles Dodger shortstop, who established a major league base stealing record last season of 104, signed his 1963 contract Friday. It called for $45,000.

The new contract represents a sizeable increase for the little fellow, who started the 1962 season at $24,000 but was boosted to $30,000 by General Manager Buzzy Bavasi because of his exploits.

Wills told newsmen before the signing that he doesn't expect to break the 104 mark, and he said he expects it to stand up for quite some time.

Anti-Prejudice Charter Drawn Up By Olympic Board

LAUSANNE, Switzerland — The executive board of the International Olympic Committee drew up a charter Friday designed to bar any country guilty of discriminating against foreign athletes for political, racial or religious reasons.

The document, drafted by a 5-member committee in an 8-hour session, now goes to the IOC and the various international federations for approval.

"International sports cannot survive if used either as a tool or as a weapon for political purposes," the charter said in its preamble.

In an unprecedented action Thursday, the IOC barred Indonesia indefinitely from Olympic competition as a result of the Jakarta incident. No action was taken against France, the United States and the Philippines apparently because they failed to take an active role in the exclusion of the East Germans.

The Indonesians' act was overt. They specifically refused admittance to Israel and Nationalist China.
