IN THE STATE—

DES MOINES (AP) — A bill to create a State Agricultural Products Utilization Committee and appropriate $100,000 for its operation was filed Monday by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The program was advocated both by Gov. Harold Hughes and former Gov. Norman Erbe. A similar bill is on file in the House.

DES MOINES (AP) — Strong opposition was reported in the Iowa Senate Monday to the House-passed bill abolishing the death penalty for murder in this state.

A newspaper said its poll of the 16 members of Senate Judiciary Committee 1, to which the bill was assigned, showed that 12 were opposed to abolishing capital punishment.

AMANA (AP) — The Amama Society reported at a stockholders meeting Monday improved business conditions for the second year in a row, and declared a dividend of $3 a share.

IN THE NATION—

NEW YORK (UPI) — Negotiations in the 66-day-old New York newspaper strike stalled Monday. Mayor Robert Wagner said substantial differences were preventing publishers and striking printers from ending the dispute.

Spokesmen for both sides said they were discouraged because a 19 1/2 hour "showdown" bargaining session which ended Monday failed to produce a new contract.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury told Congress Monday that individual income tax rates will have to be set higher than proposed by President Kennedy if the lawmakers spurn his plea for restrictions on tax deductions.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Rep. Robert J. Corbett (R-Pa.) said Monday he believed New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has a "good chance" of beating President Kennedy in the 1964 presidential election.

IN THE WORLD—

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker patched up his revolt-torn cabinet Monday and immediately renewed the nuclear defense controversy that caused the downfall of his Government and damaged U.S.-Canadian relations.

BERLIN (UPI) — A Western publication reported Monday 28 East Germans escaped through the Communist anti-refugee wall to freedom hidden in a secret compartment behind the grill of an automobile.

SALISBURY Southern Rhodesia (UPI) — Thirteen Africans will sit in Parliament today for the first time in the country's history, in opposition to a government elected on a platform of racial segregation. The session, Southern Rhodesia's 10th Parliament, is expected to be one of the stormiest on record.

U.S. Atomic Testing Hinders Treaty, Say Russians

(Combined from Leased Wires) GENEVA — American and Soviet co-chairmen of the 17-nation disarmament conference met Monday to lay ground rules for the nuclear test ban talks which resume today under the shadow of a bitter Russian denunciation of new U.S. underground testing.

President Kennedy's special envoy, William C. Foster, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, conferred Monday for half an hour with his Soviet counterpart, First Deputy Foreign Minister Vassili V. Kuznetsov.

The Americans and British tried to lift some of the gloom by insisting that an opportunity exists for agreement on a treaty if the Soviet Union will discuss enforcement details. But they held that the Soviets — for all their talk of concessions — still take a too-rigid stand.

The Americans and British want the Soviet Union to agree to eight to 10 on-site inspections a year and to accept seven to 10 black boxes, or automatic seismic detectors, as safeguards against secret testing.

Started: The United Nations sponsored the conference, which was organized March 14, 1962, and has held 95 plenary sessions.

Participants: From the West are the United States, Britain, Canada and Italy. France boycotts the conference. From the East are the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria. Eight unaligned nations are present — Brazil, Burma, Ethiopia, Egypt, India, Mexico, Nigeria and Sweden.

Agenda: The conference is considering both a Western and a Soviet plan for global disarmament and a nuclear test ban.

Progress: Both the Western and Soviet plans aim at reducing and finally eliminating armaments. But they differ greatly on how to do it.

Specific East-West differences: The West wants both conventional and nuclear weapons to be cut down in three stages. The West-ern plan is designed to insure that the relative strength of East and West remains the same until the probable 10-year-old disarmament period is over.

SUI's 'New' Antique Press

Through Efforts of Lasansky—

'Priceless' Press at SUI For Use of Art Department

By GARY SPURGEON Staff Writer

A "priceless" print press now resides in the SUI Art Department because of the efforts of Dr. Mauricio Lasansky, professor of art.

The press, thought to be nearly 100 years old, arrived at SUI last month after being stationed in various places in the United States since the early 1950's.

Lasansky considers acquiring the press a great achievement. "This press is like finding the missing link," he said proudly. "No other university in the United States has such a press."

Lasansky commented that Virginia Myers, an instructor in the Art Department, said she spent last summer in Europe and did not find a similar one.

Miss Myers said the press should be Lasansky's own property because of the effort he exerted to acquire it. She said he was "very generous" for allowing it to be used by students. The press is used to print copies of students' work. It is capable of reproducing prints 3 feet by 5 1/2 feet.

Made of cast iron with brass fittings, the press weighs about 6,000 pounds. Lasansky would not disclose the amount the University paid for the press.

Elliott Elgart, a former student of Lasansky, found the press in Paris in 1952 while studying under a Fulbright Scholarship. Elgart brought it to Lasansky's attention.

The press then belonged to LeBlanc printers, who were described by Lasansky as one of the oldest printers in Europe. He theorized that the press was used originally to make prints of documents, maps and charts.

Lasansky said the press did beautiful work and that it worked with absolutely no noise. "It is a great acquisition for SUI," he said as he patted the press.

Cuba Forms Rebel Firing Squad Kills 4 Iraqi 'Traitors'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A proposition concerning Cuba will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Consensus on International Affairs, (CIA), tonight at 8 at Wesley House.

The CIA surveys its members on various issues of foreign policy and sends summaries of these surveys to government authorities and to newspapers.

The Cuba proposition is the fourth considered by the group. The proposal reads in part: "We urge the United States government to take immediate steps to re-establish diplomatic, cultural and trade relations with Cuba."

The proposition includes a proposal for disarmament in South America.

At the meeting, the group will elect a treasurer, discuss procedures for naming board members, and hear comments on the year's activities.

News Conference

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy will hold a news conference at 3 p.m. Thursday, the White House announced Monday. It is expected to be on live television but no decision has yet been made.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — An Iraqi rebel firing squad executed four high ranking retired Army officers as "traitors" Monday as the United States and Russia joined the growing number of nations recognizing the new anti-Communist Baghdad regime.

Baghdad radio reported the executions and also announced the new revolutionary regime had seized property belonging to ministers of the overthrown regime in its efforts to clean out pockets of Communist influence.

Westerners arriving here from Baghdad reported heavy movements of troops and tanks through the capital streets. This followed the lightning coup by young Army and Air Forces officers who deposed and promptly executed Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

A visiting West German Parliament member, Rudolph Werner, said that beside the troop movements, everything in Baghdad Monday "was dead quiet, frighteningly so."

The new executions brought to eight the number announced who have died before firing squads. Kassem and three of his aides died the second day of the rebellion.

Throughout the day the list of nations recognizing the new Baghdad Government grew. The United States, West Germany and Britain led a parade of Western nations to accord recognition. The Soviet Union followed suit Monday afternoon.

The Soviets declared that Moscow recognizes the right of the people of each state to determine their government. Neighboring Middle East nations, including a number hostile to Nasser, joined the parade.

Iraqi Government Gets Recognition and Cheer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States Monday recognized the new Iraqi Government and extended its "best wishes for success and prosperity."

The action came only three days after the revolt in Baghdad overthrew the regime of slain President Abdel Karim Kassem.

Tokyo: Red China 'Incapable' of War

China Slams Yugoslavia's 'Revisionism'

Says Soviet Censure Of Tito Must Precede Chinese-Russia Talks

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China told the Soviet Union Monday there can be no end to their ideological dispute until Moscow repudiates Yugoslav President Tito.

The Chinese Communists replied to an 8,000-word editorial in Sunday editions of Pravda, the official Communist newspaper, calling for red unity.

"There can be no reversing the verdict repudiating the modern revisionists of Yugoslavia," the Communist New China News Agency quoted the Peking People's Daily.

"The revolutionary forces of the world will under no circumstances permit the export of counter-revolution by the Tito group," the article said. "Differences in the international Communist movement should be resolved only on the basis of the (1957) Moscow declaration and the (1960) Moscow statement."

The Pravda editorial, relatively mild in tone, said a Communist "summit" meeting would be acceptable to the Soviet Union "if the fraternal parties deem it expedient."

The 1957 and 1960 documents mentioned by the People's Daily came after conferences of the Communist world from which Yugoslavia had been excluded.

The Soviet Union offered to talk over "at any level" the ideological differences which have split Moscow and Peking. Pravda said, however, that the groundwork for such a meeting must come from bilateral meetings among Communists after a cooling off period.

This, Western observers believe, could take years. The Russian offer has evoked no direct comment from the Peking Regime.

The Kremlin did not back down from its position by reaffirming Soviet friendship with Yugoslavia.

SARE Steps Up Local Mississippi Aid Drive

THE SUI chapter of the Student Association on Racial Equality (SARE) in cooperation with the Student Senate Emergency Relief Committee is continuing its project to send money, food and clothing to the impoverished Negroes of Clarksdale, Miss.

SARE plans to send letters to SUI professors asking for monetary contributions. A house to house canvass of Iowa City is being planned for Feb. 22. Volunteers will distribute door knob tags asking Iowa City residents to contribute any food, clothing and money they can spare.

The letter being sent to faculty members outlines the work which SARE has already done in Mississippi and outlines future plans of the group.

EMPHASIZING THE need for residents of Iowa City to cooperate in the SARE campaign the letter says, "We hope to involve as many people as possible and thereby boost the morale of our Southern friends as we hasten the demise of a system of discrimination which has long enough been a blight on American democracy."

SARE is asking a group of ten faculty members to sign the letter and sponsor it. The following six have already agreed to sponsor it: Anthony Constantino, associate professor of general business; David Gold, associate professor of sociology; Wilmer Miller, assistant professor of chemistry; James Murray, associate professor of political science; Alfredo Roggiano, associate professor of romance languages and Robert Turnbull, professor of philosophy.

Checks for the SARE campaign may be made payable to: Emergency Relief and Welfare Fund of the Mississippi Council of Federated Organizations, 213 Fourth St., Clarksdale, Miss.

Food and children's clothing may be delivered to the Student Senate Office in the Union or to 111 E. Burlington.

Dale Hurliman, G, Iowa City, is chairman of the SARE group.

Local Voters Favor Liquor

According to letters and petitions sent to state legislators, residents of Johnson County are overwhelmingly in favor of liquor by the drink, State Rep. Scott Swisher (D-Iowa City) said Monday.

The county's three legislators — Swisher, Sen. D. C. Nolan, (R-Iowa City) and Bruce Mahan (D-Iowa City) — have received 1,217 signatures favoring liquor by the drink and 47 opposed, a 28 to 1 margin. All three men have indicated that they favor liquor by the drink.

Swisher received most of the petitions favoring the proposal while in Iowa City this weekend. Many petitions had been posted in local taverns for patrons to sign. The petitions contained 844 names favoring liquor by the drink.

A 16 to 1 margin in favor was reported over the entire state. Petitions bearing 76,542 names in favor have been received by Iowa legislators while only 4,501 citizens have sent letters opposing liquor by the drink to their legislators.

Adenauer Denies Making Statement

BONN (UPI) — The West German Government Monday denied that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer ever stated he wanted Denmark and Norway kept out of the Common Market.

The allegation was carried in a "not for publication" pamphlet of Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party. Defense Minister Kai-Uwe Von Hassel was quoted as having said that Adenauer told him the Chancellor's position was that he favored British entry into the Common Market as long as Denmark and Norway were kept out.

Would Need Russian Aid, Asserts Ikeda

Chinese Participation In Disarmament Talks Deemed Unnecessary

TOKYO (UPI) — Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda said Monday Communist China is incapable of developing nuclear weapons, or even waging a conventional war, without help from the Soviet Union.

In an exclusive interview granted Mims Thomason, president of United Press International, Ikeda said the Chinese cannot make "one fighter plane" without Russian aid.

He said the lack of oil on the mainland of China is a serious handicap, and forces the Chinese Communist Government to rely on the Soviet Union for assistance in any major military conflict.

"The Communist Chinese may explode a nuclear device," Ikeda said. "We don't know when. But even if they do, it will take at least 10 years before they can develop nuclear weapons."

He said the effect of China's first actual nuclear test "will be psychological."

The Japanese leader said that if an international disarmament agreement is signed between the United States and the Soviet Union, China would not agree to any of the treaty terms because it is not a member of the United Nations.

But he said this would not be too important for world peace because the Communist Chinese have no independent military force "other than the human wave, the pouring in of manpower."

The soft-spoken Ikeda discussed Asian and world affairs in the Prime Minister's office in the Diet (parliament) building. Ikeda, a 63-year-old economics expert, has been Prime Minister since the Government of Nobusuke Kishi fell in mid-1960 during the bloody leftist-led riots against the Japan-U.S. Security Treaty.

During the interview, Ikeda said: "I ask you, are the Communist Chinese capable of making one fighter plane? Have they got the capacity to supply petroleum for their planes?"

"I feel that disarmament is possible without the participation of Red China," he said. "It will be many, many years before they can develop these sophisticated weapons," such as nuclear bombs and supersonic aircraft.

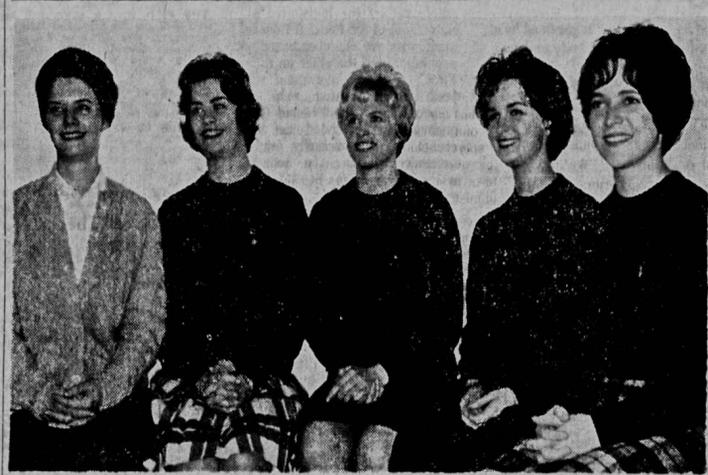

As to the long-standing question of Communist China's admission to the United Nations, Ikeda said that "Japan and the United States stand on common ground."

He said "We both stand for the preservation of Taiwan (Formosa)."

Ikeda said Great Britain "has a little different attitude." He noted that Britain recognizes Red China diplomatically, but has voted with the West against considering the question of whether the Communist Chinese should be given a seat in the United Nations.

"Great Britain is in a sort of dilemma," he said.

Russia's offer to talk over its ideological differences with China probably will result in some sort of socialist summit meeting, Ikeda said, "since the idea originally came from the Chinese Communists."

Seven Score, Fourteen Years Ago Today

EVERY SCHOOL child in our nation and in most countries in the free world knows the incredible story of Abraham Lincoln, who was born 154 years ago today.

All this they know, yet few know that there are groups living today in this country in the same manner in which Lincoln lived over a century ago.

These people have been living their lives in isolation from the outside world by their own choosing, content to remain apart from it because of the evils and wickedness they see.

Yet, how times have changed. The same manner of life which put Lincoln on the path toward the nation's leadership now brings down the law upon it.

Americans today have the greatest educational system in the world, enabling a higher percentage of students to attend college than any other country.

There will never be another Lincoln as we know him; the world is making sure of that.

Evaluation Poll Needs Evaluation

THE STUDENT SENATE Faculty-Course Evaluation Poll is expected to be ready for inspection by the faculty shortly.

Much speculation about the cost of the poll has stirred comment in some campus political circles.

We fully expect the Student Senate, once the evaluation has been completed, to present to the public a full report on costs.

In addition, it would be wise for the Student Senate to collect numerous comments and criticisms from members of the faculty.

We remain skeptical about the poll because we feel possibly — and only possibly — that the funds might have been better allocated; it must be definitely ascertained whether or not the faculty is getting its money's worth out of the deal.

We extend an invitation to all members of the faculty to write their impressions on the evaluation to us for publication.

The question remains: Is the faculty or is the faculty not getting somewhere between $500 and $1,000 of good out of the Senate's efforts?

The Political Spectrum

By PETER E. PTACEK President, Young Democrats

The passing of the Shaff Plan by the State Legislature headlined last week's state news. This reapportionment plan, which will be voted upon by the citizens in December, reduces the House of Representatives from 108 to 99 members, with the nine most populous counties all losing a representative, and enlarges the upper chamber from 50 to 58 Senators, to be based strictly upon population.

PTACEK in Iowa, it is a complete failure.

To judge the Shaff Plan it is necessary to examine its effect upon the Iowa House, for a bicameral legislature is no more representative than its least representative chamber; and it is in the House that minority rule at its worst prevails.

WHAT DOES the Shaff Plan do to the House of Representatives? It makes it less representative! Under the Plan, the representatives of no more than 24 per cent of the people could exercise a veto, because each county, regardless of its population, will elect one legislator to the House.

At this point in a debate, a Republican would grant the above facts but would argue that because the Senate is made more representative, the majority of Iowa's populace can express itself through this chamber, and bargain with the House for the legislation it needs.

WE SEE in Republican support of the Shaff Plan a familiar inconsistency of the Republican Party. While mouthing a stand against action by the Federal Government, they refuse to take the needed action through state government.

And now it looks as though the Iowa Republicans are about to blow another chance to take action on the state level, making necessary Federal intervention through the courts to guarantee majority rule.

AND I certainly hope no one will write to this newspaper alleging that the Shaff Plan is "good" because it follows the example set by the legislative arrangement of the Federal Government, with one chamber based on population and the other on area.

Republicans are welcome to argue for the Shaff Plan, but not in the same breath with statements on the merit of majority rule or the evil of Federal-Legislature Government action, and not on the basis of any inherent value in the imitation of the Federal Legislature.

The Man Everybody Knew, The Architect of the Nation

By RALPH MCGILL

This is the month one thinks of Abraham Lincoln. As one sits before an open fire, the mind runs on to the mud-chinked, clay-floored, windowless log cabin in which he was born, with the wide, rock-lined fireplace which was for warmth and cooking.

This is George Washington's month, too. He was one of those who won independence for the colonies. More than any man he bore the brunt of those long, hard, dangerous years.

It is difficult to believe Lincoln was but 57 when his labored breathing stopped. The bearded, tired face with the sad wistful eyes seems much older than that. They, and he, had reason to be weary. His was the head upon which "all the ends of the world have come."

ALMOST 7,000 books and pamphlets have been written about him. And there will be more. It is an odd, yet significant thing that almost everyone feels as if he knew Lincoln. He was a man of compassion, mercy, weakness and strength.

Letters to the Editor —

Critics, Controversy, & 'Irresponsible Babbling'

To the Editor: After studying this latest in a series of seemingly never-ending exchanges between the proponents of the left and right wings of the Republican Party on campus, this reader is somewhat surprised by the extent of the misconceptions held by certain persons involved which unfortunately has clouded the debate so as to obviate the reaching of any intelligent conclusion.

The controversy appears to have arisen out of certain inferences drawn from Mr. Theisen's article by persons who have evidently been extremely irritated by Mr. Theisen's remarks.

Examining the position which Mr. Theisen expressed in The Daily Iowan last Tuesday, this reader fails to find any reasonable justification for the opinions which Mr. Theisen's critics have attributed to him.

The article has simply expressed a view that one should not confuse the views of the right-wing extremists with those of the Republican Party, and that in fact there is no place in the party for such a faction. He also denies the alleged ascendance of the conservative position in general to any significant level of acceptance on college campuses across the nation.

He attributes this failure to the fallacious nature of "... the idealistic view that each man is equally able to care for himself," saying instead that the true Republicans, himself naturally among them, realize that the Government must help the weak to help themselves.

And what type of rebuttal have certain people responded with? Mr. Kelly, for instance, not being content with his original statement to the effect that the people, rather than the Government, know what is best, has with chauvinistic devotion to his distorted image of conservatism replied: "For the governors to act in the interests of the governed they would have to be gods."

Now any intelligent conservative

Should Be Receptive To All Ideas

To the Editor: Too many conservatives today take anything that is moderate or disagrees with them as liberal.

I agree with Republican National Chairman William Miller that there are too many Goldwater Republicans, etc. and not enough Republicans. Too many are willing to place persons above party.

For my personal beliefs I quote segments from my columns of the Political Spectrum of Thursday, April 12, 1962 and May 4, 1962.

"Space does not permit me to delve into other beliefs that make me a Republican, such as belief in sound economic policies, equal rights and justice etc. However, today's Republican must have a deep compassion for the welfare of not just some people, but all of the people."

"All this (liquor by the drink, state, county, reorganization, more powers for the governor) can come through moderate policies. We need to take the best of both right and left and not commit ourselves rigidly to either side."

An education teaches one many things. Congressman Fred Schwengel and others have helped teach me to be receptive to all ideas, not just my own or those of one's parents.

Lee Theisen, A4 430 N. Clinton

No Epidemic Of Asian Flu On Campus

Following an announcement of a small scale Asian flu epidemic in the United States, Dr. Chester I. Miller, head of student health, said "we have nothing like it here."

He said there were no precautions anyone could take at this point. "Students should have taken the flu shots last fall," he said. "It is getting a little late to take them now. Those who took shots here last fall should be pretty well taken care of. My only advice is 'keep healthy'."

SUI has not had an Asian flu outbreak since last year. Miller called that one "just moderate."

The Public Health Service announced in Washington Sunday that a "small scale epidemic" of Asian flu has struck at least 10 states along the East Coast and in the Midwest.

Outbreaks have been confirmed in Maine, Vermont, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Illinois, and Kansas.

A Public Health Service spokesman said the Service did not consider the epidemic a "really serious one," but that it would probably spread across the country.

He said there has been "no spectacular general rise" in the number of verified cases of the so-called Asian strain of influenza but said, "there's a lot of sickness. There's no doubt about that. The flu has been following the normal pattern of local outbreaks, accompanied by high absenteeism in schools."

He also said the overall pneumonia-influenza rate of 108 cities the Service checks every week "has been higher than normal for the past four weeks, but it always is when there is Asian flu around."

He said the death rate has been well below the levels when the more serious flu epidemics swept the nation in 1957 and 1960.

Flu Epidemic a Reality In East and Midwest

A predicted outbreak of Asian flu has become a reality in at least 10 east and midwest states, the U.S. Public Health Service (PHS) said Monday, but it probably will be less severe than was feared.

A PHS spokesman said at Washington the outbreak is not "really serious" compared with the 1957 and 1960 epidemics. However it probably will spread across the nation before it runs its course, the spokesman said.

Outbreaks of the disease have been confirmed in Maine, Vermont, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Illinois and Kansas, the Public Health Service said.

Ralph Marterie To Play For Greek Week Dance

Ralph Marterie and "His Marlboro Men" will provide the music for the Greek Week dance, "Queen of My Heart," in the Main Lounge of the Union Friday at 8 p.m.

Fraternity and sorority members and dates are invited free to attend the dance. The Inter-Fraternity Council queen will be crowned during intermission.

Marterie, who has seen such dance fads as The Big Apple, The Conga, and The Shag come and go, says The Twist is "the hottest thing in 20 years." He doesn't think The Twist will last, though. "It's too strenuous."

Currently Marterie and his band are on an extensive cross-country tour which will take them to many top social functions and several college campuses.

Marterie is the only band leader to be invited for successive appearances at the U.S. Naval Academy and has been invited to play every major college and university in America.

HAWKEYE SPORTS SCOPE

CHICAGO AREA Iowa fans gave the Hawkeyes a lot of vocal support at the Northwestern game. McGaw Memorial Hall had quite a few empty seats, even though it seats only a little over 7,000. With the exciting brand of basketball displayed by the Wildcats, it goes to show that Chicagoans will only come to see a winner.

THE GAME was Iowa's first overtime contest of the year. This desk received several inquiries into the current overtime rulings, how many? — sudden death? — etc. So, to clarify the matter, there will be as many five-minute overtimes as necessary to determine a winner. One of the longest this year was Michigan's four-overtime win over Houston.

ORDINARILY at McGaw, the players sit on chairs near the court with no spectators in the area — such as we have at Iowa. Last Saturday, however, the Northwestern benchwarmers were seated behind the Wildcat bench. This group is composed of loyal alumni who have contributed $1,000 (or more) to the NU Athletic Fund. Pretty expensive seats!

HOW MUCH time was left when Dave Roach made his game-winning basket in the second overtime? How much time was left when Roach connected to tie the score in the first overtime?

These are bits of information that are supposedly supplied to the statistic-hungry fan by the sportswriter. But, in the game last Saturday, I was amazed at the different times that I saw recorded as answers to these two questions.

In the first overtime, the Hawkeyes had battled back from a 58-54 deficit and Joe Reddington made a basket with 1:30 to go making the score 58-56. A missed Northwestern free shot was recovered by Iowa and they worked the ball for a shot. Dick Shaw tried one and missed, but Iowa got the ball again. Roach let fly with a 20-foot jump shot and — swish — the ball hit the floor. Northwestern frantically tried to call a time out, but there was no time left.

So I dutifully recorded that Roach made the basket with two seconds left. Then what to my wondering eyes did appear in the Sunday editions that that Roach had made his shot with 14, 10, 9 and 7 seconds remaining, each from a different paper, of course. What the heck, did these reporters think Northwestern was asleep when the ball went through?

The same sort of thing applied to the second overtime. Iowa got off to an early lead on a Roach free throw, but Bill Woislaw made his only point of the night to tie it up again. Terry Lyon then made a free toss to give Iowa the lead again. Reddington hit one from the field to give the Hawks a three-point lead. Northwestern then went into a weave stall, found Rick Lopossa open, and he cut the lead to one. Jimmy Rodgers was hacked as Marty Riessen picked up his only foul of the game. Rodgers bagged his two free throws.

Northwestern lost the ball in the front court and Iowa came back up court to stall, but a mixup near the center-line resulted in a steal, a pass to Richie Falk, and he put it in for a Wildcat lead.

With 27 seconds to go Iowa came back up court, tried three shots, but the fourth one by Roach was the pay-off, with, as I noted, 15 seconds to go. Northwestern took their time coming down the court, took a couple of hurried shots and that was it. The Wildcat fans should be getting used to the frustration by now.

ANOTHER FINE play by "Handy Hank" Hankins was instrumental in the Iowa win. Hankins stole the ball from Falk as Northwestern was trying to stall it out. "Hank" then popped in two free throws after he was fouled under the Iowa basket, tying the score at 52-52. Hankins fouled out in the middle of the first overtime and was an anxious spectator for the remainder of the game.

Deciding Round Of Phoenix Open Set for Today

PHOENIX, Ariz. — The final round of the Phoenix Open, a golf tournament which publicized Arizona's winter sunshine by going 27 years without a postponement, was trained out for the second day in a row Monday.

The showdown for $35,000 total prize money was rescheduled for today, depending on whether waterlogged greens at the Arizona Country Club dry sufficiently.

There is a bare possibility that Arnold Palmer, leading by one stroke through three rounds, could be declared the winner of his third consecutive Phoenix title without further play.

Tournament sponsors and the Professional Golfers Association will have to make a decision on that if the flat, slow-draining desert course remains unplayable today.

Hawkeyes Now 6-0 In Big Ten Competition

By GEORGE KAMPLING
Staff Writer

The Hawkeye wrestling team won five matches and drew in one as it defeated Minnesota, 19-8, here Monday night in the Field House for its sixth consecutive Big Ten conference win.

The only fall of the night came in the 167-pound clash when Steve Combs, leading 4-0 on points in the second round pinned the Gophers' Herb Millington in 3:32. Combs, possessor of a 7-1 match record, scored in the first round on a takedown, then reversed Millington in the second in six seconds, before pinning him 26 seconds later.

Norman Parker, 130-pounder, continued his trail toward an unbeaten season as he ran his match record to 8-0, defeating John Wittenberger, a former Postville, Iowa, prep.

Parker's first two points came on a takedown with 22 seconds left in the first round. He reversed Wittenberger early in the second round, but the Minnesota grappler escaped with 13 seconds remaining.

Tom Huff remained unbeaten in conference action as he beat Charles Quaday 11-3. Huff scored on two takedowns in the first period, but Quaday escaped both times, and the round ended with Huff holding a 3-2 advantage. Quaday escaped in the second period with :49 remaining, but Huff took him down again to maintain his one point margin, 4-3.

The roof fell in on Quaday in the final period when he let Huff up at the whistle for an escape point, then Tom taking him down again, and scoring a near fall with 30 seconds left in the match. Tom picked up two points on the new ruling this season giving a man one point for riding time plus an extra point for a predicament or a near fall.

Roger Schilling and Ken Johnson were the other two winners for McCuskey's Maulers.

Johnson won his first match of the year taking a 6-2 win from Minnesota heavyweight Irv Smith. After a scoreless first round, Johnson

Gailis High Scorer; Gymnasts Defeat Illinois, Nebraska

Glenn Gailis led the Hawkeyes against both teams. The sophomore star scored 25 points in the meet with Illinois and 20 in the competition against Nebraska.

Fourth-Ranked Illinois Falls to Badgers, 84-77

MADISON, Wis. — Wisconsin's erratic basketball team upset fourth-ranked Illinois, 84-77, Monday night in a Big Ten conference clash.

The Badgers used a zone defense to hold off the Illini in the first half and a stall to preserve their edge late in the game.

The loss was the first for the Illini in seven conference starts and only the third victory for eighth-place Wisconsin in seven starts.

Wisconsin pushed its fast break offense in high gear early in the first half and kept it going until it held a 40-30 advantage with two minutes remaining in the period.

The Badgers went into a stall that limited scoring to two more points for each side until Ken

The Badgers repeated their ball control maneuver, but with four minutes left in the game Illinois had cut the Wisconsin margin to 76-73. For a full minute the Badgers kept the ball away from the frustrated Illini and then Jack Brens went in for a layup and added a free throw, pushing Wisconsin ahead 79-73.

Illinois' Bill Small, who led the game's scoring with 29 points, hit two field goals for the Illini's final points. Wisconsin's 5-11 guard Mike O'Melia, offset the effort with four free throws, the last two in the final three seconds.

Siebel led the Wisconsin scoring with 26 points even though he fouled out with almost seven minutes remaining. Jack Brens added 25.

Illinois now has a 14-3 mark for the season and Wisconsin is 10-7 over-all.

Hawk Trackmen Lose to Wisconsin

Fast—and Happy—Finish

Roger Kerr, Iowa anchor man in the mile relay, crosses the finish line a few strides ahead of Wisconsin's Tom Creagan in a meet at the Field House Saturday night. Kerr Runs :47.9 Anchor As Iowa Wins Mile Relay

The Hawkeye track team, handicapped by a poor showing in the field events, lost its opening meet of the indoor season to Wisconsin, 86-54, Saturday night.

The fans who gave up and left early missed the best race of the night as Iowa closed out the meet with a come-from-behind victory in the mile relay. The most exciting race of the evening saw Iowa's lead-off man, Gary Hollingsworth, take a brief lead which Wisconsin soon overtook and lengthened in the second leg of the relay when Hawkeye Scott Rucker just couldn't keep up with speedy Tibbs Carpenter.

Iowa speedster Bill Frazier closed the gap some, but it was Hawk anchorman Roger Kerr's superb effort which gave the Hawks the victory. Kerr was about 50 yards behind when he took the handoff from Frazier and ran a :47.9 quarter to overtake Badger Tom Creagan. Iowa's time for the relay was 3:18.6.

Murtaugh Says 1963 Pirates Stronger in Pitching, Speed

Fourteenth of a series of 1963 team prospects, written under the manager's own byline.

By DANNY MURTAUGH
Pittsburgh Pirates

WOODLYN, Pa. (AP) — Some baseball people seem to feel the Pittsburgh Pirates have weakened themselves by trading away a .300 hitter in Dick Groat and a 20-homer and big RBI man in Dick Stuart.

On the contrary, I feel our club has improved.

We have acquired two standout starting pitchers in Don Cardwell and Don Schwalt. We feel with the addition of these two pitchers, we could possibly have one of the best pitching staffs in the major leagues. We also have added Jim Pagliaroni to help Smoky Burgess with our catching.

We have added a young outfielder named Ted Savage. I think he has the necessary ability which every outfielder needs to play consistently at Forbes Field. He has tremendous speed and is a line drive hitter, which should help our attack when we are playing in our spacious home field.

With the addition of these new men I can't help but feel that our club will be stronger in pitching and in over-all speed.

Last year one of our principal problems was the lack of depth in starting pitchers. I think if you will check the records you will find that although our club led the league in pitching percentage we were near the bottom in number of complete games. That is one of the reasons why we made our trades.

Naturally, the loss of Groat, Stuart and Hoak is going to be tough but I assure you we would not have made the trades if we didn't feel we had acceptable replacements. I think Donn Clendenon, who will open the season at first base, will hit as many home runs as Stuart hit last season (20). In Dick Schofield, a boy who has been in the big leagues at least five years and only as a utility man, I think we have the makings of a fine shortstop.

We will start the season with three newcomers to our infield. Besides Clendenon and Schofield, we will have young Bob Bailey at third base. Bailey has so much potential he must play in order to fulfill it. I have great confidence in the youngster.

Our outfield remains virtually the same. The only addition besides Savage possibly will be Will Stargell, a youngster from Columbus, Ohio, who hit 27 home runs there last year and about 90 RBI. He also performed creditably in the field. He is very fast and his arm has been ranked with that of Clemente. That means he must have a great arm.

Like any other club we have our share of outstanding rookies. Some of our pitching prospects who must be considered a chance of making the club are Tom Parsons, Tommie Sisk, Bob Veale and Bob Priddy. All our reports indicate these boys have the necessary talent to pitch successfully in the big leagues.

Besides Bailey, who showed so much promise in his brief stay with us last September that he made it possible for us to part with Hoak, we have a dark horse infielder named Gene Alley. The boy showed tremendous promise at shortstop in our Arizona Winter League farm club and it would not surprise me too much if he ran one of our utility infielders out of a job.

If a couple of our infielders come through as expected, we will be a contender. We are going to have the type of club that will rely on outstanding pitching, a tight defense and good team speed. We expect Bailey, who had an outstanding year at Columbus, and Clendenon, to hit enough home runs to atone for the loss of Stuart, who was our big power man last year.

It is difficult to pick out one team to beat for the pennant. It could be a seven-team race among the Giants, Dodgers, Reds, Cards, Braves, Phillies and ourselves. The way I see it, the race has to go down to the wire.

Buckeyes Climb to 9th; Cincinnati Still No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The unblemished Bearcats of Cincinnati, who barged into the record books with their 37th straight victory, captured all but two of the first place votes in the weekly Associated Press college basketball poll Monday and held onto their No. 1 ranking for the 11th consecutive week.

Upstate rival Ohio State was the

8. Stanford	13 5	78
9. Ohio State	14 3	64
10. Georgia Tech	17 3	58

only newcomer in the top ten, as the first five places remained intact.

Wichita, Cincinnati's next opponent, fell out of the elite class.

Behind Cincinnati in the voting by 42 members of AP's special panel of sports writers and broadcasters were Loyola of Chicago, Duke, Illinois and Arizona State, in the same top five spots.

Loyola and Duke got the two first place votes that escaped Cincinnati.

The poll was based on games through Feb. 9.

The Bearcats ran up a total of 418 points, two short of the maximum possible, on the basis of 10 points for first, nine for second, etc. Loyola had 362 points and Duke 324.

In No. 6 position was Mississippi State, up two notches, with Colorado holding seventh. Stanford jumped two spots to No. 8, Ohio State took over No. 9 from Wichita and Georgia each slipped to No. 10 from sixth.

Cincinnati, 19-0 on the year, collected two decisions last week, 71-60 over Drake and 65-61 over Bradley, in its drive for an unprecedented third straight national crown.

Duke, 17-2, trampled Wake Forest and edged North Carolina State, while Illinois took Big Ten rivals Indiana and Michigan State into camp.

Arizona State got past New Mexico State and Arizona with no difficulty.

Mississippi State advanced on victories over Tulane and Tennessee. Colorado held on to its seventh spot despite a loss to Oklahoma State, which gained the Cowboys some votes but not enough to get into the top ten. Colorado whipped Kansas in its other outing.

Ohio State trounced Wisconsin to join the elite. Wichita fell out after a loss to St. Louis.

Georgia Tech almost dropped out of the top ten on a 1-2 week. Tech got past William and Mary but lost to Tulane in overtime and to Louisiana State by two points, 56-54.

Molinas Sentenced to Prison For Heading Cage Scandal

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Molinas, one time Ivy League star, was sentenced to 10 to 15 years in prison Monday for masterminding a $70,000 fix of college basketball games. His bribery of young athletes brought renewed disgrace upon the nation's most popular indoor sport.

The sentencing judge, Joseph A. Sarafite, of State Supreme Court, told the 30-year-old Molinas:

"In my opinion, you are a completely immoral person. You are the prime mover of the conspiracy, and you were the person most responsible. You callously used your prestige as a former All-America basketball player to corrupt college basketball players and to defraud the public."

Hawkeye Fencers Lose Two Meets

The Hawkeye fencing team lost two dual meets Saturday, to Michigan State, 20-7, and to Wisconsin, 23-4. Iowa now has an 0-4 record.

Two other men were sent to prison by Sarafite as go-betweens in an alliance between gambling mobs and college basketball players. Six others, all former players like Molinas, received suspended sentences, after cooperating with the Manhattan district attorney in the investigation of the bribes.

Sentenced with Molinas by Judge Sarafite was Joseph Macken, 42, Molinas' chief lieutenant in the stealthy plot to buy the honor of young players. Macken got 7½ to 8 years.

Also sentenced — to 2½ to 5 years — was Philip la Cort, 39, who fronted for a Boston gambling mob in the fix plot.

Some $70,000 in bribes were paid from 1957 to 1961 to fix 43 games, involving college teams from coast to coast. The ring also offered an additional $75,000 for fixes that fell through — some of them because canny bookmakers became suspicious and refused to accept bets on the games.

Forty-seven players in 27 colleges were approached by Molinas' ring, and 33 of them admitted taking bribes. The players were granted immunity from prosecution and helped the district attorney's office break the scandal. Bribes ranged from $75 to $4,750.

The 1961 crackdown on the big basketball scandal in a decade.

In 1951, a similar wide-scale bribery plot affected 33 players from seven schools, including some of the brightest stars in college basketball. Head man in that fix was Salvatore Sollazzo, who was sent to prison for 8 to 10 years. In 1961, at the age of 57, Sollazzo was deported to his native Italy.

Judge Sarafite's harsh words and the prison sentence caused Molinas to throw back his head in a gesture of despair.

A star Columbia basketball player, Molinas turned professional but was suspended by the National Basketball Association in 1954 for betting on his own team to win. He played then with the Fort Wayne Pistons, since moved to Detroit.

A lawyer, Molinas was disbarred from practice as a result of his involvement in the basketball scandal. Convicted on five counts of bribery Jan. 8, Molinas could have gotten 36 years in prison.

Mercy School of Nursing Moving into New Home

New Abode

The Mercy School of Nursing will dedicate this new building near Mercy Hospital starting Thursday. The ultramodern unit will feature the latest designs for comfortable living and studying. Various church officials will attend the dedication and will be led through the building by the staff and student nurses.

The Most Rev. Ralph L. Hayes, Bishop of the Davenport diocese, will officiate at the dedication of the $850,000 building, which has been constructed by the Sisters of Mercy with the help of a $290,000 Federal grant made possible under the Hill-Burton Act.

Iowa City's Mercy School of Nursing will move into its new home near Mercy Hospital this week following dedication of the ultramodern five-story structure in ceremonies at 2:30 Thursday afternoon.

An Open House for residents of Iowa City and neighboring communities will be held at the new building Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. Students of the School of Nursing will serve as tour guides. Hostesses for the open house, in addition to the Sisters, will include officers of the Mercy Hospital Auxiliary, the Mercy Hospital Guild, and the School of Nursing Alumnae Association, and members of the Guild's School of Nursing Recreation Committee.

Assisting with the dedication of the new building, in addition to His Excellency, Bishop Hayes, will be the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carl Meinberg, pastor of St. Mary's Church; the Rev. Richard Egan, pastor of St. Patrick's Church; and the Rev. Edward Neuzil, pastor of St. Wenceslaus Church, all of Iowa City; the Rev. James Keiley, Mercy Hospital chaplain, and priests and clergy from the surrounding area.

Mother Mary Huberta, R.S.M., Mother Provincial of the Sisters of Mercy of the Chicago will attend the ceremony, as well as representatives from other institutions conducted by the Sisters of Mercy of the Province of Chicago. Sisters of Mercy Hospitals in Davenport; Marshalltown; Chicago; Aurora, Ill.; De Kalb, Ill., and Janesville, Wis., will tour the new residence and join with the Sisters in Iowa City in commemorating the occasion.

Eighty-three students and a faculty of nine full-time instructors and four part-time instructors have been housed in the old building, which has been the site of Mercy Hospital School of Nursing since its founding Oct. 1, 1914. This old structure, which was built in 1899 and was used first by the Sisters of Mercy as a Hospital, will be demolished immediately to make way for further additions to Mercy Hospital, according to Sister Mary Annuciata, R.S.M., Hospital Administrator.

The new building will accommodate 100 students. However, students from the local community and surrounding area may live off campus, increasing the total enrollment to 115 to 120 students. Approximately 40 students have been accepted to date for next September's freshman class, and it is anticipated that an additional 10 students will be enrolled, according to Sister Mary Annuciata, R.S.M., Director of the School of Nursing.

Under a new academic year plan which became effective in 1961, Mercy students attend school during a nine-month period and are free to work summers if they wish. Many also work part-time during the school year to earn part of their expenses, Sister Mary Annuciata says.

preparation for staff-level positions in hospitals in medical and surgical nursing, nursing of children, maternity nursing and psychiatric nursing.

The program covers three academic years. During this time there are extended vacation periods — two weeks at Christmas and approximately 13 weeks each summer. Classes and nursing laboratory periods are held Monday through Friday, with all weekends free.

During the two semesters of the first year the areas of major concentration are the natural sciences and introductory courses in nursing. The freshmen spend approximately four hours per week in the clinical areas during the first semester. This is increased to eight hours a week in the second semester.

Students participate in an integrated program of planned clinical experience and instruction in the areas of medical-surgical nursing in the latter part of the first year. During the second year, each student receives instruction and clinical practice in Maternity and Child Health Nursing and Psychiatric Nursing. In the third year, the program centers around medical-surgical nursing on an advanced level. Throughout the entire program, formal classes and clinical laboratory practice are given concurrently.

Nearly 700 women have graduated from Mercy Hospital School of Nursing since its founding in 1914. Miss Edith Milster, then Superintendent of Nursing in Mercy Hospital, was the first director of the school. Mother Mary Agnes, R.S.M., was the Mother Superior of both the hospital and the school in 1914.

The Mercy School of Nursing has been approved by the Iowa Board of Nurse Examiners from the time of its founding to the present. Sister Mary Annetta has been a member of this board since 1959. The school has been fully accredited by the Accrediting Service of the National League for Nursing since 1952, having been one of the first schools in Iowa to be accredited by the League.

Mercy Hospital was founded in 1884 — 30 years before the School of Nursing. But the Sisters of Mercy had been in Iowa City 11 years before setting up their own hospital, as they had come to IOWA in 1873 to operate the hospital which was established that year at the University.

Two Sisters and a postulant did all the nursing in the tiny hospital, which was a two-story brick building located in the vicinity of what is now East Hall. The first floor contained a ward of six beds, a reception room, an operating room and an amphitheater where medical students could observe surgery.

7 BALLOON POWER

MOSCOW — Soviet engineers said Monday they are thinking of using balloons to raise windmills into the upper layers of the atmosphere, where they will use the strong winds to generate electric power. The balloons would be tied to the earth by strong cables, and would be allowed to reach an altitude six to seven miles.

Tryouts for the all-campus barber shop quartet contest have been scheduled for Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the River Room of the Iowa Memorial Union.

The contest, which is being sponsored by the Union Board and the Harmony Hawks, a barber shop group from Cedar Rapids, will be Feb. 23.

Campus groups entering the preliminary competition will be requested to sing two selections. A team of judges from the Harmony Hawks will select five groups to participate in the final contest.

The quartets will not be expected to give a polished performance in the preliminary contest, but will be evaluated according to potential capabilities, said Larry Prybil, G, Iowa City, Union Board representative.

An instructor from the Harmony Hawks will be available for each selected group to help prepare for the final contest.

The Harmony Hawks, a 40-member group, volunteered to assist the Union Board in planning and judging the contest. The group, a member of the Society for the Preservation of Barber Shop Quartets in America, will give a concert the night of the final competition.

The Union Board hopes that the all-campus Barber shop quartet contest will become an annual event at SUI.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Prybil at 8-8768.

Titled 'Probable Acts of Man' — Sociology Lecture Series Set for SUI

Stuart Carter Dodd, former director of the University of Washington Institute of Sociological Research, will present a series of eight lectures titled "The Probable Acts of Man" at SUI during the spring semester.

The first two lectures will be given Tuesday and Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol. The series will be a report on Professor Dodd's life-long work developing a comprehensive system for testing social laws.

Dodd, a member of the faculty in the Department of Sociology at the University of Washington, spent 18 years in active social research at the American University, Beirut, and for 15 years was director of the Institute of Sociological Research in Seattle, Wash.

The lecture series will open with "Speech Acts" Tuesday and "Reiterant Acts" Wednesday. Speech acts are the most frequent, distinctively human acts of mankind. They are the ones most likely to occur among man's non-animal acts, Dodd says.

"Reiterant Acts" will cover Dodd's research into the "reiteration hypothesis," one of the ways to describe the uniformity of nature underlying all scientific laws.

Dodd will lecture on "Personal Acts" and "Group Acts" Feb. 25 and 26; "Mass Acts" and "Counter Acts" April 24 and 25, and "Cosmic Acts" and "Futural Acts" May 14 and 15.

Dodd is the author of many books and articles, including "Dimensions of Society" and "Systematic Social Science," and has held special research appointments at Harvard University, the League of Nations, and with the European Allied Forces.

Trained in the fields of economics, psychology, mathematics and sociology, Dodd has been a research fellow at Princeton University, with the Rockefeller Foundation, and at the Biometrika and Psychological Laboratories of the University of London. He received his B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at Princeton University.

Pact Anniversary

Marked in Italy

ROME (UPI) — Italy and the Vatican Monday commemorated the 34th anniversary of the Lateran Pact which ended generations of strife and set up the independent papal state.

Offices and schools throughout Italy were closed on this national holiday. Italy's ambassador to the Holy See, Bartolomeo Migone, marked the occasion with a reception which was attended by 13 Cardinals, Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani, Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni, former President Giovanni Gronchi and other Italian officials. Foreign diplomats accredited to the Holy See also attended.

Assessment Bill Tops Senate Slate

DES MOINES (AP) — The Senate will try again Tuesday to dispose of the bill on which it spent much of Monday — a measure to require publication of property assessments for tax purposes.

Sen. Robert Rigler, the Republican floor leader, is sponsor of the bill, and it has received no outright criticism on the floor. Nevertheless, it never reached a vote, although it was the only measure debated Monday morning. Plans to resume the discussion Monday afternoon were changed, leaving the bill at the top of Tuesday's calendar.

In the House of Representatives, a so-called "implied consent" bill was reported out of committee Monday and will be on the calendar for the first time this session. The bill would provide that an applicant for a drivers license would be deemed to have given implied consent for chemical tests to determine alcoholic content of his body.

The Rigler bill would require publication each four years of the name and location of each parcel of property and the amount for which it is assessed.

Proponents say this list, available after each quadrennial reevaluation, would enable the property owner to make comparisons at leisure and protest against inequities. Rigler conceded that the information now is in the public records at each courthouse. However, he said getting to it is so difficult that, for most taxpayers, making a comprehensive comparison is a practical impossibility.

Rigler, a New Hampton banker, said the list in the newspaper would enable the property owner "to sit down with it after supper take a look at all the assessments, and see how he fared in comparison with his neighbor." And he said the mere publication would tend to keep the county assessor on his toes.

The bill carries a tax of 50 cents each four years against each parcel of property to pay publication costs.

Revised Bill Passed, 104-0

House Strikes Controversial Compensation Bill Section

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa House struck from a bill increasing workmen's compensation a controversial section denying benefits to a person previously injured on the job, then passed the measure and sent it to the Senate Monday.

The vote on final passage was 104-0. But the crucial vote was 67-35 on an amendment deleting from the bill a section which Rep. John Murray (D-Fort Dodge) said would "carry us back to the turn of the century" in workmen's compensation.

Rep. John Mowrey (R-Marshalltown) said the purpose of the controversial Section 5 was to "keep handicapped persons in employment." He said it would apply only to those left with a physical handicap by a prior injury on the job, for which they had been fully compensated.

Rep. John Duffy (D-Dubuque) declared, however, that labor in Iowa opposed the bill because of that section. And Rep. Cleve Carnahan (D-Ottumwa) termed the section "a colored gentleman in the woodpile — the joker of the deck."

Duffy said the offending section reminded him of "the small print that we find in our insurance policies. There may be some large print that sets out our rights under the policy, but we have to read the small print to find out what we actually are buying."

Rep. Lawrence Carstensen (R-Clinton) said he didn't believe the section was "very sinister" to the working man, but "we've heard it described as the saviour of the handicapped working man and I don't believe that either."

He said the controversial section was "somewhat foreign to the intent of the bill, which is to increase workmen's compensation benefits."

Rep. Tom Riley (R-Cedar Rapids) agreed. The House then voted to strike the section.

The bill would increase the maximum weekly compensation to a worker during the time he is laid up because of an on-the-job injury from the present range of $2 to $44 to $34 to $50, depending on the number of children he has.

It would remove the present ceiling on amounts allowed for medical, surgical and hospital benefits, and provide that these benefits shall be unlimited, except that if the aggregate exceeds 7,500, additional amounts would have to be approved by the industrial commissioner.

Section 5, which was removed from the bill, applied to employees left with physical defects which might increase the danger of on-the-job injuries.

It provided that an employer could ask such an employee to sign a waiver of compensation for an injury resulting either directly or indirectly from such a defect. If the employee refused, the employer could ask the industrial commissioner to determine whether such a defect existed.

And if the commissioner found that the employee was so handicapped, the employer would not be entitled to benefits if the later suffered an injury resulting from his handicap.

Gov. Hughes Selects Boyd As Assistant

Kirk Boyd, graduate assistant in political science, was appointed Monday morning as the administrative assistant to Gov. Harold Hughes. Boyd, who received both his B.A. and M.A. degrees in political science from SUI, has been working on his Ph.D. since February, 1961.

Boyd, 28, was first aware that he was under consideration for the appointment when he received a telephone call from Dwight Jensen, Hughes' executive assistant, on Friday. He went to Des Moines and met and talked with Hughes for the first time on Saturday morning.

As Boyd says, "I'd never met the governor before, and my acquaintanceship with him consists of a 30-minute talk." The appointment was announced by Governor Hughes in a press conference Monday morning.

Boyd will leave Iowa City for Des Moines later this week. His wife, Irene, who is an undergraduate student here, and his three-year-old daughter, Rebecca, will not come to Des Moines immediately.

He is uncertain of the exact nature of the job, but expects it will concern appointments, research, writing and press relations and other "general gubernatorial tasks."

With the appointment of Boyd, who is a former Daily Iowan editor, as administrative assistant, he joins another former Iowan editor and former SUIowan Dwight Jensen, who is Hughes' executive assistant.

Boyd met many politicians in 1960 and 1962 when he served as a delegate to the state political convention. He received his M.A. from SUI in 1961, and was working on his Ph.D. before he accepted the administrative position.

Boyd said he intended to return to SUI eventually to get his Ph.D. and to be a college instructor.

Republican Chiefs Rap Kennedy Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican congressional leaders Monday charged the Kennedy Administration with "inept conduct" of foreign affairs. Democrats fired back by accusing the GOP of playing politics with delicate international issues.

House and Senate Republican leaders issued a statement asserting that Administration foreign policies had led to a wave of anti-American sentiment among this country's allies.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., replied point for point in a Senate speech. He said he wished the Republicans "once in a while" would "take the side of our own Government" and not try to "set this Administration against other free world countries."

In their statement, the GOP leaders said recent events in Europe and Canada indicate "the Kennedy Administration is developing more friction and less friendship daily."

They said the Administration should reassess its policies toward U.S. allies.

In reply, Mansfield said, "The time for politics in foreign affairs is long past."

As for GOP charges of "sweeping anti-Americanism, Mansfield said he disagreed. He said there has been "a certain amount" of anti-American feeling in the free world for years, but that he would not call it sweeping.

The Republicans citing this country's historic friendship with Great Britain, France and Canada, said in their statement:

"In recent weeks we have witnessed anti-American sentiment sweeping each of these three great nations because of the inept conduct of our foreign affairs by the Kennedy Administration.

France, they said, is trying to reshape the European community to "diminish America's leadership." Canada's Government fell "because of a needless public statement by the Kennedy Administration" on acceptance of U.S. nuclear weapons, they added.

On the Canadian dispute, the GOP leaders said that the U.S. "was probably right but was unwisely represented that the heads of all four Canadian political parties denounced us."

City Gets 17 Days Below-Zero Reading

Based on degree days, last month was the coldest January in 45 years... colder even than January 1962, which was especially severe.

It was tough on people — and equally tough on gas and electric equipment. Gas furnaces ran overtime, keeping homes warm and cozy. Furnace motors operated longer. Water heaters worked harder, because water coming into the home was colder than normal. More evenings were spent at home... TV sets and lights did double duty... ranges were used more to prepare hot foods and beverages for cold weather menus.

The net result is that gas and electric bills covering use of the service during January are higher than normal. But isn't the cost worth the comfort and convenience enjoyed?
