Schneider Freed of Charges

ROBERT J. SCHNEIDER Charges Dismissed

Murder Count Against Youth Is Dismissed

"I Was Very Happy" Says 18-Year-Old Upon Hearing News

By JOHN KLEIN
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

Murder charges against Robert Joseph Schneider, 18, rural Oxford, were dismissed Friday afternoon following a motion by Co. Atty. Ralph L. Neuzil to dismiss the indictment because of insufficient evidence.

District Court Judge James P. Gaffney said the state's evidence was "insufficient to establish guilt beyond a reasonable doubt," sustained the dismissal motion and ordered Schneider released from the county jail.

"The court commends the actions of the county attorney as being wise and courageous," Gaffney said.

Schneider was arrested Nov. 13 and charged with the Nov. 10 murder of Edward J. Kriz, an Iowa City tavern owner, and with the Oct. 6 armed robbery of Shannon's Supper Club, North Liberty. He had been held without bond since his arrest.

Last month Schneider was tried and found not guilty of the Shannon robbery.

Schneider remains on probation following a conviction for the armed robbery of a Coralville filling station in October 1961. He received a ten year sentence and was paroled to Johnson County Sheriff Albert J. Murphy.

Following Schneider's release, Co. Atty. Neuzil said the state would continue to investigate the Kriz murder. "The matter is not closed," said Neuzil.

He refused to say if the state is going to investigate further the possibility of Schneider's involvement in the Kriz murder.

Following his release, Schneider said he expects to go into farming with his father in the Oxford area.

Schneider said he knew nothing of the dismissal motion until the sheriff told him Friday afternoon he had to report to the court house.

Inside the court house, just before the dismissal hearing, his lawyer C. A. Cahill told him he was going to be released.

"I was very happy and surprised," Schneider said.

O'Brien Quits Physics Post

Space Researcher Accepts Rice Offer

The resignation of Brian J. O'Brien, who has been highly instrumental in the space satellite program at ISU, was revealed Friday.

O'Brien assistant professor in the Department of Physics and Astronomy at Rice University in Houston Texas. He will leave ISU at the end of the spring semester.

Since he came to the University in 1959, O'Brien has been in charge of the SUI Injun satellite series, working with James A. Van Allen, head of the Department of Physics and Astronomy. He has also worked closely with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Explorer series and instructed in the physics department.

At Rice, O'Brien will be named full professor in the newly-formed Department of Space Science. He will teach and continue space research.

A native of Australia, O'Brien received his Ph.D. degree in Sydney, Australia, in 1957.

Toynbee Fears 3rd World War

GRINELL (UPI) — British historian Arnold J. Toynbee said Friday the entire world's surface "has become a single arena for a possible atomic third world war."

Toynbee addresses a Grinnell College audience in the first of a series of public lectures as a John R. Heath visiting professor of history. "Almost since the dawn of history, mankind has been split into factions that have made war on each other," he said.

Robert Ray Named Extension Dean

He Continues As Services Division Head

PRESIDENT HANCHER

'Swan Song'— Hancher Says He'll Retire; No Date Set

Robert F. Ray, 40, dean of the Division of Special Services at ISU, was named Friday by the State Board of Regents to head the SUI Extension Division.

Dean Ray will continue to head the Division of Special Services, whose principal function is to gather, analyze, and coordinate information pertinent to planning for the future needs of the University. His salary was increased from $15,700 to $16,000.

A native of Davenport, Dean Ray joined the SUI faculty in 1949. He holds a bachelor's degree from Coe College, Cedar Rapids, and M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from SUI. He also directs the Iowa Center for Education in Politics and represents the University in the Western Conference (Big Ten). He was recently named president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Principal service activities of the Extension Division include adult education, correspondence study, conference and institute coordination, audio-visual aids and radio broadcasting, Saturday classes, educational testing services, and supervision of the Iowa Lakeside Laboratory at Milford.

The division was formerly headed by Robert J. Blakely, who for the past several months has been serving as specialist in adult education.

Dean Ray is also a member of the Committee on Extension Services Cooperation. This group was formed in October by the Board of Regents for the purpose of preparing an inventory of resources, reviewing programs, and making recommendations for improvements in the extension services offered by SUI, Iowa State University at Ames, and State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls.

Other SUI members of the committee, which includes representatives of each Regent institution of higher education, are Provost Harvey H. Davis and Arthur W. Meloh, dean of the College of Engineering.

PRESIDENT HANCHER

'Swan Song'— Hancher Says He'll Retire; No Date Set

Virgil M. Hancher, SUI president, departing from his usual silence about his impending retirement in 1964, mentioned it twice Friday while speaking before a legislative subcommittee in Des Moines.

Hancher 66 will reach the mandatory University retirement age of 68 on September 4, 1964.

The references were made in Hancher's presentation of SUI's 1962-65 budget requests before the subcommittee Thursday.

Hancher said at one time in the talk, "Since this is my swan song, I can say some things today that I wouldn't normally say. I will retire by calendar request in a year and a half."

Earlier in his presentation, in talking about estimates of vastly increased enrollments by 1972, Hancher commented that "1972 is beyond my term of office but I look at the figures realistically."

Board President Harry Hageman of Waverly declined to say what steps the regents have taken toward naming a successor.

Board Gives Approval For SUI Construction

Major reconstruction of an electrical interconnection on the SUI campus was approved by the Board of Regents meeting in Des Moines Friday.

The interconnection, or "substation," is north of Burlington street and immediately west of the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Railway Co. tracks. The SUI electrical system and the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. facilities join there.

A preliminary budget of $101,000 was approved by the regents for the electrical interconnection work. A system with more than twice the capacity of the present interconnection is planned. SUI produces power for most of the campus, but on occasions when peak capacity is not adequate or can not be maintained, it is necessary to purchase supplemental power.

The regents authorized SUI to seek Legislative Budget and Financial Control Committee approval and an initial allocation of $8,000 for planning work. The interconnection work will be financed from utility improvement funds appropriated by the 1961 General Assembly.

Properties Purchased

Two properties to be purchased are located at 113 Varsity Heights and at 428 Riverside Drive. A two-story house is located on each tract. The Varsity Heights property, owned by William M. and Helen Byington, has a purchase price of $25,500. Mrs. Mary E. Spence is owner of the Riverside Drive property and the purchase price is $22,000.

In requesting permission to buy the properties with funds available in the General Endowment Fund, SUI officials cited the importance of the additions, both of which are within the general campus boundaries.

Architect's Services

A contract for architectural services on the Quadrangle and Hillcrest remodeling calls for a fee of five and one-half per cent of the construction cost, to be paid to the Davenport firm of Stewart, Robison and Laffan. The regents gave preliminary approval in January to projects which will involve nearly complete interior renovation of one-fourth of the 42-year-old Quadrangle and the addition of up to 45 beds in Hillcrest through alterations in a former coffee shop and lobby area.

Pharmacy Purchase

Equipment to be purchased for pharmacy research, funds for which come from legislative appropriations, includes: a refractometer, $1,186; three refrigerators, $435.66; one refrigerator freezer combination, $237.

Bulgarian Blot Angers Africa

Student Exodus Marks Soviet Embarrassment

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Soviet propaganda laid down an embarrassed volley of denials and excuses Friday as 17 angry Ghanaians arrived by plane from Sofia, leading a reported exodus of 500 disgusted African students from Communist Bulgaria.

"We have been called black monkeys and jungle people and we were treated like dirt," said Robert Kotey, 25, one of the Ghanaians.

Charging racial discrimination in Bulgaria against scholarship students from 20 African nations, Kotey told newsmen, "Whoever among us had leftist leaning has been cured."

Other students are waiting for transportation to leave the Iron Curtain country.

The immediate cause for their departure was the arrest Monday of seven leaders making up the executive committee of the All-African Students' Union in Sofia. Communists banned the union and police and militia beat up the students when they staged a protest parade Tuesday.

But the cause lay deeper, the students reported. During a year of study, they said, they were insulted on the streets and fed an indigestible diet of Communist doctrine in the classroom.

Are We Legal?

The State Board of Regents Friday asked President Virgil M. Hancher to have the SUI Law College find out whether The Daily Iowan is a legal newspaper for purposes of official publication of such things as public notices to bidders.

CORRECTION

A picture of a remodeled store in downtown Iowa City shown in Friday's Daily Iowan was incorrectly identified. It is the new Frankels fashions store.

Comptroller Tells Regents Of Budget 'Cut'

DES MOINES (AP) — The State Board of Regents heard an explanation Friday on how Gov. Harold Hughes, in his proposed budget, trimmed the board's requests for operation of state educational institutions from $54.9 million to $46.8 million.

State Comptroller Marvin Selden had been invited to explain how he and the governor reached their computations.

Selden said that in order to fit the requests into the amount of money likely to be available for the next two years he added a certain percentage to present regents appropriations, then put in some more for enrollment increases.

For SUI and Iowa State University, Ames, 10 per cent was added to present appropriations, he said.

For enrollment increases, another $449,000 a year was added to the recommended total for SUI and $554,500 for ISU.

A 12 per cent increase plus $461,000 for enrollment was added to present appropriations for the State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls, he said.

Selden said the higher percentage for SUI was based on a belief that SCI president J. W. Maucker had done a "tremendous job" in absorbing larger enrollments of recent years with little increase in faculty and now needed a larger increase.

The recommendation of $13.5 million for building projects at regents institutions during the next two years, far below the requests, was based on assumption that there would be only $20 million for all state agencies and institutions, Selden said.

The comptroller and Regents President Harry Hageman of Waverly agreed that they had to approach the budget from different directions — the regents in terms of stating the institutions' needs; the comptroller in terms of matching state spending and income.

Committee Reports Its Investigation—

Ames Housing Discrimination Aired

By TIM CALLAN
Editorial Associate

An official committee on housing discrimination in Ames said this week that non-whites attempting to buy or rent housing in the city must be prepared to face rebuff or opposition.

The Mayor's Committee on Fair Housing, appointed by Ames Mayor Pearl P. DeHart, presented its report Wednesday. In an 18-month study, the group investigated all cases called to its attention, whether discrimination difficulties had been encountered or not.

THE COMMITTEE checked 23 cases in which non-whites sought housing in Ames. It found that five had had no trouble in finding homes, but that 18 had met with some form of discrimination.

Of these 18 cases, 13 eventually found satisfactory housing, the committee said. The other five left the community or commuted to Ames because discrimination made it impossible for them to find satisfactory housing there.

Fourteen of these 18 cases involved American Negroes, and four involved other non-whites.

The Daily Iowan talked Friday with the chairman of the Fair Housing Committee, the Rev. Stanley Borden of the Ames First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Borden told the DI that his committee was formed as a result of many racial incidents throughout the years. Two years ago, he said, the churches of Ames took interest in the problems of race relations.

AT THE REQUEST of the Ames ministerial association, a community meeting was held to discuss the problem. While the group as a whole took no action, the mayor of Ames did, and as a result the Committee on Fair Housing was formed.

The Rev. Borden told the DI that he found that almost all of the discrimination problems in Ames involved families who were university-connected, particularly graduate students seeking off-campus housing.

He said he felt there were two major reasons for racial bias in Ames:

First, he said, whites from the South come to the city, bringing regional prejudices with them.

Second, and more important, he said, was the number of "scare" stories in the press, which dealt on such things as Negroes taking over whole city blocks, with property values dropping overnight. As a result, he said, there is a real fear of Negroes moving into all-white neighborhoods bringing ruin with them.

Yet, the Rev. Borden added, "There have been Negroes in Ames since George Washington Carver went to school here . . . and he had no trouble!"

THE COMMITTEE'S REPORT has brought about two significant actions in Ames since its release.

• All churches in the city will ask their members Sunday to sign a "covenant of fair housing." The covenant states:

"We would welcome in our rooming house or neighborhood any resident of good character regardless of race, color, religion, or national origin. We have signed this statement to indicate that we believe in justice for all, and welcome the opportunity to practice it where we live. We understand that in signing, we give consent that our names and addresses may be publicly listed with all other signers."

The Rev. Borden told the DI that 1,078 signed the covenant a month ago, representing 550 different house addresses. "We are trying to double or triple the number," he said.

• Iowa State University Thursday appointed a Committee on Human Relations to work with the town committee. President James Hilton of ISU appointed William G. Murray, ISU economics professor who ran for governor in 1960, to head the student-faculty committee.

THE PURPOSE of the committee, composed of two students and four faculty members, is "to give advice to the administration on injustices arising from prejudice involving race, religion, or color."

It is empowered to develop a policy statement to be presented to the University. It will confine its activities to areas in which "the rights of University students, faculty members, or staff are infringed upon, within the scope of the University community."

In the meantime, the town committee on Fair Housing will continue its study.

See page two for an editorial dealing with the University Committee on Human Rights which was recently formed by SUI President Virgil M. Hancher to investigate cases of racial bias at SUI and in Iowa City concerning SUI students.

IFC Queen

Karen Ann Conkling, Dx, Des Moines, was named Interfraternity Council Queen Friday night at the Queen of Hearts Dance in the Union, marking the end of Greek Week activities.

The queen was selected by vote at the dance. The other four finalists were Linda Liddell, A2, Des Moines; Carolyn Lozier, A2, Des Moines; Carolyn Rabe, A3, Manchester; and Pam Shannon, A2, Davenport.

SUI Teachers Granted Leaves

The State Board of Regents granted leaves of absence to four SUI professors in the board's meeting in Des Moines Friday.

Leaves of absence were approved for the following:

Ruth Updegraff, professor at the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station, for the 1963-64 academic year; C. E. Cousins, professor-emeritus, romance languages, for the current semester; Mable Snedaker, associate professor-emeritus of education, for the current semester, and Albert Badre, professor of economics, also for the second semester.

A Promising Vanguard Steps Forward

FROM EVERY SUPERFICIAL indication, a significant turn of events occurred this week in the point of friction between the University Administration and certain campus agitation groups on the issue of racial discrimination in off-campus housing.

The change occurred, it appears, largely because of one gentleman: Prof. Willard L. Boyd, chairman of the recently formed University Committee on Human Rights.

Of course it is always hazardous to single out one gentleman in any bureaucratic structure and toss bouquets at him; but in this case we choose to do precisely that for we can't help but feel that Prof. Boyd's actions of the past week indicate that he and his committee are the harbingers of good news.

In short, if the vanguard is any indication it seems likely that the University Administration has, or is very shortly, going to seize the initiative in investigating problems and initiating solutions in many areas of discrimination in both University employment and off-campus housing.

President Hancher announced the formation of the seven member Human Rights Committee on Jan. 29.

Since that time there has been much speculation on how active or inactive the committee — composed of Chairman Boyd, two other staff members, two students and two Iowa City alumni — will be.

At least for us, some of the speculation was spiked this week by two instances in which Prof. Boyd participated. We expect that even more of the mystery as to the committee's operation will be cleared on Feb. 21 when the committee officially begins functioning by releasing a statement of intentions.

Nonetheless, Prof. Boyd's aggressive action this week remains impressive.

It was Monday that Prof. Boyd strode into our newsroom to discuss the work of the committee.

In the course of the conversation we turned over to him a letter from a liberal arts freshman residing in Quadrangle dormitory. The letter dealt with a dining service "Sub Slip" which is used when a student with a board job is to miss work for a day.

On the printed lines of the "Sub Slip" there appear the following items:

Sub's Meal Ticket No. _____ Color: _____

In less than 24 hours Prof. Boyd had visited with the Associate Director of the Dormitory and Dining Service and found that the term "color" had reference only to the color of the meal ticket. In addition, he was informed that new slips are in the process of being printed which delete any reference to the term "color" or "color of meal ticket."

We grant that the instance is small. But we are highly impressed by the enterprising, aggressive initiative indicated by Prof. Boyd's handling of the complaint; if his bold pursuing is any indication of how the committee intends to handle itself, we can see nothing but a committee compiling a proud record.

The following day, Prof. Boyd reinforced our initial impression.

It was on Tuesday that events came to light explaining that when the Committee on Student Life decided to form the Committee on Human Rights, it deleted from the Code of Student Life a section containing the University's policy against discrimination in student housing, including the section that stipulates that new landlords must sign a pledge not to discriminate in renting.

Subsequently, Prof. Boyd met with Dean Ted McCarrel, student service division, and requested that a moratorium be placed on any changes in the procedures previously followed with respect to off-campus housing.

Dean McCarrel, chairman of the Committee on Student Life, immediately agreed.

In sum, we feel — if advanced indications are any clue — the appointment of Prof. Willard L. Boyd as head of the Committee on Human Rights was an excellent one. We eagerly await the statement of intentions.

Once the University has truly seized the initiative in this matter, we feel that all concerned will be inching even faster toward a respectable equity in housing and employment here as well as inching away from the hypocrisy all northerners have excessively indulged in for so long.

Forty per cent of the freshmen class at Michigan State University has less than a C average. Dr. John Hannah, president of MSU, recently blamed this poor showing on "an outmoded grading system".

Hannah, delivering the 1963 State of the University message, recommended the MSU method of grading be changed. Part of the plan which Hannah has proposed to the faculty would keep admissions standards the same, but would lower the grading standards.

"The danger does not lie in placing standards too low but in raising them so high that we automatically limit the usefulness of the University," Hannah said. Hannah explained that "although the quality of our students has increased in the past five or ten years," the grading system at the University has not kept pace.

The president also called for a cut in the number of courses being offered at MSU. He suggested that the large number of courses is serving only to demonstrate the versatility of faculty members and is not actually aiding the student's education.

Twelve members of the University of Chicago student assembly have been recalled by the student body for condemning President Kennedy's actions during the October Cuban crisis.

The students were members of both the 50-member student assembly and of the assembly's 16-member executive council.

The council sent a telegram to President Kennedy immediately following his blockade announcement protesting the action. The same council shortly afterward passed a resolution condemning Russia for installing missiles in Cuba.

Prompted by the action of the executive council the student assembly met, expressed disapproval of the executive council's action, and demanded a student poll be taken to determine student body opinion concerning the Cuban blockade.

When a resulting poll indicated students favored Kennedy's move (4 to 1), a recall of the executive council members was initiated and passed.

Ninety per cent of all college students can improve their study habits through hypnosis reported Kent State University (Mich.) Prof. Stanley Krippner recently. Krippner, who recently completed a five-year study of hypnosis, found a light hypnotic trance improved student study habits, and helped students on examinations.

He cited one example where a hypnotized student was told he was going to ignore such distractions as room temperature, thirst and hunger and noise while studying.

Within three weeks the student was spending several consecutive hours studying, completely ignoring the distractions which had previously interfered with his studying and, consequently with his grades.

As of last Monday, Feb. 11, the new college record for continuous spins in an automatic clothes dryer was 2000 revolutions.

The record was set by two students at the University of California (Berkeley). Both laundromats rode two separate machines for 54 minutes and 40 seconds on their way to breaking the previous record (also set at Cal) of 1151 revolutions.

The laundromats, using football uniforms and helmets for protection, pressed their heads, hands and feet against the sides of the dryer to prevent being tossed around.

The two, both members of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, reported they watched the bottom of the dryer to avoid the turning sensation.

Over 100 spectators, including two television cameramen, watched the ATOs set the new record.

A Review of Critic's Choice— Not Bad Acting, Really—Now If Only It Had a Good Script

By DOUGLAS RINTELL
 Written for The Daily Iowan

Take the obvious, brew it for two hours or so while constantly mixing in pinches of cliché, and serve it directly after you've added one or two slightly sour off-color remarks and you have a potpourri to match, if not surpass, Community Theatre's minor attraction "Critic's Choice."

This faldery by Ira Levin, reminiscent of the story of Walter and Jean Kerr (he's a critic, she's a writer) is tonight at the 4-H fairground showplace, Montgomery Hall.

Most major of the play's difficulties is definitely the script, which abounds with all those gimmicks found repeatedly in television situation comedy from "I Love Lucy" right down the line to the present. What television sets provide, however, is that dial with which we can change the channel or shut the program off. But there were no dials here and the occasional good thing was lost in the tedium of the whole.

AND THERE were good things. No one need complain with vehemence about the acting, for example. As the writer-wife's mother, June Braverman was choice, if we may use the word. Rosalind John as the critic's current spouse and Joan Breihan as his first wife also exhibited acting grace and ease most of the time. Mrs. John's weaker moments came near the end of the play, but really, by this time, all one could possibly hope for were weaker moments. A word about the men, who weren't nearly as successful as the women: Dr. Duane Sprietersbach as Parker Ballantine, the critic, generally made the most of his part; John Snakenberg as the critic's precious and precocious son (who had some of the best lines in the play) acted his part more than well; and Mace Braverman as the director of the wife's play failed to do more than take very elementary stances of rage and anger while scowling his way through scenes.

THE DIRECTOR, Mary Beth Schuppert, seemed to grasp the problems of the quasi-arena theatre (one who is sitting beyond the fourth row cannot see the stage area nor hear some of the actors' words clearly), but it appears that little could be done to alleviate the matter. What she did, though, was to quicken the pace of the play and keep some of the comic-emotional pitch constantly before us. What in actuality occurred was a highly garbled and very uneven performance. There is no need to dwell on this; let it merely be known for the record that "Critic's Choice" simply was not.

DOUGLAS RINTELL, an SUI graduate student from New York City, is a regular theater reviewer for the Iowan. His next review will be on "The Threepenny Opera," a musical play by Bertolt Brecht and Kurt Weill which opens in University Theatre Feb. 28.

Whistling the Corn Song

(The Burlington Hawk-Eye)
 We have never equated "industrial growth" with "gracious living" and, indeed, it would never have occurred to us to relate the two had not a new outfit called "Iowans For Progress" come along and put those phrases right in its slogan.

"Iowans For Progress," it's called, "Dedicated to Dynamic Action for Gracious Living and Industrial Growth."

That's quite a swallow, and it turns out to be just that. What Iowans for Progress is talking about at the moment is liquor by the drink. Its president, C. B. Basile, a Cedar Rapids industrial leader, says the group's purpose is to work for "such urgently needed legislation as the modernization of Iowa liquor laws," which he finds unworkable and unpopular.

"It is difficult," he says, "to advise an out-of-state firm considering an Iowa plant that we are 'progressive and forward-looking' under the circumstances in Iowa today. . . . We believe most Iowa citizens resent being labeled as 'backward, plodding and unaggressive.' We spend tax money to promote tourism and make mockery of gracious living and hospitality. . . ."

Basile isn't just whistling the Corn Song. The effect of Iowa's liquor laws, which have the unique distinction of being archaic and advanced state socialism at the same time, on the picture of Iowans in industrial centers does hurt growth.

The laws should be reformed for the basic purpose of providing respect for law.

In the final vote, however, it may well be that the tide will be turned by such hard-to-dispute dollar considerations as those advanced by Iowans for Progress.

Bronx Beauty Disrobes At Staid Ol' Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, England (UPI) — "I have nothing to hide," Carole Anne Hudak, 20, a wide-eyed Bronx, N.Y., beauty explained Friday.

"I'm quite happy for people to see my figure."

The people are happy, too. Miss Hudak (36-24-36) and four other girls are appearing semi-nude in a Cambridge University undergraduate production entitled "Expresso Bongo" by Wolf Mankowitz.

The girls appear nude from the waist up silhouetted behind a screen in a strip-club style. Members of the cast believe "Expresso Bongo" is the first undergraduate show in Cambridge's 754-year history to include nude scenes.

"I know some of the members of the cast and they found themselves in a tight spot when undergraduate girls from Girton College (the women's section of the university) who volunteered to play the parts to begin with chickened out," Miss Hudak said.

"I am not doing it for money. I'm just doing it to help out my friends. It's good fun being involved in an undergraduate show, even if I am half-nude."

Miss Hudak is here on a year's leave of absence from New York University, where she is majoring in classics.

Sig Eps Set Tea Sunday

SUI foreign students will visit Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity house Sunday and to see how American undergraduates live.

The fraternity invited foreign students to a tea party at 2 to 4 p.m. at the chapter house at 702 N. Dubuque St.

About 50 Sig Eps will conduct a tour of the house, followed by a tea and conversations with the visitors. The Fella's, a jazz band organized by the fraternity, will play during the party.

Charles H. Dick Jr., A3, Hampton, president of the fraternity, cited two main reasons for the party: to get acquainted with the foreign students and to acquaint them with the various aspects of American college life.

Mercy Hospital Nursing School Open House Set

Students and faculty members of the Mercy Hospital School of Nursing will hold an open house in their new residence hall Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Iowa Citizens and visitors from nearby communities may see the new building, Lourdes Hall, on tours of both classroom and residence floors during the afternoon. The school is located at Bloomington and Van Buren Streets, just north of Mercy Hospital.

Eighty-three students in the three-year diploma program in nursing will move into the dorm early next week, according to Sister Mary Anneta, R.S.M., director of the school.

Admiral Strauss To Get Degree Here

An honorary degree will be awarded to Adm. Lewis L. Strauss by the University at the SUI Commencement June 7.

President Virgil M. Hancher announced the honor for the former Atomic Energy Commission chairman Friday at the February meeting of the State Board of Regents in Des Moines. Hancher made the announcement in connection with a report on a new procedure for selecting persons to receive SUI honorary degrees.

SUI has awarded few honorary degrees in its 116-year history, with only two given in recent years — to President Hoover in 1954, and to Chief Justice Earl Warren in April, 1962, when the Law Building was dedicated.

Strauss was AEC chairman during most of the Eisenhower Administration. He was secretary to Herbert Hoover during the latter's World War I relief work, and presently is chairman of the Herbert Hoover Birthplace Foundation, Inc.

Under the new procedure nominations of proposed honorary degree recipients may come from SUI departments and units, individual faculty members, and other sources. In order for a recommendation to come before the president it must receive an affirmative vote from eight members of the Committee on Honorary Degrees.

Hancher told the regents that it is expected the number of honorary degrees awarded will be small, usually on the order of three or four a year and perhaps none in some years. The degrees will be awarded most often at June Commencements, he said, although they could be granted on other occasions. Degrees which are earned in course work at the University will not be conferred as honorary degrees.

The Committee on Honorary Degrees is comprised of John C. Weaver, dean of the Graduate College; Ray L. Heffner, vice-president for instruction; and a representative of each of the other nine colleges of SUI, all appointed by the SUI president on recommendation of the respective deans. Appointments are for six years. Weaver is chairman of the committee; Heffner, vice-chairman.

African Dinner, Slide Show Tonight

African students and Associated Women Students at SUI will sponsor an African dinner at International House tonight at 6.

According to Mr. Mogus Mola, chief organizer of the dinner, the purpose is to acquaint students, faculty members and Iowa Citizens with some aspects of life in Africa. Highlighting the evening will be a talk and a slide show by Mrs. Clara Bayles of Des Moines, who recently made an extensive tour of nine African countries.

Mrs. Bayles will also speak at a meeting of the Iowa City chapter of the American Association for the United Nations at University Clubroom 3 at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Thinclads Win 13 Events; Defeat Bradley, Wildcats

By BILL PEMBLE
Sports Editor

Coach Francis Cretzmeier's tracksters completely outdistanced their foes at Iowa Field House Friday night taking 13 out of 15 first places. Iowa ran up 105 points to 38 for Northwestern and 29 for Bradley.

Two fieldhouse marks were broken during the evening. Gary Fischer broke the record in the 1,000 yard run with a 2:14 time, beating out Hawkeye Norm Maske. The old record of 2:15.3 was set by Tom Cragan of Wisconsin in 1961. Bill Frazier set the other mark in the 600 yard run, eclipsing the record set by teammate Roger Kerr last week. Frazier ran a 1:10.9 beating the old mark by two-tenths of a second.

The evening opened with three Hawkeyes crossing the finish line simultaneously in the mile run. Larry Kramer, Gary Fischer and Ralph Trimble tied for first in 4:37.1 and the rout was on.

ROGER KERR
Iowa Captain Wins

An upset was scored in the 440 yard dash as Northwestern's Tom

Thomas, from Rock Island, Ill., beat out Iowa's Scott Rucker and Gary Richards. His time was :49.7

Don Gardner and Wes Sidney got a first and third in the 70 yard hurdles and later Gardner topped the lows with John Pletcher taking a third.

Gary Hollingsworth picked up a double in the 60 yard dash (:06.3) and the 300 yard dash (:31.3). John Kolb and Jim Piper picked up a first and a second for Iowa in the broadjump.

In the other field events, Sidney leaped 6 feet to win the high jump and hefty John Price tossed the iron ball 45 ft. 11 1/2 in. to win the shot put.

Iowa Captain Roger Kerr nudged Ralph Trimble in the 880 yard run. His winning time was 1:55.

Larry Kramer and George Clark pulled the dual finish in the two mile run tying in 9:37.3. The final event of the evening saw the Iowa relay team completely outclass the field winning by over a hundred yards in the time of 3:23.3. Members of the team were Gardner, Richards, Hollingsworth and Kerr.

The Hawks again got shut out in the pole vault with Northwestern's Mark Beaubien winning with 12.9. Iowa's next meet will be Minneapolis, Minn. on Feb. 23. The Big Ten Indoor is scheduled for Mar. 1, 2 at Madison, Wis.

Giants Will Have Confidence In 1963 Says Manager Dark

By ALVIN DARK
San Francisco Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — I believe that the Giants will be stronger the coming season, not so much because of new faces, but because of the greater confidence and poise developed by winning the National League pennant last year.

Also, a couple of our regulars grew in stature last year. Outfielder Felipe Alou, for example, and Jose Pagan at shortstop now compare with the best in the league.

Pitching is always a big question. We'll be on the lookout for new pitchers during spring training and we'd like to find some extra help from among Jack Fisher and Billy Hoef, both obtained from Baltimore, Bob Garibaldi, Gaylord Perry, Bob Bolin, Ron Herbel and a couple of other youngsters we'll have in camp.

Our top four pitchers are Jack Sanford, Juan Marichal, Billy O'Dell and Billy Pierce. They won 77 games among them last year — more than any other starting four in the league. We'll be depending on them a great deal again this season.

We have balance, established strength and good reserves in the other departments.

Orlando Cepeda, Chuck Hiller, Pagan and Jim Davenport give us a fine infield. Willie McCovey can play at first base and the outfield, and Harvey Kuenn is a versatile team man, too.

Willie Mays is still one of the greatest. Felipe's brother, Matty Alou, is also a good outfielder. Behind the plate, Tom Haller and Ed Bailey fortify us solidly.

We have batting power to score runs and our defense is more than adequate.

However, I don't think that the road ahead is an easy one. The entire National League is stronger and better balanced. The Dodgers will be taking dead aim again. Cincinnati, with an excellent pitching staff, plus Frank Robinson, Vada Pinson, Gordie Coleman and Eddie Kasko, is really formidable.

Dick Groat will surely strengthen the Cardinals and the Phillies have probably improved more than any other club in the league during the past year.

There's little doubt in my mind that it's going to be a tough pennant race. We may even have to play better than last year to win it.

Boilermakers To Play Iowa Here Tonight

It's the start of the stretch run for Iowa's Hawkeyes as they begin the second half of their Big Ten schedule tonight at 7:30 with Purdue as the opponent.

Sharm Scheurman's crew earned a 4-3 first half mark after dropping their first three in a row.

Purdue has had a long season. The Boilermakers have won only one of nine conference games played thus far despite the fact that they have two of the top scorers in the conference. Guard Mel Garland ranks number four with a 23.9 average in his 9 games, and his running mate Sophomore Ron Hughes is currently averaging 16.7, just a shade ahead of the Hawkeye's Dave Roach.

Bob Purkhisser, a late blooming soph forward, holds the hot hand of late. Purkhisser netted 18 straight field goal attempts before he was stopped at Minnesota. The Boilermakers have outshot their opponents from the field in the last four games.

Ron Hughes has suffered a leg injury and will not make the trip, Purdue officials announced Friday night.

The Hawks will counter with the number two defense in the conference. The Iowans rank only behind Minnesota in points allowed. Sharm Scheurman's team may also have found a way to rebound as the Boilermakers rest in last place in the league in that department.

Coach Ray Eddy's crew has been inept in rebounding, but the addition of 6-8 sophomore Bill Jones has given them added power under the boards.

Indiana's Hurling Hoosiers will be attempting to stay in the Big Ten race when they meet the Hawkeyes on Monday night. The Branch McCracken coached team plays Illinois tonight at home. The Hoosiers also have been hampered by a lack of rebounding power. Hotshots Jimmy Rayl and Tom Bolyard, ranked number two and six in conference scoring, lead the Indiana attack.

Hawkeye Fencers In 3 Duals Today

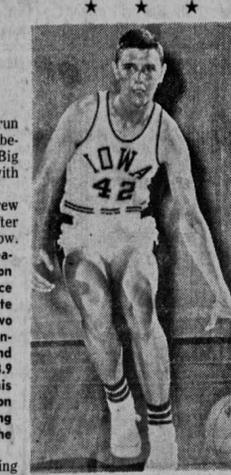

Iowa will face Illinois, Wayne State, and the University of Detroit in fencing in three dual meets which begin at 9 a.m. today at the Field House.

The Hawkeyes have a 0-4 record this season Illinois finished fourth in the nation last year, and Detroit and Wayne State finished in the top ten.

Hawk coach James White will have Lance Hellman and Mike Kinsinger in the foil, Kinsinger, Hellman and Ed Koe in the epee, and Theron Bailey and Kinsinger in the saber.

Bridges OK Says Doctor

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Marshall Bridges, the New York Yankee pitcher who was shot in the left leg Wednesday night, will be able to walk after a 10-day recovery period and will have no permanent injury, reported General Manager Roy Hamey.

"He was examined by a neurosurgeon this morning," Hamey said Friday. "The doctor says that there is no damage to the mobility of the leg and that as soon as the wound heals, he will be able to walk naturally. He must remain in the hospital for 10 more days." "From then on, it depends on nature — that is, how quickly the leg can be used normally. I hope he is able to pitch within a month, but I'm not saying that he will be. The bullet chipped a small bone but the injury is minor. I have not received a written report from the neurosurgeon as yet but that is the gist of it."

Mrs. Estorya Bridges, wife of the 31-year-old left-hander, flew here Thursday night from their Jackson, Miss., home. The couple have three children. She probably will remain here until he leaves the hospital.

It is unlikely that Bridges will press charges against his assailant, Carrie Lee Raysor, 21. The pair met at a bar in the Negro Elks Club here and the shooting took place when Miss Raysor, according to her account, resisted Bridges' attempt to kiss her.

Police arrested her and charged her with aggravated assault.

Hawk Grapplers Seek Win at Michigan State

PROBABLE LINEUPS

IOWA	Class	MSU
Fuller	123	Smith
Parker	130	Holmes
Huff	137	Johnson
Greenlee	147	James
Kohl or Roberts	157	Byington
Combs	167	Fry
Schilling	177	Archer
Johnson	Hvy	Valcanoff
		McClure

The dual will be the last on the road for the Hawkeyes this season. They have previously notched five of their six wins on the road and suffered their only two losses. Two more interesting matches should take place at 177 where Iowa's Roger Schilling (2-0 at that weight) will be tackling MSU's fine competitor Valcanoff. Also Hawkeye heavyweight Ken Johnson will try to continue his fine performances of late when he takes on Homer McClure who has a 4-2-2 season's record.

Going into Friday's match with Indiana, the Spartans boasted an undefeated record in the conference having beaten Purdue, Ohio State, and Illinois in dual meets. MSU, however, finished as runners-up in Northwestern in a quadrangular wrestling meet held at Evanston.

Top men for the Michiganders will be 123 pounder Gary Smith with a 6-1-1 record, 130 pounder Cecil Holmes (6-1) and 177 pounder Alex Valcanoff (7-1).

Scheduled as the feature match of the evening will be the 130 pound bout with Iowa's undefeated Norman Parker going against Holmes or possible Okla Johnson who has a 1-0 record in the 130 pound class.

Michigan State, coached by Grady Peniger, has lost two dual meets at home, to Oklahoma, 14-11, and to Pittsburgh, 16-10. The Spartans nipped Iowa 15-13 last year when the Hawks went on to capture the Big Ten championships.

Beatty Posts Mile Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Beatty let loose with a relentless killing drive in the final half lap and smashed his own indoor mile record with a time of 3 minutes, 58.6 seconds in the Baxter Mile at the New York Athletic Club Games Friday night.

Second-place Tom O'Hara also went under 4 minutes, clocking 3:59.2 in pushing Beatty to his great performance.

The 28-year-old Beatty, from the Los Angeles Track Club, set the indoor mile record of 3:58.9 last year in Los Angeles.

A crowd of about 15,000 in Madison Square Garden watched Beatty win his 11th in a row indoors. But young O'Hara, of Loyola of Chicago, should get at least a share of the glory.

He grabbed the lead with two laps to go and gave Beatty plenty to worry about.

Prep Swimmers Here Today; Hawkeyes Idle

Iowa's swimming meet with Northwestern, originally scheduled at Evanston today, has been postponed until Tuesday. Hawkeye Coach Bob Allen will act as director of the Iowa High School Championships at the Field House pool.

For the first time in many years the state championships will be held at the Iowa pool. Winners and runners-up from all district meets in the state will be competing.

Opening ceremonies will take place at 1:20 p.m. with the finals starting at 1:30. Preliminary diving will be held at 11 a.m.

Skating Scene Jeopardized

DAVOS, Switzerland (AP) — The world figure skating championships, scheduled to begin Feb. 28 at Cortina, Italy, are the latest international sports event to be jeopardized by political wrangling.

George Haesler, secretary-general of the International Skating Union, said Friday the Italian government has refused visas to competitors from Communist East Germany.

Haesler said the seven-man council of the ISU has been polled on whether to approve the championships under these conditions, cancel them or move them to another site.

In similar cases last year, the official status was removed from the world ice hockey tournament at Colorado Springs, Colo., and the world Alpine skiing championships at Chamonix, France.

East Germans were barred from both events because of failure to get visas from the NATO travel bureau, which handles such details for NATO countries.

Iowa Gymnasts To Face Chicago Pier Today

A team of unknown quality provides the opposition for Iowa's gymnastics team in Chicago today. The Hawkeyes will be facing the University of Illinois at Chicago. Iowa Dick Holzaepfel said he had heard very little about the team.

"I believe they would compare to the weaker teams in the Big Ten," Holzaepfel said. "They have a couple of strong all-around men, but I don't think they have the depth to support them," he continued.

Holzaepfel was confident that his team could rack up its sixth dual meet victory of the season. The Hawkeyes have lost two.

"I think the difference in the meet will be our depth in all of our events," he commented.

Holzaepfel said his team is still improving and that they are aiming to hit their peak by the time of the Big Ten meet in March.

He said the Hawkeyes have a few spots which need more polish.

Many of the team members are not pushing hard enough to become all-around performers, Holzaepfel said. "They are just concentrating on a few events."

Such problems, however, are only small problems as far as the dual meet season is concerned, Holzaepfel said.

The least of the coach's problems is the fastly improving Glenn Gailis. The little sophomore is rapidly becoming one of the best gymnasts in the nation. He is presently leading the team in scoring.
